U.S. Ban In Trade To Stand

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The United States will not approve any move by its allies to sell war-potential materials to Red China or any other member of the Communist bloc, an administration spokesman said today.

Secretary of Commerce, for international trade, said the government is not negotiating with the allies on East-West trade problems, particularly with China, which has been under increasing pressure from the allies to relax East-West trade controls.

McClintock, for 30 years president of the United States and chairman of the Old Colony Plant and Chemical Co. in Los Angeles, noted that for some time this country has been under increasing pressure from the allies to relax East-West trade controls.

The state department announced last Saturday it is ready to discuss certain modifications in trade controls with U.S. allies who participate in the trade control program.

In an interview the spokesman said the move to avoid the possibility of losing all trade with the Communist bloc is not other so-called bloc nations. He said this danger was present because of the trade with Red China, which is a member of the Communist bloc.

During the coming talks, he said, "we will trade with complete safeguards against trading in any strategic materials." But he said the United States probably will make concessions on trade by the allies in certain non-strategic items, particularly the steel trade. He did not name the items.

Police Testify In Lawsuit on Car Accident

GOODYEAR, April 24.—Police officers who testified Wednesday morning in the $150,000 damage action started in district court here Tuesday by Goodyear, Inc., charging negligence on the part of the driver of a Buick sedan which crashed into a car driven by a Goodyear salesman in a parking lot on May 15, 1936, testified today.

Goodyear, which started last month and recessed over the Easter week-end, have given United States district court Judge J. Edgar Stassen testimony on the accident. The testimony was taken in a statement agreement with Russia were outlined in a statement after he had conferred for 75 minutes with Harold E. Stassen, his adviser on disarmament matters. After the conference at the Augusta National Golf Club, Eisenhower's vacation headquarters, Stassen flew back to Washington for a final session with Secretary of State Dulles. Then he was leaving for the state department disarmament talks resuming there Wednesday.

'Ike' Echoes Dulles' Optimism for Peace

AGUSTA, Ga., April 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower on yesterday expressed new confidence the east-west atomic weapons race can be halted. He pictured an arms reduction as "indispensable" but likely to be a slow process. The President's views regarding efforts to reach an inspection and controls agreement with Russia were outlined in a statement after he had conferred for 75 minutes with Harold E. Stassen, his adviser on disarmament matters. After the conference at the Augusta National Golf Club, Eisenhower's vacation headquarters, Stassen flew back to Washington for a final session with Secretary of State Dulles. Then he was leaving for the state department disarmament talks resuming there Wednesday.

Cut for Ike's Budget Seen In Talk Here

Sen. Henry Dworakoff, R. Ind., predicted Wednesday congress will make a tax cut next January and that he expected a cut of two to three billion dollars in the current proposed $72 billion dollar budget before it comes up for congressional action.

Addressing Twin Falls Rotarians Wednesday following the weekly luncheon at the American Legion, Dworakoff said, "I was always taught and believe that a dollar should have economic value."

The confusion and spending in the nation's capital will continue until the American people get a picture of the budget. Dworakoff declared, "Some of my friends in Washington believe it should be stuffed and put on display in the Smithsonian institution because I am old fashioned enough to believe in it."

The senator said he believes and will continue to work for a cut in federal spending. "I know it can be done without damage to our economy or national defense," he said.

He said a "deluge" of letters and telegrams has poured into Washington, D. C., from an outraged citizenry. "I am sure the budget committee for the Hoover report here today that the U. S. had been literally forcing millions of dollars in foreign aid upon communities that did not ask for such aid or welcome it."

Writers Will Have Look at Atomic Plant

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Newspaper writers were offered their first look inside the atomic energy commission's big Hanford works at Richland, Wash., today. Four facilities at Idaho Falls, Idaho, for development of civilian uses of the atom.

The invitation from the AEC apparently constitutes, at least in reference to the national reactor testing station in Idaho, the commission's first step toward opening the plant to the public. It will be limited to laboratory and test units.

At Hanford, the AEC said, the four facilities will be used for production facilities. It will be limited to laboratory and test units.

Huge Increase Is Expected by 1960 In Newspaper Use

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—The world demand for American and Canadian newspapers will increase 70 percent by 1960, the American Newspaper Publishers Association reported today.

In a study distributed at the ANPA's 71st annual convention, the association said the demand on North American newspaper production will reach an estimated 11,750,000 tons annually by the 1960 date. The continental manufacturing capacity last year was 7,850,000 tons.

The study credited the growth of population and the greater space demands by advertisers for the record demand for newspaper in 1960. It said the eight million tons of newspaper in 1960, compared to current output of 7 million tons, is an increase of 14 percent.

Search Fails to Find Lost Plane

PALMDALE, Calif., April 24 (AP)—The civil air patrol said today no trace of a missing Cessna 441B twin-engine plane was found in the area of the crash site.

The search was conducted by the California Air National Guard and the local civil air patrol. The plane was reported missing on April 23.

The search area was a 100-mile radius around the crash site. The plane was last seen on April 23, flying over the area.

British Meet Red Message In Fair Style

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—A "fair" and "friendly" attitude toward the Soviet Premier, Bulganin, to Prime Minister Macmillan on disarmament, the Middle East and European peace, aroused no perceptible enthusiasm in Britain today.

The British foreign office was said to consider the office friendly in tone but not necessarily significant. Bulganin has communicated the views in personal letters to the U. S. British and French chiefs of government at intervals since the Geneva summit conference in 1955.

British press reaction was generally cool to the Soviet Premier's latest.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik delivered the "Red" message to Macmillan on the weekend. Moscow radio broadcast the text of the present "indestructible" agreement of international relations.

The truck and cargo were found by a local citizen who reported them to the police.

The driver of the truck is still missing.

High Winds, Lack of Interest Helped Mob Vote as 31 Towns Conduct Elections

High winds and lack of interest squelched voting in some of the 31 municipal elections held in Magic Valley Tuesday while heated fervor stimulated interest in others. In some communities there was no opposition in candidates listed on the ballots but in a number of instances there was a somewhat heavy written vote. In Jerome where Mayor Theron Ward was expected to have no opposition, a written, Tom Prescott, received a total of 52 votes. Mayor Ward won with a total of 206 votes. Mayor J. Leonard Salmon, Progressive Citizens candidate, was elected for a third term in Burley.

Residents of Burley tried to stir up some interest in the election but the heavily favored Improvement party failed to name a candidate for mayor. The improvement party's only candidate, Robert Deingers, was defeated for councilman for the first precinct by Kate E. Lane, a candidate on the mayor's ticket. In Wendell, the race was considered "quite heavy." Mayor Carl Geisler was re-elected for councilman for the first precinct by a 231-to-75 vote.

Interest in the city election was stimulated by the tight race between Evan M. Willard, co-owner of Willard Brothers Transfer Company, and Joe Buckler, for councilman for the west end. Willard received 19 votes to Buckler's 128.

Mayor Ruper, incumbent, mayor, Glen Roper, defeated his opponent, Al Werry, by a 428 to 147 tally. In Buhl out-going Mayor Marion Ambrose, who had no opposition, was re-elected for a second term. In Pocatello, Mayor J. M. Squire, a Republican, was elected for the two-year term.

In Idaho Falls, Mayor J. M. Squire, a Republican, was elected for the two-year term.

Voters in Gooding Defeat School Mill Levy in Third Straight Try

GOODING, April 24.—Gooding school district voters Tuesday, for the third time in a little more than a month, defeated an appeal for an increase in the school tax levy. The vote was 172 to 341. Leigh Iversoll, school superintendent, said he had no comment on the outcome.

Iversoll said the school board will convene the first part of next week to discuss the matter. The board, in the first two elections, had asked the voters to approve an additional five-mill levy above the 25-mill maximum permitted by state law without a special election.

Stone-Throwing Mob Stalking City Streets

Stone-throwing mobs surged through Amman and other Jordanian towns today to enforce demands for the resignation of pro-western Premier Hussein El Khalidi, government, Khaldi, however, was standing firm. After a 90-minute conference with King Hussein, he announced: "I have not resigned." As mob rule and civil war threatened Jordan, another Middle East crisis apparently had run its course through the channels of diplomacy. Cairo published its long-awaited terms for operation of the Suez canal.

Egypt, the document said, will run the canal on its own terms, including the collection of tolls.

The most important concession Egypt made was that disputes over operations and tolls could be taken to arbitration.

In both Egypt and Jordan, the Suez canal was a major issue. In Egypt, the canal was a major issue. In Jordan, the canal was a major issue.

Burley Votes For Rules on Dog Control

BURLEY, April 24.—Burley voters today gave their city officials the "go-ahead" to work out a city ordinance providing for leash laws.

On the subject of dogs in the municipal election was 428 in favor of the leash law, 216 against.

Dog complaints have been plaguing city councilmen almost continuously for months with one or more cases popping up at every council meeting.

Most of the complaints have been concerned with dogs running loose and causing damage to property.

U.S. Helpless In 'Shocking' Rights Cases

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., said today his department has no power to force the U. S. to intervene in "shocking" civil rights cases. But he said it couldn't be sure of that.

Brownell urged Congress in his annual report to enact the administration's civil rights program to remove the "shocking" cases from the hands of the courts.

Among the "shocking" incidents cited by Brownell were the shooting of Rev. George W. Lee and the shooting of U. S. courts, both leading to the death of the Rev. Lee. The shooting of U. S. courts, both leading to the death of the Rev. Lee.

Upper Basin Project Gets More Airing

DENVER, April 24 (AP)—Members of the four-state upper Colorado river commission met in midday today to discuss the project's progress and to plan for the upcoming annual convention in May.

The commission, which was created by the four-state governors to study the project, is expected to recommend a plan for the project's development.

The project, which is being developed by the four-state governors, is expected to provide water for irrigation and power for the upper basin states of Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and New Mexico.

Man Hopes to Soar Rockets Much Higher

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., April 24 (AP)—Capt. Even Kinschloe, who has flown higher than any other human, hopes to be the man who will challenge the "barrier" in a 4,000 mile per hour rocket ship.

Here on this huge, wind-swept base of military and scientific research, the man who has flown higher than any other human, hopes to be the man who will challenge the "barrier" in a 4,000 mile per hour rocket ship.

Kinschloe is "X-15"—what he calls the "open sesame" to space.

The air force announced last night that the X-15, a rocket research plane, is under construction by North American Aviation, Inc., Los Angeles.

It will give the plane's expected performance except to say it will be faster and higher than any other manned aircraft.

However, the X-15 is said to be designed to rocket through the atmosphere at five to seven times the speed of sound in the vicinity of 4,000 miles per hour—and achieve altitudes of 50,000 feet—more than 38 miles.

A joint project of the national advisory committee for aeronautics (NACA), the air force and the navy, it will be used to study the problems of reentering the earth's atmosphere.

Along with 30 other test pilots at Edwards who want to fly the X-15, Kinschloe regards it with a sense of awe, keeping in the back of his mind the grim realization that a misstep could turn him into ashes in an instant.

When it rolls onto the massive Rogers lake dry dock for its first test, probably in 1958-59, the X-15 will appear as an over-stacked stone ship with tiny fins for wings that can leap straight up into space.

Last year Kinschloe took the 2,000 mile per hour X-2 to 124,000 feet—where a man's unprotected body would vanish in three seconds.

On three dry landings he turned black because of the thin atmosphere—no eerie darkness that slips away behind a plane's wings. The sun, a great white ball looking like the moon at night, is sharply out against the darkness of outer space.

Inventor Puzzled Over Furor For Keeping Woman as 'Slave'

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—A young, sharp-faced inventor is puzzled over the furor about keeping a pretty brunette as a "slave" in an underground cave for 15 weeks.

"There may have been an element of wrong in it," said John Bridal, "but it wasn't as bad as it sounds."

Anyway, he explained with a bewildered look, "it is silly to say I abducted Marjorie Jordan. How can you kidnap a girl on the back of a motorcycle?"

Bridal's story of what's been happening underground in his backyard since Jan. 7 and the story told by Marjorie, 28, do not agree on many points.

Scotland Yard detectives, still checking the stories, have filed no charges against the 26-year-old man.

who claims to be perfecting a grinding machine and coal conveyor.

—Miss Jordan, a 26-year-old shop clerk, was helped from the cave Monday night by police after a neighbor of Bridal found a note she had tossed out. The note asked for "urgent" help.

She told police Bridal was a total stranger and that the night of Jan. 7 he kidnapped her from her home two miles away and took her to his backyard on a motorcycle.

Since then she has lived in the cave, being allowed out occasionally at night.

"It was like living in a tomb," she told Scotland Yard.

"I thought I was going to die there. The place was about 10 feet long and 4 feet wide and about 7 feet high. The walls were shored up with corrugated iron and metal trellis work. There was nothing at all but the light and a wooden box frame bedspring lying on the dirt floor."

She said Bridal told her he needed an assistant to help him perfect his metal machine and conveyor.

"He never made any advances to me," the woman said. But he made her help enlarge the cave.

Bridal's story is that he knew the woman in the shop where she worked.

"She said she would like to work for me," he asserted. "She was my assistant, doing laboring work while I did designing and the latter work."

"I did not want anyone to know she was there. As we were not married I couldn't keep her here with me. So I put her in the cellar I had cut out under the (backyard) shed."

"No, we were not in love or any-

Gas Asphyxiation Blamed in Death

IDAHO FALLS, April 24 (AP)—Bonnie County Coroner Jack A. Wood, Jr., said last night 22-year-old Mrs. Leola S. Slaughter, who was found dead in her trailer Saturday, apparently died of asphyxiation by butane gas.

He said finds of a pathologist indicated cause of death as the gas fumes from a butane cooking stove in the trailer house. Her husband, 31, was found unconscious but recovered.

They were transient farm workers and had just come to Idaho from Colorado to work on the Jim Hayes farm northwest of here.

"I think that, although I think she liked me,"

No Immunity

KARACHI, Pakistan, April 24 (AP)—Law Minister Sardar Amirzai said today American Jails Back will be tried again for striking and killing a native cyclist with his car here March 8.

Amirzai said the magistrate who originally tried Back dismissed him because he mistakenly thought diplomatic immunity was involved.

CONTINUE SEARCH
BOISE, April 24 (AP)—Boise police today continued their investigation of $2,400 damage caused by vandals who hurled gravel at four used cars here Monday night. Officers said 48 cars were struck by the rocks. They said it had been determined the damage was caused by gravel because of the irregularity of the pits made in the glass on the damaged automobiles.

Another Witness Adds New Clues

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24 (AP)—A new witness came forth last night to give police still another clue in the search for the hit-run driver who killed Lloyd V. Stephens the night of April 14.

The witness was Richard Means, 19. He firmly identified the death car as a 1957 Ford hardtop coupe. Other witnesses have said it was a 1952 or 1953 Mercury.

Means said he was walking down Valencia street near 17th when he saw the death car wheel around the corner and screech to a stop.

Means said he saw a body under the right front fender.

The car stopped for "10 or 20 seconds," then sped up Valencia toward 18th, still dragging the body, Means said.

Means said he did not report the incident previously because he had been in "trouble" with juvenile authorities and didn't want to get "mixed up" in the affair.

American Drowns In Foreign Water

DIJAKARTA, April 24 (AP)—An American employee of the Morris-Knudsen, engineering firm was drowned near Sourabaya last week, delayed news reports said today.

The reports said Edward Turberville of Oregon was drowned April 19 when he slipped and fell from a pier near Sourabaya, East Java, where he had gone swimming.

The news reports said his body was recovered and burial was held April 19 near the Gresik cement plant, the project where he worked.

American embassy officials in Djakarta were unable to give any details of the accident or the victim's background.

The news reports said Turberville is survived by his widow and eight children in Oregon.

Nasser Holds Strong Hand On His Canal

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—President Nasser, the high-handed Egyptian who took over the Suez canal and now it has beaten the United States, Britain and France down to trying size.

They wanted to agree to international control of the canal. From all that is known he hasn't budged an inch from his original position when he seized the canal last July 26.

"This is my canal and I'm going to run it my way, whether you like it or not."

Talks to Nasser

The American ambassador in Cairo has talked with Nasser for weeks without visible results. Secretary of State Dulles yesterday said this country possibly this week will report to the United Nations on its dealings with the Egyptian.

This can hardly be more than a fact-saving device. So long as they keep talking about their difficulties this country and its two big allies, Britain and France, can hope to delay admitting he has them backed against the wall.

Backing Down

Something else Dulles said also should be noted is backing down. When the canal was reopened to traffic after this month, the American government will not allow American flagships from using it.

They didn't if this was intended to put pressure on Nasser by giving him the canal. It was intended to appear that much revenue, it apparently didn't work. Yesterday Dulles said the government has no objection to these ships using the canal.

Will Not Attack

Britain and France won't try another attack soon. And the United States won't attack.

Before Nasser grabbed the canal in July it was operated under an international agreement of 1956 by a privately-owned international company which collected the tolls from the ships passing through.

Last March, just before the canal was finally cleared of the ships sunk during the autumn invasion, Nasser announced Egypt would collect the tolls.

This was after the United States, Britain and France proposed that the toll should be paid half to Egypt and half to some international financial agency which would hold them until there was some treaty agreement on who owned what and who owned what to whom.

Walker Awarded Prize for Speech

Lloyd Walker gave an extemporaneous speech to win the Twin Falls Teachers' club blue pencil award for the best speech Tuesday night at the Turf club.

Other speakers were Robert Tucker, David Hamilton, John McVie and Albert Murphy. Richard Cook was toastmaster of the evening. Table topics chairman was Kurt Moss and chief evaluator was Arnold Helweg.

President Donald Murphy announced the appointment of Edw. J. as inter-club committee chairman, Ralph Hale, Twin Falls, and Dr. Louis Catlett, Cheyenne, Wyo., were guests.

ASSIGNED IN KOREA

BURLY, April 24—Mr. Bruce G. Parr, son of Mrs. Rhonda G. Parr, has been assigned to the seventh infantry division in Korea.

Officers Seated, Principal Honored at PTA Meet

New officers of Bickel PTA were installed at a special meeting Tuesday evening in the school auditorium. They are, from left, Mrs. Robert Wilson, secretary; Kenneth Shaw, president; Ted L. ## Longtime Principal of Bickel School Is Honored by Special Meet of PTA

Virvan Klinsk, who will retire this year as principal of Bickel school after 21 years of service, was honored Tuesday night in a special program by the school PTA.

Mrs. Klinsk had been principal of Bickel school for 12 1/2 years. The program was along the lines of the television show "This is Your Life." Associates and friends who had known Miss Klinsk in the past were presented to her.

The Rev. W. A. MacArthur, who wrote the program, served as master of ceremonies.

The opening prayer was given by the Rev. Donald Blackstone. Highlights in Miss Klinsk's life were presented in film. Mr. and Mrs. George Klinsk and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Klinsk, brothers of Miss Klinsk and their wives, a nephew, Albert Klinsk, all Bury, presented dramatic moments in their childhood.

Mrs. Ernest Granger, Twin Falls, represented Miss Klinsk's second grade pupils at Bury where the educator taught for six years.

Members of Miss Klinsk's third grade rhythm band presented a number they recalled from their practice in 1920. The seven members of the 22-member band who appeared before Miss Klinsk in the Bickel auditorium were Mrs. James Kinney, B. Brennan, Eugene Hull, Dr. William Hawkins and Jack Wieglin, all Twin Falls; Mrs. Marie Harding, Jerome; and Mrs. J. C. Henriksen, Bury.

Mrs. Marshall LeBaron and Mrs. William Luke were presented as students of Miss Klinsk at Washington school during 1933. Miss Klinsk taught at Washington for three years.

John Bertie, former fourth grade pupil of Bickel school, showed pictures of modeling at the school.

A. W. Morgan, superintendent of Twin Falls schools in 1946 when Miss Klinsk was made principal of Bickel school, commented on events that occurred in the year of her initiation as principal.

Ernest Regland, superintendent of schools and Arthur Klinkopf, assistant superintendent, congratulated Miss Klinsk on her record as principal.

Miss Klinsk was reminded of being the first recipient of the Bickel school PTA life membership pin given by Mrs. Abby Arrington, Mrs. Rex Olsen, former school nurse and intimate friend, read a a premier performance, conducted by Richard Smith.

Jay Anderson, who will greet Bickel pupils as their new principal in September, sang a solo, "This is Your Life."

Miss Klinsk was presented a certificate from the Bickel PTA executive board.

A brochure of pictures taken during the program by Kenneth Olmstead will be presented to the retiring principal.

Refreshments were served from two long tables arranged by Mrs. Charles Sawyer and Mrs. Robert Wilson. A complete "Little Red School House" scene, built by Wilfred Benedict, centered the tables. Two large cakes made to resemble open books, inscribed "Good Luck, Virvan Klinsk," were on the tables. Spring flowers and baskets of blossoms formed a background.

Assisting on the program committee were Mrs. James Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olmstead, Eleanor Christopher, Mrs. Ines McAulley, Klinkopf, Carl Bailey and Ted Anderson.

Baptized

BURLY, April 24—Five infants and small children were baptized at the second Easter worship service Sunday morning at the First Methodist church.

Baptized were Johnnie Bruce Blair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Blair; Dirk Reid Walmsley and Virginia Lois Walmsley, children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walmsley; Pamela Elaine Hopkins, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Hopkins; and John Kirk Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson.

Alabama Man Is New Pastor Of Castleford Baptist Church

CASTLEFORD, April 24—The Rev. Frank Harris II, has accepted the position of pastor of the First Baptist church in Castleford.

The Rev. Mr. Harris is a native of Tusculum, Ala. He attended the Baptist Theological seminary and the College of California. He and his family moved to Castleford from California. He has five children.

The Rev. Mr. Harris was ordained in 1943 at the First Baptist church in Panama, Calif. He served churches at Twenty-Nine Palms and Banning, Calif., before coming to Castleford. While at Panama he was director of the college department of the First Baptist church, and, in that capacity, was pastor for seven colleges for three years. He is a veteran of World War I, serving on the Solomon Islands in the South Pacific.

The new pastor succeeded the Rev. W. B. Phillips who resigned and retired on Jan. 1, 1957, after nine years as pastor of the Castleford church.

Mayflower Moves Along on Schedule

LONDON, April 24—The Mayflower II was reported 14 miles west into the Atlantic today and is still along well before an easterly breeze.

Reports reaching shore said the Mayflower, a replica of the Pilgrim fathers ship, was moving well. Warwick, Chatham, primary, said the Mayflower project who is sailing aboard the tiny galleon as a crew member, called the London Daily Mirror.

"At last the little ship is well out in the Atlantic, making five knots. Alan Villiers, the captain, says: 'The Lord has been good to us.'"

In London the air ministry said RAF Shackleton reconnaissance aircraft probably would escort Mayflower on part of its journey today. But it said they would not be keeping a special watch.

"Our job is to look for ships in distress," a spokesman said. "That doesn't apply to the Mayflower."

Pre-Jamboree Camp Planned By Scout Unit

Pre-jamboree training camp for Boy Scouts who will represent the Snake River council at the national jamboree will be conducted June 7 and 8, announces Harold Gribble, council executive.

This year, the council also will sponsor a parent-Scout leader meeting in conjunction with the training camp. The session is designed to acquaint the parents with the details of the event to meet the leaders who will supervise their sons at the national camp, Gribble said.

The training camp allows the boys an opportunity to become acquainted with the others in the local contingent and to learn the proper use of special equipment.

Gribble reminded there still are some vacancies in the local council's quota. He noted when the jamboree was first announced, about 45 boys signed up immediately. Since then signups have tapered off, he said.

Unless the council's quota is filled soon, the unused portion will have to be turned back and filled by Scouts from other areas, he said.

Breakfast Served
WENDELL, April 24—Approximately 70 persons were served at the annual Easter breakfast at the Methodist church following sunrise service at Niagara spring Sunday. The Hagerman and Wendell KYF and the Presbyterian Westminster fellowship participated.

Members of the WGSB prepared the breakfast. Mrs. Arthur Byce, Mrs. Roy Minton, Mrs. Ortha Hoshins, Mrs. Hugh Caldwell, Mrs. A. E. Gilbert and Mrs. Damon Shultz were in charge.

Gone Fishing

WACO, Tex., April 24 (AP)—John J. Gardner moved the sled from his store to higher ground yesterday to escape the rising waters of the Brazos river. A note pinned to the door said: "Beared of Brazos. Moved out. Will be back as soon as water goes down. Please spend the next few days fishing. That's all the weather is good for."

Car of Tomorrow?

Here's an artist's conception of what the car of the future will look like, based on predictions from the nation's automotive capital at Detroit.

Nation's Car of Tomorrow May Have Sealed-in Passengers, Radar in Rear

DETROIT (NEA)—Here's a peek at some of this town's best-kept secrets: Auto engines will be so powerful full on forward speed is needed. Cars will be so low you'll have to enter partly through the roof. Passengers will be sealed in completely air-conditioned interiors. Seats will be ventilated. Radar warning devices will prevent rear-end collisions. Cars will look more and more like guided missiles.

"This is not 'dream car' stuff, either. These innovations will be showing up on new models within the next few years."

This information comes from Victor O. Ravello, Ford's director of engineering research. Chrysler and General Motors experts confirm most of these trends. Ravello says: "We can expect at least a 25 percent and possibly as much as a 40 percent increase in horsepower in the next few years. This will permit the use of a transmission of different character. Large engines with a hydrodynamic torque converter and a reverse gear will replace today's complex assembly with a three-speed and reverse gear box."

Deterioration of service available to car owners in the past few years will be reflected in the newer cars. "I expect sealed transmissions and axle, and lifetime lubricated chassis components that would not be serviced," he says.

If you think the '57 models are low between 37 and 41 inches—drop your sights for the ones coming up. Manufacturers and customers alike desire this because low cars are safer to drive, look faster and are faster because of reduced wind resistance.

The minimum height of a car, theoretically, is about 31 inches, and within the next 10 years all models will be close to that, Ravello claims. This provides seven inches for ground clearance, five inches for leg room, 36 inches for torso height and three inches for head clearance.

"With these lower heights, we can't get into the side too well, and we must develop access at least partially through the top," he explains.

"The solution is the auxiliary roof door," he insists, referring to a side door which includes part of the roof also opening up. The foreign-made Mercedes 300 SL has such a door. Windows in the coming cars will be sealed provided with any emergency release. They will be made flush with the skin of the car for better streamlining. This will also help reduce noise.

"Wind noises resulting from the use of movable windows are a major nuisance at high speed," he explains. "Heat will be added or removed as required and clear filtered air will also be supplied mechanically."

"Ravello's hints are now working revolutionary changes in seats. Ventilation through the seat is at least only likely to show up on a few models. Seats will be made more adjustable for individual needs. He does not think rearward facing seats for passengers will ever be popular.

Two Measures of Oregon Governor Get Solons' Okay

SALEM, April 24 (AP)—Two more of Governor Holman's recommendations advanced another step in the Oregon legislature today. But there is doubt that one of them will hurdle its next obstacle.

The house, by a vote of 37-22, and virtually along party lines, approved a resolution calling for annual sessions of the legislature. The proposal would limit the length of biennial sessions to 60 days. Sessions now are biennial, and unrestricted in length.

If finally approved, the proposal would be before the voters at the November, 1958, general election. But the party-line house vote brought up a familiar and ominous specter—the even political division in the legislature, where a tie vote would seal its fate.

Earlier, the senate approved a house-passed bill to abolish the death penalty in Oregon. This now will be voted on by the people at the 1958 general election, because it would remove a constitutional provision.

Proposed Resort Development Set

POWELL, April 24 (AP)—The superior of Caribou national forest announced plans today for a proposed resort development at the Palisades reservoir.

John W. Parker said construction of the resort is expected to start in 1958 with completion no later than 1960.

He said the site is on a timber-covered bench near Palisades dam and on the south side of the reservoir. The dam is to be completed this year.

Parker said the minimum development at the proposed site will consist of a lodge, cabins, trailer site and boat launching facilities.

Court Recess Marks End of Year in Trial

SPOKANE, April 24 (AP)—The judge recessed court yesterday and rival attorneys brought in coffee, cake and ice cream to mark the end of the first year of trial of a multi-million dollar contract suit.

Superior Judge Raymond F. Kelly blew out the lone candle on the anniversary cake and the party was on in the courtroom for some lawyers, court reporters and clerks.

Pacific-General-Shaw, Construction-company is asking some $2½ million dollars from the Pend Oreille county public utility district for alleged breach of contract in construction of the nearby PUD Box Canyon dam on the Pend Oreille river.

In turn, the PUD has sued Pacific-General-Shaw for $10 million dollars, claiming construction delays. The PUD gave the contract to another company to finish the job.

The lawyers, who have brought in more than 1,000 exhibits to prove who owes whom, agreed in advance on finances Tuesday. The party bill came to about $14 and they split it in half.

They hope to wind up the complicated case by July.

Beached Whales Provide Problem For Men at Fort

CAPE HENRY, Va., April 24 (AP)—Mumbling "They didn't teach this in military tactics," a group of officers and men from Navy Ft. Story spent the better part of the day trying to dispatch a group of recalcitrant whales back to sea.

Nine small whales, six to ten-foot-critters—thrashed ashore during a brisk northeast blow. When the order came to—Lieut. N. St. Jongebloed, Jr., "get them back to sea before they die," he and his men braved the cold water and attached lines to the tails of the whales.

Nearing a half-dozen times the soldiers towed the whales to sea, only to find when they got back to the beach that the whales were there ahead of them.

But persistence paid off, in part. A review of the situation disclosed that seven of the nine whales had gone. Two hard-headed critters, however, flatly refused the sanctuaries of the sea and perished on the beach.

U.S. Air Force Nearing Phase Of "Ultimate" Weapon Family

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—The final phase of the development of a family of "ultimate" weapons will soon begin.

Within the next few months the air force will be into an intensive program of fast-firing intermediate range—1,500 miles—ballistic missiles. Within less than a year the fast-firing of intercontinental ballistic missiles with ranges of 6,500 miles will be started.

Several "breakthroughs" in vital problems, plus the discovery that ballistic missiles were uniquely susceptible to crash program development, account for the speed attained on this vital weapon.

This testing stage of their development is years ahead of many previous estimates.

For months, Patrick air force base, a missile test range in Florida, has been the scene of frantic construction and expansion in preparation for the important family program. Huge concrete launching pads, control block-houses, radar and telemetering equipment, and rocket fuel storage facilities have been added recently.

Meanwhile, security restrictions of the base have been increased—and the press has not been permitted inside the gates.

Final regulations with Brazil for the construction of missile monitoring stations on Fernando de Noronha Island are being rushed in order to have them in operation when the ICBMs are ready for initial testing this year. The Patrick range extends more than 5,000 miles south, past Ascension Island.

A Thor, the first air force ICBM to be fired in this program, recently exploded just after launching. The trouble has been traced to plumbing in the fuel system and has been remedied. The Thor test-firing program will be the first to get into high speed.

The air force is so confident of Thor's ultimate success that it has been placed on a pre-production basis.

Atlas and Titan are the 5,500-mile ICBMs which will begin to be test-fired soon after the Thor firings get under way. These are called the "ultimate" weapons because there is no known defense against them.

The original breakthrough on these missiles was the discovery that hydrogen bombs could be put in relatively small packages. This made a simplified guidance system because the large area of H-bomb damage makes pin-point accuracy unnecessary. It is the Thor that the whole gadget could be made much smaller than it was originally conceived. As it is, the Thor is reported to be more than 100 feet long.

The more recent breakthrough was one of development procedure. It was discovered that the four prime elements of a ballistic missile, the frame, propulsion system, nose cone and guidance system could be developed separately and under almost perfectly simulated operational conditions.

This is in contrast to an aircraft which has to be assembled as a unit. The Thor is reported to be assembled as a complete weapons system before it can be finally tested.

One of the toughest problems to tick was how to keep the missile's nose cone, which contains the explosive, from melting when it re-entered the atmosphere on its final approach to the target. Testing of cones was done on rocket acids and on the Lockheed X-17 missile, built for this purpose. Details of how the problem was solved are secret.

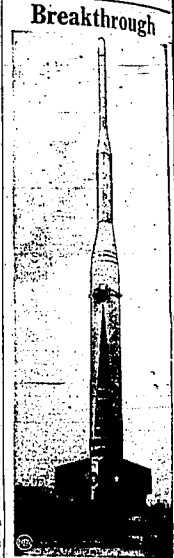

Propulsion systems were tested on static stands. Almost all of this work was done by North American's Rocketdyne division at Canoga Park, Calif., in the Santa Susana mountains. Other testing was done on actual missiles.

Air frames have been satisfactorily proved in tunnels and on test missiles. Guidance systems have also been proved out on other missiles.

These missiles are the product of the air force's western development division, headed by Maj. Gen. Edward A. Schriever. It was operated like the Manhattan project which developed the atomic bomb. Between private contractors have done the actual work.

The army's IRBM, the Jupiter, is reported to be in a similar state of readiness for flight testing.

The hoped for schedule of getting these missiles into operation are secret. It could take several years per missile. Experts working on them will say only that the Thor with which these missiles have been brought to the test-firing stage indicates they will be operational in less than first thought possible.

X-17 test missile helped solve toughest ballistic missile problem.

The other important long-range missile is the Soviet R-7. They are called strategic missiles because they are based on wings "lift" and are controlled by conventional aircraft methods.

Man's President Typifies Nation's New Postwar Spirit

NEW YORK (N.Y.A.)—When the world's first postwar president, Theodor Heuss, was elected in 1949, he offered this prophecy at a wedding he had just performed:

"This happy couple is not only making a vow to live for each other, but to love with each other for something."

The couple was Theodor Heuss and Lily Knapp, and they have been living Schwellers' words ever since—for long years in relative obscurity, today in the spotlight as spiritual leaders of reborn Germany. America's spotlight focused on Heuss when he arrived in Washington for the first visit of a German chief of state to the U.S. since the last war.

The 53-year-old president of the West German republic—like other foreign dignitaries from India's Nehru to King Saud—made the long trek at President Eisenhower's invitation. He came to the U.S. on an important business, or as the diplomats say, "to cement friendly relations between America and the Bonn federal government."

For Americans who have not forgotten Hitler this was the first opportunity to meet the outstanding leader of the "new" democratic Germany. Although he is not without the political power of old Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, it is nevertheless Heuss who has emerged only eight years ago to become the leader of the nation.

A scholarly man with kindly gray eyes and a mane of white hair, there is no parallel for Heuss in German political history. His two predecessors, as chief of state were Field Marshal von Hindenburg and Adolf Hitler.

But there are no "hardly" myths about Heuss as there were about his predecessors. He never wore a uniform like Hindenburg, the iron-willed legendary old "hero-soldier." He never harangued frenzied mobs like Hitler. He is on the contrary a German teacher and ex-newsman—man who delights people with his grass-roots humor and warm personality.

It is characteristic of Heuss that although he has achieved eminence as a literary man, the first book he ever wrote was on wine growing. He still enjoys a glass of German red wine and good cigars which he practically chain-smokes while engaged in lively conversation.

Even the majority of West Germans knew little about Heuss when he was elected to his first five-year term in 1949.

"Who is this man, Heuss?" they asked puzzled.

In West Germany, as in France, a president is elected by a federal assembly (Bundesversammlung) and not in a popular national contest like in the U.S.

But post-war German leaders, desperately trying to pick up the pieces of their ruined nation, were aware of Heuss' stature as a man and his valuable contribution to the struggle against Hitler. They saw in him the man who would lead the German people more than a decade of Nazism—along the path of democracy and freedom.

The ordinary Germans remained unconvinced. They were gradually getting accustomed to the stern image of Chancellor Adenauer—the post-war creator of the Bonn republic. But they didn't quite know what to make of the new chief of state.

Yet a few short months later Heuss became the spokesman of the new West German Republic—the voice and conscience of what remained of Germany's democratic heritage after Hitler.

As the President's second inauguration in Berlin in 1953, Heuss was already respected, and acclaimed as a great democratic statesman, not only in Germany, but throughout Europe.

The West German president comes from an old family in Swabia, a south German region often called the cradle of German democracy. His ancestors were farmers, foresters, river boatmen and municipal school teachers.

THEODOR HEUSS
... president of the West German republic who made an official visit to the United States.

A democrat since his youth, Theodor Heuss, like his father, fought throughout his life for social advancement—true to the tradition of his Swabian homeland.

On July 20, 1934, Heuss took part in the famous plot on Hitler's life. When the plot failed and Hitler's blood-brothers were tracking down the plotters, Heuss disappeared and, despite the ruthless persistence of the Nazi secret police, was never found.

As the months went by the files on Heuss at the Gestapo headquarters grew bigger and larger until one day, during an air raid on Berlin, they were found by one of Heuss' accomplices who took them and threw them into a burning building.

"True ended Hitler's 'case against Theodor Heuss' who was now able to emerge from his Heidelberg hide-out to witness the final drama of Germany's destruction.

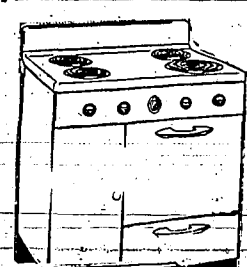

Sensing that Hitler's days were numbered, Heuss set out courageously to instill a new spirit in the land.

His first message to the free world was: "Help the German people—don't merely curse them." This had been his by-word ever since.

Escape ist Makes Look Easy

CHICO, Calif., April 21.—A 16-year-old boy who has been in the county jail here for 11 days, escaped from the jail here last night. The boy, who was captured here that day but was released, was taken to the county jail here last night. The sheriff's office learned recently that Wilson was working in Cook county, Ill., and last week sent a wire to Brookfield asking that he be arrested.

Brookfield police followed through and arrested the boy. He was taken to the Brookfield jail at 9 p.m. At 11:30 p.m. he was gone. Police were unable to explain how he got out.

Today Santa Clara county Sheriff Melvin Hawley received a letter from the Brookfield police chief. It said in part, "It is some future date anyone from your office has the opportunity to question Wilson, will you find out how he did it (escaped from Brookfield jail)?"

Alaska Paper Bet Over Bid Of Statehood

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, April 21.—The publisher of the Juneau, Alaska, Daily Empire offers to bet his entire newspaper, plant, stock and bar against the Alaska Daily News-Miner, his plant against the News-Miner.

Snodden contended with a wager of $100,000 that Alaska would not within 10 years achieve the status of a commonwealth in which citizens were exempt from federal income taxes.

Allen has been editorializing against statehood and recommending that Alaskans be exempt from federal income taxes so that the territory could expand and develop. Snodden has been an ardent statehood supporter.

Allen said Snodden's bet could not apply to him because he has not advocated commonwealth status for Alaska. Allen said he favored the present territorial status for Alaska with eventual statehood after the territory is developed.

The bets were posted in an exchange of telegrams after the two newspapers had clabbed editorially. However, neither bet has been accepted yet.

Bliss to Ask for Fund for School

ELIZABETH, April 21.—At a public budget hearing for the Bliss school district No. 234 Friday evening, no objections were raised to the budget of $112,124.

The board voted to hold an election from 1 to 7 p.m. May 17 in the high school building to raise three additional mills for general maintenance. The mill levy last year was 25 mills on maintenance and operation and four mills on retirement of bonds. If the three mill levy is passed, the levy will be 28 mills on maintenance and four mills on bonds, or 32 mills.

School board trustee election also will be held on May 17. Terms of Andrew Coltrin and Dora Butler will expire the second Tuesday in June. Other members on the board include Frank Graves, Sterling Bray and Dean Medley. M. K. Slane is clerk.

Paper on Dental Health Is Given

CHICAGO, April 21.—Dr. Wesley O. Young, director of the Idaho health department's division of dental health, presented a paper on Idaho's dental health program at the American Dental Association's annual dental health conference here.

He said the dental profession in Idaho should be commended for its leadership in promoting preventive and educational programs for the improvement of dental health.

Concern Over Inflation Seen

NEW YORK, April 21.—William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said the "stress of inflation" has become a "major concern" to the nation's newspapers.

Several other executives joined Dwight in sounding the same warning in talks prepared for the ANPA's 71st annual convention at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

Dwight, of the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram, said publishers' problems are becoming "increasingly complex" each year.

The threat of inflation is added to the 1937 list of major concerns, he said. "This system of people's capitalism we have developed in the United States, in fact our way of life, is at stake; and we newspaper publishers must apply our full powers and resources to the cause of halting the trend that can only lead to the destruction of our assets."

Loot Churches

DENVER, April 21.—Thieves paid Easter follow-up visits to two churches.

Police were notified safecrackers obtained $2,000 or more in contributions at the First Reformed church and $110 at the Trinity Methodist church, both in south Denver.

'No Sore Spots,' Says Buster Keaton, Back in Chips Again

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, April 21.—"I have no sore spots," said Buster Keaton, who spent his rainy day money while the sun was still shining. The deadpan comedian went up like a rocket, then down like an anchor, into the waters of oblivion, where the solitary has been swimming all along with their "dim memories."

But at 61, Buster has bobbed to the surface. He's a chipper and back in the chips. He bought a ranch home in the San Fernando valley with the $20,000 Paramount picture, gave him the rights to "The Buster Keaton Story," and television magnets are waving letters at him again.

Keaton, who was given the nickname "Buster" at the age of six months by Harry Houdini, was born Oct. 4, 1895, in Piqua, Ohio. He was a top performer in 1917 when he gave up a $350 a week contract with the Shuberts to accept Patty Arbuckle's invitation to work with him in Hollywood.

"I didn't even bother to ask what the salary was," said Keaton, a short, stocky man eager to jump over to fun around. "It wasn't until payday, I found out it was $40 a week."

"But I didn't mind. It was fun. The fun didn't go out of it until making movies became an expensive business."

Keaton loves to recall the free-wheeling era when he, Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd were the comedy kings of their generation.

"My salary went from $1,000 a week to $3,500 a week," he said.

"In time I had my own studio, and I built a $300,000 house in Beverly Hills. We used to have week-end poker parties where a man would win or lose $50,000 in an evening and either way he didn't worry. He could always make another picture."

After his plummet from fame, Keaton became a writer, and outlined comedy routines for Red Skelton and other comedians of a newer day. Then came the years when there were more memories than money, and the former vaudeville hand from those who knew him were all he had to go on.

A year and a half ago Keaton lay in a veterans hospital near death, except Patty Arbuckle's invitation from a ruptured throat vein, when he received the offer for his life story.

"Four days later I was out doing prat falls on a TV show," he said, his features relaxing into a rare smile.

Buster has this to say about the show world today:

"Comedy never changes, but comedians do."

"Performers don't have the fun they did in the old days. Doing a weekly comedy show on television is too big a strain. I'll shorten a man's life physically—as well as professionally."

Here's how he rates the top entertainers he has known in his lifetime:

"I have my old pals. Danny Kaye is perhaps the best all-around comedian alive today, but the guy I laughed at most was the original Joe Jackson, the tramp bicyclist."

"The greatest all-around song-and-dance man was George M. Cohan, and the greatest all-around performer was Fred Stone."

"Women? Lucille Ball is the funniest girl in the business today, but the number one light comedienne of all time was Marie Dressler. No one could touch her."

Foreign Help Fund Shift Is Idea of Solon

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Senator Mansfield, D., Mont., proposes that administration of foreign aid be shifted to the state department and put in charge of a new under-secretary for economic affairs.

Mansfield, the senate's acting Democratic leader, also called in an interview for transfer of the United States information under the direction of the assistant secretary for public affairs.

Fellow Dulles made these proposals after Secretary of State Dulles appealed for public support to preserve the administration's foreign military and economic aid program from those with "a zeal to economize."

Dulles made this obvious reference to economy advocates in congress in a foreign policy review before the annual Associated Press luncheon in New York.

Sen. Hickenlooper, R., Ia., like Mansfield a member of the senate foreign relations committee, said he doubts Dulles' appeal will have effect on economy-minded members of congress.

"I am going to vote for a great many budget cuts," he said. "We will have to see how the foreign aid program is presented before we can determine what we are going to do about it."

State Flag Being Displayed Now in Court Chambers

BOISE, April 24 (AP)—An Idaho state flag was put up yesterday in supreme court chambers for the first time.

Clerk Louis Blodgett said the justices recently noticed the absence of the flag in their dined statehouse courtroom.

The dark blue banner with its official seal emblem was given publicity during the 1957 legislature, which failed to enact a recommendation by Governor Smythe that it be flown from all Idaho public buildings.

The justices requested one to be placed at the right of the bench. The United States flag is on the spectators' left.

The supreme court flag has a new standard, it's hand-made of curved, gilt steel.

Historical footnote: The new standard was built especially for the justices by inmates of the Idaho state penitentiary.

Program Presented

Cruelty Charged In Divorce Case

Mental and physical cruelty is charged in a divorce complaint filed Tuesday in Twin Falls district court by Mrs. Jacklyn J. Walker against Wayne S. Walker.

They were married at Elko, Nev., April 5, 1947. They have three minor children.

Mrs. Walker seeks custody of the children and asks the court for $150 monthly support for the children and $75 for her own support.

She further asks the court to enjoin Walker from molesting her or the children while the action is pending. She wants temporary possession of a 1957 Buick and a house trailer.

She asks division of community property and asks that he be ordered to pay all community debts.

Morse Lashes 'Ike' for Early False Savings

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse, D. Ore., says "false economy" during the early years of the Eisenhower administration has inflated the budget this year to a record $100 billion level.

Morse criticized the administration's handling of the budget in a "special report" to his home state. He said the 72 billion dollar budget projected for the new fiscal year beginning July 1 represents "broken campaign promises" from the 1952 presidential campaign.

"A major reason for the record size of this budget is the false economy practiced on preceding budgets," he said. "We find now that we must make up for it. This is true to a very large degree in the defense department, where funds for the military forces take a long time to go through the pipeline."

"It is very easy to coast along a few years but this year the free ride is over. The pipeline has to be refilled."

Morse said the "high cost of national security" was another major reason for the size of the budget.

In this field, he included the foreign aid program, which he called a "vital" policy. He said President Eisenhower had "virtually invited cuts" in the foreign aid program before making a belated defense of it.

Boise Postpones School System's Salary Increase

BOISE, April 24 (AP)—The Boise school board has decided to postpone salary increases for three of the top administrators pending selection of a new district superintendent.

John D. DeBeauvoir, who is resigning, was chairman of the board. He said the salary boosts were stalled in view of possible subsequent personnel changes.

Affected were George Fields, administrative assistant; Clyde N. Langlois, assistant superintendent and treasurer; and William E. Gilman, assistant superintendent.

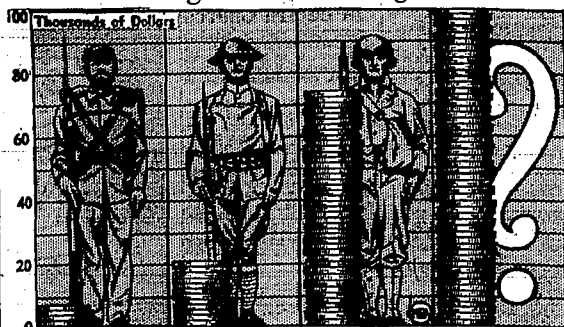

The board said, however, that all three would receive the blanket $300 per year increase made possible through the increased financial support voted by the 1957 legislature.

SERVE AT SHOW

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, April 24—Martha Sharp, 71, will be commentator at a style show to be presented here Saturday. Jay Conrad, Caslatford, is serving the hospitality committee and Cecilia Sullivan, Rupert, on the luncheon committee.

Real name of Tom Thumh was Charles Sherwood Strum.

High Cost of Killing

Will war's bankrupting cost help contribute to its elimination as an international threat? Could be. News chart above shows how the cost of killing even one enemy soldier has increased from the Civil war's $200 to World War II's $300,000. Military men say the cost of killing one soldier in a new war is anybody's guess. They consider $100,000 a low estimate, $200,000 a possibility.

Slate Installed

BOISE, April 24—New officers for the Bliss FFA officers have been installed.

They are Mrs. Calvin Burgess, president; Mrs. Dale Elmer, first vice president; Fred Stewart, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Anderson, third vice president; Supt. Doc Keller, honorary vice president; Mrs. Frank E. Myers, secretary; Mrs. Ben Morris, treasurer; and Mrs. Walter Kirtley, council delegate. The next regular meeting will be held May 1 at which time a report from the state convention delegates, Mrs. Woodrow Henderson, Mrs. Frank Myers and Mrs. Calvin Burgess will be made.

Sentiment Noted To Study State's Needs for Taxes

BOISE, April 24 (AP)—The secretary of the Idaho Chamber of Commerce says a series of regional meetings has developed strong sentiment for a statewide study of the state's tax needs.

Earl W. Murphy said that those attending the meetings were unanimous in their opinion that such a study should be completed well in advance of the next legislative session. The meetings were held in Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Twin Falls, Lewiston and Sandpoint during the last two weeks.

Feud Patched

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—The three-year feud between the three-year cafe society feud between party-giver Elia Maxwell and the Duchess of Windsor has been ended by a midcoast hand shake, the New York Journal-American says.

Society Columnist Cholly Kickerbocker reported Miss Maxwell told him in a telephone call from aboard the liner United States, en route to Europe:

"The duchess and I have shaken hands and agreed never again to disagree."

Students Win Meet Awards

CALDWELL, April 24 (AP)—Three College Idaho students won certificates of excellence in debate and discussion competition at the national Pi Kappa Delta speech convention in Brookings, S. D., it was announced here today.

The award winners were Joe Armas and Fred Grant, Nampa, debate, and Dave Spilner, Boise, discussion. The certificates are high honor awards presented to the top 10 per cent of the total number of participants. About 800 students from 200 colleges in various parts of the nation competed in the convention.

The College of Idaho won six of eight contests, dropping one to Kansas State Teachers and the other to Carroll College of Wisconsin.

Prior to adjournment, Idaho State College, Pocatello, was selected as the site for next year's Northwest Pi Kappa Delta speech contest.

AWARDED CAPS

BOISE, April 24—Five Magic Valley women recently were awarded their nurses' caps at ceremonies at St. Alphonsus hospital here. They are: Marlene Kiley, Piler; Marilyn Miller, Hazelton; and Jerry Kopp, Puyallup. Brannon and Jacque Waddell, all Twin Falls.

From 120 to 150 chinchilla pelts are needed to make a fur coat.

Need for Equine 'Shots' Stressed

BOISE, April 24 (AP)—Dr. P. P. Schneider, Idaho state veterinarian yesterday, urged farmers to have their horses vaccinated early this year against equine encephalitis.

Schneider noted to newsmen that in 1956 Idaho was third highest in the nation with 100 cases of the disease. Only Texas with 133 and Florida with 107 were higher than Idaho. Nationwide there were 1,264 cases last year, resulting in 48 deaths.

3 Talks Given
For Club Meet

Continuing the general theme of "speechcraft," I. B. Perrine, Toastmasters club member and their guests heard three talks on improved public speaking techniques Monday night.

Lloyd Hamilton explained scientific causes of "butterflies" in a speaker's stomach when he stands before an audience. Donald Bailey outlined practice, knowledge, confidence, convictions and self control as five necessary fundamentals in making a speech.

Final speaker in the speechcraft course was Donald Summers, who urged the group to overcome physical fear, fear of ridicule, fear of making a public spectacle of one's self, fear of not saying something of importance to the audience and fear of boring the audience when making a speech.

Bernard Schals won the blue pencil award for the best speech of the regular program and Ed Jereb received the cup for the most improved speech.

Howard Hardman and Henry Westendorf tied for the best table topics talks.

William Herring was toastmaster of the evening, assisted by Homer Roberts, table topics chairman, and Ralph Boxer, general evaluator.

The speechcraft course, designed as an aid to improved public speaking, is open to the public and will continue next Monday night at the Regency hotel, reports John Sierra, president.

Pays to Be Inquisitive

It pays to be inquisitive. When Peter Lowitt, 14, of the Bronx, N. Y., saw battery of cameramen outside the state department, he sensed that something was going on. Secretary of State Dulles and Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban had just concluded a conference. Young Pete walked into lobby of Dulles' office, got Eban's signature, and when Dulles learned he was wanted also, he gladly obliged. In rear is United Press Reporter Don Gonzales. (NEA telephone)

Body of Airplane
Passenger Found

BAGHDAD, April 24 (U)—The body of Jack Nash, Memphis, Tenn., who was sucked out of a plane window in a strange accident during a flight over Iraq, was brought here yesterday.

The body was found 25 miles south of Kirkuk. It will be taken to the United States.

Nash, 31-year-old bachelor who had a fondness for travel, was on a round-the-world tour aboard an Air France Constellation when the glass of the plane window where he was sitting was shattered Saturday.

It was theorized that the sudden difference in air pressure inside the cabin and outside space drew him through the opening. The four-engine plane was at 16,000 feet altitude.

Balloon Used For Rescue of Stranded Man

CLACK, April 24 (U)—A Buick sedan was stranded on a steep, 25-foot-high smoke stack at a power plant here Tuesday. A small weather balloon was used to rescue the man inside the chimney, carrying him to safety.

Thomas Kanally, 54, lost the rope which held him by which he lay on his back on the chimney. He was about 11 a.m., and he was about 10 feet from the top of the chimney. A steep ladder was attached to the top of the chimney, through a hole in the chimney.

"When I dropped that line, I said, 'I'm going to get out of here,'"

He was rescued after his descent. A steep ladder was attached to the top of the chimney, through a hole in the chimney.

Heavy Snows Measured for Areas of Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, April 24 (U)—Heavy snow broke trees and shrubs and caused electric power failure in a sweep through Utah yesterday.

The spring storm set a new moisture record by leveling 2.41 inches of precipitation at the weather bureau station here. In the four-day period—ended at 11:00 a.m.—that compared with the old record of 2.03 inches set in May, 1917.

Electric power failed intermittently in scattered sections of Salt Lake City but there was no general power outage. Eight public schools failed to open for classes during the morning because of lack of electricity to heat classrooms.

Temperatures here climbed to 53 degrees during the afternoon and evening, which ranged up to 45 in residential areas, melted snow. The Utah highway patrol closed most main highways were clear about before midnight.

Roads leading through canyons to mountain ski resorts east here remained blocked by the snow, which piled up to a depth of 10 inches at the Alta resort. Total snow depth at the resort was 110 inches.

SALE ANNOUNCED

Spring Breakup of Roads for Idaho Termed About Normal

By The Associated Press

Spring break-up—annual—wreckage of roads—will run about normal in Idaho this year, the state highway department said today.

O. Bryce Bennett, state highway engineer, said "normal" means it will cost the state about one million dollars to repair the ravages of the alternate freezing and thawing.

That's roughly half a million less than the damage to Gem state roads in 1956—one of the worst breakup seasons in history.

The alternate cold and warmth heaves the surfaces of the highways, causing them to crack and finally develop the tire-damaging "chuck holes."

In 1955 Idaho experienced one of the worst breakups in history because of a long, tough winter marked by floods not only in the spring but also in the dead of winter.

The winter floods a year ago broke up roads and washed out complete sections. Spring floods added to the damage.

But this year, Bennett said, most of the damage is confined to the areas which take the brunt of spring breakup year after year—the 10 northern Idaho counties. He added there probably will be considerable breakup, too, before summer moves in. In the areas north of Cascade.

However, district two—in south-central Idaho—including Twin Falls, Shoshone and Blaine, has very little breakup this spring.

In 1956, this section was one of the hardest hit. Officials recalled that at times roads in the Gooding and Wendell sectors were virtually impassable because of the breakup.

The department currently is busy on another project. To be sure motorists have no excuse for breaking the toughened anti-litter law of the state, an extra 200 "litter barrels" are being placed along the state's highways.

The 1957 legislature put more teeth in the law designed to keep highways and adjacent areas free of debris. The fine was boosted from $25 to $50 and the highway department was told to post signs along the roads so informing the public.

Last year the department had some 400 of the brightly colored barrels in which litter could be deposited.

The new law goes into effect May 15. By then the department will have 500 barrels in place. By the time the tourist season gets in full swing, there will be 700 barrels.

More Polio Shots Eyed for Children

NEW YORK, April 24 (U)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is contacting state health officers to arrange a new series of free Salk vaccine shots for children who were "polio pioneers" in the 1954 tests.

Some 650,000 children took part in the 1954 experiment. About 400,000 of them got the Salk vaccine and the remainder got "placebo" or dummy shots to act as controls in the test. The latter group was given two real shots in 1955.

A spokesman says the foundation feels a "moral obligation" to see that all these children are given full protection against the disease.

The major reason for the new series of tests, the spokesman said, is that shots given in the 1954 tests were not properly spaced according to today's approved method.

Lee recently was named executive director of an organization known as "For America." Bill Kirk is expected to deal with tasks.
