Benson Reveals Decrease In Wheat Parity for 1958

WASHINGTON, April 19 (U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson today announced the national average support price for 1958 crop wheat will be $1.78 a bushel. This is 22 cents less than the support rate for the 1957 and 1956 crops. The new rate reflects 75 per cent of parity. The 1957 support rate reflected 80 per cent of current parity. The 1958 support price will be contingent upon results of a grower referendum June 20.

[illegible] quotas are approved by [illegible] two-thirds of those voting—[illegible] expected—the support rate [illegible] will be $1.78. If they are not approved, the available supply level will be at least 50 per cent of parity, or about $1.18 a bushel.

Benson also proclaimed a nationwide wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres, the minimum permitted by law. He said this allotment [illegible] average yields will produce a crop of about 800 million bushels. The allowance for acreage placed under the acreage and conservation reserves of the soil bank.

This amount added to the estimated July 1, 1958, carryover of 875 million bushels and estimated 1957-58 marketing year imports of five million bushels would make a total supply of 1,680,000,000 bushels.

While this supply is considerably

Affirms Big 3 Action

President Eisenhower at his White House conference said the U. S. could go to Jordan's aid if it becomes victim of aggression. The President holds aloft three fingers as he discusses Big Three agreement of May, 1950, which provides for action in event any middle East nation is victim of aggression. (NEA telephoto)

Hearing Over Auto Death Is Starts in T. F.

Preliminary hearing for Bernard [illegible] Alma, 49, 428 Third street north, charged with negligent homicide, began Friday morning before Probate Judge Everett M. Sweeley after [illegible] had heard arguments for and denied a motion by defense attorneys for a continuance of the hearing.

However, Judge Sweeley stipulated the defense may move for a continuance at the conclusion of testimony of state's witnesses. Prosecuting Attorney James M. Cunningham called four witnesses during the morning session and indicated he would call no other during the afternoon session.

Alma is charged with negligent homicide in the death of Mrs. Beulah Buckley, 48, Twin Falls, in an accident north of the Idaho-Nevada state line on highway 93.

The denial of the motion for a continuance followed argument by Cunningham and Alma's attorneys, Harry Benson and L. Rayborn and Douglas Kramer. The motion for continuance and a supporting affidavit were filed late Wednesday by the defense.

Witnesses called by Cunningham were Wayne Williams, Twin Falls [illegible] Dr. L. E. Measman, Twin Falls; Lynn Measman, son of Dr. Measman, and State Patrolman [illegible] Young.

Williams testified he had seen Alma and Mrs. Buckley in Cactus Peak, a Nevada bar and cafe a short distance south of the state line, prior to the accident. Williams said Alma did not appear to be intoxicated at that time but that Mrs. Buckley was and kept asking Alma to get out.

Congress Heads for Home and Vacation

WASHINGTON, April 19 (U.P.)—Most members of congress headed today for a 10-day Easter recess at home to rest up before plunging into the second half of the 1957 congressional session. The congressmen left behind a raft of legislative loose ends. Few major bills have been passed so far and most of the important legislation still is in committee. The lawmakers, possibly sensitive to the country's sentiment for lower federal spending, showed little interest this Easter in junketing abroad to investigate activities in such places as Rome, Hawaii and Tokyo.

Major legislation approved by congress so far included President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine, extension of corporate and excise taxes and raising of the interest rate on U. S. savings bonds from 3 per cent to 3¼ per cent.

Major bills still awaiting action include foreign aid, civil rights, the budget, housing and school construction.

Other congressional developments:

Budget—House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, D., Mass., said President Eisenhower is attempting to regain leadership of the GOP in congress by proposing a $1,858,000,000 cut in the budget. McCormack said congressional Republicans have been following Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and his economy policies more than they have been the President. He said: "They all like Ike, but they are voting against him."

Small business—President Eisenhower is reported ready to urge congress soon to approve a tax plan to attract investment capital to small businesses. The aim is to take the risk out of small business ventures by allowing investors to deduct losses from income taxes.

Rackets—The senate rackets committee wound up two and one-half days of hearings on alleged union violence in the Scranton, Pa., area. The committee has referred some of the testimony to the justice department for possible prosecution for perjury.

Envoys for 3 Posts Abroad Listed by Ike

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 19 (U.P.)—President Eisenhower today announced a series of new diplomatic appointments, including new United States envoys to Mexico, Sweden and Colombia.

When congress returns from its current Easter recess, the President will nominate:

Robert C. Hill, now assistant secretary of state for congressional relations, to Mexico.

Francis White, now ambassador to Mexico, to Sweden.

John M. Cabot, envoy to Swedne, will be shifted to Colombia, replacing Philip W. Bonsal who recently was named to Bolivia.

Announcement of the diplomatic shift, all involving men now in the foreign service, came from Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here.

Sicily Mountain's Flareup Is Dying

CATANIA, Sicily, April 19 (U.P.)—Mt. Etna's fiery eruption lessened today and, at least for the time being, ended danger to hamlets far down on the volcano's side.

The central crater ceased its explosive action and explosions from the northeast crater became irregular and less frequent. Yesterday, quick explosions from the two craters shook the village of Zafferana, located about 2,000 feet up on the 10,758-foot volcano.

ACTOR'S SON CONVICTED

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 19 (U.P.)—Edward G. Robinson, jr., 24-year-old son of the movie and stage actor, was convicted yesterday of misdemeanor drunk driving.

Cattle Figure Is Listed for State

BOISE, April 19 (U.P.)—The U. S. Department of agriculture said today 700,000 head of cattle and calves were being fattened for market in Idaho as of the first of this month.

This was 15 per cent below the number on feed a year earlier and 4 per cent slightly below the level of 102,000 head on feed two years ago.

At the same time, the USDA reported that an estimated 850,000 Idaho hatchery-origin broiler chicks were hatched in commercial hatcheries during last March, which was two per cent fewer than the record of last year and nearly 15 per cent less than the five-year average.

Quake Reported

BERKELEY, Calif., April 19 (U.P.)—A large earthquake, about 2,400 miles from Berkeley, was recorded today.

John Denoyer, assistant seismologist at University of California, said the quake began recording at 7:15:47 a. m., PST, and continued on his instruments for 45 minutes.

He said he was unable to determine its direction.

MOSCOW, April 19 (U.P.)—Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev warned the western world today not to stir up any revolt in East Germany lest the Soviet Union "rap your knuckles."

WASHINGTON, April 19 (U.P.)—The agriculture department today designated the state of Idaho as an area where the farmers' home administration may make emergency loans to eligible farmers. The designation will last through June 30. To be eligible a farmer must be unable to obtain credit from other sources.

Fast End Forecast To Block

By United Press

The British freighter West Breeze sailed through the Suez canal Friday—first British ship to do so since the invasion of last October. The Egyptian press was jubilant and predicted an early end to any western boycott of the canal.

However, government sources in London said the vessel is on charter to the Far Eastern Enterprise company, which operates for the Red Chinese. The terms of the charter were not known officially in London; But officials there said the charter probably precludes the owners from exercising control over movement of the ship.

The situation in Jordan quieted down for the moment, but the new anti-Communist policy of the Amman government had repercussions in Jerusalem today. Jordan border authorities refused to admit three Russian nuns because they carried Soviet passports.

Jordan reopened the border to Russians only last Christmas, but balked at today's Easter pilgrims.

King Hussein of Jordan told United Press correspondent Joe Morris earlier in an interview that his country would fight all "imperialism," avoid foreign pacts and steer clear of such imported doctrines as Communism. But he said Jordan would observe "positive neutrality" — the course advocated by Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia.

Banner headlines in Cairo newspaper said the West Breeze and the British Freighter Poplar Hill had paid their canal dues in Swiss francs to the Egyptian Suez canal authority as demanded by President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The Egyptian authority announced on Friday that the Israeli president liner President Jackson would pass through the canal next Wednesday, the first American ship to do so. It said the 9,277-ton ship also would pay its tolls to Egypt.

Israel was reported increasingly concerned at the way the Suez negotiations were going. A Jerusalem dispatch said Premier David Ben-Gurion also was so concerned about recent statements by President Eisenhower he asked his ambassador in Washington to seek clarification.

The chief Israeli concern was Eisenhower's statement that American ships had been advised not to try to transit Egypt with any cargo "forbidden." Israel feared this meant the Americans were not living up to promises to see that the Gulf of Aqaba was open to international navigation.

The political crisis in Jordan appeared to have quieted down—at least temporarily—although Israel claimed attacks yesterday by a small band of Jordanian infiltrators and a two-hour gunfight with Syrian troops in northern Israel.

Two Boys Die Of Injuries in Headon Crash

WEISER, April 19 (U.P.)—Two young Weiser boys died yesterday afternoon when a car driven by their mother swerved out of control and crashed headon into a pickup truck south of here on U. S. highway 95.

Washington county Sheriff H. D. Bigler said the mother, Mrs. R. W. Butler of Weiser, was rushed to a Boise hospital.

The boys, Jerry Eldo Thompson, 12, and Robby Butler, 3, died shortly after the crash, Bigler said.

Deputy Sheriff Heyward Jack of Weiser, who investigated, said the auto driven by Mrs. Butler went out of control as it came up behind another auto driven by an unidentified man.

The Butler car "fishtailed" across the highway and crashed headon into a pickup driven by Nick Speropulos, 26, of Weiser, he said. Speropulos, 24-year-old father, George, a passenger, was hospitalized.

In Boise, hospital authorities said Mrs. Butler was in "serious" condition with fractures. She was not told of the death only of her sons' deaths, they said.

Sheriff Bigler said the boys' father is a patient at the veterans administration hospital in Boise. The Thompson boy was Mrs. Butler's son by an earlier marriage.

Five Persons Are Killed, One Hurt By 2-Car Wreck

LAFAYETTE, Colo., April 19 (U.P.)—Five persons were killed and one injured in a two-car collision on U. S. 287 at the outskirts of Lafayette today.

The state highway patrol said one car was passing another, and apparently skidded on the wet pavement, slamming head-on into an oncoming vehicle.

The dead in the passing car were identified as Henry Kehm, 27, Edna Santerle, 39, and Jessie Bell Dean, all of Lafayette. The dead in the other car were identified as Mrs. Irene Hasenack, 47, of Erie, Colo., and Mrs. Joe Jordan, 48, also of Erie.

The patrol said Donald Zaruba, 5, was injured and hospitalized. He was a passenger in the Hasenack car.

Driver Fined $150, Jailed on Tipsiness

John Aultman, Salt Lake City, was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail Thursday by Probate Judge Theron Ward, Jerome, on a charge of drunken driving. Unable to pay the fine, Judge Ward ordered Aultman to serve out the fine in jail. Aultman's companion, Floyd Stewart, Salt Lake City, was fined $35 and costs by Judge Ward on a charge of being drunk in a car on a public highway. Like Aultman, Stewart was unable to pay his fine and was sent to jail. The two men were arrested Thursday 12 miles east of Jerome on highway 25 by State Patrolman H. E. Carr after the Jerome sheriff's office had been informed Aultman and Stewart had left Hazelton in an intoxicated condition.

Judge Ward Thursday morning also fined Bertha Myers, Jerome, $15 and costs on a charge of speeding.

A complaint signed by two Gooding residents resulted in the arrest and subsequent fining of Verlene Drew, Gooding, for running through a stop sign.

The driver was fined $7 and $3 costs Wednesday by Gooding Police Judge Ramon Enaunaa on the charge.

Raymond J. Campbell, Kimberly, was fined $8 and $3 costs Thursday by Judge J. O. Pumphrey for speeding 33 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone on Main avenue west in Twin Falls.

Judy L. Bridges, 1943 Eleventh avenue east, was fined $10 and $3 costs Thursday in Twin Falls police court for speeding 45 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on Addison avenue west.

Brownell Set To List Ideas For Senators

LOS ANGELES, April 19 (U.P.)—U. S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell, jr., said last night he will make recommendations to the special senate labor investigating committee for legislation to cope with labor racketeering.

Brownell said he was going to seek "legislation which I think would make it easier for the federal government to step in" and act against any improper labor activities.

Powerless to Act

The attorney general said in an interview that although the justice department has convicted more than [illegible] labor racketeers in the past three years, his office has been powerless to act in many cases because of the lack of empowering federal legislation.

"As an example, take when a labor union leader misuses his power and embezzles funds, any of the labor [illegible] and welfare fund," Brownell said. "For three years the federal government has been trying to get legislation making this a federal offense, but so far no action has been taken.

Laws Inadequate

Present laws, Brownell said, are inadequate to reach many of "the types of illegal activities" which have been exposed by Sen. John P. McClellan's labor investigating committee.

The attorney general also said in a speech last night that the teaching of communism in American schools was all right, but that instructors indoctrinated by the Communist party should be discharged.

Brownell spoke at a banquet of the University of Southern California school of law, saying that Americans "need fear communism only if we lack accurate knowledge of it."

Study of New Crops in U. S. Farms Urged

WASHINGTON, April 19 (U.P.)—A government commission recommended yesterday that Uncle Sam set up a broadened 100-million-dollars-a-year research program to put more farm products into industrial uses and to develop new crops to replace present surplus ones.

It said such a program is needed to help improve farm incomes and to bring about a "profitable" consumption of the output of a "free and efficient" agriculture.

The commission on increased industrial use of agricultural products—authorized by congress last year and its five members appointed by President Eisenhower—made its recommendations in a report to congress. It had studied the problem of farm surpluses and potential industrial uses for the past eight months.

It declared that agriculture has been "researched out" of many of its markets by more aggressive industries and by lagging research in the field of utilization of farm commodities. As a result, it added, costly farm surpluses are piling up and

Springs Use Fight Slated By Farmers

BUHL, April 19—Forty farmers in the Buhl, Filer, Northview and Lamberne areas banded together in the Southside Farmers Protective association Thursday night to fight plans of the Crystal Springs Irrigation company. The irrigation company, a Buhl corporation, plans to run a canal across many of the irrigated farms between Rock creek and Salmon Falls creek. The meeting Thursday night was held at the Cedar Draw Grange hall with Lee Matthews as temporary chairman. The association is planning a publicity campaign in an attempt to prevent the irrigation company from crossing the irrigated farms with the canal.

Glen Gould and John Gourley were elected co-chairmen of the protective association and Mrs. Gourley was named secretary-treasurer. The group also named two representatives from each district to serve on the executive committee. They are J. W. Robertson and Ray Richmond, Lucerne; John Barker and John MacKay, Buhl; Ivan Bone and Ralph Bauchman, Northview, and Clyde Van Ausdeln and Walter McCabe, Filer.

The Crystal Springs Irrigation company has been granted permission by State Reclamation Engineer Mark Kulp to use 100 second feet of water from both Niagara and Crystal springs to irrigate land in the Clyde district. In addition, the firm has filed another application with the state for additional water from the two springs for power to pump 200 second feet of irrigation water across and to the tip of the Snake river canyon into a canal.

Hearing on this second application has been set for June 7 in Boise. The hearing on the original ap-

Good Friday's Services Held Across World

By The Associated Press

Christians throughout the world commemorated today the agony of Christ's death upon the cross. In Good Friday services the Christian faithful of all nations heard anew of the suffering of Jesus Christ—two days before the joyous occasion of His resurrection on Easter Sunday. Approximately 4,000 visitors, mostly Arab, Christians, were in the Arab-controlled old city of Jerusalem, where most of the holy places are located. Only 400 pilgrims, with few westerners among them, crossed the Palestine armistice frontier from Israel.

The small number reflected the tense atmosphere in the Middle East in the aftermath of the Sinai war. Travel restrictions were removed too late for any great tourist influx.

But as in the past there was the traditional tracing of the way of the cross, with pilgrims carrying the heavy wooden crosses along the

Salt Lake City Man Critical After Crash

BURLEY, April 19—Two men were injured, one critically, when an automobile turned over on a curve 12 miles east of here Thursday night. Both men were taken to the Cottage hospital and condition for Richard Freeman, a patient at the veterans hospital in Salt Lake City, is listed as "very critical." Charles J. Peck, 26, an attendant at the hospital, incurred shock, bruises and abrasions. He was dismissed from the hospital Friday.

Sheriff LePage Layton, who investigated the crash, said Peck was the driver of the 1950 Chevrolet.

Freeman's physician said the Salt Lake City man has a skull fracture, brain injury and shock.

Sheriff Layton said the automobile, going over the brink of a hill, swung too wide on the curve and hit loose gravel. The car rolled over and was demolished, the sheriff added.

Richard Taylor, 29, route 1, Burley, driving a 1954 GMC pickup, collided with a couple of trucks parked in a junkyard Thursday afternoon when he became "flustered" by a woman driver.

Dortha Parish, route 2, Rupert, driving a 1951 Ford, stopped on the road before making a left turn. As she started to complete the turn, she saw Taylor approaching and stopped again. Police said her car was not across the center line of the highway.

Taylor, instead of continuing to pass her, tried to swerve around her and hit two trucks John Blankenship had left at the junkyard for repairs. Police estimated damage to the Taylor pickup and said damage to the pickup at $500.

Nevada Pair Dies In Flaming Home

FALLON, Nev., April 19 (U.P.)—A Fallon couple perished in their burning home early today after the husband, Glade McCarthy, fled the home, found his wife missing, and went back inside to rescue her.

Witnesses to the fire were the couple's three children, Patsy, 16; Richard, 12, and Sammy, 10. They awoke and ran from the house with their father.

McCarthy was watchmaster for the Lahontan dam at Fallon.

Word of the tragedy was relayed by McCarthy's sister, Mrs. A. T. Roberts of Tooele, Utah. She said there was no word on what caused the fire. McCarthy's father, J. T. McCarthy, lives in Orem, Utah.

Golf Planned For Vacation By President

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 19 (U.P.)—President Eisenhower, still bothered by a nagging cough that developed on his last trip to Georgia, today planned to play another round of golf, weather and paper work from Washington permitting.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived here yesterday for an Easter holiday of a week or 10 days, and the chief executive got 18 holes of afternoon golf despite occasional showers.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he expected the President would play another 18-hole round today. There were no announced plans for the Eisenhowers to attend Good Friday church services, but they were expected to attend church on Easter Sunday.

This was the President's 14th trip to Augusta while taking office, and his doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, hoped the warm weather would clear up the cough that has annoyed Eisenhower since late in the winter.

The President's new caddy, Sam Little, carried Eisenhower's clubs. Little was chosen by Dudley to replace 52-year-old Willie (Cemetery) Peterson, who had caddied for the chief executive for years. Dudley said Cemetery was getting too slow for the President.

Soviet Warns Spain in Pact

LONDON, April 19 (U.P.)—The Soviet union delivered one of its "atomic retaliation" threats to Spain today.

Moscow radio said in a Spanish language broadcast monitored here that Spain would be subject to possible Soviet nuclear attack if it joined the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Madrid government thus became the latest target of an intense propaganda barrage that has leveled direct threats at more than a dozen western or pro-western countries in the last two weeks.

Each of the warnings has had the same theme—"if your country is used to launch nuclear weapons on guided missiles against Russia in a future war, you will be wiped out by Soviet nuclear counterattack."

Eden Improves

BOSTON, April 19 (U.P.)—Sir Anthony Eden was reported today as showing steady improvement after his operation for a bile duct obstruction and is permitted out of bed for short periods.

"A bulletin from Dr. Richard J. Cattell of the Lahey clinic, his surgeon, said that the 59-year-old former British prime minister had a good night and slept well.

route followed by Jesus from the scene of His trial to His crucifixion on Calvary.

It was Easter week for both eastern and western Christians. They follow different calendars, but this year the dates coincide. In addition, Moslems celebrating the month-long Ramadan prayed at the dome of the rock, and Jews were completing their Passover holidays in the Holy Land.

At the Vatican, pilgrims from many countries assembled in St. Peter's basilica for Tenebrae services. The highlight of the mournful service is the slow extinguishing of all but one of 15 altar candles. The remaining candle, symbolic of Christ, was hidden momentarily behind the altar as a loud noise reminded worshippers of the convulsions of nature at the moment Jesus died.

Pope Pius XII will deliver his Easter Sunday speech to millions over a direct hookup with radio systems of nearly a score of nations. For the first time the papal address will be put on European TV. He speaks at noon Rome time from the balcony above the central door of St. Peter's basilica.

In Konnersreuth, Germany, 3,000 pilgrims gathered in the rain outside the cottage of Therese Neumann, the 59-year-old Bavarian woman who each Good Friday appears to suffer the agonies of crucifixion. In 1926 she was first reported to have displayed the crucifixion stigmata—marks on her body corresponding to the wounds of Christ.

President Chiang Kai-shek and his wife, both Methodists, delivered Good Friday sermons at their church in a suburb of Taipei, the capital of Chinese Nationalist stronghold island of Formosa.

Hearing Over Auto Death Is Starts in T. F.

called by Cunningham, testified that when he first saw Aims he appeared to be intoxicated and had the odor of alcohol on his breath. The doctor further testified that he found Mrs. Aims slumped in the front seat and that she was dead.

The complaint against Aims alleges he was intoxicated at the time of wrecking the car in which Mrs. Buckley incurred a broken neck. It further charges reckless operation of the car.

Dr. Messman and his son, Lynn Messman, testified they found a car on the right side of the highway with the front end headed toward the state line. Dr. Messman said he was driving toward Twin Falls at the time. He said he stopped the car and found Aims seated under the wheel and Mrs. Buckley in the seat beside him. He further testified he took Aims to Magic Valley Memorial hospital for examination.

Cunningham brought out that Dr. Messman and his son met Patrolman Young, who later testified he was going to the scene, while he was driving Aims to the hospital. Dr. Messman also said he stopped at the Hollister port of entry to notify state police he was taking Aims to the hospital.

Young told of arriving at the wrecked car and finding a partly filled bottle of whisky under the front seat. He also testified that he found the spot where the car had turned over.

Rayborn and Kramer cross-examined all witnesses. Cunningham said he would call State Patrolman Howard Carr and Dr. J. Woodson Creed, county coroner, to the stand during the afternoon session.

In the affidavit filed Wednesday, the defense alleged the prosecution had refused to cooperate with it by denying names of witnesses.

Cunningham said Thursday afternoon that on Tuesday E. M. Rayborn called him and wanted the names of the witnesses the prosecutor had obtained. Cunningham said he told Rayborn it was rather unusual that he as prosecutor should be asked to help the defense with its case and that the prosecuting attorney's office had not questioned all the witnesses.

He said he told Rayborn that as soon as he had talked to the witnesses he would give the defense attorneys the names, addresses and even what the witnesses said.

On Wednesday, Cunningham continued, after he had talked to the witnesses, he called the defense attorneys and told them they could have the names and addresses of the witnesses providing the attorneys did not ask for the continuance.

Cunningham pointed out that this would have given the defense attorneys 48 hours to talk to the witnesses before the scheduled hearing Friday. He said he did not feel further obligated to help the defense in preparing its case.

Cunningham said it is unusual for a defense attorney to call the prosecuting attorney and ask for names of witnesses the state intends to call in a hearing.

He said he did agree to provide the names providing the defense did not delay the hearing. He said he did not want the hearing delayed indefinitely while the defense attorneys tried to find their own witnesses.

"Tranquilizing" Drugs Attacked

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 19 (UP)—Tranquilizing drugs do not cure anything and their use over prolonged periods is unwise, Dr. James G. Shanklin, assistant clinical professor of psychiatry at the University of Oregon, said here.

Addressing the Indiana family doctors during the ninth annual scientific assembly of the Indiana Academy of General Practice, Shanklin said "tranquilizers relieve only the symptoms of anxiety and anxiety fatigue, without affecting underlying causes."

Shanklin said transquilizers' chief value is as "access" drugs which calm the patient enough to permit re-education, conditioned relaxation and psychologic reorientation.

Wheat Prices Are Listed for '57 by Benson

less than the 1,625,000,000 bushels estimated for the coming 1957-58 marketing year, it still is substantially larger than the estimated quantity needed for domestic consumption and exports during the 1958-59 marketing year.

Benson said that if the acreage allotment had been determined on the basis of the supply formula set by law, the 1958 acreage would have been 23,144,654 acres.

Wheat acreage allotments have been in effect now for four years. Marketing quotas have been approved handily in each year.

In the 12 non-commercial wheat-growing states—those having allotments of 25,000 acres or less—the price support rate will be 75 per cent of the rate for the commercial area.

Idaho has a 1957 allotment of 1,156,480 acres compared to 1,152,744 acres for 1958.

The department said county acreage allotments will be apportioned among individual farms. Wheat producers will be informed of the acreage allotments for their farms before the June 20 referendum, the department said.

Army Readies Coastal Areas With Dry Run

RED CANYON FIRING RANGE, N. M., April 19 (UP)—A 20-foot Nike-Ajax missile blasted off its launcher in a thunderclap of sound and pierced a fat cloud like a harpoon.

There was an eerie shriek as the missile ripped toward the stratosphere at a thousand miles an hour.

Dropping its booster rocket, the missile arched over at 25,000 feet, leaving a mark of vapor in the sky as it turned and vanished.

Hits Target

Then, after several seconds of silence, there was a burst of dirty white smoke some 20 miles away, marking the end of a still-invisible drone target.

This was the army's dress rehearsal for an atomic attack on San Francisco.

The actors were the officers and men of the 740th AAA missile battalion, one of three Nike outfits which stand 24-hour sentry duty on the hilltops surrounding the bay metropolis.

Unable, for obvious reasons, to do any practice firing at their home sites, each Nike battalion in the United States is brought to this desolate New Mexico wasteland, near the site of the world's first atomic bomb explosion, once a year for a week of "service practice."

Serious Business

The annual firing is a tense and serious business to the personnel of the Nike outfits. These men who stand at constant alert have little time to fire their weapons, and they are determined to make every shot count.

They greet a "kill" with the enthusiasm of undergraduates celebrating a big game victory. A "miss" brings groans, scowls and muttered profanities.

Typical of the missilemen is Capt. William Chick, 36, of Mountain View, Calif., a burly, 240-pounder. Emerging from an integrated fire control van after his battery's firing with the grin of a winner on his face, Chick said:

"It looked good," he said. "It looked real good."

East and west winners were Mrs. Keith Wickham and Mrs. Mildred Bean, first; Mrs. Charles Welteroth and Mrs. Guy Towle, second; Mrs. Richard Irwin and Mrs. Jack Radtke, third, and Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Driscoll, fourth.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, Boise, and Ed Hartwell, Salt Lake City.

Study of New Crops in U. S. Farms Urged

the government is being forced to spend billions for farm aid.

The commission report carried a broad list of possible research projects which, if initiated at once, would cost 211 million dollars a year. It turned thumbs down, however, on long-discussed proposals that grains be used to produce alcohol for motor fuel and for producing synthetic rubber. It said these proposals were not economically feasible.

The commission said its recommendations would create important and enduring added markets for agriculture as well as new areas of activity for industry and labor. It said they would provide opportunities for consumers to enjoy new and better products. It also said, as to cost:

"The commission is convinced that the investment in public funds for carrying out its recommendations will return to the national economy and eventually to the federal treasury many times the outlay required; and that further, the investment may substantially reduce and may eventually help alleviate the present demand for many of the current costly aids to agriculture."

The commission envisioned broad use of farm crops in making such products as paper, adhesives, coatings, insecticides, plastics, synthetic fibers, structural materials, industrial oils, antibiotics, medicines, waxes, improved cotton textiles, waterproofing materials, improved detergents as well as chemical materials.

In the field of possible new crops, the commission suggested study of bamboo for building materials, safflower for industrial oils, sesame for food, feed and vegetable oils, jojoba and candelilla for oils and wax, dioscorea for cortisone, hormones and other drugs; kenaf for fiber materials; and many others.

Wilson Hopes Missiles Might Be Ready Soon

WASHINGTON, April 19 (UP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson hopes it won't take "too long" before intermediate range ballistic missiles are ready for combat units.

He told his news conference yesterday, however, that it would be a "little optimistic" to expect the 1,500-mile range missiles to be ready by the end of the year.

Wilson and air force Secretary Donald A. Quarles also told newsmen that the Pentagon has canceled its decision to step up production of B-52 hydrogen bombers to 20 a month.

They said production would be held at 15 a month, partly because of discovery that Russia has only half as many Bison bombers—Soviet counterpart of the B-52—as thought.

Wilson said no commitment has been given Britain on delivery of the intermediate range ballistic missile. He said it is almost impossible to lay down a definite delivery schedule in connection with a missile development program.

He said Britain's recent military cutback had little effect on the U. S. defense effort. He said "our own military program is really largely independent of what other people do."

plication for irrigation water held in Wendell.

In addition to the water from two springs, the irrigation company also hopes to pick up water at Box creek and Salmon Falls creek for its irrigation project. The canal to carry this water is expected to be built across a number of farms on the south side of the river between the two creeks.

Approximately a dozen organizations, including the state fish and game department and the Idaho Power company, have filed protests with Kulp over the use of water from the springs. The protective association, however, is concerned about the canal which will cross members' farms.

Movie Patron Is Rescued in Spill

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 19 (UP)—The movie must have been good because Robert E. Palmer, fell out of his seat watching it. And his companions had to rescue him.

It happened to Palmer at an outdoor movie the other night. He and his friends were perched on a bridge rail near the drive-in theater. He fell some 40 feet into the creek, was hauled out by companions, and taken to a hospital in an ambulance.

San Francisco Police Widen Search for Car

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19 (UP)—Police pressing a relentless search for a brutal hit-run driver urged owners of 1950-53 Mercurys to bring them to the nearest police station for "clearance."

"The quicker we can scratch off those not involved, the sooner we can narrow the field down to the car and guilty driver," said Lieut. Edward Moody, head of the accident investigation bureau.

Hit and Run

Witnesses to the hit-run slaying of Lloyd V. Stephens, 68, last Sunday night believe the death car was an ivory Mercury of 1952 or 1953 vintage. There are 2,960 such cars in San Francisco.

Stephens was returning home from a baseball game when the car hit him, knocking him under the wheels. He became enmeshed in the undercarriage.

Doesn't Stop

Instead of stopping, the driver trooped on the accelerator and began swerving in a frantic attempt to dislodge Stephens. When this failed, he began speeding and then jamming on the brakes.

He did this for three blocks. At last, Stephens fell to the street, dead. Nearly every bone in his body was broken, and his skull fractured.

Police Discover Lost Quartet in Isolated Region

MURPHY, Ida., April 19 (UP)—Four men who had been reported missing in a remote area of Owyhee county were back at their homes today after spending last night bogged down on muddy ronds.

State police officers said state fish and game biologists Charles Haynes, jr., Nampa, and Roger Williams, Boise, and cattlemen Cy Rood and Butch Niefert, Grandview, were found late yesterday in the vicinity of Big Springs about 32 miles west of Grandview.

The four men were sighted from an airplane and were taken out of the area by jeep. They had been the objects of a search which started early yesterday morning.

Haynes and Williams had gone into the area to count sage hens. Rood and Niefert had been on a search for cattle.

State police said the four men had been mired down in mud which was caused by steady rain mixed with snow which had fallen over the area since last Monday.

Woodwork Union Votes for Strike

LEWISTON, April 19 (UP) — The federal mediator at Spokane has been notified of a strike vote authorized yesterday by members of International Woodworkers union local 10-364.

A union spokesman, Leonard Palmer, said the members had voted by a 72 per cent margin to authorize a walkout at the big Clearwater unit of Potlatch Forest, Inc.

Palmer said the mediator would probably call negotiations on eight grievance matters, including seniority cases and the union's claim a worker was fired after being hurt on the job.

One O'Brien After Another in Detroit

DETROIT, April 19 (UP)—A certain number of bad checks in Detroit is heading for a bad time.

Two checks—for $24.70 and $25—bearing the name of Gerald K. O'Brien bounced because nobody by that name has an account at the bank on which they were written.

Wayne county (Detroit) Prosecuting Attorney Gerald K. O'Brien said he would take personal charge of the prosecution if the check passer is caught.

70-Mile-High Gas Cloud Set By Science in Radar Ceiling

PALO ALTO, Calif., April 19 (UP)—Military and civilian scientists disclosed yesterday they will produce a big gas cloud in the atmosphere 70 miles above Alamogordo, N. M., in an effort to create an artificial ceiling for long distance radar and TV transmission.

The gas, to be carried in an Aerobee rocket, is intended to electrify a mass of air, and this charged mass in turn will bounce the very short radio waves back to earth instead of letting them go on into outer space.

The project, to be known as "Operation Smoke Puff," will be undertaken sometime in July. It will be a joint effort of the air force Cambridge research center, the radio amateurs of the southwestern United States and the radio propagation laboratory of Stanford university.

Some of the procedures will resemble the firing of an atomic bomb. Radio amateurs, standing by within a 700 mile radius of Alamogordo, will hear the countdown in their earphones. After the rocket has soared aloft and spewed its load of gas into the air, the radio forces will start sending short wave messages to each other, expecting to bounce their transmitted signals off the cloud.

Stanford equipment in charge of Prof. O. G. Villard, electronics engineer and expert meteor tracker, will plot the course of the cloud and the results of the radio transmission effort.

The operation is almost certain to yield results of military value and may become the breakthrough for a revolution in civilian long distance radar and TV communication.

The test area will encompass Salt Lake City, Tulsa, Houston, the northern half of Mexico, and part of Southern California, including Los Angeles.

Rotarian Keeps Perfect Record

KANSAS CITY, Kans., April 19 (AP)—Clarence Rice, 76, has a 32-year record of perfect attendance at weekly Rotary club meetings but he just barely made it this week.

Rice received an arm fracture, chest and shoulder injuries and lacerations in a car wreck Sunday, so he missed his local club meeting Tuesday.

Last night he ignored protests of family and Rotarians, left his hospital bed and journeyed 35 miles by stretcher and ambulance to attend the Rotary meeting at Bonner Springs, Kans.

Then he returned to the hospital to await surgery on his injured shoulder.

ECONOMY MOOD VS. IKE

It is not unusual that as congress undertakes its Easter vacation it has accomplished very little. The lawmakers always have operated on a last-minute-rush basis. But this year the final surge may prove to be something less than a tidal wave.

In the past, President Eisenhower often has gained a good deal more of his legislative objectives than observers imagined he would, in the light of the fact that he does not believe in applying great pressure on congress.

Perhaps in the end this will happen again. But the informed word from the capital is that his chances are slimmer than they have ever been. Knowledgeable onlookers are saying that only strong direction from the White House can push some key measures through to passage.

A principal reason for this is the prevailing economy mood on capitol hill. Confusion within the administration over budget goals encouraged the mood, as did a substantial public reaction made felt through heavy congressional mail. Now mounting talk of a permanent income tax cut to take effect next January is putting further spur to the economy drive.

With the aim of saving money looming at every turn, few Eisenhower measures are being judged uncritically.

The 4.4-billion-dollar aid bill seems sure to be chopped considerably below that figure. As the years advance, the lawmakers naturally have less and less stomach for voting heavy sums for aid abroad, no matter what justifications are offered from the White House.

The most important single domestic proposal, in terms of its size and controversial aspect, is the school aid bill. Right now few are betting that the administration's 1.3-billion-dollar, four-year program will reach enactment.

Of course not all the President's projects involve expenditures of money. Civil rights proposals and a plan to revise and liberalize refugee and immigration law stand high on his list. But here, too, the outlook is poor at this time.

Possible prophecy is rash with several months of the congressional session still ahead. But most seasoned viewers are becoming convinced that in 1957 Eisenhower faces the choice of abandoning his "hands off" policy toward congress or not realizing more than a small share of his legislative hopes.

REUTHER'S ACTION

When Walter Reuther announces a bargaining objective either for labor generally or for his United Automobile Workers (UAW), industry does not take the matter lightly. His ideas have a way of setting the pace, and turning up in labor contracts.

His union was in the van in promoting long term contracts with escalator wage clauses tied to changes in the cost of living. It was the same with the so-called guaranteed annual wage.

Now Reuther says the UAW will shoot in 1958 for a shorter work week while at the same time seeking higher hourly pay.

Undoubtedly this is a broad goal desired not simply by the UAW or even organized labor but by all the working populace. A hundred years ago the work week was six days and the work day 14 hours. Progressive reductions have marked the upward course of industrial civilization.

These slashes in working time have come largely as technical advances allowed great gains in output per man—the measure of productivity. So, too, have wages climbed with the steady march of efficiency.

Any serious forcing of either wage boosts or work-time cuts, however, can have a damaging rather than beneficial effect. Such gains are not real but artificial. They can be inflationary, though they are far from the sole cause of inflation.

Reuther appears to recognize this, for he says any general cut in hours can't come from arbitrary action by either labor or management. It must emerge from the justifying economic facts, and basically that means advancing productivity.

Yet labor leaders by the nature of their position are committed to pressing for improvements at every chance, and not always are they mindful of the economic reasonableness of their claims. Powerful unions like the UAW can force the pace.

What Reuther has proposed is in the long range eminently desirable. But his quest for this goal will win general support and respect only as he sticks to the rule that fulfillment must be built upon a sound economic foundation.

MORE LEAN MEAT

Norman Barlow, state senator from Wyoming and president of the Wyoming Stock Growers association, has good news for steak eaters. He's in Washington to encourage congress to give some financial help to western cattlemen.

After a session before the house agriculture committee he revealed that this association is in the process of breeding beef which will provide only meat that is lean, bright red and tender.

"We're sick of putting fat on cattle at 30 cents a pound, then cutting it off the meat—before the steak is sold to customers—and selling the waste fat for one cent and a half a pound," he says.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The twisted thinkers in the Kremlin, invariably but inadvertently, have given support to the White House in past demands for huge foreign aid appropriations by their acts of omission or commission against the United States. For this same reason, President and Secretary Dulles feel confident that even a congress insistent on economy will okay their 4.4 billion dollar program again.

The Marshall plan, which was first proposed in 1947, rode through because Moscow was then demonstrating that she did not mean to keep any of the pledges of friendship she made to Roosevelt at Teheran and Yalta, and to Truman at Potsdam. The Greek-Turkish undertaking—writing coincided with the Soviet's earlier thrust into northern Iran.

Despite constant capitol hill grumbling over the cost, those undertakings were continued year after year because of the Berlin blockade, the steady weakening of satellite countries, the attack on South Korea, the renewed penetration of the Middle East, and the brutal slaughter in dealing with the Hungarian uprising.

RUSSIAN NUCLEAR EXPLOSIONS—Once again, the Communists have applied the same sort of pressure, and rushed to Secretary Dulles' rescue. But this time they have had a heavy assist from Colonel Gamal Abdel Nasser, the dictator of the Nile. In fact, these current hostile operations impress congress and the Pentagon as more menacing than all these other spectacular crises.

Within 10 days, the Soviet has exploded four nuclear weapons of an unknown type, making the 22nd recorded explosion since 1949. There may have been many more experiments unannounced. The storm of angry comment shakes public only those of an "unusual size and character."

Only semihumorously on capitol hill, it is suggested that AEC has taken special pains to publicize these explosions to influence congressional action on foreign aid and national defense, with its huge appropriations for A-H bombs, rockets, missiles, pilotless planes and similar devices.

SOVIET THREATS — Two other events sharpen anxiety at Washington, although there is no fear of an immediate war because of Russia's general readiness. The first is the refusal of the Soviet to agree to atomic retaliation to nations which permit us to stock similar weapons at our overseas bases.

The second is Britain's decision to shift from conventional to push-button defense, with the Australian government and the United States must provide the only protection for the free world during the five or 10-year period of transition.

Still another happening may slow down the congressional economy machine. It is the Sobolev confession in a New York federal court that they have been spying on us for Moscow since 1940, not so long after the two nations had become allies against the brutal land dictatorial regimes of Germany, Japan and Italy.

Perhaps more than Russia's other betrayals, and even though Washington has become accustomed to Communist treachery, this revelation has shocked the capital—all the White House, state department, the Pentagon and congress.

U.S. AND BRITISH TESTS OF ATOMIC DEVICES — On May 15, the U. S. will stage a series of tests of low-caliber nuclear devices. Britain will engage in her first large-scale atomic experiments on Christmas Island off Australia during the summer. France, Germany and Japan seek our aid for similar developments.

With all the great powers preparing for an atomic war or an even worse calamity, calmly and deliberately and openly, President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles now have—again—the support of a lobby organized inside the Kremlin.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

DO WE REALLY WANT ECONOMY?

For the most part, there was not too much complaint around business firms as the postoffice closing last Saturday. Few residents complained about the failure of city carriers to make their usual rounds the same day. Although there was some irritation because of the short notice, and some grumbling about purchase stamps, no cries appeared in Jerome over the order of the postmaster general to cut down in order to live within the postal budget the balance of the fiscal year.

For our part, if permanent reduction of the postal service in this degree would permit less spending and tax reduction exemplary to the other governmental departments, let's have it. Most of the squawking so far emanates from the folks in the postoffice ceiling last Saturday. Few residents complained about the failure of city carriers to make their usual rounds the same day. Most of the squawking so far emanates from the folks in the postoffice—starting Summerfield on down to the lower echelons. Less hours for postal employes have brought a storm of protest but this should be of little consideration. If we can get along with less service, the public should be willing to accept it if it will keep the department from exceeding its budget.

Omitting a delivery service in Jerome did not seem to handicap ordinary living. It must be remembered that it was only a few years ago that there was no house-to-house delivery service at all and we seemed to get by all right. Certainly in the name of economy, we could cut down to five delivery days a week now.

In the end the economy wave sweeping the country, the postal department is the trial balloon. Are we too spoiled and pampered by unnecessary services to relinquish them in the name of tax economy? In this corner, we say that the public has reached just that state. The next query by the taxpayer is whether the actual economies in service will result in economies within the postal department.—Jerome North Side News.

ATTACK ON THE SENATE

Dave Beck, head of the powerful Teamsters union, has made a vicious attack on the integrity of the United States senate. He told a news conference during last Saturday. Few residents complained about the failure of city carriers to make their usual rounds the same day. Although there was some irritation because of the short notice, and some grumbling about purchase stamps, no cries appeared in Jerome over the order of the postmaster general to cut down in order to live within the postal budget the balance of the fiscal year.

ATTACK ON THE SENATE

Dave Beck, head of the powerful Teamsters union, has made a vicious attack on the integrity of the United States senate. He told a news conference that if he were to testify how he spent union funds it "might blow the lid right off the senate."

Beck said that when he claimed his constitutional privilege against self incrimination, in appearing before a senate committee investigating alleged racketeering in the Teamsters union, he was actually "taking the rap" for others. The others, he said, were "a lot of the people down there (who) might be in a tight spot" if he started talking about contributions.

When pressed as to whether the people were members of the senate Beck said his questioners would have to draw their own conclusions.

But there can be no doubt as to Beck's meaning. In effect he was charging that a number of members of the senate had accepted substantial sums of money from his union—and that Beck had refused to testify to save them, not himself.

This impugns the integrity of the United States senate and every member of it. It is a challenge this august body cannot ignore.

Just what power the senate has to answer this challenge we do not know. But in some manner it should summarily reject the protection Dave Beck claims he is giving it, and demand that Beck either blow the lid off if he can, or retract his statements.—Salt Lake Tribune.

PEANUTS ARE NOT "PEANUTS"

A small item says that the use of peanuts in making candy and other products is running about 5 per cent ahead of last season, according to the department of agriculture. Now peanuts ("groundnuts" in England and formerly "goobers" in some parts of the United States) are not one of America's largest crops. In 1955, the last year for which statistics are handy, their production amounted to more than 1,600,000,000 pounds, and they brought the farmers who grew them more than $185,000,000.

Curiously, perhaps, the county which harvested the largest crop of peanuts found by the 1954 census of agriculture, was not in Georgia or Virginia, but in west central Texas. Commanche county, with nearly 35 million pounds in an off year.

In that year the average per capita consumption of peanuts in the United States was a subnormal four pounds. The next year (1955) it rose to 4½ pounds. If the reported increase in demand for peanuts from candy makers and peanut butter manufacturers carries the average above that level for 1957 it means a little more money for tens of thousands of American farm families.—Christian Science Monitor.

AT LEAST TWO BAD ONES!

Gent:

Before someone else beats me to it, I'd like to point out that we are faced with at least two more days of bad weather before we can claim that spring has really arrived.

—Naturally, Easter Sunday will be a foul weather day. That'll take care of us for more than a month. But when Memorial day rolls around this year, watch out again.

And now that we've mentioned Memorial day, is there much chance for a four-day holiday week-end starting with Memorial day? After all, with the holiday on Thursday, there isn't much sense of working on Friday when you don't work on Saturday in the first place. Just something for all the bosses to think about!

IT WAS BETTER, BUT . . .

Sir:

Yes, the Easter egg hunt was much better this year than it has been in the past. But there is still room for improvement.

Now that the hunt is down to the age group of children where it should be, let's give a little attention to mothers. Yes, from where I stood, it looked like mothers found more of the eggs than the children.

Next year can't we have a rule that mothers can't leave the sidewalk? Let's bar them from the park during the egg hunt and let the children have ALL the fun! Funny, but I got the impression this year that several of those mothers were out there gathering up lunch for a large, hungry family!

You sure put that "Short Visitor" right back in his place in a hurry! If there are very many of those refugees from Arizona around these parts, we'd better be watching our water.

California swiped all the water she could from Arizona and most of Arizona is screaming for a few extra drops. Those jokers get up here and they're likely to swipe Snake river right out from under us, the Idaho Power company and the Hells Canyon association.

Then there wouldn't be anything left to fight over.

HOW MUCH PER CUP?

Dear Pot Shots:

This little matter of the 50-cup coffeemaker intrigues me for some reason. It's not that I'm dopey on coffee, rather for one that I'd have one that big around the house. Maybe you can call it morbid curiosity.

In the first place, what manner of person could possibly consume 50 cups of coffee in a day? Or two or three persons for that matter. Are there people who actually are that crazy over the stuff?

If such addicts are very widespread, it's easy to see why Brazil can't raise enough coffee for us. My only suggestion would be to convert those people to milk and eliminate the dairy surplus we've heard so much about.

And how much per cup does it cost to make 50 cups at a time?

MARK OF FURRINER

We stumbled into a sure-tire way to tell the furriners from the natives. It all came in a flash during that cloudburst Thursday.

As a matter of fact, the minister of a Twin Falls church came into the office with his notice of services. He was all decked out in rain hat and raincoat. That's it.

It's a cinch to tell the natives from the furriners on accounts of how the natives never had much of an excuse to buy a raincoat. Of course, if it's vital that you tell the difference between them, you'd better discover some other system. Otherwise you might wait quite a spell.

WASHINGTON

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—No Republican senators showed up for a banking and currency subcommittee hearing on aid for depressed areas. The result was that Democratic Sens. Paul Douglas of Illinois and Joe Clark of Pennsylvania had a merry romp over the administration's program.

They picked out all kinds of inconsistencies in a statement which Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse presented.

Peter Edson

Morse admitted there were a million and a half farm families with incomes of less than $1,000 a year. This, he said, was about six million people. It's a fourth of America's rural population.

In the first part of his statement, Undersecretary Morse said that incomes of these farm families should be increased. Their credit needs would have to be taken care of. Industries would have to be brought into rural areas to provide part-time employment. Vocational training should be made available. Health and nutritional standards should be improved.

Department of Agriculture now has pilot programs in 87 of these depressed agricultural communities in 24 states, to find out how their problems can be met.

Until local communities and private capital gain more experience in dealing with these depressed areas, Undersecretary Morse said he was not in favor of providing them with more direct federal assistance.

Morse thought the Eisenhower administration's bill, introduced by Sen. Edward Martin, R., Pa., would be adequate to deal with the situation.

This would authorize 50 million dollars' worth of loans to city areas with high unemployment, plus a million and a half dollars' worth of grants to help cities plan unemployment relief projects.

Democratic aid for depressed farm areas in the Martin bill.

Senator Clark observed here that this was completely inconsistent with the needs of the million and a half farm families with low income, which Morse had given in the beginning.

After a minor hassle over this, Morse went on reading his statement until he came to a place where it said:

"The need for public funds in the promotion of new industries is often as great in distressed rural areas as in urban areas. Leadership in rural areas may question whether areas of severe under-employment in farming communities should not be equally eligible for assistance."

Senator Douglas picked this up as "compounding the inconsistency."

First Morse had said he was not recommending direct aid to distressed farm areas. Now he was saying that rural areas should be equally eligible for assistance with urban areas.

Morse had to fall back on a letter from the budget bureau.

It said that "grants for low-income rural areas" were not recommended because "there is strong doubt whether most rural areas could adequately meet the self-help qualifications."

Senator Douglas immediately jumped on this as being still more inconsistent with what Morse had said before.

First he had said that local communities needed more experience in dealing with their own problems. Now by quoting the budget bureau as saying that local areas couldn't help themselves.

In Senator Douglas' own bill for relief of depressed areas, 100 million dollars' worth of loans would be provided for both urban and rural aid, and the federal government could supply up to 75 per cent of the funds needed. In the Republican bill, only 35 per cent of any costs could be federal aid.

"Are you opposed to rural loans?" Douglas asked.

Morse replied that he'd first like to see how the local pilot programs worked out.

And no Republican senator was there to defend him.

Senator Hits Army's Grab Of Big Tract

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The army found itself in the embarrassing position yesterday of asking congress for official permission to take over for a guided missile range 694,000 acres in New Mexico on which it has already aquatted.

One Democrat called it a case of "acquisition by conquest."

Details Revealed

Details of the case, in which the army announced dedication ceremonies for the missile range before it got authority to control the land, were revealed yesterday.

At a house interior committee hearing the army was charged with: 1. Moving in on the large section of land in southern New Mexico without going through proper channels.

2. Closing the area to all civilian activities including cattle grazing, mining, hunting and fishing.

3. Proceeding with testing of guided missiles despite the fact it had not received permission to seal off the land.

Highway Closed

4. Closing a major highway (U. S. 33) without proper authorization.

5. Instituting condemnation proceedings against property owners in the area, forcing them to sell their land.

"This looks to me like a case of acquisition by conquest," commented Rep. Clair Engle, D., Calif. chairman of the house committee. "I guess the army has made a pretty good case for needing the land but it certainly went about it the wrong way."

The army closed off the large area, known as McGregor range, to extend its guided missile training operations from nearby Ft. Bliss, Tex.

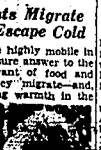
Birds, Beasts Migrate For Food, Escape Cold

Birds, which are highly mobile in the main, have a sure answer to the polar cold and want of food and water. Mostly, they migrate—and, now with returning warmth in the northland, many are now winging back to the food-rich areas of the north.



Eugene Burns

Besides birds, mammals too make seasonal migrations. Mostly in the high mountain country, understandably so.

Elk, sheep, goat, mountain lion, bear, chamois, and deer descend the slopes to warmer levels where food is still available. The migration being near-vertical, every 1,000 feet descent in altitude is equivalent to a 600-mile southward migration. And these plant-eating animals are followed in turn by the large predaceous beasts—the foxes, wolves, cougars, and snow leopards.

Upland birds also seek lower and warmer levels—this movement being precisely comparable to the southward flights of the migratory birds from Canada to Mexico and from northern Europe to Africa. In the former, the movement is again measured in feet; in the latter in miles. But the change, essentially, is equally dramatic. And within the animal there must be an impulse understanding that to avoid the oncoming bite of winter's cold and the want of food and water, it must go to a warmer clime. And similarly, the drive to return to the north, the return to higher lands.

Others of this migratory group, who have greater mobility, make a 1,000 to 3,000 mile horizontal migration—and they include animals such as the monarch butterfly, the furbearing Alaska seal, the whale, hummingbird, and goose.

In some birds curiously enough, there is another adaptation—or more accurately, inherent in them are the "beginnings of hibernation." Nearly all eat about two-thirds less in winter than in summer—as do most mammals, and very many, like man's domesticated poultry, store up fat prior to winter's oncoming cold. They can go for a considerable time without food though they would die in half that time if they were left without food in spring. Yet, despite this remarkable provision, many birds starve in winter. (Mistakenly, they are taken for frozen birds—the freezing really occurs after the bird has died.)

One bird occasionally gets into the hibernation act completely—the poorwill. A pair, studied recently, were found in a cliff. Their heart beat was so drastically reduced that it could not be detected; no moisture could be noted on a cold mirror held from out of their nostrils; and a strong light beamed at the pupils brought no response, not even an attempt to close the eyelids; yet when spring came, they roused, and were fully alive.

For yet another reason, the hummingbird "hibernates" each night—but only for the conservation of energy and to stretch out its food supply. For its size, its food consumption is perhaps the greatest of any warm-blooded animal as it must devote much of its day to gathering food, mainly nectar and insects. If this intense metabolism continued unabated through the night, as it does in other birds, it would be a great danger of starving to death before morning.

So, during the night, it becomes practically inert, scarcely able to move. Its body temperature drops considerably—to 75 degrees. But before daybreak its body spontaneously returns to its normal temperature, and it is again warm, awake, and ready to start off in search of food. Again, a remarkable adjustment.

Ex-Red Pilot Claims Soviet Pledge Falsc

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Peter Pirogov had a message today for all Soviet refugees who might be urged by red agents to return to Russia: "Don't believe their promises."

Pirogov, once a pilot in the Soviet air force, fled with a companion, Anatoli Barsov, in October, 1948. He came here in December, 1949 and now lives in Virginia with his wife and three children.

The state department yesterday ordered a Soviet embassy employe to quit the country, on grounds of "highly improper activities." In telling to lure Pirogov back to Russia. The department said other "improper" activities of Grenadi P. Mashkantsev included trying to coerce "others" to return to Russia. Pirogov declined to discuss the "others." The Soviet embassy here denied the envoy engaged in improper activities.

Pirogov said the red diplomat tried to "worm" him back to communism by giving him a letter from Barsov, his companion in the 1948 freedom flight, saying all had been forgiven when Barsov returned to Russia and he was happy and in good health.

Pirogov said the letter was a forgery. He said Barsov was questioned for months by agents upon his return to Russia and finally executed. Barsov, according to a former Soviet diplomat who has since defected.

Unit Protests Huge Size of Budget Plans

GOODING, April 19—Members of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday approved advising Idaho's congressmen to make every effort to trim the federal budget.

Letters to the congressmen will be in line with letters written by the state chamber of Commerce and the U. S. chamber.

A letter was read from Mark Reup advising that the hearing on the application for water for power at Niagara and Crystal springs has been postponed to June 7.

Valdo Gray, Idaho delegate to the Pacific Northwest Travel association, reported on the recent association meeting at Milwaukee, Wis. He said 31,000 persons attended the show and that the demand for literature on Idaho was greater than the supply on hand.

E. L. Van Houten, president, told the group the department of commerce and development will invite businessmen of Idaho to Los Angeles, Calif., in the near future to meet with industrialists regarding locations in Idaho.

Colon Drake, merchants' bureau chairman, told the chamber of plans for the Easter egg hunt on Saturday for pre-school children.

The governmental affairs committee, of which Clark Williamson is a member, has recommended Sam Hyatt, a stockman of Ryattville, Wyo., for a directorship to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Finance Studies Urged for State

BOISE, April 19 (UP)—State Treasurer Ruth Moon last night told members of the Ada County Women's Democratic club that a comprehensive study of Idaho's state government and its financial problems should be undertaken.

"Changing tax laws is always fraught with danger," the treasurer said in discussing various tax plans which were considered by the 1957 legislature.

"We should attempt to make the burden rest on those best able to pay, and yet not stifle business and industry and thus hamper the growth of the state," she explained.

PORTLAND, April 19 (UP)—The bureau of reclamation today announced it had asked withdrawal of 5,120 acres of public land along Snake river in eastern Idaho for the proposed Burns creek dam and reservoir.

A bureau spokesman said about 2,250 acres of the requested land was in the Caribou and Targhee national forests.

The Burns creek development would provide a re-regulatory dam about 30 miles downstream from the Palisades dam and would furnish additional power and storage for supplemental irrigation.

Reds Operate World's Most Powerful Device for Atoms

WASHINGTON, April 17 (UP)—The Russians have put into operation the world's most powerful atom-smasher.

With it they hope to strip away some of the mysteries surrounding the atomic nucleus and its enormous forces.

Announced by Pravda this week, the new atom-smasher is a synchrophasotron which so far has pushed sub-nuclear particles (protons) at speed energies of 8,300,000,000 electron volts.

The Russians expect to boost this energy to 10 billion electron volts. They plan eventually to perfect an atom-smasher with an energy of 50 billion electron volts.

The most powerful similar machines in this country range in power from three billion to six billion electron volts.

A 25-billion-volt smasher is being built at the atomic energy commission's Brookhaven national laboratory on Long Island. A group of midwestern universities is working on principles which may produce energies in the trillion-volt range.

As of now, however, the Soviet synchrophasotron is the most powerful in existence.

The Russians first revealed their plans for this machine at the 1955 international atomic conference in Geneva. They said then that they hoped in the future to get energies of around 100 billion electron volts.

Work with high energy atom smashers in this and other countries already has revealed to science the existence of nuclear particles never before observed.

Among these is the antiproton, an infinitesimal bit of matter built oppositely to the kind with which man has always been familiar. If a planet built of such "backward matter" should come in contact with the earth, the resulting explosion would destroy our corner of the universe.

The new Russian atom-smasher has an electromagnet which weighs 36,000 tons. It also has 500 switches, 6,000 relays, 2,000 measuring instruments and 2,000 control devices.

It drives nuclear particles around its confined course at nearly the speed of light. In 3½ seconds these particles cover a distance more than 2½ times that from the earth to the moon.

The Russian announcement did not speculate on what discoveries the new machine will make except to say it would provide new information "about the structure of the atomic nucleus, its characteristics and internal forces."

But America's AEC said a couple of years ago that such information may lead to a theory explaining the interior nature of atoms.

"Not until such a theory is derived and tested," the AEC said in 1955, "can all of the possibilities of releasing atomic energy be conceived."

lsbury Wins Economy Run For 2nd Year

SUN VALLEY, April 18 (AP)—The son of a southern California auto dealer emerged with his second straight victory Thursday in a Mobilgas economy run he helped turn into virtually a family affair. But the big surprise of the run, open to women for the first time this year, was his mother—a small, trim grandmother who tooled a heavy car to an unofficial second place in the 1,568.3-mile test of driving skill.

Still another surprise was the victory turned in by Chrysler corporation, whose cars took first place in all four price classes of the run, the first time a single manufacturer has done it.

Winner and repeat champion of the economy run's sweepstakes event is Mel Alsbury, jr., 27, Inglewood, Calif. He drove an Imperial Crown the four-lap route from Los Angeles to Sun Valley with an average of 20.9465 actual miles per gallon.

Converted into ton-miles, the basis on which run winners are picked, Alsbury's performance comes out at 64.5153 ton-miles per gallon. This figure is attained by multiplying the actual mileage by the car's weight in tons.

Alsbury's figure was good for first place not only in the run's high-priced car class but was tops for the 23 cars finishing the run.

A field of 24 cars started, but Lincoln Paola of LaCanada, Calif., withdrew his Oldsmobile 88 Holiday as the run pulled out of Ogden, Utah, on its final lap Thursday. Nine of the 24 drivers were women, all of whom finished.

Tops — if only unofficially — among the women was tiny brown-haired Mrs. Mildred Alsbury of Los Angeles, Mel, jr.'s mother. She dogged her son's trail all the way, coming in right behind him in both the sweepstakes and high-price class in another Imperial Crown that did 19.9527 actual and 61.7535 ton miles per gallon.

But, because only one car of a particular model can place in its class, Mrs. Alsbury's performance didn't count in the official figures.

Another of her sons, George Alsbury, whose 20th birthday was Wednesday, drove a Chrysler Saratoga to an unofficial third place in sweepstakes and official tops in the upper medium-price class. His performance: 20.7032 actual and 56.7267 ton-miles per gallon.

To make it a completely family affair, Mel, sr., was son Mel, jr.'s, relief driver and Mrs. Mel Alsbury, jr., was her mother-in-law's relief driver, though neither had to take the wheel.

Top car in the lower medium-priced bracket was a Dodge Coronet "500" driven by William J. Losher of Pacoima, Calif., with 22.0047 actual and 55.8920 ton-miles per gallon.

And the winner in the low-priced class was a Plymouth Belvedere eight, driven by Mary Davis of West Hollywood at 21.3907 actual and 52.6211 ton-miles per gallon.

Tops in actual gasoline mileage was a Ford Fairlane 500 six driven by Marshall Martin of Los Angeles. His actual mileage was 22.253 per gallon, but with weight considered, the ton-miles were 52.6181.

Runners-up in the four classes:

High-priced: 2. Buick Roadmaster, driven by Don Bridge, Pacific Palisades, Calif., 18.6287 actual and 62.3466 ton-miles.

Upper medium-priced: 2. DeSoto Firedome, Hart Fullerton of Los Angeles, 20.9839 actual and 56.4464 ton-miles; 3. Oldsmobile 98 Holiday, Marilyn Miller, Whittier, Calif., 19.2164 actual and 53.5177 ton-miles.

Lower medium-priced: 2. Oldsmobile 88 Holiday, Lorraine Bell, Sunland, Calif., 19.5149 actual and 52.7877 ton-miles; 3. Pontiac Chieftain, Pierce Venable, Torrance, Calif., 20.4221 actual and 50.2354 ton-miles.

Low-priced: 2. Chevrolet Bel Air eight, Vince Piggins, Liconia, Calif., 21.2636 actual and 49.4378 ton-miles.

Canine Credited For Saving Life Of Boise Woman

BOISE, April 19 (AP)—A powerful Labrador dog named Mike yesterday was credited with saving the life of his mistress after she fell and broke her back at her home recently.

Mrs. Walter Davis, 48, said the dog literally dragged her up a flight of stairs, into her house and to a telephone so she could summon aid.

It was raining the night of the accident, said Mrs. Davis, whose return home from the hospital prompted her to tell the story Thursday.

She said she tripped while running up the steps to her house, fell off the porch to the lawn and then about six feet to the driveway.

Her husband was in Portland, Ore., on the night of the accident, March 30. Mrs. Davis says she has "no close neighbors."

The 82-pound dog then dragged the 120-pound woman into the house. Before losing consciousness she was able to call a physician, who brought her to the hospital and said later that her back was broken at the waistline.

"I shudder when I think what might have happened if Mike weren't with me that night," said Mrs. Davis, who now wears a brace on her back.

Manager Named

Joseph Gibney, 37, has been named television manager of KLIX radio-TV station, Cecil Heftel, general manager of the station, announced Thursday.

Gibney previously was television sales manager for the station. He joined KLIX when it was established in 1947.

Salt Lake Union Defends Hearing

SALT LAKE CITY, April 19 (AP)—The secretary-treasurer of the Salt Lake Teamsters union defended as sound yesterday the position taken by the union's national executive board on a hearing scheduled for May 6 by the AFL-CIO's ethical practices committee.

The executive board said it would not take part in the hearing until "fundamentals of fair adjudication" are assured.

And Fullmer H. Latter said in Salt Lake City "I feel their action was sound in laying down conditions to which any accused person is justly entitled." He said the board "took the position I expected them to take."

Age of Missile Envisioned by Alliance Chief

PARIS, April 19 (AP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, deputy commander of the Western alliance, yesterday predicted a missile age by 1966 when he said the key to allied strategy would be "power to destroy to an extent never before envisaged."

But he warned that missiles would not solve all the problems of western defense, and that older weapons would continue to be used. He foresaw no war in the immediate future.

The field marshal, still energetically trim at 69, addressed news correspondents at supreme allied headquarters Europe.

These were the weapons he said would be in use by 1966:

Naval ships, including submarines, with nuclear power.

Nuclear warheads for any suitable weapons down to and including field guns.

Strategic missiles with nuclear warheads.

Missiles and rockets replacing guns, especially for anti-tank and anti-aircraft work.

Short-range guided missiles, able to reach targets up to 500 miles, available in quantity.

Intermediate ballistic missiles, with ranges up to 2,000 miles, fired from fixed positions on land and from ships.

Man-made satellites circling the earth.

Improved submarine detection devices.

Weapons which Montgomery estimated would be in the development stage by 1966 includes intercontinental ballistic missiles with ranges up to 5,000 miles or more; nuclear-powered aircraft and perhaps nuclear power for land vehicles.

SHORT CUT

POCATELLO, April 19 (AP)—Pocatello Chamber of Commerce leaders said yesterday they will ask the state highway board for approval of a new route cutting the distance from Pocatello to the National Reactor Testing station by 12 miles.

Strikers Battling Police in France

PARIS, April 19 (AP)—A battle between striking rail and subway workers and police broke out yesterday on the boulevard in front of the transport ministry.

About 1,000 workers, members of the Communist-dominated General Labor Confederation, assaulted police lines with stones and metal bars in an effort to break through to the ministry.

The workers went on a two-day strike yesterday for higher wages. Some of the strikers were drifting back to their jobs today.

Hypnosis Can Make Injuries More Painful

CHICAGO, April 19 (AP)—Hypnosis, long known to banish pain, can also make human injuries more painful and severe.

Body tissues can become more vulnerable to injury.

This new finding about the mysterious hypnotic behavior of the mind was described today to the annual meeting of American Societies for Experimental Biology by doctors Irving F. Chapman, Helen Goodell and Harold G. Wolff, Cornell university medical college, New York.

Trio Put Under

Three hypnotized persons put first one arm and then the other into a bath tub of water just under body temperature.

When the first arm was put in, it was suggested to the hypnotized person that the water was hot, that the arm was burned, injured and painful. When the other was immersed, it was suggested the water was comfortable and the arm was all right.

Arms Exposed

Immediately afterward, both arms were exposed to the same amount of burning heat or an acid, enough to produce a little injury.

Each time the first arm—the one suggested as being hurt—had more skin damage than the other.

Tests showed tiny blood vessels had expanded under the hypnotic suggestion, making the tissues more vulnerable. One or more chemicals released in the body may also have played a role in the greater injury.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has now joined other prominent Americans and people from all walks of life in praising a revolutionary new hearing device called "The Listener." "It certainly heralds a new day for the hard of hearing," said Mrs. Roosevelt recently.

Continuing, she added: "If people only knew what a revelation and a joy The LISTENER is, they would not for a moment hesitate to wear one. This is the first hearing aid that exactly fits my needs. I didn't realize a hearing aid could be as good as this."

So widespread is the interest in this remarkable new electronic hearing achievement, the makers have prepared an illustrated booklet giving full details. Those interested may obtain a free copy from Oticon Laboratories, Dobbs Ferry 7, New York.

Top Concerns Of U. S. Reach Cash Records

NEW YORK, April 17 (UP)—The number of American corporations with total assets of one billion dollars or more now stands at a record 81, a United Press survey showed today.

Industry added four new corporate billionaires in 1956, climaxing another booming year of economic growth.

The list of billion-dollar giants has almost doubled since the end of World war II, mirroring the nation's fabulous postwar growth and prosperity.

The 81 companies in the "billion dollar club" had assets aggregating $241,447,251,425 at the end of 1956. That was equivalent to more than $1,400 for each man, woman and child now living in the United States.

At the end of 1955, these 81 firms boasted total assets of $228,315,487,311. The sharp increase recorded in 1956 reflected the record 35 billion dollars spent for expansion and modernization by companies producing everything from hairpins to automobiles.

The Bell Telephone system retained its ranking as the world's biggest business enterprise with total assets of $16,206,871,233. It was the first time assets of any company had ever topped 16 billion dollars.

Metropolitan Life was the next biggest, followed in order by Prudential Insurance, Bank of America, Equitable Life Assurance society and Standard Oil company (New Jersey).

America has a virtual monopoly on corporate billionaires. England has a few such giants, including Royal Dutch-Shell, Imperial Chemicals and British Petroleum. Canada lists Aluminium, Canadian Pacific railroad, Canadian National Railways and two banks in this exclusive group.

The newcomers to the American list last year were Massachusetts Investors Trust, the nation's oldest and biggest investment company; Chesapeake and Ohio railway, the seventh railroad to join; Detroit Bank and Trust company, the 25th bank in the group, and Tennessee Gas Transmission company, a principal shipper of natural gas.

Of the 81 companies in the list, all but 13 showed increases in total assets during 1956. Eight of the companies reporting declines in assets were banks.

Others are Sen. Henry Dworshak, R., Ida., Gov. Robert E. Smylie, Rep. Hamer Budge, R., Ida., and R. P. Parry, chairman of the Idaho committee of the Columbia interstate compact commission.

Patient Is Home

WENDELL, April 19 — Barbara Kurtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kurtz, polio patient who spent the last eight months at King county hospital in Seattle, has arrived home.

Miss Kurtz, who was completely paralyzed, has made some improvement. She has some movement in her left leg and the fingers of her right hand. Her mother and a neighbor are taking care of her.

VISITING DAUGHTERS

DIETRICH, April 19—Mrs. Kathryn Oltmer, Oakland, Calif., is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Ben Lauer and Mrs. Arthur Thiel, and families.

Good Friday

On good Friday, unhappy Pilate sat in judgment on Jesus. He was troubled—at the trumped-up demands for the Saviour's crucifixion. "I find in him no fault at all," he told the accusers. But, seeking to appease the priests, he gave in and turned Jesus over to the executioners.

And so Jesus died on the cross, between two thieves crucified with Him. And Joseph, the rich disciple from Arimathaea, comforted Mary and the other grieving women. Jesus was laid to rest in Joseph's own sepulchre, newly hewn from stone. A great rock sealed the entrance."

Wife Asks Judge To Insist Mate Stop His Dreams

CHICAGO, April 19 (UP)—A judge observed yesterday that he has no power to prevent a husband from dreaming about a former wife.

The comment was made in the case of Mrs. Ann Plantz, 32, and her estranged husband, Roy Plantz, 47.

Mrs. Plantz has filed suit for divorce, asking an injunction to prevent Roy from seeing his first wife, Mrs. Christine Plantz.

Ann's attorney, Charles Cooley, said Roy had talked in his sleep and had repeatedly mentioned "the name of his first wife." The lawyer added that Ann investigated and learned that Roy was dating Christine.

"Why shouldn't I mention her name in my sleep?" Roy asked. "I was married to her 17 years."

Metesky Ordered To Complete His Tenure in Asylum

NEW YORK, April 19 (UP)—Mad Bomber George Metesky yesterday was ordered to an asylum for the criminally insane, there presumably to die. Doctors have said he is gravely ill of tuberculosis with only a few months or weeks of life left.

"One would be less than human not to be sympathetically moved by the pitiful condition of this hopeless, incurable man—incurable both mentally and physically," said Brooklyn Judge Samuel Leibowitz as he committed Metesky.

Thus ended one of the strangest cases in American crime annals.

Metesky, a 54-year-old Waterbury, Conn., bachelor, planted 32 bombs in New York public places over a period of 16 years. His reign of terror was begun with the twisted notion of avenging himself on a society which he blamed for his illness.

BENEFITS DROP

BOISE, April 19 (UP)—Unemployment compensation benefits paid to Idahoans last week dropped $13,000 from the previous week and totaled $151,570, the Idaho employment security agency reported today. The ESA said payments to the unemployed had continued to decline with an increase in spring work.

School Costs To Be Aired In Minidoka

RUPERT, April 19—The Minidoka county school board will hold a public hearing Monday on a budget of $833,615 and will ask for a two-mill capital outlay levy.

May 17 has been set as the date for the five-mill operating levy election.

The tentative budget of $833,615 represents a $137,515 increase over the previous years figures. Increased income will come mainly from the state apportionment and from a rise in federal assistance to the district for education of homesteader children.

The regular state apportionment to the district will be increased by $60,819. This plus, the hardship factor, makes the total state increase $89,140. Federal aid will jump from $12,500 to an estimated $50,000. In previous years the school district collected one year behind actual enrollments. Under the new law, the district will collect for actual enrollment of homestead children during a current year.

In addition to these increases, there are various small increases in income as a result of a raise in the assessed valuation in the district. The 1957-58 valuation is $10,617,234 compared to $9,669,520 last year.

Almost all departments in the budget show increases for the coming year. Biggest jump is in instructional service, which goes from $447,400 to $559,850. Most of this $112,450 increase is in salaries for teachers plus the required increase in the teaching staff.

At the last board meeting, 10 teachers informed the board they would not sign their contracts for next year. They are Mrs. Alta Backney, Paul third grade; Mrs. Atha Seamons, Pioneer music teacher; Martell Mortensen, Pioneer fourth grade; Mrs. Hazel Quane, Pershing third grade; Mrs. Gertrude Groft, Heyburn third grade; Mrs. Julianna Oarst, Lincoln fourth grade; Mrs. Frances Raab, high school home economics; Mrs. Arlie Stocks, Washington fifth grade; Carl Huntington, high school principal, and Deon Nelson, high school girls physical education and health.

Camden Meyer, superintendent, said the reason for the resignations varied from household reasons, more money and transfers of husbands. He said 78 of the 82 women teachers on the present staff are married.

Meyer said the teaching situation is not as critical as last year. Last year there were 35 vacancies to be filled before school started. He said the main problem now is to make room for the influx of students expected from the northside.

Trustee elections previously have been held in September but the last session of the legislature changed the date so that it would coincide with special levy elections in May to cut down election expense of the district.

The term of O. B. Robbins, Acequia, is expiring.

A driver training course in the high school is being considered. Meyer said a driver instructor can handle only 60 students per semester and that at least two instructors would be needed to give the course in a single class in high school.

How's It Coming?

Congress, Ike Move Along at Snail's Pace; "New Republicanism" Is Issue

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—These first 3½ months of 1957 in Washington have been as bleak as any in recent memory.

Congress is moving like a flat tire, going its own way, paying little attention to President Eisenhower, who has done practically no fighting for his programs. And some of his pet ones are in jeopardy.

His own official family has seemed divided—and at times to be talking out of both sides of its mouth—on how much money he needs to spend.

He has proclaimed his "new Republicanism." But whatever that philosophy is, it isn't being bought by some of his own Republicans, including his brother Edgar who criticized the President's ideas on spending.

Maybe after the Easter holiday Eisenhower will take a firmer grip on the ship of state and fight for what he wants. From the look of things he'll have to, unless he wants to see his budget and his programs wind up a tattered wreck.

Congress has taken little final action on anything so far this year. The house has voted sharp cuts in Eisenhower's budget; but the senate hasn't started on the money bills. Eisenhower's federal aid to education program looks dead for the year. His civil rights bill is hung up in committees of both houses.

The house will probably okay his ideas on civil rights. But if it ever passes the senate—and it probably won't—the southern Democrats may have so watered it down as to render it meaningless.

And Eisenhower—except for saying he wants almost 4½ billion dollars for it—hasn't even offered his foreign aid program yet.

The President has probably fought harder to keep congress off the neck of this country's overseas propaganda organ—the U.S. information agency—than for anything else he's presented to the lawmakers this year.

He asked 144 millions for it. Three times he appealed to the house not to reduce the figure. But it cheerfully did—down to 106 millions, or 7 millions less than the USIA got last year.

Even Arthur Larson, the agency's head, was unpersuasive, although Larson, who is sort of unofficial philosopher for the administration, wrote a whole book on the subject of the "new republicanism."

So far the house has slashed 1½ billions off Eisenhower's 72 billion dollar budget. The cutting is far from over. And the senate still has to take a crack at it. The senate is full of Democrats and Republicans who want to put an ax to certain items.

Even some of Eisenhower's own Republican leaders—like Senator Knowland of California—want the budget chopped down. For a while early this year Secretary of Treasury Humphrey seemed to be of the same mind. He talked of the possibility congress could lop several billions off the President's budget on the very day Eisenhower unveiled it.

When the ax hit the money request for his own department, Humphrey had second thoughts on economy and asked that some of the money be restored.

That's also what Secretary of Commerce Weeks did—when the house voted cuts in the commerce department's funds—although previously Weeks had almost dared, besides urging, congress to economize.

In the midst of all this Eisenhower steadily seems to be losing whatever control he had over the conservative wing of the Republican party. An example: Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona. Goldwater not only scorns the new Republicanism but predicts an early death for it.

"What Kind of Youth Is Matovich?" Hometown Editor Answers Question

By WENDELL BRAINARD
Kellogg Evening News Editor

KELLOGG, April 19 (AP)—Since we live in his home town, people ask: What kind of a boy was Paul D. Matovich? What do the citizens of Kellogg think of his conviction?

I remember Paul hanging around the office here when he was just a youngster. He didn't deliver papers but a friend of his did. I didn't pay much attention to him.

When Paul was about 8 years old, an empty shed here burned down. Other boys said Paul set it but he denied it. George Westcott was fire chief at the time. He questioned Paul about it and they put him in a cell down at the jail for a couple hours to convince him of the seriousness of setting fires.

His father took him to some Spokane doctors when he was about 12. The doctors told him everything would come out all right.

Paul enrolled at Kellogg high school. The principal there remembers that he didn't do good work. He was smart enough, all right, but didn't apply himself and didn't seem interested. He didn't go out for athletics and didn't seem to want to pal around with the other kids.

After two years, his parents took him out of Kellogg high and sent him to the academy in Wallace.

He went into the air force and then down to the university in Moscow. When he was arrested for the Gault hall fire, people here started to recall what they knew about him. He had been in many minor scrapes before here but nothing serious.

His father said at the trial that Paul was always blamed for everything that happened. Paul had been questioned about other fires in Kellogg but was never arrested.

During the trial, Art Norlen, who operates a shoe store here, and W. H. Youso, a miner, organized a "Matovich defense committee." There were eight members at the start. They claimed Paul was not guilty of first degree murder as charged and they wanted to collect money to send witnesses to Moscow. The family funds were exhausted.

The committee is going to stay active now to help Matovich get "adequate psychiatric treatment" in prison.

"We feel," Norlen said, "that Paul has a mental problem and is not responsible for his actions. He is not going to be cured just sitting in prison.

"We will keep on collecting funds and we want the boy to have private psychiatric treatment. We prefer to get Dr. Sol Levy, Spokane, who testified for the defense at the trial that Paul has a serious mental illness.

"We want Matovich pronounced cured before he is ever paroled. He wants to be cured. He took a course in psychology at the university to cope with his own problems. He wants to stop his own terrible desire to set fires. We think he should have been sent to an asylum, not prison."

Norlen said he collected $135 at his store alone, that $100 was turned over to the defense attorneys. He said "a surprising amount" of the money came from "outsiders," people who didn't know the family.

You don't hear too much comment in Kellogg on the conviction. Most people thought the sentence was fair but many thought he should have been sent to an institution. Norlen feels the prison psychiatrist at Boise won't be able to devote as much time as needed with Paul. That's why they want Dr. Levy.

Once the trial started at Moscow there didn't seem to be too much local interest. People knew Paul. I think they expected a conviction. When the jury was out, we got only two telephone calls about a verdict. We get lots more for ball scores.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Ambition is a dangerous thing. "By that the angels fell." But in reason, ambition is essential to success in any undertaking. The "in reason" is the catch. Any parent worth his salt wants his child to be the best possible member of his class whether in school, on the playground or in social relationship. Setting the standard for the child requires great wisdom.

Here is a good boy, in sound health—likeable, intelligent, who gets B on his report card. Under pressure, he may get a B plus. Why can't he get A's? wonder the ambitious parent. "There's that kid down the block with less than half this boy's advantage getting A's all over the place. The only thing to do is to deprive him of his swimming. He loves swimming. Maybe that will make him get busy."

It will make him unhappy but it won't make him get A's. Unhappiness is about the worst possible stimulant for work and growth. It is a very good one for illness, loss of ambition and interest. To take away the one activity a child enjoys in order to make him do better work in activities he looks at as duties is to lose at both ends.

In my experience with many school children I learned that a child usually did what he could do. If he failed it was not because of laziness, lack of ambition or willfulness. Any child of intelligence wants to please his parents and win approval of his teachers and the admiration of his classmates. When he fails he feels pretty bad about it. You can be sure of that.

I learned too that the A pupil was not always the A man or woman. The B's are the healthy core of the school and, in time, of the country. They are intelligent, hardworking, fine citizens. Some of them raise out of the group and surpass some of their A classmates. Some of the A's never reach comparable standard in social life where application of knowledge to everyday living is demanded.

This is not to belittle the A's. They are usually leaders. But leaders are useless without followers and that is where the B's come in strongly. They take the plan the A's make, develop it, apply it, and so serve themselves and their country ably and well.

If a child brings home a report card lined with B's, smile upon him. Praise him. He is doing a fine job. Remember he is going to grow in understanding and power for years to come. The B's are but a foundation for future A's that will be conferred on him by a grateful

Reds Begin New Propaganda, Diplomatic Plan to Woo West

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Soviet leaders apparently have embarked on a new diplomatic and propaganda campaign aimed at improving Russian relations with the West.

Some U. S. officials believe this reflects a basic policy decision following last fall's crises in Hungary and the Middle East.

According to this theory, the Soviet leaders are believed to have decided that their de-Stalinization line, developed early last year, was right in spite of the upheaval that followed relaxation of Stalinist controls in Eastern Europe, and that they want to get a good will and peaceful coexistence drive under way again.

Experts here assume the decision would serve Russia's long-range purpose of developing communist influence in the Middle East, Asia and Africa and meanwhile trying to divide and disorganize the western anti-communist alliance.

It might also mean that Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev will eventually be willing to do serious business with the western powers on issues where they may hope to gain advantage for Russian interests and relax East-West tensions at small cost to themselves.

State department officials are studying several developments which indicate to them that the new campaign has been launched.

1. Russia's role in disarmament negotiations now in progress in London has been more constructive and serious.

2. Khrushchev at a reception in Moscow Monday made a speech full of talk about coexistence and competition with the West and said "we like them all" in reference to several countries of which he had been bitterly critical in the past, including France, Britain and Israel.

3. The Soviet government was reported to have welcomed the decision of the United States last week to resume cultural exchanges with Russia.

During the great de-Stalinization campaign, Moscow's hold on the satellite countries was generally relaxed, leaders identified with Stalin fell from power and much of the world gained the impression that a new kind of Sovietism was emerging.

The riotous situation which developed in Hungary last fall and the ruthless Russian slaughter which ensued halted the trend.

The evidence now available—and officials say it is by no means conclusive yet—suggests that the Moscow leaders may have decided that Hungarian uprising was an incident which threw their 1956 policy off the track temporarily but did not prove that it was unworkable.

The policy had succeeded in ending Russia's isolation, overcoming hatred and suspicion, and opening the way for economic, political and propaganda offensives in Asia and Africa.

Surgery Attempt Will Be Made to Save Twin Lives

HOLLYWOOD, April 19 (AP)—Surgery will be performed soon at Children's hospital in an effort to separate Siamese twins Terry and Larry Powell.

Neurosurgeons said yesterday that several operations may be necessary to achieve the separation.

Doctors have said the twins will have only a slight chance of surviving surgery if they have common brain tissue. But Mr. and Mrs. Jack Powell, parents of the babies, have consented to the surgery.

Terry and Larry, born March 10, are joined by a skull fusion 3½ inches wide. Tests have shown they have major vein connections.

Buhl Wins Four-Way Meet At Gooding; Rain Hampers Athletes in Most Events

GOODING, April 19—A downpour of rain which lasted throughout the afternoon failed to wash out the four-way track meet at Gooding Thursday afternoon, but times in most of the events were poor because of the dismal weather. Buhl won the meet by a wide margin, scoring 58 points. Filer was second with 36½ points, followed by Gooding with 33 and Jerome with 20½. One of the best performances on the sloppy track was posted by Gooding's Westendorf who covered the quartermile in :55.7.

Two events, the pole vault and the discus, were canceled because of the rain.

The annual met has been a triangular affair in recent years, but Filer joined the field this year to make it a four-way contest.

The summary:

Shot put—Baxter, Filer; Wasko, Buhl; Braun, Buhl; Ayers, Buhl. 40 feet, 7 inches.

100-yard dash—Hendricks, Buhl; Lammers, Filer; Graves, Gooding; Shockley, Jerome. (Time unavailable)

Mile run—Gentry, Gooding; Deklotz, Filer; Morris, Jerome; Morrison, Buhl. (Time unavailable)

Mustangs' Pilot Has Worries About Hitting

BILLINGS, April 19 (AP) — Will one of baseball's most common ailments—good fielding but lack of hitting—cost the Billings Mustangs the Pioneer league pennant this year? Manager Eddie Lyons, taking his first crack at managing the Mustangs, is grappling with that question while getting his team ready for its season opener against Great Falls here April 26. He says "if some of the question marks come through we will have a good ball club."

Lyons, who will play second base as long as a game knee holds up, says the club defense looks fine and the pitching will be strong. If his outfielders can provide the power, he says he'll have a top-ranking team.

Billings, which joined the Pioneer league in 1948, is often a bridesmaid but has never been a bride. Three times Billings has placed second in the final standings, but it never has won a pennant. Last year the Mustangs tied with Salt Lake City for second, four games off the pace set by first-place Boise.

The Mustangs, a farm club of the St. Louis Cardinals, will have switchhitting Gerald Cooper as their frontline catcher. Although small, the bespectacled Cooper is a hustler who hit .364 for Mexicali last year.

Jim Hamilton, a Negro rookie, will back up Cooper.

Ron George, who hit .330 for Billings last year, will be back at first base. But Lyons says George is the big disappointment of the spring training camp at Albany, Ga. "He hasn't as yet demonstrated to me or the camp officials that he was the type of player that hit .330 last year," Lyons says.

Jose Echevarria has been converted from an outfielder into a first baseman in case George falters. Lyons says Echevarria won't be a fancy fielder, but swings a powerful bat.

Lyons will play second as long as his knee holds up. Cooper will move out from his catcher's berth to second base when it's necessary to fill in for Lyons.

Veteran Lyle Krall, although having arm trouble, will play shortstop and Bob Sadowski, a promising young player, will be at third. Lyons says Sadowski swings the bat "real good, has good hands and if he gets a good start he could have a real good year."

The outfield — Billings' big question mark — has Roberto Vea, a native of Mexico, in left, Ron Schmitt in center and Leon Carmel in right.

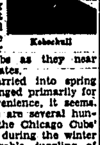
"I look for my outfield to supply the power and am presently a little concerned — if it hits it will be okay," Lyons says. He adds that Schmitt and Carmel should have the best throwing arms in the league.

Billings will start the season with four limited service pitchers and three rookies. "I will find out about the rookies in a hurry," Lyons says. "I am starting them to see if they can pitch class C ball."

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By KEBBY KEBSCHULL

Magic Valley fans are getting impatient to know just who is going to be on the Cowboy's roster this season. But manager Burdy Thurlby at the Cowpokes' training base at Mesa, Ariz., just doesn't know yet.



Kebschull

With a half-dozen clubs training in one camp, the managers want to take just as long a look at the available talent as they can. And, complicating things is the fact that players will become available from the higher classification clubs as they near their cut-down dates.

The rosters carried into spring training are arranged primarily for bookkeeping convenience, it seems.

After all, there are several hundred players in the Chicago Cubs' farm system and during the winter there is considerable juggling of the rosters as optioned players are recalled, rookies are added, players are traded and the like.

About the only thing we know for certain is that the Cowboys are scheduled to leave Mesa Monday evening and will arrive before dawn Wednesday morning.

The team will work out under the lights at Jaycee park Wednesday evening. Another workout is scheduled Thursday afternoon.

Then, before the club leaves for Pocatello to open the Pioneer league season Friday, there will be a banquet at the Turf club Thursday evening. The fans will have a chance to meet Thurlby and his charges at the dinner which will begin at 7:30 p.m.

President Carl Sherwood has called a meeting of the Cowboys' board of directors for Monday evening, April 29. Any last-minute details thus can be worked out before the team plays its first game at home the next evening.

Plans for another push on the pre-season ticket sales campaign also are afoot. A good start has been made on ticket sales but baseball interest still is lagging a bit—and probably will continue to do so until we get some warm weather.

By this time all the baseball bigwigs have made their predictions about the coming season. Every league is anticipating the closest pennant race in history. Almost every league foresees improved attendance. All the managers believe they have real championship contenders—"if."

We don't care about that. What we want to know is this:

"Who's going to play for the Cowboys?"

High School Youth Hurt by Javelin

SPRINGVILLE, Utah, April 19 (AP)—A javelin thrown by a high school student pierced the leg of another student Wednesday.

Bob Nelson, a student at Springville high school, was hit by the javelin. It entered his leg below the knee and the point came out above the ankle.

Doctors said there appeared to be no bone, muscle or artery damage from the spear.

Outdoor Association Votes Opposition to Proposed Dams

Strong opposition to proposals for the construction of any dams below the confluence of the Snake and Salmon rivers which might interfere with the migration of steelhead and salmon was voiced Thursday evening at a meeting of the Twin Falls chapter, Idaho Outdoor association.

The club put its opposition on record after hearing a letter from Ross Leonard, director of the state fish and game department, on proposals for dams at the Nez Perce and Pleasant Valley sites.

Plans were approved at the meeting for a parking lot and sidewalks at the organization's new clubhouse.

The land around the clubhouse has been leveled and landscaping work will be started as soon as a fence is erected.

The building and grounds committee was instructed to draw up a schedule of rents which will apply to other organizations using the building or grounds.

A profit of $57.90 was realized from the association's recent sourdough hotcake supper. It was announced. Proceeds will be used for the organization's conservation activities.

Conservation officer Fred Edwards, Kimberly, reported on commercial fishing for trash fish at Murtaugh lake.

Maglie Throws Four-Hitter as Brooklyn Batters Pirates 6-1

By The Associated Press

The incredible Sal Maglie, picking up where he left off last year, Thursday hurled a brilliant four-hitter as the defending National champion Brooklyn Dodgers celebrated their 45th home opening with a 6-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

A chilled gathering of 11,202 saw the veteran righthander who will be 40 years old a week from today pitch in mid-season form as he struck out five, walked three and did not permit an earned run.

At the Polo grounds, Hank Sauer's 250th major league homerun helped the New York Giants win over Philadelphia 6-2.

Only 8,585 fans turned out in threatening weather to watch the Giants win at home.

Converted outfielder Hal Jeffcoat lost a heartbreaker at Milwaukee as the Braves edged Cincinnati 1-0.

Moe Drabowsky, showing exceptional poise, shackled St. Louis on four hits as the Chicago Cubs pounded out a 10-2 victory.

In the American league, Gil McDougald's triple helped the New York Yankees take a hard-earned 3-2 win over Boston at Fenway park.

Cleveland exploded with five runs in the 11th inning to humble the Tigers 8-3 at Detroit.

At Chicago, lefty Jack Harshman spun a four-hitter in a homer-punctuated season opener at Comiskey park which the White Sox won 6-2 over Kansas City. The A's hit two homers and Chicago hit three.

Excellent relief pitching by Pete Ramos, coupled with the wildness of Baltimore's hurler Ray Moore, enabled Washington to defeat the Orioles 6-4 in a night game at Washington.

Site Offered

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—The New York city park commission offered a 78-acre tract of Queens yesterday as a site for the Brooklyn Dodgers' dream-stage plastic domed ballpark, hoping to lure the National league champions into discarding what ever plans they have to move to Los Angeles.

San Francisco Rallies, Beats Seattle 6 to 1

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19 (AP)—George Munger, nursing along a 1-0 Seattle lead, grooved a righthanded pitch to Eddie Sadowski in the fifth Thursday with the count three balls, one strike, and the San Francisco catcher slammed a three-run homer. The Seals went on from there for a 6-1 victory.

McDougald Receiving Overdue Recognition

NEW YORK, April 19 (U.P.)—The quiet man was making loud noises again today for the New York Yankees. That would be Gil McDougald, the gawky, freckled red-head who accomplished the impossible by cramming his big feet into the winged cleats left vacant by Phil Rizzuto. The same McDougald who never seems to get his fair share of consideration when the laurels are distributed.

Yet, while he is underrated in public consideration, the lanky Scot privately is considered by baseball men to be one of the major cogs in the Yankee juggernaut.

Listen to Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians:

"Luis Aparicio of the White Sox will out-field him and Harvey Kuenn of the Detroit Tigers will out-hit him—but neither one of them can carry his glove."

And, as Jack Tighe, the new manager of the Tigers, explains it:

"This guy kills you. I'm not taking anything away from Yogi Berra or Mickey Mantle but get that McDougald up there with a man on second base and there goes your ball game."

It was just about that way in the season's opener as the Yankees became involved in a dilly with the Washington Senators. The game was all tied up in the ninth when, with one on and one out, McDougald doubled to set up the Yankee victory.

McDougald has been doing that kind of thing for the Yankees without a great deal of fanfare ever since he came up to the club in 1951. You are inclined to forget it, but he came out of nowhere to be the rookie of the year while doubling in brass between second and third.

He was wide-eyed at the prospect of playing in the world series.

"Boy," he gasped, "I've got butterflies so big they must be as big as eagles."

It didn't stop him from becoming the first rookie in baseball history to hit a grandslam homerun in the classic.

Two years later he led the league's third basemen in fielding and two years after that, as a token of his versatility, he paced the league's second basemen in fielding. Then, playing it by ear, he took over for the finished Rizzuto last May.

It was a tremendous spot, because the undersized "Scooter" was a legend with the burly Yankees. A mighty mite among giants, despite his lack of stature he still was regarded as the cement of the infield.

But McDougald took over and kept the Yankee machine from missing a beat. Still he didn't get the recognition from the fans. Yet you might have noticed that the Yankees appreciated his work so much that they gave him a $7,000 raise to $29,000 this year.

All-Stars Defeat Celtics 124-110

SALT LAKE CITY, April 19 (AP)—Thirteen of 16 players scored in the double figures Thursday night as the Boston Celtics trimmed the Major League All-Stars in a professional basketball exhibition 124-110.

Both squads have won two games in their current tour. They meet in Spokane Friday night; Corvallis, Saturday and Seattle Sunday.

Furgol, Palmer Share Lead in Las Vegas Play

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 19 (AP)—Veteran Ed Furgol and young Arnold Palmer battled gale-like winds, rain and bitter cold Thursday to shoot even par 72 and lead the way through the first round of the $40,000 golf Tournament of Champions.

Twenty-three professional golfers, each the winner of a major PGA sponsored tournament in the past year, set forth in quest of the $10,000 top prize and most of them were angry men at the windup.

"Believe me, the weather was miserable," said Furgol, which was an under-statement.

Furgol, who held the United States Open title in 1954, and 27-year-old Palmer, then the National Amateur kingpin, posted identical rounds of 36-36-72 for the par 36-36-72 Desert Inn Country club course.

Tied in second place at 73 were Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.; Gene Littler of San Diego, winner of this rich event in 1955 and 1956; Art Wall, jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., 1954 Las Vegas winner, and Fred Hawkins from El Paso, Tex.

Solon 'Stuck' With Surplus In U. S. Fund

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP) — Senator Williams, R., Del., complained to the senate yesterday that the treasury won't let him return $1,508.26 he saved last year from allowance for office stationery.

After several tries, he disclosed, he has written Comptroller General Joseph Campbell asking him to point a way out of the predicament.

It all started last June when Williams wrote the financial clerk of the senate acknowledging receipt of a voucher stating he had the $1,508.26 remaining from his $1,800 stationery allowance for the fiscal year ended last June 30. Williams said in nine previous years he had returned a total of $5,786.57.

But this time, he said, he ran into a new ruling that the treasury cannot accept the money, that it "must be spent," or, if it is not, he will be taxed on the unexpended portion, "even though it is left in the federal treasury."

"I have been advised that an easy way to avoid this penalty would be to order $1,508 worth of stationery from the senate stationery store, even though I do not need it, have it delivered to my office, and then call the truck and send it out to the city dump," Williams declared.

"Or, under this ruling I could file a claim for the treasury check of $1,508.26, pay income tax on the amount, and turn the rest over to the Republican national committee or put it in a special account to finance a personal political campaign.

"If this ruling stands unchallenged what is there to prevent using these unexpended funds to buy mink coats or deep freezes?"

Damage Light For Accidents

Damage was reported as light in a series of minor accidents in Twin Falls Thursday.

Approximately $75 damages were reported by Twin Falls police when a 1950 Dodge driven by Margaret J. Walker, 80, 350 Washington street north, backed into a parked 1957 Chevrolet owned by Shig Ogasawara, route 3, Twin Falls. The accident was in the 100 block of Second avenue north.

An accident in the 100 block of Fourth avenue north involved a 1955 Buick driven by Mrs. Frank Feltman and a car that did not stop at the scene. Police said Mrs. Feltman stopped at a stop sign and the other vehicle backed into her car.

An accident in the 100 block of Main avenue south involved a 1952 Hudson driven by Bert H. Pett, 1612 Willow lane and a 1949 Chevrolet driven by Roy J. Brown, Kimberly. Police reported Pett stopped for a car in front of him but the Chevrolet hit the right rear fender of the Hudson.

A 1954 Chevrolet driven by Vincent Smazal, 520 Main avenue south, and a 1950 Ford driven by Bobby R. Moore, route 1, Hansen, were involved in an accident in the 500 block of Second avenue south.

The Chevrolet was traveling north on Second avenue and started to make a right hand turn onto Sixth street south as the Ford started to pass on the right, police reported. Damage was minor.

Divorce Alleges Mental Cruelty

Mental cruelty is charged in a divorce complaint filed Thursday in Twin Falls district court by Mrs. Rachel E. Clayton against Oliver James Clayton.

They were married Dec. 25, 1927, in Madison county, Arkansas. They have four children, one of whom is a minor.

She seeks custody of the minor child and asks the court to award her permanent support for the child and alimony totaling $150 monthly. She asks for $500 monthly support during pendency of the court action.

Community property, the complaint claims, consists of farms and Mae's cafe, Buhl. She estimates the value of the farms at approximately $65,000 and the cafe at $20,000.

She asks the court to award her the community property or to make an equitable settlement.

She is represented by John C. Hepworth, Buhl attorney.

Damages Listed In Auto Accident

Approximately $400 in damages were estimated by state police Thursday as the result of an automobile accident one and one-fourth miles east of Curry on highway 30. No injuries were reported.

State Patrolman R. E. Young, who investigated with Sheriff James H. Benham, reported that a 1953 Chevrolet driven by Ronald L. Johnson, route 4, Buhl, started to pass a car driven by Mrs. M. E. Tibbs, Buhl, as the latter pulled out around a parked car.

To prevent hitting the Tibbs car, Johnson pulled into the opposite lane of traffic and collided with a 1957 Oldsmobile driven by L. V. Triplett, route 1, Filer, Young said.

Damage to the Oldsmobile was estimated at $300 and to the Chevrolet at $100.

Wild Weather Grips Central Region States

By United Press

Tornadoes, severe thunderstorms, fog and snow swept portions of the nation's central section in a new outbreak of spring weather violence.

Locally violent storms with hail and heavy rain slammed into South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and northern Oklahoma during the night.

Twisters roamed over parts of Texas late yesterday, but little damage was reported. Two tornadoes hit the ground near Pottsboro, near the Oklahoma border, but disappeared after destroying chicken houses and a garage and damaging a home.

High Winds

Winds of 40 miles per hour lashed the central plains, with some gusts of higher velocity in the storm areas.

Hail stones the size of marbles piled up six inches deep at Wolsey, S. D., northwest of Huron, during a sudden storm. Telephone communications were disrupted at Huron and Aberdeen, S. D.

Snow blanketed the higher elevations of the central and northern Rockies and weathermen warned the snow is expected to spread today into the western portion of the central and northern plains states.

Fog

Dense fog shrouded the lower Great Lakes for the second night in a row, closing Chicago's Midway airport, the world's busiest, and O'Hare field and stranding hundreds of airline passengers. All major airlines canceled flights in and out of the city during the night.

Rain is expected to continue today from the Rockies eastward to the Atlantic coast.

Water Right Case Injunction Sought

A complaint seeking an injunction to prevent Mr. and Mrs. William M. Thompson from interfering with the operation of an irrigation ditch which crosses the Thompson property was filed in Twin Falls district court Thursday by Mrs. Grace R. Shillingburg and Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Lanting.

The complaint alleges that Mrs. Shillingburg is owner of certain real property being purchased by the Lantings. The Thompsons are owners of adjacent property.

The complaint states that Mrs. Shillingburg has since 1941 openly, under a claim of right, carried water through an irrigation ditch which passes through the Thompson property.

It is now claimed that Thompson has plowed up the ditch and refuses to restore it or to allow the Lantings to enter for that purpose.

The Lantings also seek damages.

Guide Device For Airplane Is Developed

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 19 (UP)—Scientists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology have unveiled a heretofore secret invention which they say can guide any craft or missile to any specified spot on earth, free from enemy interference.

The invention, called "Inertial Guidance," already has flown a B29 bomber from Boston to Los Angeles.

The scientists said, in unveiling Inertial Guidance late Wednesday, that it operates without magnetic compass, radio or radar and without a glimpse of the earth, the sun or the stars. They said it needs no electronic signal or radar beam and therefore can't be jammed by enemy apparatus.

The developers explained that the heart of the system is a completely free-floating gyroscope sealed in a little four-inch cylinder about the size of a tomato can. They added that the extremely complicated mechanism always remains aligned in a fixed position in relation to the universe independent of the earth's motion.

They said it can't be affected by other natural phenomena such as weather, sunspots and magnetic influences on polar flights.

The gyro wheel, spinning at 12,000 revolutions per minute, floats in a fluid and pivots on virtually frictionless sapphire bearings. The wheel is described as "a major breakthrough in the field of gyro technology." The scientists indicated it might be of very great importance in flight through outer space.

Following luncheon, members heard a talk by the business manager of Northwest Nazarene college in Nampa, Wesley Johnson, on public relations and salesmanship.

At 3 p.m. a question and answer session on actual incidents that have happened to brokers was conducted by Brandt. The theme of the sectional meeting was "learn more to earn more."

Present were representatives of the Home Mortgage Credit program, Jack Pattee, Portland, Ore., and George R. Huntsman, Salt Lake City.

Members of the committee on meeting arrangements included C. S. Looney, A. L. Gridley, Paul B. Larsen, James Fraser and Homer.

Easter Madness Grasps Metro Grand Opera Star in New York

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The Easter hat madness has an unusual victim this year — Blanche Thebom, the only girl in grand opera who can stand on her own hats without bending her knees.

Hal Boyle

"I feel like I had dived into a lily pond, and came up with a lily on my head," said the springly Metropolitan opera star as she put on the first hat she had bought in 14 years.

The beautiful mezzo - soprano gave up hats about the time she started letting her hair grow long. Now it is over six feet in length and the singer, who is about 5 feet 7 inches tall, actually can let it down and step on it.

Miss Thebom, who usually gets along by sticking a flower or a jeweled ornament in her hair, went on a bonnet buying spree this season because she is going to be tempted soon. It wouldn't do to bump unexpectedly into Queen Elizabeth with nothing but a vintage orchid in her tresses. No indeed.

Blanche isn't a girl who goes in for half-way measures. She descended on the hat shop operated by Mr. John, the noted chapeau designer, with the enthusiasm of a pirate raider.

Her enthusiasm was matched by that of Mr. John, weary at the moment of decorating girls who affect short bobs or even crew cuts.

"I also hate those tortured curls — those French-fried curls," he murmurmed. "A woman with long hair is a pleasant challenge.

"For a long-haired woman, the hat simply must be in proportion. Hat design, after all, is basically architecture, which after all is basically proportion."

Mr. John, whom Napoleon is said to resemble, tosses off bon mots like this all day long on a six-day week. Sunday he practices.

He came into the trying on room with half a dozen colorful wide-brimmed hats. They bore such romantic titles as "visiting butterfly," "royal garden party," "meeting in mayfair," "brunch with a beefeater" and "tea with a total stranger."

Mr. John is indeed a veritable madcap — whether working in prose or satin.

One hat which was two feet wide and named "windsor afternoon" — or was it nightcap with a knight? — caught Blanche's eye.

"This is a black palace portrait hat," murmured Mr. John, "made of layers of summer black taffeta with a black petticoat brim (sure, hats wear petticoats) caught with a single summer rose, also black."

Intoxicated either by Mr. John's haunting creations or his haunted descriptions, Miss Thebom wound up with about a dozen big-brimmed hats, including "fascination," "drooping of colors," and "spring in London."

"If you're going to wear a hat," said Blanche stoutly, "you might as well wear a mad one, so that a man can look at it condescendingly."

"That's one of the reasons for wearing a hat — to give a man something to feel smug and superior about."

As she left Miss Thebom was heard to mutter:

"I think I'll have a happy Easter — if I just don't have to go through too many revolving doors."

Tin ore, a dioxide of tin, long was known in England as tinstone.

Mother-in-Law 102, Goes Along On Honeymoon

LOS ANGELES, April 19 (UP)—"I certainly never expected to take my mother-in-law on my honeymoon," observed bridegroom Jerry Linville as he hopped from a train at Union station.

Linville, a retired salesman, is 77. His bride, Rachel, is 77, too. And his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Hiers, is 102.

Jerry and Rachel were childhood friends in Harrison, O. But Jerry left town, married and moved here. His wife died three years ago. He found Rachel again, living with her mother in Detroit, and they were married.

It was Rachel's first marriage. Her mother was quoted by a newsman at the station as saying she had been to four Rachel "might turn out to be an old maid."

Carrier Transfer Is OK'd by PUC

BOISE, April 19 (AP)—The Idaho public utilities commission transferred authority yesterday to carry passengers and express between Pocatello, Blackfoot and the east Idaho atomic energy commission reservation from Snoderly Transportation, Inc., Arco, to Salmon Short-line, Salmon.

The commission also revoked carrier permit of Crocker Truck lines after a Lewiston hearing in which it found the permit was unused since June, 1954.

Employment up

BOISE, April 19 (AP)—Because of spring, Idaho is spending increasingly less money in unemployment benefits, the employment security agency says.

The agency says it paid $151,570 in benefits last week, a reduction of $12,000 for the week before. It said 7.8 per cent of Idahoans in employment fields were out of work, compared to 9.9 per cent late this winter.

Woman Is Fined On 3-Car Crash

POCATELLO, April 19 (UP)—Pocatello Justice of the Peace Charles W. Hyde yesterday levied a $25 fine against Mrs. Evelyn Tendore, 22, Pocatello, after she pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge which followed destruction of her automobile and damage to two police cars.

Mrs. Tendore had been arrested after leading Policeman W. R. Van Leuben on a chase through the streets of Pocatello.

Van Leuben called for help during the chase and Alameda Policeman James Prichter tried to head the woman off. Her car zoomed around a corner and collided head-on with Prichter's patrol car.

Van Leuben, in hot pursuit, rounded the corner and smashed into the rear of Mrs. Tendore's car.

Fellow Getting in Car-Wrecking Rut

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 19 (UP)—Edward English Boshers, 40, explained the automobile collision to police by saying:

"The other man was driving with my wife in his car and I tried to break it up."

"Didn't you run into the same man's car several months ago for the same reason?" asked traffic inspector Willard Jett.

"Sure did," said Boshers, who was promptly charged with assault and battery and reckless driving.

Treatment Is Set For 'Ill' Foghorn

SARNIA, Ont., April 19 (AP)—An expert from Detroit is coming to Sarnia to cure a bad case of laryngitis on the Canadian lightship Huron, anchored 3½ miles out in Lake Huron.

Normally heard from 6 to 10 miles, the ship's foghorn has been reduced to a whisper in the past few days. Air diaphragm trouble is suspected, and the U. S. coast guard volunteered to send a technician to treat the case.

Russians Claim Their Athletes Were Led Astray by U.S. Girls

By HENRY McLEMORE

ROME—Russia may have unwittingly done sports a good turn with its outlandish claim that our country used temptresses in Melbourne to distract Soviet athletes during the Olympic games.

In the stories printed here, Pravda said Russian athletes were led astray by a corps of stunning beauties in the employ of the United States. A smile, a dropped handkerchief, a wink by one of the lovelies, and the next thing a Russian competitor knew, he was spending his evenings wining and dancing, instead of eating his borsch at the training table, and getting his usual 10 hours sleep.

McLemore

It's a shame the story isn't true. If it were, and temptresses really were the new secret weapon in the battle for gold medals, it could easily prove to be the biggest shot in the arm that track and field sports have had in a long time.

Men to whom the idea of tearing around a track while wearing nothing but a pair of shorts, stopping now and then to jump over a saw horse or a puddle of water is not one bit appealing, would come out in droves for the track team.

A new, huge reservoir of latent talent would be tapped. Cheered by the knowledge that a temptress would be looking for them if they succeeded, bankers would quit work even earlier than they do now to try their hand at shot-putting, and doctors and lawyers would be seen huffing and puffing over the sountryside in an effort to win a place on the cross-country team.

The U. S. would be swept by a wave of track and field enthusiasm. Postmen would practice throwing the javelin on their rounds. Commuters would form relay teams and race one another to the morning trains. Newspapermen would practice climbing a rope between assignments.

How easy it would make the coaches' jobs!

Can't you imagine this sort of a pep talk from a coach, and what record-breaking performances it would bring:

"Men, a new track and field season is at hand, and I want all of you to remember this: The faster you run, the higher you jump, the more the temptresses of the rival countries will be after you. Break a world's record and your phone will ring night and day. Temptresses aren't going to have any time for a man who can't do at least 0:9.4 in the 100 yard dash or clear 6 feet 10 inches in the high jump.

"To the victor belongs the golls!"

From what I have seen of Russian women, Russia is going to be at a terrible disadvantage if temptresses run to size, and would offer little temptation at all but our weight lifters. It would be a challenge to our weight men to see if they could lift a Russian siren off the floor in a rock 'n' roll number.

From what I have seen of American women, our country would have a head start in the temptress business. All 48 states abound in them. Whether or not they are patriotic enough to use their wiles on say, a Russian marathoner, or a Romanian catch-as-catch-can wrestler, is another question.

My guess is that they wouldn't, and would soon start flirting with our own American team, and sabotaging, instead.

It's a pretty nice way to get sabotaged; at that.

Russians Hint At Agreement To Inspection

LONDON, April 19 (AP) — Russia hinted yesterday it might open some of its territory to sky inspectors from the West as a confidence-building step toward a world disarmament pact.

The Soviets would expect parallel facilities to keep watch on the armed forces of Atlantic pact countries in West Europe.

Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin told a Foreign Press association lunch that limits of the American-Russian "open skies" scheme "can be settled in negotiations" between East and West. Zorin is the Kremlin's delegate on the five-power subcommittee of the U.N. disarmament commission which recessed for six days yesterday. It has been in session for a month.

The two-year-old "open skies" project was launched by President Eisenhower. He offered to expose parts of the United States to Russian fliers and their cameras if the Soviets did the same for the Americans. Soviet Premier Bulganin did not accept the idea as it stood. He suggested opening the skies to East and West inspectors along a thousand-mile belt of Europe, with the Iron Curtain in the middle.

Such a belt would hardly touch Russian soil. The Americans have said they would be interested only if the Russians agreed eventually to widen the belt to take in some of their own land.

New Mexicans Have Debates About Lobby

ALBUQUERQUE, April 19 (UP) — State Rep. Tom Bolack, unsuccessful New Mexico Republican candidate for congress in an April 9 special election says he cannot understand why Senator Anderson, D., N. M., has raised an issue concerning the Aqualantes and lobbying reports.

"I can't understand what's back of this complaint by Mr. Anderson," Bolack said Wednesday. "It puzzles and perplexes me."

Asks Report

Anderson said he would ask the senate lobbying committee to investigate alleged failure of the Upper Colorado Grass Roots committee, inc., to file reports on its activities with congress.

Anderson said in the statement from his Washington office, that checks with the clerk of the house and the secretary of the senate showed that reports required under the lobbying act had been filed by the Aqualantes in 1955 but not in 1956.

Was Chairman

Bolack, who was chairman of the Aqualantes, said "I filed one in February, 1956, but it may have been for the last quarter of 1955. We filed several quarterly reports for the Aqualantes. I'm not in a position to say whether the last one was filed."

He said he left Washington soon after the Upper Colorado River project legislation, which the Aqualantes supported, was approved, and the concluding chores were left to others.

Ailing State Girl Seeks Help From Shrine in France

NAMPA, April 19 (UP)—Barbara Lucker, 11-year-old former dancing student afflicted with bone cancer in one leg, was on her way today to a visit at the shrine of the Blessed Virgin in Lourdes, France.

Barbara's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lucker, took her to a doctor last fall when she said she was having trouble dancing because of a swelling around her ankle.

The doctor told them she had cancer.

Barbara gave her dancing slippers to her 10-year-old sister, Kathy. Later she told her parents she would like to visit the shrine.

Cures have been attributed by many of the faithful to the shrine, where the Virgin Mary is said to have appeared to Bernadette, a peasant girl, in 1856.

Friends at school and at St. Paul's Catholic church here contributed money to help pay for the trip.

"I just know that I'm going to get well," Barbara told her dancing teacher, Mrs. Ilah Hatch, in a farewell visit.

Firms Bid Low On Canal Plans

BOISE, April 19 (UP)—Cherf Brothers, Inc., and Sandkay Construction, Inc., entered an apparent low joint bid of $591,898 for construction of earthworks and structures on the main canal east of the Michaud project near American Falls, the bureau of reclamation announced today.

The bid was $51,000 under the government estimate, the announcement said. Nine bids were received.

The next lowest bid was the $596,691 entry of Pickett and Nelson, Idaho Falls. The Aslett Construction company, Twin Falls, was third-low with a bid of $610,910.

Carpenters Want Break Legalized

PHILADELPHIA, April 19 (UP)—Carpenters in the Philadelphia area are now trying to make legal what lots of other workers have been doing for years. To wit: The coffee break.

Along with increased wages, they're asking contract language specifying 10 minutes for java at 10 a.m. every working day.

The federal mediation service stepped into the dispute in hopes of averting a strike which could tie up all non-home building in a five-county area of southeastern Pennsylvania.

Some Main Britons' American Blood Ties May Speed Return of Old Amity

LONDON—NEA—The cooling of Anglo-American friendship has made a lot of Britons, not the least among them Sir Winston Churchill, suddenly conscious of their strong American ties.

These blood bonds between Britain and America are seen here as the best guarantee that the Anglo-American alliance will not only be restored to its original vigor, but may even in the future result in a closer union between English-speaking peoples.

The fact that Sir Winston Churchill's mother, Jeanette Jerome, was an American is too well known to need stressing. This dark lithe American beauty was the daughter of Leonard Jerome, owner and publisher of the New York Times during the civil war and founder of the Coney Island Jockey club.

Less well-known is that one of Sir Anthony Eden's forebears, Sir Robert Eden, was governor of Maryland at the time of the American war of Independence. He was chased out of the colony in 1776, but he later returned to die and be buried in Annapolis, Md.

To another British cabinet member who is half American the crisis in Anglo-American relations has presented itself as a bitter personal dilemma, the occasion for soul-searching of the agonizing sort.

He is Lord Hailsham, 49, first lord of the admiralty, who, as Quinton Hogg, made a brilliant name for himself as a lawyer and as a conservative member of parliament before succeeding to the peerage.

When Lord Hailsham arose to address Oxford Conservatives recently, it was not as a British cabinet minister, but simply as "the son of an American mother," he pointed out. (His mother was Elizabeth Trimble Brown, Nashville, Tenn.)

Nevertheless," he declared, "for the first time since the war, almost for the first time in my life, I find it hard to say I am proud of it."

Lord Hailsham then went on to warn the United States: "We will not be sermonized. We don't want to hear any moral lectures."

Quite different has been the reaction of the Astor family—Virginia-born Lady Nancy Astor, the last of the famous "Gibson Girls," and her four sons—who, today, are as much a part of British politics as they are of American history.

The Anglo-American friendship crisis has acted to bring out the Americanism of the Astors; so much so that two of the Astor sons, who sit in the houses of parliament, and a third, who is the editor of one of Britain's most influential newspapers, have been under fire in certain Tory circles, where it is more fashionable not to "like Ike" at the moment.

Lady Astor: What her sons say satisfies her perfectly.

Viscount Astor: He stirred up some "anti-Astorism."

The Astors have been critical of Eden's handling of the Suez crisis; they also have been vocal in urging the British government to greater speed in restoring the Atlantic partnership.

This has given rise to a wave of what The Spectator calls "anti-Astorism." There have been anonymous letters accusing the brothers of being "cowardly and unpatriotic" for criticizing the prime minister.

Actually, the Astors, who appear very British, are part of the warp and woof of America. Their family coat of arms features a North American Indian and a fur trapper (both armed with rifles) as a reminder that the original John Jacob Astor, who emigrated to the United States in 1783 from the village of Waldorf, Germany, made the family fortune by trading in furs.

Today, at 77, Lady Nancy Astor has lost none of her sharp tongue, even though she still retains her soft southern drawl. Aroused by the Tory attacks upon her sons for their pro-American attitude in the Suez crisis, Lady Nancy snaps back:

"I'm perfectly satisfied with my sons. The people attacking them can hit as much as they like, but I would far rather have them with the courage of their convictions than no convictions at all."

The eldest son of Lady Nancy, Viscount Astor, 49, announced from the Tory benches in the House of Lords soon after the Anglo-French intervention that Britain's moral authority had been diminished.

Maj. J. J. Astor, 38, Conservative M.P. for Plymouth, did the same in the house of commons.

David Astor, 44, editor of the influential Observer, has been blistering his attacks upon Eden's Suez policies. In fact, when he compared Britain's police action with "gangsterism" and urged that "Eden must go," most Britons thought he had gone too far.

Michael Astor, 40, sportsman and country squire, receives the anonymous letters intended for his three brothers. One anonymous writer, after two pages of vilification, had an after-thought, added at the bottom, "or are you quite mad?"

Lastly, there is Uncle John, Col. John Astor, 70, chairman of The Times, which is known in Fleet street as "The Thunderer." As boss of The Times, Colonel Astor has used his influence to promote greater Anglo-American understanding.

"A Britain united in anti-Americanism" warned The Times recently, "is not merely a Britain headed for disaster but also a Western world and an American continent headed for disaster."

Victim of Cancer Claimed by Death

DETROIT, April 19 (UP)—Leonard Kerschke, who attracted nationwide attention with his story of how it feels to be a 27-year-old cancer victim with six months to live, was buried yesterday the way he wanted it.

Funeral services were held at Bethesda Missionary temple in Detroit. Final rites were in White Chapel Memorial cemetery north of Detroit. His favorite religious songs, "Love of God" and "Overshadowed by His Mighty Love," were sung.

Kersche, who died Monday night, wrote his story for the Associated Press. It was published in newspapers March 31. He was at work on a second article when death overtook him.
