AS RUSSIA SOWS...

President Eisenhower wants peace. But he has never pretended it could be gained by buckling before the arrogant threats of the Soviet Union.

We are hearing fresh threats these days. The Soviet Union warns France and Israel that if they should move against Egypt again, a broad Middle Eastern conflict might result. Norway, Japan and Denmark are told that if they allow atomic bases to be established on their soil they will be annihilated in event of war.

REDUCED COAST GUARD FUNDS—

The situation taken by Humphrey and Weeks was under-standable. It is not surprising that the cabinet member, however, took an altogether different stand when he appeared before a senate appropri-ations subcommittee in Washington.

Anyone who plays both ends against the middle will discover soon that the middle is not always strong enough to hold up. It will give away and when it does—there goes everything!

THE PRESIDENT DENOUNCES RUSSIA FOR these menacing gestures. As he notes, Japan, Norway, Denmark and their counterparts in Asia and Europe have a perfect right to take what measures they wish for defense, to join in such defensive arrangements as they deem wise and proper.

Solon Record

Due for Close Stock-Taking

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The approach of Easter annually gives a signal for the closing of the congressional session as the start of the year.

There is a widespread tendency each year to come up with the finding that Congress hasn't done much and that the session has been unproductive. This is the case with the session that is now under way.

To this conclusion, however, the assembly and especially its leadership is not in accord. It is the feeling of the leadership that Congress at work in the winter session has done more than in any other session in the past.

The table of bills out of the committee shows a record in the spring and early summer.

Of the 100 bills introduced in the House, 31 only 13 bills have become law. But scores of others have emerged from committee and have been passed by one of the two houses.

The most important act of Congress during the first three months was passage of the resolution asserting the Eisenhower doctrine for the Middle East.

Other major bills passed were a 10-month extension of corporate income and excess tax rates, new lending authority for the small business administration, and more power for the government to buy mortgages and free more private funds for home financing.

Otherwise, the house has passed five of the regular legislative bills, none of which is of great importance. The Senate has passed a $100,000,000 public works bill and a massive review of federal banking laws—two bills which now await house action.

At this point, the atmosphere in Congress indicates that a great volume of legislation is not to be expected, however, that the record of a Congress cannot be measured in terms of the number of bills passed.

The latest news in a problem which has plagued Congress for more than two years is a charge that the President is "pulling the rug" from under the "brutal" to the rebels.

Surprisingly, the charge has been made not only by newspapers, intellectuals and members of parliament but by some army officers.

The charge has been made by a French officer, who has held office longer than any predecessor in the end of the Algerian crisis.

There has been talk in Paris that, added to all his other troubles, the new Algerian leader might bring about his fall.

In an attempt to satisfy critics of the Algerian situation, the Algerian government has set up a special committee to investigate political allegations and also to expose false accusations against the French forces.

Mollet would like to free elections in Algeria to give the Algerians a considerable measure of home rule. But he insists that the rebels must be killed by the French.

Robert Lacoste, Mollet's minister in Algeria, is urging him to do nothing but to continue to insist the rebels are on the run at last. He wants Mollet to give France's army $100,000,000 in Algeria a chance to deliver a knockout blow.

The charge that the army is oppressing Algerians came as a surprise. The rebels have been making cruel and ruthless if not inhuman attacks on civilians since Nov. 1, 1954, as well as French since Nov. 1, 1954.

The Algerian government has been making a series of recommendations for the $100,000,000 program. It will raise as a loan from the United States.

Other legislative proposals also must travel a rough road. For two to four years the Eisenhower administration has asked Congress to raise postal rates, to amend the Taft-Hartley act and to amend the immigration laws. It is all asking.

Boy Dies Saving Younger Brother

MONTROSE, Pa., April 8.—An heroic 7-year-old boy who pulled a kite away from his younger brother as it neared a high tension power line was killed by electric shock yesterday.

Investigators said William Kropp was apparently alone in the yard and grabbed the kite string from his 4-year-old brother, Ronald, just before the kite sailed into the power line. The string contained small wire strands that transmitted the current.

End Operation

Three Twin Falls soldiers have completed taking part in operation Beason Hill, the largest amphibious operation in the Far East since World War II.

They are Seaman Donald L. Armstrong, Corporal U.S. Marine, and Private William L. Almon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland J. Almon, aboard the USS St. Paul and Seaman Bobby O. Hendrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Clark, aboard the USS Richard B. Anderson.

Canny Scot

GLASGOW, Scotland, April 8.—Curious public utility inspectors who tried to find out why elderly Mrs. Chisholm of Inverclyde used the six cents worth of electricity in three months reported today the meter was broken.

The meter is broken, the inspectors said, and it is not to be lighted for an hour.

Case of 'Mad Bomber' Poses Legal and Medical Problems

NEW YORK, April 8.—Should a mentally ill criminal be allowed to "get away" with his act by going to a hospital instead of jail? Who decides that the man is ill? And should a judge ignore the advice of medical experts and order such a man to jail?

The celebrated case of the "mad bomber" or "satanic bomber" has suddenly become a classic example of this dilemma which increasingly plagues courthouses at a time when criminal mental illness and pleas of insanity are all rising.

The mad bomber, meek-looking Little George Metesky, 33, planted some 50 bombs in such public places as movie houses and railroad stations to avenge a grievance against an electrical company. Fifteen persons were injured by the explosions over a 10-year period until Metesky's capture last Jan. 21.

All New York took it for fact that the mad bomber was indeed mad. How else to explain his dangerous acts of violence against innocent bystanders, the fact that he invited his own capture by exchanging open letters with a newspaper, that he smiled when accused of attempted murder, looked bored during court proceedings and seemed to relate to the publicity?

A panel of three psychiatrists confirmed the public's suspicions. They pronounced Metesky a mentally ill person who should be in a hospital.

But to everyone's astonishment Manhattan General Sessions Judge John A. Mulvan ordered the bachelor to stand trial on a 47-count indictment including attempted murder.

In the eyes of the law, the question is not whether the doctors consider the bomber mentally ill. It is whether he knew what he was doing.

"Doctors can give evidence and opinions," our legal expert told United Press. "But the judge is supreme. He must apply the doctors' knowledge to the legal system. The psychiatrists can only give their diagnoses. A man can be insane to him but still be sane in the eyes of the law."

The court rule applied to all such cases dates back to the 19th century. In the McNaughton case in Britain, it says that a person should not be found guilty or sent to prison unless he understands the "nature and quality" of his act.

Stavon House, Richfield, was elected chairman; Billy Striegel, Richfield, vice chairman; Fred Mah-butt, Shoshone, organization and extension chairman; Dennis Byington, Halley, camp and actively chairman; Carl Johnson, Shoshone, health and safety chairman, and St. on Thomas, advancement chairman.

Sophs Spack WSC To Track Victory Over Vandal Team

PULLMAN, Wash., April 8.—Led by a group of sophomores, Washington State beat Idaho in a track meet Saturday 10-10.

While WSC won the meet, Idaho runner Ray Hutton trimmed three and one-half seconds off the meet record in the two-mile run. Hutton, an exchange student from England, turned in a time of 9:28.4.

One of the WSC sophomores who won or shared eight firsts was Duane Kernen of Vancouver. He had an injury and couldn't enter the high hurdles. But he was still strong enough to win the low hurdles, the broad jump and the foot first in the high jump. He was top point getter with 14.

Doug Ford Takes Win In Masters Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (U.P.)—Doug Ford, a golfer from the sidewalks of New York who saw his first green on the top of a pool table, broke the stranglehold today that the big-time golfers have held on the Masters tournament since Bobby Jones founded it in 1934. The swarthy kid from 37th street and Broadway picked up 87 hundred bucks yesterday for his first big win since he took the PGA title in 1955.

But more important than money was Ford's victory apparently signalled at last the coming of age of a new generation in big time golf. He decisively outstared Sam Snead, who had won the Masters three times and played the first three days this year as if he owned it.

Ben Hogan, a two-time winner and strong favorite, didn't even make the qualifying 40 when the field of 100 was cut after the second day. Neither did Gary Middlecott, an early favorite.

Ford shot a final 65, touring the pressure-packed back nine in 23 for a total six under par, and when Snead, approaching 45, heard about that he let youth talk over. Ford is 10 years younger.

Sammy did settle down somewhat to the pressure, and a 68-20 total. That put him three strokes behind Ford's 283 but was still good enough to finish second. It was the third time that a 283 had been good enough to win the tournament for which the record is Ben Hogan's historic 274, 14 under, in 1953.

The happy Ford, who has a wife and three children, said that the victory meant almost as much to him as the first money he ever won. He had a pituitary gland removed in 1954 at the age of 24 in Philadelphia, Ariz.

Shortly after he turned pro in 1954 Ford's father, originally named Fortunato, operated a golf school on upper Broadway in New York City. Ford's father, originally named Fortunato, operated a golf school on upper Broadway in New York City.

Tribe Boss Is Puzzled With Team's Actions

By The Associated Press
Kerry Farrell, the Cleveland Indians' rookie manager, was indeed caught in a cross-current Monday.

His club has won three of its last 10 games including Sunday's 4-7 decision over the New York Giants in Dallas. His pitching staff has been coming around. And this is the first year since he has been training with the tribe that Rocky Colavito won't require more season.

Colavito already has hit seven homers this spring, three of them against the Indians. He is the one of finding a third baseman to replace the retired Al Rosen still in training.

He thought he had it all solved when he shifted Al Smith from the outfield to third base. It turned out, though, that Smith wasn't happy there, not sure of himself.

"So," sighed Farrell, "from now on he's the centerfielder. I really don't know who is going to play third."

But "that problem," the one of finding a third baseman to replace the retired Al Rosen still in training, followed by Farrell, "from now on he's the centerfielder. I really don't know who is going to play third."

Cards Said Eying Deal With Giants For Willie Mays

NEW YORK, April 8 (U.P.)—An unconfirmed report that general manager Frank Lane of the St. Louis Cardinals had offered seven players for centerfielder Willie Mays of the New York Giants made its way around Monday.

The New York Daily News, giving the story a light touch, published a three-paragraph item on the reported deal Monday. The newspaper said it had "heard of the rumor."

Some of the Cardinals players reportedly offered was named. It was Lane and the Cardinals who swung the play-trade with the Giants last June 14 with the Cardinals' Red Schoendienst and the Giants' Al Dark and Whitey Lockman the key men. Last February 25, Lane swapped first baseman-outfielder Lockman back to the Giants for pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm.

BOISE WINN TRACK MEET
