Canyon Group Will Continue Dam Struggles

LEWISTON, Idaho, April 20 (U. P.)—The Idaho Canyon Association, which has been fighting for the preservation of the Snake River Canyon, will continue its efforts to prevent the construction of a dam at that stretch of the Snake river. Members resolved to press all possible points of the dam being erected in the canyon.

President Lynn Tuttle, Clarkston, Wash., said there still is a "fighting chance" the high dam will be approved, despite recent setbacks in congress and courts.

Members were told the affiliated Canyon Association is planning to take the U. S. supreme court to reconsider its ruling of early this month. The court declined to order a lower court decision upholding the federal power companies' award of the right to dam the area to Idaho Power company.

John Baker, Portland, secretary of the national association, said there is at least a chance the senate will pass a bill authorizing a high dam in the Snake River Canyon. Baker said the "political repercussions" of a veto.

Tuttle said the association would "go on" to press for comprehensive development of the Columbia river basin through construction of a series of dams. He said even if the Snake Canyon dam is lost, he indicated the group would continue its efforts behind the Net Perce, below the confluence of the Salmon and Snake rivers.

capitol Wednesday following an address by the U. S. atomic energy commission.

The statement said:

"It was thought that the negotiations thus far conducted warranted a continuation of a serious effort to reach an initial, partial agreement for a first step, if proper safeguard for inspection and control are agreed to."

Discussions in the unusual Saturday conference at the state department, the statement added, included "initial reductions of armaments, both ground and air; United States proposal for cutting off all air defense stations; and the exchange of weapons purposes, and the exchange of lists of armaments and blueprints."

Plan Outlined In T. F. Area Defense Units

Ald and react to the attack.

Mrs. Miller pointed out the civil defense preparations "is important to Twin Falls county and Magic Valley residents because of proximity to the U. S. air force base at Mountain Home, which would be a 'prime target' in the event of war."

Mrs. Miller noted there are 250 women actively engaged in work in the women's auxiliary for civil defense in Boise alone.

Mrs. Velma Harker, communications director of the Idaho state civil defense program, told the women the civil defense program has its own communications system to be used in the event of power failure. Her radio and wireless facilities enable the whole state to be alerted in a matter of minutes, she said.

She reminded the audience that an alert signal is in use on commercial radio stations throughout the state.

Sheriff James Benham, Twin Falls county director of civil defense, spoke and Sergeant Horton of the ground observer corps, Boise, showed films on radioactive fallout, which pointed out that Twin Falls county is in the fallout area of Mountain Home air force installation.

The civil defense films will be in the Twin Falls area for a month, and local organizations are getting the films and projecting equipment by contacting Horton at 1218-Bryanna drive.

Final arrangements for organizing the Twin Falls women's advisory council will be delayed until more representatives from the area can be contacted.

Mrs. Oscar Cox, district representative of the business and professional women's club's southern district, presided.

America Will Agree to Some Control Eases

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—The United States, hoping to bring about a Japanese embargo, has agreed to some easing of trade restrictions on goods with Red China. At the same time it has proposed tighter controls on trade with the Soviet bloc in Europe.

However, the ban on all U. S. goods with Red China will stand. This was decided by the state department which said an American proposal on relaxing the trade control system had been presented to the embassy of 14 allied countries here during the past week.

Ure Increase in Trade
Both Britain and Japan have urged that the United States agree to an increase in allied trade with the Chinese communist bloc. The Chinese have advocated that an embargo on goods to Red China be reduced to the same level as that applied to Russia and its European satellites.

The American proposal constitutes the first major gain in a series of negotiations between the United States and Japanese demands although the whole matter is still subject to negotiation among the countries participating in the system. The 15 are all the NATO countries, except Russia plus Japan.

Major Points
The statement issued by press officer Stewart Linton, disclosed that the trade policy proposal had three major points:

1. Some items of trade "for export" which are now embargoed for Red China would be removed from the control list and placed on the same basis that we have with the European Soviet bloc. The Soviet embargo list is much shorter than the Red China list.

Add to List
2. Some other items now embargoed for Red China would be added to the European Soviet bloc list under embargo and would be added to the European Soviet bloc list.

3. The present "exceptions" procedure by which allied countries sometimes sell embargoed items to Red China would be tightened. Britain has used the exceptions procedure increasingly in the last year with the argument that the items sold would not increase the Communist war potential.

No Change
4. The United States intends to make no change whatever in its own policy of embargoing "all trade with Communist China." This was put into effect when Red China came into the Korean war.

The state department did not specify what items now embargoed for Red China, but the list includes such things as farm tractors, some automotive equipment, various types of railroad tractors, telephones, chemical equipment and iron and steel sheets or quality tool steel to be used in weapons.

Diplomats said Japan hoped to build up a trade with Red China in light machinery and many other light categories of goods, and would like to buy from China iron, cooking coal, salt and soybeans.

Patrons Move for Continuing School
Buhl, April 20—Patrons of the Deep Creek school district Friday night moved to continue the school in case plans to consolidate with Buhl and Castleford districts are not completed by the July 1 deadline.

Twenty-six patrons approved a budget for the school year and the school trustees levied 25 mills to raise funds for the operation of the school. Marie Brown was re-elected trustee for the district.

The action was taken by the patrons in case the consolidation is completed by July 1. The board is expected to meet during the coming week to make further plans for the consolidation.

Stiff Upper Lip
DETROIT, April 20 (AP)—A gunman fired point-blank into the face of grocer Harold C. Corey, 60, Friday night. The slug struck his upper lip, glanced upward and lodged in his nose.

Hospital authorities said the wound was not serious. Detective Charles Schellinger said the bullet apparently didn't have a sufficient charge of powder.

Time Element Looming in Importance For Administration's Farm Program

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Time is becoming a vital element in the administration of the Eisenhower farm program. The farm situation in better shape than it found it in 1953.

Certainly, what the administration does between now and the election in 1960 may have a lot to do with the White House that will be in the hands of the Eisenhower administration.

1. Farm prices are 15 per cent below the level prevailing when the program was enacted.

2. Farm surpluses are nearly three times as large as they were at that time.

3. The government has spent more on agriculture during the first four years of the administration than in the preceding 20 years.

It is a recognition of this task—the relative shortness of time remaining—that is leading Secretary of Agriculture Benson to say that present programs need drastic overhauling.

Overhauling, Benson says, is not a matter of time, but of action. Surpluses at the end of the administration may be as large as they are now.

Beck Says He Still Has Job In Committee
WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Dave Beck, president of the big Teamsters union, says his resignation as an AFL-CIO officer is without effect—a "nullity."

Beck refused to answer questions before the senate committee investigating committee last month, when AFL-CIO President George Meany said that Beck's resignation was a "nullity."

Beck contended the AFL-CIO constitution lacks provision for the removal of Beck and his associates as an AFL-CIO officer.

The AFL-CIO has filed charges against Beck and his union as a result of Beck's appearance before senate investigators. The teamsters and other constitutional provisions in refusing to answer questions about his finances.

Beck appeared before the committee at the senate hearing. Beck acknowledged using between $300,000 and $400,000 in funds. He said he borrowed the money and later repaid it.

Writes Letter
In his letter to Meany, Beck contended the move to ouster the "Teamsters union—this—federation—could not proceed until more specific charges were made.

Beck said ouster of an AFL-CIO officer could be accomplished for "malfeasance and maladministration."

However, AFL-CIO sources said the executive council has broad authority to "take whatever action may be necessary" between federation conventions. The authority to interpret the constitution is vested in Meany as federation president, they added.

The government now has $3,360,000 invested in farm surpluses. The investment four years ago was $2,012,000,000. This big increase was made in the face of broad use of crop production control programs and expenditure of upwards of four billion dollars in subsidizing exports.

Of course, Benson says that program of the Eisenhower administration, which by law he was required to use through 1954, contributed heavily to the buildup of surpluses.

Two years of programs patterned largely after Benson's recommendations have cut the investment in surpluses about half a billion dollars.

Mayflower Sails Toward U. S. on Old Voyage Path
PLYMOUTH, England, April 20 (AP)—The Mayflower II left Plymouth Harbor Saturday to sail for the United States on a voyage duplicating the Pilgrim fathers trip in 1620.

The little wooden vessel, 100 tons, was towed into the English channel by a tug belching black smoke, and there were cheers from thousands of spectators.

Sails of the Mayflower II were billowing to the rigging, but the crew was to spread them outside Plymouth Harbor.

A light southwest wind barely nudged the red ensign on top of the Mayflower's mizen mast. The inner harbor was placid, but there were a few ripples out at sea.

Eisenhower and Aide Enjoy Golf
AUGUSTA, April 20 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey gave federal budget problems something less than top priority Saturday in favor of a restful Easter week-end.

Humphrey and his wife joined the President and Mrs. Eisenhower late Friday and the chief executive's vacation headquarters at the Augusta National Golf club.

The Humphreys flew here from Washington aboard the President's private plane, Columbine III. They will be the Eisenhower's "guests" in the "Mamie's cabin" on the edge of the golf course until sometime next week.

Humphrey is not a golfer, but there was a possibility the President might get in another round Saturday anyway—or perhaps take the cabinet officer down to "like's pond" to cast for bass.

RETURN TO JAPAN

TORONTO, April 20 (AP)—Metropolitan Toronto police said yesterday they are searching for a green car and some $75,000 in cash they believe has been hidden in the area by Leonard Ewing Scott, 63, held by Detroit police on charges of slaying his wife in California in 1955.

Khushchey Tries To Woo Japanese
MOSCOW, April 20 (AP)—Communist party Secretary Nikita Khrushchey proposed Saturday that Japan join the Soviet Union in appealing to the United States and Britain to suspend atomic and hydrogen bomb tests.

Khrushchey made the proposal to Japanese Ambassador Susumu Kadowaki in response to a suggestion that the Soviet Union suspend its nuclear tests. The western powers have reported detecting five Soviet tests this month.

Khrushchey countered the suggestion by saying the Soviet Union could not suspend its tests unilaterally because it would place the Soviet Union behind the western powers in nuclear preparedness and would be interpreted as a sign of weakness.

Pat Munroe Wins Additional Fame
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 20 (AP)—The National Headliner club yesterday announced the winners of its 1957 silver medallions for excellence in journalism.

Among those named for the 21 awards was Pat Munroe of the Twin Falls Times-News and Albuquerque (N. M.) Journal, for fighting the secrecy ban on government-paid travel by members of congress in the category of papers in the 25,000 to 50,000 circulation class.

Boise Official To Prosecute School Voters

NAMPA, April 20 (U-P) City Attorney James Schiller said that North Idaho's college voters illegally in Nampa's April 20 election.

Schiller said that voters who were registered and voted gave their addresses to the city clerk, who then mailed them ballots.

"The Idaho constitution makes it plain that no person may gain or receive any benefit by any means while attending an institution of higher learning," Schiller said.

"If there was any attempt to prosecute, it would be forced to prosecute," he added.

But he added he did not plan to prosecute because of the April 20 election, as the number of votes he said was not enough to affect the outcome.

While a Lepp obtained six more votes than Mayor Preston Campbell in that election, a runoff was held for the mayor's post because Lepp did not receive a majority of the vote cast.

Savings Bond Increase Rate Handed Boost

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 20 (U-P) President Eisenhower signed a bill Saturday authorizing an interest rate increase on savings bonds.

He called the bonds "better than ever" and said they "help assure the economic stability of our country."

The Treasury department announced in Washington it is raising the interest rate on U.S. savings bonds to 3 1/2 percent a year. The former rate was 3 percent.

The increase of 1/2 percent is the highest in 10 years.

Eisenhower signed the measure and five other bills at his vacation headquarters at Camp David, Md., before going out on the coast for another round.

The measure is part of a series of bills designed to strengthen the links by his Easter week-end guest, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

The cabinet officer said the bill "may go" but he rode along with his host in an electric car.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower and Humphrey and his wife plan to attend Easter services at the White House on Monday.

In addition to the savings bond measure, bills signed by the President provided for:

- 1. Detachment of Great Britain's financial and military aid to Greece on the balance of a $370,000,000 loan extended by the United States in 1945.
- 2. Arrangement for the release of certain prisoners of war under certain circumstances.
- 3. Release of certain prisoners of war under certain circumstances.

Weather Over Nation Varied

By The Associated Press

Texas had the bulk of the nation's severe weather Saturday with tornadoes, hail and strong winds.

A number of farm buildings were destroyed by tornadoes in north Texas, but no injuries were reported.

Hail ranging in size from quarters to baseballs fell at several points over the south Texas plains. Some citizens reported up to 3 inches of hail.

Chilling cold and warm air currents were blamed for the weather.

The heat set a record in Detroit.

Boise Wins Invitational Meet—Twin Falls Fourth; Pilots Second in Class B

BOISE, April 20 (AP)—Scoring nine first places, Boise high school Braves easily topped the annual Boise Junior College Invitational track meet Saturday with 57 points. The second-place Nampa team scored 36 1/2 points and Caldwell finished third with 27. A hairline-finish developed among B schools at the meet.

Salt Lake City Team Has Many 'New Faces'

SALT LAKE CITY, April 20 (AP)—If a new broom sweeps clean, Eddie Leishman and the Salt Lake City Bees could be in a position for a clean sweep of the Pioneer League baseball honors this season. The Bees will open the season with just four familiar faces—manager Cliff Dapper, formerly of Billings; Art McKee, a southpaw pitcher from the 1955 squad; "Red" Miller, the relief ace from last year's second-place squad; and catcher Phil Young, a reserve from last year.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By KERRY KESCHUL

College baseball usually doesn't rate many of the top headlines, but the University of Idaho Vandals stand a good chance to attract a lot of attention this season.

The Vandals have just completed the pre-conference season with a 14-3 record. Their first early season mark in history.

Although the Vandals open their season against the Washington State Cougars on Monday, Northern Division play Monday and Tuesday, a strongly favored, Coach Glen Patterson has reason to be optimistic.

Actually, the coach has voiced some pessimism about the team's hitting. But Vandal fans are hoping it is merely "professional" pessimism.

Five of the regulars on the team are hitting at .300 or better. The Vandals are good in the field, but have been adequate and, just as important, have been improving steadily.

Ray Copeland, Lewiston, third baseman; and Ross Braden, Astoria, outfielder from Lodi, Calif., have been hitting at a .350 clip.

Parberry has had some problems on the left side of the infield, but some juggling of personnel seems to have solved most of those problems.

He switched Copeland from second to third and moved Kinnison to first. The change has worked out well. Kinnison has been hitting at the shortstop position.

Frederick is providing the .350 mark at the plate and is among the leaders in runs batted in.

On the high school baseball scene in the Magic Valley, Twin Falls appears to be the big power. Coach Harold Brown has had good hitting talent in Brian Thompson and Larry Kincheloe and a pretty solid infield back all through the batting order.

One of the big ingredients in the Twin Falls team is experience. Bats-hardened players like catcher Jerry Marlyn and outfielder Chas. Brown can be mighty rough on the opposition.

There seems to be a dearth of pitching talent in Magic Valley high schools this season. Or maybe it's just that the talent isn't there. There are a few pitchers around, but none of them don't have the necessary experience yet and some of them could come to their potential.

Flier has a pair of fine "control" pitchers in Martin Landis and Larry Evans. Since control is a scarce commodity on high school teams, the Wildcats pose a real threat to any team they face.

Lenz-Sasaki Mat Duel Set

Henry (Pretty Boy) Lenz, claimant to the western heavyweight wrestling championship, will take on the Great Sasaki in a 10-round wrestling event Tuesday at the Radio Rodeo ballroom.

The event will be one-hour or two out of three falls.

The second bout pits the Great Toth Togo against Larry Montgomery in a 45-minute or two out of three falls match. A newcomer, Boom Boom Macchick, former professional football player, meets Tom Anderson and Bill Cole in the third fall.

Kenny Mayne will be the referee.

Dick White Leads Qualifying Field

Dick White, who qualified in the spring best-ball tournament at Twin Falls municipal golf course on April 15, will lead the field in the annual, 18-hole, 36-hole tournament, which will be held on Saturday.

White, who is a member of the local club, is a "great deal of interest" with players already entered for the tournament. White will be qualified to play in the tournament.

Tigers' Hoefft Is Rejected by Army

Detroit, April 20 (AP)—Bobby Hoefft of the Detroit Tigers has been rejected for military service.

The Tigers' ace southpaw, a 20-game winner in 1956, was examined by a selective service official for the third time a few weeks ago in Milwaukee. He originally was classified "F" several years ago because of a "slight" ailment.

Spartans Begin Spring Training

Duffy Daugherty stands and smiles at the mass of Michigan State football players around him during the spring practice session. Over 100 put on uniforms for drills and that's fine with the coach, who hasn't been shy of talent since he took over the Spartans. (MFA photo.)

Red Sox Batter 'Perfect Game' Larsen, but Lose to Yanks 10-7

The New York Yankees shrugged off Don (Perfect Game) Larsen's flop in his first start since his world-series classic against Brooklyn with a flurry of rallies that whipped Boston's Red Sox 10-7 in 12 innings at Fenway park Saturday.

Dworshak Reaffirms Stand on Bruces Eddy

BOISE, April 20 (AP)—Sen. Henry C. Dworshak, R., Ida., reaffirmed Saturday that leaders of wildlife groups "are confused" over the proposed authorization of Bruce Eddy dam on Clearwater river.

Dworshak returned to Idaho for the Easter recess to make several speeches and inspect atomic energy commission installations in and near Idaho Falls.

Hiskey Leads Houston to Tournery Title

HOUSTON, Tex., April 20 (AP)—University of Houston team of Jim Hiskey, Rex Baxter, Jr., Frank Wharton and Bob Pratt swept all but the team match play title in the third annual Southwater Intercollegiate golf tournament Saturday.

Houston, the 1956 NCAA champions, won team medal play with a 2-hole 114. Hiskey, formerly of Twin Falls and now of Pocatello, scored a birdie on the first, extra hole to break a deadlock with teammate Baxter and grab the individual medal championship.

Hiskey and Baxter had played the 12 holes in 225—six under par for the 870-yard, par 72 Pine Forest Country club course.

Beecham Averages Defeat by Mims

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 20 (AP)—Young Jimmy Beecham of Miami defeated the veteran Billy Mims of Washington, D.C., in a 36-hole match Saturday in a battle for the team match championship.

Cougars Divide Pair With Huskies

PULLMAN, Wash., April 19 (AP)—Washington State's victory over the long ball Saturday in beating Washington 14-7 for a split of a two-game Northern Division baseball series.

Cougars Earn Cinder Victory Over Beavers

CORVALLIS, April 20 (AP)—Washington State track team took a win in nine of 15 events and defeated Oregon State 42 1/2 to 48 1/2 in Saturday's Northern Division track meet here.

On first is Fred Hopke, who figures to hit the long ball. Third base features Don, right between Don and Jack. The better fielder and the better pitcher is Jack. The key combination of second baseman Lou Vasek and shortstop John Winkler may be one of the best in the league.

When they get their duff on Monday at Corvallis, the Bees will have a lot of work to do. Bill Winkler and Reggie Winkler.

Initial Grid Work Makes Coach Happy

MOSCOW, April 20 (AP)—Coach Skip Staley was much pleased with his high-spirited football players' completed 30-minute-of-a-day workout on the first of the spring session for Idaho.

Vandals Roll To 24-4 Win Over Gonzaga

MOSCOW, April 20 (AP)—Idaho used 17 players Saturday and most of them scored as the Vandals rolled to a lopsided 24-4 win over Gonzaga of Spokane. The win gave the Vandals their best pre-season record in history at 14-3.

Littler Fires 69 To Take Lead in Las Vegas Play

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 20 (AP)—California's Gene Littler shot a 3-under-par 69 and lodged a tremendous bid to capture his third straight $40,000 Tournament of Champions tournament this cold, windy Saturday.

Junior High Golfers Upset Bruins' 'B's'

Golfers from Twin Falls junior high school scored an upset victory over the high school "B" team in a challenge match on the municipal course Friday.

Carl Hoos, an eighth grader, played a short putt on the 18th hole which would have given the junior high squad a victory in the regulation distance. But he sank the putt and sent the match into a sudden death playoff.

On the first extra hole, Hoos lost a par five and the other three members of the junior high team were down in six strokes. Three of the high school players had aces and one had a seven on the extra hole to give the juniors a two-stroke victory.

Urge Washington to Cut U. S. Spending, Says Carolina Man

Editor, Times-News:
Since the first of the year I have been trying to get the people of the United States to write to their congressmen and senators, and also to the President, demanding economy and a cut in taxes.
President Eisenhower is setting up several new bureaus which will cost for more and more money each year. All of these should be cut out of the budget.
The Hoover committee showed where four billion dollars could be saved in the budgeting and accounts departments and two billion more saved by putting the military on a business basis. These items should go toward tax reduction.
The federal government owns 200 billion dollars worth of private enterprise businesses that are not paying any taxes. It takes our tax dollars to keep them operating. These should be sold and the proceeds used to pay our public debt because they are competing with private enterprise.

Wildlife Leader Replies to Note Over Deer Herd

Editor, Times-News:
There is a point or two which I would like to clear up in regard to Mr. Miracle's letter of last week. Mr. Miracle attended the last regular meeting of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association. At this meeting Mr. Miracle was free to voice his opinion, but when, after a lengthy discussion, a resolution to give Idaho's game department was offered, it passed without a dissenting vote — not even Mr. Miracle.
I feel it is indeed unfortunate when a person is unwilling to vote his convictions, and even more unfortunate when he takes a stand at club members by way of the press after being unwilling to vote his own opinion.
Sportsmen's groups are organized for the purpose of bettering the lot of the sportsman. It is a commendable goal of attaining this goal without regular attendance by sportsmen so that all may be completely informed at all times.
If the sportsman are dissatisfied with any phase of fish or game management, much more will be gained by attending meetings; by telling the fourth district committee, Ray J. Holmes, 345 Pierce street, Twin Falls, or in the case of the Cassia deer herd, Levi Mohler, fish and game warden, 816 Front street, Boise. This is better than criticizing fellow sportsmen who work hard in your behalf without thanks.

Chairman, Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association

50,000 Pounds of Trash Fish Are Removed From Murtaugh Lake

MURTAUGH, April 20—If you should result in about 50,000 pounds of trash fish, you would have a big haul. That is the case with the Murtaugh lake fishery, where the fish are being cleaned up.

1,500 Pounds of Trash Fish Here

Nephew Grapelt, fisherman for the Cascade Fish company, Nampa, begins the task of loading about 1,500 pounds of trash fish into a refrigerator truck. The fish are part of 50,000 pounds taken out of Murtaugh lake in "off and on" fishing since April 1. The rate of trash fish found has been about 15 tons a week. (Staff photo-engraving)

"Spring Housecleaning" Removes Trash Fish From Lake

Murtaugh lake has been getting a "spring housecleaning" in the past few weeks as some 50,000 pounds of trash fish have been removed by the Cascade Fish company, Nampa. The holding boat, shaped like a canoe, is being used to sweep a 60-foot net through the lake waters. Pictured above, the crew is coming in with 1,500 pounds of trash fish. The fish are sold for commercial and state trout hatcheries. The "big ones" are sold in Los Angeles. (Staff photo-engraving)

Second Highest Rock-Fill Dam in World Schedules Power for 1958

BROWNLEE CONSTRUCTION CAMP, April 20—The Brownlee hydroelectric development, embracing the second highest rock-fill dam in the world, will be "on the line" with 350,000 kilowatts of the electric energy for this power-hungry region of the Pacific Northwest in 1958.

"That's the proposition of the men who are making this plant in the rugged canyon reaches of the Snake river for the Idaho Power company, licensed by the federal power commission to build three dams in this area. Brownlee is the first of three dams, which initially will have a capacity of almost 800,000 kilowatts and ultimately 1,125,000 kilowatts.

"We're on schedule," said Glenn Johnson, on-the-job project chief for Morrison-Knudsen, Inc., the global construction firm which is building Brownlee. His statement was echoed by Fred Edwards, who heads the power company's power plant construction staff.

The slough walls of the canyon echo with the roar of huge trucks, which carry their 35-ton loads on almost a timetable schedule, with the chatter of rock drills and the rumble of blasting. This is the scene, night and day, in the wintry stretch of the Idaho-GOregon border.

Uses Slide Rule
Rue Martin, M-K's project engineer, feels the pulse of the project with a slide rule.

"So far," he said, "we've moved about 2,000,000 cubic yards of rock and earth. This is better than half of the total five million cubic yards we will excavate. In our excavation for the penstock tunnels, powerhouse and tailrace, we have already taken out better than 800,000 cubic yards, mostly solid rock, and this rock has been placed in the main embankment of the dam. This is equivalent to a rock cube measuring 270 feet on each side.

"We're using about 400,000 pounds of blasting powder each month. All three figures spell progress."

Right now there are 1,001 men at work on the project. They are excavating the four penstock tunnels and heaving a shelf out of the rock face of the mountain above the tunnel mouth for the powerhouse. Nearby, other men are cutting the three-level site for the powerhouse.

Close to the level of the river is a unique steel fabricating plant where the massive penstock tunnel liners—steel tubes—being welded together to form 60-foot long sections, each 24 feet in diameter.

In the penstock tunnels, the "hardhats" are reaming through solid rock with the aid of the "Jumbo," a three-level wooden platform mounted on a self-propelled tractor. The "Jumbo" bores with drills which are used to bore holes into the rock to receive the blasting powder. It can drill nine holes at a time and usually bores 48 holes in a circular pattern 28 feet in diameter on each trip into a tunnel. When the holes are ready for the explosive, the Jumbo withdraws and another of the four tunnels to carry on its assignment. As the Jumbo emerges from the excavation, a yellow painted pickup truck pulls into the tunnel, loaded with cases of blasting powder.

At the steel fabricating plant, enough of the tunnel liners have been assembled to line one of the four penstocks. It won't be too long before these sections will be installed. Tunnel number four has been driven almost half its 525 feet length. Tunnel number three is expected to be cut through almost all the same time as number four.

But that isn't all. The main rock embankment of the dam is over 25 per cent completed and each hour and tons of additional rock are washed and dumped into place. The first 115 feet of the core of the dam has already been built from the eight miles of Union Pacific mainline track. This is all part of the Brownlee job.

When completed, Brownlee will be the 14th highest dam in the United States. It, minus by just one foot, being the highest rock fill dam in the world. The Society of American Engineers lists a rock fill dam in Japan at 306 feet. Brownlee will be 303 feet high, 107 feet higher than the Capitol dome in Washington, D. C.

Drawing Shows Completed Dam

Here's how Brownlee dam will appear when it's completed and in operation next year. The dam, at 303 feet high, will be the second highest rock-fill dam in the world. It is being built in the Hells canyon stretch of Snake river by Morrison-Knudsen, Inc. for Idaho Power company.

Giant Holes Bored Through Solid Rock

Construction workers are boring giant holes through solid rock walls of Snake river canyon to build penstock tunnels which will feed water to Brownlee dam's generators. Three of the four tunnels under construction are shown above. Brownlee is the first of three hydroelectric dams planned by Idaho Power company in the Hells canyon stretch of the river.

game fish from the trash fish when the nets are hauled in is stirred by the fish themselves to a large degree. Using two boats, the company fishermen select the fish they want to seine. Then the nets are spread between the boats and the area decided upon completely encircled. As the power winches begin pulling the nets in, the game fish come to the surface while the carp sink toward the bottom.

Game fish are then scooped out and returned to the lake. Edwards estimates 90 per cent of the game fish are separated in this way. He says the game fish that is thrown in with the trash is "rare if at all."

As a commercial company, Cascade obtains a license from the state. In the case of Murtaugh lake, it also needs approval of the Twin Falls Canal company. Edwards says the market price for the fish runs about two and one-half cents a pound. Out of this the state gets a royalty of one-fourth of a cent.

Grapelt reports the company must get big fish or the operation is not economical. The fish going for human consumption pays the way. When the junkers are gone, so are the commercial fishermen. But carp will still thrive in Murtaugh lake. Being shallow, it constitutes an ideal home and spawning bed for them. The fish come out of the canals to deposit their eggs there.

Although the fish population in the lake could be controlled to a better degree, Edwards reports this probably will not be done. Screens at the canal entrance and exit would largely eliminate a new influx.

But, irrigation takes precedence over all other uses of water except domestic. The fishermen are for doing little. The fish, if they don't breed, they're gone, Edwards adds.

Mountain of Rock Being Used for Dam

This is a view of the rock-fill embankment which will face downstream side of Brownlee dam. Embankment is in process of construction. A variable mountain of rock is being used in building the 303-foot dam.

Watermaster Inspects Two New Headgates

W. A. Miracle, watermaster for the Twin Falls Canal company, inspects two newly installed headgates at a lateral west of Twin Falls. He holds a measuring stick, designed by an employee of the company, with which to measure the opening in the gate and the amount of pressure above the opening. When Miracle was riding ditch for the company 14 years ago, headgates were constructed of wood. Now the practice is to use concrete. (Staff photo—engraving)

Canal Firm Workers Make Complicated Task of Starting Season Appear Easy

There just a bit more work involved than opening a headgate to start the irrigation season—the Twin Falls Canal company employees make the operation appear that simple. With the start of the irrigation season 15 ditch riders are in the field day keeping watch over hundreds of headgates, inspecting canals and ditches.

In the winter months, ditch riders must indicate the amount of water flowing through each gate. Each daily report must contain a report on every gate on his station; the gates must be recorded in numerical order. When a gate is not drawing water the ditch rider must state why, and always show on another card when water is being transferred.

Other duties include inspection of headgates for damage; a check of the amount flowing through each gate and a record of his hours of work, mileage and amount of work each day.

During the winter months only about 15 ditch riders are employed. During that time a ditch rider is expected to help trap muskrats or badgers in addition to inspecting canals for break and erosion.

Twice a year, for a four- or five-day period, the water is turned off at Millner dam so beds of canals can be inspected.

Main arteries of the Twin Falls Canal company irrigation system, the main, highline and lowline canals, wind for approximately 85 miles through the tract carrying water to more than 202,000 acres of land.

To insure a constant and plentiful supply of water for these thousands of fertile acres is the responsibility of the directors of the company, the head watermaster, two other watermasters, maintenance men and ditch riders.

The company is divided into three districts: Caldwell, Burley and Buhl. The watermaster for Caldwell is James Reid and Charles Carter heads the Buhl district. W. A. Miracle is the head watermaster for the three districts.

"An irrigation system is like a river in reverse," says Miracle. "It starts with a large impounded body of water and eventually divides into a small trickle, which eventually becomes a large flowing body of water."

For the past 14 years Miracle says he has felt certain elation when the actual irrigation season starts. For the first time in the year, water is flowing from the highline or lowline canal through taps, laterals, coulees and ditches into farmers' corrugated to water sugar beets.

To assure a farmer that water for his beets, or other crops, will be in sufficient amount on the day and time he wants it, is one of the many jobs requiring the year-round attention of the ditch rider and other employees of the company.

The planning and organization of the project has been developed to a point where now the company can usually supply a farmer with water on the day he asks for it providing he notifies a ditch rider of some member of the company before 8 a.m. on the day he wishes to irrigate.

To determine how much water is flowing through a headgate a ditch rider uses a measuring stick designed by an employee of the company. Miracle says he is not certain the device is perfect.

Miracle says his biggest worry during the irrigation season is that break will occur in one of the canals.

You Can Have Better Lawn This Year If You'll Use Car-Style Maintenance

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—You can have a better lawn this year. It will give your grass the same kind of simple, regular maintenance you give the family car.

You wouldn't expect to keep your car running without regular oil and grease changes and regular tune-ups. You wouldn't expect to keep your lawn the same way. Give it regular maintenance service with fertilizer, water, mowing and lime when necessary. When weeds or insect make lawn "repairs" necessary, the work should be done as soon as possible.

Cool maintenance produces vigorous growth and is the best way to keep out weeds and avoid diseases, agriculture department experts report.

Any homeowner can make up his lawn maintenance schedule. It boils it around these basic principles:

Fertilizing. Divide your annual dose of lawn food into two or three applications a year. The fertilizing schedule should be tailored to the lawn's type of grass.

Bluegrass, fescue, and other cool-season grasses need fertilizer in the spring and fall should be fed in the early spring and late fall. Summer feeding does not help these grasses and may pop up crabgrass and other weeds. Zoysia and other warm-season grasses need fertilizer in the summer.

For bluegrass and other cool-season grasses apply fertilizer at the rate of three to five pounds of actual nitrogen for each 1,000 square feet of lawn. Warm-season grasses need only one-half as much.

Organic fertilizers are the standard for dry chemical material. Organic fertilizers, such as processed sewage, cottonseed and soybean meal, are more expensive. They release nitrogen slower and feed the grass over a longer period.

Watering. Tailor watering schedules to your grass, soil and climate.

Sandy soils need frequent watering in relatively light amounts. Clay soils need heavier applications at longer intervals.

In general, the lawn should not be watered until the grass shows signs of wilting. Then apply enough water to wet the soil six or more inches deep. Frequent light sprinkling causes grass to develop a shallow root system and encourages weeds.

Mowing. Keep cool season grasses trimmed to a height of about two inches. Mowing, especially in hot weather, will weaken and sometimes kill cool season grasses.

Warm season grasses, especially Bermuda grass, need closer mowing. Bermuda grass should usually be trimmed to about 1 1/2 inches and most other warm season grasses to about one inch.

Now when you even though there is little growth to cut. Clipping back grass which has grown unusually high is a shock to the plant's growing system.

Liming. Acid sandy soils usually need a light application of lime every two or three years. Clay soils need heavier doses every five or six years.

Weeds, Diseases and Insects. Most weeds can be controlled with herbicides such as 2,4-D. Crabgrass, one of the most common lawn weeds, can be controlled with PMA, DCP, and other chemicals. The key to victory over crabgrass is to prevent the plants from producing seed in the summer and fall.

Lawn diseases are most likely to appear when drainage or soil aeration is poor. They may also be caused by over-watering, improper fertilizing or heavy clipping. Some common lawn fungus diseases like brown patch can be controlled with materials like terbufos, calcium hypochlorite, DDT, aldrin, dieldrin and malathion.

Hansen Grangers Support Dairy Bill

HANSEN, April 20.—Members of the Grange have voted to write their congressman in Washington, D. C., to state they are in favor of the proposed dairy bill.

Mr. Earl Barnes, home economist chairman, presented an Exeter program at the last meeting of the Grange. Barnes read an article of Exeter customs in other countries and Mr. Lester Naylor gave the trend of the downward trend of the dairy bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Long were admitted as new members by demonstration. Home decorating books were given to members by Mrs. Earl Barnes. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hollifield and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Naylor were hosts.

Supper Served

HANSEN, April 20.—A Protestant supper was served Thursday evening at the Hansen Community Methodist church commemorating Holy Thursday.

Colored slides, depicting the sufferings of Jesus, were shown. A silent communion service was held at the climax of the evening.

Awards Are Presented to Two Girls for Work in 4-H Clubs

Two awards have been presented to local girls for outstanding work in 4-H club activities, reports Donald Youitz, assistant county agent.

Kelly Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Peterson, Buhl, was named state winner in the National Dairy Products corporation award.

Carolyn Kudlak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kudlak, Castelford, is county winner of the $100 Carl Raymond Gray scholarship to the University of Idaho.

Miss Peterson, a member of the Fairview Farmers and Homeowners club, received a plaque and $50 cash. She is a junior at Buhl high school and has been a 4-H member for nine years.

Miss Kudlak, who will be graduated from Castelford high school this spring, was presented the scholarship by Union Pacific railroad.

The award was based on outstanding achievement in 4-H work, scholastic standing and community activities and leadership.

Miss Kudlak is the junior leader of the Handy Helpers 4-H club and is a member of the Castelford Busy Bee 4-H club. She has been a member of 4-H since for 10 years.

Youitz reported Lynda Brown, Kimberly, was selected as alternate has been a 4-H member for nine years.

Giant Plastic Steer Will Be On Display Here Wednesday

Members of FFA chapters, vocational agriculture students throughout Magic Valley and county extension agents as well as the general public have been invited to see "The Giant" giant life-like plastic steer mounted on a 34-foot trailer which is touring the country in the interest of the cattle industry.

The exhibit will be on display from 1 to 6 p. m. Wednesday in front of the Feed and Supply Center, Inc., 330 Fifth street south.

Millions may walk through the giant steer's body and see realistic demonstrations of how feed and roughage are made into beef. A person enters the animal by a ramp which opens out of the neck.

Inside they see how the vital organs of a steer's body work in the production of beef. They may also see demonstrations of how a cow makes milk and how an unborn calf develops from a 30-day to a 9-month embryo.

The exhibit was produced by the Ralston Purina company and is so life-like that the body gives off the sound of a steer's breathing and the rhythm of a heart beat. It demonstrates how fat and lean meat are distributed through the body and what part each essential feed ingredient plays.

The model is 12 feet tall, 10 feet long and nearly 8 feet wide. It weighs 4,000 pounds without the trailer and trailer. The exterior was built in 29 different parts and then assembled outdoors. Veterinarians and animal nutritionists assisted in making the interior displays.

GRANGE 165 TO MEET
 KINO HILL, April 20.—Grange 165 will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Grange hall with the Mariposa of ice on the reservoir. It was filled from runoff of the Malad river which runs through Camas prairie. Runoff from Big Wood river is not expected until later.

Water delivery from Millner dam started Friday.

Irrigation Water Status Reported

SHOSHONE, April 20.—Irrigation water from Magic reservoir will be delivered with the demand becomes apparent, according to Robert Farnsworth, manager of the Big Wood Canal company. The reservoir is filled to capacity—101,500 acre feet—and water is being discharged over the spillway.

There has been a discharge over the spillway since March 10 because of ice on the reservoir. It was filled from runoff of the Malad river which runs through Camas prairie. Runoff from Big Wood river is not expected until later.

Water delivery from Millner dam started Friday.

Her Grandchildren Benefit From Her Childhood

As a child, Mrs. Ben Chese, Twin Falls, learned to make things of beauty from next to nothing. She has carried the knowledge over into later life and now is making life happier for her grandchildren. Here she shows toys she has made at little cost. (Staff photo-engraving)

Magic Valley Hobbies No. 68

As Child, Woman Learned How to Get—Something of Beauty From Nothing

Making something beautiful out of nothing has been a lifelong hobby with Mrs. Ben Chese, 439 Oak street, Twin Falls.

When Mrs. Chese was a little girl, growing up with her 12 brothers and sisters in Tennessee, there was need for making her own toys from whatever material she could find. She made dolls from corn cobs and cloth from scraps of material.

From this early experience she learned the art which has made her more colorful and has brightened the eyes of her own children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren in later years.

In 1929, Mrs. Chese came to Idaho and was married to Ben Chese who had come to the state in 1904 from Tennessee. Together they lived in a 480-acre farm near Pico and raised 11 children.

Since six of her children were girls, there once again was definite necessity for Mrs. Chese to put her talents in making something beautiful out of nothing.

Material at hand was scarce but she used her imagination and initiative. Filler disks used in cream separators were soft and workable. Why couldn't they be used to make something else?

From these she began to design and make fancy doll dresses for her girls. From other scraps of material she made other figures, including animals of various shapes and sizes.

As her children grew older, Mrs. Chese catered in her hobby until after she and Mr. Chese moved to Twin Falls in 1948.

Now that she has 30 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren, she again practices the needlework she learned as a young girl.

Today, although she works long hours away from home and attends to her husband who has heart trouble, Mrs. Chese still finds time to make doll dresses and toy animals. At Christmas she estimated she gave away approximately 25 such toys to members of her own family and to clubs.

Mrs. Chese estimates it takes 45 filler disks to make a full-flowing doll dress. She said they can vary in size as desired.

Not all of Mrs. Chese's products are mere toys. She makes large furry dogs and cats which are used as pajama bags for children.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Chese were visited by their grandchildren from Oregon. Immediately her supply of dolls and animals diminished faster than she could make them.

"One of my little grandsons," she related, "wouldn't let me finish one of my cats before he had slept with it."

Payment of Back Rent Asked Here

Back rent amounting to $120 is sought in a complaint filed Friday in Twin Falls justice court by Brady Jackson against Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Webb.

Jackson says he is the owner of property at 620 Third avenue west which the Webbs rented in December, 1936. Rent was scheduled to be paid monthly and the Webbs have paid only $135, Jackson alleges.

He asks the court for judgment for the writ of eviction.

Jackson is represented by James Cunningham, Twin Falls attorney.

Two Workers Die In Colorado Slide

DENVER, April 20 (U. P.)—Two highway construction workers employed by a private contractor were killed yesterday when a mud-and-rock slide plumed them in their mechanical shovel, the Colorado highway patrol reported.

The accident occurred in south-west Colorado, about nine miles north of Stoner on state highway 145. Bodies of the victims were taken to a mortuary at Cortez.

Identically, the men were identified as Albert Dillo, Grand Junction, and Eugene Beck, Olathe.

Part of Old West Passes Into Memory With Death of Cowboy, 95, at Wendell

WENDELL, April 20.—A bit of the real old west—passed into memory this week at Wendell. Charles McNabb died at the age of 95.

A career of four score years in the saddle came to a close when "Mac" died. He was a real cowboy, the kind of a man once described as a saddle tramp, a piece of human tumbleweed. But tumbleweed though he might have been, he collected a priceless commodity—friends. More than 40 turned out for his funeral and at least 75 visited him at the mortuary.

He had no family for almost as long as he could remember. He was one of a family of six—and the only one to reach the age of 21. He was born in Paula Valley, Okla., when Oklahoma was Indian territory. He was the son of an Irish mother and a father who was a quarter-blood Cherokee Indian. The rest was Scotch-Irish.

Born on Feb. 12, 1842, during the Civil war, he spent his youth during the wild and turbulent days that followed the great rebellion. He left home at the age of 14 to ride for a spread in the Bull Trail mountains near Havre, Mont. He made no excuses for being a human tumbleweed. In fact, he was proud of his profession and claimed to have worked with rope and horse in every state in the West and on both sides of the Rio Grande.

In his wanderings he either was acquainted with, worked with or was in contact with most of the famous characters in the post-Civil war period in the West. He knew the notorious Belle Starr, the Dalton boys, Younger brothers and Jesse James. In his youth he felt un-dressed without twin coils on his hips and a Winchester in his saddle scabbard. But while free with his stories about the old West, Mac was taciturn about his associations with his guns.

In those early days, people were tough, life was steep and the country rough. A man had to know the feel of a gun.

In the Texas-Arizona-New Mexico country he worked for many of the famous outfits, including the huge King ranch and the highly regarded 12 spread. While working along the Missouri river in Montana, he rode with the outfit of which Charlie Russell, cowboy artist, was manager. He worked with "Reddy" Rooster in North Dakota before the Spanish-American war and before the "four-eyed" dict "from the east" became president.

Mac was a top bronc buster and rodeo performer. In 1881 he won the

Charles (Mac) McNabb, a real piece of the old West, died this week at the age of 95. Right after the party he returned to work. (Staff engraving) world's championship in steer roping and bronc riding. In 1933 he won the calf roping contest at Gooding at the age of 72.

During 1918 he broke horses for the U. S. government. The horses were sold to the British cavalry. The only condition of the contract was that horses must have been ridden at least 10 to 15 to 20 days to fulfill the condition.

Twenty years ago the urge to drift glimmered somewhat and he went to work for Elmer Nielson, Wendell rancher and cattleman. He worked for Nielson until a year ago when he retired and moved to a Wendell hotel. While in Nielson's employ he had a hand in making top cowhands out of his employer's four daughters.

His wife is now Mrs. M. O. Chis-tannon-Wendell-Pae-Mrs. Robert Williams, Jerome; Carol is Mrs. Monroe Baggett, Pahrump, and Donna is Mrs. William Kydd, Seattle.

About eight years ago Mac was penning cattle near Battle Mountain, Nev., and assisted in "opera-tion."

don haylitt" when starving cattle were fed by airplane.

In the spring of 1935, at the age of 92, he was riding horseback from Elko to his 70 ranch at Three Creek when he was unable to get through because of dense fog and deep snow. He spent the night in 30-degree below zero weather and backtracked to a ranch the next day.

Grumbling, he condescended to take a bus to Twin Falls.

Last July, although retired, Mac led the Wendell Fourth of July parade on his horse, Dinky.

But the years finally caught up with him. He was taken to St. Benedict's hospital in Jerome and there he died. And his epitaph might be found in the closing lines of a poem written about him by Mrs. W. A. Truitt, Wendell.

"I thought Mac might never die. To me he never did die."

For as long as I think of the good old West.

His thoughts will stay with me still."

T.F. YWCA Comes of Age, Makes Plans To Join in National Week Observance

Now officially 21 years old, the Twin Falls YWCA is observing National YWCA week today along with more than 1,000 similar organizations throughout the nation—and the local YWCA is planning an ever-expanding program of service and recreation for the community.

Mrs. Margaret M. McCall, local YWCA executive director, predicts more activities are in store for local YWCA members, "especially if the proposed YWCA is established in Twin Falls."

"Our program here is primarily for the youth," she explains, "but there is a great need for even more youth activities in this community. Our educational activities seem to have the most appeal for our young people, starting with those in the seventh grade and continuing through the first years of marriage."

With these needs in mind, Mrs. McCall and local YWCA directors have set up a four-phase program for young women, and in some cases young men, of the community. More than 100 young people ranging from the seventh grade through the senior year in high school take part either directly or indirectly in the YWCA program, Mrs. McCall reports.

Although the primary purpose of YWCA is to develop the personality of young girls by informative programs and treating them as adults, it also helps provide both boys and girls with wholesome recreational activities, she says.

At present there are three YWCA groups in Twin Falls, one for seventh and eighth grade girls, and one for ninth graders and a third for high school juniors. All three are about 100 actual members of these three groups.

"But that doesn't begin to tell the story of YWCA here," Mrs. McCall adds. "We have two or three times that number of girls who attend our meetings regularly or take part in our social affairs, but do not join for one reason or another."

"These groups meet once or twice a month, for programs planned by members and featuring talks by guest speakers on topics such as grooming and other topics. On the social side, the YWCA holds dances, parties, potluck suppers, swimming parties, hikes, picnics and other functions, all planned by the girls themselves with a minimum of adult supervision."

"We feel that girls over 12 are in the process of growing up and should be allowed to mature into adults, taking on many responsibilities themselves," Mrs. McCall explains.

On a statewide level, the YWCA held a summer conference at Payette lake each July and a fall conference, usually scheduled in October. This year's summer meeting will be held from July 2 to 9, while the fall conference is tentatively planned for Twin Falls.

Once a girl leaves high school or reaches the age of 18, she is no longer eligible to belong to YWCA, but may join the YWCA Good group. This group takes in both young men and young women who are out of school, between the ages of 18 and 35 and unmarried. Those taking part plan their own social functions and are requested to join the YWCA, with the young men accepted as associate members.

Meeting each Wednesday night, the group holds popular dances, square dances, scavenger hunts, dinner parties, skating parties, card parties, swimming parties, picnics and other events. Average attendance at a Good group meeting is about 80, Mrs. McCall reports, with the ratio of girls and boys usually about equal. Attendance was boosted this winter, she adds, when the group held a series of dancing lessons.

Young single persons from as far away as Jerome, Gooding, Cassia, Blaine and other valley towns attend Good group functions. The group originally started about six years ago as a Business Girls' group, but was expanded into a co-ed group at the request of local single young men who complained of the lack of a recreational program for them here.

After a few experimental parties, the Business Girls' group approved the reorganization and the new group was formed. Another purely social program is the Y-Wives, sometimes called the Young Mothers of the YWCA. This group meets once a month for a program on home and family life and also holds one social event per month for their husbands.

These events are usually in the form of Saturday night card parties, but other events such as dinners, dances and parties also are held. The Y-Wives also hold a regional conference each summer in California. Compelling the local YWCA president, Mrs. McCall, to attend.

Members of the YWCA Good group exemplify the organization's 1957 theme, "Here's your cue to a happier you," as they enjoy an evening of dancing at the Twin Falls YWCA. Open to all unmarried persons between the ages of 18 and 35, the group meets each Wednesday night. (Staff photo-engraving)

Many Twin Falls residents, including shoppers and women and girls who have come here from other communities, use the local YWCA as a place to sit down and relax. This Navaho Indian girl, Mary Jean Jones, is shown with Mrs. Margaret M. McCall, executive director, as Miss Jones listens to records on her afternoon off from work as housekeeper in a local home. Miss Jones, along with four other Navaho girls, came to Twin Falls slightly over a year ago after attending a government school for Indians in Brigham City, Utah. The girls' homes are in Arizona and New Mexico. (Staff photo-engraving)

With more than 100 actual members and several hundred others who participate, the YWCA program is an important phase of the Twin Falls YWCA program. Here, Rosetta Nelson, seated, center, adviser for the 11th grade Y-Wives, goes over spring activities with Jane McCoy, left, president; Colleen Moon, standing, program chairman. ## Buhl 4-H Member Gets Ready To Go on Another Free Trip

Buhl, April 20—Trips are nothing new to Ralph Bartlett, 18, route four, Buhl. This year he is leading a 4-H conference June 15-21 at Washington, D.C.

In 1955 Bartlett received a trip to Chicago for being a 4-H winner with his field, crops and, he has made two trips to Portland, Ore., for judging and demonstration.

He has been in 4-H work for nine years. This year he is leader of the Clear Lake 4-H club. His projects have included dairy, beef, sheep, swine, corn, alfalfa, soil improvement, weeds, gardening and safety.

Bartlett has received five scholarships through his 4-H work for short courses at the University of Idaho. Three cash awards were given him from Buhl clubs in the form of saving bonds.

At the present time he is "batching" two miles north of Buhl, where he is farming 20 acres of his own land and 40 acres of rented land. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bartlett, Buhl.

Filer, Hollister School Vote Set

FILER, April 20—Voters in Filer and Hollister will cast ballots Monday on whether to levy an additional 2 mills on school taxes above the full 25 mills permitted by state law without special election.

Polls will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. at the regular locations. Judges and clerks in Filer will be Mrs. Ernest Bloom, Mrs. Cecil Brown and Mrs. Edgar Lerman. Judges and clerks in Hollister will be Mrs. Emma Henstock, Mrs. George McGregor and Mrs. W. A. Loughmiller.

The same judges and clerks will handle the May 20 trustee election. Both communities have a two-home demonstration club which meet once a month for programs prepared by the Filer-Hollister county home demonstration agent, and other home economics workers.

The community Y's meet the second Thursday night of each month and the Cheerful Matrons meet on the third Tuesday after "moon."

"Although YWCA week officially begins today, the first local observance will be a membership tea at 5 p.m. Monday with Mrs. Maude Dyer reviewing "The Road to Glory."

In previous years, the week has started with observance of YWCA Sunday in local churches, but because of these observances have been set for next Sunday. On that day all members are urged to attend the church of their choice.

The YWCA program in Twin Falls started with the formation of the first YWCA in 1920, which lasted until about 1925, when a community YWCA was set up.

The organization's first home was over the Orpheum theater, but it was later moved to the third floor of Trolinger's pharmacy. The YWCA has been in its present location, Second avenue east, since 1953.

It is governed by a 24-member board of local women with Mrs. McCall as its only fulltime, paid employee. The YWCA program is set up here on the needs of the community as decided by the board.

Until several years ago, the organization was financed by the Community Chest. Since the collapse of that drive, however, it derives its revenue from local solicitations.

The annual YWCA budget is set at $6,000 per year, with the fund drive goal placed at $5,000. The remaining funds are received by soliciting the building throughout the year to Grange, community Farm Bureau, bridge clubs and other local organizations, Mrs. McCall explains.

Mrs. McCall entered the YWCA program while in college and served as a board member in Buhl from 1929 to 1935. After being out of the program for several years, she was named executive director here in 1948.

Bronc Heads for University After Rider Is Thrown

MISSOULA, Mont., April 20 (UP)—Perhaps this bronc named "Rastus" decided only to pick up a little "book learning" yesterday.

While his staidenantes were throwing contestants in the Montana State university intercollegiate rodeo at the county fairgrounds arena, Rastus was heading two miles through south Missoula on his way to the MSU campus.

During the six-act bronc event, the horse unseated his rider, leaped a six-foot fence near the grandstand and left the fairgrounds. A pickup truck trailed him for awhile, but Rastus wasn't cornered until after he reached the campus and was corralled until the first day's events were over at the fairgrounds.

Bureau Confirms Grant of License

WASHINGTON, April 20—The communications commission has reaffirmed and made immediately effective its grant of Nov. 23, 1955, to Midland Empire Broadcasting company, operating Billings, Mont., radio station KQJH, for a channel 2 TV outlet in that city.

The grant, made without hearing, was protested by Billings channel 2 station KQOR-TV. That station questioned whether the area would support two TV outlets, and also asked for review of staffing and financial proposals. The grant was stayed pending a hearing last spring.

The commission refused to consider the economic issue and disposed of other issues by finding that "Midland" is financially qualified and that its proposed television service will be capable of rendering the service it is proposing.

Four Divorce Orders Given In T. F. Court

Four divorces were granted Friday in Twin Falls district court by Judge Hugh A. Baker.

Jess Hill was awarded a divorce from Mrs. Rosalie Hill on grounds of extreme mental cruelty. They were married in Gooding. No community property or minor children were involved.

Mrs. Bonnie J. Fraser was granted a divorce from Marvin L. Fraser. She charged "cruel and inhuman treatment." She was awarded real property, household goods and a 1956 Ford. He was ordered to pay all community debts and obligations. They were married July 14, 1950, at Twin Falls.

A divorce was given Mrs. E. Louise Cliff from Benny Cliff on grounds of extreme mental cruelty. She was granted custody of their minor child and he was ordered to pay $20 monthly child support. Mrs. Cliff also was awarded all community property consisting of household equipment. They were married Nov. 25, 1951.

Mrs. Roberta Miller was awarded a divorce from Alfred Miller on grounds of extreme mental cruelty. She was given custody of two minor children and was awarded "half" their community property. They were married Oct. 9, 1944, at Twin Falls.

Electrical Installation Nearing Completion at Heyburn

Nearing completion is this electrical project, known as the west end interconnection, near Heyburn for the bureau of reclamation's Minidoka project power system. The main transformer is 15,000-kva transformer manufactured by Industrie Electriche company, Legnano, Italy. The transformer is undergoing circulating heated-oil dry-out treatment. Engineers from Italy are supervising installation of the equipment. (Bureau of reclamation photo—staff engraving)

Minidoka Project Power Link Near Heyburn Nearly Finished

HEYBURN, April 20.—The west end interconnection at Heyburn on the Minidoka project power system is nearing completion, according to M. L. Tillery, project superintendent for the bureau of reclamation. The new installation will add the capacity to the system which will be necessary to handle the additional seasonal power soon to be available from the 114,000-kilowatt capacity Palisades project, he said. Electricity from the bureau of reclamation's Palisades and Boise projects will be transmitted over Idaho Power company transmission lines into the substation at Heyburn.

At the Heyburn substation a 15,000-kva transformer will convert it to a 24,000-voltage, at which the power will be sent out on the main lines to Rupert, Burley and other points. The power will be sent out on the main lines to Rupert, Burley and other points. The power will be sent out on the main lines to Rupert, Burley and other points.

Park's High Road May Open Earlier

OLIGNEY PARK, Mont., April 20.—Motorists may be driving over a new road to the north of the highway on Memorial day this year.

Plans for this earlier than usual opening date were announced by J. W. Emmert, superintendent of game and forest, on a study display of fireworks last night in eruptions of increasing violence.

Earth tremors shook Catalina twice during the day, throwing lava threatened five mountainside villages.

The new eruptions in a series that began four days ago came from a crater slightly below the 10,758-foot volcano's snowcapped peak.

Savings Found

PARIS, April 20 (AP)—Premier Mollet's government announced after a five-hour cabinet meeting last night that it has found means of saving around 100 million dollars this year.

It did not say where the budget cuts would be made.

They're Just Like Puppies

Small bundles of fur held by Kim, Ruth and Velda Krellow are just like any tiny puppy except that they are coyotes. Seven more of the newborn predators huddle together in lower right corner. The girls are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Krellow-Merrill. Jack Krellow, an employee of the Glenn Briggs ranch, says the pups are out of a den on Briggs' Buckhorn ranch. (Staff photo—enlarged)

Ranch Worker Finds Litter of 10 Pups In Coyote Den Located in South Hills

TWIN FALLS, April 20.—The second litter of coyotes was cut Sunday when Jack Krellow, an employee of the Glenn Briggs ranch, relieved the range of 10 pups. The pups were taken from a den on Briggs' Buckhorn ranch in the south hills. Shepherders on the ranch had reported to Briggs they thought a coyote had a litter of pups. Last Saturday Briggs delegated Krellow, who has had previous experience along the line, to find the den and clean out the pups. Krellow reports he found the litter in a basement and after a few days work was able to get all 10 pups. The litter was only a few days old. The incident has reawakened an interest in a hobby Krellow gave up when he left Minnesota. He and his brother spent much of their spare time in locating and emptying fox dens in that state. At one time Krellow reports they had 38 pups. After moving out here, he gave up the hobby and this was his first expedition in several years. In fact, he went out again Sunday, but didn't find any.

Paper Is Filed in Ainsworth Estate

A petition for letters of administration in the estate of Howard L. Ainsworth, who died Oct. 24, 1956, was filed in Twin Falls probate court by his widow, Mrs. Cora Ainsworth, Twin Falls. The estate consists of real and personal property valued at approximately $10,000. Heirs besides the widow are a daughter, Leona June Ainsworth, and a son, Patrick Evan Ainsworth, both Twin Falls. A hearing is set for 10:30 a.m. May 1. Attorneys for Mrs. Ainsworth are J. Robertson and Delz, Twin Falls.

For Higher Yields and Better Quality POTATOES

Recent results from several experiment stations in the western states continue to show that Du Pont "Semesan Bel" is the best treatment for potato seedpieces. It is outstanding because it not only controls fungus diseases but also stops spread of the bacterial diseases, ring rot, and black leg.

"Semesan Bel" Offers You the Following Advantages:

YIELD—Potatoes treated with "Semesan Bel" have usually out-yielded potatoes given other treatments in field trials.

QUALITY—Yield of No. 1 potatoes have been tops with seed-pieces treated with "Semesan Bel."

EFFECTIVE DISEASE CONTROL—"Semesan Bel" is highly effective against a wide range of disease problems.

Bacterial Ring Rot—"Semesan Bel" stops spread of ring rot by cutting knives. This bacterial disease is not controlled by the protectant type fungicides now in common use.

"Semesan Bel" is used in a dip treatment at the rate of 1 lb. per 7½ gallons of water. This amount will normally treat 60 to 80 bushels of seed. For best results plant as soon as possible after treatment, if treated tubers are to be held, dry thoroughly.

To protect your crop investment both before and after planting, ask your dealer for Du Pont "Semesan Bel." You'll get higher yields of top-quality potatoes. On all chemicals, follow label instructions and warnings carefully.

Air Pollution Laws Praised

SEATTLE, April 20 (U.P.)—A Californian described Washington's new air pollution control law today as the finest of its type ever written. Donald Sweeney of Los Angeles made the comment while here to address the annual meeting of the Association of Washington Industries. Sweeney, public relations manager for the Western Oil and Gas Association, said the Washington law is good because it provides cities and counties with machinery to handle air pollution problems and avoids the danger of state control. The law becomes effective in June. Walter J. DeLong, Tacoma, association president, reported that new industries most likely to be attracted to Washington are those that can use the state's forests or agricultural resources, low cost power, large amounts of water and proximity to the harbors. Speaking at a luncheon meeting, Lloyd Andrews, state superintendent of public instruction, emphasized the responsibility of education to business. READ TIMES-NEWS WANT ADS.

Leaders Warn of Unrest in Poland

WARSAW, Poland, April 20 (U.P.)—Polish communist leaders are warning that the nation's economic position is desperate and is being aggravated by labor unrest, informed sources said yesterday. First Secretary Wladyslaw Gomułka has laid part of the blame for labor unrest on the Polish press. Newspapers in the past few months have given readers a truer picture of western life than was allowed under the old Stalinist regime.
