Annulment Eyed For Idaho Power Permit for Dams

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—Public power backers formally asked the U. S. court of appeals yesterday to annul the federal licenses which allow Idaho Power company to build three dams in the Snake river's Hells canyon area.

A brief filed by the National Hells Canyon association said the authorization by the federal power commission "licenses wasteful underdevelopment" of the Hells canyon site. The association favors construction of a high federal dam in the same area, where the Snake river borders Idaho and Oregon.

Industry Talk Presented for Farm Bureau

Industry in Magic Valley should be geared to agriculture for best results, Warren Barry, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Planning commission, told Twin Falls Farm Bureau members Monday night when they met in the YWCA room.

Barry, speaking on industrial planning here, called for more warehouse facilities. He said this would cause companies to explore the possibilities of manufacturing or assembling operations.

Because it is the geographical center of southern Idaho, Twin Falls is the logical place for these expanded facilities, the speaker noted.

The agricultural division being set up by the Chamber of Commerce plans to work with industry and agriculture to put agricultural products, Barry said. Cooperation will be asked of Farm Bureaus, Granges and other farm organizations.

Barry said it is possible new crops can be further processed or industrialized here. He mentioned the possibilities for new strains of peas, beans, asparagus, tomatoes, etc., which can be made more adaptable for processing.

Barry visualized manufacture here of products which now are shipped out for manufacture. This followed his report that economically Idaho has been a state basically of extraction for the last 75 years. That is, products have been taken from the soil and shipped out, he said.

French Ready Legal Powers To End Revolt

PARIS, March 13 (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet is preparing to declare the first of a series of emergency laws to end the Algerian revolt.

Mollet could take the drastic step under wide powers voted him early today by the national assembly—the widest French government since the end of World War II.

Mollet received his "blank check" when the assembly gave him four overwhelming votes of confidence on his social powers bill. The communists deserted their traditional "anti-colonialism" stand to vote for Mollet in hopes of forcing him into a "popular front" government.

Talies Recounted

The votes were by margins of 463-62, 451-72, 465-49 and 456-76. The first three were on separate parts of the special powers bill. The fourth was on the bill as a whole.

The votes gave the government permission to take "all exceptional measures demanded by the circumstances" by decree without reference back to parliament. They also authorized a series of reforms to pacify both the French and Moslem residents of Algeria.

The "state of emergency" would give the government powers close to a declaration of martial law—censorship, forbidding of public gatherings, the right of search and seizure.

Reforms Planned

In addition to sweeping military measures against the Algerian nationalists, France is preparing a set of economic, political and social reforms for the big North African possession that is legally part of mainland France.

Robert Lacoste, the resident minister for Algeria, was expected to station troops at every danger point to prevent any general rebel attack against the one million Europeans who inhabit Algeria with eight million Moslems. He has asked for massive reinforcements.

Nine Drivers Are Cited by Police Radar

A state police radar unit nabbed nine motorists exceeding the night speed limit and two truck drivers for speeding on a 30-mile-an-hour truck route on Saturday.

Police reported that two truck drivers were apprehended earlier by patrol cars for exceeding the 30-mile limit.

Some of the speeders drove to safety and appeared before Justice of the Peace Ray Polley Saturday night to pay their fines. The others have five days from the time they were cited to appear in court.

Drivers paid $1 per mile for every mile they were over the legal limit. A night speed limit in Idaho is 55 miles an hour.

Edward E. Littlefield and Charles Thomson, Idaho Falls, each paid $30 costs. Both were cited for 48 miles an hour. William (Continued on Page 3, Column 1)

Report Given On Red Cross Drive for T.F.

(See Photo Page Seven)

Idaho Falls Red Cross board members Monday night to hear reports of the current campaign and further plans for the local drive for $20,000.

Joe Dewey, drive chairman, thanked workers in the campaign. Members of the Jaycees, C. Estes, Lions and Pelionis societies reported their drive.

Elizabeth Reilly, first aid director, reported she had taught first aid to the Red Cross on Saturday at Pler high school and reported that Kay Kwiatkowski was co-chairman.

Crash's Force Blows Couple Out of Room

VICTORIA, Tex., March 13 (AP)—A jet fighter plane that caught fire at 12,000 feet yesterday crashed near a house with such force it blew a man out of his kitchen and his wife out of her shoes.

The pilot, Capt. John E. Gibson, 29, Wilmington, Del., bailed out when his F100 Super-Sabre jet caught fire. He drifted about six miles before landing unhurt in Memory Garden cemetery near the edge of town.

His plane hit the ground with such impact that it drove itself out of sight.

The jet crashed 20 feet from the back porch of the five-room frame house of M/Sgt. Ted Porter, 35, stationed at nearby Foster air base. He and his wife were blown away from their lunch table by the concussion. Porter was blown through the kitchen door into the back yard. His wife was blown out of her shoes and into the bathroom. Neither was hurt except for shock.

Still Cool

Coolish weather is predicted for Magic Valley in the five-day forecast received Tuesday by the Associated Press.

"It probably will get hot all of a sudden," commented the AP reporter, reading this report: "Temperatures averaging slightly below normal, maximums mostly 42 to 53, minimums 25 to 33. Light rain or snow Thursday or Friday." (Probably.)

Students Burn British Flag

Greeks Want U. N. to Study Cyprus Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 13 (AP)—Greece today sought United Nations intervention in its crisis with Britain over the Mediterranean island of Cyprus.

Greek Ambassador Christian X. Palamas announced he would see Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld today and ask that the general assembly debate Cyprus at its next session.

No Plan Defined

Palamas said there was no plan to seek security council action at this time. He said this was a definite intention to seek security council action last Friday when the crisis came to a head with British expulsion of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the "union with Greece" movement in the British colony.

To Submit Item

The Greek ambassador to the United Nations said he would submit an item calling for general assembly discussion at its fall term and that the "explanatory memorandum" necessary to such action would be submitted within ten days.

The national assembly refused last year to consider the Cyprus question. This was a sharp rebuff to Greece at the time but the assembly said only it would not debate the issue "at this time."

Pet Overcome As Blaze Hits Home in T. F.

Fires charred the interior of the two-room house of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Garner, 700 Fall street, Tuesday morning while smoke overcame their 8-year-old dog, Lady, who was locked inside.

Twin Falls firemen responded to the alarm at 11:06 a.m. and quickly extinguished the flames. As soon as smoke cleared slightly firemen entered the house. They found the dog lying near the front door. She was carried outside and within a few minutes had recovered enough to walk around.

The fire started behind a coal and wood stove in the kitchen. The wind blew down the outer stove pipe and a piece of pipe inside the house fell against a wall starting the fire. Firemen made no estimate of damage but the entire interior of the house was charred and furniture and other household equipment damaged.

Red Poland's Chief Dies of Heart Ailment

MOSCOW, March 13 (AP)—Boleslaw Bierut, the veteran Polish Communist who rose from newsboy to president of Communist Poland, died in Moscow last night following a heart attack. He was 63.

News of Bierut's death was announced shortly after noon by Moscow radio's home service. The Polish news agency Pap had announced it earlier from Warsaw.

Bierut held the post of first secretary of the United Polish Workers (Communist) party at the time of his death. He had served Poland both as premier and president in the days after World War II.

His body was lying in state in the hall of columns of the Soviet house of trade unions and top Soviet leaders were expected to pay their last respects in the black and red draped hall.

A Polish delegation will fly here from Warsaw tomorrow to take the body back to Poland for a state funeral.

Twenty top Soviet leaders headed by Soviet Premier Kliment Voroshilov and including members of the Communist party presidium signed a statement of condolence lauding Bierut's contribution to the communist movement. The central committee of the Communist party also sent a special message of condolences.

Bierut was the second top foreign communist to die in Moscow in the past few years. Czech President Klement Gottwald died here in 1953 from pneumonia after attending the funeral of Josef Stalin.

Bierut was in Moscow as head of the Polish delegation to the recent 20th congress of the Soviet Communist party.

Note Menaces Blind Official

IDAHO FALLS, March 12—Frank Collins, president of the Gem State Association of the Blind and one of the leaders in the fight to have the Gooding State School for the Deaf and Blind investigated by a team from the National Federation of the Blind, received an anonymous, threatening letter in the mail Monday afternoon.

Collins said he had turned the letter over to the sheriff of Bonneville county and also would call the matter to the attention of postal officials. The letter was postmarked in Twin Falls on Saturday.

The letter, written with capital letters on a typewriter, informs Collins he and his wife are being investigated by "a officer" on charges of moral turpitude and money matters.

12,000 Called

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The defense department today issued a call for 12,000 army draftees in May. This is double the number called for in each of the first four months this year. The department said the men are needed as replacements and to maintain the army at approved strength.

5 T.F. Families Preparing for Visit Of Korean Boy Scouts to Study U.S.

Five Twin Falls families are "bouncing up" on Korean history and customs in preparation of housing the five Korean Boy Scouts who will visit this area for four days beginning March 31.

Part of the Asiatic drift, sponsored by the Air Force, these boys will return to Korea and tour their homeland to tell their impressions of the United States.

To assure they will receive a true picture of American life, they will devote as much time as possible with the foster families.

Harold Orribble, Snake River Boy Scout council executive, points out "the things they see in America are the things they'll see in Twin Falls." Although the scouts will stay in Seattle for a while after leaving Twin Falls, they will not be housed in private homes. Therefore, this community will have to give them their impressions. Orribble noted.

To accomplish this aim the local council has planned only one event each day. The plans were announced following a meeting Monday.

An honor guard will meet the Koreans at Gowan Field, Boise, at 11 p.m. March 30 and transport them here by stationwagon that night.

On March 31, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is assisting in angling a parade to begin at Sears, Roebuck and company parking lot, continue along Main avenue and turn north at Second street east. The parade will conclude at the city park where the visitors will be welcomed by Boy Scout and city officials.

At this time they will be inducted into the Order of the Arrow, a camping fraternity based on service to others.

Eight Solons Push Two-Price Plan for Wheat in Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—Eight farm belt senators said they have a good chance of winning senate approval today for a two-price plan for wheat. Sen. Frank Carlson, R., Kans., called up for two hours of debate and a vote a proposal to enact the two-price plan. The proposal was offered as an amendment to the farm bill calling for creation of a 1.1 billion dollar soil bank program. The Carlson plan would guarantee farmers full parity for that portion of their wheat crop consumed by human beings in this country that sold for export would go for the market price. The government would pay farmers the difference between the market price and 100 per cent of parity for that part of their crops earmarked for domestic, human consumption.

The two-price program would go into effect for next year's wheat crop if a majority of farmers voted for it in a referendum.

Meanwhile, Republican congressional leaders told President Eisenhower at a meeting at the White House that they hope to use a parliamentary maneuver to speed final action on the big farm bill.

They said they will try to substitute the senate measure, now expected to be passed by the end of the week, for the previously approved house farm bill. This would eliminate the need for holding new committee hearings in the house.

House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Mass., estimated this strategy would get the legislation to the White House for the president's signature three weeks sooner than otherwise.

There were indications that administration forces would offer little, if any, opposition to the wheat plan. In the past, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson has strongly opposed it. But Sen. George D. Aiken, R., Vt., leader of administration farm forces in the senate, said he personally wouldn't fight it now.

Senate Okays $100,000 Bid For Supports

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The senate amended its election-year farm bill last night to put a $100,000 limit on the total annual price support loans the government could make to any individual farmer or farmer. The vote was 78-11. There is no limit on price support loans in the present law, and these have exceeded one million dollars to single units in recent years. Proponents of the amendment said it was aimed at huge corporation type wheat, cotton and corn farms, some of which they said have been collecting immense government checks.

The government price support programs work through loans. The farmer puts up his crop as collateral, and if the market price is lower than the support price on which the loan is based, he ordinarily lets the government take over the commodity.

Senator Williams, R., Del., was the sponsor of the amendment. He originally wanted a ceiling of $25,000 but it was raised to $100,000 at the urging of Senator Russell, D., Ga.

Senator Watkins, R., Utah, a backer of the amendment, said there had been cotton loans in recent years as high as $1,269,000 and wheat loans up to $354,000 and corn loans up to $190,000.

President Eisenhower had suggested in his farm message to congress this year that it consider some kind of limitation on price support loans, but did not suggest a specific figure.

After adopting this amendment, the senate recessed until Tuesday. Earlier in the day the senate refused to approve price supports at 80 per cent of parity for small farmers. It also rejected a $50,000 limit on total price support loans.

Both proposals were contained in an amendment by Senator Humphrey, D., Minn., which was defeated 56-38 on a roll call vote. Thirty-two Democrats and four Republicans supported the amendment, while 41 Republicans and 15 Democrats opposed it.

Another amendment, offered by Senator Jenner, R., Ind., to limit payments under the proposed new soil bank to $25,000 in any one year for any farm in one state, was approved 84-9.

Segregation Oratory Featured in Congress

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The racial integration issue set off an oratorical North-South conflict in congress yesterday, with the submission of the new southern manifesto. Most of the fireworks was in the senate; the house met only briefly yesterday. The debate began when Senator George D. Aiken, R., Vt., formally presented the manifesto signed by 19 senators and 81 house members from 11 states.

It says the supreme court decision of 1954 outlawing segregation in public schools was "a clear abuse of judicial power" and pledges the signers to do everything legally possible to overthrow it.

Senator Moyse, D., Ore., dared the southerners to submit a constitutional amendment allowing race segregation practices and predicted there would be few votes for it.

Morse also declared: "A historic debate is going to have to take place in the not too distant future because this congress is going to have to determine whether it is going to back up the supreme court."

Morse said some forces were trying to put themselves "above the supreme court of the United States and the Constitution."

Senator Thurmond, D., S. C., who led the States Rights movement, in 1948, told the senate the south will "fight to the end" to reverse the court ruling.

"It would be submission to cowardice if we failed to use every lawful means to protect the rights of the people," he said.

"We are free morally and legally to oppose the decision. We must fight it to the end."

Salmon Tract Water Rental OK'd by City

The City of Twin Falls leased its 401.85 shares of Salmon River Canal company water stock Monday night to Chester Nelson for $2.50 per share.

Three other bids for the water stock were submitted. Jones corporation offered $8.25 per share for 200 shares; Victor W. Nelson $7 per share for 100 shares or $8 per share for 200 shares, and E. L. Rayborn offered $8 per share for 200 shares.

Crane Plumbing shop, Jerome, was awarded the contract for construction of sewer lateral for local improvement district No. 79. The bid is for $12,950. Only one other bid was submitted, $15,078, from J. A. Clawson.

Northside Construction company, Jerome, was awarded the contract for construction of a concrete culvert over the Ferrine coulee on Elizabeth boulevard. A bid of $4,490 was submitted last week for the project. Other bids were received from J. A. Clawson, Ralph Holmes, Ben Walton and Reynolds and Walker.

The city commission decided it could not purchase two lots adjoining the city hall at this time. The lots, owned by the Moos land, were offered to the city for $9,900.

City Manager Joseph LaMoure explained that the city was in no financial position now to purchase the lots.

Council Signs Franchise for Gas Supplies

JEROME, March 13—At a special meeting Monday night, the Jerome city council suspended its rules and signed a franchise for natural gas here with the Jerome Cooperative Gas association.

The franchise contains the usual terms that have been included in other franchises to cooperatives in southern Idaho. Its term is for 30 years and the equipment of the cooperative is to become the property of the city at that time or sooner if the indebtedness of the cooperative is paid off before then.

V. E. Camozzi, president of the cooperative, said the cooperative has signed no agreements for financing the purchase of equipment and the building of gas lines in the city. The cooperative was formed last October.

Kidnap Trials Begin in Elko

ELKO, Nev., March 13—Trial of Troy Hess, 18, and Max Sterling, 21, accused of first degree kidnaping, opened in the third district court here Monday with selection of prospective jurors.

They are accused of kidnaping two Phoenix, Ariz., women, Mrs. Elsie Oney, 47, and Mrs. Wanda Perkins, 28, last July 15 near Wells and criminally assaulting Mrs. Perkins.

Selection of a jury moved slowly. Only nine prospective jurors were seated at 5 p.m. when court was recessed. Witnesses were in the courtroom. Judge Taylor II, Winslow, presided.

Elko county District Attorney F. Grant Sawyer and assistant are handling the case for the state. Defense attorneys are Keith Williams and Stanley 26 inches and 22 inches; Pat Mann, 26 inches and 22 inches; Stanley 26 inches and 22 inches; and Stanley 26 inches and 22 inches.

Total Snowfall Great for Area Since October

If either Halley or Fairfield had retained all the snow that has fallen on them since last Oct. 1, the two communities would be all but covered.

Halley has had 1043 inches of snow so far this year but had only 27 inches on the ground as of Monday, the Sawtooth national forest reports. Fairfield has had 119.5 inches of snow but the measurement Monday was only 26 inches of snow had fallen. Halley had only a foot of snow on the ground and Fairfield, after a total of 42 inches, had 15 inches on the ground. The 48-year average snowfall for Halley is 71.38 inches and the seven-year average for Fairfield is 91.23 inches.

Since Oct. 1 Halley has had 14.10 inches of precipitation compared to 5.37 inches last year and a 46-year average of 9.01 inches. Fairfield has had 14.27 inches of precipitation since Oct. 1 compared to 5.36 last year and a seven-year average of 10.88 inches.

Other snow measurements in the area, compared to measurements last year, are: Ketchum 39 inches and 20 inches; Calena 84 inches and 48 inches; three stations on Old Baldy 80, 84 and 91 inches compared to 37, 40 and 50 inches last year; Soldier ranger station 60 inches and 29 inches; 2918; Smokey ranger station 63 inches and 28 inches; Fleming ranch 46 inches and 31 inches; Stanley 26 inches and 22 inches; and Stanley Mountain 69 inches and 71 inches.

South "Unity" Is Needed for Demo Victory

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—Sen. John P. Sparkman, D. Ala., said yesterday he thinks it is "highly important" that the entire South be brought back into the Democratic column this year if the Democrats hope to recapture the White House.

Sparkman made the comment to a reporter as the racial issue raised a new threat to Democratic party harmony in this year's election. This threat came in a declaration released by southern members of the congress last night protesting the supreme court decision outlawing racial segregation in schools.

Led for Unity
Sparkman, a signer of that declaration, was his party's 1952 presidential nominee and a leader in efforts then to draft a civil rights platform plank which would not split the party. Four years earlier, many southern delegates walked out of the international convention in protest against the civil rights plank written into the party platform.

Asked about the possible impact of the southern declaration on the 1956 convention, Sparkman said: "We always have some difficulty dealing with the whole field of civil rights. I hope we can find a middle ground where each side can understand the position of the other."

Stand Expected
Chairman Paul M. Butler of the Democratic national committee said recently that he expects the party platform to take "a clear and firm stand" in support of the supreme court's school decision. How such a plank can be written and still be acceptable to the southerners remains to be seen.

Sparkman was asked if he shared the belief of some Democratic party strategists that the Democrats must recapture the electoral votes of the South if they are to have any chance of defeating President Eisenhower.

"I think it is highly important that the South be back in the Democratic column this year," he said, "and I believe it will be."

Wins Case

NEW YORK, March 13 (AP)—Allan J. Wilson, manager of a Times square book shop, won dismissal of a "dirty sidewalk" summons yesterday when he pointed out that it would have been illegal for him to clean his walk.

The summons, for cigarette butts on the sidewalk in front of his shop, was issued during the day and an ordinance prohibits sidewalk sweeping after 8 a. m., Wilson said.

Union Leader Starts Drive To Stop Loafing on Projects

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 13 (AP)—A midwestern union leader challenged his own men today to quit loafing on the job and start applying the golden rule to their relations with management.

Author of this unusual approach is Andrew F. Harvey, business manager for local 124 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Harvey deplored instances of low production.

"Some projects," he said, "are solved by developing close communication between the worker, the foreman and the employer.

Harvey and a young instructor at the University of Kansas City, Harvey Cook, organized a 10-week night school course. The purpose was to discuss problems of workers, qualifications and responsibilities of good foremen and better ways to communicate with management.

Cook agreed to teach the course and local 124 financed it.

Attendance was voluntary. Harvey expected 15 to 20 men at the first session, but 50 showed up. A new class was formed immediately.

Management executives were invited to attend and they accepted.

Harvey said he believes his men are beginning to understand why they can't maintain a $3.20 hourly wage scale without giving good work for it.

"We have a right to a just wage," he said, "but we must give back the maximum in return for what we receive."

"Always keep in mind this one thought: Do unto others as you would have them do unto you! It is the answer to maintaining our present economic status."

Work Speeds On Giant Fill On Huge Lake

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13 (AP)—Southern Pacific announced today it is stepping up construction of a 12-mile fill across Utah's Great Salt Lake.

The fill will provide a dry-land roadbed across the lake and will replace the existing world's longest railroad trestle.

SP said it has awarded a contract to the Morrison-Knudsen company, to the final phase of construction, which will include dredging the lake to a depth of 10 feet.

SP President D. J. Russell said the entire project will cost the company $100 million. Trains will be running on the new roadbed early in 1960.

Materials Ready

Crews have already placed "great quantities" of material along the alignment diverging from the north-south face of the existing saline fill, Russell said.

The saline fill is at the east of the 12-mile Lucin trestle portion of the half-century-old cut-off, which SP built a half-century ago over the lake.

The first steps in actual construction began last June, when SP crews dumped rock in the first of two stages of work on the saline fill.

Awarding of the Morrison-Knudsen contract will accelerate the work on a four-year schedule, Russell explained. A new work camp for 600 men and their families is rising on the barren mountainside west of Promontory point.

Equipment Is Big

This force will operate the massive equipment that will carry out the project. From nearby rock quarries and sand and gravel pits, a giant conveyor belt will be fed by shovels taking out material at the rate of six cubic yards per bite.

Seven barges built at the site will move 3,000 tons per trip. Outsize dump trucks will bear 50-ton burdens.

Russell said the immense size of the fill can be indicated by the fact the railroad track and signal equipment will cost only two million dollars, while the remaining 47 million dollars will represent the cost of the 12-mile embankment itself.

Materials Halted

At least 10 cubic yards of material will be under water for each yard visible above water.

When the embankment is 17 feet above the surface, it will be widened and strengthened with heavy rock to protect it against storms which toss eight-foot waves on the lake.

Adequate passageways will be provided in the railroad causeway, SP said, for movement of small boats between the upper and lower ends of the lake.

$100,000 Damage Is Sought in Suit

OROFINO, March 13 (AP)—A suit asking more than $100,000 in damages was filed by the survivors of a plane crash here Friday.

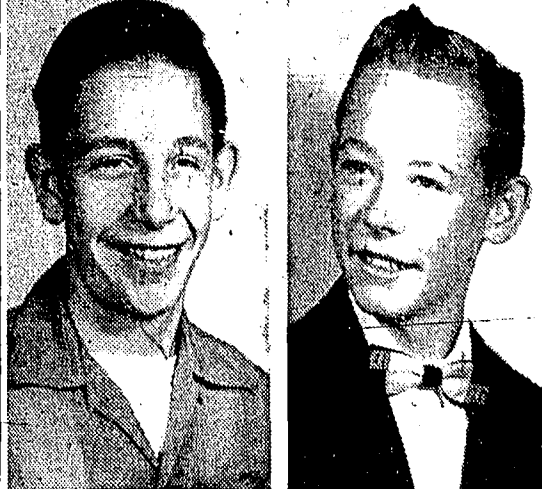

Rambeau, 61, a water county Democrat, died two days after the crash in which he was riding was involved. In a head-on collision three miles west of here Dec. 10.

The suit was filed on behalf of Nancy Rambeau, his 14-year-old daughter, against Jack Delaney, Orofino.

The suit alleges that Rambeau's death was caused by "negligence" on the part of Mrs. Delaney, driver of the other vehicle involved in the crash.

Organizing of History Band Has Advocate

BOISE, March 13 (AP)—K. Ross Toole, director of the State Historical Society of Montana, said last night that Idaho could easily follow Montana's lead in utilizing her historic past to attract tourists.

"There is a tremendous groundswell of interest in history all over the nation—perhaps because the times are so out of joint," he told a dinner meeting sponsored by the Idaho Historical Society in connection with Idaho heritage week.

"You have only to devise a program, pursue your course aggressively and you will find, as we did in Montana, that you can have a membership of 10,000 in a comparatively short time," he said.

Toole suggested that Idaho appoint a director and secretary to conduct a historical projects program, establish a museum and historical library, publish a magazine and set up an active school program.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie told the meeting that an active state historical program could provide "a monument more enduring than any stone could be." He said vital historical material is "in danger of drifting away because the sources are vanishing."

State's Economy To Get Millions

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—Sen. Herman Welker, R., Ida., said today he had received word that the atomic energy commission's nuclear propulsion site near Idaho Falls, Ida., would mean from 100 million dollars to 300 million dollars would be spent in that area for facilities alone.

The senator said firm figures were not available but indications were the project would be of considerable scope and "an important shot-in-the-arm for the economy of Idaho."

Welker, who is conducting a survey in the state of Idaho for possible additional defense installations, said: "We have within the state of Idaho the land, labor, climate, transportation, communication and water—in other words, all those things which are necessary to maintain defense establishments. I intend to continue to seek additional defense industries for our state."

Alaska's Mental Health Bill Eyed

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—A senate interior subcommittee was reported today about ready to start "marking up" a house-approved bill to let Alaska set up its own mental health program. The subcommittee has completed its public hearings.

"Marking up" a bill is congressional jargon for item-by-item consideration of its provisions.

The bill, recently passed by the house, would provide federal contributions toward construction of Alaska's first mental hospital. Patients now must be taken to Oregon for treatment.

Wife Can Play Dirty Trick on Husband by Being 'Half-Sick'

By HENRY McLEMORE

Just about the dirtiest trick a wife can play on her husband is to go and get half sick.

By half-sick I mean just ill enough to keep her in bed, but leaving her with enough strength to keep a watchful eye on how the house is being run.

In the victim of just such a scheme I am now. Mary has a heavy cold and the miseries that go with it, but from her bed upstairs she manages to keep abreast of everything I do and don't do.

Few husbands, if any, are capable of treating an ailing wife and running a household at the same time. This is largely the fault of the wife. The husband, out of love and worry for his spouse, wants to let the house run itself as best it can while he concentrates on getting his wife back on her feet.

What does it matter, husbands figure, if the rugs aren't vacuumed, the dishes aren't washed, the floors aren't swept, and the laundry isn't sent out. To do these things would rob him of time to nurse his beloved.

Wives, however, aren't quite so steeped in sentiment. They will go without their aspirin if they know their husbands are washing the windows, and will not complain if their trays are late if they are sure everything is being kept spick-and-span downstairs.

Speaking of trays, men are not physically or mentally equipped to handle one. We have some right pretty trays, but when I get through arranging Mary's food on one, and even a little bunch of flowers doesn't help—it looks like something I had fixed for Dilly, the bulldog.

A man's muscles were not designed for the carrying of a loaded tray, upstairs, either. Some muscle always gives way, or snaps and jumps, causing the milk or coffee to slosh all over the cloth and napkin. Either that, or a man's elbows suddenly spring sideways as he is passing through a door, scattering green peas and carrots every which way.

Men are supposed to be much worse patients than women. I am not so sure that is true. I admit that men make more noise when they don't feel good. They moan, groan, complain and demand more service than women, but there is one important thing they will do that women won't—they'll allow themselves to be treated by their wives.

Wives don't trust their husbands to cure them. Whereas a husband will try to swallow a sugar-coated valley ball if his wife gives it to him, a wife refuses almost everything a husband offers her. She looks upon him with suspicion, and seems to consider him as a sort of Borgia out to get her.

Doctors admit they can't cure a cold, so it is obvious that home remedies must do the trick. I know a hundred good, old-fashioned cold cures that I learned from my mother and grandmother. They have worked for the Skinner and McLemore families for more than 200 years.

But Mary won't let me give them to her, not even the simplest one, such as a tablespoon of brown sugar saturated with kerosene. This has kept generations of McLemores up and going. Sure it tastes awful and is pretty gruesome to get down, but it's effective! When I tried to give her some she suggested that I go buy a kerosene lamp and play doctor with it.

I wanted to tie a little bag of aspirin around her neck and let the fumes soothe her cold germs, but she showed me away as if I were a witch doctor.

That's no way for a wife to act, is it?

Bridegroom's Parents Okay Marriage Bid

ZEBULON, N. C., March 13 (UP)—Mrs. E. O. Daniel, ar. is "very excited, very pleased" with her son's bride-to-be, Margaret Truman.

Former President Truman announced yesterday in Kansas City that his daughter will marry E. O. Daniel, jr., assistant foreign news editor of The New York Times.

Met Parents Daniel, a native of Zebulon, brought Miss Truman here during the week-end to meet his parents.

The elder Daniel, a druggist, said there will be nothing strange about being the father-in-law of a celebrity and daughter of a former President.

"After all," he said, "I'm also the father of a fine boy."

Learned of Affair Daniel said he first learned of his son's engagement to Miss Truman Saturday night.

He said they came here Saturday night and after Miss Truman had retired about 11 p.m. Daniel told his parents, "I am going to marry this girl."

Daniel said Miss Truman showed them her engagement ring Sunday. He said the simple ring is "very fitting" because "she is a plain girl. There is nothing flashy about her."

Mrs. Daniel said she and her husband have no plans to visit their son in New York prior to the wedding but will attend the wedding next month in Independence, Mo.

"We haven't met the Trumans yet," Mrs. Daniel said, "we don't know when we will meet them."

Daniel said, "We are very happy about this marriage. We feel that they understand one another and will have a very happy and normal life."

Double Cross Is Pushed by Dying Winter

By United Press The dying winter pulled a double reverse act today, chilling the Southwest with a cold wave and boating temperatures in the Dakotas.

The cold wave bit all the way to the Gulf of Mexico and Texas' temperatures dropped 20 to 30 degrees. Laredo came down from 75 to 45 and Brownsville from 71 to 50.

New Mexico also got a cold snap, with temperatures dropping 20 to 35 degrees. But in North Dakota, the mercury climbed as much as 40 degrees, going from 20 below to a still-chilly above at Bismarck.

Rains accompanied the cold front, which stretched from southeast Texas northeastward through the lower Mississippi valley, Alabama, Tennessee, and the middle Atlantic coast states.

Tense Cyprus Paralyzed by Giant Strike

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 13 (UP)—Rebellious Cyprus was paralyzed by a spontaneous general strike yesterday.

With the exception of a few Turkish-owned shops, virtually all civilian activities in this British island colony were shut down.

Heavy patrols of British troops quickly put down all attempts at demonstrations in most parts of the island. A 17-year-old boy was shot and killed after throwing a bomb at military vehicles. A policeman was wounded by terrorists at Limassol.

Brief reports said there also was violence at Kyrenia, but details were lacking. Curfews were imposed on Limassol and Kyrenia, both coastal towns.

Two bomb attacks were made Monday night on British troop installations in Nicosia but no one was injured.

At Ayios, rebels hurled two bombs at the police station. Only one went off and damage was slight. Police fired at the attackers and later arrested two men.

Toastmasters Pick Leader

Lloyd Hamilton, Twin Falls, was elected president of the I. B. Perrine Toastmasters club at the Rogerson hotel Monday evening.

Other officers elected are Glen Cannon, education vice president; John Gamble, administrative vice president; Evert Cole, secretary; Homer Roberts, treasurer; and Melvin Smith, sergeant-at-arms.

The new officers will be installed April 2. The installation meeting has been designated "Oldtimers' night."

All former members of the I. B. Perrine Toastmasters club are urged to attend. The meeting will begin at 8:15 p.m. at the Rogerson hotel.

Hamilton won the table topics award Monday evening. Ernest Thaeke, whose topic was "Surplus Potatoes," was named the most improved speaker and Don Somers' talk, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" was chosen as the best formal speech.

Two guests, Scotty Luettich and L. T. Roberts, Moscow, attended the meeting.

Factors Cited

LONDON, March 13 (UP)—Britain's tight new spending curbs brought its adverse trade balance in February to its most favorable point since May, 1955, the government announced today.

The board of trade said the closing of the gap between exports and imports was due in part to the normal drop in imports between January and February because of the short month of February and the closing of Canadian and European ports by ice.

Stooges Not too Amazed Over Display of Mental Telepathy

(Editor's note: Some of the material in this story on the mentalists appearing on the Town Hall association program at Filer Monday night may come as a bit of surprise to members of the audience. However, the writers, Norman Tolk and Richard Murphy, had an unusual advantage. They were selected in advance to serve as assistants (stooges, in the vernacular) to the team of mentalists.)

By NORMAN TOLK and RICHARD MURPHY A near-capacity crowd witnessed a graphic demonstration of mental telepathy in the Filer high school auditorium Monday night.

Mrs. Rose M. North, representing the Magic Valley Town Hall association, introduced Tom and Betty Tucker who "proved" to fascinated onlookers that it is sometimes dangerous to think too loudly.

Following a humorous introduction, the duo astounded their audience by performing many seemingly impossible feats of mind-reading.

These "impossible" feats created a startling effect upon those who did not notice that the act was aided considerably by a blindfold which permitted one-way vision, together with good eyesight and perfect teamwork.

Participants in the act drawn "at random" from the audience deserve much praise for their laudable acting, having had such little instruction. (Editor's note: They mean Norman Tolk and Richard Murphy.)

The stooges (Editor's note: Tolk and Murphy again) appeared to be quite disconcerted by the strange happenings, much to the enjoyment of the audience. However, the pairs they took not to miss any cues prevented them from joining wholeheartedly in the general merriment.

Particular praise should go to one stooge for his impromptu presentation of a person who has just sat on a tack. Not to be outdone, another quite convincingly played the part of a person afflicted with severe muscular spasms of the right hand. Prior coaching helped a good deal.

All in all, it was a fine exhibition of showmanship and the "ability" to mystify.

Unfortunately, as this program illustrated, mentalism has not yet reached the stage where stooges are unnecessary.

Decrease Slated For Onion Acres

BOISE, March 13 (UP)—Idaho farmers apparently intend to plant fewer onions this year than last, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today.

Reports received about March 1 indicated plans to plant 2,500 acres. Last year, farmers harvested 2,900 acres of onions after losing considerable acreage due to bad weather in the spring.

The indicated acreage for harvest in Malheur county, Ore., is 3,000 acres, the same as last year's. The five-year average is 2,800 acres for Idaho and 2,600 for Malheur county.

Praegeritz was arrested recently at the veterans administration hospital in Salt Lake City.

Officials Meet To Talk Over Stripper Visit

MIAMI, Fla., March 13 (UP)—University of Miami officials held an "emergency" meeting today to decide what to do about stripper Evelyn West's plans to visit the campus and pass out panties to "frustrated" students.

The black-haired stripper, who won fame by insuring her 45-inch "treasure chest" for $50,000, wrote University President Dr. Jay F. W. Pearson saying she had been invited by a student to visit the campus and several fraternity houses.

"Just visiting would be of no benefit to your students," the publicity-minded show girl wrote. So she wants to give some "practical" help.

"There are many young men enrolled at your college who, for one reason or another, are experiencing sexual frustration," Miss West said. "One of the results of this are the usual pantie raids... I have a solution to prevent this."

She said she wants to give a lecture tomorrow afternoon to the students on "how to frustrate sexual frustrations," and pass out panties and other women's apparel at the same time.

She said she will appear in a "dignified attire" but planned to slip off her skirt in favor of a pair of red shorts underneath for the lecture.

"I'm going to give those boys something to be eager about," she said, "and I wish Dr. Pearson and his faculty would attend."

Plane Smash Blamed Upon Bad Weather

BOISE, March 13 (UP)—A federal aviation officer yesterday blamed bad weather for the recent crash of a light plane that took the life of Elden Jacobson, 46-year-old Idaho Falls contractor, and his wife. Al Witter, of the civil aeronautical administration in Boise was the leader of a ground party which recovered the bodies Sunday in a snow-covered grove of aspen trees 23 miles southeast of Idaho Falls.

The Jacobsons apparently were caught in high winds and a low cloud ceiling as they flew south in their single-engine Cessna 170B, Witter said.

He said there was nothing apparently wrong with the plane's engine.

The two were killed instantly when the plane dove into the ground a week ago Sunday. They were on their way to Acapulco, Mexico, to join the annual winter recreation flight of the state aeronautics department.

Witter said the CAA planned no further investigation of the crash.

Talks Resume

WASHINGTON, March 13 (UP)—The government last night called Westinghouse strike negotiators back to Washington today. Both company and union representatives agreed to come.

The 148-day strike, the nation's longest major walkout in two decades, has idled some 50,000 workers in 40 plants of the Westinghouse Electric corporation. The labor organization representing most of the strikers is the International Union of Electrical Workers.

WASHINGTON, March 13 (UP)—Sen. George W. Malone, R., Nev., has asked police to help him find a larriat he left in a Washington taxicab.

Police said Malone told them the larriat only cost him $5 but is anxious to get it back because "it takes six months to break one in."

2 More Demos Back Johnson As Candidate

WASHINGTON, March 13 (UP)—Two more Democratic senators today openly endorsed Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Tex., as a presidential possibility even though the senate Democratic leader insisted he is not seeking the nomination.

Sens. Alan Bible, Nev., and Russell B. Long, La., both said they would support Johnson if the Texas delegation puts him up as a favorite son candidate at the Democratic national convention.

"I can put me on his team any day in the week," Bible said. Long said he would "be inclined to vote for Lyndon Johnson unless he asked me not to."

Boost Given The unorganized "boom" for Johnson, which started last week with suggestions that he be Texas favorite son candidate, got a substantial boost yesterday when several other southern senators pledged their support to the lanky Texan if he wants it.

Johnson's associates insisted that he is discouraging any movement to place him in the position of a candidate, and Johnson himself said "I am not running for any office." But he said that if Texas wants him to be a favorite son candidate, "I will make a prompt decision."

Others Praise Bible was the first non-southerner to openly advocate Johnson for the party's nomination. Two others, Sens. Mike Mansfield, D., Mont., and J. Allen Frear, Jr., D., Del., were glowing in their praise of his abilities.

Neither Mansfield nor Frear, however, has committed himself to support any candidate yet.

Means to Control Delinquency Set

BOSTON, March 13 (UP)—Mrs. Richard Neuberger, wife of the Oregon Democrat senator, says juvenile delinquency could be cut sharply if it were "economically" possible to keep mothers at home with their children.

Mrs. Neuberger, pinch-hitting for her husband, spoke last night at the first general session of the 24th national Catholic family life convention.

She said that government family allowances would take mothers out of the factories and business offices where they have to work "to pay for children's shoes, clothing, toys and medical care."

"I do not think censorship of reading materials is the way to attack juvenile delinquency," she said. "That is swatting flies rather than draining the swamp."

Board Denies Prisoner Bid For Freedom

BOISE, March 13 (UP)—District Judge Merlin Young yesterday denied the request of a Kootenai county man for release from the state penitentiary on grounds he has already served his full sentence.

He ruled that Ronald D. Spanton, convicted of writing a bad check, should have been sentenced to "an indeterminate term not to exceed five years," rather than one year.

Spanton asked for his freedom after completing his one-year sentence recently. The state board of corrections turned him down, saying the law prescribes an indeterminate sentence of up to five years for bad check convictions.

"The entire theory behind the indeterminate sentence law is that all persons who are sentenced to the penitentiary shall go for the same term for the same crime," Young ruled.

"The power to make any adjustments or mitigation shall be in the state board of corrections, one body, rather than the various district judges of the state."

Steps Set to Remove Cull Pine Timber

BOISE, March 13 (AP)—The state land board yesterday took steps to clear cull white fir timber from large sections of cutover land in state-owned forest areas.

It said cull timber would be available for sale, and it recommended a minimum price of $2 for 1,000 board feet of 41 per cord.

Arthur Wilson, state land commissioner, said the board is anxious to clear the cutover areas for new growth and to minimize the fire hazard next fall.

Can Be Used
He said the culls—imperfect or damaged trees—can be used in many types of building projects.

The board also declared a spruce budworm infestation area in 100,760 acres owned by the Northern Pacific railroad and the U. S. forest service in the Lolo national forest in northern Idaho.

State Forester Roger Guernsey said the declaration was a necessary step toward starting a federal spraying program.

Other Actions

Main Political Story Is Noted in Dixie Where Rumblings Are Heard for Bolt

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The spotlight shines on the New Hampshire presidential primaries today. But the big political story is way down south in Dixie.

There are rumblings of another bolt—a big one. Three or more southern states have bolted the Democratic ticket in three of the past seven presidential elections. The solid South really isn't solid any more.

Prohibition with a taint of anti-Catholicism caused the bolt of 1928 when Republican Herbert Hoover defeated Democrat Alfred Emanuel Smith. Mr. Hoover carried Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

President Truman was elected in 1948 over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, despite loss of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina to a State's Rights third party. State's Right candidate Strom Thurmond, South Carolina, also picked up a single electoral vote in Tennessee. Race relations was the principal bolt issue in 1948.

States rights on a much broader basis was the principal issue which gave Florida, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia to Dwight D. Eisenhower in his 1952 defeat of Adlai E. Stevenson. The issue dividing Democrats has narrowed again this year to the angry question of white and Negro children attending the same schools.

Southern hatred of prohibition and fear of Catholicism distilled bitterness in 1928. Race relations and less painful issues aroused 1948 tempers. The 1952 election was all sweetness and light compared to these.

The 1956 campaign is building.

rapidly toward Democratic bitterness surpassing anything in the memory of most, perhaps all, voters. These were a hint of what may come in the Democratic national convention four years ago. Northern Democrats then all but ejected from the convention the delegations of Louisiana, South Carolina and Virginia.

The supreme court's order for integration of the races in public schools has concentrated the dispute within the Democratic party on a single fiery issue which seems already to be too hot to handle.

Some Democratic conservatives have predicted a break in the so-called solid South this year unless the party's presidential candidate and platform plump for go-slow moderation in merging the schools. That suggests that Adlai E. Stevenson, Illinois, might hold the South together while Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tennessee, or Gov. Averell Harriman, New York, might not.

A scattering of southern endorsements of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas, for the Democratic presidential nomination was heard during the week-end. That was fair notice that party conservatives hope to be prepared if they must at the last moment to head off an integrationist with a man of their own.

The spectacular depth and breadth of party division, however, only became evident with the "declaration of constitutional principles" published here yesterday over the signatures of 19 southern senators and 77 representatives. Four more house members signed up later.

There will be other signers—all pledged to oppose the supreme court's order by every lawful means. Right or wrong, these are serious men, most of them powerful in congress and among conservatives of their political faith. They moved, they said, in defense of southern "habits, customs, traditions and way of life."

Something somewhere must give when a large minority group deliberately takes a position on such grounds.

Yankee Jazz Soothes Hep British Fans

LONDON, March 13 (AP)—Britain's cats agreed yesterday that Stan Kenton was "well and truly cool."

The tall American bandleader broke tradition and shattered ear-drums yesterday in London's big-domed Albert hall in the first American band concert in Britain in 23 years.

Not since Cab Calloway left in 1933 has an American band played in Britain, or a British band in America. Unions on both sides of the Atlantic decided then that visiting bands took jobs away from local talent. They agreed to bring the tours to a halt.

Strikes Chord
Kenton broke tradition at 2:07 p.m. when he sauntered to a piano on the stage of the Royal Albert hall and struck a chord that shattered the musical curtain British bandleader Ted Heath will return the honors with a visit to the United States in April.

More than 7,000 jazz lovers ranging from the bearded intellectual set to the sleek-haired "Teddy boys" who are similar to "zoot suiters" jammed into the ancient hall to hear American jazz in person. His reception was magnificent and some of his tunes had the audience yelling with appreciation. Ann Richards, Kenton's 20-year-old wife, said "they seem to be serious students of music. They were afraid to clap during the solos in case they missed something."

Comments Given
The Daily Mirror said "at times the music was sad and smooth; at times it was savage, brassy, discordant, grotesque. But at all times it was vital and alive."
The News Chronicle said that "the individual tone and artistry of his instrumentalists are superb."
Kenton himself said "it's a thrill" and said he would play 50 concerts here.

Repairs to Start On Area Bridge

BOISE, March 13 (AP)—Eagle Construction company of Boise submitted the apparent low bid of $5,315 to repair a 120-foot concrete bridge over the Little Salmon river on U. S. highway 95, the state highway department reported yesterday.

In an unusual procedure, the contract was awarded immediately. Crews will begin work today, the department said, and the work is expected to be completed by April 15.

The structure was damaged by December floods, and motorists have been using a temporary span.

Like franchises granted to similar nonprofit co-ops in a number of other southern Idaho cities, the permit lasts for 30 years and will give the city an annual revenue of three per cent of gross receipts.

Atomic Power Plant Grows; Others Slated

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—One civilian atomic power plant is actually under construction. Fourteen others have been proposed. As of now, however, the atomic energy commission has awarded no contracts and granted no licenses or building permits for any of them.

The plant under construction is at Shippingport, Pa. It is expected to be completed some time next year. It is strictly experimental.

Although it will generate 60,000 kilowatts or more of electrical power, it will do so at an economically prohibitive cost—52 mills per kilowatt-hour at the start.

Cost Estimated

The total cost of this plant, counting research and development, will be about $5 million dollars. It is being built for the AEC by the Westinghouse Electric corporation and Duquesne Light company. Duquesne is paying about 15 million dollars of the cost, the AEC the rest.

The Shippingport plant was included by the AEC recently in a list of 16 civilian atomic power plants "under construction, in process of design or proposed" for completion during the period between 1957 and 1962.

It said total costs of the plants will be over 500 million dollars with industry paying about half. "As presently proposed" the plants will generate a total of nearly one million kilowatts of electrical power.

14 Listed

The 14 plants not yet started include:

Four costing nearly 150 million dollars which industry would build at its own expense under AEC license.

Three large plants which would be built under the AEC's "power demonstration program" at a total cost of 185 million dollars. Of this, the government would pay 55 million dollars. The AEC has accepted these proposals as a basis for negotiating government-aid contracts.

Seven smaller plants proposed by non-federal public groups for construction under the demonstration program with government help. Costs and cost-sharing have not been firmly established.

Legal Clouds Hanging Over Uranium Find

ALBUQUERQUE, March 13 (AP)—A 25-year-old interior department executive order has clouded numerous uranium claims in western New Mexico—possibly millions of dollars worth of claims, including some of the richest staked.

The old order, issued during the administration of former President Herbert Hoover, was produced in federal court by Henry Bigbee, attorney for the Sabre Uranium corporation and Pinton Uranium company in their suit to prevent G. P. Roundy and Forrest H. Ives from prospecting on two sections of land in McKinley county.

The two firms claim the land and that mineral rights are privately owned. Roundy and Ives claim the land in question is still public domain, insofar as mineral deposits are concerned, and still open to prospecting.

The old order "temporarily" withdrew from entry under homestead or mining laws about one million acres of public domain lands in northwestern New Mexico and Arizona. The lands were withdrawn in anticipation of congress attaching them to the Navaho reservation. This, apparently, was never done, nor, apparently, was the withdrawal ever rescinded.

Bigbee argued that even if the court should hold the land still public domain, the old withdrawal order still prohibits prospecting.

Federal Judge Waldo Rogers agreed and handed down an injunction prohibiting Roundy and Ives from prospecting on the land.

Prizes European Force

HEIDELBERG, Germany, March 13 (AP)—The 250,000-man U. S. army in Europe is the best-trained and best-equipped such peacetime force in American history, its commander-in-chief said yesterday.

Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, the man who repelled "nuts" to a German demand for surrender at Bastogne in World War II, said the U. S. force is being tailored and armed for modern concepts of atomic warfare.

But in an interview, McAuliffe warned that it probably will be impossible for his troops to defend all of Western Germany until the 12 promised new West German divisions are raised and ready to fight with other NATO forces three years from now.

Land Annexed

PAUL, March 13 (AP)—Paul is annexing two village blocks east of the water tank from Sander Koch's farm to even the streets in the village.

A. R. Armstrong, Rupert, will survey the streets and water and sewer lines will be installed. Koch will remove fencing along the property to permit the streets to be opened.

Parking space directly in front of the postoffice will be reserved for postal department cars, the village board has decided.

Senate Probers Seek Information on Vast Networks of Red Spies in U.S.

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The senate internal security subcommittee is digging now in areas which usually blunt the investigator's pick.

The subcommittee is looking for the answers to the how and who of actual Soviet spy operations in the United States. Thousands of communists, fellow travelers and dupes have been turned up by federal intelligence agencies and by congressional investigators.

But even the FBI finds that communist spies are hard to come by. The FBI has not had the rich luck, for example, of Canadian and Australian intelligence officers. Canada's gold strike came on the night of Sept. 5, 1945, when Igor Gouzenko, a civilian employe of the Soviet Russian embassy to Canada, deserted. Gouzenko bared for Canadian officials one large spy network, complete with names and documents.

The fact that the Soviet Union was allied to Canada had not prevented the Kremlin from directing "a widespread conspiracy to obtain secret official information" during World War II. A Canadian Royal commission so described the communist efforts in a report which reads in spots like a cops and robbers script for a TV thriller.

The real significance of Gouzenko's story, however, was the revelation that there were in addition to the network he exposed, several independent, parallel espionage systems under direction of members of the Soviet embassy. Gouzenko described the overall objective in simple terms: "They were trying to establish a fifth column in Canada."

There was a second military network in addition to the one unmasked by Gouzenko. The NKVD had its own separate network of spies. The NKVD means "the people's commissariat for internal affairs." There were a naval network and a political network. The evidence supported the belief that the chiefs and members of these networks each was ignorant of the identities of individuals in other networks. The whole lot was directed from Moscow.

Senate Probers Seek Information on Vast Networks of Red Spies in U.S.

The networks apparently were duplicated in the United States. So far as the record is known, the Canadians never were able to crack the other networks, about which Gouzenko could tell them only that they did exist. These networks have not been cracked in the United States.

The FBI uncovered a major communist cell in Washington—the Harold Ware cell of Reds which flourished in the new deal agricultural adjustment administration. It recruited Alger Hiss and spread its infection through government agencies, notably the national labor relations board. Experience so far indicates that an informed member of a spy net must desert before Western intelligence officers can destroy it.

Nearly 10 years after Gouzenko fled the Russian embassy, the top Soviet spy in Australia did likewise. He was Vladimir M. Petrov who deserted in Australia on April 3, 1954. His wife made the jump 17 days later. The Petrovs substantially exposed the non-military spy network then functioning in Australia. They were political spies.

The Australian pattern largely duplicated Canada's.

"We have been able to discover little more," the Australian royal commissioners reported, "than the fact that a Gru (military espionage apparatus was functioning in Australia."

From Gouzenko in 1945 to the Petrovs in 1954 the evidence strongly supports insistence of the senate subcommittee that all of these nets are functioning undetected in the U.S. today.

Suit Eyed Against Dam Construction

BAKER, Ore., March 13 (AP)—Jesse Himmelsbach, assistant Baker county district attorney, said today that work at the Brownlee dam site by the Idaho Power company was in progress.

Himmelsbach's trip to the site was in accordance with a directive issued by Attorney General Robert Y. Thornton, who has said if work actually was going on the company may be prosecuted under the state criminal code.

Himmelsbach said that whatever action he will now take, will be decided by the attorney general.

Thornton's earlier opinion said that the company did not have the right to begin construction on the project until a license was granted by the Oregon hydroelectric commission. The company has been issued a license by the federal power commission to build the dam.

Company officials said earlier that they acted on sound legal advice in starting construction of the dam and feel that they have broken no laws by failing to wait until the Oregon commission acts on the application.

Foster Daughter Arrives in Nation

SEATTLE, Wash., March 13 (AP)—Chin Chung Ying, 21-year-old foster daughter of a Knoxville, Ill., restaurant owner, arrived here yesterday from Hong Kong en route to see the foster father she has never met.

Miss Chin, who does not speak English, talked with reporters through an interpreter. She said she was originally from Canton, China, and added that her foster brother and foster mother were somewhere in the interior of Communist China. She said she had not seen them for five or six years.

In Chicago, the foster father, Sue T. Chin, said he had left China in the 1930's and had not seen his wife since.

Miss Chin said her foster mother was the only mother she could remember. She never knew her real parents. She did not know how her foster father had located her.

U.S. and Russian Churchmen Meet

MOSCOW, March 13 (AP)—Nine Protestant churchmen from the United States sat down with Russian orthodox churchmen today for a wide-ranging discussion of mutual problems.

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States, headed the western delegation of laymen and clergymen.

The meeting took place at the residence of Patriarch Alexei, with his assistant, Metropolitan Nikolai, leading the Russian group.

Blake said he hoped the American visit, which will be returned by a Russian religious delegation to the United States in June, would "contribute toward better understanding many problems confronting churches in these perilous days."

Action Planned by New Navy Vessels

ABOARD GUIDED MISSILE CRUISER BOSTON, March 13 (AP)—The first sea-going guided missile command—precursor of many planned by the U. S. navy—went into action today off Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

The command is part of a mighty American fleet now on maneuvers in the Caribbean.

Task forces made up of missile ships and Forrestal class carriers will be the "Sunday punch" of the new atomic-age navy.

Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, told newsmen last night aboard the supercarrier Forrestal that the first atomic-powered carrier may join these task forces by 1961.

School Is Held

Instructions were given on how to interest older 4-H members, how to use junior leaders, how to meet needs of first-year members and other matters pertaining to 4-H work.

History Given

BUHL, March 13 (AP)—Riley W. Doe, Oakland, Calif., vice president of Safeway stores, gave the history of the chain of groceries at the meeting of the Buhl Chamber of Commerce Monday.

African Crisis May Backfire Against Spain

By United Press

The crisis in North Africa is beginning to backfire against Spain. France granted virtual independence to French Morocco as part of its attempt to save its North African possessions. Now Morocco are demanding that Spanish Morocco be given independence also. And they want French and Spanish Morocco combined in one independent empire. Spain refuses to do that.

France signed an independence agreement with Sultan Mohammed ben Youssef of Morocco in Paris on March 2. Immediately afterward, serious rioting broke out in Spanish Morocco. Spanish authorities first announced two persons were killed, then raised the figure to seven. Moroccan nationalists say that the correct total is 32.

Accusations Made

France long accused Spain of aiding the terrorists in French Morocco. Now Spain accuses France of fomenting violence in the Spanish zone.

Generalsissimo Francisco Franco has summoned Lieut. Gen. Raphael Garcia Vallino, his high commissioner in Spanish Morocco, to Madrid for urgent consultation. Franco also has sent France the latest of a series of notes protesting that Spain's interests in Morocco have been ignored.

Spanish Morocco is only 18,000 square miles in area. But it is strategically important. It commands the southern side of the strait of Gibraltar, only 11 1/2 miles wide at the entrance to the Mediterranean. Further, its loss to the once-great Spanish empire would be a severe blow to Spanish pride.

Was Peaceful

Spanish Morocco was peaceful during the long campaign of terrorism in French Morocco. France complained bitterly that many of the Rif mountain tribesmen, toughest of the Moroccan rebels, operated from the Spanish Morocco side of the frontier.

Sultan Mohammed is nominally the ruler of both French and Spanish Morocco. He makes his headquarters in French Morocco. He is represented in Spanish Morocco by a caliph, a Moslem religious leader.

Actually, the two zones are entirely separate.

Spain Warned

Returning to Rabat, his capital, in triumph after winning independence in Paris, Mohammed at once warned Spain in a broadcast that opposition to granting independence to Spanish Morocco would endanger relations between Morocco and Spain.

Spain wanted to be cut in on the French-Moroccan negotiations. It protested against any agreement that would affect its own interests.

Mohammed has formed a representative government in French Morocco, with Si Bekkal as premier. He claims authority for the government in Spanish Morocco. Franco refuses to go along with that.

Wants to Keep Area

Franco seems ready to grant Spanish Morocco a considerable measure of home rule. But he is determined to keep it a part of his empire.

It was made known that Franco would like the sultan to visit Madrid on his way back to Morocco from Paris to talk things over. Mohammed ignored that invitation. Franco now has invited Mohammed's caliph in Morocco to go there. He was expected last Friday or Saturday but failed to show up.

Mohammed seems to be in what diplomats call a position of strength. He may cause Spain a lot of trouble.

Fiery Smash

50 Basque Immigrants Are Needed by Idaho Annually for Big Sheep Industry

BOISE, March 13—A representative of the Idaho Wool Growers' association said today Idaho could use 50 immigrant Basques in its sheep industry this year—but under present quotas the state will be lucky to get a half dozen of the shepherd specialists.

Mel C. Claar, executive secretary of the Gem State Sheepmen's organization, said it would take specific legislation now pending before congress to get the required number of Basques needed to tend the state's multi-million dollar sheep herd.

Claar explained that the bill, which has the support of all western sheepmen, would allow the importation of 100 immigrants from the Basque province over and above Spain's regular quota of 250 aliens for 1956. The 100 men would, of course, be divided among the sheep growing states.

The legislation, Claar said, is being sponsored by the California Range association of Fresno, an organization that is correlating all efforts by western wool growers to fill their shepherd ranks with Basque imports.

Why are Basque shepherders so much in demand by woolmen? Claar puts it this way:

"The Basque is faithful, sober, stays on the job and by tradition knows the sheep business. He's not likely to mind the solitary months he has to spend on the range with only sheep for company."

Idaho's sheep industry is worth about 25-million dollars on the hoof and Claar said growers can't afford to turn their herds over to men not fully adapted to the business. He cited the case of one non-Basque shepherd who let the lonely life get too much for him and headed for the nearest tavern, 12 miles away, and allowed a valuable herd to scatter to the hills.

Claar noted in an aside that people of Basque descent directly own between 20 and 25 per cent of Idaho's sheep industry but of all the persons connected with the business more than 80 per cent are of Basque lineage.

It wasn't always so difficult to import the Basque herders, Claar added. In 1933 Idaho managed to get 60 or 70 of the immigrants and in 1954 another 30 came to the Gem state.

But by last year the immigrants slowed to a trickle "and what the state department will allow now we don't know," the secretary said.

He said at the present time Idaho could guarantee jobs for 50

Basque sheep herders annually. Replacements are needed constantly, he said, as earlier aliens drift away from the industry for various reasons.

Prediction Made On Plan of Demo

BOISE, March 13—A. W. Brunt, Idaho Falls, will declare his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the United States senate within three weeks. John Corlett, political editor of the Idaho Statesman, says.

The columnist said yesterday Brunt would announce "within a week or two or perhaps three . . . despite the previous entry into the race of a man he twice supported for political office—Claude Burtenshaw, Rexburg."

Should the former state Democratic chairman declare, he would be the fourth entrant in the Democratic race. Candidates already announced are Alvin McCormack, Lewiston; Frank Church, Boise, and Burtenshaw.

FINALIST

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, March 13—Robert Livingston, Twin Falls, is a finalist in the contest for king of freshman week here. Karen Kramer, Castleford, is chairman of the dance committee.
