Ike Vows Opposition To Red Volunteers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today this country will oppose through the United Nations any attempt to supply arms to the Middle East. The United States, Mr. Eisenhower said, will not undertake to decide by itself whether such an offense against peace had been committed. As to what the United Nations might do, the President pointed out that the U. N. is not limited to adopting resolutions. Apparently he was referring to the Korean war in mind.

The President answered questions at today's news conference cautiously. He did not say he would exercise caution in public statements at this time lest delicate U. N. negotiations be hampered.

But he said firmly that men who would invest nuclear weapons in response to questions about whether it would be suicide to use them, he said he did not believe there should be speculation as to what he would do.

The prospects of failure to achieve peace are too horrible, he said.

His most outspoken statement was in response to questions about the use of tanks, cannon and soldiers to crush the Hungarian revolution. He said he would support the Russian action as negotiating all concepts of "right and justice in the world."

Both Russia and Communist China have threatened to send "volunteers" to fight with Egypt. And a Moscow dispatch reported shortly after the news conference that the Russian volunteer fighters.

In stating the U. S. position toward any such action, the President said he would support the United States in its efforts to bring about a cease-fire in the area, or arms or ammunition.

State Legislative Group Recommends Passage of Two Per Cent Sales Tax

BOISE, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Idaho legislative structure committee today recommended a two per cent sales tax in Idaho as the best means of raising additional money for the state's general fund. The recommendation was one of a dozen following a two-year study by the group. The study included numerous hearings and appearances by individuals and groups interested in Idaho's tax problems. Several of the groups expressed opposition to the sales tax idea. Rep. Ralph Wickberg, R., Shoshone, chairman, told members of the committee he had made a concentrated study of all types of taxes—property, income, excise, and sales.

Wickberg said the committee found the property tax supplies approximately 60 per cent of the general fund, the income tax more than 50 per cent and the excise taxes their fair share.

"Therefore," he added, "the committee felt these tax sources were already overburdened and couldn't be called on to supply more tax. That left the sales tax as the best source of new revenue."

The committee recommended the proposed two per cent sales tax which it said would be paid by the average consumer on the retail price of goods. (Continued on Page 15, Column 4)

Formation of Public Power Group Urged

BOISE, Nov. 14 (AP)—Representatives at a regional meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative association have urged that the Idaho Power administration be made into a public corporation to serve the four Pacific Northwest states.

The resolution recommended that a Columbia River Development corporation be formed which would serve the area to include Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana. The project would include the construction of two large dams and two small dams and issue electric revenue bonds similar to those used for self-financing of the Tennessee Valley authority.

At the association's closing meeting, T. C. W. of regional manager of the Inland Power and Light company, was named the new executive commissioner and, Earl B. Dr. Garff, professor of marketing and speech at University of Utah, was principal speaker at a dinner at St. Edward's school ending day-long convention. Attending the banquet were 384 persons, including 100 members of the Twin Falls county branches, the Pomona Grange master, and other guests.

Considerable Beet Harvest Not Finished

BOISE, Nov. 14 (AP)—Considerable sugar beet harvesting was left to be done and field work was reported to be under way in the first part of the month, the USDA crop reporting service for Idaho said today.

In a report it noted the first three weeks of October were ideal for planting, but the rest of the month was cold and wet, leaving about 50 per cent of the acreage planted. The sugar beet harvest is about half the sugar beet harvest of the ground.

However, the moisture was a boon to the sugar beet harvest. The 1956 Idaho sugar beet harvest is about 100,000 bushels compared to 3,140,000 last year. Average yield this year was 100 bushels per acre, compared to 70 bushels per acre two weeks ago, last year's figure.

Monaco Item Disregarded, Citizens Aver

MONTE CARLO, Nov. 14 (AP)—Just a few weeks back it seemed so important. Will Princess Grace have a boy, a girl or best of all, twins? Now the inhabitants of this romantic city in the principality of Monaco have the unhappy feeling that a world caught in crisis really doesn't care a great deal for the people of Monaco were taking the scheduled February arrival of the princess as a matter of course. So seriously they were investing money in preparation for the expected birth of the first prince of Monaco to last spring's wedding.

When Prince Rainier and the princess return here Friday from the United States, they will find two rooms of the palace converted into a nursery. The rooms formerly were museum-like galleries open to the public. These have been closed for the last and pink-suitable to either sex.

The palace has undergone a thorough scrubbing and waxing throughout its 200 rooms. The public has been barred at considerable intervals. The grounds in the royal courtyard have been carefully restored by two Louvre experts from Paris.

A new moviehouse, Europe's plushiest, has been built underground beneath the famous Sporting club. Decorated in the Monacan colors, red and white, it cost almost $2,000,000. It has a royal box with adjoining ballrooms and sitting rooms.

Across the square, the famous gambling casino is getting a Las Vegas-transfusion. Casino President Pierre Rey has gone to Nevada to find out what makes gambling there so popular and profitable.

The picture-card harbor has been getting a going over, too. It is drying-up and the low tides daily at dawn in the week of celebrating a quarter of a century have been used in the demolition of the old and ugly gas works that has been on the waterfront for three generations.

Monte Carlo hopes the world comes to its senses soon enough to appreciate a really important event.

Modern Puzzle on Peace and Crises Pondered by Writer

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—A group of a middle-aged man in the street.

With the election is over, and "these" were "normal" times the country would be safe for another four years. But today nothing really seems safe even the next four minutes.

The world used to operate on a sensible basis. It would have a big depression every 10 years, and a big war every 20 or 25 years. This gave people time between to make love or look up at the stars for comfort.

A man don't mind so much getting an ulcer from carrying a living, paying off his mortgage, and keeping his kids in school and out of wonder of it.

It is the crisis after the crisis that bothers him, the one that comes by his innumerable mental dig at the world. You get a world that is a baked later crisis for lunch, and a "brand new" completely new crisis for dinner.

If it isn't a crisis over nuclear war, the hydrogen bomb will fall, it's a crisis over the cost of living will go up. Then the weather is a crisis. The climate is getting warmer and in another 10,000 years (just when I finally finish paying off my house) the country may be one vast desert, and what'll that do to humanity's values?

Then there's always the crisis over peace. World peace seems to be over maybe the cost of living will go up. Then the weather is a crisis. The climate is getting warmer and in another 10,000 years (just when I finally finish paying off my house) the country may be one vast desert, and what'll that do to humanity's values?

Russia moves tanks into Hungary to preserve freedom and soon the only free Hungarians in the country are those too dead to realize the wonder of it.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14 (AP)—A bandit robbed a Japanese importer and curio store yesterday directly across the street from the city's new police building which houses 1,500 policemen.

The robbery occurred in the early morning hours of Nov. 13. The store, owned by a Japanese man, was located in the area of the new police building. The bandits entered the store and stole a large amount of merchandise, including valuable items. The police are currently investigating the case and have issued a warrant for the arrest of the suspects.

THE "NEW" COMMUNISM

For two weeks the world heard the voice of free Hungary, a voice that cried for a new Hungary, a voice that cried for a new Hungary against the Communist tyrant that had muffled it so long. But now it is still again.

Led by tanks and planes, many thousands of Russian soldiers swarmed into a land whose population totals considerably less than that of the New York metropolitan area.

Though the brave rebel forces here and there fought on against crushing odds, it was clear the revolt had been crushed. The Russian army's Greater Iron Army, who by a strange process had in a few days become almost a "liberal" leader, and installed a typical puppet regime headed to Moscow.

It was a terribly unhappy ending to one of the most glorious chapters in the long story of the quest for liberty.

In Poland, defiance of Moscow succeeded because it did not go too far. The government here held to Communist lines—there was no open revolt, no cry for full Communist overthrow, no pulling down of Russian statues or burning of red books.

But in Hungary all these crucial challenges were flung at the Kremlin. Emboldened by their first successes, the rebel detachments advanced and more. On point after point, Nagy yielded.

He abolished farm collectivization, promised free elections, amnesty for rebels, and a government with non-Communist representation. He called for withdrawal of Russian troops from Budapest, and announced Hungary's repudiation of the Warsaw pact authorizing Soviet detachments on satellite soil.

Russia's limited forces in Hungary began a push-back as the Kremlin called for withdrawal not only there but from Poland and Rumania.

Yet all the while Moscow's councils were divided. The peril of a free bridgehead in the West was deemed great. Other satellites would be split, and flanked.

So, as millions of Hungarians rejoiced in their breath of free air, and Soviet commanders negotiated troop withdrawals, far eastward a struggle on strategic points.

At dawn on Sunday, Nov. 4, they struck with full armored might.

The old Russia of Stalin, imposing its will on a blow struck by the West, was reborn in this action. With its rebirth the image of a Communist leadership dedicated to peace and justice crashed in the dust.

Not even the clamor of war in the Middle East can drown the cry of tyranny so ruthlessly reasserted. The United Nations had acted to strip off the smiling mask and proclaim to the world its support for Hungary. The whole world must see the Russians for what they are.

Hungary's real emergence, as a newly free land, may now be long years off. Yet none but the most glib followers of the Kremlin will question that the remarkable Hungarians are kept from liberty only by the most overwhelming application of force.

Their heroic spirit should fire the hearts of all free men.

TURNING POINT FOR GOP?

When General Eisenhower was first being considered as a candidate for President, it will be recalled that both political parties held out the prospect that he would be their nominee.

Even after his election on the Republican ticket, there were many conservatives in his party who complained of the President's tendency to follow new deal philosophies.

Now reports have it that the President is so encouraged by his own victory that he intends to make his mark on the Republican party, in congress and out.

In fact, some political observers are now predicting that Mr. Eisenhower will endeavor to match the Roosevelt-Truman social and economic reforms. They think that the President will attempt to graft these reforms on the body politic in a more acceptable and businesslike manner.

It is expected that he will press for an extremely liberal legislative program, aligning the GOP definitely on the side of the "little fellow."

In view of the election results, and the Republican party's utter dependence upon him and his philosophies, the President may bring about quite a change in the GOP. It could be a historic turning point in the history of American politics.

NOTE OF SADNESS

Not only lovers of ballet, but all who admire talent and grace must be saddened at the thought of Tanequill Le Clerque, prima ballerina of the New York City Ballet, who died in an iron lung in Copenhagen.

Miss Le Clerque, famed for sylvan-like interpretations of the classic dance, was stricken by polio while enjoying a highly successful European tour with the New York group. Her husband, the Old Farmer Almanac, whose efforts have gained American ballet a world name, waits by his wife's bed but his hour continues.

The recovery and triumphant return to the stage by this flower-like woman would be a boon in these times of much strife and little beauty.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG POT SHOTS

WASHINGTON—What can the people of the United States and our overseas aid and neoplatonist expansionists do to keep the average citizen from being misled on his own terms by the great popular and electoral vote ever given to a Republican candidate for the Presidency?

The question uppermost in the mind of the author of this column is, "What can we do to keep the average citizen from being misled on his own terms by the great popular and electoral vote ever given to a Republican candidate for the Presidency?"

As he has intimated, he will propose an expanded legislative program of education. Nor is it sufficient to forecast that he will continue to fight against the "neoplatonist" and "neoplatonist" expansionism, while it emanates from Moscow or London and Paris.

His tactics pro-life people's minds today refer to various around aspects, in generalities. Now that the is acknowledged to be a free world's format figure, and the Republican only anchor for the political future, what will he do or ask in the way of bulwark and maintain the GOP's stature?

INCREASED SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS

For one thing, in the field of social legislation, Eisenhower may suggest that social security benefits for the aged be increased. The present rate of the $1200 a year—only a small increase will be needed to finance this expansion. Adlai E. Stevenson has been somewhat reluctant to support this. There is strong congressional demand that social security beneficiaries, who may now earn only $1200 a year, be permitted to collect $2000 or $3000 on each work. He is expected to favor this revision.

FEDERAL HEALTH INSURANCE PROGRAM

The will again ask congress to underwrite a federal health insurance program for the aged. The present $1 million-dollar commitment is proposed at the last session, which medical and political brands as a pitiable and especially suggests 10 million dollars in federal support.

As he did at the last session, he will urge a five-billion dollar program for the aged. His program was thwarted in a controversy over allocation of federal money to school districts which had implemented the supreme court desegregation decision.

On civil rights, he is a position a clearer than ever. He will continue to urge a program to be resolved on local and state levels, by community groups and individuals. He will continue to urge a program to be resolved on local and state levels, by community groups and individuals.

PRESIDENT ENCOURAGED BY ENDORESEMENT

The President is encouraged by the endorsement of his personal study of sample voting districts showed, of his policy of noninterference with labor and industrial relations. He believes that his "partnership concept," which connotes a neutral and standoff attitude, has been almost all the great industrial states in the North and South, as well as power-hungry areas.

He will continue to urge a program to be resolved on local and state levels, by community groups and individuals. He will continue to urge a program to be resolved on local and state levels, by community groups and individuals.

VIEW OF OTHERS

A SUBVERSIVE COMMUNIST

The nationalistic elements in the Polish rebel forces are plain enough to everybody, including the Soviets. The Soviet Union is not only a subversive communist, but it is also a subversive communist. The Soviet Union is not only a subversive communist, but it is also a subversive communist.

THINGS ARE TOUGH

Dear Folks: Did the P-N have to put that story about the man shoving right out on the front page where all the men are bound to see it? Now they might start playing hard to get. It's difficult enough now to trap one of them—without having someone pointing out that they don't have to be nasty but can just wait and pick the string they want.

If the state department cared to build up its prestige in this country, it could start importing men only. After all, wouldn't that tend to restore the balance?

 ROTTERDAM—The pilgrim party called from here, and they know for sure why they chose Rotterdam as a point of departure for the New World. They wanted to have their last dinner here. School Children Totals Increase

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—The number of school age children increased by 8,167,000 in the last six years, the census bureau said Tuesday. Officials said this emphasized the need for more school rooms and more jobs in the future to take care of a rising population.

The census bureau reported there were 38,755,000 children of elementary and high school age last July 1. This was about 23 per cent of the population. The total compared with 30,588,000 or about 20 per cent of the population in the school age bracket in 1950.

Conscientious People Will Be In-Dither Most of Next Year

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—Folks who are conscientious about observing special occasions won't have a day, week or month to call their own next year. They'll be too wrapped up in observing the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has just come forward with its annual pamphlet: "Special Days, Weeks and Months—1957."

To be sure, many of the things to be observed are on the serious side. National holidays like New Year's, Thanksgiving, Labor Day, the religious holidays of the several faiths and the like. "You can count me out on 'save the horse week' (Oct. 13-19) and 'Old Maid day' (June 4). Not that I have anything special against saving horses, or old maids, either. I know a lot of fine horses. Also, I'm on friendly terms with a number of lovely unmarried ladies who probably would qualify, age-wise, as spinsters. It's just that time and lack of energy gets in the way when those celebrations are going on. I might take a few minutes off during the week of Jan. 10-20 to do a little work to help celebrate 'National Crochet week,' since work with the needle and yarn has done me up bright in some pretty fine quilt work. And naturally, I can sacrifice part of one lunch hour to honor our sweetest girls on 'National Saveloy week' (Sept. 16-22). The sponsor of the week (nationalized me by saying in part, that the celebration is devoted to bringing to the public the advantage of saveloys and related knivens."

Most of us, I hope, will run along with 'National Bug-Clearing month'—the month of April. 'National Laughter' time the same month, and 'National Ladder month,' if the ladder of the house is strong enough to climb one. But there are still many things a busy man has to miss. To mention a few: 'National Fur Care week' (the Cream's Christmas month), 'Bead-Bedding Time,' 'National Tavern month' and 'National Do-It-Yourself week' (April 18-23). That 'do-it' thing is one I miss on purpose along with 'Don't-Take-Any-Stuff-From-This-Week' week. The do-it yourself work always slips up something in the little

Unusual Snake Farm Offers Protection for Asiatic Nation

BANGKOK, Thailand, Nov. 14 (AP)—Snakes alive! Never did an expression ring truer than in Bangkok, site of one of the world's most unusual "farms." Officially, it's the Pasteur Institute. But to thousands of visitors it is the "snake farm."

Take a week, tourists, students and longtime residents of Bangkok converge on the farm to watch a chilling routine. Into eight-foot jars, called "big," "middle" and "small," are poured snakes, lizards, lizards and milk come of the deadliest snakes known to man.

It is here when a handler gets bitten, despite his knowledge that a bonus awaits him on payday for every bite he receives. Dr. Chalerm Paranaant, director of the institute, said the high incidence of "accidental" bites dropped several years ago because of two factors: "First, the institute began making the handlers say for anti-venom serum when the bite didn't look accidental. But the biggest deterrent was the death of one handler who thought he had become immune to cobra bite. He didn't."

The famous "king" cobras, banded kraits, Russell's vipers and daboies are all deadly poisonous. Working in their fields were plucking up squamous cobras instead of weeds and death-ran high. Dr. Chalerm says 15,000 died of snake bites in 1952-53 and blamed the and old wives' tales for hindering vital elimination of snake bites and resulting deaths. Chalerm emphasizes that a snake from cobra to the krait, will attack only to overpower its prey. "And even when it is unduly frightened and warning: 'Don't go padding around in the bush unless you've got a good flashlight.' Contrary to some beliefs, he said, snakes will usually slither away when they hear a noise. Chalerm said four was another cause of death. After a victim is bitten, he is usually so alarmed that he spends unnecessary time looking at the animal instead of looking for a hospital. The doctor said that unless the victim enters the blood stream immediately—so one in a million chance—any poisonous snake bite can be treated.

The institute's big campaign is letting the Thai people know that facilities to treat bites are available approximately 500 miles from Bangkok last year but no deaths were reported.

Eisenhower Sweeps

Securing the greatest Republican presidential victory in history, President Eisenhower captured 41 states with 457 electoral votes. Stevenson won seven states, two less than he captured in 1952. Biggest surprise of the Eisenhower sweep came in the South where the chief executive scored impressive victories in Louisiana, Kentucky and West Virginia, all in the Stevenson column in 1952. Stevenson reversed the trend in only one state, Missouri, which supported Eisenhower in '52. Stevenson won 74 electoral votes. (NEA)

Commercial Shrimp Fishermen Note Rough Time, Troubles With Mexicans

BROWNVILLE, Tex., Nov. 14 (AP)—The good old days when a man could make $10,000 a year sailing out into the northern Gulf of Mexico and coming back with boatloads of fresh shrimp are long gone.

Morgan City, La., was the major base of operations then. But Louisiana shrimp got small and scarce, and fishermen migrated here, starting about 12 years ago. There are about 50 boats based at Brownville and Port Isabel, averaging 60 feet in length and carrying a crew of three to seven men.

Several years ago the shrimpers started having trouble with Mexico. The situation has become progressively worse, culminating in Monday night's chase in which a Mexican gunner shot and seriously wounded Capt. Tom Wilson, Brownville, skipper of the Pecosor, after a three-hour chase in the gulf.

"Brownville captains and boat owners are demanding more protection from the U. S. coast guard. At a mass meeting last night they protested the shooting incident and threatened to arm their boats."

At Tampico, Mexico, more than 100 miles south of here, Mexican shrimpers made the same threats and accused U. S. trawlers of "piracy"—that is, fishing in Mexican territorial waters.

Fishing is a gamble, at best, for Texas shrimpers. Besides the fact that there aren't as many shrimp as there used to be in the northern gulf, the dispute with Mexico hinges on these facts:

1. The best place for shrimp is in shallow water near the shore.

2. Mexico claims its territorial waters extend nine nautical miles, equivalent to nearly 13 land miles, from the coast.

3. American captains admit they sometimes drop their big nets near this limit, but say they have never crossed the imaginary line. They said the limit should be three miles, the generally recognized international territorial limit.

In the past four months, according to Bascom Cox, lawyer for the Texas Shrimp Fishermen's association, about 40 trawler captains have been stopped by Mexican gunboats near Tampico.

Cox said the same procedure has been followed in each incident. "The captains have been forced to sign either blank pieces of paper or statements admitting they were inside Mexican territorial waters. Often their catches have been confiscated. As shrimp have migrated south, Texas shrimpers have been forced to travel further and further from home to get them."

Capt. Albert Deitz, whose shrimp boat was in the same vicinity as Wilson's at the time of the shooting, got home last night and said: "I was sure glad to get out of that mess. They'll never get me to sign one of those blank pieces of paper. Those gunboat crews have never boarded my boat and they never will. If I can help it."

Mexico Says Rifle Fire Is Sea Accident

TAMPICO, Mexico, Nov. 14 (AP)—The wounded captain of a U. S. shrimp trawler, shot in the back when Mexicans seized his boat Monday night, files home to Texas today, Mexican authorities said the shooting was an accident.

Tom Wilson, captain of the shrimp boat Pecosor, leaves for his home at Brownville, Tex., aboard a private plane, accompanied by his wife and sister.

Wilson suffered a bullet wound in the back in the latest and most serious of a long series of incidents in the Gulf of Mexico "shrimp war." He was rushed to a hospital here yesterday, where doctors said his wound was "serious."

Action Demanded

Rep. Joe Ellwood, Tex., whose district includes Brownville, said he would demand action by the U. S. state department.

"This calls for something stronger than the ordinary exchange of notes between the two governments," he said. "Mexico must be made to understand that we will not tolerate any more such incidents."

Similar sentiments were voiced last night at a mass meeting of shrimp fishermen.

They petitioned to arm their boats if the U. S. coast guard refused to give their boats protection.

Mexican Arm

Mexican fishermen, determined to chase American "pirates" out of what they said were Mexican territorial waters, armed 40 boats with rifles and pistols to take the law into their own hands Tuesday.

A short time later, the Mexican coastguard corvette G-28 spotted the Pecosor of Solo in Marina, 100 miles north of Tampico and 150 miles south of Brownville.

The Mexican crew contended the Texas boat was inside Mexico's nine-mile territorial limit and opened fire. Wilson was killed by one of the shots.

Shot Fired

"It was an accident," Vice Adm. Guahimoo Perz Zavala of the Mexican navy, said last night. He said the coast guard was firing warning shots into the air with a Maxum rifle when a movement of the sea caused the captain to be hit. The Mexican cutter forced the Pecosor to Tampico at gunpoint and its shrimp catch was seized by Mexican authorities. The crew was not held.

Details Awaited

The U. S. state department said in Washington it was awaiting full details of the incident before taking any action.

In Brownville, an attorney for the Texas Shrimp Fishermen's association said he was officially informed that the Mexican government will pay Wilson's hospital expenses and for damage to the trawler.

He said he also understood that Mexico was drafting a formal apology.

Alcoholic Link To Crimes Now Stressed Anew

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—Alcohol is the horrible handmaiden of crime, that is the confining word of the men you find in prisons, according to a spiritual worker who has been interviewing inmates for more than 30 years.

"Thousands of men have said to me 'I'm here because of alcohol,'" George B. Andrews, an adjutant of the Volunteers of America, said in an interview. "And women will tell you it's a standard thing to find that 80 to 85 per cent of convicts are there due to alcohol."

"It's an impulsion to crime while drinking is disclosed over and over, in our work of spiritual counseling."

He said he doesn't belong here in prison. "I'm a truck driver and made a good living. One day another driver and I were on a road and got to drinking. And suddenly we were telling each other how easy it would be to go over and load up a service station across the way."

Andrews and his wife, both adjutants in the national religious social welfare organization, and both ordained ministers, spend eight months each year at night and federal prisons in "detention" helping prisoners with their personal problems.

Minor Damage Is Caused in Crash

Minor damages were reported by Twin Falls police Tuesday in an accident by Owen R. Kinney, owner of a 1934 Ford, and Betty Grant, Eden.

The accident occurred at 5:15 p.m. in the 100 block of Sixth avenue east. They estimated damage to the Dodge at $100. Damage to the Ford was estimated at $25.

Police reported the Grant car was pulling away from the curb when it collided with the car driven by Kinney.

School Board Acts on Needs For Facilities

School board members of class A school district No. 411 Tuesday night authorized Ernest A. Rasland, superintendent of schools, to make necessary repairs to fill a need for stage curtains and additional seating for the junior high school auditorium.

The authorization came after Rasland had outlined the need for the increased facilities in the auditorium, which is currently being remodeled. He told the board that work is progressing very well on the building.

Carl Boyd, board chairman, appointed three committees at the meeting. Elvia Cain and Robert W. Elphinstone were named to the security committee, Dr. D. A. Jackson and Gerald Winkler, buildings committee, and Winkler and Cain, transportation committee.

In other action, the board approved the resignation of Elvia Cain and the appointment of Gladys C. Boyd as a fifth grade instructor at Washington school and Betty Boyd as a language arts instructor at the junior high school.

Boyd announced bids for accident insurance will be opened Nov. 25. He also reminded members of the state trustees meeting in Pocatello Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Cain will participate in a panel discussion on "The teacher's role in the new curriculum" at the meeting. Other Twin Falls board members planning to attend are Winkler and Boyd.

Legal Battles Expected for Negro Ruling

Further legal wrangling appeared likely today to delay indefinitely an end to segregated seating on a Supreme court decision yesterday. The court ruled that local bus segregation laws of Montgomery, Ala., are unconstitutional. The decision apparently would not be applied to other states, but did not rule out segregated seating by the carriers themselves. In Alabama, the state attorney general, J. B. Battle, executive secretary of the White Citizens Council of Alabama, said the people of Alabama are not going to put up with integration.

Plan Announced
Immediately after the Supreme court decision was handed down, President C. G. (Jack) Owen of the Alabama public service commission announced a plan under which all carriers would continue to segregate Negroes in order to avoid public protest.

In Florida State Atty. Gen. Rich and Ervin said the decision will have no bearing on his suit to direct suit is brought against our laws and city ordinances.

Negroes of Montgomery, Ala., and Tallahassee, Fla., are boycotting city bus lines until they win the right to sit anywhere. In Miami, two Negroes arrested for sitting in white sections have sued for the right to sit where they wish.

Order Asked
In Montgomery Negroes planned to ask the U. S. district court today for an order that would restore car pools, the backbone of their 11-month-old boycott.

The Montgomery Improvement Association, organized shortly after the boycott began, and the NAACP, employed yesterday against operating the car pools.

However, a mass meeting was called tonight to end the boycott because of the Supreme court decision.

Recommendations
The Rev. Martin Luther King, president of the NAACP and leader of the boycott movement, said he will recommend the boycott be King said all persons of "good will" will accept the decision in good faith and will seek to comply with the final law of the land.

There was no immediate indication what action, if any, city officials would take in view of the order. Montgomery Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers said it would be tomorrow before the commission has a statement.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he thought that the majority of communities throughout the South will fall in line now that the Supreme court has spoken.

Woman and Child Naturalized Here

A 7-year-old boy and a 62-year-old woman became citizens of the United States at naturalization hearings held in Twin Falls district court, Tuesday.

The boy was born in Frankfurt, Germany. Mrs. Geisler was born in Parkston, S. D., but later married Andreas Geisler, an alien from Russia.

The two new citizens were presented with American flags by Hawley Addison, state commander of the American Legion, after the naturalization ceremonies.

Mallory C. Walker represented the U. S. immigration officer at the hearings. Judge Hugh A. Baker presided.

Some Occupations Are Prone To Headaches; Survey Notes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—The general population of medical students, a survey shows, have headaches.

The survey, conducted by the Southern Medical Association, revealed that nearly 5,000 persons, including nearly 1,000 medical students, are afflicted with headaches. And farmers are the most susceptible.

This was reported by a Louisiana doctor in describing one of the most extensive surveys ever made of the causes and distribution of one of the most common and most prevalent disorders of mankind's most prevalent disorders.

The study showed that "over 60 per cent of people with no education at all are least apt to be sufferers among groups having varying degrees of education."

Dr. Henry Ogden of Louisiana, state university school of medicine, gave results of the study in a scientific exhibit at the opening of the 60th anniversary meeting of the Southern Medical Association, second largest medical organization in the country.

Dr. Ogden said freshman and senior medical school students were questioned to get data on the headaches of college students, and it was found that more than 80 per cent of them were victims, topping the list, with 70 per cent having even business executives of whom 77 per cent are sufferers.

In subsequent order of the list: Professional people 70 per cent; housewives (60; clerks (60); salesmen (55); manual laborers (55); and farmers (50).

1. 78 per cent of people under 20 have headaches—and the percentage of sufferers drops increasingly by decades thereafter, with only about 28 per cent of those over 60 being troubled.

2. Sex: 71 per cent of females are sufferers, compared with about 50 per cent of males.

3. Marital status: Single folks topped the list, with 70 per cent having headaches, closely followed by married persons in 61, while the widowed category was lowest—52 per cent.

Dr. Ogden said all headaches, of which there are many types, are characterized by some kind of disturbance of the blood vessels.

Food-poisoning factors include such things as sex tension, glandular disturbances, heredity, high blood pressure, allergies, stress, and injuries of the upper spine.

And "trigger factors" include such things as fatigue, hunger, sex tension, allergic reactions, acute nasal trouble, and excessive smoking.

"Faith in God" Remains After Death of Child

GLENNALLEN, Alaska, Nov. 14 (AP)—A missionary who watched her 9-month-old son die of cold when their party was stranded on an Alaskan beach in sub-zero weather said today she still has "faith in God."

"Even though my baby is dead, and maybe my husband, too, still have faith in God; he has been good to us," said Mrs. Albert Kelly, 28, Oceanada, L. I.

Mrs. Kelly said her husband and two children, and Jim Paulson, 19, Elismar, Alaska, left Elismar Nov. 7 in a 30-foot boat for a trip to Vinland.

Mrs. Kelly said the sea got rougher and something happened to the boat's motor when the vessel reached Galena bay.

"Swells as high as a house began pounding our boat," she said, "we began to take on water. Finally, my husband decided to take the 3-foot skiff and row back to Elismar for help."

"The law of the sea is very roughing around a point of land. I suddenly ran into the beach cabin where I was with the children and yelled 'get ready to jump!'"

"I was the only one who jumped around Tommy and snatched my husband's sleeping bag. A big wave swamped the boat as we scrambled to the beach. We were stranded without shelter, food or matches. It was snowing and the wind was howling terrible. We spent the night in two sleeping-bags—was seaward."

"Morning went on to the wrecked boat and all we could find was a tin of bear meat I'd canned the summer before."

"On Friday night my little boy died. Next morning we found some mislaid walrus blubber. He ate it and gave it to Debbie. Sunday we found some cereal and apple sauce. Most of the time we huddled in our sleeping bags waiting and praying."

"On Monday, five days after they were marooned, the fishing boat 'Fluster' spotted the castoffs and rescued them. Mrs. Kelly was taken to hospital here with frostbite feet. Her daughter, Debbie, 3, was reported in 'fine' condition. Kelly and Paulson was not hospitalized."

A land, sea and air search so far has failed to turn up any clue to the fate of the woman's husband. The Rev. Albert Kelly, of Haddonfield, N. J.

A dog team was sent to scour the coastline as far as Valdez in hope the minister may be awaiting rescue somewhere along the shore. "It's a miracle anyone survived," said a doctor at the hospital.

Thanks Sent

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower has sent a brief message of thanks to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin in response to Bulganin's congratulations on his reelection, Moscow radio said today.

"I am very grateful for the message of congratulation and the personal good wishes which you sent to me on the occasion of my reelection," the President's note said, "I assure you that I will continue to work for the benefit of peace throughout the world and for better understanding based on justice for everybody."

The VV employe salary gives a good insight into the life of the average German worker today. Cause VV salaries and working conditions are just about the best that exist in the country and the goal of the average German worker.

The average salary is roughly equivalent to $20 per week in America, considering relative costs of living. Then come the fringe benefits, health insurance, a city of modern homes, apartments, bachelor quarters, hospitals, theaters and public buildings—all financed by the War. Interrupted the plant's first feeble production—then diverted to tanks. After the war the British rebuilt the semi-ruined plant, used for a repair depot and finally hired Nordhoff—a refugee there—to try to set it in full scale passenger car production.

He now up to the German government to decide what to do with the plant. Its huge profits, meanwhile, are being dumped into a trust fund.

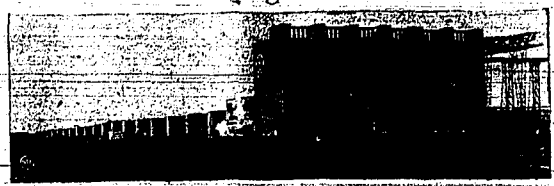

At the same time, the energetic Nordhoff is continuing to expand VV's output and plants. Newest facility is a huge plant nearby in Hannover. It is turning out trucks and the increasingly popular Transports. And a sport car VV is beginning to show increasing sales. As of today VV's future seems unlimited.

Plant Challenges U.S. Autos

The Volkswagen plant at Wolfsburg, Germany, was built by the Nazis, ruined by the allies, rebuilt by the British and now run by Germany. Today, the huge profits are dumped into a trust fund. (NEA)

'Volkswagen' Offers Treat To-U.S. Mart

WOLFSBURG, Germany (NEA)—

Wolvesburg, Germany, is offering a special Volkswagen plant here.

The year the identical car design was introduced in the American market with 25,000 sales for the Germany.

Next year VV will allow U.S. sales to almost triple. That's moving into the sales brackets of "Student" and "American" models. It's the first time that the U.S. auto industry faces a major threat of mass sales competition from a foreign producer.

And VV's American dealer network is still a long way from being able to handle the bigger if deliveries were made. The German VW backlog is nine months long. Hitler's command in 1934 penetrated the American market with 25,000 sales for the Germany.

Bull Sale Slated

BOISE, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Idaho Cattlemen's association, said yesterday it will sponsor the eighth annual purebred range bull sale at the Weiser Livestock auction yard on Dec. 1.

McLeod, Jr., sales manager, said 50 head of Hereford, Shorthorn and Angus bulls will be offered for sale. They will be graded the day before the sale.

STORE MANAGER SHOT DENVER, Nov. 14 (AP)—Edward K. Moore, a north Denver drug store manager, was shot three times in the chest and killed last night in an attempted holdup by three bandits.

The Mexico civilization was founded in the Maya and Central America in the year 500 B. C.

People, Monkeys Will Get Benefits

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 14 (AP)—A fence will be built to shade the glass-enclosed monkey house at Lincoln park zoo here so that patrons and the monkeys won't be bothered.

500 officials said when the sun hits the house from certain angles, the discomfort can see only their own reflections in the glass. And the monkeys presumably have a hard time seeing the people.

PROTEST STAGED SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 14 (AP)—Some 1,500 Notre Dame students staged a "peaceful protest" against the Russian oppression of Hungary last night.

Visit in Declo

DECLO, Nov. 14—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Whipple and daughter, Odeen, have been visiting here.

Suits Passed

CHEYENNE, Nov. 14 (AP)—Suits against United Auto Workers nearly 1½ million dollars in damages were passed yesterday in calling of the docket in U. S. district court.

The suits arose from the Oct. 1955 crash of a United DC-3 from Medicine Bow peak in southeastern Wyoming which killed 28 persons aboard.

plant. All homes and buildings are centrally heated and electrically comes from the same source. As a result rents are low, about $20 per month for a two-bedroom apartment, for example.

Opportunities Offered If a worker wants to buy a home he can get an interest-free loan for 20 years. Death and disability insurance policies are given each worker worth close to $1,000. That's a lot of money to Germans.

There's a three-week vacation with pay, special bonuses for marrying and having children and automatic increases in salary. On top of that this year Nordhoff gave a bonus of four per cent of a man's average wage to each employe. He says this will continue.

The most difficult facet of the VW story to grasp is the ownership. Hitler and the Nazi labor front financed and built the plant and Dr. Ferdinand Porsche, a pioneer auto expert, designed the car.

War Losses In 1945 interrupted the plant's first feeble production—then diverted to tanks. After the war the British rebuilt the semi-ruined plant, used for a repair depot and finally hired Nordhoff—a refugee there—to try to set it in full scale passenger car production.

Candidate Notes Tough Campaign

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 14 (AP)—State Treasurer Joseph G. Grant, a Democrat reelected to a second term, lists his campaign expenses at $175,447.

But, said Grant in a rather plain-spoken postscript to the secretary of state, he found the following to be some of the hazards of the campaign trail.

"Two thousand headaches — six weeks loss of sleep—loss of voice—one cold—six dust storms—kissing 1,000 babies and no adults—six hours tongue stuck due to sticking stamps on envelopes."

"And all forgotten, since the people gave me a second term."

JACKSON APPROVES WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—Senator Jackson, Wash., said today he "strongly favors" the selection of Gen. Mike Mansfield of Montana as Democratic whip.

And a sport car VV is beginning to show increasing sales. As of today VV's future seems unlimited.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

The fact that a child is a certain age does not always mean he is ready for instruction that another child his age can accept and use.

But children are not like that. They do not come graded neatly. Far from it, their ability ranges from genius to feeble-mindedness and all grades between.

Some children are slow at play and slow at school, but Dr. Patri explains in his new book why this is so.

U. S. Business Has Stress on Farmer Sales

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—In their pessimism for the consumer for the next four years of industries are taking a closer look today at the farmer. It is the long decline in farm income totals has stopped and that a reversal in the trend is due business men who even during the slump that followed the end of Korean hostilities found the farm market good for such things as freezers, stoves, TV sets and wall-to-wall carpeting.

Estimate Given

The department of agriculture estimates that farmers will spend five billion dollars more in the next four years for home appliances. And the Carpey Institute reports that the number of farm families remodeling or redecorating their homes is well above the national average.

The farmer's spending habits appear to be in their third major phase since World War II.

Income Rise

Farm income rose sharply during the war. And the first phase was the use of the increased income to pay off debts. It is estimated that seven out of every 10 farms are now clear of mortgages.

Farm income continued high after the war and the farmer put a lot of it into buying new farm equipment. Last year the investment in machinery and motor vehicles used on farms was estimated at over $1.6 billion dollars—about six times as great as in 1940.

Real Estate

This phase came to a fairly sudden halt when the prices of farm products turned down—makers of farm equipment can testify. The farmer decided to get along with the machinery he already had.

The third phase, which merchants say has been particularly notable in the fifties, has been the purchasing of household equipment. Arrival of electric power to many rural areas helped, and farmers turned to raising living standards. The department of agriculture reports to standardize farm houses are now more than 50 per cent higher than before the war.

Stand Sought For Wool Act

POCAATELLO, Nov. 14 (AP)—The president of the Idaho Wool Growers' association has urged the organization to take a stand for adequate protection against low priced imports of wool and wool products.

Andrew Little, Howe, told wool growers attending their convention here that the industry needed protection in the form of increased tariffs and anti-dumping duties on wool and products made with wool. He also recommended that wool growers ask for a quota on imports of lamb and mutton.

Little also assailed the rising cost of transportation. He said convention delegates that rates had increased 50 per cent in the past 10 years and that lamb prices had gone up only 30 per cent since 1950.

The president of the Idaho Wool Growers also defended the fish and wildlife service's program of using 1050 poison in control of predatory animals. He also pointed out that the commodity credit corporation would be largely out of the wool business by the time 1957 wool begins to move to market in volume.

Pictures above is an aerial view of the Snake River Trout farm, located in the canyon immediately north of Buhl. It is the largest commercial trout farm in the world, producing 700,000 pounds of fish a year. The hatchery uses 40,000 gallons of water per minute. (Staff engraving)

Rainbow Trout Pot of Gold Helping to Provide Stabilized Economy in Valley

Part of the pot of gold associated with the rainbow trout is being divided up in Magic Valley to stabilize the local economy.

The "treasure" is from rainbow trout which are raised in eight individual commercial trout farms along Snake river and Hook creek.

These eight plants, in addition to employing 50 persons full time, bring $1,074,250 in new capital to this area. Included in the list is the Snake River Trout farm, located near Buhl, which is the largest commercial hatchery in the world. Other area rainbow trout farms, Buhl; Riverview Trout company, Buhl; Eagle Springs Fish Hatchery, Hagerman, and Blue Lakes Trout farm, Owyhee Trout farm, Frame Trout farm and Creekside Trout farm, all Twin Falls.

From these eight to 1,250,000 pounds of fish to markets throughout the United States. A large percentage is purchased by hotels and restaurants, but approximately 200,000 pounds are sold to other states for planting in streams. The Idaho fish and game department buys little of this amount as it has facilities for producing its own Utah, California, Nevada and New Mexico buy almost the entire amount.

Owners and managers of the farms report the heavy season is over in the summer, because tourists apparently have a greater taste for fish while on the road. During the summer months employment at the Magic Valley farms rises to nearly 70. Payrolls of the eight plants approximate $183,000 annually.

History of trout raising in Magic Valley dates back to 1923 when the Snake River trout company began operation, Robert Erkins, president

Farm Bureau to Seek Role in Rail Bid to Hike Rate

POCAATELLO, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Idaho Farm Bureau has said it wanted to be heard regarding the petition which railroads have filed with the interstate commerce commission for a 15 per cent freight rate increase plus a seven per cent emergency increase.

John W. Webb, Pocatello, secretary-treasurer of the bureau, said the organization wanted hearing procedures revised to allow adequate consideration of the effects of the proposed increases on the Idaho farmer.

The Idaho Farm Bureau request was contained in telegrams which Webb sent to Idaho's congressional delegation, the state public utilities commission and the ICC.

Myrl Hoffman, employe of the Snake River Trout company, Buhl, holds trout for an eastern market. This trout farm and seven others in Magic Valley produce 1,250,000 pounds of trout each year. The eight farms hire 50 persons full time and have a combined payroll of $195,000 in addition to bringing in approximately $1,074,250 each year in outside capital. (Staff engraving)

Booster Shot Value Is Shown In Studies of Salk's Vaccine

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 14 (AP)—Some batches of Salk vaccine may be stronger or weaker than others in creating protection against polio, scientists said yesterday.

They said this makes it all the more important that children take their third or booster shots. The third shot of what might be a weaker vaccine apparently creates good protection in most children.

A small-scale study indicating possible variations in potency of vaccine from four different manufacturers was reported to the American Public Health association by Howard J. Shughnessy, P.D.; Richard A. Mortzway, Ruth E. Church, M.D., and John L. Neal of the Illinois state department of public health, Chicago.

The potency of single shots of vaccine from each manufacturer was studied on small groups of children in four different areas of Illinois.

Blood tests were made before and after a series of two shots to measure how well the shots created protective antibodies against polio virus.

Except for children getting one particular lot of vaccine, the antibodies were below the level generally expected, the health team said in a formal report at the opening of the APHA's 84th annual meeting.

Some children might have produced more antibodies because they had already been exposed naturally to the virus—and thus had some antibodies to begin with.

But this probably didn't account for all the observed differences in

Critic

BLUFF, Ill., Nov. 14 (AP)—The publisher of the weekly Bluff Times said in a front page editorial he "wasn't too depressed" by the outcome of the national election.

Publisher F. H. Venier then asked his readers to turn to pages 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 for his prediction on what Adlai Stevenson would do for the farmer.

The four pages were blank.

Dr. Shughnessy said larger studies should be made to learn whether there actually are significant differences in vaccines from different makers, or whether lots from the same maker can vary in potency.

Committee Work Closes Program

BOISE, Nov. 14 (AP)—An 11-day program of legislative training study committee work given delegates to the 20th annual all-Idaho congress at the state chamber of commerce sponsored at fair drew to a close.

Chairmen of members of all three sub-committees—set up by the training study committee—today to legislate on education, taxes, minimum education and teacher training appeared before the congress during a half-day session this morning to outline the activities of their groups.

The discussions highlighted a legislative forum that ended the congress at noon.

We progress with Magic Valley

The Green Giant Packing Company in Buhl, Idaho, was founded in 1949 and during its first season packed 275,000 cases of Magic Valley products. This netted a return of $185,000 to Magic Valley growers. We have steadily grown and expanded to where the 1956 payroll exceeded $320,000 with an eight-year average of $260,000.

Our new, modern warehouse was built in the winter of 1955-56 with a storage capacity of 750,000 cases. Work is now underway for the construction of a new production building which will be one of the most modern canning factories in the United States.

Bumper Crop On Dividends Now Awaited

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—Stock writers trying to puzzle out what's happening in the post-election market at least can take cheer today from the prospects for a bumper crop of dividends.

A record flow of cash to the share owners so far this year is reported by New York Stock Exchange analysts.

Analysts of the corporate scene are feeling that the total will be added further by year-end extras, no matter how hesitant the market, so they are nervously eyeing the market's trouble spots.

They also see the small investor who is selling to his holdings, with the old purchases topping his new ones.

Some Wall Street observers say that 1945 and 1946 together will see odd-lot purchases exceeding sales by more than 20 million shares.

Another odd-lot purchase is for any number of shares from one to 25, a round lot established until it reaches 100 shares.

"Dry" Method Being Used to Combat Colds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—A "dehydration" method of treating the common cold—described as "the most recent of the standard procedure for forcing fluids" has been reported by Guy T. Wise, Meridian, said "good or excellent results" have been achieved in more than 80 per cent of cases treated over a five-year period.

The technique includes, among other things, wrapping the patient in a sheet and placing him in a hot room where the face and head are covered.

The hot sweat pack is applied for two hours daily in conjunction with hot water bottles or an electric heating pad.

All water is denied, and foods and fluids are limited to one cup of soup, fruit juice, vegetable juice, tea, coffee or fruit every three hours while the patient is awake.

Drugs Used

Dr. Wise told the 50th anniversary meeting of the Southern Medical Association that a laxative, and sometimes other drugs, are also given to further aid in removing water from the patient's body.

Aspirin, salicylic acid, and salicylates are employed in conjunction with the "dehydration" method.

Ever-Growing Valley Packing Industry Using Products of Livestock Growers

Hand in hand with the multi-million dollar livestock industry in Magic Valley, goes an ever-growing meat packing business.

In this area, there are four commercial packers, plus several smaller businesses devoted entirely to custom killing.

These four firms slaughter a total of 12,000 beefees each year, 21,130 swine and 540 sheep. Because all custom killing is done for individuals there are no records of how many animals are killed for this purpose.

All the animals are purchased locally in direct support of Magic Valley stockmen.

These four plants employ a total of 95 workers with a combined payroll of $337,000 annually. Their total volume for a year approximates $3,300,000.

In addition to payroll, expenditures by these firms in supplying their products to the markets are heavy. A force of 21 trucks and sales cars are kept in daily operation.

Woolmen Ask for Quota on Imports

POCATELLO, Nov. 14 (AP)—Idaho Wool Growers association called for import quotas on lamb, mutton and wool and voted opposition to a rate being sought by major railroads in resolutions passed at the close of its annual convention here Tuesday.

One resolution called present wool tariffs "inadequate" and urged "effective" quotas on wool imports. Another urged retention of present tariffs on lamb and mutton and advised quotas on any more such imports.

Two Starch Plants Have Good Payroll, Provide Mart for Low Grade Potatoes

In addition to pouring out about one-third of a million dollars annually to employees, Magic Valley's two starch plants provide local farmers with a market for low grade potatoes which were previously thrown away or sold at a considerable loss.

Magic Valley Processing Company, Twin Falls, and Idaho Products, Inc., Jerome, use approximately 160 million pounds of potatoes annually in their operations.

C. J. Marshall, who owns the Jerome company jointly with Jack Simplot, reports "Starch content in potatoes runs about 14 per cent, but it is impossible to use every bit of starch in potatoes. In 1955, we managed to extract one sack of starch from every 10 sacks of potatoes because of poor crop, but this year it has averaged one out of eight."

The two plants produced over 14 million pounds of starch last year, marketing it throughout the United States. Although potato starch can be used in laundering, the majority of it is used in the paper and textile industries.

Two recently developed by-products are promise of even further development of the two plants although the Twin Falls firm is already the largest on the North American continent.

Pre-sclatinized starch for use in instant pudding and pie fillings is becoming an increasing market business for Idaho Products, Inc. and may eventually surpass its output to paper industries.

Another idea which Marshall and his partners, Forest Blake, are contemplating is putting the more than 65 per cent waste in the form of pulp to use as an animal feed supplement.

"Potatoes contain every element which humans or animals are known to need," Blake said. "Preliminary chemical analyses show that right now we are throwing away a valuable product in our pulp."

He reported that a Baker'sfield, Calif., company has shown interest in establishing a feed plant in the area, one vicinity to process the pulp, along with other ingredients, into animal feed.

"Within our plant and Magic Valley Processing company, along with six other plants in the state, to provide potato pulp. I don't think there would be any serious threat of a material shortage for the firm," Blake said.

Elmer Schroeder has grown and processed the Black Variety popcorn since 1920, at which time he planted the kernels of two ears of popcorn. The entire crop, except that which was kept for seed, was sold to A. J. Amos, who was operating a store in Buhl. Each year he produced a little more, and by 1941 he was selling carloads of Black Variety popcorn to Safeway Stores, Inc., who shipped most of it to Oklahoma and Texas. In 1955 the trademark "Schroeder's Blue Diamond Popcorn" was registered with the U.S. Patent Office. At this time a large amount of his popcorn was being cleaned in 5 ounce tins and shipped to all parts of the United States. Since the war, most of Schroeder's popcorn is packed in 1 and 2 pound cellophane packages and sold in Idaho and neighboring states. At present they have three varieties: black, golden and white. Schroeder's popcorn is still grown in Idaho, and the Black Variety is still grown right here in Magic Valley as it always has been.

POTATO STARCH

Another Step in Magic Valley's Progress!

Magic Valley Processing Company was organized in 1941 for the purpose of producing starch from cull potatoes and to elevate local economy by providing jobs and income from cull potatoes which had no value but were an expense to dispose of by the farmers.

Magic Valley Processing Company's plant is the largest potato starch plant in America. It has a peak capacity of 22 cars of cull potatoes daily; provides employment, at peak, for approximately 35 employees and 15 to 20 truckers and trucks.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars are paid out annually in Magic Valley to farmers, truckers, labor and other supplies, as a result of utilizing a waste product.

The potato starch produced by this company is of such high quality that we are supplying demands from Honolulu to Boston, from Seattle to Jacksonville; customers in 36 states look to Magic Valley for their starch needs.

Sego Milk Plant Payroll, Purchase of Milk Bolstering Magic Valley Economy

Paying $445,000 in wages and an additional three million—approximately—1,400 Magic Valley farmers for whole milk, Sego Milk company's Buhl condenser ranked among the area's top industries in 1956, its 32nd year of operation.

In addition to wages and payments to farmers, the company paid another half million dollars in expenditures to economy carriers in the area last year. While paying those sums, plus federal, state and local taxes, the company takes in only about $100,000 from the valley, marketing the rest of its finished product throughout the nation and the world.

In 1924, Sego Milk company, the International subsidiary of Tetra Milk company, purchased two small cheese plants in Buhl. Three years later, however, the company's present condenser was built to meet the increasing demand for evaporated milk.

Since its construction, the condenser has added two warehouses. The second one, built in 1952, is a 125 by 125-foot refrigerated warehouse, one of the few of its kind in the nation.

Employing about 100 workers, the company has two other properties in the valley in addition to its condenser. The Pet Ice Cream company, Twin Falls, known also as Columbia Ice Cream company, markets ice cream produced from locally purchased milk and cream. In 1947, Sego constructed a milk receiving station at Burley to serve the Magic Valley area.

"The company's Buhl plant is one of five condensers in Tetra's western division. Its yearly production is approximately a million cases of evaporated milk, worth an estimated five and one-quarter million dollars.

Processing of milk at Sego's plant is a non-stop operation from the time the milk enters the plant until it rolls in finished packages on a conveyor into railroad cars. Manager at the Buhl plant is V. T. Patch, who has been there 16 years and with the company 21 years. His assistants are Lowell J. Roedel and Donald Palmquist.

Ranges' Feed Is Poor, Says USDA Report

DRYDEN, Nov. 14.—The poor supply of pasture and range feed in 17 western states since 1954 is reported by the U. S. department of agriculture in a report issued today.

The general condition of range feed on Nov. 1 was 65 per cent of normal, as against 76 per cent at the same date last year.

Report Quoted
Grazing conditions in much of the central and southern plains areas and the Southwest "are very poor," the report said.

Range feed supplies are fair to good on the northern plains and good in the northwest and in Nevada and California.

Fair to good in western Montana, much of North Dakota and parts of South Dakota and Wyoming.

Areas Short
Short in eastern Montana, south-western North Dakota, some parts of South Dakota and central and south-central Wyoming.

The report said the lack of range feed is reflected in the shrinkage of livestock on western lands—76 per cent of normal for cattle (82 per cent a year ago) and 78 per cent for sheep, compared to 82 per cent in 1955.

T. Patch, who has been there 16 years and with the company 21 years. His assistants are Lowell J. Roedel and Donald Palmquist.

Howard Clark manages the Buhl receiving station, and William Strain is in charge of the Twin Falls ice cream outlet.

While stabilizing the market for fresh milk in Magic Valley, Sego has developed a "Magic" market primarily in the western half of the United States, Alaska and Hawaii.

In addition, worldwide distribution has been brought about through sales to the armed forces and government relief agencies.

Decrease Noted On Construction

BOISE, Nov. 14.—The value of new construction in Idaho last month was 12 per cent less than the amount of new building in the state during October, 1955, according to the latest price security news newsletter.

The report listed construction for this October as worth $1,760,013. The decrease from last year was caused by a drop in the amount of commercial and industrial building from last year, the newsletter said.

Residential construction was up slightly from a year ago.

Volume of Corn Plant at Buhl Doubles During Last Seven Years of Operation

BUHL, Nov. 14.—In seven short seasons—slight actual growing seasons—the Green Giant company, Buhl, has more than doubled its volume and this year paid $390,000 to Magic Valley corn growers for their crop.

In June, 1949, the Green Giant company bought out Fletch Foods, Inc., purchasing not only the plant facilities, but also the former owners' growing crop.

During that first year Green Giant bought corn produced by 230 different Magic Valley growers on 2,500 acres of land. This year 460,000 cases of corn, worth $390,000, as the company processed their crop into 376,000 cases of corn.

During the recently-completed 1956 processing season, the company produced more than 400,000 cases of corn, grown on 2,850 acres of Magic Valley farm land. It paid $390,000 to 195 growers for their crop.

During seven years that the Green Giant company has been in Buhl, the annual payroll has averaged slightly more than $200,000. The 1956 figure, however, is nearly certain to exceed the $200,000 mark.

Combined wages and payments to farmers for this year alone amount to $410,000. The total worth to the valley is increased still further when local and county taxes are figured as well as the value of locally-purchased supplies for the plant.

Since 1949, Magic Valley farmers have increased their yield of Green Giant corn to the point that last winter the firm contracted with Reynolds and Walker Construction

Idahoan Will Be Briefed on Arms

BOISE, Nov. 14.—Chief Warrant Officer Dale Hendry, an Idaho national guardman and member of the U. S. air national guard council, left here yesterday for Palmdale, Calif., and a three-day council look at the latest aerial supersonic weapons.

Hendry, adjutant of the 180th air national guard fighter squadron here, said the council has been making a three-phase study of possible future assignments for the air national guard.

He said the council, at Palmdale, would receive a briefing on the air force "century series" group of supersonic and secret fighters. The century series is part of the second phase of the study.

Hendry added that the initial phase was spent in a study of aircraft current use by air national guard units and the third phase would cover guided missiles.

company, Twin Falls, to erect a 700,000-case warehouse. As soon as the canning machinery stopped at the completion of the 1956 growers, but the processed corn is sent to wholesalers and eventually to retailers throughout the United States and Canada.

Nationally, the company has more than 40,000 acres under cultivation throughout the country. Because of its farm experience the company, through Buhl and its 23 other canneries, carries on a research program designed to help growers sell their "meat" from their land and for their labor.

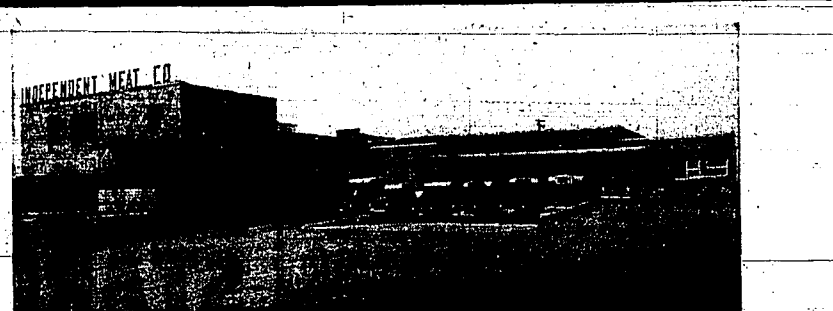

In addition to its research and advice for local growers, the Buhl firm furnishes disease resistant seed and herds machinery. It also offers a contract which enables local growers to know in advance what price they will receive for their crops.

The Buhl plant and three canneries in Washington state, are the only Green Giant plants west of the Rocky mountains.

Demos Ready. 'New Deal' in Leftist Trend

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—The "new deal" in the Democratic party is more of a leftist trend than a move to the right, according to a poll conducted by the National Public Opinion Research Center.

President Roosevelt also will be a factor in the poll. He calls it modern liberalism. Mr. Roosevelt's party is more modern than the party which he leads.

Modern Republicanism is a blend of the old-time GOP religion with the Roosevelt new deal. It borrows from the Roosevelt deal. The Republican party is not the party of the Roosevelt deal.

The big movement within the Democratic party now will be to the left, which is the direction of the Roosevelt deal.

Democratic voters outside the South, it is suggested that Roosevelt might have done better on election day if he had been further to the left in his campaign.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D. Minn., was first up with proposals for a Democratic party policy.

Mr. Humphrey's plan would offend the right, but he argues that it is the only way to hold the big city vote in the north.

The program must force a civil rights program through the new congress. If the party is to survive nationally, Mr. Humphrey said.

Big-scale appropriations to assist in school construction; revision of tax laws to aid the little fellow by raising personal exemptions by $100 and to penalize the big fellow by repealing special provisions for stock dividends; increase social security benefits.

There, in general terms for short, is what the future will bring, is an outline of the new Democratic new deal. As the Democrats in alliance with left-wing elements have moved to the left in the past 20 years, the Republicans slowly have followed them seeking to offer voters the better bargain, sometimes at the treasury's expense.

Sugar Company Has Become One of Big Agricultural Industries in Magic Valley

Processing a maximum of about 2,400 tons of sugar beets daily at its One of the largest crops in the Magic Valley, beets are grown on approximately 2,000 farms in this area. A strip contract between the farmer and the company assures the grower of a specified price before his crop is harvested.

In addition to making sugar, the company also utilizes both wet and dried beet pulp for livestock feeding. This double use has led to beets being called the "two for one" crop.

Amalgamated employs 200 persons regularly in its Twin Falls and Rupert plants and in its beet dumps located throughout the valley. During the sugar-making and harvesting seasons, the payroll increases greatly.

In addition to its large payroll, the company is one of the valley's leaders in the federal, state and local taxes.

In the last seven years alone, the efficiency of sugar beet farmers has increased more than 20 per cent. Studies by agronomists show that with modern machinery, slightly over one hour's work will produce enough beets for a 100-pound bag of refined sugar. This is less than half the time required when hand labor was used.

Better Roads Held Key for Timber Yield

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14 (AP)—Better and more highways are the key to a greater timber yield in the western United States during the next 10 to 20 years, the Pacific Logging Congress was told here.

Henry A. Vaux, director of the University of California school of forestry, said California, Oregon, Idaho and Washington have a timber of about $50 billion board feet of old growth timber.

Vaux emphasized that both public and private interests will profit when this timber becomes accessible in an orderly and well planned fashion.

The rising cost of hauling timber on public roads, he said, poses a problem that is fundamental to the economy of the West. The cost of hauling logs has risen 65 per cent in the past 20 years, he added.

Gordon A. MacGregor, president of MacGregor Triangle company, Boise, Ida., said the logging industry is now in a position to build the extra cost of building key arterial roads linking forests with major manufacturing areas.

Idaho Man Given Post in Colorado Infant Frozen Food Industry Here Is Already Making Plans for Expansion

Magic Valley's newest agricultural processing industry—frozen foods—has barely started growing, but already two plants are making plans for expansion.

The two, Idaho Frozen Foods, Kimberly, and Cannon Foods company, Twin Falls, have a combined operational history of only 10 months, but already show a total payroll of nearly $1,000 per week during their peak seasons.

Idaho Frozen Foods, established in February, freezes and markets "Rin-lets" frozen hash brown potatoes. Cannon Foods company, still in its first month of operation, produces frozen noodles.

Applying Magic Valley farmers for all of the 30,000 pounds of potatoes which it uses daily, Idaho Frozen Foods has four full-time employees and an additional 20 employees during the peak season.

Elbert Snodgrass, manager of the firm, estimates nearly a one-third loss because of drying and peeling potatoes. The company, despite this loss, produces 20,000 pounds of frozen hash browns per day, frozen and wrapped in 12-ounce boxes.

At present, the company markets its products in California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho, but plans are under way now for expansion of the manufacturing area.

"We hope to be able to make this a more stabilized, year-round operation soon," Snodgrass said. "The major factors which determine the length of our peak production season are the quality of the year potato crop and available storage facilities."

Once they enter the Idaho Frozen Foods plant, the potatoes are peeled automatically and then cooked for about 15 minutes. They are allowed to dry between 24 and 48 hours before they are shredded and boxed. Freezing is the final step in the operation.

Cannon Foods company differs from Idaho Frozen Foods in that it has no peak production season. Butter, salt, flour and eggs, the chief ingredients in the firm's frozen noodles, are bought throughout the year from Magic Valley farmers and wholesalers.

"Working with Mr. and Mrs. G. Z. Cannon, co-owners, are six full-time employees, who freeze and package 1,000 12-ounce boxes of noodles per day."

"As soon as we can add a drier and other equipment," said Cannon, "we will be able to double our production without increasing the number of workers."

"Eggs, he continued, are the biggest single item which the firm purchases for its production. "Right now we use 100 dozen a day; and we will double that amount, when we double our production," he said. Still in its infancy, the firm is marketing its products only locally, but Cannon reports his noodles "are being very well accepted here."

The firm has tentative plans to market the product throughout Utah and Idaho through a Salt Lake City firm, while a Los Angeles company has shown interest in providing outlets throughout the western states.

Explosion Fatal To Farm Worker

NEUBURN, Nov. 14 (AP)—The flame of a welding torch touched off an explosion on a farm six miles north of here Tuesday that fatally injured one man and burned his companion.

Robert Skelton, 25, died en route to a Craigmont hospital after the explosion on his parents' farm. Stanley Miller, who was working with Skelton in the small shop building, said the torch set off an explosion in a closed can of gasoline. A flash of flame enveloped Skelton and Miller. The can struck Miller's head and body. Miller was burned on the hands.

Skelton's parents took their injured son to the nearest farm, 2 1/2 miles away, and then drove the youth toward Craigmont when he died.

Protests Lodged On Rate Hearing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—Public service commissions of 11 states have protested the interstate commerce commission's procedure on the railroad industry's request for a 15 percent freight rate increase.

The commissions said the procedure does not give sufficient opportunity to their opponents to present their case. The protest, made public Tuesday by the IBC, was filed in the Midwest and the Southeastern Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners. The protest was filed for 10 state commissions and was joined by the Texas railroad commission and Oklahoma's cooperative commission.

Dust, Fumes Are Listed for Mine

BOISE, Nov. 14 (AP)—State Mine Inspector George McDowell says a rather serious dust and fume condition has arisen at the last open pit plant of the Bunker Hill Mining company near Kellogg. The inspector says the dust and fumes are being carried by the wind to the town of Kellogg.

McDowell, who spent last week inspecting the mine in the Coeur d'Alene district, said the safety records of the company since the mine plant is quite encouraging.

Dairies Process Cheese and Milk

Because of modern equipment such as the boiler and copper shown above, the Magic Valley dairy industry is able to process its products more efficiently. About half the man hours spent in milk processing plants are used in cleaning and scrubbing any piece of equipment coming into contact with milk. Dairy Plants Grow in Size as Modern Transportation, Preservation Added

As modern transportation and preservation methods have come into being, the small independent dairies, along with other types of business, are gradually disappearing from the Magic Valley picture. At this time, there are three firms producing fresh milk, although several smaller shops are still buying raw milk to change into ice cream and other byproducts. Processors explain refrigerated trucks and good roads have been the largest reason for this change. Where once each community had its own small dairy to supply fresh milk daily, it is now more economical to have trucks pick up milk at the farm, bring it to a central location and diffuse it from there through stores to the households. Because dairy products rank among the top in the most perishable produce department, 163 Magic Valley residents work each day regardless of Sundays and holidays, to get the dairy products to the home. These people are connected with the plants themselves. Trucks bringing milk from the farms are owned individually by the drivers. For their work, these 163 persons receive a total of $768,000 in salaries each year.

Eight separate plants in the area produce 6,218,200 pounds of butter, 8,046,750 pounds of cheese, about eight million pounds of dried milk, and large quantities of cream milk. In addition, several million pounds of milk go out through automatic vending machines and retail outlets. All these products are obtained from dairy herds owned by 3,578 farmers in Magic Valley. Because the milk is purchased locally, approximately $7,820,000 is added to the farmer's income and from them directly to every person here. Work in milk plants is divided into two different phases. About half the eight-hour shift is required to process the day's milk, set up the cheese and make cottage cheese and ice cream. The remainder of the time is spent in cleaning up everything touching the milk, including all the contents from the docks to the bottling is taken down and scrubbed. Everything in the plants is made of stainless steel.

Top dairies in Magic Valley are Smith's dairy, Jerome Cooperative Creamery and Young's dairy. In addition, the Swift plant in Twin Falls turns out large amounts of ice cream and butter.

Borneo's Wild Men Go 'Soft', Won't Paddle

CHICAGO, Nov. 14 (AP)—The wild men of Borneo have gone soft. They're putting outboard motors on their dugout canoes. So reports Dr. Robert F. Inger, curator of amphibians and reptiles at the Chicago Natural History museum. Inger returned recently from a five-month expedition to the rain forest of Borneo.

And he was taken aback by the inroads civilization had made in one of the world's most primitive regions. The natives still carve their canoes from tree trunks in the laborious custom of their ancestors. But they have cast aside their paddles. When the tribesmen, known as Iban or Sea-Decks, earn the money to buy outboard motors and other such modern articles by working in British-owned oil fields and timber camps.

"They're the most frugal people in the world," Inger said. "They eat well—rice, an oil field wage for six months, maybe nine. He'll earn $350 a month." Bank Reimander "On payday he'll draw only about $10 to buy rice and let the company save the rest for him until he's ready to quit and go home to his family."

Inger said he was amazed at the changes in Borneo since his last visit in 1948. "In the British lumber camps of North Borneo they're using bulldozers and tractors to strip the timber," he said.

Tree Dismapper Still more trees are chopped down by nomadic native tribes who strip off an area, plant it in rice for a couple of years, then move on when the soil grows thin. "As a result," Inger said, "the rain forest is disappearing. These tall forests, with their dense undergrowth, are vital to the study of evolution because the lush environment teems with unusual animal life."

"But if we're going to further our studies we'll have to hurry before the forests are gone," Inger said. Inger collected about 1,000 frogs, 5,000 fish and several hundred snakes, lizards, mammals and other specimens.

Accompanied by natives he traveled hundreds of miles on the Rajang, Kinabatangan and Kalabakan rivers in the outboard-powered canoes. Twice he was the house guest of Iban families in their tribal houses—rugs wooden structures on stilts, some as high as 1,000 feet. Such buildings house an entire village of 300 or more inhabitants.

Sometimes Inger varied his diet by sampling the specimens he had collected. Once he dined on fileta from an 11-foot python.

Soviet's Diplomat Blamed in Unrest

BRITAIN-FRENCH headquarters in this occupied city said Tuesday the top ranking Russian diplomat here was the man responsible for Port Said's "unfortunate" intimidation. "The death of the foreigners who collaborate with the occupiers" began appearing under the doors of homes in Port Said's big Italian and Greek colonies.

Italians had organized a big relief effort on their own to help get Port Said back on its feet and were bringing in a food ship from Italy to help their Arab neighbors in this shattered city.

Crazy War Is Reported for Port on Suez

PORT SAID, Egypt, Nov. 14 (AP)—This has been a crazy mixed up little war.

The censor-handling news dispatches from 80 accredited war correspondents here found out Tuesday that censorship had been lifted three days ago.

The 17 newsmen from the Egyptian side came sailing casually into British territory in one of those picturesque little Arab boats called feluccas. They were halted politely by a British officer and told to go back the way they came—across the quiet waters southwest of Port Said. A 600-yard belt of no-man's land below El Cap is beginning to look like Main street on Saturday night.

"There is a regular rush of white flags from both sides across the line to discuss all sorts of arrangements. "We'll need to put up traffic lights here soon," mused a bewildered soldier in a forward trench.

And now because the end of censorship officially has filtered through to Port Said, correspondents no longer need to refer to last week's events here as police action. This then is to confirm that there has been a war here, a crazy mixed up little war.

Flour Checked in Laboratory

Year in scoring and safeguarding wheat.
Quitting stations employ an additional 45 full-time workers plus around 25 seasonal laborers, making a total employment in all stations of 120 or more during the peak season. Of these, 90 are full-time, representing a sizable payroll.
Similar to most divisions of the Colorado Milling company, Twin Falls Mills has its own laboratory, located on the second floor of the building and employing a full-time staff of trained technicians.
These technicians run sample tests on all flour, bran and other materials processed by the mill, analyzing each sample for protein, viscous, ash and other content.
A full report of the local plant's findings is mailed to other company offices as well as to various agencies, bureaus and testing firms.
In addition to these tests, the flour is put to the acid test as it is used by technicians in actual baking of cake, bread, cookies, pie crust and other bakery items. Reports on performance also are sent to the parent firm.
Newly as soon as it is milled, checked and sacked, the flour is loaded into freight cars at the mill and sent to points all over the nation.

Popcorn Firm Launched 36 Years Ago With Two Ears of Seed South of Buhl

BUHL, Nov. 14.—Starting 36 years ago with two ears of corn, Elmer Schroeder, Buhl, has increased his production through selective breeding to the point where he now markets between 6,000 and 18,000 cases of popcorn a year.
Schroeder's production depends upon the quality of the crop. His output comes from between 150 and 200 acres of Idaho—largely all other owned or directly supervised by him.
Schroeder started his business in 1923 when he planted the kernels from two ears of black variety popcorn on his farm south of Buhl. That fall he sold to A. J. Ames all except what he wanted to keep for seed.
Gradually he increased until in 1941 he was selling the entire output to the Great States, Inc., who marketed it throughout the nation.
Although the new markets, golden and white popcorns also, Schroeder still raises all his own black popcorn. His product is now sold in grocery stores throughout Idaho and neighboring states.
"In Idaho, I'd estimate that well over 90 per cent of the stores carry my popcorn," Schroeder said. The corn is marketed under the trade name "Schroeder's Blue Diamond Popcorn."

Boy, 4, Survives 100-Foot Tumble

POPT BATTLE, Ark., Nov. 14.—Four-year-old Edwin Glass fell 100 feet from a cliff and survived.
The child's right hip and right leg were broken but attendants at a hospital said no serious injuries were apparent.
Cecil Glass, 41, father of the boy, said he and another man took Edwin with them yesterday when they drove to an orchard near the cliff to pick pears. The boy wandered off and fell from the cliff. Glass ran opposite a tree nearly as high as the ledge. He jumped into the tree and crashed down through the thin upper branches until he got a handhold.
Edwin was conscious when he picked him up, Glass said. The other man hoisted the father and son up the cliff with a rope.

51 Million Pounds of Flour Produced Here in Year From Magic Valley Crop

An average of 510,000 100-pound sacks of flour plus an additional 10,000 tons of bran are produced yearly by Twin Falls Flour Mills, reports C. J. Kelly, district manager of the firm.
The output is processed from 1,200,000 bushels of wheat bought by the company from growers throughout Magic Valley. That figure represents 15 per cent of the total grown in the valley during 1953, according to department of agriculture reports.
A division of Colorado Milling and Elevator company, processor of Ranch House beans, Ranch Way Yers and Pike's Peak flour, the local firm is concerned "tightly" with the production of the latter commodity.
Flour milled in Twin Falls from Magic Valley wheat is shipped to points throughout the United States, Kelly said.
In addition to its mill here, the firm also operates 16 grain elevators and bean processing plants in the valley.
"In Twin Falls, the mill has an average of 45-year-round employees, adding five or six more during the harvest season. The firm operates seven days a week most of the time and has little variation in output during the year.
This is due to the storage facilities available in its 16 elevators. Work in the outlying stations is far more variable, because the harvest season is the only busy one. The main task during the rest of the year is to store the grain."

New Increase Is Talled for U. S. Economy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—The nation's booming economy lurched forward during the July-September quarter, with dramatic advances in production, personal income and wages.

The commerce department's November "survey of current business" issued Monday, showed that during the third quarter of 1949:

1. Total output of goods and services reached a record annual rate of nearly $14 billion dollar—52 billion more than the first of the year. It was the fourth consecutive quarter in which the gross national product topped the 400-billion-dollar mark.
2. Personal income rose to an annual rate of $27 billion, up four billion from the second quarter.
3. Payroll in private industry went up to an annual rate of 184.7 billion, a two-billion-dollar apart from the second quarter.
4. Government wages and salaries rose to a 28-billion-dollar annual rate, an increase of about 400 million.

"Blue Jeans" Ambassadors Back in U. S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—Sixty-two "ambassadors in blue jeans" from 31 states have returned from a month of living with farm families in 22 European, Middle Eastern and African countries.

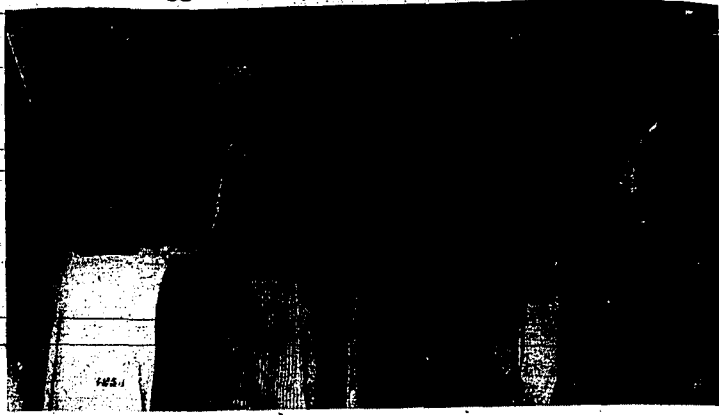

The 25 girls and 37 young men of the International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) group arrived aboard the Queen Mary, they have worked throughout the summer to promote "peace through understanding" on a people-to-people basis, a spokesman for the National 4-H Club foundation said.

The foundation, which sponsors the IFYE program along with the cooperative extension service, helped finance trips of 18 delegates to 80 foreign countries in exchange for 180 foreign farm youths who came here this year, he said.

All the "farmer ambassadors" are in their early twenties and are "4-H club graduates," the spokesman said. Many are college students.

The delegates are scheduled to go to Washington today to report on their trips to the U. S. state and agriculture departments and the embassies of the host countries.

Fame of Valley as Producer of Seeds Is Reflected in Good-Sized Payrolls

Magic Valley's fame as a producer of the major portion of the nation's seeds is reflected in the yearly payrolls of the valley's seed and feed companies. In Twin Falls county alone more than 25 seed and feed companies have a yearly payroll in excess of a million dollars.

While some dealers handle both seeds and feeds, others specialize in the processing of seeds and others in the production and sale of feeds. Seed falls in two classes, field seed and garden seed. Field seed includes forage and grasses and garden seed includes peas, beans, onions, potatoes and other edible products.

Production of feed by milling and bales for stock and poultry runs into millions of dollars yearly. About 30 feed and seed businesses are located in Buhl, Filer, Gooding, Hazelton, Kimberly, Hansen and Twin Falls.

However, all such businesses do not employ a big staff. Some seed businesses have only a representative or single buyer and all warehouses.

WORKSHOP HELD

BURLEY, Nov. 14—Art workshops for elementary teachers in Cassia county schools are being directed by Irene Buckley. The first workshop was held after school Tuesday for first and second grade teachers. Third and fourth grade teachers will meet Thursday and on Monday fifth and sixth grade teachers will meet.

The Arrow Research Center, near Filer, experiments on new methods of planting, growing and handling of many kinds of seeds.

Magic Valley produces an estimated 80 per cent of the garden bush beans in the nation. An estimated 60 per cent of the field seed produced in the valley is certified.

Buyers and dealers ship their products to all parts of the nation, Canada and abroad. Some local wholesalers ship to Nevada, Wyoming, Washington, Oregon and Utah and into other parts of Idaho.

While beans are the main crop grown here, it is difficult to determine the total amount of business actually done in dollars and cents on the product. Dealers are re-importance of the feed and seed business to the valley is not reflected entirely in payrolls. The yearly taxes paid by the companies run into many thousands of dollars.

Brand names on feed manufactured here are known the nation over, being highly nutritive and blended with the latest specialized formula.

In the major products produced here, local grains are used because of the high food value content.

One Twin Falls company purchases and ships around 1,000 carloads of hay to the mid-west each year. In addition the company's some of the largest shippers of certified seed grains in the Intermountain West.

Poultry Processing Gives Employment To Residents, Brings "Outside" Money

Magic Valley's poultry industry is not often spoken of in the same tone as meat packing and dairying. But turkeys, fryers and geese are responsible for employment of 77 persons fulltime plus an additional 11 as seasonal workers. These workers receive total wages of $148,750 each year.

In five area poultry processing plants, approximately 800,000 pounds of turkeys, 3,410,000 pounds of fryers and 2,000 geese being "ringed" total $1,524,000 to Magic Valley.

As in most industry in the valley, the product of the poultry plants is shipped to eastern and west coast markets. This means that a large percentage of the total is "new money" in the area.

Some of the plants maintain and raise some of the fryers themselves, but most of the birds are raised under contract with farmers. Under this plan, the processor provides the chick to the farmer while the farmer provides the labor.

A former seasonal industry, the poultry business has now regulated itself into year-round operation. This is done by starting a "batch" of chicks each week. They require about 45 days to put on enough weight to guarantee a three-pound plus fryer when dressed. Turkeys and geese, having mostly seasonal popularity, are started in the spring and brought to prime just before Thanksgiving.

About 90 per cent of all fryers are a cross between Van Trees roosters and New Hampshire Red hens. The remaining 10 per cent are either New Hampshire or Rhode Island Reds.

Some of the leading Magic Valley poultry processors are Common Poultry, Wendell, Barlett, Swift, Kenny's Poultry, Hull's Turkey Farm and Campbell Goose Ranch, Buhl.

Army Drops Plan To Take Property

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—The army has dropped, at least temporarily, its proposal to take over 4,200 acres of privately-owned and Indian land east of St. Lewis, Wash.

Big-Gen. J. E. Bastion, jr., of army liaison "adviser" Senator Jackson, D. Wash., said the proposal has been turned down by the department of the army.

ROBY, Nov. 14 (AP)—Jefferson county coroner's jury heard seven witnesses Tuesday, then recessed until two more can be called in the inquest into the Nov. 1 traffic death of Mrs. Ethel Beard, 26, Shelley.

She died when her husband's pickup truck collided with a truck that was parked along the highway north of Roby.

George Hartwell, driver of the parked truck, testified he left his lights on when he left it to get help after it stalled. But Robert Neil Beard, 26, the husband, testified he saw no lights.

SHIELDS OF BUHL

As pioneers in the Seed Processing business in the Magic Valley, we join the Agricultural Processing Fair. With a meager start in 1912, we have continually progressed with the valley to the point where

We are now shipping annually over 15,000 tons of Beans — Peas — Alfalfa — Clover and other seeds to U. S. markets and all over the world.

We maintain a complete processing plant for the eradication of weeds and foreign matter from all kinds of seeds. Only the latest, most modern equipment available is used in this plant.

SHIELDS HAVE AN ENVIABLE RECORD FOR HANDLING HARDY, TOP QUALITY SEEDS

Grown at a high elevation, most of these seeds are a "hard seed" which makes for better germination and growth.

Shields seeds are shipped under the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Certification of Origin and Purity.

Idaho's Famed Potatoes Processed, Packaged for Shipment All Over U.S.

Scenes such as this are being enacted throughout Magic Valley as the potato processing season now is in its third month. Justice Smithhart and Arthur Richardson are shown sorting potatoes at Idaho Potatoes, Inc., warehouse, Twin Falls. Now in its second year of operation, the firm expects to ship 1,000 carloads of potatoes before June. (Staff photo-courtesy)

Harold Koch completes the final step in processing Magic Valley potatoes as he loads 100-pound sacks into a truck for delivery to points throughout the nation. Koch is an employee of Idaho Potatoes, Inc.

Idaho's Famed Potatoes Are Basis of Processing Industry, Heavy Payrolls

Potatoes are the basis for a processing industry which pays an estimated two-and-one-half million dollars in wages annually in Magic Valley. About two-thirds of that figure is concentrated in Twin Falls and Blaine counties, where 18,000 acres of Idaho potatoes are grown each year. A pair of 13 of the 14 Twin Falls county potato processors shows they have an estimated payroll of over $900,000, paid to about 325 seasonal and 90 year-round employees. About 1,000 carloads of potatoes are shipped from the county each year, although that figure varies with the quality of the crop. These processors begin buying directly from the farmer as early as August and continue their operation until June. The average processor remains in business from Sept. 1 to June 1, but a few begin anywhere from a month earlier to three months later, and complete their processing in May.

When the potatoes enter a processing plant, they are washed, sorted, sliced, and inspected before being sacked for shipment. Up until the end of World War II, well over 90 per cent of the nation's potatoes were marketed in 100-pound sacks. Most of them were not sorted according to size. A trend, however, developed toward both sizing potatoes and marketing them in smaller quantities. Steadily gaining momentum, it has called a new concept in processing. Now, in addition to the conventional 100-pound sacks, potatoes are marketed in 3, 10, 25 and 50-pound bags. The change has not been uniform, however. A Bull dealer reported that he still sells 75 per cent of his potatoes in 100-pound sacks, while a Twin Falls processor reported that he marketed nearly all of his in 10-pound sacks. Differences from other dealers varied between these two extremes. Some processors use the smaller sacks for No. 1 potatoes, while No. 2s are marketed in the large sacks. Because of regulations prohibiting culls and low grade potatoes from leaving the state—and also because the processors term it "poor business" for themselves and for the state, they are faced with the problem of getting rid of culls.

Industrial, Motorized Age Is Held Responsible for Cancer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Nov. 14 (AP)—Most lung cancers are not caused by cigarettes, but instead apparently by fumes and chemicals from our industrial, motorized age, a cancer expert said yesterday. Dr. W. G. Hueper of the National Cancer Institute said he bases his opinion on worldwide studies by many scientists concerning causes of lung cancer. He said this evidence indicates an alarming increase in lung cancer is probably due in part to fumes, dust, gas and various chemicals in the air we breathe, or to which people are exposed on some jobs. Smoking seems to play "a definite, but lesser, direct or indirect role" in producing lung cancers, Hueper said. He said the total evidence doesn't support the concept that the great majority of lung cancers, especially in men, are due to excessive cigarette smoking. Some of the chemicals released into the air by engines and smokestacks, or produced in certain industrial operations, are known to be able to produce cancers in animals, Hueper said. He said there isn't enough data to estimate the relative role they may have played in the rise in lung cancer. The jump in lung cancer began before cigarette smoking became commonplace, Hueper, head of the NCI, told the American Public Health association. One cancer-causing chemical, benzopyrene, is found in the exhausts of gasoline engines, he said. And certain suspicious hydrocarbons from exhausts are released at ground level, where they can act on pedestrians and drivers before these products become diluted in the air, he added.
