NEW AUBURNA, Miss., Oct. 16 (AP)—George Cochran looked up from his bed late yesterday watching for the signal from his 22-year-old son who was flying over the house. The signal came in the form of a crash and explosion. Cochran, who was in bed, was startled by the noise and called out to his wife, "Jim is in the house!"

He said his son, 22-year-old George Cochran, had written to him from the Philippines, saying that he would fly over on Tuesday on a solo training mission at the naval air station near the Philippines.

Cochran, who was in bed, was startled by the noise and called out to his wife, "Jim is in the house!"

Death Blamed On Radiations

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16 (AP)—Doctors at a local hospital here today blamed the death of a 36-year-old man on atomic radiation.

The man, identified as Robert J. Sargent, died last night after a long illness. Doctors here said he had been treated for a brain tumor and that the radiation therapy had caused his death.

Sinclair Power-X with New X-Chemical Does What No Other Gasoline Ever Did Before

X-CHEMICAL ELIMINATES POWER-ROBBING ENGINE DEPOSITS.

Other gasoline additives, intended to combat spark plug fouling and pre-ignition, actually build up harmful deposits of their own.

But Sinclair's new X-Chemical has none of those damaging after-effects. Instead, it charges hard, crusty deposits into harmless, powdery material, thereby increasing power in older cars — retaining peak power in new cars.

After just three tankfuls of new Super-Premium Sinclair Power-X, you can feel the improvement in performance — provided you do not mix it with other gasoline. See your Sinclair Dealer and power up with new Power-X. All cars need it — only Sinclair has it!

It all started with the new "Inner Ford." When Ford engineers planned this baby, they didn't just think in terms of new springs, new brakes, new axles. They thought in terms of a car through-and-through new.

The wheels got smaller. Yes, this new Ford is so new in every detail that even the wheels have changed. Now smaller and broader for a better grip on the road, they help you take off quickly... give you a better ride.

The wheelbase got longer... so now you can choose between a Ford that's over 16 ft. long—or one that's over 17 ft. long!

The frame got wider. Side rails bow out to give a more stable riding platform... a lower, sleeker silhouette.

The ride got smoother. With new suspension, new springing front and rear, the ride this new Ford gives you is the closest you'll ever come to coasting on velvet-covered clouds. And that holds true on back roads, too!

The handling got easier. Poised and balanced like a panther, this car has new swept-back front suspension that works its magic when you need it most.

The power got hotter. This new kind of Ford is packed with Thundering GO! It offers a wide range of Silver Anniversary V-8's to fit every home-power need!... plus a new version of the famous Mileage Maker Six.

The roof got lower. And it's designed to let you make the easy exits and graceful exits you've always known.

The body got quieter. It's the strongest body ever built for a low-priced car. And no car in Ford's field has such generous sound-proofing.

The lines got sweeter. Ford gives you the Joneses, lowest, low-priced car ever. Each graceful contour of its sculptured-in-steele body says, "Let's go!"

The style got smarter. With this new look Ford you have a car that belongs anywhere! Example: all Fairlane models, including sedans, have the look of a hardtop.

The value got greater... and the price is still Ford-low. The result—even more promise of buying a car that will keep its value high... a car that will stay worth more.

The new Ford Fairlane 500 (118-inch wheelbase). Longer, lower, larger than many medium-priced cars, yet lower in price than most of them!

So now you know the magic of the 57 FORD!

Drought Conditions Called Worse on Record for Many Areas in Southwest

DENVER, Oct. 16 (AP)—The current drought is the worst on record in many parts of the Southwest and Rocky Mountain regions, worse even than the "dirty thirties" of dust bowl fame.

Pastures are barren of grass and crops have withered. Livestock in Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, New Mexico, Wyoming and Colorado face a winter of nothing but supplemental feed, such as hay and concentrate, at a premium price.

"Thousands of acres of cropland in most of those states have been abandoned. Some ranchers have been forced to sell their livestock at a loss. A meteorologist has predicted no break in sight in the drought which extends back five years in most areas, even years in others.

"That is the bleak picture obtained in a survey of agriculture department officials, ranchers, farmers and others in the six-state area. In some instances, drought-dieback has been basic breeding herd, and even their city neighbors, have asked divine help. Gov. Raymond Gary proclaimed last Sunday as a day of prayer in Oklahoma and the state's residents asked God "to send rain on our parched land."

A day of prayer was held recently in Horton, Kansas, in the heart of the drought area. Twelve members of a Las Vegas, N. M. church have conducted all-night prayers in hopes of getting rain to replenish not only the soil but also the city's water supply.

The emergency hay and feed programs of the federal government have been nearly successful in combating the lack of livestock feed. But the program has backfired in some states.

In New Mexico, for example, drought disaster designation came after it did in Texas. In the meantime, most of the available feed in Texas had been shipped to Texas and that which was left brought a premium price.

In Oklahoma, hay brought $50 a ton. In New Mexico a state official reported that hay which sold for $17 a ton in June was bringing $18 a ton by Oct. 1 and he expected further increases.

Death Toll Hikes in Rail Accident

TOKYO, Japan, Oct. 16 (AP)—The death toll in the collision of two young students today raised to 33 the death toll in the collision of a speeding express train and a bus carrying 30 young boys and girls on a holiday.

Twenty-three of the dead and 20 of the injured were among the 90 students from two high schools on their way to a shrine.

The wreck occurred shortly after dark last night. The local was derailed while backing and was hit by the express train. The bus was bound for the town of Maebashi, about 10 miles from Tokyo.

Bureau Will Aid Insurance Firm

ROSE, Oct. 16 (AP)—The state insurance department has taken over management of the Liberty National Insurance company in a way of Gov. Alfalfa until it obtains needed capital, according to State Insurance Commissioner Leo O'Connell.

O'Connell said the action was taken at the request of the firm's board of directors. He said a state examination of the company had shown that it needed additional capital to continue "writing new business."

The commissioner said his department would relinquish management of the firm as soon as it feels the company no longer needs assistance. He said business operations of the firm are continuing and it has enough money to pay all bills and claims.

Entry of U.S. Fights Tears, Is Runner-up

GOODRICH, Oct. 16 (AP)——Caldwellemo Betty Linn Cherry, Orangeburg, S. C., today won the year's top prize and put a bold front to those who disapproved of her role in the Miss World contest.

"I'm proud I did win, so it was a disappointment," she said. But the words were without conviction. Organizers of the contest pulled together to make the finalists were announced last night, and Miss Cherry walked the runway wearing the crown of the victor.

Members of the audience, Ben Lyon said, were "in a state of confusion" because of the mistake, but he tried to rectify the error by announcing her name. He stepped in from behind the scenes, where cameras were being aimed at the Miss U.S. contestant's school as Miss Cherry walked the runway.

It was then that the crowd was told that the girl who had been crowned was Betty Linn Cherry, Orangeburg, S. C., and not the girl who had been crowned in the previous year.

Cherry's beauty had also won her a place in the history books of the contest. She had been crowned in the previous year, but she had lost the crown to the girl who had been crowned in the previous year.

Hallowe'en Toast

Peoples of Asia Give Thanks To U.S. 'Trick or Treat' Idea

BANGKOK (NEA)——Spirits and spoons fill the air for American children every night of the year in the United States. In Thailand, the spirits of the year round, recognize the U.S. children's gift of milk.

Here every home, large or small, sets up a miniature "spirit house" in the garden where flowers and incense are placed to keep the invisible "phya" happy and on the job of protecting the household.

But the spirit that is paying off in human lives and friendship out here is the spirit of the American Hallowe'en and the United Nations children's fund program of "Trick or Treat for UNICEF."

In 1955, the twenty-year-old program, outgaters in 6,000 American communities dressed up in traditional Hallowe'en garb and collected gifts in pennies totaling more than half a million dollars.

One million fun in Pittsburgh raised $9,000. Houston, Tex., children gathered in $1,400 without any trickery to treat the underprivileged children of foreign lands.

Pittsburgh thus paid for the entire operation of a pilot project to cure and prevent malaria in a large area of Thailand. Houston's contribution amounted to 16,000 Cambodian children to be vaccinated.

Life is cheap out here in Asia, and so is health. The vaccine to protect a child from tuberculosis costs a penny. Penicillin is a nickel for a needleful. Six gallons of healthy reconstituted milk are available to UNICEF for one cent. All of the services are distributed free here.

Malaria, which 10 years ago caused 200,000 deaths a year in Thailand, has been virtually eliminated as a fatal disease here. The United States started the program on direct aid and now UNICEF runs it. Cost of eliminating malaria is 13 cents per person.

The people's appreciation for this type of aid is overwhelming. In scores of settlements all over Thailand, the whole village turns out to

School's Chief Hits Aides for Stand on Test

PASADENA, Calif., Oct. 16 (AP)——The stand of 10 California Institute of Technology nuclear scientists in backing Anita Stevenson's proposed ban of H-bomb tests was criticized by the school's president.

The scientists had declared that in endorsing the Stevenson proposal they spoke for themselves as individuals and not for Caltech.

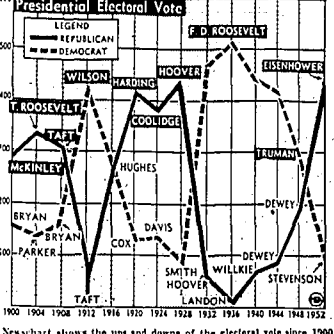

Dr. Lee A. DuBridge, Caltech president, said he regretted "that a position stand on the continuation of H-bomb tests has been made by a scientific group, because there is no disagreement among American citizens on their desire for peace and for the avoidance of nuclear war through enforceable international agreements."

He said that for 10 years and through two administrations such statements have been sought by leaders of the U. S. government. He added:

"The principal technical question involved in the present debate is whether large-scale tests are an important part of our weapon-research program. Those in responsible charge of that program assure us that they are and that their discontinuance, therefore, should follow and not precede enforceable international agreements. In my own official government contacts I have become convinced this is the case."

Electoral College

NEWSPAPER shows the ups and downs of the electoral vote since 1900 when McKinley defeated Bryan. In 1922, Franklin D. Roosevelt carried the Democrats into the White House where they remained for 20 years. In the 56 years since the turn of the century the Republicans and Democrats each have been in power for 28 years. In the 1952 election Franklin D. Roosevelt stood he was the champion vote-getter by amassing 23 electoral votes, an all-time high. That same year, Alfred M. Landon pulled off his only, smallest total recorded by a major party candidate in modern times.

Demo Tactics Are Flayed in Benson's Talk

ELKO, Nev., Oct. 16 (AP)——Gov. of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson charged the Democrats last night with using "depression psychology."

In a speech prepared for delivery at this livestock center's high school, Benson declared:

"Agricultural reports today are at their highest point in 20 years and farm income is now 85 per cent above its level at the first of this year."

"We checked five long years of price decline," the secretary said, "when we got rid of aid price supports in 1954."

He charged that "85 per cent of the farm price decline following the Korean war inflation came while price supports still were in effect."

Marital Status Of Politicians Could Be Vital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—Old timers will recall that the late Bobo Penrose of Pennsylvania was both a bachelor and boss of the Republican party a generation ago.

When some of Penrose's associates suggested that the standing of the party boss with the public would be improved if he took a wife, Penrose is said to have replied:

"That's all right with me, boys. You stick her and I'll marry her. Penrose, however, died a bachelor. The incident wouldn't be worth recalling but for the hopes of a Republican who usually sound Republican politics than Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower were divorced some years ago.

Reports from the field by Republicans and Democrats alike agree that Mrs. Eisenhower and Mrs. Nixon are notable campaigners. Harry B. Truman knew that he was doing back there in 1948 when he ended each whistle-stop with a friendly: "Now, folks, I want you to meet the boss."

Before that, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt had achieved a master's touch. This time it is the Republican candidates who have the girls going for them.

Political Soundings in 5 of 6 Counties Indicate Ike Could Be Election Victor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—Political soundings from five of six "bell-wether" counties indicate a reelection victory for President Eisenhower, a close vote was predicted in the other.

These six are among eight counties scattered across the country, which have voted for the winner in every primary election for more than 50 years, most of them since William McKinley won in 1900.

Estimates were made by newspaper editors and correspondents in response to an Associated Press inquiry.

In a primary in 1952 resulted in a split in one county. Then the "bell-wethers" numbered 11. Three fell by the wayside when they went for Stevenson against the national trend. In the 1952 survey, they had been tabbed as likely to go for Stevenson.

Those left in 1952 with records intact are Crook county, Ore.; Albany and Laramie counties, Wyo.; Jasper and Palo Alto counties, Ia.; Vanderburgh and Cos (pronounced Co-osa) counties, N. H.

No sampling was undertaken this year in the two Iowa counties, where voters are predicted reluctant to speak out.

A switch was predicted for Albany county, Wyo., with Laramie as the marginal community. Three out of five newspaper editors and political leaders interviewed seemed to think Stevenson would carry the county. They reported more Democratic party interest than in 1952, a strong endorsement of Stevenson by organized labor and a weakening of Eisenhower's support among a few ranchers.

In the other Wyoming county—Laramie, site of Cheyenne—four of six interviewed felt that Eisenhower would carry the county again but that his margin would be smaller. Newspaper editors said the end of the way in 1952 was a factor with women. Four years ago the editors expected Laramie county to carry the county again this year.

SOUTHEASTERN IDAHO

What a Future Here!

Southeastern Idaho is in a period of splendid growth. Population, school enrollment, retail sales, postal receipts, new homes, new telephones, new jobs, and bank deposits are all far ahead of what they were in 1950.

We have invested many millions of dollars in Idaho agriculture, building, and other industries—and we intend to invest more. And, looking forward to the future of Idaho families, we are expanding Prudential facilities throughout the State. This is particularly true of Southeastern Idaho. Here, we are going to open new offices and select and train additional men for the experienced Prudential organization already serving families in this area.

"The" Backed, Nixon Lashed

By N. Y. Times

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The New York Times today endorsed President Eisenhower for reelection but attacked the GOP choice of Vice President Richard M. Nixon as a "reactionary" and "conservative."

The independent newspaper supported Mr. Eisenhower in 1952. The endorsement appeared in the front page of today's edition.

The paper commended both the President and Adlai Stevenson for sharing a "middle-of-the-road" position at a time when the country was in a state of confusion and a clearly defined path in both the political and economic spheres was needed.

The editorial expressed "disappointment" over the President's failure to support some of his own proposals, but it said the President's party could maintain a "middle-of-the-road" position in the future.

The editorial also criticized the "early fall" of the President to "stand up" for Sen. Joseph McCarthy, whom the administration's handling of the security issue in the civil service had weakened.

Pentagon Seeks Means to Strengthen Draft as "Six-Months Program" Fails

WASHINGTON (AP)—While the military reserves are still being called out of ending the draft the Pentagon is studying means of strengthening the military reserves.

The possibility that under present law and manpower needs a healthy young man can escape military service and the draft completely is a major handicap in efforts to bolster the military reserves.

The army's big program to give 100,000 men a year six months of training and then put them in the ready reserve for seven and one-half years is suffering most from this draft loophole.

The six-month program was designed to build up the reserve by making it a more attractive means of discharging a man's military obligation than being drafted.

However, as soon as young men discovered that under the new law and lowered quotas they had a fair chance of never being drafted the six-month program was a flop.

Men can be drafted into the six-month plan but the army wants to keep it on a volunteer basis if possible.

In spite of all-out efforts to sell the six-month training program to America's youth less than half of the 100,000-man quota was met its first year, just ended.

One obvious alternative Pentagon officials are studying is to make it compulsory for all young men to undergo some period of active duty. This would be more fair to all men, but it would merely be asking congress for another universal military training program.

Congress has repeatedly turned this request down, but the Pentagon might have to ask for it again.

However, before a new draft law is requested all the alternatives under the present law will be tried.

Pentagon officials pointed out that First, it is being ordered that no more men will be permitted to enter the military service than the quota. Second, taking the six-month training, the guard now has 400,000 men and the army has 200,000. This allows the enlistments.

The guard has already contributed 500,000 men to the six-month program and this move should double that number considerably.

As present men "see" the guard and escape active duty by attending the weekly drills, but it takes three years to train a man this way—and the army wants to speed up this process as well as fill up the six-month program.

At the same time the army is putting into effect an "emergency" reinforcement assignment plan. This consists of freeing all Korean veterans from any of the legal reserve times they have left to fulfill. And it includes assigning all the men who have gotten out of service since then to new, specific jobs in the army reserves.

This is actually a shuffling of paper because no man who entered the military service in 1955 could be forced to join the reserves although they all have a technical duty to do as reservists.

The only effect of this action will be to make the ready reserve more ready for war. And the units will look better on paper.

Approximately one million men will be getting into other jobs than from a reserve assignment or giving them a new one.

At the same time, recent increases in volunteers for the six-month training, plus increased numbers from the guard, indicate that 700,000 men could enter the program during the coming year.

If this happens, there will be no need for a new draft law and the need of 1.3 million men in the reserves by 1960 will be met.

Dogs, like human beings, suffer acutely from claustrophobia—the fear of being shut in.

Happy volunteers celebrate completion of their training at Ft. Ord, Calif., under the six-month reserve program. But unhappy army can't get enough volunteers for the plan.

Frank Gruber Claims to Be Most Prolific Writer in U. S.

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16.—Frank Gruber claims to be the country's most prolific writer and he could be right.

Add up 37 books, 52 screen plays and 200 short stories and you've got a chunk of writing.

Gruber has produced in 22 years of work at a "spec" writer. What's more, he has sold 16 of his books to the screen.

Gruber's specialty is westerns. "We call them 'novels of the West' because that sounds better." Among the films from his books: "Broken Lance," "Hawbuck," "Treason at Table Rock" and his current book, "Buffalo Grass," already filmed by Alan Ladd.

"It's an unusual specialty for a man who was born in Elmer, Minn., grew up in Chicago, found writing success in New York and who spent his recent years in Hollywood."

"I don't think any author today has written out more work than I have" and Gruber, a friendly, laid-back man who likes to talk about his business. "Not even Eric Stanley (writing) I could find about the West. He never writes more than I and I've toured all over it, talking to people who know Jesse James, Billy the Kid and so forth."

The result has been well-plotted, well-backgrounded action stories that appeal to the film market.

Gruber might never have minded "western gold" if it hadn't been for the depression.

"I was in the trade magazine business in Chicago," he recalled. "I was doing pretty well at it, but the depression struck and my salary kept getting smaller and smaller. When it got down to $20 a week in 1931, I said to heck with it."

"I had always wanted to write. So I decided to get on my feet in New York and started as a writer there in Chicago as a trade magazine editor."

The first year in the big city netted him only $600. But the next year brought $10,000 and he's been climbing ever since.

The writer's output has been largely westerns and mysteries. He was asked if he ever yearned to turn out a "great American novel."

"I've thought about that," he replied. "But I've also thought that I

lot of the writers who were turning out serious fiction 20 years ago aren't being read today. Who reads Booth Tarkington today?

"But I think the stories of Sherlock Holmes will still be read 100 or 200 years from now. So will the books of Zane Grey."

Car Smash Fatal to Four

SEASIDE, Wash., Oct. 16.—Four people, including three children, were killed yesterday in a head-on collision between a car and a station wagon on a curve four miles north of here.

The station wagon was carrying three children in a car traveling at nearly 100 miles an hour. It started into the ditch and the car struck the station wagon.

The driver of the station wagon was identified as William J. Taylor, 34, Oak Harbor. He was a co-owner of the base.

Tired

SEASIDE, O. Oct. 16.—19-year-old Charles W. Chisole, 21, was hit by the hard way, but at least he pooped today to it.

He had been on leave and spent his last day on the bus. The M.D. made the 800-mile trip from Miami Air force base, Fla., there by bicycle.

Experience you can bank on—SHELL NH3 SERVICE

This is nitrogen fertilizing done scientifically—full strength (82% nitrogen) applied under pressure. Crops get nitrogen in correct amounts, get it in the root zone—where they can use it for maximum benefit! Behind every application is a quarter-century of NH3 application experience, acquired by Shell since it pioneered this nitrogen fertilizer. Shell NH3 dealers use field-tested application equipment for the job. These men are experts on local crop and soil conditions. Shell NH3 users will tell you—and yields prove—Shell's way is the sure way!

Uncle Sam's Places for Handicapped Give Examples to Private Industries

WASHINGTON (HEA) — You might call Eddie Weisland a privileged character, but the government parking space at the departments of health, education and welfare.

When he awakes in the morning he doesn't walk to his desk, however. He rolls in a wheel chair on his own. Nobody feels sorry for him, but he is a body should. The special parking spot is courtesy, not sympathy.

Eddie is one of thousands of men and women on Uncle Sam's payroll, not as a charity case but as an eight-hour-a-day worker, and he had to earn that job at 19.

This is the fair-and-square hiring policy that the U.S. government takes toward the physically handicapped.

It is the nation's biggest employer. Uncle Sam is trying to encourage other employers to give the handicapped an even break.

Experts of this effort would be mightily pleased if business and industry did as well as the federal government in this respect.

"Our objective has not been to discover who is qualified to do the work of a handicapped applicant," says Philip Young, chairman of the civil service commission.

"It has been, and is, to discover the conditions under which he can be made to do the work, and give himself an opportunity to contribute to the service of his country."

In the last year, 3,555 handicapped workers have been placed in government jobs, according to the official figure for the last five years is 34,285.

From janitors to stenographers to engineers, nearly all types of positions in the government have minimum physical requirements. It is these that are a barrier to the handicapped who apply for a job. With the exception of veterans, no one receives special consideration.

"We don't take persons on the basis of sympathy," says Arthur M. Hunsbarger, chief of the Bureau of Civil Service.

"Handicapped applicants must compete for a vacancy with any other applicant."

Sometimes a man is able to convince the government that he can cope with a job, and the rule book is waived for him.

Last spring, for example, Dr. Richard Wilburn, a graduate of the University of Michigan, was hired as a highway engineer on the highway department. He was qualified for a laboratory job despite the fact he was blind.

When they have proved his ability, and now competitive exams for that type of job are open to the blind.

The civil service commission asks two questions when deciding whether or not to hire a blind man. Is he qualified for the job? And can the work be done without hazard to himself or others?

Dr. Wilburn's answer to the first question was "Yes." He has a B.S. in electrical engineering from the University of Michigan. He has worked in a laboratory for three years. He has a clerk typist at R.R.W. Now he has a laboratory job in the highway department. He is qualified for the job. And the work can be done without hazard to himself or others.

Despite his wheel-chair confinement, he is confident of more production and he expects to go out on field trips.

There are many more like him.

Courtesy, not sympathy, gives Eddie Weisland a special parking space when he drives to his government job. He's one of thousands of handicapped on Uncle Sam's payroll.

Two Satellites Methodist Youth Take Top Bid In Tito's Plan

BURLEY, Oct. 16.—Plans for the Methodist-Youth Fellowship district rally, slated for Oct. 27 and 28 in Burley, were completed by subcommittee officers at a meeting Sunday in the Burley Methodist church.

The meetings will begin with registration at 11 a. m. at the church. The program includes group meetings and special talks. Visiting M.Y.F. officers at a meeting Sunday in the Burley Methodist church.

In both countries, high officials who had been disgraced as overfriendly toward the independent communist line taken by President Tito of Yugoslavia have been re-elected to favor.

Other high officials who had been known as firm supporters of the Soviet line, yet had been disgraced as overfriendly toward the independent communist line taken by President Tito of Yugoslavia have been re-elected to favor.

Rent for Sign Is Sought in Court

The Bridges Neon Sign company, Twin Falls, seeks a total of $1,705 from Frank and Virginia Todd, owners of the D.A. Coffee shop in Burley, for rent allegedly due on a neon sign in a complaint filed Monday in district court.

The complaint alleges that on March 19, 1934, the company leased to the Todds a neon sign for use in their coffee shop in Burley. The sign was valued at $1,705. The sign was used for a period of 60 months.

The company claims $155 was paid for the first five months rent, but subsequent payments have not been made. The balance due, plus $200 in attorney fees, is sought in the suit.

Bennett and Bennett represent the sign company.

Showing Due In October for 1957 Rambler

More power and compactness have been added to 1937 Rambler, which will go on display at Nash and Hudson dealerships in Magic Valley Oct. 25.

A V-8 engine, rated at 190 horsepower, will be available for the first time with the six-cylinder 125-horsepower. With an optional dual carburetor, horsepower of the engine is increased to 135. The V-8 engine uses regular grade gasoline and is designed to high performance at a minimum of maintenance.

While the Rambler is one and one-half feet shorter and several inches narrower than the average U.S. car, it offers 50 and three-fourths inches of "hiproom" in the front seat.

There are 13 models in the 1937 line, six of which are V-8s. All are 50 to 58 inch wheelbase.

The front end of the Rambler has been redesigned for a more massive appearance. A horizontal chrome bar has been added to the grille and parking and turning lights increased in size.

The side color panel runs from the front to the rear. The chrome molding at the top of the side panels with the lower molding to become a modified "V" before running back to the tail light housing.

Eleven new colors bring the total to 16 for the 1937 Rambler. Three-tone combinations and 13 two-tone are available. In addition, wood trim is available as trim on Custom station wagon.

A wide range of nylon blends with metallic tints are used in the interiors. Bolsters are in vinyl or leather.

Interior are keyed to harmonize with exterior colors. The instrument panel and interior holdings are available in green, metallic blue or metallic black depending on the basic exterior color.

For safety, American Motors' construction features the body and frame fused together with 5000 welds. A safety package of padded instrument panel and padded seats (also is offered, safety belts are optional).

Reclining seats and twin travel beds are continued in the Rambler line. The new V-8 engine has a 230 cubic inch displacement. Its 8-to-1 compression ratio allows full control of burning, thereby eliminating the need of premium gasoline.

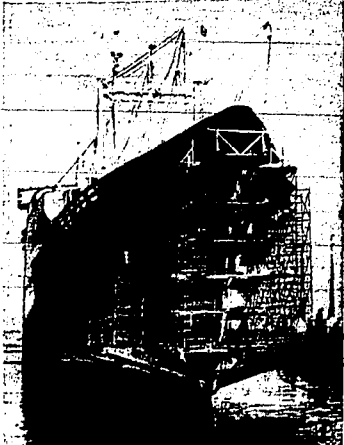

It has a two-barrel carburetor and lays down more torque. The torque rating is 240 foot pounds at 2800 rpm.

The V-8 can be obtained with automatic or standard transmission. Dual mufflers and tail pipes are available.

The 125 horsepower six has a displacement of 170 foot pounds at 2600 revolutions. Three types of transmission are available on the six including standard synchromesh, optional overdrive and optional hydraulic.

Steering is made easier through a new steering gear box. The turning diameter is 37 and one half feet.

Stockholm Afloat Again

The Swedish-American liner Stockholm floats free in drydock at New York following repair of underwater damage incurred in collision with the Viking Ocean-Builder. The rebuilding of the 12-foot bow sections shattered by the crash of the two ships has taken two months to repair. The scaffolding will permit completion of above-water repairs at dockside. Fire Count Hikes In Area Surveys

MISSOULA, Mont., Oct. 16 (AP)—The number of fires in region one of the U.S. forest service during the 1934 season was slightly above the previous five-year average but the average burned area was less. A. S. Spaulding, forest service regional fire control chief, said today.

Fires numbered 1,101 and acreage burned totaled 3,112 to the end of September.

The region covers forests in Montana, northern Idaho and northern eastern Washington.

Pacts Signed

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Signing of new three-year work contracts with the Cudahy Packing company and Hygrade Food Products corporation was announced today by two unions of packing plant workers.

An immediate 10-cent hourly wage increase will set the common labor base pay at $1.70 an hour for 5,200 Cudahy employees and 4,800 at Hygrade plants. Further increases of 5 cents an hour will become effective in 1937 and 1938. Both contracts include a union shop clause.

Death Claims 'Alfalfa Bill' Of Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Former Oklahoma Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, 85, a flamboyant politician of the old frontier school, died yesterday. He had suffered a stroke six days earlier.

Murray made his first race for governor in 1910. He was ultimately elected in 1919.

Observers said he combined the wit of a scholar with his rustic color. He made an unassuming bid for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1922.

Later he opposed President Roosevelt's new deal and campaigned for Republican Alf Landon in 1932.

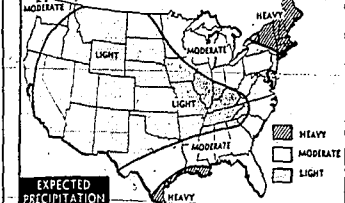

A son, Johnston Murray, himself a former governor of Oklahoma, was among the relatives of the elder Murray's bedridden when death came.

Murray traveled for several years in Latin America and conceived a plan for colonizing the Gran Chaco region of Bolivia. In 1924 he took 30 Oklahoma families to the area. The experiment finally collapsed when a revolutionary government seized the group's property.

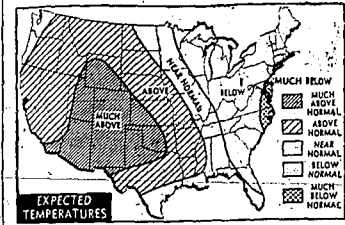

Murray's health had declined in his last months. He had been blind and deaf for about a year. He never regained consciousness after suffering the stroke last week.

This Month's Weather

Maps below give you the U.S. weather bureau's long-range forecast from now until November. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an estimate of average precipitation and temperatures for the period.

Precipitation for the greater part of the country will be light to moderate through the end of October. Only in the North Atlantic states and along the Gulf Coast is heavy rainfall expected to dampen autumn's glory.

Temperatures are expected to average below normal east of the Mississippi through the end of October. Most of the rest of the nation is expected to be in unseasonable warmth before winter arrives.

Sweater Given

HAWICK, Scotland, Oct. 16 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe had a special new form-fitting, champagne-colored cashmere sweater today.

The 300 workers at a local sweater factory sent the sweater to the beauty queen actress along with a letter saying the garment was made to fit her specifications down to the last millimeter. Miss Monroe is in England making a movie.

Explorers Find New Ice Cavern

POCATELLO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Two explorers have discovered what they call "Lars' Cave." It is an underground cavern some 25 miles west of Pocatello which, they say, contains beautiful ice formations.

The men said they call it "Lars' Cave" because no one believes them. But they added that in recent weeks they have taken a number of groups to the area and have shown them the cave.

They said the main cavern is about 360 feet long, 30 feet wide and 40 feet high. Almost covering the solid rock walls are ice pillars and ledges of many varieties. The cave is about 100 feet below the surface of the sagebrush covered area, they said.

Building Slated

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Industrial corporation plans to build a five-million dollar "let" plant for the Boeing Aircraft company in Seattle.

Fred Port, president of the San Francisco firm, announced yesterday at a meeting here that the cost of the 500,000 square foot building would begin before Nov. 15.

MAN IS FINED

BURLEY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Charles Orla Burley was fined $10 and costs Monday by Justice of the Peace Joe Weldon on a charge of intoxication in an automobile on a public highway.

TWO ARE JAILED

BURLEY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Earl Ross and Buford Streng, both transients, were sentenced to 15 days in jail each in lieu of $25 fines Monday on charges of public intoxication. Lloyd McKinnis, another transient, was fined $25 and $2.50 costs on a charge of disturbing the peace.
