

Hawaii Is Hit by Tidal Wave After Quakes in Alaska

Two heavy earthquakes rocked the Aleutians and Alaska Saturday and the first sent tidal waves 3 to 9 feet high rolling over Hawaiian beaches during an alert of several hours. Communities were evacuated during the alert. The first tidal wave reached California shores. The first on-land tidal waves reached Hawaii morning soon after the shock racing across the Pacific at 500 miles an hour and led to the death of several people. Two companions were saved but one remained in critical condition. They were reporting and photographing the tidal waves.

Along the northern shores of the Hawaiian Islands waves rolled in up to a quarter of a mile, and several small boats were wrecked. Some bridges and roads were washed out, and huge chunks of coral were tossed into canals.

Due to a small warning, there were no direct casualties from the waves. Many small boats were wrecked. Honolulu harbor was closed for eight hours and the liners Luckin and Leland remained outside with several smaller ships. They docked six hours later.

After the first big series of waves rolled in two more were expected. The Hawaiian alert was called off at 3:30 p.m.

The West Coast alert ended three minutes later.

Fourteen homes were reported swept into the sea from Kauai island. The alert was called off at 3:30 p.m.

The alert was called off at 3:30 p.m.

Hells Canyon Dam Hearing Is Concluded

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—An authorized federal hearing on the proposed Hells Canyon dam project was concluded today after three days of testimony.

The hearing was held in Boise, Idaho, and was the first of a series of hearings on the project. The project is a $100-million dam on the Snake river, which would create a large reservoir for hydroelectric power.

The hearing was held in the presence of a large number of interested parties, including local residents, business leaders, and government officials.

Drill Corporal Found Guilty Of Roughness

PARRIS ISLAND, March 9 (UP)—A five-man court-martial Saturday sentenced a marine drill instructor to three months at hard labor for deeply touching recruits.

In addition, the court, headed by Maj. Glen W. Rodney, Joplin, Mo., ordered Walsh, sentenced to prison and fined $40 a month for three months.

The stiff sentence caught the courtroom by surprise, since only Friday the court had thrown out 20 of the 24 charges of hazing or mistreatment of recruits.

Of the four remaining charges, the court recorded two accusations to induce them in nature from the more serious charge of "struck." The court sentenced "tapping" or "fencing."

Defense Attorney Fred W. Shulds, Miami Beach, Fla., a civilian, said "I think the sentence is outrageous. I am going to fight it as long as I can."

The 29-year-old, 5-foot-3 Walsh had been charged with striking Pvt. David Lee Porter, 18, Hartford, Vt., the government's chief witness. This charge was thrown out but Walsh was found guilty of touching Porter's pants.

The trial, fourth here in less than a month involving drill instructors charged with mistreating recruits, was headed off by Porter in a letter to his father. He claimed he was struck by Walsh with an iron bar.

In testifying, Porter said he had been struck but did not know with what.

Witnesses attacked the veracity of Porter's statements. Pvt. Carroll L. Smith, 23, Philadelphia, testified on Dec. 8 he saw Porter with a superficial scalp abrasion.

Smith, who testified Porter was "picking up" the wound, quoted Porter as saying "If I pick it enough, it will either go to sleep or in the morning it will come back."

Oil Experts Will Start Repairs of Syrian Pipeline

DAMASCUS, Syria, March 9 (AP)—A 30-man team of oil experts today began repairs on pipelines installed in the Syrian desert blown up during the Suez crisis last fall.

The team, headed by Iraqi Petroleum company Chief Engineer Thomas Elliot, last Wednesday received permission from the Syrian government to repair the vital oil lines, running from Iraq to the terminal points of Tripoli, Lebanon and Beirut, Syria.

About 11 million tons of Persian Gulf oil, about half the normal annual rate, is expected to start flowing through the Syrian pipelines in about two weeks.

Yesterday an L.P.G. spokesman said the resumption of oil flow through Syria would be only a matter of "twisting a few valves."

By the word "struck" Defense Attorney Fred W. Shulds, Miami Beach, Fla., a civilian, said "I think the sentence is outrageous. I am going to fight it as long as I can."

FBI Helps Police Check Gem Theft

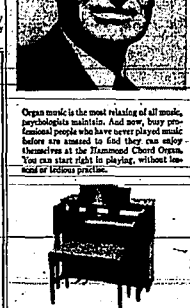

DENVER, March 9 (UP)—Aided by federal bureau of investigation agents, police sought Saturday to identify two cunning thieves who posed as jewelry salesman and stole $85,000 worth of gems at a downtown hotel.

Det. Capt. Fred Zarnow termed the Thursday morning theft the work of experienced criminals.

The men registered at the Albany hotel, giving the names of legitimate Chicago businessmen known not to be in Denver.

One of the thieves placed a satchel in the hotel vault Wednesday night. Giving to retrieve it early Thursday, he stole to the vault and withdrew another satchel containing the gems while a companion diverted the attention of the clerk.

Restful hobby for busy people

Organ music is the most relaxing of all music, psychologists maintain. And now, busy professional people who have never played music before are amazed to find they can enjoy themselves at the Hammond Chord Organ. You can start right in playing, without tedious or tedious practice.

You can play a tune in 30 minutes on the Hammond Chord Organ.

One finger plays the melody. One finger adds the accompaniment.

If you don't read notes, you can play music that anyone can follow. In a few weeks, you'll be playing all sorts of selections—popular, religious, even classical.

This is the Chord Organ Hal-Shulds played last Tuesday night on Lawrence's "Pop Times and New Tunes" program.

Tape Evidence 'Too Obscene' For Use, Senate's Probers Say

WASHINGTON, March 9 (UP)—The Senate investigating committee said Saturday some of its evidence is "too obscene" to be used in a public hearing.

Robert F. Kennedy, 31-year-old committee counsel, said the evidence in question consists of tape and wire recordings of conversations. He said the recordings were made secretly by racketeer James B. (Big Jim) Ekins of Portland, Ore., when Ekins thought rival racketeers and some business officials were about to "frame" him.

Kennedy said some of the recordings are "less obscene" than others which are "too obscene" to be played into evidence when the committee resumes its public hearings Tuesday after a week's recess.

These recordings may become major evidence in the committee's investigation of testimony linking some west coast racketeers with officials with ventures into racketeering.

Ekins has sworn that Frank W. Brewster, president of the 11-state Western conference of racketeers, had ordered Crosby to produce by Tuesday—even if he has to fly back to Portland to do so—some of Ekins' recordings acted in a raid on orders from William M. Langley, indicted district attorney of Multnomah county (Portland), Ore.

The raid made on a search warrant later held by a court to have been illegally issued, was on "the home of Ray Clark, an employee of Ekins. Some of the recordings—originals and copies of originals—ultimately found their way into Crosby's hands, he testified Friday. He said he was not sure how quickly he could find them in his home.

In other developments in the Portland inquiry—the starting point for a nationwide series of hearings in the committee's search for evidence of racketeer infiltration of labor unions and industry:

1. The FBI refused to give Democratic Mayor Terry D. Schruk of Portland a detector test to check his dental chair he accepted a $500 bribe to call off a gambling raid in September, 1955. The committee asked the secret service to give Schruk the test Monday.

2. Kennedy said some of the tape recordings may be played into evidence in connection with District Attorney Langley's testimony. Ekins contends the recordings will back his story that Langley complained his office was "picking up" the gambling enterprises was "picking up" and that Langley discussed with racketeers a plan to "frame" Ekins.

3. Brewster will be summoned, soon after Langley and Crosby are heard, for questioning about testimony concerning his alleged role in Portland underworld.

4. Kennedy said Brewster also will be asked about allegations that he used union funds to help maintain a stable of race horses.

T.F. Youngsters See Magic Show

George Brown, Jr., presented a magic show for the youngsters of the Twin Falls Junior League at the library juvenile room, reports Dorothy Evans, children's librarian.

The magic show, which lasted for about one-half hour, was preceded with a recorded music program. Miss Evans announced the department has added a new card catalog. She said the new card was needed to take care of the thousands of cards that have been added in recent years.

She noted the children's collection is approximately 5,000-volume and includes, in addition to the books, magazines, photograph records, encyclopedias and other reference items. She said the 15 volume set of the 1957 edition of Compton's illustrated encyclopedia recently was added.

Fred De Cordova, producer of the Ida Lupino-Howard Duff TV series, "Mr. Adams and Eve," comments the fact that a laugh track must be used in every situation comedy show these days. He thinks the laugh track is not only an insult to the audience's intelligence, it also is gradually "killing" comedy on TV.

Jackie Gleason's summer replacement will probably be a comedy show company headed by Polly Bergen, Bobby Van and George DeWitt from "Honey That Thinks". NBD plans to use the Arthur Murray Party and Marx Brothers.

Don Herbert, television's "Mr. Wizard," studied a horsepower question and has been bombarded with letters from young ladies eager to know "What one way to find out if anyone is watching."

Steve Allen will have Rev. Billy Graham on his May 12 show and Albert McClellery is also after-the-avenger to narrate his "The Great Escape" on Good Friday.

Red Mack is going in for all this all-star show. He's planning an All-Guamela program to go with his already established All-Israeli and All-Irish creations. As for us, we want a TV twin-falls residents and next time you need expert workmanship in your home or in our shop be sure to call.

Investigating Committee Finds Utah's Prison Control 'Confused, Inefficient'

He said the warden "has been effective as he should be," but commended both the warden and the staff for being "thorough and diligent in their work."

He said: "This state has a reputation for being the most efficient in the nation to salvage. We should have more training. I believe in the ability of the men. If it proves otherwise, we'll have to change."

However, the committee "has no objection" to the prisoners' demand that Paul Cropper be fired.

Paul Cropper, the warden, had previously specified that "any evidence of dishonesty" on the part of an inmate would be cause for dismissal on the basis of an inmate's own confession.

He said he should have an audit report that the warden would be responsible for negligence in the management of the prison, including inmate funds.

The committee set a schedule for the next meeting.

Church Gives "Pep Talk" to Young Demos

BALTIMORE CITY, March 9 (AP)—Frank Church of Idaho said Saturday that if the Democrats can find a candidate who will not only talk to the people but also can win an even greater majority in Congress and the presidency in 1960, the party will have a real chance to win.

Church, who is 33, is the nation's youngest senator, spoke at a meeting sponsored by the Young Democrats club of Utah and talked earlier to reporters.

He said the future of the Democratic party lies with young people and it is the natural party for young people to support because it "has given us the new ideas and new programs in our lifetimes to serve the needs of the people... it has been the party of the people."

But Church said the Democrats face two serious problems. First, he said, is a shortage of money for campaigning. He said the Democrats must find a way to raise as much money on the 1960 elections as the Republicans.

Second, he said, "the press is becoming increasingly a one-party press." He said eight newspapers in 1956 and in terms of circulation the President's advance was even greater. In answer to a reporter's question, he believed that the Democrats are ahead in the election.

Church said Republicans take a "new look" in their party but he doesn't think it goes very deep. He said it reminded him of another senator's story that President Eisenhower gave the GOP elephant a boomcrank labeled "New Republicanism." When the elephant was asked how he liked it, he replied: "Fine—but I'm having an impossible time trying to throw away this boomcrank."

He said President Eisenhower promised when he was first elected to balance the budget—and now has promised Congress the largest peacekeeping budget in history. He added that Secretary of State Dulles kept "feeding us political tranquility pills" all during the 1956 campaign, then went to Congress to report that the Middle East situation was gravely dangerous and that the President needed authority to keep the peace.

Given Probation

SUNDAY, March 9.—Three teenagers caught in the Burye Bernese company plant on Feb. 22 after the plant had been closed and charged with stealing beer, have been placed on probation to their parents, Probate Judge Henry W. Tucker ruled Saturday.

Tucker said he had sentenced the boys, ages 15, 17 and 19, to 30 days in the Idaho Industrial school, but then suspended the sentence and placed them on probation for one year. He said if they break probation they will be sent to the industrial school.

Formosa Nationalists Living For Day of Mainland Return

By LEONARD LEFKOW

"TAIPEI, Formosa, March 9 (AP)—The Nationalist air force captain was celebrating his safe return from a leaflet dropping mission over the mainland. He was drunk and the liquor made him melancholy.

"We got to liberate those poor people on the mainland," he said. "We got a cause and we got to do it."

In a way the captain is symbolic of the few million Chinese who fled the mainland in 1949 and settled on this island 100 miles from the red tent.

Tourists who visit Formosa usually are surprised and confused by the steady outpouring of war talk. It pervades virtually every phase of life here.

Newspapers carry daily accounts of speeches by cabinet members, legislators and military men that deal with the "mainland situation." The day the nationalists hope to strike back to the mainland.

A mainland recovery battle plot composed of top officials daily plots the political and economic moves of the return. Soldiers safeguard "orders" to land on the mainland the government has promised them.

Military trucks churn check holes into streets. Air raid sirens wail monthly in practice.

Security measures are abundant. The weather bureau refuses to give out rainfall figures on grounds they are classified information.

Austerity is a way of life. Dancing is permitted only in establishments catering to foreigners. "Do Not Waste Food" campaigns are continuous.

Despite this war atmosphere there

THE ADAPTABILITY OF MAPLE

All too often, when we think of maple furniture, we think of it only in an Early American setting. This versatility of maple is a most accommodating trait. It is a wood mixer and almost any type of informal room blends beautifully with Colonial Country style, with Spanish Provincial, Anne style, the Ampler, Queen Elizabeth and Informal modern. The successful 1987 Street of Mirrors is now a matter of record. On the streets of Mirrors, the community volunteers I would like to thank your newspaper and the many others who have helped me to support you gave towards making this campaign a success.

The money raised in the campaign will be used to help the medical victim who has no funds for proper medical care for lack of funds; that no police will help them; that no hospital will suffer an interruption of his rehabilitation program for lack of funds; that no hospital will have a program to vigorously pursue a program of police prevention.

Just a few words about this police prevention program. I would like to hold a police few facts that will understand better. This was an unprecedented step by the AMA, which will appear in the medical profession. I would like to see the medical profession to be the first to support this program. Care of Teeth Used as Topic Of PTA Talk

REYNOLDS, March 9.—A talk on the care of children's teeth was featured at the regular meeting of the Reynolds PTA Thursday night.

Mrs. G. Nielsen-Buller, who was assisted by her assistant, Nina Jean Fairchild, Miss Fairchild told how children should care for their teeth. She demonstrated how teeth should be brushed and said the brush should have a straight handle and straight bristles. She stressed that small children should brush their teeth three times a day. She named many foods that are harmful to the teeth and some that are not.

Both Miss Fairchild and Dr. Nielsen stressed that children should be taken to the dentist as soon as they get their first 20 teeth, not only for a check-up, but also to acquaint the child with the dental, dental equipment and procedure.

Mrs. Mary Knight, supervising nurse of the southeastern health unit, spoke on the public health program. Mrs. Mary Ellen Carlson, county nurse, was present.

Mrs. Q. D. Brown, president, conducted the meeting. The opening prayer was offered by Wilfred Wilson. Community singing was led by Mrs. LaVere Jones. Mrs. Hamilton's class won the room contest award for parents present. A nominating committee was named, including Mrs. Lane Black, Mrs. Wilford Wilson and Steven Heiner. The election will be held next month.

Mrs. Leo Hanley, lunch chairman, reported $816 lunches with milk and $48 lunches without milk were served during the month of January. Of these 5,087 were free. Two hundred eighty-three lunches were served to adults. This lunch program has a balance of $611.02 and $917.00 in uncollected government funds.

Mrs. Robert Despain, program chairman, presented the program. Mrs. Victor Hill, Mrs. Edna Kippling's "Just So Stories."

Mrs. Gene Hamilton played two accordion solos.

Refreshments were served by the fourth grade home room mothers. Mrs. Lane Black, Mrs. Wilford Wilson, Mrs. Keith Merrill and Mrs. Claude Wilcox.

Operetta Is Held At Burley School

BURLEY, March 9.—The Burley high school music department presented the operetta, "The Pirates of Penzance," at the Burley school Friday night. The cast consisted of Wade Baker, Jay McFadden, Newell Dayley, Ronald Caldwell, Richard H. Hildreth, Kurt Laub, Fred Rice, Rawlin Smith, John Blauer, Kathleen Gray and Lora Lee Loomis, and a group of sailors and relatives.

The high school orchestra, and vocal soloists, were also featured.

Others who satiated were Mrs. Lee Morgan, columnist; Irene Buzley, actress and poetess; Penny Keen, makeup; Sidney Larsen, stage construction; L. A. Dayley, accompanist; Deanne Hoffman, student director; Shana Selman, stage manager; Sandra Hoffman, prompter; and Gordon Power, light.

Plan of Banquet Made by Grange

HANSEN, March 9.—Final plans for the father-son banquet March 10 were made by members of the Grange Thursday evening at the Grange hall.

Mrs. Earl Barnes and Mrs. M. L. Barnes were appointed to plan the menu and make kitchen arrangements. Earl Barnes and Vance Newell were appointed to the program committee.

Contribution was made to the National Grange youth fund. Lester Nyberg gave a report on weed control, explaining different types which may be used even if the crop is already planted and growing.

Question games were presented during the program. Kenneth Nyberg gave a humorous reading, "A Man Walking at the 'Ten Cent Store'." Members told Dr. Patricia's day Joke, Mr. and Mrs. John Schab were hosts.

Scout Executive Talks at Jerome

JEROME, March 9.—Harold Grubb, Scout executive of Snake river council, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Catholic women's league Thursday night. He spoke on the organization of Cub Scouts.

The group voted to sponsor a cooked food sale April 20. Mrs. J. C. Tubbs was appointed chairman for the sale. Mrs. Guy Stanton told of the meeting of the Idaho Education association and announced that the association is celebrating the 100th anniversary April 4 at the high school.

Mrs. Harold Kline, Mrs. W. S. Richter, Mrs. Mary Nutch and Mrs. Edmund Nutch were hostesses.

Spud's Friend

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The lowly potato is finding a friend in the food processing industry.

For years, says the National Potato council, consumption of potatoes in this country has been going down. This naturally had an adverse effect on growers. In 1940, for example, Americans ate an annual average of 128 pounds, but the average declined a little each year until four years ago.

Consumption now has leveled off at an average of about 104 pounds. The council says this halt in the decline reflects popularity of a growing variety of processed and already prepared potato foods and products with today's busy housewives.

Active at School

COLLEGE OF IDAHO, Caldwell, March 9.—Two Twin Falls students are among cast members for a mystery play, "Ten Little Indians," which will start a three-day run on the College of Idaho campus March 21. They are Tony Bobier and Ronald Poppitt. Anita Goss, Jerome, is also a member of the cast.

Committee members for the annual inter-society ball on the campus today included four Twin Falls students, Marlene Diehl, Joan Barnhouse, Patsy Sharp and Pat McGuire. Other Magic Valley area students planning the dance were Anita Goss and Hooty Callen, Jerome; Verla Smith, Bliss, and Patricia Jolly, Hagerman.

On Youth Ranch

The Rev. James B. Crowe spoke on progress of the Idaho Ranch for Youth, Rupert, at a Knoll Grange meeting Friday night.

In other business Albert Corderburg, Red Cross chairman, said $120 had been solicited so far in the drive. Heber Lounsbury spoke on the right-to-work law, advocating something to help keep youths on farms.

Visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Lounsbury, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Green, Max Craig Dunlap, Mr. and Mrs. De Allen and Mr. and Mrs. B. Sparks. The home economics committee served pie and coffee.

Election Held At Meeting of PTA for Area

BUENOS AIRES, March 9—Mrs. Paul Hester was elected president of the PTA Thursday evening in a 194 school home election.

Mr. T. R. Larson, first vice president, conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Hester, who was called to St. Paul because of the illness of her mother.

The opening prayer was given by the Rev. Kenneth Helde, of the St. Anthony Lutheran church. The program was presented by the students being returned to school. The election was held between 17 and 20 percent as compared with 40 percent in previous years. The school was well represented and had a limited fund. He said there were not enough funds available to pay for the minister for Sunday service.

He suggested adult cooperation of the one of these young people when they are paroled and said that the community and school authorities will definitely reflect upon the young people trying to make an adjustment on the program.

Other members on the program included Donna Ose, instructor of drama, giving an introduction to the presentation of part of the Merchant of Venice, with Joan Kelly and Margie Rice each giving parts. Mrs. Hester, in charge of the program.

During the business meeting, it was reported that $7.67 was cleared on the movie. The membership of 125 represented at home.

The nominating chairman's report, Mrs. Alan Erwin asked Mrs. Hester to give a report on the PTA. Mrs. Hester reported that a party will be held at 8 p.m. March 21, in the Wendell high school.

The nominating committee, Mrs. Alan Erwin, Mrs. Ted Bell and Mrs. Frank Henrich, gave their reports.

Mrs. Frank Henrich was nominated and elected from the floor. When officers elected include Mrs. Hester, president, Mrs. Ted Bell, first vice, Mrs. Frank Henrich, second vice, Mrs. Alan Erwin, secretary, and Mrs. Ralph Behrens, treasurer. Tellers were Mrs. Glenn Hendrickson, Mrs. Joy Kelly, Mrs. John Arnold and Mrs. Ralph Behrens.

It was reported 60 students received their diplomas at Twin Falls. The PTA voted to award $4 first prize to the fourth grade class, second prize to the fifth grade and $1 third prize to the sixth grade for sewing the most tickets for the PTA show in February.

It also was voted to sponsor a project to furnish ribbons for first, second and third prizes and some treats for the grade school students for the annual "field day" contests May 15 in the city park.

Rep. Clement Prince announced a meeting on trying to start a class for handicapped students will be held in Gooding elementary school the evening of March 21.

Mrs. A. Karloff invited all members to a hall meeting on the 20th, March 21, with the theme "Indian Trails".

The sale of March 14 was announced for the regular monthly health meeting in Gooding.

The next meeting will be held April 4 with the program to be on "Life on the Road".

Refreshments were served by seventh grade mothers, with Mrs. Joan Moore and Mrs. Gordon Adams in charge.

BYU Band; With Magic Valley Members, to Play for Burley

BURLEY, March 9—The Brigham Young university concert band is scheduled to present a program at the Burley high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday. The band includes a number of students from Magic Valley.

The concert band, which was organized in the latter part of the 19th century, is directed by Ralph Laycock, who has had wide experience as a teacher and conductor in Canada as well as in Utah and mid-western musical circles.

Among the more popular selections to be presented by the students will be "The Flying Dutchman Overture" by Wagner; Jenkins' "American Overture for Band"; "Pavane" by Ravel and a medley from the Broadway musical "Peter Pan."

Outstanding among the members of the 1937 concert band are James Nielsen on the French horn, and Larry Baalman, Spokane, playing the trumpet. Both have had extensive experience with Utah musical organizations.

Following its appearance in Burley, the band will continue a tour which will take it to Boise, Richland, Seaside, and Tacoma, Wash., and Portland, Eugene and Ontario, Ore.

Members of the band will be guests of Burley residents during their visit here. Next Sunday evening the band will be divided into groups and will present the programs in each of the wards of the Burley LDS stake.

Advance ticket sales are being handled by Hazel Hatch.

Former Resident Of Hammitt Dies

OLENNIS PERRY, March 9—Word has been received of the death of Oleennis Perry, 41, a long-time resident of Hammitt, who has been living with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Barber, Slides.

Mrs. Knuth was born in Berlin, Germany, June 21, 1875, and came to the United States when she was 14. She lived in Minnesota and North Dakota before coming to Hammitt in 1914. The family started the Midway mercantile in Hammitt and operated it until 1935 when she moved to Boise.

Survivors include two sons, Theodore and Alvin, Alvin, Idaho, and William Knuth, Egan, Alaska; five daughters, Mrs. Barber; Mrs. Gertrude Knuth, Slides; Mrs. Bertha Engelman, Mountain Home; Mrs. Alice Leach, The Dalles, Ore.; Mrs. Dorothy Chase, Lewiston; and Mrs. Dorothy Chase, Lewiston. She is survived by 32 grandchildren and 33 great-grandchildren.

Her chapel of Mountain Home will announce services.

Proposed School Budget Pondered

WENDELL, March 9—The proposed budget for 1957-58 for Wendell class A district No. 222 was reviewed by school trustees at a special board meeting Wednesday evening.

The tentative budget is on file at the office of the superintendent of schools for inspection by all interested persons, said A. J. Rutter, superintendent.

The budget hearing will be held at 8:30 p.m. Monday at the high school auditorium. Election for an additional levy of five mills will be held from 2 to 7 p.m. Thursday at the high school.

Mr. R. E. Starr, Wendell fire chief, explained gas and smoke hazards in buildings using furnaces and stoves.

A more complete insurance coverage is now being investigated and a liability insurance policy. No action was taken.

Chamber Weighs Tax Suggestions

WENDELL, March 9—A special meeting of Wendell Chamber of Commerce was held Wednesday afternoon at Wendell Furniture store to discuss the three massive tax programs considered in the Idaho house of representatives.

B. D. Zollinger, chamber president, said the group went on record in favor of a two percent sales tax. A telegram was sent to the Gooding county representative to that effect.

Pair of Divorces Granted in T. F.

Two divorces were granted Friday by District Judge Hugh A. Baker in Twin Falls.

Mrs. June Moore was awarded a divorce from Chester Moore on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. No minor children or community property were involved. They were married May 2, 1946, at Winnemucca, Nev.

Mrs. Maude DeBorja was granted a divorce from Fred DeBorja on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. No property settlements were involved. They were married Feb. 25, 1918, in Twin Falls.

Parley Recessed For Flood Meets To Complete Job

SHOSHONE, March 9—Because of a flood emergency, the advisory board meeting of the Wood river grading district was recessed Tuesday.

Purpose of the meeting was to act on protests from previous decisions, process 1957 grazing applications, transfer grazing privileges and regular business.

To date there have been no grazing appeals concerning 1955 until applications. The board also budgeted the 50 percent monies and in so doing contributed $2,100 to hire a range rider. Fifteen per cent also was contributed to the predatory animal control board. The balance will be used for general range improvement projects.

The next advisory meeting will be held next fall, according to Roy W. Bean, district range manager.

George Leth Paid Honor at Service

BUHL, March 9—Funeral services for George C. Leth were conducted Thursday afternoon at the Buhl Presbyterian church with the Rev. Elmer Johnson officiating.

Harry Piper was soloist and Mrs. Gerald Jensen played the organ. 1000 people attended. Services were directed by the Rev. Leonard Clark, Buhl grand, with William E. Chambers as chaplain.

Honorary pallbearers were Arnold Tanner, Mike Kambrich, L. P. Hudson, Boren H. Jensen, E. H. Fember and Bert Womack. Active pallbearers were Harold E. Husted, Ralph Peterson, George A. Atkins, John B. Barker, W. L. Bremer and Charles Noh.

Ursers were B. A. Constant and William Roberts.

1000 lodge members attended in a group.

Complimentary services were held at the Buhl city cemetery.

Gravel Decision Made at Hansen

HANSEN, March 9—Hansen village board members decided the 1000 foot road must furnish its own gravel for making a driveway at the side of the road for the pool. Wet weather has made it impossible to park at the side of the road in front of the pool.

A town resident who has received too many complaints on his live-stock without proper facilities has been asked to dispose of his live-stock this week, so as not to create a health hazard to the community.

Judge Grants Odd Request, Ups Sentence

INDIANAPOLIS, March 9 (AP)—A bogus army surgeon who wanted to stay in prison long enough to finish a correspondence course in engineering is going to have almost twice as much time to get a college degree.

Frank Furness, 35-year-old Chicago truck driver now in the federal penitentiary at Terra Haute, Ind., pleaded guilty in federal court today to impersonating a federal officer and transporting stolen goods.

When Judge William E. Gladstone sentenced him to six more months in prison Furness said:

"I don't think I'm crazy, sir, but I'd like to stay there another year so I can finish a correspondence course in industrial engineering. I couldn't afford to complete it if I were on the outside."

The judge took a recess to think over the proposition. Then he sentenced Furness to 11 years, with eight suspended. The three-year term will start in January of the current two-year term ends.

Federal officials said Furness left Chicago in his laundry truck in 1935 and took a 10,000-mile tour marked by a long series of worthless checks, a bigamous marriage and an amazing impersonation of an army surgeon.

They said his knowledge of medical language was so extensive that he talked his way into the operating room at the Miles City, Mont., veterans administration hospital. He was arrested on a check charge there in Crosette, Ark.

Nehru's Party Is Winning Election

NEW DELHI, March 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party today won its third state legislative majority in India's second election.

Latest returns gave the Congress party 149 seats to 100 for the Nationalist party. The combined opposition had 49 seats with the balance still unaccounted for.

Congress already had won majorities in Andhra and Assam states in India's election commission released Saturday the first figures on the voting turnout.

Covering results through Thursday, the figures showed a turnout of about 67 per cent of the electorate. Officials had expected about 53 per cent, or 100 million of the 183 million registered voters.

Ballooning ends Thursday.

Reservoirs Help In Flood Control

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Irrigation Commissioner W. A. Deshaimes today announced that nine reservoirs in the Snake river basin above Weiser, "at a conservative estimate" reduced the threat of the flood stage at Weiser during the Feb. 23-27 period.

Deshaimes said the nine upstream irrigation reservoirs store about 200,000 acre-feet of water.

The Weiser river rises over its banks Feb. 23 and forced the evacuation of the edge of the town of Weiser.

Utah Man Killed In Auto Accident

VERMILION, Utah, March 9 (AP)—Elderly Francis E. Hays died in the wreckage of his car Friday night on a state highway east of here.

The 71-year-old man was alone when the auto left State 43 and rolled over several times about 20 miles east of Vermilion.

Highway Patrolman Roy Helm said Hays apparently was traveling at a high rate of speed when the fatal toll to 36—two above the toll for the same period of 1935.

Moscow Schools Hit by Influenza

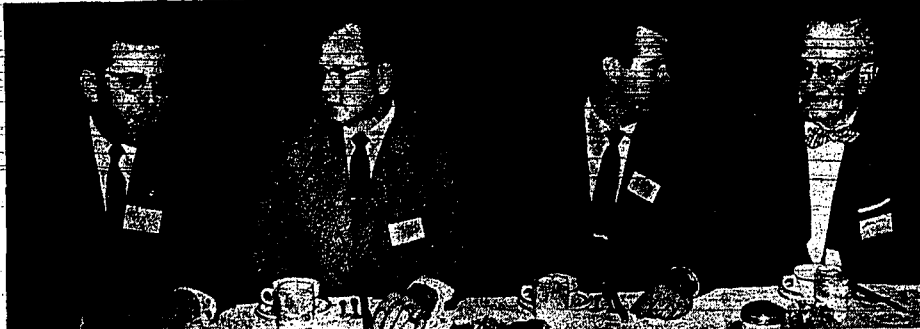

MOSCOW, March 9 (AP)—Officials said Friday that influenza had hit up students in Moscow public schools and University of Idaho, but to a lesser extent than at Lexington.

Junior and senior high schools were closed Friday at Lexington where officials estimated one-fifth of the enrollment was ill with the virus.

The university reported to known cases of influenza on the campus Friday. Burt A. B. McDonald estimated that 10 per cent of the public school population was ill with the virus.

Controversy Rages on Administration Program for Drought Disaster Relief

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt's new drought relief program stirred a storm of congressional controversy last week.

"I am most disappointed in these recommendations," Senator Ellender, D., La., chairman of the senate agriculture committee said Saturday night.

"They offer no bold, new program—they contain no specific suggestions as to how to reduce the human and economic suffering which years of drought have brought to so many farmers."

Ellender's committee must handle any legislation that results from the proposal by the President and Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Key points in the Eisenhower-Benson proposals are:

1. A suggestion that congress require state and local government to assume at least one-fourth of the cost of future drought and disaster relief programs. In recent years much of such costs have been paid from the federal treasury.

2. Increased administrative control and responsibility for the program by state, county and local agencies.

Senator Alben Barkley, D., Ky., former chairman of the agriculture committee, defended the idea of requiring states to put up part of the cost.

"Recent tax returns indicate that all these states are able to do this," he said.

Democrats generally support a bill to set corn acreage allotments this year at 43.5 million acres and give corn and other feed grain producers special extra soil bank subsidy credits. Under the law, corn planting this year would be limited to 27.5 million acres. This is the bill now before the house.

Republicans generally now favor giving corn farmers their choice between accepting price supports at $1.37 a bushel on the basis of a 27.5 million acre allotment or price supports of $1.31 a bushel on the basis of 43.5 million acres. Corn farmers would be allowed to take part in the soil bank plan in the first case and required to do so in the second.

A different version of the Republican plan was defeated by the house Thursday.

Death Cause for Man Established

JEROME, March 9 (AP)—Cause of death for Stephen Ward Meeker, 87, whose body was found Thursday at the Crystal Auto court, has been listed as accidental suffocation.

Jerome police, following an autopsy upon Mr. Meeker, reported Saturday the man had had a severe case of heart asthma. Two bruises on his head, both superficial, were acquired in a fall, police learned from witnesses.

Mr. Meeker was born March 19, 1869, in Illinois. He started in the butcher business and later switched to "restaurant" He expanded his business to Florida and then sold out to come west as head cook for the Utah Construction company. He was married in 1903 and in 1903 settled on the Buhl tract. He had been farming near Wendell for the last 10 years.

Survivors include one niece in Boise. He was the last of 17 children to die. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Croppen funeral home. Concluding rites will be held at the Wendell cemetery.

Nasser Hints At Conquest In Palestine

CATRO, March 9 (AP)—President Nasser told Palestinian students from Gaza Saturday that Arab nationalism had liberated the Gaza strip and "will help us win back all of Palestine."

Nasser spoke to a 15,000-student assembly at the presidential palace to hall the President as the liberator of Gaza and to demand that Egyptians return to the strip as administrators.

In his first speech since Israeli forces withdrew from Gaza this week, Nasser said:

"We are now stronger than before and we shall work to restore the rights of the Gaza owners."

Arab nationalism became stronger as the result of the aggression by Israel, Britain and France against Egypt, he said, and the "whole world has witnessed that Arab nationalism has become a reality."

"Arab nationalism is a weapon with which we will fight aggression, imperialistic domination and ambition of Zionism. It extends from Morocco to Baghdad and it is a weapon for us in battles that await it in the future. It was the weapon

BENGALS READY TO MEET HARDIN-SIMMONS NCAA PLAYOFF

Border Circuit Runnerup Gets Bid as Texas Western Runs Into Eligibility Woes

POCATELLO, March 9 (AP)—Idaho State's Rocky Mountain conference champions play Hardin-Simmons university here Monday night for a berth in the semifinal round of the NCAA Western regional basketball tournament. The Idaho team, unbeaten in league games, will be without one of its leading scorers, sophomore guard Jim Rodgers. Coach John Grayson said Rodgers is ineligible under NCAA rules. He enrolled at L-State last fall after a freshman year at Oklahoma City university and three years with the armed forces.

Government May Loosen IBC Ring Hold

NEW YORK, March 9 (AP)—Boxing men, the world over, were buzzing Saturday with speculation over "what happens next" in the case of the government versus the International Boxing Club. Nobody right now has any definite idea of what's going to happen.

Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan, who on the bombshell Friday morning by ruling, the sprawling IBC is a monopoly and conspiracy in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act in the promotion of professional boxing. The ruling was on only one fight and not on the weekly non-title bouts promoted on Wednesday and Friday nights by the IBC to coast to coast radio and television programs.

That Ryan's alleged monopoly will be broken up by court order remains to be seen. Judge Ryan directed both the government and the IBC to submit proposed decrees within 30 days. Hearings then will be held before a final court order is handed down.

That Ryan's decision necessarily end the legal action. There are indications that if James D. Norris, president of the IBC, and his associates named in the suit, brought the final ruling by Judge Ryan was too severe they would turn to the court of appeals and if necessary to the supreme court. This takes plenty of time.

In the "what happens next" guessing game, most observers felt the government might try to clip the IBC's earnings this way: force the IBC to relinquish some of the big arena fights. Madison Square Garden in New York, Chicago's Madison Square Garden, Detroit's Olympia, etc.; nullify the club's exclusive contracts with champion fighters and make it give up, either the Wednesday or Friday night network show.

Mountain Home Quintet Well Regarded in Tourney

By The Associated Press

When opponents of the champions from Idaho's district 3 come up against the cagers in this week's state high school tournament, here's what they'll find:

Mountain Home, class A champion, is a tough, cool combination specializing in teamwork under pressure.

Runners-up Caldwell, the most unpredictable of the four, can steam up an almost unbeatable spirit.

Homebased, class B champion has made one but two excellent outside shooters.

And Nodus has both height and experience.

The Mountain Home-Tigers played in last year's tournament and seem to rattle less easily than the first of the high school teams. There are no individual standouts.

Goodenough, a center, is the only starter over the six-foot mark and has a good jump shot from anywhere in close.

The team's fireball is a 5-8 guard, Ralph McGrath. McGrath is a zealot, a rebounder, a competitor who performs best under pressure. He scored 16 of the team's 22 points in the second half of the game.

Triumph Mine and Mill Closure on March 15 to End Employment for 111 Blaine County Workers

This 200-ton flotation mill was erected at Triumph mine north of Hailey after the North Star mill burned in 1946. Tailings are flumed under the highway and deposited in a field adjacent to the east fork of Big Wood river. A. F. Crosby is mill superintendent.

Triumph Mine Shutdown to Cut Off Chief Revenue for Hailey, Bellevue

Clean Davis, left, leaves his home in Hailey to go to work for what may be the last time at the Triumph mine. He is the mine's oldest employee and, for the last 13 years, has been a compressor operator. He is accompanied by his brother-in-law, Frank Knight, and is asked what he thinks of the mine's closing. Knight, who owns the Knight ranch, the last of the Big Wood river where the Triumph mine is located. Knight's father, George Knight, purchased the ranch 24 years ago. (Staff photo-photomontage)

HAILEY, March 9.—What does a community do when its main source of revenue is about to dry up? That's a 144-question-for-Hailey and Bellevue. On Friday the last car will rumble from Triumph mine. The mine, which has been in operation since 1921, will be closed. Mrs. Margaret Wise, office employee, will go off shift for the last time. Triumph mine, with its $100,000-a-week payroll, will be closed.

Where will the miners go? What effect will the loss of revenue have on merchants in the Wood river valley? How will the schools be affected? Just what will the effect be on Hailey and Bellevue with the main source of revenue shut off? These and other questions are on the tips of the tongues of just about every adult resident in the two communities. Ketchum, tied closely to Sun Valley and with only one resident employed at the mine, apparently will not be affected directly by the mine's shutdown.

In spite of the uncertainty, though, there is an air of optimism in Hailey. "Triumph mine has closed before—and has reopened. It can't do it again," they claim. They admit the closing of the mine has been a blow but that they are confident, too, that after a period of readjustment, Hailey will go on just as before. "What else is there to do?" they ask.

It is true, Triumph mine has closed before and has reopened. Since the main Triumph vein was discovered in the 1880s, the mine has closed and reopened several times. There are residents of Hailey and Bellevue who remember when the mine closed the last time. That was in 1921.

They also remember the welcome news in 1928 when the mine was reopened again. "The mine was reopened," they say, "and the mine was reopened." The mine was reopened in 1928 when the mine was reopened again.

After living with it for 30 years, Lewis M. Robinson, general manager of the mine, issued a statement to explain why the mine was closing. "In order that the public might be informed," the manager of Triumph Mining company would like to make known the reasons for suspension of operations on March 15, 1937, he said. "First of all, the cost of operations has advanced over the past two years, with no accompanying increase in efficiency, to the point where even a 'break-even' level is impossible under the present economic conditions. Not since 1928 has the mine been able to operate at a profit. The mine has been reduced to the point where very little quality ore is available to mine. The bulk of what is available is of insufficient grade to profitably move."

The results from long range development, in which we have been assisted technically and financially by the defense-minerals-employment administration, have been negative. Other development projects have been considered but due to the excessive expense involved, nothing is planned at this time.

Operations for the last two years have resulted in a considerable loss to the company due to a combination of reduced efficiency, resulting in higher unit costs for labor, higher cost of supplies due to our suppliers and greatly reduced highest grade of ore reserve.

The $100,000-a-week payroll is not an official figure provided by the mine but is an estimate offered by Vera Curtis, Salt Lake City, representative for the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union. Twenty-one miners live in Bellevue, 12 live in Ketchum and 77 in Hailey.

They said the average pay at the mine is $17 a day or $35 a week. Multiplied by 111 workers, the payroll comes close to $10,000 a week. Using the union's figures, closing of the mine will mean a loss of $1,785 a week to Bellevue residents and $4,545 to Hailey residents. Miners who have been living at Triumph stand to lose $1,000 a week.

John Jewett, Hailey manager for the Idaho Power company, made no direct comment on the economics of the situation. He did point out, though, that a power company substation on the east fork of the Big Wood river, with a capacity of 6,000 kilowatts, supplies the mine with 1,500 kilowatts.

"This is just about the same number of kilowatts as Hailey uses," he said. "While the miners themselves are of the mine's closing, their wives have a more practical outlook. One miner's wife, following a loan at the bank, purchased a paint with which to paint their home."

John Jewett, left, manager of the Idaho Power company, office in Hailey, and John Bolliger, manager of the Hailey municipal waterworks, discuss what closing the mine will mean, economically, to Hailey. Merchants in Wood River valley are reluctant to discuss the economic future, waiting to hear what the future will bring. The estimated weekly payroll of the 111 employees at the mine is $10,000. Most of the 111 employees live and own homes in Hailey but 21 live in Bellevue. Ketchum, with its economy tied to Sun Valley, isn't expected to be affected. (Staff photo-photomontage)

Along with Harry Allen, one-time owner of the Independence mine, he burned his name with a carbide light on a timber in the Plummer tunnel. The Independence was opened in 1925 and a mill was erected in 1926. The mine was abandoned in 1926. The North Star mill, named for one of Hailey's pioneer physicians who had a flare for mining, was hatched through the mountain for one and one-half miles to connect the North Star and Independence tunnels.

The North Star mill burned in 1946 and was replaced by a modern 200-ton flotation mill. Concentrates are hauled from here by Sawtooth motors. Hailey, to Ketchum where they are loaded onto the Union Pacific railroad cars for shipment. In the old days, four-horse teams plodded the miles over dirt roads and men, equipped with axes, loaded the ore into the wagons. The teams made only one trip a day.

Today, the loading of trucks and cars is automatic and a round trip can be made in an hour. In addition to the mine and mill, the Triumph company operates two sawmills to provide lumber for the mine. Under the direction of Jack Butler, outdoor superintendent, the mills provide a small flow of lumber for supports last year.

A small forest has gone into the underground for mine supports since the 1880s. Butler observed. Robinson, in announcing the closing of the mine, said a small crew would be kept on hand to keep the water down in the mine for a short time. Several years ago an underground river was struck at the 1,000-foot level and since then there has been a continual flow of 50 inches of water at the mine.

John Jewett, left, manager of the Idaho Power company, office in Hailey, and John Bolliger, manager of the Hailey municipal waterworks, discuss what closing the mine will mean, economically, to Hailey. Merchants in Wood River valley are reluctant to discuss the economic future, waiting to hear what the future will bring. The estimated weekly payroll of the 111 employees at the mine is $10,000. Most of the 111 employees live and own homes in Hailey but 21 live in Bellevue. Ketchum, with its economy tied to Sun Valley, isn't expected to be affected. (Staff photo-photomontage)

Representatives of the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' union representative from Salt Lake City. The closure threatens 111 mine employees out of work on March 15 and stops an approximately $10,000 a week payroll from the mine. Many of the miners plan to leave the Hailey local. Tony Crook, president of the local, and Vera Curtis, secretary of the local, are shown. (Staff photo-photomontage)

A string of ore cars at Triumph mine prepares to disappear underground. After Friday, the string may disappear forever since the mine is scheduled to close down for economic reasons. The mine, opened originally in the 1880s, has a history of closings and reopenings. The residents feel the mine will reopen again. (Staff photo-photomontage)

Parking Lots Necessary as Auto Ownership Grows

Parking lots like this one have developed into a necessity in Twin Falls, as in nearly every other city, where population growth and continued increase in car ownership have far outstripped available parking spaces on streets. (Staff photo-photographing)

Serious Parking Problem Is Resulting From Population Increase, More Autos

An increasing population and the increasing demand for more parking space.

Alberson's Food store near Five points west has parking lots for customers on both sides of the building. Twin Falls Bank and trust company has a lot on Second avenue west for customers. A metered parking lot owned by C. C. Anderson company, located on Second avenue east, has been in operation for several years. Other privately owned lots are located near the center of the city.

The six city-operated lots were financed by a group of Twin Falls businessmen. They leased the lots to the city to secure effective regulation. Known as "X" Park Parking lots, they are controlled by the city but the actual supervision and maintenance of the lots has been subleased back to the businessmen.

Recently, State Traffic Engineer Ella Mathews said, "Projects of this nature have proved highly successful in other parts of the country and are certainly an important step in planning and progress of any modern city."

Mathews praised businessmen and city officials for cooperating in the project and said it "should serve as an excellent example to other cities in the development of off-street parking facilities."

Lattimore says the city plans to install more meters on streets immediately adjacent to the parking lots. Additional meters eventually will be installed in what he described as "the outlying area from the business district."

The shortage of parking space for county and state employees and persons having business at the Twin Falls county courthouse has resulted in plans for a parking lot on Second street north side of the building.

The county commission is awaiting bids for construction of a parking lot.

ALMO VISITORS
ALMO, March 9—Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Norton, East St. Louis, Ill., have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Zenith Taylor.

James P. Babo, university librarian, has written that a collection of duplicate books is being built up from those given to the library at New Haven and that he will send the books here for use of the proposed library, for Ketchum, Sun Valley and Triumph.

Babo was born in Lewiston, Idaho, and the work being done here to provide a community library for this area from Dr. Richard Light, Kalamazoo, Mich., who became interested in the library association while a guest at Sun Valley last summer.

Babo also hints at another windfall that may come to the library. He said, "I have another idea as to how to get some books for you, but I will keep it a secret until it comes off."

Library Given Book Windfall

SUN VALLEY, March 9.—Word has been received here by the Community Library association that within the next six months it will receive a gift of books from the Yale university library, New Haven, Conn.

A consequence of the need for parking space is demonstrated in the space provided around the Twin Falls high school and the recently completed Harrison and Morning-side schools.

Should the production of cars and the population of Twin Falls continue to increase, the city may be forced to "go underground" to provide shopping space near the main business district. At an example, San Francisco has one huge parking area underground in the heart of the city.

However, construction of new shopping districts and business buildings in Twin Falls is moving to the outskirts of the city. With the construction of each new business building or shopping district, engineers take into consideration the ever-growing need of more parking space.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

By DONALD B. BLACKSTONE
(Pastor, First Presbyterian Church)

One of the common slang expressions these days is "Brother, I've had it." It is a slang phrase that curls an English teacher's hair.

Nevertheless, it is a slang phrase well many a present-day situation.

For example, "Brother, I've had it!" That is a hard day's kind of slang work of play, and dropping into the nearest comfort.

able chair exclaims, "Brother, I've had it!" That is understandable.

It is character. It is the nature of human life or family life that it is constantly plagued with problems. Often these problems are a great strain upon the members of the family who are together. They can dilute the love with which the home began and destroy the will to go on.

When this situation begins to develop both husband and wife should go to their minister, or to a family counselor. But so often, the step is delayed too long. The result is that one or both partners come to the place where all that they have left to say is, "Brother, I've had it."

When that happens another "broken home" is added to mankind's miseries.

Men and women outside the church also can misuse the word. "Brother, I've had it." A few weeks ago I approached a particular man about getting into the study and worship of the church. He said, "Brother, I've had it."

To my mind, all of this above

use of the phrase, "Brother, I've had it," is very defensible. But there are times when the phrase and the ideas and spirit which it expresses are definitely out of place.

For example: The boy or girl who gets off to a slow start in high school or college may decide to drop out of school altogether. He announces his discouragement and decision with the phrase, "Brother, I've had it." Naturally there are exceptions. But, generally speaking, it is a great mistake for any youth today to reject an opportunity for additional education. He might far better start over again than give up. A youth can mistakenly use the phrase, "Brother, I've had it."

Husbands and wives also can misuse these words, "Brother, I've had it." It is the nature of human life or family life that it is constantly plagued with problems. Often these problems are a great strain upon the members of the family who are together. They can dilute the love with which the home began and destroy the will to go on.

To my mind, all of this above

stopped me short with the words, "Brother, I've had it."

I decided to return the fire so I asked, "Just what have you had in religion?" That turned out to be a very telling counter attack. He admitted that he had only a few years in childhood of infrequent Sunday school attendance.

He didn't enjoy Sunday school and his parents made him go anyway. He stopped attending in his teens and he hadn't been back since. He had no more idea as a Jackrabbit as to what constitutes the Christian faith.

And he has no experience at all of Christian fellowship in a modern church. I replied, "Brother, you haven't had it. You have completely missed it and you like every other man, can never really live without it." He saw the point, and declared our conversation to have been helpful to him.

I have mentioned this situation because it is so common, and because what was helpful to this man may turn out to be helpful to you, too.

Man Helps to Improve Upon Nature

These pictures, taken by the bureau of land management, show "before" and "after" scenes of the same area. The upper picture, taken in 1936, shows sagebrush-covered land. The lower picture, taken a year later, shows how the desert appears after the sagebrush has been removed and crested wheat grass planted. The livestock carrying capacity of the land, once it has been reseeded, is increased tremendously, the bureau reports. Currently the bureau has approximately 100,000 acres of reseeded land in Twin Falls, Cassia and Owyhee counties. (Staff engravings)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Thirty years ago the civilian conservation corps tried an experiment in Owyhee county to improve upon nature. The experiment wasn't much of a success but today the experiment, with improvements, is an accepted practice. As a result, this spring more than 100,000 acres of former sagebrush land in Cassia, Owyhee and Twin Falls counties will turn green with grass. Artificial reseeding of rangelands has become recognized as an unqualified success even though the first experiments were not spectacular. The carrying capacity of rangeland has been increased many times as a result.

One of the main reasons for the growth of the nation, a poisonous weed. The reseeding work on bureau of land management land in Cassia, Twin Falls and Owyhee counties is handled through the bureau's office in BULWYLL, Wilford Quinn, reseeded manager. His immediate assistant is Gaila Crist.

Saving Soil Is Topic of T. F. Poster Event

The Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Twin Falls soil conservation district are again sponsoring the soil-conservation poster contest in grade schools in the Twin Falls soil conservation district.

Approximately 250 pupils in Shamrock, Hollister, Roseworth, Clover and Cherry Creek schools have entered the contest. Purpose of the contest is to provide young people with information about soil conservation and to allow them to express on their poster what soil conservation means to them.

During the past week, four movies were shown to students at each of the schools. Poster material and reference information were distributed by Twin Falls Jaycees Robert Haas and Howard Morton, and Walter Hanks of the soil conservation service. Because of poor condition of roads, it was necessary to use a four-wheel drive vehicle furnished by the Jessor Equipment company to make trips to Cherry Creek and Roseworth.

The contest will end April 1. Posters will be judged and the winning posters exhibited in the Idaho Power company window in Twin Falls from April 15 to 22. Judging will be done on the basis of four grades: first, second, third and fourth. First and second place winners will be awarded first and second place winners in each division by the Twin Falls Jaycees.

Other Twin Falls Jaycees assisting in the contest are Art Duncan, Roy Jessor, Al Dougherty and Richard Moon. The contest rules are prepared by Clarence Jendek, work unit conservationist for the Twin Falls soil conservation district.

Some time ago the young adult of the Methodist church in HAGERMAN decided to adopt a Korean orphan. The adoption was through World Vision.

Recently the class received a picture of their adopted son, who is Pak Chang Hee, who was born June 23, 1941.

In her role to the class, she says her father and Pak Chang Hee mother were killed by communists. She is the sixth grade at the Bingham City dormitory.

The plan to adopt a Korean orphan was started by Mrs. E. E. Swenson, president of the class. Since Dec. 1, 1955, the class has been providing clothing and other necessities and has been making sure she is not just another forgotten war orphan.

Attendance Good at Magic Valley's Farm Sales

Shown is a portion of the crowd, estimated at 200 to 300, which attended a farm sale southwest of Kimberly last week. Attendance is usually good at such sales. From 200 to 400 farm sales are held each season in Magic Valley, starting in the latter part of September and running through March. Everything from tractor machinery to minor household items are sold. (Staff photo-engraving)

Frequent Farm Sales Are Featured in This Area From September to March

When the harvest has been completed and Magic Valley fields have become silent, a new sound fills the air as the auctioneer's chant starts a new season of buying and selling at farm sales.

From September until the latter end of March some 20 to 40 auctions are held each week in the Magic Valley. The highest bidder "took the whole lot" for $60,000. Iversen related.

Klaas says the average attendance at a farm sale is from 200 to 300 persons. He said his firm has worked 127 sales this year in Magic Valley. He notes gross receipts will run anywhere from $1,000, a small sale, to as high as $30,000. Iversen says the highest sale he had ever auctioned was a real estate sale which grossed $120,000.

Klaas estimated from 800 to 1,000 persons were present at a recent sale held by the Floyd Jones estate near Twin Falls. Because the weather was bad and there was no place to park, he said state police permitted cars to park alongside the road. He stated the cars were lined up for four miles on both sides of the highway.

Few sales are canceled because of weather conditions, Klaas says. Only a bad rainstorm or inaccessible locations caused by bad road conditions will cause a cancellation, he stated.

Often the auctioneer will be relieved by his partner after one hour of steady chanting. These men alone could make a day's work of a colorful event. With a mouthful of rapid-flowing words the auctioneer is the man who runs the sale and an item from nothing to a respectable selling price.

When the farmer decides he wants to sell surplus machinery or livestock, Klaas has enough to hold a sale of his own, but when they put their articles together a good sale is the result.

Iversen, who came to Magic Valley 11 years ago from the Salmon river country in Montana, says he has sold almost everything during his 11 years as a practicing auctioneer.

A few years ago, he said, he sold a completely stocked ranch on Dry Creek.

The high bidder "took the whole lot" for $60,000. Iversen related.

to sell out he merely has to get in touch with an auctioneer. From that point on the auctioneer takes care of arrangements.

Handbills are distributed and advertisements are carried in newspapers. A clerk is obtained and a complete inventory is made of all items to be sold.

For these services the auctioneer receives three per cent of the gross receipts and the clerk receives two per cent. The remainder of the money goes to the owner.

The auctioneering business is not one a person enters merely because he was born with a "fast tongue". A large percentage of Magic Valley auctioneers are like Joe Roe, Wendell, Iversen's partner, who is a graduate of an accredited auctioneering school in Billings, Mont.

The auctioneer alone, however, is not the only feature attraction at the farm sale. Like the woman who rushes to the department store on the day of the sale, the man who needs a tractor, plow, or merely wants to invest in a few head of cattle, takes his chance at an accredited auctioneer.

Normally he can open the bid for any amount he desires, and, if it is not the only feature attraction at the farm sale, the man who needs a tractor, plow, or merely wants to invest in a few head of cattle, takes his chance at an accredited auctioneer.

Although the work reported was for Grangers, such isn't always the case, Mills said. The idea of Grangers is to assist other people and to project some under the name of community service.

As part of the project this year, Grangers have decided to make bicycle racks for the Shoshone schools. A continuing project is the building of a house which has been erected by

In addition to providing new seedling for livestock, the reseeded areas also produce grass seed for other areas. This seed is harvested much like wheat. Last year the three counties produced 312,000 pounds of seed for use in other areas. The seed is sold to the public, a native of Siberia, is used in bureau of land management reseeding programs.

The day for helping a neighbor may thought to be over by many persons these busy days, but not according to Ward Mills, master of the Wood River Center Grange, north of SHOSHONE.

Sometimes neighbors deeds save considerable money for the recipient but the reward is worth more than money, Mills points out. The real reward comes in the unexpected: the friendship exchanged in the deed.

An illustration of the "helping a neighbor" deed came to light at a meeting of Wood River Center Grange last Saturday night when Earl Vassant reported Grangers had given 14 men-labor to him in labor on constructing his new home.

There are two other Grangers in the process of building homes. Neil and Russell Kelley. Kelley reports Grangers have given him about 140 hours in assisting him with his building and Mills reports 250 hours have been given in actual construction. The house plus 120 hours given last year in laying pipe for water to his house.

Display Stand May Be Used for Vocation Course Here

Richard Nielsen, Twin Falls high school pupil, looks over a display stand which has not been used since the new high school opened. Part of a room designed for teaching salesmanship and other vocational courses, the platform was constructed for teaching display advertising.

Work in Vocational Field Being Eyed As School Enrollment Still Climbing

The increasing number of children entering public schools and eventually colleges is providing a new and different situation which the local school district is beginning to take steps to counteract by work in the vocational field.

Larger number of youth seeking entrance to colleges will put colleges in a position where they can be "selective" in a few years. This means public school systems will have to step up their college preparatory education in order to give youth an equal opportunity for college entrance.

At the same time, the public school will have to expand its curriculum more extensively into the vocational field. This must be done to give those rejected by colleges the needed edge in getting jobs such as selling, secretarial work and similar fields.

Local school administrators are aware this situation will not become acute for several more years. However, they are exploring several possibilities to begin the vocational expansion in the near future.

They note the college preparatory group can be accomplished with a minimum of effort, simply by raising the standard of the curriculum. The vocational expansion must be started from the bottom and the initial cost for opening each new department will be great.

They add that even if the college situation is somehow alleviated, the vocational education should still become an integral part of the high school system.

Students who are either financially unable or just not interested in college will benefit the most from the training. In addition to helping the youth obtain a job, the program will benefit the employer, who will not lose money during the training period.

Another important intonation of the expanded program would allow the school administration to gain better control of student interest, with the corresponding reduction of "dropouts." The vocational education plan is aimed at the "non-academic" student. While the youth is learning through this program, he also is getting a little "book-learning."

Four points currently are being studied by the Twin Falls district. Two would fall in the expansion category and the others would be new.

The first two would be enlarging the home economics and the industrial arts departments. These two, along with the vocational agricultural department, are now overcrowded although doesn't want to take the courses were rejected.

In looking around for new expansion, the school administration is considering starting a distributive course. This room, which includes counters, showcases and a three-way mirror, is the only one of its kind in the state. (Staff photo-arranging) tributive room, which consists of shelves, showcases, a three-way mirror and display stands.

The biggest problem would be securing an efficient instructor. There are only four such courses in Idaho at this time and the number of adequate instructors is few, Lefebvre points out.

A complete vocational education system would not be detrimental to any business, Lefebvre continues. He noted business colleges could take a student trained in high school and turn out a more efficient worker. It is able to dispense with preliminary steps. The high school program would allow the business college to begin its courses at a higher level with the corresponding amount of greater proficiency at the time of graduation.

Although the distributive course would open up a new field at the local high school, Lefebvre said he would not think it in the mentioned points if it were a matter of choosing. Explaining, he said the home economics and industrial arts expansion would accommodate more pupils. Both of these programs allow the school to increase its hold on power over the student, he said, by offering him a new interest in school if books and higher education do not appeal to him.

Grades would be given both by the high school instructor and the employer who cooperates in the plan.

Entering this program would not limit the district much more than the salary of the instructor. The high school building here is the only one in the state that includes a distributive room, which consists of shelves, showcases, a three-way mirror and display stands.

Hospital's Technician Uses New Equipment

Robert, chemical and tissue technician in the pathology department at Magic Valley Memorial hospital, studies a specimen which has been run through the department's latest piece of equipment. Called the X-ray detector, the apparatus incorporates the most modern methods of determining the activity of the thyroid gland. The pathology department, through this and other modern pieces of laboratory equipment, serves all local doctors by helping them diagnose and determine the treatment for all types of diseases. (Staff photo—enlarging)

Pathology Department Has Important Role for Patients, Dr. Creed Reports

Regardless of the reason a person enters Magic Valley Memorial hospital, part of him always gets the pathology department. The primary purpose of the department is to assist the family physician in diagnosing the patient's illness and help determine and control treatment, says Dr. J. Woodson Creed, pathologist.

To accomplish this goal, Dr. Creed is aided by four highly trained technicians. The laboratory is divided into departments. These include the hematology department, which is really the blood bank; Dr. Creed says the laboratory receives blood from the Red Cross and other sources and keeps between 20 and 40 pints on hand at all times for emergency and immediate use. Determination of blood and blood counting also come under this phase.

Mail Official Offers Rules For Planters

Postmaster W. W. Francis Friday outlined procedures for home gardeners to follow in insuring safe delivery of shrubbery and plants during the current planting season.

"Because much of the stock is perishable," Francis said, "these plants cannot be expected without the cooperation of the purchaser and delivering agent."

Francis advised, "If away or on vacation, make arrangements to have a neighbor accept shipments. Keep moist and in a cool location until planting time. Otherwise, the plants may deteriorate in storage at the postoffice, express, or freight station while awaiting delivery."

"If a neighbor cannot accept delivery," he continued, "contact the postoffice or transportation agent, and leave instructions as to where the plants can be delivered. A cool basement, garage or shaded porch is always better than a mail room or hand department for dormant plants and nursery stock."

"Best of all, if you are home, have the ground well prepared, and make your planting as soon as possible after delivery," Francis said, "and insure the plants, and follow the sender's instructions for insuring best growth of all plant material." The postmaster concluded.

Penniless Prospector Tells What He Did With Six-Million-Dollar Bonanza

BY LIP ERICKSON

SARATOGA, Calif., March 9.—So he took the six million dollars, he said, and he spent it while he waited for the money to come in. He said he had received the money from the sale of the uranium mine in Utah two and a half years ago. Six million dollars, he said, was not a lot of money. He said he had received the money from the sale of the uranium mine in Utah two and a half years ago. Six million dollars, he said, was not a lot of money. He said he had received the money from the sale of the uranium mine in Utah two and a half years ago. Six million dollars, he said, was not a lot of money.

Pick had found and staked his fabulously rich Delta claim just two years before he said, "I made my strike on what he had decided would be his last effort—after nine months of waiting and waiting in the desert canyons of the Colorado plateau."

With six million dollars "cold and clear" in his possession, Pick went through several months of soul searching before he figured out that doing his job as he wanted was a happy and still a right and useful way to handle his bonanza fortune.

Actually, Pick related, "The advice I heard most was: 'If it happened to me, I wouldn't work another day in my life.'"

"I suppose a lot of people would say I'm a damn fool. I sure keep busy. Where Pick keeps busy is in the just completed $250,000 electronics geology laboratory he built on a flattened-out, scenic knoll in the Santa Cruz mountains west of Saratoga.

Behind the lab-building lies a 1,000-foot surfaced runway from which Pick can take off on his business journeys piloting his four-place light plane—the same kind President Eisenhower uses going to Gettysburg.

"Near by on the knoll top is Pick's newly built $50,000 100-ton 'hot' mansion. Just a nice and comfortable home."

He has indulged himself in one hobby facility, a small rifle target range.

This is the layout, at the end of a road climbing out of a redwood canyon, which Pick chose for living and working the way he wanted.

THE THINGS you enjoy — rugs, furnishings, TV set, your clothes — may be soaked clean of their value by the water that gets them from fire!

Not a pretty thought. And it's expensive unless you have broad insurance protection for that personal property!

If you don't have it, ask us about it today. It will be yours at little extra cost.

Self Portrait of Photographer

The Rev. Dwight E. Wilcher, pastor of the Methodist church in Jerome, poses for a self portrait as he works in his darkroom. The Rev. Mr. Wilcher stumbled into photography as a hobby when a friend presented him with a 35-cent camera during World War II. (Photo by the Rev. Dwight E. Wilcher—staff engraving)

Magic Valley Hobbies No. 63

Need to Occupy Time During War Gives Lifelong Hobby to Chaplain

JEROME, March 9.—When the Rev. Dwight E. Wilcher, pastor of the First Methodist church in Jerome, was a chaplain in the army during World War II, he found there were occasions when time weighed heavily on his hands, especially when he was waiting for an invasion.

He tried thumb twiddling but found that wasn't very satisfying. What he needed was a hobby, any hobby, just so long as it took time off his hands and his mind off his worries.

He didn't plan photography as a hobby. It just happened that way when a friend gave him a camera that had cost $8 cents.

Since then, he has learned a lot about photography which probably is one of the most widespread hobbies in the country today. He has learned it can be expensive or inexpensive, as the hobbyist wishes. But he also has learned it is difficult to keep the hobby inexpensive, because now if I had that camera or that enlarger or this tripod or that camera, I'd get better pictures."

The hobby, if the onslaught of rationalization are successfully beaten back, can be practiced with an inexpensive camera. Then, except for the initial cost of the camera, the only expense involved is the price of film and developing and printing. And to that extent, there's hardly a person in the country who hasn't indulged in the hobby.

But a lot of people have had experiences similar to those of the Rev. Mr. Wilcher. A 35-cent camera has led to a more expensive camera which has led to another type of camera and then to darkroom equipment.

The Rev. Mr. Wilcher didn't intend to go into the darkroom end of the business. All he was interested in at first was taking pictures. He took pictures of almost everything in Japan, he says, and lost most of them while getting them developed. He lost so many, in fact, he decided the only way he'd ever have much to show for his efforts would be to develop them himself.

The result? He says he ruled just about as many rolls of film as the Japanese.

He spent four years in Japan, Philippines Islands, Okinawa and Bermuda and during that time experimented with and experienced enjoyment with his new hobby. Among the pictures he treasures are those of Mt. Fuji 50 miles northwest of Tokyo, the Dai Ichi building which was General MacArthur's headquarters in Japan, and of President Eisenhower when he was chief of staff.

Other pictures important to him are those of the Empress of Japan and the Palace grounds, the capital building and the art museum in Japan. He took pictures of landscapes and of farming in Japan. After he returned from overseas, he had the opportunity to take pictures of Abraham Lincoln's tomb in Oak Park cemetery and of Lincoln's home, which is now a museum. He also has pictures of Mark Twain's home in Hannibal, Mo., and even the fence Tom Sawyer is supposed to have whittled.

The Rev. Mr. Wilcher also uses his hobby in his work. He takes pictures of weddings, baptisms and Scout events that occur in his church and then shares his hobby with others by giving the people the pictures he has taken.

As a part of his hobby he has compiled a pictorial history of the Jerome church under his ministry. Yet, with all the facets his hobby has, he still finds most enjoyment in the phase he practiced when he started his hobby—that of taking pictures of landscapes.

History of 4-H Is Given at Meeting

KIMBERLY, March 9.—Jerry Nelson gave a history of 4-H clubs at a meeting of the Kimberly Junior Livestock 4-H club Thursday night at the home of Joe McCollum. Plans were made for a tour of the Morrison ranch near Hartshorn on March 31. The tour will follow a short meeting at Eddie Swenson's home. Club members also are to contribute old clothing to a rummage sale in which the club is participating. Each member is contributing 10 cents to a fund to help finance foreign exchange students.

In the absence of Hugh Nelson, leader, Allan Neill, junior leader, was in charge of the meeting.
