Idaho Tax Study Reveals Dilemma Of Income, Costs

BOISE, March 7 (AP)—Idaho's interim legislative tax structure committee wound up a two-day meeting Tuesday with a statement that the state will have to "freeze" its spending level next year or raise more revenue through taxes. "In the light of past years' experience in Idaho, the cost of government, due to additional services demanded by its citizens, is outstripping the ability of the present tax structure to provide adequate funds," the committee said. "Therefore, there are propounded the following alternatives," the statement said.

The land, said to be appraised at $200,000, was sold for $125 an acre and leaves the industrial school with only 25 acres of land, Ferrari said. "All I knew was the land was in Elko county," he said.

This observation came in the midst of a torrent of political claims as Hall and Democratic Chairman Paul Butler matched wits last night on the Kansas City Press club griddle show.

Ike May Ask Russ Premier for Visits; Eyes Policy Shifts

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower today held open the possibility of inviting Soviet Premier Bulganin to visit the United States. But Eisenhower said he had not given the matter any thought. Eisenhower also told a news conference he thought the whole government would have to study more deeply the possible need of changes in U. S. foreign policy to meet Russia's new political and economic offensives against free nations.

Compromise on High Props Isn't Accepted

WASHINGTON, March 7 (U.P.)—Backers and opponents of high, rigid price supports for basic farm crops were cool today to a compromise proposal to return to 90 percent of parity supports for this year only.

The compromise feeler advanced as the senate neared a showdown on a Democratic farm bill to provide for 90 percent supports this year and next year for corn, cotton, peanuts, millable wheat and rice consumed domestically.

Benson Asks For Unity on Farm Issues

WASHINGTON, March 7 (U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson today called for bipartisan efforts to solve the farm problem lest American agriculture "be sacrificed on the altar of partisan politics."

He said the administration has based its nine-point soil bank recommendations "on the basis of what is good for the farmer and the nation—not on the political applause meter."

Co-Op Ruling Is Refused by Idaho Official

BOISE, March 7 (AP)—Attorney General Graydon Smith says it would be "unwise" and an invasion of the private practice of law for him to render an opinion as to jurisdiction over and legality of natural gas cooperatives in Idaho.

Smith's remarks were contained in a letter to Herman Bedke, city attorney for Burley, one of several cities in southern Idaho which either have granted franchises to non-profit cooperatives or are considering the action.

Snow Depths Measured in Feet Not Inches on Two Mountains

HAILEY, March 7—Normally snow measurements are reported in inches but Lawrence Johnson, Hilley pilot who makes measurements in the high mountains for the forest service, found so much snow on Trinity mountain and along Atlanta summit Wednesday he had to make his report in feet.

Johnson measured the snow depth on Trinity mountain at 14 feet and one inch. The snow, he reported, contains 62.3 inches of water. On Atlanta he measured 11 feet and 10 inches of snow containing 48.4 inches of water.

Assumes Duties

HOLLETER, March 7 (AP)—Griffith, new manager of the Snake River Canal, assumed his duties today at the Snake River Canal company headquarters at Boise. Griffith, who has been in the Snake River Canal for 14 years, has a record of 21,000 acre feet of water in the canal reported.

The United States, he said, must always have a logical, solid, well-thought out program in which its friends can believe.

The possibility of a Bulganin visit arose when Eisenhower was asked whether there would be "any benefit in your inviting him to visit here."

The questioner pointed out that Bulganin had expressed a friendly reaction to Eisenhower's new letter asking negotiations for a freeze on atomic weapons production.

Eisenhower said he had not thought about the matter of an invitation. He said it is true that the letter had been received differently from previous such messages and had been published immediately by the Soviets.

Bulganin's comments, he added, appeared to be very favorable.

The President said—still talking

Lauds Nixon

WASHINGTON, March 7 (U.P.)—President Eisenhower said today he has asked Vice President Nixon to chair his own course as to whether he wants to bid for another term.

At a news conference Eisenhower declined to say whether he would favor Nixon as his running mate if the vice president should decide he would like to try for another term.

Eisenhower said he was not going to be pushed into a corner on a hypothetical question. But he said he has no criticism whatsoever of Nixon as a man, as an associate or as his running mate.

Russ Premier Terms Letter Ideas 'Good'

MOSCOW, March 7 (U.P.)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin told Western correspondents last night he thought President Eisenhower's letter asking Russia to freeze nuclear arms was "good and very interesting."

The Moscow home service broadcast the text of the Eisenhower letter and it was carried in all morning newspapers today.

Smiles, Hedges

Bulganin, speaking to correspondents at a Kremlin reception for Danish Premier H. O. Hansson, smiled when first asked about the letter and said "it requires much study."

Then he signaled to Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov who stood nearby and said as if asking approval, "the correspondents want my reaction."

When Molotov nodded approval of the Soviet premier said, "it's a good and very interesting letter." He added, "I hope to reply as soon as possible and hope this correspondence will continue a long time."

Replies Jokingly

Asked by a reporter whether he would like to visit the United States the premier jokingly said he would welcome such a visit though he would be unable to go "so long as they require Soviet citizens to be fingerprinted."

Bulganin knows, of course, that official visitors do not need fingerprinting but he did not pass up an opportunity for a bantering dig at the McCarran act.

Forms Overdue, Assessor Warns

Merchants' statements of valuation, merchandise and other personal property for taxing purposes are overdue at the Twin Falls county assessor's office.

Assessor Clifford Thompson urges all merchants who received the forms to fill them out and promptly mail them to the county assessor's office. Thompson said approximately 1,300 forms were mailed Jan. 1. The deadline for returning the forms was March 1. To date only approximately 600 forms have been returned.

Anyone delaying the forms or not receiving one are requested to call the assessor's office and a form will be mailed to them, Thompson said.

Assumes Duties

HOLLETER, March 7 (AP)—Griffith, new manager of the Snake River Canal, assumed his duties today at the Snake River Canal company headquarters at Boise. Griffith, who has been in the Snake River Canal for 14 years, has a record of 21,000 acre feet of water in the canal reported.

Man Is Killed In Car Crash Outside Boise

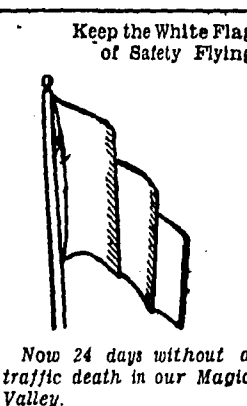

BOISE, March 7 (AP)—An auto accident on the outskirts of Boise last night took the life of a 22-year-old German youth who came to this country just eight weeks ago.

The victim was Siegmund Henning, who held a job in Boise as a machinist working on German-made cars. He lived with his mother, Mrs. Hedwig Henning, and family, who had recently settled in Caldwell, Ida.

Ada county sheriff's officers said the youth, driving an American car, the family had bought, veered without apparent reason into the side of a truck at the junction of U. S. 20 and state route 69 west of Boise.

He died in a Boise hospital of severe chest injuries.

The truck driver, Robert Fitch, Boise, was not held. There were no other injuries.

Her two sons, Gordon and Randy, were among those seriously injured. Her husband suffered a broken left arm.

An expectant mother, Mrs. Cain Baker, and her year old child were reported missing for hours after the twister struck but they were found uninjured after a night long search.

Survivors described the tornado as lightning fast and terrorizing beyond anything they had experienced.

Mrs. Conroy Mills said she heard a loud roar and "then the side of my house blew out."

Drysdale Brannon said it sounded "like a train dashing full speed through my front yard."

"I ran to the front door to hold it shut and a piece of board hurled through the front window," he said.

Forty parents were practicing for a minstrel show at Washington junior high school when the tornado knocked a chimney crashing through the roof and into the room where they were gathered. Bricks and debris showered into the school but no one was seriously injured.

Lion's Actions Lose Chances Of City Living

LOS ANGELES, March 7 (AP)—An African lion stalked into the City hall yesterday, leaped atop a desk and licked the face of the animal commissioner.

Richard Bonner mopped his brow, obviously touched by the affectionate personal approach. And it seemed for a moment that King, 55-pound, 5-month-old pet of a gas station attendant, might be winning his claim that he's tame enough to live uncaged around humans.

But then a woman employe, Sylvia Thorne, walked by. And King blew his hopes sky high by nipping her on the leg, inflicting a minor wound.

Commissioner Bonner immediately upheld an earlier ruling that King must vacate the city within 15 days. King was brought to the city hall by his master, John Shimmers, 25, who hoped that a personal appeal might cause the commissioner to have a change of heart.

The animal regulation commission ruled in favor of ordering King to leave town Monday, after Shimmer's neighbors complained about the beast. They said that although Shimmer bought a cage for King, he kept only paint cans in it and King was allowed to roam at large.

New Missiles Set to Guard Vital Regions

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—The Pentagon yesterday announced the addition of a new guided missile, the navy-developed "Talos" to the air and sea defenses of the United States.

The defense department said this supersonic missile will be installed as anti-aircraft defense around continental air force bases and will be placed aboard navy light cruisers.

The continental air defense command, an all-service command headed by an air force general, will control its employment.

The defense department said this addition of the new missile will not replace the army controlled NIKE anti-aircraft missile which is being installed to guard vital population and industrial centers and some military bases at home and abroad.

"Talos" has been described as a longer ranging, faster and more effective weapon than the Terrier anti-aircraft which the navy has already installed on its first guided missile cruiser, the Boston.

the air-atomic and missiles situation, Wilson had this comment for Chairman Stuart Symington, D., Mo.—"I hope he finds he doesn't know as much as he thinks he does now." Symington declined to comment, in what looked like a direct slap at Sen. Henry H. Jackson, D., Wash., and Symington, also asserted that there had been "too much emphasis" on guided missiles in the controversy over defense policies.

On Feb. 1 Jackson said Russia might fire a 1,500-mile-range ballistic missile this year, upsetting the world power balance. Wilson said such a missile is "just one minor weapon" but he later told reporters to take out "minor" because it "might be misinterpreted."

The secretary of state said right now he wanted to "cool off" public missile discussion because the "sales department is so far ahead of engineering and production."

first major statement on the Pakistan-Afghan frontier province. The Pathans want to form an independent state and are backed by Afghanistan.

"The U. S. has never doubted that the sovereignty of Pakistan extends to the Durand line . . . we regard this as the international frontier at the time we recognized Pakistan in 1947," Dulles said.

A film shows that the U. S. is appropriate to make it quite clear that the SEATO treaty area as defined in articles four and eight of the treaty includes, so far as Pakistan is concerned, territory up to the Durand line."

The Durand line was drawn by India in 1883 when Afghanistan tried to push its borders into sparsely-settled Indian territory. The line at that time defined the authority of Emir of Afghanistan on his eastern and southern borders.

Representatives of Australia, Britain, Thailand, New Zealand, France and the Philippines immediately added their endorsement to Dulles' statements.

Concert Pianist Chose Music Over Studies of Mathematics

David Bar-Ilan, who will play a piano concert here Thursday night, also has rare ability in mathematics.

Until he was 17, he appeared to be on his way to a career in mathematics. He passed final examinations of the University of London in higher mathematics by mail. Then his mathematics teachers heard him play the piano and said, "You will take up piano!"

Young David had given piano recitals at the ages of 8, 10 and 11. His local concert is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. Thursday at the LDS first ward chapel on Fourth avenue east. Tickets are being sold at Brown's Music store, Music Center, Warner's Music store and Twin Falls Business college.

The concert is sponsored by the local chapter of the American Association of University Women. All proceeds will go into a scholarship fund to help local students. Bar-Ilan is donating his talents.

Following the artist's Carnegie hall debut on Dec. 1, 1954, Musical America reported, "David Bar-Ilan disclosed what can only be described as an electrifying talent. . . An artist with such remarkable powers of projection is rare indeed, and for one of Mr. Bar-Ilan's year, rarer still. . . There is no reason that he should not prove one of the most brilliant pianists of this generation."

Young Bar-Ilan is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. George Warberg, Twin Falls. He married the former Willetta Warberg, also a talented pianist. Although Mrs. Bar-Ilan has appeared in many concerts in Twin Falls, the Thursday concert will be Bar-Ilan's first appearance here.

Russia Will Enter Diamond Market

MOSCOW, March 7 (AP)—The Soviet Union disclosed yesterday it intends to use its newly discovered world diamond market to enter the world diamond market.

P. Y. Antropov, the Soviet Union's minister of geology and conservation of mineral deposits, disclosed in an interview that diamond deposits found near Yakutia in Siberia "will be a rich source for increasing our foreign currency fund."

He said that the valuable diamond deposits revealed Sunday by ranking Soviet geologist D. I. Shcherbakov are "comparable to the famous South African deposits which until now maintained a world monopoly."

Drive Report To Be Given To Red Cross

JEROME, March 7 — A noon luncheon meeting will be held March 19 at the Barn, south of Jerome, for all area chairmen in the Jerome county Red Cross drive. Reports of the progress of the drive and problems in connection with the drive will be heard.

Mrs. Myrtle Lopez, owner of the Barn, said she will turn all proceeds from the sale of coffee for the period of one week over to the Red Cross fund drive.

Heber Prescott, Red Cross chapter president, is donating office space for Red Cross headquarters. All money collected during the drive can be turned in at this office in the bank building or mailed to Elton Capps, treasurer of the Red Cross chapter. The 1956 fund drive campaign was launched Friday in Jerome county. The goal is $3,500.

Drive Chairman James Taylor said that in order to carry on a successful Red Cross program in the county, the goal must be met. The goal set for the county last December was $2,200. However, because of the devastating floods in California, Oregon and Western Idaho, the goal was raised an additional $1,300.

Drive chairmen appointed by Taylor include Mrs. Art J. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Torbett, George and Lattimer, Mrs. A. G. Krohn, Ben Gulliford, Mrs. Donald Daw, Elvin Taylor, M. J. Smith, Cyril J. Shupe, Tony Struck, Mrs. Carl Baker, M. L. Bartholomew, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Ricketts and Mrs. Reuben Sauer.

Mrs. Harry Walters, junior Red Cross chairman, has visited the 14 schools in Jerome county and has instructed her members on their duties during the campaign. Lattimer has advised that solicitation has begun in the east end of the county.

Empty blood donor bottles have been set up throughout the city to collect voluntary donations.

$17,850 Asked in Suit for Damage

Mrs. Katherine Bright filed suit for $17,850 in Twin Falls district court Monday as a result of an auto accident last Dec. 5 on highway 30 one and one-half miles north of Piler. Mrs. Bright charges John Stiefried was heedless, careless and reckless in the operation of a 1952 Studebaker, resulting in the collision with a car in which she was riding.

The complaint says Mrs. Bright was injured seriously and incurred permanent disfigurement of body in the accident.

Mrs. Bright asks $14,000 general damages, $1,850 special damages and $2,000 as exemplary and punitive damages plus cost of the suit. She is represented by Attorney John C. Hepworth, Buhl.

Examination of Children Slated

Preschool children will be examined during the last two weeks of April, Mrs. John Kurdeka, summer roundup chairman, reported at the PTA council meeting Monday night.

Twin Falls dentists have volunteered to check the children's teeth during the entire month, she added.

The council decided to sponsor a tag drive in March to raise funds for setting up PTA organizations in the two new elementary buildings.

Mrs. Loyal Perry read the national PTA president's message. The council chairman, Mrs. William Roemer, reported the state PTA convention will be held April 24 and 25 in Coeur d'Alene.

Classes Started

SHOSHONE, March 7 — A series of junior and adult membership classes will be held here by the Rev. Joseph McLeod for the First Baptist church.

BOSTON, Mass., March 7 (AP)—A Massachusetts lawmaker is battling for the pedestrian's "inherent right" to jaywalk.

"The pedestrian was here before the automobile," Rep. William J. Kingston said at a state legislature hearing on a bill to fine jaywalkers.

Patrons Use 9,241 Books

Twin Falls library patrons read 9,241 books during February. Arthur L. DeVolder, city librarian, told library trustees in his monthly report.

The 9,241 books circulated during the month averaged 370 books daily with 605 issued during the busiest day. Adults withdrew 3,632 fiction titles, 1,792 non-fiction; 500 magazines; 30 pamphlets, and 84 recordings, he reported.

Children were issued 2,402 books of fiction; 822 non-fiction; 43 periodicals; 20 pamphlets, and 124 records.

To accommodate the 189 new books purchased and donated last month, six new steel bookcases were installed. The staff withdrew 83 adult and 23 juvenile books because of wear.

New registration totaled 159 with 101 adults and 58 juveniles obtaining cards, he concluded.

Bridge Tourney Results Reported

Monthly master point system was played at the Monday night meeting of the Twin Falls duplicate bridge club in the Park hotel.

North and south winners were Mrs. A. J. Lindemer and Mrs. Joseph Shelby, first; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook, second; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wickham, third, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Armstrong, fourth.

East and west winners were Mrs. Kenyon Green and Mrs. Paul Thoman, first; Mrs. Cecil Jones and Mrs. John Feldhusen, second; Mrs. Hugh Call and Donald Lusk, third, and Mrs. Mildred Bean and Mrs. Eugene Walker, fourth.

Plans have been made to formulate a city committee which will entitle all duplicate bridge players to more tournaments. The committee will be nominated in three weeks.

Woman Injured

JEROME, March 7 — Mrs. Thelma Perry, Hazelton, was injured Monday morning when the 1953 Chevrolet pickup in which she was riding turned over in the borrow pit three miles west of Eden at 9:30 a.m. The pickup was being driven by her husband, Fred Perry, said Deputy Sheriff Gordon Newbry.

Deputy Newbry said the pickup skidded as Perry was making a turn. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $200. Mrs. Perry received a broken shoulder.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has outlined clearly and emphatically the administrative procedure and the political strategy he will pursue in handling the south's explosive segregation problem. In contrast to extremists on both sides, his attitude will be one of extreme caution and moderation.

As with such problems as labor disputes and economic conflicts, he is a firm believer that the question of states versus federal rights should be solved at local and regional levels. He will not use troops to enforce the supreme court's integration edict. If violent acts threatening peace and order occur, he feels that the situation should be handled by the local authorities.

Normally, it should be a local police matter, in his opinion. But if conditions get beyond their control, it is incumbent upon the government to act with national guard forces, if necessary. He even deprecates use of the militia, unless absolutely essential.

PELLING REASONS—His military background explains his refusal to heed emotional cries to "use the full power of the federal government," as voiced by at least one Democratic presidential pilgrim and spokesman for the National Association for the Advancement of the Colored People.

No professional soldier likes to employ federal troops in local disturbances. It provides civilian resentment and prejudice against the army. It could slow up any way of policing or showing federal order or state courts save through definite and ordained processes of a judicial nature. All decisions on the methods of promptitude in implementing the supreme court's ruling remain in the hands of local, regional tribunals.

In almost every instance, these bodies have upheld the high tribunal's order, but with the same restraint insisted on by the President. A U. S. district court in Virginia or Texas, for instance, may hold differently from one in Alabama or Mississippi because of contrasting conditions. The strength of the U. S. as well as certain weaknesses, lie in these divergencies.

RULING REGIONAL TRIBUNALS—Neither President Eisenhower nor Chief Justice Earl Warren has any way of policing or showing federal order or state courts save through definite and ordained processes of a judicial nature. All decisions on the methods of promptitude in implementing the supreme court's ruling remain in the hands of local, regional tribunals.

In almost every instance, these bodies have upheld the high tribunal's order, but with the same restraint insisted on by the President. A U. S. district court in Virginia or Texas, for instance, may hold differently from one in Alabama or Mississippi because of contrasting conditions. The strength of the U. S. as well as certain weaknesses, lie in these divergencies.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT'S ROLE—The favors this kind of procedure. Indeed, in discussing this question, he virtually issued an oblique dictum to the federal and state judiciary. His remarks generally missed fire because they came during the dramatic press conference at which he announced his decision to run again.

But here is what he said, slowly and deliberately, in giving his views on southern legislatures' "interpolation" resistance and "the role of the federal government in enforcing the supreme court's decision":

HE DOESN'T EXPECT SUDDEN ACTION—"Well, of course, you have asked a very vast question that is filled with arguments on both sides. You have raised the question of states rights versus federal power. You have particularly brought up the question of whether the supreme court is the last word we have in interpretation of the Constitution.

"Now, this is what I say: There are adequate legal means of determining all these factors. The supreme court has issued its own operational directive and delegated power to the district courts.

"I expect that we are going to make progress and the supreme court itself said that it does not expect revolutionary action suddenly executed. We will make progress, but I am not going to tell them how it is going to be done."

HOPES FOR PRACTICAL PROGRESS—The key words are "operational" and "revolutionary." The emphasis on them means that he expects the states to "make progress" in a slow, tenable and practical manner, depending on local factors and that he deprecates haste, hysteria or violence of either side. It is reminiscent of Lincoln's attitude that, not the abolition of slavery, but preservation of the union was his sole aim. He himself will keep hands off during the solution of this problem.

Moreover, he has given marching orders to local and federal authorities, from a sheriff to a federal jurist, and he has issued a manual of arms to Republican politicians and campaigners on the segregation issue!

VIEWS OF OTHERS

IT'S REALLY NO JOKE

Reporters made something of a joke of the story about a California truck driver named Lou Murdock who was given a special safe driving award for completing 10 years of driving about 750,000 miles without an accident. The joke was that the award was given Murdock in the hospital where he was recuperating from a broken leg suffered in a fall down the stairs of his home.

It is ironic that a man with such an excellent record for safety on the job should fall down his own stairs and break a leg. But that is exactly what happens time and again. And while the monetary damage resulting from the home accident might not be as great as the damage resulting from an accident on the job, the injury to the individual can be as great, and the disruption caused by time off the job is just as costly.

We shouldn't smile at Lou Murdock's situation, for he teaches us all the lesson—particularly business and industry—that safety and safety effort doesn't stop at the plant gate or the time clock. It is every bit as important that a man be taught and encouraged to be safe off the job—at home, going to and from work, or at play. More and more leaders of business and industry understand that today and are giving their wholehearted support, both moral and financial, to organizations furthering various kinds of off-the-job safety.—Salt Lake Tribune.

DIFFERENCE OF TRUCK-CAR

Some idea of the impact of heavy trucking on highway conditions can be plainly viewed by those who travel both the north and south side highways between Rupert and Elko.

Idaho 25 has suffered some severe damage the past few weeks following warm weather which sent the frost-line down and caused "frost heaves." Heavy traffic has added to the damage, resulting in an order from the state highway commission reducing load limits.

The north side route has caught it doubly rough this year, due to the fact that all heavy trucking has been routed this way after a bridge went out on the south side. Passenger traffic is open on the south side over a temporary bridge but heavy truck travel will continue on highway 25 for some time yet.

The difference between truck and passenger travel can be easily noted in the two routes. The south side route survived the recent thaw in fairly good condition.

It's a good argument for those who insist that commercial truck lines should pay a heavier percentage toward highway maintenance.—Minidoka County News.

LAST WORD IN SOCIAL LEGISLATION

If you think you have seen the last word in social legislation, hold everything. In the Rhode Island central assembly there has been introduced, apparently with a straight face, a bill which would reimburse horse players when the nag of their choice failed to leave the barrier.

The idea of the bill seems to be that as long as everyone else is getting government protection, why not the poor horse player? Why not, indeed, but why limit it to cases where an apathetic or indifferent on burner decides he does not want to run that day? Certainly the loss of the horse player whose horse runs last is as great as that of the one whose horse does not run at all. Why not reimburse all who lose on the horses? Then all the nation's betters could move to Rhode Island and live happily ever after.—Houston Post.

POT SHOTS

WE ASKED FOR IT!

Dear Pot Shots: So you want to go prospecting? Okay, March 21, 22 and 29 are the days recommended. If you want to sell advertising, try March 10, 15, 18, 27 or 29. If you want to deal with your banker or credit men, try March 14, 18.

Or if you just want to go fishing, try March 11, 12, 20, 21, 28 or 29.

Good Luck (Filler)

Pot Shots note: We'll take issue with you on that last recommendation. It has always been our understanding that any day was the best day to go fishing.

ANENT OLD TIES

Dear Pot Shots: When are you going to let us in on the secret of "Anita" who disposes of old ties in some mysterious manner?

Curious (Twin Falls)

NOT NECESSARILY

Just as we walked into the place, a gal came charging toward the door pointing a finger and accusing, "So you don't like people who chew gum?"

From what we gathered, it all came from those two notes from "I. Object" and "Another Object" concerning the gum-chewing habits of folks. We know lots of people who chew gum and with the exception of perhaps one or two cases, we don't ever recall ever mentioning the subject.

So this might be as good a time as any to point out that the notes appearing in this corner do not necessarily reflect the opinions of Pot Shots.

However, since we've perched out here on the end of this limb, it appears the quickest way down might be to saw off the limb. So here's a question: Does a gum-chewing gal find her jaws tingling most from gum-chewing or talking?

SAME ONES?

Dear Pot Shots: I, too, say we have robins all winter. I saw them and I know they are robins, the same old things that eat all the fruit if they can get to it. Maybe they migrate some places, but they stay in Idaho all winter. Maybe not all of them do, but there are robins here all winter.

Mrs. C. Driebergen (Rt. 2, Jerome)

JUST AIN'T SO

Pot Shots got roped in the other day on a little sturgeon survey. Seems someone wanted to know something about them and we were trying to find out. So a fellow who does a bit of fishing and boating on Snake river was asked what he knew about sturgeon.

"Sturgeon. Now there's a living story for a fisherman," he said. "All you have to do is start bragging about catching one and pace off the length of it. What happens? Everyone looks at you like you were telling them the granddaddy of all fishing lies!"

Most folks who haven't heard about Snake river's sturgeon just don't believe it.

MORE POLICY

Judging from the mail these days, spring actually isn't very far away. As a matter of fact, spring apparently has arrived, spurring each and every poet to strive for new heights. After perusing a batch of the latest, it appears it might be well to repeat the Pot Shots poetry policy.

If it's short and has a humorous aspect, it has a better chance. The longer and more serious verses have to be just that much better. The real long ones, well, there just isn't space for them unless they're run in installments.

And if you want your rhymings back in event they're not used, we'd be best to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NALLEY'S CORNED BEEF HASH

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

There is a classical example of the use of money from outside sources in the defeat of Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, in 1948.

The campaign against Senator Wheeler was financed in New York City by a group of individuals, including the late J. Edgar Hoover, who were known as the "Wheeler Fund."

The facts were uncovered not long after a word by a committee of the senate similar to the one which is now making holo-logs threats but undoubtedly will default when it gets close to Arthur Westbrook Foster (that J. Goldsmith, Isidore Lipschutz and others of similar method. These people and their letterhead fronts have been immune in two previous inquiries. They doubtless will get a bye again.

Wheeler was smeared with "anti-Semitism" although at that very time he was hand-in-glove with Max Lowenthal, the lawyer who steered Truman into the vice presidency in 1944. Later Wheeler fronted for Lowenthal before the house committee on un-American activities.

The members of the lower house lost their wits and their nerve and let him and Lowenthal walk out without disclosing the truth. That information concerned George Shaw Wheeler, a red who defected to Czechoslovakia from our army of occupation. It never has been put into the record.

The senate committee on elections investigated the job on Wheeler and made a half-hearted report. No action was taken. Senator Ellender of Louisiana dragged his heels, but Senator Johnson of Colorado got sore and blasted the whole business in personal communications. Bob Barker, the committee's investigator, did a first-class job. Ever since then he has been smeared by the same familiar methods that were used against Joe McCarthy.

Two years ago, Congressman Velde of Illinois, dawdling along as chairman of the house committee on un-American activities, leaped at a chance to discredit Barker for a minor slip-up. He confused two similar names in a report to the committee.

Velde fired him and Barker was put in jeopardy of losing pension rights earned over many years. Last year he was active in the work of the Reece committee which investigated the tax-free foundations. This committee got the same rough-housing from the same quarters but stood toe-to-toe and carried its points.

The other committee which investigated the same kind of jobbery in federal elections was the so-called committee on lobbying of the house of representatives. A crook named Buchanan was chairman. He had been indicted four times in swindles in Pennsylvania.

This inquiry was instigated by the same group which got Wheeler. It was actually directed by Lipschutz's non-secular anti-Nazi league in New York. This league is a phony.

Lipschutz runs another such layout called the Society for the Prevention of World War III. Many of these things have interlocking, non-functioning, letterhead executive committees. This society's purpose was to put over the Morgenthau plan. That being done, Soviet Russia soon would have occupied all France and long ago would have conquered Spain and North Africa.

When the Buchanan committee was trying to send Dr. Edward A. Rumely to prison for circulating John T. Flynn's anti-communist tract, "The Road Ahead," Lipschutz's "executive secretary," James Sheldon, planted himself in the office of the Democratic leader of the house, Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico later admitted that he received and acted on documents stolen from Rumley's committee for constitutional government. He said Sheldon delivered them to him.

The Buchanan committee refused to touch Goldsmith, Lipschutz or any of their societies and leagues.

Wheeler's conduct was strange. However, he had opposed our entry into the war and New York millionaires whacked him for that reason. Wheeler later ran into the late Albert Lasker, the advertising magnate, in the Waldorf and thanked him for having knocked him out of the senate. Lasker was slightly embarrassed but he gave implicit assent when Wheeler said he was now making more money practicing law in Washington than he could have hoped to make as senator.

However, Wheeler never had a convincing explanation of his conduct in steering Max Lowenthal through the day before the house committee on un-American activities.

Two GOP Clubs Meet in Gooding

WENDELL, March 7—Members of Gooding Republican Women's club were guests Monday afternoon at the meeting of Hub City Republican Women's club at the city hall.

Plans were made by the two clubs to hold a county wide luncheon in Gooding in April. Mrs. William Detweiler, Hazelton, state president of the Women's Republican clubs, will be speaker.

Mrs. Melvin Gibson reviewed the highlights of the Lincoln day address given by Gov. J. Bracken Lee, Utah, in Gooding on Feb. 11. Mrs. O. F. Elsenhauer, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Eaton sang, Mrs. Elsenhauer, Mrs. Homer Moon and Mrs. Roy Minton were appointed as the nominating committee. They will report at the April 2 meeting.

Mrs. Hugh Caldwell and Mrs. G. D. MacQuilvey served refreshments.

While the Buchanan committee was trying to send Rumely to prison for circulating information, Senator Murray of Montana and eight other members of both houses were dumping propaganda into the congressional record for the benefit of Lipschutz and his cohorts and sending them franked envelopes to distribute his propaganda free.

All this would be well within the purview of the new senate committee. It will not be touched.

APPROACHING JAPAN, With Japan Air Lines—Before rolling into my berth for the night, I asked Purser Asao Iwamoto to wake me before dawn to witness that recurring miracle of sunrise which never fails to make a man humble.

The sun, rising behind us, lifted quickly out of the silvered horizon, the eastern sky opening like a great rose, petals by petals while in the west a few hard stars still sparkled.

With that memory still vivid, I was scarcely prepared for the next view: "Captain Sowell asks if you'd like to come forward to get the first glimpse of Mt. Fuji." Looking at my half-dressed coffee cup, the purser added: "Don't wait. I'll bring you a hot cup in a minute. Fuji-san, you know, is best early in the morning."

Sure enough, there was Fujiyama, far in the distance, the only land visible. The well-nigh perfect condensation was still plinked with the morning sun's glow. (Fuji comes from the Aino word meaning "fire"; and nd very late afternoons, just sunset. As we swept over the mainland, the captain veered north, taking us over the mountainous Japanese mainland. (San Francisco to Tokyo, 24 hours flying time; 29 hours elapsed time, with dining stops in Honolulu and Wake Island.)

Mostly formed by volcanic upheavals, Japan has a wealth of scenery: Mountains of many shapes—cone-like, knife-edged, saw-toothed; waterfalls, hot springs galore, vines, and tranquil mountain lakes to reflect the surrounding beauty. With it, there are gentle, peaceful, highly-cultivated valleys.

What Big Ben is to London, Diamond Head to Hawaii, Manhattan skyline to New York, Golden Gate to San Francisco, Old Faithful to Yellowstone park, that Fujiyama is to the Japanese nation. To everyone in Japan. Since ancient times Fuji has been venerated—men have worshipped at its summit for a thousand years (until a century ago, no women were permitted to climb it) and surely no mountain has been painted more often, had more poems dedicated to it, had more stories and legends surrounding it.

Geologists say that Fuji, with a base of some 75 miles circumference, was once two mountains. Then about 100,000 years ago, an immense quantity of lava spouted out and spread over these two to form the outer crust and give Fuji its present beautiful shape.

In Fuji's 2,000 years of recorded history, it has had some 18 violent eruptions; one of the worst being the last, about 250 years ago. This eruption blacked-out Tokyo (then called Edo), some 75 miles distant, for a week and deposited a six-inch layer of ash to the frightening accompaniment of earth shaking and thunderous noises. Today, only one spot is still hot to stay on—and a few faint fumes of steam still rise to attest to the mountain's former power.

Every summer (from about July 5 to Sept. 10), more than 100,000 climbers scale its sides over fairly easy trails. It's about a nine-hour, 8-mile climb, divided into 10 stages with a stone hut for resting, eating or sleeping at nearly every one of the eight stations.

Members of the Japan Alpine Club (Address: Surugadai, 4-chome, Kandohyodoko, Tokyo) tell me that the best time to climb Fuji is at night when it is cool—then it seems so much shorter. Also, this brings the climber to the summit by sunrise. For the stay-above, there is an easier way—there are good auto roads surrounding the mountain; or for a panorama of land, sea, mountains, lakes, there is the plane trip to Osaka, clouds permitting.

Increase Set For Costs of Many Goods

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Costs are on the rise again in a number of business fields. Further hikes are shaping up by summer.

Shippers will pay about 400 million dollars more a year to the railroads. The cost of sending iron ore, coal and limestone over the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence will rise an average of six per cent when these waterways thaw out. And the cost of sending goods over the highways may rise if congress goes ahead with plans to raise the tax on gasoline, diesel fuel and truck tires to pay for new highways.

The price of things made of steel and copper has tended higher of late—due to excess of demand over supply, as well as to labor costs. Steel workers and miners are discussing new wage demands for summer.

Pay Hike Planned

Some two million workers got a pay hike when the federal minimum wage rose to $1 an hour.

Automatic wage increases for perhaps 2 1/2 million others are in the cards this year under existing union-management contracts. An example is the auto workers' annual "productivity adjustment" of six cents an hour.

The Textile Workers union is out to thaw a 5-year wage freeze for employes in New England mills. Wage boosts were won in 1951 but later dropped when demand for textiles slumped and the owners said wages would have to be cut if the mills were to continue operating. Garment workers will seek higher pay this summer.

Bright Side Seen

All of these recent and prospective wage increases have their bright side for the general economy as well as for the workers directly benefited. They add to the total of consumers' spending money, to the joy of merchants.

But they also add to the cost of doing business for many another. When the cost can't be absorbed out of profit margins, or when it can't be offset by more output per man hour, prices go up.

Consumers have noted the slow but steady upward push of the cost of many goods and services. Because food prices have tended to ease and rent has held fairly steady, the pinch hasn't been too bad. But it's there, as a check of your household budget will show.

Legislature Kills Dixie Rabbit Bill

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 7 (AP)—Members of the South Carolina house of representatives yesterday defeated a so-called "rabbit bill" by making it "too ridiculous" to pass.

Lawmakers who disapproved of the bill to permit children to hunt rabbits with sticks without buying hunting licenses introduced amendments to permit the use of slingshots, air rifles, arrows and boomerangs.

Finally, Rep. John T. Gentry proposed "blowguns without poison darts," "stomping rabbits" with feet, or saying "bang bang" if no weapon is available.

Nations Differ in Prosperity Result

SEOUL, Korea, March 7 (AP)—Japanese newspaper editor Kimpel Sheba, just returned from a trip to the United States, said today prosperity affects individuals differently in the two countries.

In Japan, he said, a man buys a television set, an automobile, a house and then thinks of acquiring a mistress.

In the United States, he said, most men have an automobile and a television set, and after buying a house they think of the same fourth item as the Japanese, "but what they actually do is take their wives on a second honeymoon."

ILHEUS, Brazil, March 7 (AP)—A hurricane struck this chief Brazilian cocoa port of 25,000 population yesterday causing heavy damage.

South Region Lashes Haste In Race Plan

ATLANTA, Ga., March 7 (AP)—Alabama legislators today drafted a "no slow" plan, warning the U. S. supreme court of the danger of civil strife if the South is forced to desegregate too hastily.

The Alabama senate received a house-passed resolution asking the court "to permit the white and colored races in the South to live together in peace and harmony."

The proposed resolution, intended as an official appeal to the supreme court, cites the Autherine Lucy riots at the University of Alabama as evidence of potential danger.

"The University of Alabama has made a bona fide attempt to carry out the decree of the court and in so doing has found it impossible at this time with imminent danger of civil strife," the resolution said.

The resolution departed from past southern state legislation purporting to "nullify" court decisions or sidestep them, but echoed ostentation the University of Alabama case raised in Deep South states.

"An overwhelming majority of the people of this section of the South are possessed with a deep determination not to let any group outside the South force them at this time to change the social pattern," the resolution said.

Two Crashes Damage Five Autos in T.F.

City police reported two automobile accidents Tuesday involving five cars. All five vehicles were damaged slightly, no one was injured, and one driver was cited.

Two cars, one leaving a parking space and the other backing into a parking space, scraped in front of the postoffice at 4:15 p.m. A 1956 Dodge sedan operated by Wendell M. Grout, 827 Main avenue west, incurred minor damage to the left rear bumper. A 1961 Ford sedan operated by Mrs. Olin L. Smith, Buhl, was damaged on the right rear fender. The 1958 car was being backed into a parking space as the Ford was pulling out of a parking space.

A three-car accident occurred at 8:33 p.m. in front of Haney's body shop, 1851 Kimberly road. All three vehicles were traveling in the same direction, according to the police report.

A 1949 Ford sedan operated by Colleen D. Pritchard, 225 Fourth avenue east, stopped on Kimberly road preparatory to making a left turn on Elm street. A 1955 Buick operated by Maida Haney, 1890 Second avenue east, stopped when the Ford did. She was cited for driving with an expired driver's license.

A 1950 Buick sedan operated by Dennis L. Rounly, Minidoka, didn't stop, police said, and collided with the rear of the 1955 car, apparently pushing it into the lead car. The 1949 car incurred minor damage to the rear bumper, the 1955 car was damaged about the front and rear bumpers, and the 1950 car had grill damage.

Co-Op Confab Planned Here

Annual meeting and election of the Twin Falls County Cooperative Dairyman's association and district meeting of the Jerome Cooperative creamery will be held Friday at the Turf club.

Luncheon at 12:15 p.m. will open the meeting. Following reports by officials and committee chairmen the annual election of directors will be held. The guest speaker, Richard H. Cronshaw, Los Angeles, will talk following the election.

Prizes will be awarded members and a program of entertainment has been planned. Carl A. Harder is chairman of the dairyman's association.

Wednesday members of the Minidoka Cooperative association held the annual meeting and election in Heyburn. Cronshaw addressed the group.

Cars Damaged in Accident in T. F.

Cars driven by Frank H. Briggs, Jr., 24, 737 Second avenue west, and Jimmie E. Wilson, 16, Buhl, collided at the intersection of Second avenue and Fifth street south at 7:21 p.m. Tuesday, causing an estimated $176 damage, city police reported. No one was injured.

Damage to the front end of the Briggs' vehicle, a 1948 Dodge sedan, was estimated at $100. Damage to the right side of Wilson's car, a 1953 Ford sedan owned by his mother, Mrs. Agnes Wilson, was estimated at $75.

Police reported the Ford had "very poor" brakes.

Others in the Dodge were Mrs. Briggs and daughter. Other occupants of the Ford were Fred Hale and Don Whaley, both Buhl.

Talk Planned

Pheresia Hoover, New York city, field worker for the Methodist church's Women's Society of Christian Service, will speak at 8 p.m. today in the Methodist church sanctuary here.

The public is invited to the talk and members of Methodist churches from other communities have been asked to attend. Preceding Miss Hoover's talk, devotions will be conducted by Mrs. Eva Mason, Buhl, conference WSGS promotion secretary. Special music by Billie Justice is planned and a fellowship hour will follow the meeting.

MEETING CANCELED

BHOSHONE, March 7—There will be no meeting of Magic Grange Friday night. The meeting was canceled to permit members to attend Upper Big Wood River Grange meeting at Halley. The Wood River Center Grange is taking the gavel to Halley Friday night.

Payment Okayed For Basin Work

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The house approved yesterday payment of $127,141 to contractors in connection with work they did nine years ago on the Columbia basin reclamation project.

The court of claims found the contractors took losses as a result of curtailment of work ordered by the reclamation bureau because of delays in congressional appropriations. The bill would pay $102,475 jointly to Winston Bros. Construction company of Utah and $24,666 to J. A. Terteling and Sons, Inc. of Idaho. With minor amendments the bill was returned to the senate, which already had approved it.

TROLINGER'S PHARMACY

Orange Peels Used by Many To Relieve Common Cold Ills

NEW YORK, March 7.—Because so many people will try anything at least once in hope of relief from the common cold there's a growing market today for orange peels.

Newcomer in the long line of treatments to use to their peak day of popularity is bioflavonoid, a chemical extracted from the orange and lemon peels left over by the juice squeezers and other processors of citrus fruit.

In two years output of this yellow powder—formerly used in moderate volume in a number of industrial products—has jumped from 5,000 pounds a year to 150,000 pounds. Sales volume is now estimated at $1,800,000 a year against $60,000 two years ago.

Doctors previously had used bioflavonoids in treating ailments ranging from chicken pox to coronary thrombosis. Then they began trying out its antihistamine properties. Dr.

mand from a long suffering but always sporting public sent production up 30-fold. Scientists at a recent meeting sponsored by the Common Cold Foundation, Inc. warned that no cure has yet been found for the annoying disability that costs industry and individuals millions of dollars in lost working time—and in the pursuit of treatments.

One thing baffling the scientists, they said, is that there are a multitude of viruses which produce the symptoms associated with the common cold. Track down one of the pests and you still have a slough that can't be coped with as yet.

Nearly two dozen pharmaceutical firms market bioflavonoid preparations. They are careful to stress that it is supposed to relieve symptoms rather than to cure. They recall the furor when too much hope was built up by some users of antihistamines.

FORD FLEXO-HITCH DISC HARROW

This harrow approaches flexibility of a pull-type disc, plus the convenience of a lift-type. That's why it does a smoother job of discing over uneven ground, yet is the easiest-handling disc you've ever used.

When harrowing with one tractor wheel in a dead furrow, for example, the harrow does not dig in on the low side and ride out of the ground on the high side. It follows ground contours, pulverizing all the ground to a smooth, even depth. Gives the crop to be seeded a better chance!

Try it on your own farm with a Ford Tractor, without obligation. SEE THE DIFFERENCE!

NEW! Full floating Hitch

Flexible action—follows ground for smoother discing. Note how the tractor wheel has dropped into a dead furrow, but the harrow does not dig in on the low side. That's the advantage of Ford's exclusive flexible hitch. It's full floating.

Water Confab In Utah Slated During March

FILER, March 7 — N. V. Sharp, Filer, will attend a series of reclamation committee meetings dealing with questions of national water policy, wateruser problems and reclamation projects March 14-17 in Salt Lake City.

Sharp is a member of two National Reclamation association committees which will conduct a series of four meetings. They are the water policy committee and the state quotas committee.

The water policy committee, headed by H. A. Shamberger, Carson City, Nev., has the responsibility of studying and reporting upon the report of the President's Advisory Cabinet committee on water resources policy.

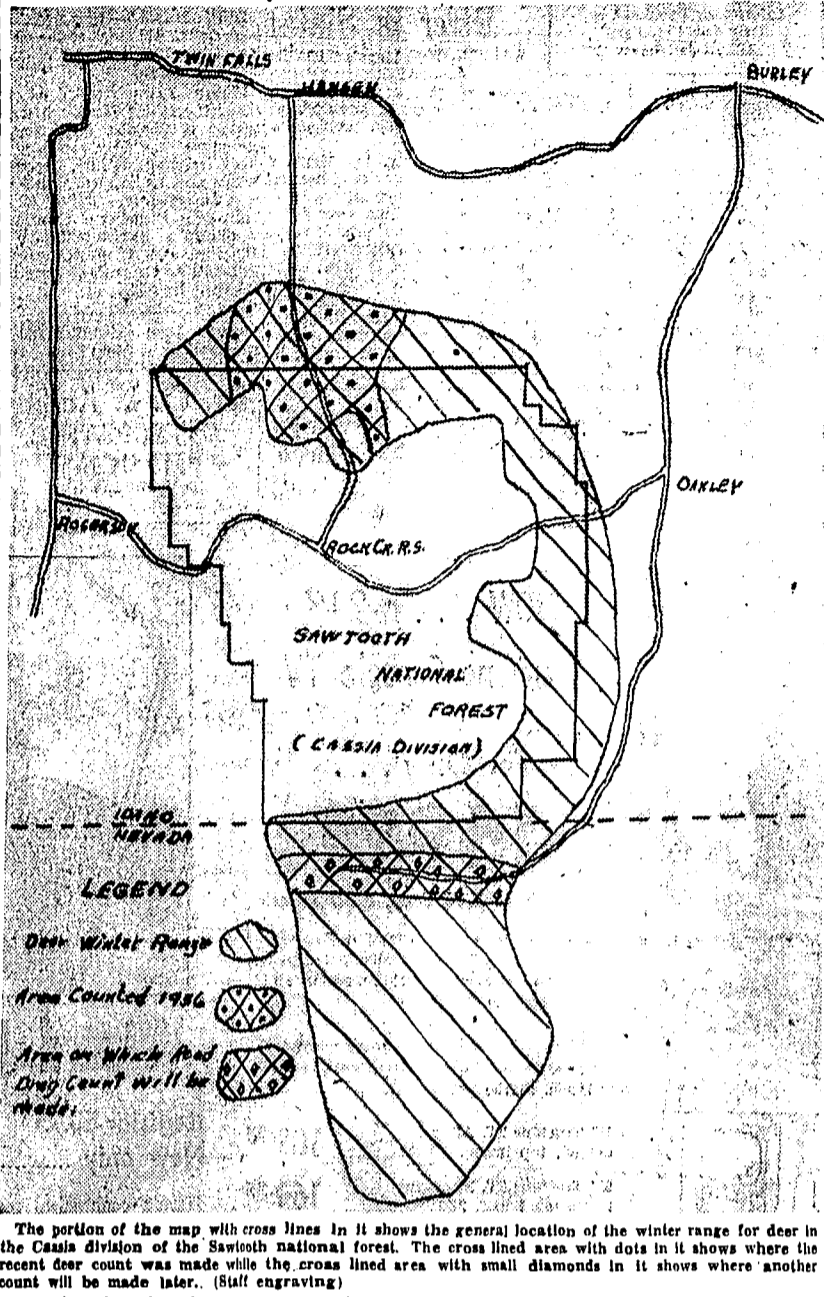

The waterusers committee, headed by LaBelle E. Colles, Prineville, Ore., will give special attention to problems affecting all western waterusers including a research program inaugurated by the department of agriculture for eradication of moss in irrigation ditches.

The state quota committee will attempt to work out a formula for determination of a proper quota for each state in connection with the finances of the association.

Prominent engineers from over the western states compose the cost study committee who will study reclamation costs and make recommendations.

The meetings will be held at the Hotel Utah. The cost study committee meets March 14; waterusers committee on March 15; state quota committee on March 16, and water policy committee March 17.

Ogden School Lost in Blaze, No One Killed

OGDEN, Utah, March 7 (AP)—Ogden's worst general-alarm fire in more than 15 years destroyed the 34-classroom Lewis Elementary and Junior High school late yesterday. The fire was still burning early today.

Damage to the structure, which was described as gutted, was unofficially estimated at a quarter of a million dollars, although school officials said replacement cost might run to two or three times that figure.

The fast-spreading blaze was first reported at 9:58 p. m., but Fire Chief Clyde Peterson said the interior of the structure was a mass of flames when firemen arrived and the building's roof collapsed moments later. A wall of the structure also collapsed.

The fire, near downtown Ogden, could be seen from almost any point in the city.

Even as the flames were at their height, offers came from officials of the Latter-day Saints church to provide facilities of church schools in Ogden for the Lewis school's 600-1,000 displaced students.

Cause of the blaze was not known early today. No injuries were reported.

Church-State Tiff Is Flaming Anew

BUENOS AIRES, March 7 (AP)—Church-state friction touched off new student riots here last night, a few hours after the government announced that ousted ex-President Juan D. Peron's ban on religious education in public schools will continue in force for another year.

At least two students were injured, and three of the youthful rioters were arrested. One girl suffered a head wound serious enough to require hospital treatment.

Continuation of the education ban was a gesture to Socialists and other leftists who have denounced the government's earlier declaration that it will permit the establishment of private universities in Argentina.

Princess to Take Educational Job

NEWCASTLE - UNDER - LYME, England, March 7 (AP)—Princess Margaret will soon take over the presidency of a university from a 91-year-old man.

The court of governors of North Staffordshire University college announced that the 91-year-old Earl of Harrowby had resigned and that the princess had accepted the office of university president.

She will be formally installed June 28.

Deer Count Shows Only Slight Drop In Herd Census in Cassia Division

Heavy hunting in the Cassia division of the Sawtooth national forest has not noticeably reduced the size of the deer herd, forest service and state fish and game department officials reported Tuesday following a survey of the herd the latter part of last week.

The survey, completed Saturday in the same area in which surveys were made last year and in 1953, showed 3,887 deer as compared with 4,846 last year and 4,725 in 1953. During the hunt last year 3,268 deer were harvested. In 1953 and 1954 approximately 7,500 deer were killed in the division.

The deer observed were in good condition, the surveyors reported.

The area in which the trend census was made covers approximately 70 square miles. The area extends from the West fork of Dry creek south of Murtaugh to McMullen creek south of Kimberly. Most of the area is under supervision of the forest service and bureau of land management.

Winter range for this herd extends in a band around the north, east, and south sides of the Cassia division. Census information on that part of the herd that winters in Nevada will be obtained in a road drag count to be made in the Goose creek area of Nevada during April and May of this year. The road drag count of 1955, conducted from April 13 to May 7, showed that 1,764 deer crossed from Nevada to Idaho.

Census information is an important tool of management but cannot be used alone in determining the harvest necessary to control the herd, officials said. Utilization studies of important browse plants on key winter range areas will be made to determine the condition and trend of the vegetation used by the deer.

Studies made in the past year indicate that soil and vegetation conditions are not satisfactory on the key deer winter range areas, they added.

Later this spring utilization measurements on bitterbrush, pellet group counts to determine the use made by deer and livestock, and studies on the reproduction of valuable browse plants will be made to supplement the management information used in determining the harvest necessary for the Cassia herd.

The census made on March 1, 2

Demos Stump Minnesota in Bad Weather

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 7 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver bucked snow, ice, and rain today in their fight for votes in Minnesota's Democratic presidential primary.

The two candidates stuck to a fast pace, even though icy roads kept Kefauver from making a speech at Winona last night and Stevenson's plane landed on a snow-drifted runway at Grand Rapids.

Although the Illinoisan and the Tennessean are battling each other in Minnesota's March 20 primary, they kept their fire concentrated on President Eisenhower and his administration's farm and foreign policies.

Stevenson brought up the question of Mr. Eisenhower's health at Thief River Falls. He said he did not want to make "it an issue," but the manner in which he proposes to conduct the duties of the presidency obviously is a public matter.

Stevenson recalled that Mr. Eisenhower said he would have to cut down on some of his activities and asked "does this mean that we are being asked to alter the terms of service of the chief executive and therefore to reconstitute our highest office?"

Kefauver also said he is not making an issue of the President's health. But he served notice that "I will criticize the failure to reach decisions and the failure to give sufficient time to the office."

Negro March On Capitol Is Possible Plan

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—A Negro march on the capitol may be organized if congress fails to act on civil rights legislation.

More than 1,500 delegates to a national civil rights conference headed home today leaving the threat of a march behind them.

Conference chairman Roy Wilkins said yesterday at the closing session of the three day meeting that the march may be resorted to if congress fails to give attention to "our requests."

Buttonhole Solons
Delegates devoted much of their time Monday and yesterday buttonholing congressmen and senators to urge passage of an eight-point legislative program the conference proposed.

The program includes outlawing the poll tax, guaranteeing the right of vote, protecting citizens from violence, strengthening the civil rights section of the justice department and an anti-lynching law.

Wilkins urged the delegates to go home and work at the precinct level and on up now that they have the views of their representatives. If these methods do not work "other steps will be considered," he said.

Letter Drafted
He also said a letter is being drafted to President Eisenhower urging the chief executive to make a direct statement on the "urgent matter" of civil rights.

He told the delegates—representing more than 50 labor, religious, racial and other groups—that even though they received rebuffs from some congressmen, some progress was made.

Meet Planned For Witnesses

The convention for 16 Jehovah's Witness congregations in Washington, Oregon and Idaho will begin Friday in Emmett and continue through Sunday, reports Orville D. Doty, local presiding minister.

The meet is sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract society and will feature some of the church's finest speakers, he said.

R. McWilliams, circuit minister of this area, has taken the place of C. W. Fisher, supervising minister, as a speaker. Other talks will be presented by S. B. Friend, Brooklyn, who will discuss "Consulting God on World Affairs," and "Training for Ministerial Work." His concluding talk will be "How Jehovah's Witnesses are proving world wide unity and peace can be attained."

Doty reports the convention is public and more than 35 members will attend from this area.

Farm Bureau to Receive Reports

HANSEN, March 7—The Hansen Community Farm Bureau will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Hansen Grange hall to hear reports by committees on national affairs and commodities.

Robert Pettigrove will give a report on bills now before congress pertaining to farm legislation and Mrs. Martin Wellhousen will speak on the history of 4-H and its objectives. Progress made by the newly organized pea and bean association will be outlined for the members. A 4-H group will give a program and refreshments will be served.

TV Is Used in Lumber Mills; Sizes up Logs

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7 (AP)—Television has entered the sawmill business. Lumbermen attending the 25th annual meeting of the Western Pine Association learned today how closed-circuit TV has been found useful in sizing up and positioning logs going through the head band-saw.

A report on the usefulness of TV was delivered by Carl A. Raasmussen, head of the western pine research laboratory in Portland. He discussed the results of a trial TV installation at an eastern Washington sawmill.

With a camera mounted over the log deck and focused along the length of the log, the men engaged in positioning and sawing the log have virtually periscope sight in managing the log.

"It's the next thing to X-ray," Raasmussen said. Raasmussen said some western sawmills had installed TV to provide remote control of conveyors and other lowered cameras into millponds and rivers to locate underwater "sinker" logs.

A. T. Hildman, Camino, Calif., chairman of the forest conservation committee, reported Idaho strengthened its leadership in the western pine region tree farm movement. That state had 120 new tree farms certified in 1955, Hildman said.

Senators Stampede to Get on Side of Righteousness in Matter of Spending

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—There is a stampede on in the senate to line up on the side of righteousness and against corruption.

At least 62 senators have signed up to support a new honest elections bill which doubtless will improve the system some, but probably not much. The United States elections system was unintentionally rigged to favor corruption—if by corruption is meant the spending of money for which no proper accounting ever is made.

The new honest elections bill grew out of the offer of cash contributions to the campaigns of senators who favored the natural gas bill, which recently passed congress and died of presidential veto. There is mortal fear on capital hill that the voters may have been aroused by the gas bill episode. Angry voters are likely to vote the ins out.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson recently said something like this: You will have to spur some good works aimed against corruption. And that about adds it up. Everybody is against corruption. The senators stampede to be recorded publicly against it, hoping the voters back home will take note.

The United States election system is rigged for over-spending and lax accounting by reason of the overlapping of campaign and spending efforts. In a given county, for example, there usually are judges, county commissioners and a sheriff to be chosen. The county is part of a congressional district which must help select a congressman. As part of the state, the county also may be voting for a United States senator. The state legislature also may be on the ballot. And if it is presidential year, the county voter is helping to choose a President.

The major candidates have their own campaign managers, each operating and spending somewhat independently of all others. The national congressional and senatorial campaign committees have funds for independent spending. At the top of the heap are the national committees with large sums to spread around. State committees, likewise, put some money out. And there are numerous individuals who put discreet thousands here and there.

No single individual or committee in either party is responsible for all money raising or spending. That is the fact upon which previous honest elections bills have foundered. There is no doubt that the new bill will pass. But there is much doubt that it will do the job.

The British have a simpler elections system. There are no sidestep diversions to the election of members of parliament. The British representations of the people acts passed in 1948 and 1949 are effective. A candidate must not treat a voter to a campaign beer. Your neighbor in Britain may take his family to the polls in his car, but he may not offer you a lift. A candidate may register for taking persons to the polling place, one car for

The agent may spend roughly between $1,600 and $1,800, depending on the constituency—and that is all. The British enforce all of this, too.

Parents Rapped in Sessions On Juvenile Crime Problems

PASADENA, Calif., March 7 (AP)—Mom and pop got rapped harder than the kids at this city's conference on delinquency and other juvenile problems.

Superior Judge Roger Pfaff urged making parents "criminally responsible for the criminal acts of their children," and a panel session of the community conference on youth came up with a check list of undesirable parent types.

Mrs. Russell Grant, Parent-Teacher association council secretary, gave the panel this rundown on "typical failures" among mothers and fathers who undertake to be "disciplinarians."

"There is first the 'see-sawer parent,' who is as stern as Capt. Bligh one day and an indulgent parent the next," she said. Then there is the "flashback" type, who is always saying, "kids didn't do things like that in my day."

The "superior parent," Mrs. Grant said, "is completely satisfied that mother and father know best, and will discuss nothing with children." The nervous Nellie type, she said, foresees danger in whatever her child is doing or plans to do, and consequently, discourages all her children's activities.

"The tab keeper," said Mrs. Grant, "expects an hour-by-hour account of children's time," and "ambitious parents" are always urging their kids to seek "greater accomplishments."

perhaps to justify their own failures in life.

"Finally," she concluded, "there is the 'heavy chaperon' who wants Johnny to bring his friends home and when he does 'the heavy chaperon' acts like a 'private eye' on a big investigation."

Judge Pfaff, in attacking what he called "coddling" of delinquents had this to say of juveniles who repeatedly violate the law and the terms of their probation:

"In such cases the parents have certainly been put on notice concerning the anti-social behavior of their child, and parents' records of continued indifference and refusal to accept their parental obligations should justify filing a criminal complaint against them."

"Teenagers got a chance to talk too. Tom Delahoke, Pasadena City college student, deplored the fact that many juveniles do not consider drinking a factor contributing to delinquency. He added:

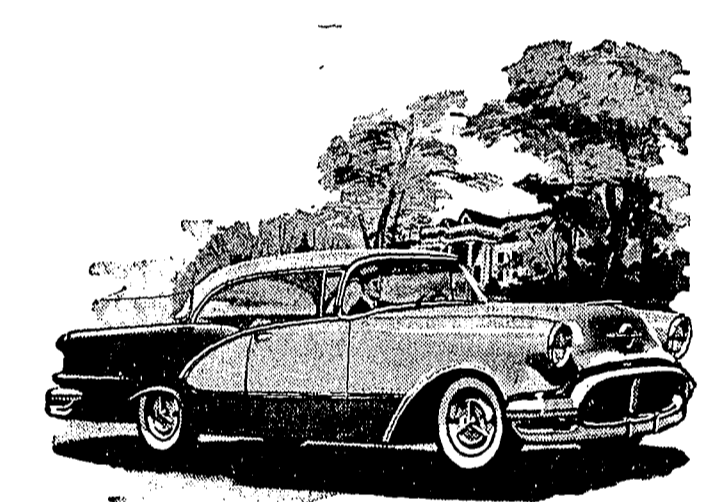

"These youth ignore the evidence that juvenile drinking leads into party crashings, traffic accidents and sometimes worse things."

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

The bane of any mother's life is her bickering children. She is grateful when they go off to school and the house is in peace. If she is wise, she sits down to a cup of coffee and her favorite newspaper and forgets her family for a brief while. But the peace of the house is as brief as her respite. The children come home and the taunts fly, she's lucky if the fists don't keep time.

Susie cannot keep from taunting her brother with, "I see you wore your new tie in vain today. May-belle didn't even take a look, did she?" That's the opening salute, the roar of battle succeeds it, and the place is in an uproar.

There is no use in talking to the youngsters at this stage. The first thing to do is to send Susie to another room, her own if that is possible. She began the scrap. Make it a rule that the one who fires the opening gun is to be isolated and for long enough to inconvenience him. Even make him eat his evening meal alone, if he is a repeated offender. There is nothing so helpful in this situation as to separate the battlers for a period long enough not only to let them cool off but long enough for them to feel lonely and long for the company of others.

It is a good family practice to rule out all personal remarks that carry a sting. When big brother says to his self-conscious sister, "It's a wonder you wouldn't comb your hair instead of copying that imitation movie actress friend of yours," he should promptly be suppressed and allowed to know that he was being most ill-mannered, displaying behavior unworthy of a gentleman. Family opinion has great influence in such matters.

An intimation that sister could do better with her hair, given privately, might work, but outspoken criticism only arouses anger. The fact that it is rooted in truth is no help. Such personal remarks must be ruled out. Even fathers and mothers should refrain from such remarks in the presence of the other children.

Many quarrels among brothers and sisters rise out of the lack of respect for personal ownership. Jack likes Tom's tie, so he helps himself to it, regardless. Kathy covets Mamie's skirt, so she puts it on and appears dressed in it, ready for school. Mother is appealed to; there are loud protests and angry shouts. Possession, although often a position of strength, is not the law.

Ownership is. This must be respected if there is to be peace in the house. Nobody is to use another's belongings without his expressed permission. The observance of this rule saves many a battle.

Saying "don't" will not train a child in obedience, but the proper training will. Dr. Patri tells how to train a child in obedience in his booklet No. 301, "Obedience." To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Kentucky Will Go To NCAA Tourney; Alabama Bows Out

By The Associated Press
Kentucky, a three-time winner of the National Collegiate basketball championship, got the nod as Southeastern Conference representative in the 1956 NCAA tournament Tuesday and St. Louis university, an also-ran in the Missouri Valley conference, accepted a bid to play in the National Invitation tournament.

St. Louis completed the 12-team NIT field which will compete at Madison Square garden March 17-24, while Kentucky's nomination left the NCAA with only one of its 25 berths vacant after Kansas State claimed the Big Seven championship and an automatic entry to the nationwide playoffs by defeating Kansas 70-68 Tuesday night.

The K-State success averted a possible four-way tie for the Big Seven title which would have meant a couple of flips of a coin to determine the league's entry into the NCAA eliminations which get under way Monday. The Wildcats get a first round bye.

St. Louis wound up in a tie for second in the Missouri Valley conference with Oklahoma A and M which was selected for the NIT Monday along with St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Loyola of Chicago. The Cardinals defeated Lafayette 84-80 Tuesday night to break even in their two regular season meetings.

Kentucky, after falling to win the Southeastern conference title for only the second time since 1943, was picked after champion Alabama resigned its tournament spot. Alabama's five starting players all are fourth-year men, ineligible under NCAA rules, and coach Johnny Dede and his players decided to yield to Kentucky rather than send a team of substitutes.

This will mark Kentucky's eighth appearance in the NCAA tournament. The Wildcats won the title in 1948, 1949 and 1951, and reached the eastern finals in 1942. Last year they were third in the eastern section.

St. Louis has appeared almost as frequently in the Invitation tournament, winning the title in 1948 and reaching the quarter finals four out of five other years. The Billikens were in line for a tie with Houston for their conference title and a possible NCAA spot until they were spilled by Oklahoma A and M last Saturday.

Kentucky drew a bye through the first round of the NCAA competition, which opens with nine games at four locations next Monday and Tuesday, Iowa, which won the Big Ten championship Monday, defending champion San Francisco, UCLA, Utah and Houston also drew first round byes.

Bobcats Win District Title Against Ricks

BOZEMAN, Mont., March 7 (AP)—Montana State college noised ahead late in the first half Tuesday night and went on to gain its Sixth District NAIA basketball title by beating Ricks College of Rexburg 91-74 in the championship game.

MSC will compete in the single elimination national NAIA tournament at Kansas City Monday through Saturday. It will be the Bobcats' third straight appearance in the national tournament.

In the consolation game for third and fourth, Western Montana defeated Carroll College 62-50. The first half of the MSC-Ricks game was extremely close for 18 minutes. Then the Bobcats broke away from a 25-25 tie, and led at the intermission 30-33.

At the outset of the second, MSC worked into a 42-33 lead and was never pressed thereafter with Ricks getting no closer than five points, 55-51, midway in the period.

Max Nield was the top scorer of the game, hitting 24 points for the Ricks club.

Missoula Club Forms Corporation

HELENA, Mont., March 7 (AP)—Five Missoula men have filed articles of incorporation with secretary of state S. C. Arnold for the Missoula Baseball Club, Inc., under by-laws of the Pioneer baseball league.

Owners and operators of the class C professional club are Nicholas M. Mariani, Charles S. Ford Knight, Edward T. Dussault, Morris H. McCollum, and L. J. Topel.

Veterans Start to Steal Spotlight From Youngsters in Baseball Drills

By The Associated Press
Up to now the youngsters have hogged the spotlight as they try for the big prize—a major league berth. But the veterans are beginning to make their weight felt around baseball's spring training camps.

Home run slugger Hank Sauer, who disappointed the Chicago Cubs with a dismal season in 1955, powered a 400-foot drive over the fence in batting practice despite a sore ankle.

Furthermore, pitcher Russ Meyer, acquired by the Cubs from the Dodgers, successfully weathered a test of his ailing elbow. Meyer had complained the elbow locked on him while fielding a grounder Sunday.

Office Gathers Data on Game Population

BOISE, March 7—Information on current big game populations and wintering conditions is now being gathered in the field in preparation for a series of four conferences to be held for department personnel in various parts of the state before mid-April, the Idaho fish and game department said today.

Ross Leonard, director, said the meetings will be held at Ketchum, Pocatello, Nampa, and Grangeville to pool field information and formulate department recommendations for the 1956 big game hunting seasons. These recommendations and the evidence supporting them will be submitted to the Idaho fish and game commission for consideration when it convenes April 25, Leonard explained. He said recommendations from sportsmen, landowners and others will also be considered by the commission following the customary public hearing before setting the new seasons and regulations.

The director said routine reports from the field during recent weeks indicate that big game has wintered rather well over most of the state. Mild weather following the cold period in November allowed the animals to return to higher elevations and scatter over the range.

In some areas considerable green vegetation appeared and gave a boost to the usual winter diet. Extreme concentrations have occurred so far only in a few places, and little emergency feeding has been necessary, he said.

Economy Run Entry List Numbers 22

LOS ANGELES, March 7 (AP)—Twenty-two stock automobiles have been entered in this year's Mobilgas economy run from here to Colorado Springs, and for the first time all will have automatic transmissions.

In announcing the entry list for the four-day event starting March 19, Mobilgas said the automatic transmissions are mandatory because most 1956 models are so equipped. Hardtops are permitted for the first time, it said, because this style has superseded the four-door sedan in popularity.

The car attaining the highest ton-miles per gallon, regardless of price, will claim the sweepstakes award. Ton-mile figures are the result of multiplying the distance traveled by the weight of the car and occupants, and dividing that by the number of gallons of fuel consumed.

Highest Bidder Will Get Russell

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7 (AP)—All-American center Bill Russell had a frank answer Monday to questions as to whether, and for whom, he intended to play pro basketball.

"There's not the slightest doubt," said the University of San Francisco's sensational 6-10 pivot man, "that if I go into pro basketball, I'll go where I get the most money."

Russell made the comment at a basketball writers' luncheon when asked about reports that he and UCLA's Willie Naulls and Maury Hurt would form the nucleus of a new National Basketball association team at Los Angeles.

Dons Chalk up Victory No. 51

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7 (AP)—The University of San Francisco exploded in the second half after a sluggish start Tuesday night and crushed St. Mary's 82-49 for its 51st successive basketball triumph.

The Dons closed regular season play before an all time record Pacific coast collegiate basketball crowd of 15,732 at the Cow palace.

Official Says Santee Penalty Is too Severe

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—The director of last Saturday's Knights of Columbus track meet, Tom Harrigan, Tuesday leveled a double round of criticism at the Amateur Athletic Union for its "unfair" treatment of miler Wes Santee and proposed a new trial and lighter punishment for the erring athlete.

Braves Happy Over Huge Sale Of Tickets

MILWAUKEE, March 7 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves' 1956 ticket sale Tuesday were running far ahead of the duet derby of '54 when the club set an all-time National league attendance record of 2,131,388.

On the basis of season ticket sales only, the advance rate is 153,072 admissions higher than two years ago, and overall sales were only 15,273 short of a guaranteed $6 attendance of one million.

Despite the figures, no one, least of all ticket director William Eberle, is counting another two million house for the coming season at County stadium—yet.

"Speaking strictly of records," Eberle said, "while advance sales are an important factor, the difference between a record breaking year and what some consider a Milwaukee norm of two million rests with the bleachers."

"Don't forget, 7,500 bleacher seats go on sale the day of every game and the theoretical capacity of the bleachers for 72 playing dates is $40,000.

"The opposition, the Braves position in the standings and the weather are the ingredients that affect bleacher sales."

Bees Get Milburn From Great Falls

SALT LAKE CITY, March 7 (AP)—The Salt Lake Bees of the Pioneer League announced Tuesday they have signed Morris (Tex) Milburn to a 1956 baseball contract.

Milburn pitched for Great Falls the past two seasons and was one of the best relief hurlers in the circuit.

"We've been working through the Phillies to get Milburn from the Brooklyn organization for some time," said Salt Lake general manager Eddie Leishman.

Salt Lake City is a farm club of the Phillies; Great Falls of Brooklyn.

Jensen Doesn't Read Trade Mark

SARASOTA, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Jackie Jensen, Boston Red Sox outfielder, was taking batting practice. The label on the bat turned toward the pitcher.

"Is that the way you do it?" a rookie asked. "I always hold the bat so I can see the trademark."

"When I come to bat, I come to hit, not to read," replied Jensen.

Bruin Booster Group Honors Cage Quintet

Members of the Twin Falls high school basketball team and their coach, Dan Folkins, were honored by the Bruin Boosters at a dinner Tuesday evening.

Directors of the Bruin Boosters and team members met for the dinner at the Blue Lakes Country club house. Dr. H. L. Stowe, president of the Booster organization, acted as master of ceremonies.

Dr. Stowe expressed the community's appreciation to the team for its fine showing during the season and its victory in the district class A tournament last week. He assured the team that the Bruin Boosters are solidly behind the Twin Falls quintet in its quest for the state championship this week in the class A tournament at Pocatello.

Russell Tops All-America Team Choices

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Bill Russell, talented 6-10 center for top-ranked San Francisco, and versatile Si Green of Duquesne were chosen today on the United Press All-America basketball team for the second year in a row.

The three other players selected for the team by the votes of 353 sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation were Robin Freeman of Ohio State, Darrell Floyd of Furman and K. C. Jones, Russell's backcourt team mate.

Russell, who was largely instrumental in making the Dons the nation's No. 1 team for the second straight year, received the largest voting percentage ever polled by a player in the eight years the United Press has chosen an all-America team.

The gangling, relaxed Oakland, Calif., youth attracted 308 first team votes and 29 for the second team, being thus mentioned by 85.5 per cent of the 353 participants in the balloting.

"This barely topped the previous high of 85.4 by Tom Golan of LaSalle last season," Freeman, second leading scorer in the major college ranks with a 32.9-point average, was the second most popular choice on the team. His name appeared on the ballots of 83.5 per cent of the voters.

Green was mentioned on 85.7 per cent; Floyd, the nation's highest scorer with a 33.8-point average, was picked by 85.9 per cent of the voters and Jones by 47 per cent.

Former Cardinal Catcher Is Dead

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7 (AP)—Bruce Ogdrowski, 43, a one-time battery mate of Dizzy and Daffy Dean with the St. Louis Cardinals, was found dead at his home Monday.

He had been ill four years following a mild paralysis.

Ogdrowski played with St. Louis in 1936 and 1937 and with Sacramento and San Francisco of the Pacific Coast league.

Later he managed Tiluma, Mex. in the Sunset league and Aberdeen, S. D., in the Northern league.

At Aberdeen he became afflicted with a form of polio.

Pitt, UCLA Will Be Football Foes

PITTSBURGH, March 7 (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh and the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA) announced jointly Tuesday the signing of a two-game football series starting in 1958.

The first game will be Sept. 20, 1958 at Los Angeles and the second at Pittsburgh Sept. 17, 1960. It will be the first time the two schools have met on the gridiron.

SKIERS' DELIGHT SUN VALLEY, March 7 (AP)—Week-end snowfall brought snow depths here to 96 inches on Mount Baldy, 82 at the Roundhouse, 48 on Dollar Mountain and 40 on the valley floor, the Sun Valley news bureau reported Monday.

Cream of State's Basketball Crop Competing in Annual Tournament

POCATELLO, March 7 (AP)—Here are thumbnail sketches of the teams which went into action Wednesday in the 1956 Idaho high school class A basketball tournament: Nampa Bulldogs—Champions of the Big Six conference and 3rd district, with a 19-1 season record. One of the strongest teams in the state. First, aggressive and tall. Center Weldon Wood won the Big Six scoring championship. Other starters: Bob Peppley and John Morris, forwards, and Dale Stewart and Gary Farnsworth, guards.

Boise Braves—Tied for third in Big Six conference and placed second in district tournament. Season record, 14-6. Lack individual stars but have good balance. Probable starters: Larry Reiman, Rufo Christensen, Bill Marlett, Jerry Jester and Ted Equals.

Mountain Home Tigers—Third in the 3rd district tournament and third in the Little Seven conference, with a 12-8 season record. They have a hustler in Gordon McCormick, center, and a high scorer in Ralph McGrath. Other starters: Frank Black, Bruno Spindel and Ken Everett.

Twin Falls Bruins—Won the 4th district tournament and tied for third in the Big Six conference with a 14-5 season record. The team has been hot and cold but has a good scoring combination in Bob Walton and Pepper Allen. Other starters: Wes Jones, Glenn Potter and Jim McClellan.

Jerome Tigers—Reached their peak when they placed second in the 4th district tournament after a slow season start. Took second place in Big Seven conference. Theron Nelson, forward, a consistent scorer. Other probable starters: Kurt Hall, Bob Mahanes, Jerry Emerson and Bob Slater.

Oakley Hornets—Won Big Seven conference championship with 10-2 league record, but had to settle for third place in the 4th district tournament. Past team. Kent Woodhouse was Big Seven top scorer. Other probable starters: Lynn Franks, Allen Adams, Bill Cranney and Larry Heiner.

Rigby Trojans—Winners of 6th district title, undefeated in regular conference play. Well balanced squad, been playing together for seven years, all seniors: Larry Wilson, Allan Call, Burt Gustaf, Chupe Brizze and Norman Jorgensen.

Bonneville (Ammon) Bees—Were not figured to be strong but turned out to be a powerhouse, improving as the season progressed. Took second place in 6th district tournament after a one-point loss to Rigby. Sparked by Newell Sargent, a 5-7 speedster noted for his ball stealing. He is supported by Eldon Nelson, Vern Lott and Loy Taylor, all regulars. Weak in bench strength.

Madison Bobcats—Placed third in 6th district tournament, having gradually improved after a mediocre season which brought them only sixth in conference play. Madison is traditionally a strong tournament team. Built around Brent Holman, a sophomore, and Lynn Widdison, senior forward and team's high scorer.

Blackfoot Broncos—Winners of 5th district title, champions of their conference in season play with 15-3 record. Not a tall team, but all good ball handlers, led by three seniors, Lloyd Babby, a 6-footer, good shooter and ball handler, Dean Baxter, 6-2, a good rebounder, and Gene Hoskins, a top scorer.

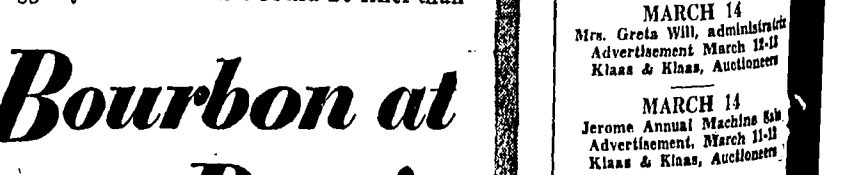

Preston Indians—Second in 5th district tournament and second in regular season to Blackfoot, having lost to Broncos four times. Two tall boys who do most of scoring are Clark Johnson, 6-2, and McKell Crawford, 6-3. Crawford was hampered during season by a knee injury and may be unable to play in tournament.

Snake River (Moreland) Panthers—Third place in 5th district.
