T. F. Artist Gives Oil Painting to Church

Mr. Ray J. Holmes, local artist, poses a critical eye over the landscape she is contributing to the First Christian church. The 4- by 8-foot oil painting will be hung over the church baptistry and it will be dedicated on Mothers Day. The picture shows the hills and trees found along the Wood river in the Hallett and Reichen area. (Staff photographer)

Original Landscape Painting Is Donated to Church in T. F.

An original oil landscape painting, she did not use a smaller scale and donated to the First Christian church by Mrs. Ray J. Holmes, local artist. One of the largest problems with the painting was that the canvas was too small. The painting was 4 by 8 feet and was too small for the church baptistry. She had to buy a whole roll of canvas. She spent many days, afternoons and spare hours on the canvas. "Sometimes I just sat and looked at it and tried to visualize how it would look above the baptistry," she reports, "and to see how the colors should be blended."

Mrs. Holmes is one of Idaho's foremost landscape painters. Last year she took second place in state competition. She also has won many prizes in other state and local contests and exhibitions.

The painting which is being donated to the church was done by Mrs. Holmes from memory. However, all the vegetation and the mountains are the type found along the Wood river drainage.

Mrs. Holmes said this was just about the largest oil she had painted.

Undersea Device For U. S. Listed As Sub Warning

WASHINGTON, May 4 (U.P.)—Missile and rocket magazine said Sunday the United States is building an underwater early warning system against the approach of hostile submarines.

The magazine described the undersea system as similar in scope to the defense and other radar networks spanning northern Canada to detect the approach of aircraft.

It said the underwater security advance warning (USAW) concept is based on highly advanced sonar beams linked together in long chains on the ocean floor and up and down the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Nik Bregant, managing editor, said it may be the most potent answer to Russian submarines, many of which are designed to carry a 70-mile range ballistic missile, the Coast.

The underwater early warning system is "top secret," Bregant said. The magazine is regarded as a responsible source with a high standing among military and industry officials.

U. S. Nuclear Stockpiling Is Good Defense

WASHINGTON, May 4 (U.P.)—The United States probably could hit Russia with more than two billion tons of nuclear explosive force if the Soviets attempted an attack on the "return" European nations before those countries build up their own atomic defenses.

Russia must reckon with the possibility in pursuing what the North Atlantic council describes as a "monopoly of nuclear weapons" on the European continent.

Through its propaganda machine, it has been bombarding the Atlantic alliance nations with the idea that the United States is building up a "monopoly of nuclear weapons" if it then harbors atomic weapons after in their territory.

The foreign ministers of the North Atlantic council in session at Bonn, Germany, asserted that the U. S. is not building up a "monopoly of nuclear weapons" but is building up a "deterrent" to launch attack on the alliance.

These weapons are available now in the nuclear firepower of the staff and Gen. Thomas White, vice chief, has emphasized that there is a difference between a "deterrent" force and a "retaliatory" force.

The deterrent force is all the planes available before a war starts. The retaliatory force is that part of the original deterrent force left after the enemy has made his opening attack on planes and bases and after B-29 planes have penetrated the defenses of Russia.

Career Theme Set for Hospital Week

Career Day for Students Will Be Feature of Hospital Week

A "Career day" for juniors and seniors of Twin Falls county high schools and Valley high school will be conducted at Magic Valley Memorial hospital May 18 to 19. The hospital guide also is sponsoring a career day to interest high school students in medicine.

High school students attending will be divided into groups to study and discuss the medical phase in which they are interested. Local leaders in the different categories will present 45-minute talks to their special groups on preparing for the job, the type of work and rewards.

Most of the discussions will be held by various department heads in the hospital. Outside assistance will be furnished by Dr. Howard Monk, veterinarian; Dr. Frank McKee, dentist; Dr. Edwin Connor and Dr. Cecil R. Reinstein, medicine; and Mrs. A. B. Knight, public health nurse.

The guild will furnish refreshments. Another phase in the week's observance will be displays depicting hospital work—in two downtown store windows.

All county juniors and seniors interested in medicine are invited to attend the event which begins at 2 p. m. May 17.

Four Divorce Orders Given In T. F. Court

Four divorces were granted Friday in Twin Falls district court by Judge Hugh A. Baker.

Mrs. Carole Del Castello was awarded a divorce from Oscar Del Castello on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

She was awarded care and custody of their one minor child and he was ordered to pay $45 monthly child support. There was no community property involved.

They were married May 7, 1955, at Ephrata, Wash.

A decree was granted to Mrs. Irene G. Fuller from J. Paul Fuller on grounds of mental cruelty.

Fuller was awarded custody of a minor child and he was ordered to pay $25 a month child support. A previous property agreement was approved by the court.

They were married Jan. 1, 1939, at San Diego.

Desertion was grounds for a decree awarded Mrs. Lila Christine Uffert from Raymond Uffert in which she was given custody of their two minor children.

Personal property consisting of household goods was awarded Mrs. Uffert.

They were married April 23, 1954, at San Diego.

Royce W. Heckendorn was granted a divorce from Mrs. Barbara Heckendorn on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

They were married July 20, 1953, at Kingstley, Ariz. They have one minor child, custody of whom was given Heckendorn with the right granted Mrs. Heckendorn to make an application for modification of the decree in respect to the custody by submitting proof of a proper home and accommodations for the child.

A previous property agreement was approved by the court.

Caldwell Trip Is Opened for Local People

Magie Valley farmers are invited to attend a field day trip at the Caldwell branch experiment station Wednesday, reports G. W. Dalph, county agent.

The program will include the latest information on silage levels for fattening steer calves, curing hay for better quality and raising dairy calves on milk substitutes. Inspection of feed lots and pastures will be made and lunch will be served at noon, he said.

McCarthy Had Planned Book Before Demise

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP) — Friends and associates of Senator McCarthy, R.-Wis., disclosed today that he was completing work on a book dealing with congressional investigations when he was stricken with a fatal illness.

McCarthy, who died Thursday, also had collected a vast amount of material for another book, they said, which was to have dealt with "Communism and subversion of policy."

Early Publication
Senator Mundt, R.-S. D., a long time friend, and Ray Kiermas, McCarthy's administrative assistant, said the senator's book on congressional investigations is planned for early publication.

Mrs. Patricia Miller, a lawyer and researcher who had been helping McCarthy with the book, told a reporter it is "about ready for publication after a little editing."

It deals with the constitutional authority for congressional investigations, the power of subpoenas, and the part such investigations play as the watchdog over the executive branch of the government, she said.

Burial Plans
Hundreds of persons filed past McCarthy's bier at a Pennsylvania avenue funeral home, not far from the White House, as preparations were completed for services in the senate chamber Monday morning. Burial will be in Appleton, Wis., on Tuesday.

A delegation of 21 senators and the 10 Wisconsin house members is leaving for Appleton by air force plane "Thursday morning" for the services there. The senate leader will be headed by Republican Leader Knowland of California and Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Support Reported On Refugee Plan

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP) — Republican senators said Saturday they have state department support for a proposed amendment to President Eisenhower's refugee program which would make it possible for up to 100,000 Egyptian Jews to enter this country.

The immigration proposals submitted to congress by Eisenhower last January include a provision to make 50,000 refugees from communist countries annually.

Sen. Clifford Case, R.-N. J., and Sen. James Eastland, D.-Miss., said they will introduce an amendment Wednesday which would increase the number of refugees from areas other than Cuba that are communist-dominated to 100,000.

Their purpose, they have explained, is to open the way for the admission of Egyptian Jews who have fled from what the senators called "persecution by the Egyptian government."

DOES SCIENCE PROVE THE BIBLE WRONG?

Some people are convinced that it does.

They read in the Bible, for example, that the stars are fixed in the "firmament" of the world like lanterns, which is the way they appeared to the unscientific eyes of the authors of Genesis.

Low scientific knowledge proves that stars are incandescent bodies moving in space.

Although willing to acknowledge that God created the universe, these scientific-minded folks refuse to believe the Biblical account in which apparently it all took place in six days. Also, they contend that the scientific evidences of evolution appear to contradict the Bible in this instance.

As far as Catholics are concerned, there can be no real conflict between scientific truth and religious truth. From the time of Moses down to the present day, science has opened the doors to many of the earth's physical secrets—including in our own time, the fantastic source of atomic energy. There will undoubtedly occur, in the foreseeable future, even more revolutionary discoveries. But the fact remains that science has yet to produce any evidence that contradicts the basic truths of Holy Scripture.

The Bible, to begin with, is a book of religion—not a scientific textbook. The Book of Genesis should be regarded, therefore, not as a scientific explanation of the universe and the earth, but as an exposition of certain divine truths. These include such matters as the creation of all things... the creation of man as the object of God's special providence... the unity of the human race... the loss of man's original state of blessedness through original sin... God's promise and plan of redemption.

In writing of these things, the authors of the Old Testament were divinely protected against error. God did not, however, hand over them and dictate what they wrote. Their writings, therefore, while recording basic truths, are clothed in language forms common to their primitive time, and are influenced by cultural and scientific concepts far less enlightened than our own.

A correct appraisal of the Book of Genesis, and the history of Creation, requires an understanding of the meanings which the Old Testament authors intended to convey, and an appreciation of the language forms, philosophy and mores of their times. An interesting pamphlet explaining these things, and detailing the doctrine of the age-old Catholic Church concerning Creation, will be sent free, in a plain wrapper, on your request. Nobody will call on you. Write today for Pamphlet No. KC-48.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

There never has been a generation of youth that did not trouble the elders. "It was not like that in the olden time," is the phrase of the older generations and this one is no different.

In the usual normal family in this country, the cause of the irritation is something the young ones cannot understand. They were born into a world of cars, telephones, radio, and television, planes and miracle machines. To their parents these wonders of our age are still sources of wonder and fear.

To the young people they are as ordinary as the wheelbarrow used to be to their fathers and mothers. It is almost beyond us to think of a time when a wheelbarrow was a wonderful tool but there was a time when this contraption of the "allfather" was at the bottom of much of the trouble parents have or believe they have, with their adolescent boys and girls.

Driving a car, using any kind of a motor, can be dangerous, but if the driver knows what he is doing, there is little danger in his using the speedy machine. Instead of worrying about the danger to the boys and girls, our best way to protect them in their use of these modern things is to educate them in their construction, purpose and management.

Sooner or later they must come to where they must use them. The time to learn is in the early years, and the place of learning is in the secondary school. It is unwise for parents to attempt teaching their adolescent children the ways of a machine. That should be left to the experts.

It is for this reason we advocate the General Secondary School rather than the specialized one. All young people should learn all they can about the use of machines. The house is equipped with them. Washers, generators, freezers, dishwashers, vacuum cleaners, all are ordinary equipment for the new houses but many are at home on their farm north of Rupert.

Preliminary Survey Made For Highway Route Here for the only one per cent of the nation's roads, they will carry 15 per cent of all the traffic.

In addition to the 4,000 miles of road in the United States, there are 17,673 miles of road which qualify for federal aid. The 17,673 miles of road comprise only 19 per cent of the 3,335,000 miles of road in the United States. However, they handle 80 per cent of all of the traffic, he said.

Under the new percentage of public law 627 last July, even though the federal government recognized that the Interstate System was the backbone of the nation's highways, the amounts appropriated as federal aid to the states for the Interstate System were reduced to keep pace with increases in traffic. Jump aid.

Nothing could be done for the many miles of roads that were built for the "horse and buggy" days, he said.

Highways, he explained, are rated from 100 per cent in perfect down to 0 per cent if unusable. If determined to be unusable, the roads are in poor condition. Safety, surface width, stopping sight distance, drainage, and other factors are taken into consideration.

The construction of federal highways is financed by the federal government paying 80 per cent of the cost, providing a state to spend more of "Title 23" money, the federal government's money, and the state's money. Many of the states have a rating of 63 or During cold winter months, Mrs. Cutler built the fireplace, a plaster-board fireplace with a bright, red electric light bulb "fire" burning in the grate. The fireplace was turned to ash.

Mrs. Cutler built the fireplace with the odds and ends of plaster-board, a little paint and a few nails. The fireplace was decorated with the children seated on small, first-grade-size red chairs and a small, first-grade-size red table in front of the fireplace when they are cold.

Mrs. Cutler says, "Well—'Wendy' books cover the four walls of the room above the blackboard, and a fox is the center of the room like and real by the addition of books. The whiskers for 'Dre' Fox are borrowed from the children. But it does give the fox a more realistic appearance."

Many first-grade classrooms have clouds of chickens. But the Holladay School has a room full of chickens with red feathers fastened to them.

"Some instructors hold that a teacher should not personate the animals. I don't agree. I believe that if there are any children in the class who talk and tell them the children can talk to themselves. Mrs. Cutler says.

All seasons of the year and holidays are celebrated in a different manner. At Halloween a real life-size witch stands in the classroom and the children are dressed as Mrs. Cutler makes a life-like model of Santa Claus.

"I encourage her talent for building-papier-mache and other models. Mrs. Cutler builds musical instruments. She builds a guitar, a guitar, other than a few chords, she has even the built last summer during the summer.

Mrs. Cutler says she plans to continue her teaching for many more years. As she was preparing to close the school for the year, she said, "I would like to wander in. 'What do you want girls?' Mrs. Cutler asked, and the girls answered, 'We want you!'

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

The 60th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. George Ward south of TWIN FALLS last Sunday took on the appearance of a major operation. More than 500 guests attended the open-house for the couple and automobiles were so thick, parking became a major problem. But the Wards were prepared for such an eventuality. Plans were made well in advance for the potential traffic jam and parking space was provided. Just like on a commercial parking lot, guests were given parking tickets, and to reclaim their cars, they had to present stubs from the tickets to parking lot attendants. Then their automobiles were delivered to them at the door of the Ward home.

Mrs. Ward planned all the details of the celebration herself, spending the better part of six weeks in making arrangements. Robert Wallace, Sacramento, Calif., was in charge of the parking lot and Mrs. Ward's friends were the lot attendants. Mrs. Ward expected a crowd and that's what she got. She prepared 500 open-face sandwiches and prepared 1,000 rose-shaped mints in blue, gold and white.

During the open house she was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Grace Kibben, Pocatello, and Mrs. Lucille Priber, Sacramento. Twelve women helped serve and worked in the kitchen. Mr. and Mrs. Ward have lived here for 44 years, coming to Twin Falls from ALAMO. Mrs. Ward says her great-grandmother came with one of the early Mormon migrations.

Mrs. Harold Brown, 44, left, and her husband, Mr. Harold Brown, 46, right, are seen in Burley recently prior to leaving for Thailand with her husband. Mrs. Brown is the daughter of Mrs. Martha Craven, Burley, left, her daughter, Elizabeth Brown, and her grandmother, Mrs. Lucia Smith, Burley. (Blatt photo-engraving)

There may be some people who don't recognize Mrs. Brown by her married name but there are bound to be many who remember Norma Craven who was graduated from Burley high school in 1914. After she was graduated from high school she worked in Ogden, Utah, for a short time and then entered nursing training at the Salt Lake City LDS hospital. She was graduated from nursing school in 1917 and the following year received a bachelor degree from the University of Utah. Then she did graduate work in operating room technique at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, Md.

Returning to Salt Lake City in 1920, she met Mr. Harold Brown, who was then a student at the University of Utah. They were married in 1921 and moved to Twin Falls in 1922.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

BY W. A. MACARTHUR
(Pastor, First Methodist Church)

A few days ago a little folder came into my hands describing the lives of a small group of people who have established for themselves a rigidly disciplined routine. In reading the folder I became aware of the power of the discipline and the power of the discipline of this group will help to explain.

First, they determine to seek for themselves the highest New Testament standard. Second, they seek to promote the highest New Testament standard of Christian experience and life among others by daily intercessory prayer for their salvation; by a daily witness for Christ in their presence; and an intelligent effort to win the best of the best literature of devotion. Third, they pray which is Christ; by offering them the daily, patient, continuous, disinterested fellowship of the loving, abiding attention of the soul to God.

"A Disciplined Life"

One may expect, essentially, intensely, and transform the consciousness so as to create within the soul the true Christian life.

By the personal discipline of obedience, simplicity, humility, frugality, charity and truthfulness, one places himself in such a position that the power of Christ may be released through his person. By sacrificial devotion to the highest human values inhering in the sense of the sacredness of the individual, and an unselfish devotion to those causes which have these human values as their primary concern, the kingdom of God can become a reality here on earth.

Thus, they seek first the Kingdom of God, not merely in their own lives, but in the life of the world. Fourth, they acknowledge the power of Christ in the presence of wherever it exists as the Body of Christ, and so apex and act as members of that Body, that it is easier for others to recognize their witness and thus be led by that witness into the fellowship of the church.

Fifth, they are guided in the meaning and fulfillment of their duties by a recognition of the validity and authority of centuries of Christian experience, namely that of faithful witness through regular periods of prayer. This is accomplished by setting aside each day an ample time for prayer, a minimum of ONE HALF HOUR a day.

Now, as I read this folder, cover, I began to measure myself by this "yardstick" and I must honestly confess that I found myself wanting. I so often fall short of the minimum requirements of a "disciplined life." It is so easy to "crowd" our lives with unimportant duties and non-essential tasks, that we have undone the very thing that would give us power and strength to accomplish more quickly and far better the essential perfections of our lives. It was a shocking and terrifying experience for me to recognize, as a minister, that I have not disciplined myself effectively to do the very thing I am continually preaching to others about.

How many of us are "lagged out" because of the time because we are literally burning up our energies in things that do not really matter eternally. Let this be a call to retreat with J. J. F. W. A. R. C. M. L. The St. Lawrence river is miles long.

Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer

In a continuing effort for EQUITY and UNIFORMITY in assessed values, adjustment of LOT VALUATIONS will be noted on your copy of 1957 Taxpayer's Statement received by you in many of Twin Falls City sub-divisions.

Using as a BASE the properly assessed residential lot values on a front foot basis that have existed for several years in areas adjacent to the city center, adjustment of assessed lot valuations is necessary for equity in lot valuations because of the general trend in recent years creating higher residential values in the now desirable subdivisions in and near the outskirts of the city.

The first step in the derivation of lot values is the analysis of recent county deed records which reflect the consideration of the sale either in money or by the Internal Revenue Stamps attached to the deed conveying property.

After collecting all available data, meetings and interviews have been held in my office with REALTORS, LOAN COMPANY OFFICIALS and scores of interested taxpayers to verify and collect any additional information they may have concerning lot values.

Official records were examined to acquire information relative to zoning and other ordinances that affect lot values and improvements such as CURBING, PAVING, SEWERS, DETRIMENTAL HAZARDS, etc.

Factors based on existing improvements were applied to ADD or DEDUCT from the base front foot value. The unanimous consensus of opinions derived from the meetings and interviews established the policy used in adjusting lot values to an equitable status.

It is my duty as your assessor and the obligation of my deputies to place uniform and equitable assessed valuations on all Real and Personal Property to the best of our ability. As human beings we are not infallible to making mistakes and this office stands ready at all times to correct any error which might be made on our part.

If you sincerely feel that you have a JUST and REASONABLE complaint to make regarding your ASSESSED VALUATIONS you should in all fairness make that complaint NOW and not when you get your tax notice that will be mailed to you in November of this year.

It is also your privilege, if you wish, to appeal to the board of county commissioners, sitting as a board of equalization beginning the fourth Monday in June with any complaint regarding the assessed valuation of your property.

This is the thought I would like for you to remember: YOUR COUNTY ASSESSOR DOES NOT LEVY TAXES! The duty of regulating the amount of tax you will pay is the responsibility of the men and women you elect to represent you on the city councils, the school boards, the boards of county commissioners and the boards of any other special districts.

When the assessor places a value on your property, neither he nor any other person knows the amount of taxes you will pay, and whether your taxes go up or down depends on the amount of money which your various taxing units decide is necessary to conduct your schools, cities, and other forms of local government.

In Twin Falls County every effort has and will continue to be made to create more and better uniformity in assessed valuations. This, in the spirit of fairness to all taxpayers must necessarily be done.

Research Projects Aid Potato Growers

Idaho potato growers are receiving more information on their industry than ever before, says Robert Colner, Twin Falls, president of the Idaho Potato Producers association. The group is conducting a planning study of Idaho potato research projects in cooperation with the Idaho Advertising Commission, the University of Idaho agricultural extension service and the federal government. Data, Research Puts Idaho Spud Men In Top Spot, Reports Producer Chief

Idaho potato growers are in the best position they have ever been in as having available information on their industry, says Robert Colner, Twin Falls, president of the Idaho Potato Producers association. of production study to determine the most efficient and effective methods of raising potatoes in Idaho.

A third project consists of research to develop top quality foundation seed for Idaho potatoes. The program is financed jointly by the advertising tax and the university.

Further research is being carried on at the university to develop the best possible method of checking the spread of potato leaf roll virus. In addition to these projects, the IPPA started the first machine in 1934 on the practicality of installing Idaho potatoes.

This research led to development of machines to stamp "Grown in Idaho" on the state's potatoes. The IPPA purchased the first machine in November of 1935 and was instrumental in its adoption here by carrying on a series of demonstrations in Idaho potato houses.

At Monday's Idaho advertising commission meeting, the IPPA was given the go-ahead on three more potato research projects, Colner says.

The first of these, a study on the effects of washing as a factor in mechanical injury, sprouting and appearance of Idaho russets, is slated to begin in 1938. The study also will cover bruising and other cleaning methods.

Tentative plans for the project call that potatoes of uniform quality will be run over various types of washers, then stored. One group will be stored at 70 degrees and the other at 40 degrees.

After two weeks, half of the potatoes will be removed and examined for injury, rot and general appearance. The remaining potatoes will undergo similar examinations at two-week intervals.

A study of consumer acceptance of Idaho potatoes in retail markets, the second new project, will start in July, Colner says.

The tentative outline for this project is to conduct research on the behavior of the consumer. The contract was awarded Monday at a meeting in Boise.

Under the original agreement had been made, the IPPA embarked on the research project, it is now underway with the cooperation of the University of Idaho agricultural extension service and a fourth was in conjunction with the federal government.

The federal project called for the producers group to supply potatoes to a study on the effect of irradiation on stored potatoes.

After being irradiated at the national testing reactor at Arco, the potatoes were shipped to Cornell University and the University of Maryland for study.

Another project, in cooperation with the state university, is a cost

Livestock for Idaho Breaks Mark in 1936

BOISE, May 4.—Production of meat animals on farms and ranches in Idaho in 1936 totaled 532,170,000 pounds, according to the USDA crop reporting service for Idaho.

This is the total production of cattle and calves, sheep and lambs—a new record and three per cent greater than the 1935 output of 515,500,000 pounds.

Livestock production of cattle and calves was at a new record and accounted for 78 per cent of the total production compared to 77 per cent in 1935. Sheep and lamb production was 20 per cent below the record production of 144,300,000 pounds estimated in 1937.

Sheep and lamb production accounted for 16 per cent of the total compared to 17 per cent in 1935. Live hog production in 1936 was 35,261,000 pounds compared to 33,398,000 for 1935 and 170,150,000 for the record year 1937.

United States farm production of meat animals in 1936 totaled 493 billion pounds live-weight, 3 per cent less than the record 498 billion pounds produced in 1935. Cattle and sheep production amounted to 34 per cent of the total farm production of meat animals in 1936, with hogs furnishing 12 per cent, and the remaining 3 per cent coming from sheep and lambs.

In 1935, cattle and calves represented 57 per cent of the total; hogs, 40 per cent; and sheep and lambs, 3 per cent. Production represents actual live weight produced on farms and ranches in each state during the calendar year and equals weight of marketable and farm slaughter, less inappreciable plus or minus inventory changes during the year.

Gross income in Idaho (cash receipts plus value of home consumption) from meat animals is estimated at $9,740,000, compared with $8,612,000 in 1935. For the entire United States gross income from meat animals amounted to $5 billion dollars in 1936, only slightly higher than $4.8 billion dollar income of 1935.

Trees Donated by Claremont Grange

BURLEY, May 4.—The Claremont Grange at its meeting this week decided to contribute trees to the newly landscaped grounds of Declo and Butte high schools.

The home economics committee, under the direction of Mrs. Max Burton, presented the program, with pupils from the third grade of the Sprague school under the direction of Mrs. Anna Johnson performing on the chimes. Mrs. John Burton maintained with two numbers on the piano.

Lincoln Range Grass Seedings Stand Good Chance of Survival

SHOSHONE, May 4.—Range grass seedings made last fall in the Wood River-Soll Commission District have an excellent chance for success in spite of rather severe drought in some places.

The grass is up and the kill of sagebrush is exceptionally good. J. Boyd Price, soil conservationist, and Harry Handy, bureau of land management official, reported.

More than 2,000 acres of range-land were plowed and seeded to preseeded wheatgrass, Siberian wheatgrass and mandarin rye-grass in the Wood River district last year.

Chief of the district, David Perry, reported that the seedlings are doing well. Perry, Speedy and Ralph Ryle, Jr., have seed created wheatgrass.

Perry and David Perry, Jr., have planted trials of mandarin rye-grass, which is adapted for extremely arid areas.

Mont Johnson, Richfield, has seeded some Siberian and created wheatgrass and last fall fertilized old seedlings of created wheatgrass.

He's Called Stock Sales for 48 Years

Col. E. O. Walter, Filer, has been auctioneer for cattle, sheep, swine, wool and other sales in Idaho and 19 other states for the past 48 years. Filer Auctioneer, Nation's Oldest in Point of Service, Near 50-Year Mark

FILER, May 4.—Now in his 48th year of auctioneering, Col. Earl O. Walter, Filer, reports he is nearing 50 years but has no desire to retire when that goal is attained.

Walter, the oldest sheep auctioneer in years of service in the United States, has conducted sales in 20 states, from Virginia to Washington, and has been the auctioneer at the sale of several sheep and cows for record high prices.

He sold the highest priced Suffolk ram lamb in the nation for $2,500—also auctioned at the sale of a $2,500 ram and auctioned off the highest priced purebred dairy cow ever sold in the West for $7,500.

Although he has "going astir" business and rarely sells at farm sales now, Walter still averages about the sales per month and occasionally conducts two or three times that number.

Walter reports he has always been interested in livestock and even helped stock men when he was a boy. In 1912, at the age of 20, he conducted the first sale in Ohio.

The following year he moved to Filer, bringing some of the top Percheron horses to this area and going into farming to supplement his auctioneering.

In 1912 he was instrumental in forming the first state Holstein association and was elected first secretary.

He has been auctioneer at the majority of the state's purebred sheep and cattle sales for the past 40 years and has auctioned at 41 or

Area Surveys Prepared by Land Bureau

SHOSHONE, May 4.—A bureau of land management crew is working in the Star Lake, Kimama and Minidoka areas locating section corners for control in making range surveys.

The surveys will be conducted this spring, to determine the livestock carrying capacity of the areas. They will be the kind of range to quality and quantity and type of vegetation.

Bureau officials also report the length of time sheep will be permitted to graze on the range this spring will be determined somewhat by the weather.

If there is enough rain in the next few days to give more growth range grass, sheep will be permitted to stay on the range up to the middle of June. Otherwise the sheep will be moved to the hills as soon as shearing is done.

At the present time a number of sheep are busy. There is one in the Pagani area near Carey; one in the Star Lake, 12 miles north of Kimama; and one at Star Lake in the southeast section of Lincoln county.

Genuine Pfister HYBRID SEED CORN

Produced 148 Bu. Per Acre

Pictured at left is Mr. Percy Briggs, 506 Balsam St., Moses Lake, Washington. Here is what Mr. Briggs has to say about the performance of P.A.G. Hybrids:

"Genuine Pfister Hybrid have given me high yields of quality grain. This year on 27 acres, I produced 148 bushels of No. 2 shelled corn per acre.

By using an adapted variety of Genuine Pfister Hybrids, early harvesting during the middle of October was possible, thus reducing field loss. Standability in the field was the best I have ever seen and the corn picked well."

Demonstration Agents Keeping Pace With Changing Times, Styles in U.S.

Home demonstration agents, themselves, as well as their activities, keep pace with the changing times and styles, Florence Schultz, Twin Falls county home demonstration agent.

Miss Schultz, pointing to local observance of Home Demonstration week which ended Saturday, noted "we can better understand the modern role of the home demonstration agent if we take a quick glance backward to yesterday and then wind our way up the road to the scene of today."

The pioneer home demonstration agents of the 1910-1917 era worked among their own people, she pointed out. Most of them were farm-raised. Many had been rural school teachers. They were employed to demonstrate home economics, poultry raising and other forms of women's work.

Programs were based on available research mostly in the field of nutrition. They carried information from the college out to the farm woman. They did this usually by horse and buggy, traveling long distances over poor roads.

The home demonstration agent appeared a modern woman, Miss Schultz says. Naturally, she wore her skirts to the floor, wore high bone collars, and very large hats, which were the styles of that period.

The year 1914 was a momentous one in extension work. That was the year that congress passed the Smith-Lever act. The farmers of the United States were living peacefully, and their wives were learning home-making facts from the home demonstration agent, Miss Schultz says.

"Suddenly the needs and sudden demand for food ended the depression for American farmers. By Dec. 7, 1914, we were at war again. Once again the efforts of the farm family were directed toward growing food to win the war. The home demonstration agent was called upon to help with nutrition problems. Food was rationed. Some of you were members of nutrition committees. The 'basic 7' was emphasized through the country, she recalls.

ing times. Skirts were shortened to knee length, hair was worn long, and high top shoes were worn with black high daytime stockings.

Miss Schultz says the 1920s started as a period of rationing. Homemakers enjoyed a little more income for family living. They were interested in making new clothes, they wanted to help with pattern-making, dress forms and millinery. They wanted to fix up their homes and they asked for help on kitchen improvements.

Styles in clothing changed. By the late 1920s women had reduced the ruffles of their garments by one-half. Flared colored stockings, bobbed hair, and close fitting hats that almost covered the eyes were in style. Costumes had lowered waistlines and were shapeless.

Then came the depression. She says by 1929 there was little cash income on the farm. People were urged to "eat it up," "wear it out," and "make it do." The home agent focused her attention upon agriculture as a mode of life and upon the satisfaction of rural life aside from the financial returns from farming. There was a revival of home industries. The mattress program helped to improve living and to reduce the overabundance of cotton.

When the stock market crashed one in extension work. That was the year that congress passed the Smith-Lever act. The farmers of the United States were living peacefully, and their wives were learning home-making facts from the home demonstration agent, Miss Schultz says.

Hours Are Listed For Aid Director

SHOSHONE, May 4.—Theo Bird, Blaine-Johnson county public assistance director, will be in ShosHONE the first Wednesday morning of each month.

She states that she will make home visits in the area on Wednesday afternoon. Anyone wishing to see her may contact her at Box 835, Hailer.

Miss Bird is accepting applications for a stenographer, to begin work about the end of May.

her shels, but focuses the different subjects she is teaching on one or two major objectives of programs. These subjects tie into the longtime extension program planned by the people in the county, says Miss Schultz.

Now we have the basic dress ensemble or suit which demonstrates the possibility of fewer clothes—a unified wardrobe which simplifies the clothing storage problem.

"The task of the extension service has just begun," she concludes. "We are in the distance a long winding road, and see many new goals yet to be attained. But the underlying common purpose, the well-being of the family, has kept us on the road and points the direction we are to take. It was the same in 1910, today, 1936 and it will be the same tomorrow."

The home demonstration agent has a "built-in information program" so that she does not scatter

Telephone No. 10,000 Placed in Service in Twin Falls

The 10,000th telephone in Twin Falls was placed in service last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Klauz, 911 Mountain View drive. This marks an increase in phone service here of 7,000 sets in the past 27 years. Larry Hodges, Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company installer, is shown connecting the ivory set. Jungle of Cable Being Installed in New Building

Western Electric workers face what looks to be an impossible task of switching equipment will be in their proper place within a few days. The building will include about 32,000 feet of this cable. The two-story annexation will include all facilities for dial and manual operation. (Staff photo-entourage)

Growth of Twin Falls and Telephone Company Run Parallel Through Years

The growth of Twin Falls can be shown easily through the expansion of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company here, but it is hard to tell which is expanding the first and the last.

Since 1904 when the first telephone company was started here, switchboards repeatedly have been expanded to meet the demand for service. When the city catches up, phone facilities are enlarged again. The Twin Falls station is now going through an expansion period, which again will have a greater capacity than the city can use.

Last week the company connected the 10,000th phone in Twin Falls. This figure includes all extensions but excludes out-of-town phone for every two and one-fourth persons. The figure is far above the 50 subscribers with which the first telephone system, boasting a magnet switchboard, opened an office in the Pacific bank building in 1904. By late 1905 it had grown into a company that served 741 subscribers and was purchased by the Rocky Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company.

By 1910, the city population had grown to 2,534. Shortly after 1920, Mountain States moved the office to a 30-foot building next to the Elks building on Shoshone street north. Later it added 75 feet to the building to accommodate the increasing demand for service.

In 1920 the number of subscribers grew to 2,800 but the depression trimmed the figure to 2,400. This first building, originally designed for telephone company use was put into service in May, 1948. It is the building on Shoshone street which is being replaced with the new addition.

During the past months, the capacity of the older plant has nearly been overtaxed as shown by a recent survey taken during a five day period. During that time the local office processed 1,043 long distance calls per day. At the same time, the number of local calls averaged 64,800 daily.

When the new building is put into service, a new dial system, boasting 250 tons of the most modern equipment, also will be put to use.

The two-story annexation will include all the facilities for dial and manual operation. All toll and long distance calls originating in all of Magic Valley towns will be processed through the Twin Falls switchboard. Outlying communities will have fully automatic stations that will serve them by dial without any operator in the middle.

Keeping in mind facilities may have to be expanded in the future, the new building's foundation was laid strong enough to support two more stories. In addition, the rear wall is "flexible," meaning it can be knocked out and additional space added to the rear.

Western Electric has sent in a company of about 35 highly trained men to supervise and install the new equipment. N. E. Howard is project supervisor.

Howard reports the working crew is constantly being increased through hiring local men. Including the original group sent here by Western Electric, he estimates the total number of workers soon will amount to about 50.

As all the men being hired locally are inexperienced, they are receiving what Howard calls "on the job training and classes." One classroom is being used as a classroom, where men are being taught what to do and how to do it. These lessons are emphasized by letting the students install the different equipment as they learn about it. Although they are being hired specifically for this job, Howard says they will be kept on the payroll when the local expansion is completed.

PTA to Meet

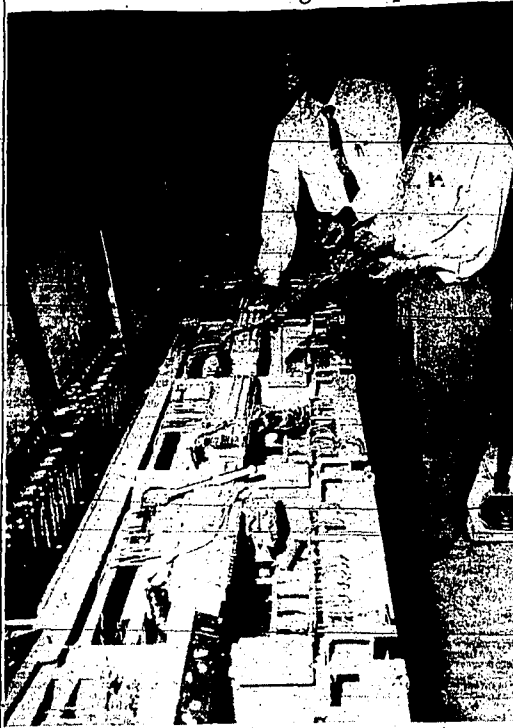

BLISS, May 4.—The PTA will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the school to hear a discussion on "Shall the Rod Be Spared in School."

Taking part will be Mrs. Walter Kirtley, Mrs. Greg Richter, Rupt. Dee Keller and Dudley Carson. Reports will be given on the PTA convention by Mrs. Calvin Burgess, Mrs. W. W. Henderson and Mrs. Frank Myers.

The equipment is deliberately being left out until the construction is finished—and its accompanying duty. Howard says after construction is completed the floors in the building will be "damp swept" constantly to prevent dust from collecting.

At present, Western Electric has completed between 5 and 10 percent of the installation. As this rate, everything will be ready for operation in October. Although an 8-4 conversion date was set earlier, company officials are now reluctant to make it a concrete date.

Switchboard Wiring Is Complex

G. D. Thornton, left, and R. C. Reese, job supervisors for Western Electric, hold portion of the complex wiring which is being installed in the toll switchboard in the new Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company building. Through these modern, lower switchboards will pass all toll and long distance phone calls originating in Magic Valley. (Staff photo-entourage)

Mothers Take to Wheels for "Break"

'Housewives on Wheels' Take Weekly Skating Lessons to Relax, Have Fun

Roller skating has gained a Parrott explains the idea for the during junior high days. But all around among the housewives of Twin Falls is indicated each Thursday afternoon session first came to him after several housewives had voiced an interest in skating but were too shy to join in on the skating during the open nights. He said the idea caught on with the first session to be held as about 12 mothers showed up. Since that time the number attending gradually has grown, but there still is room for many more.

The idea has partially answered the question of interesting adults in roller skating. "Most of the teenagers that skate through high school, give it up after they get married," he explains. "After they get their homes running smoothly they start thinking about skating again but are afraid they might be too rusty after the lay-off so they stay away."

Most of the women attending Thursday evening sessions, Parrott stated. Many had not been on skates for several years, some since they put away their skates in high school.

Cartoonist Is Escapee From Big City Life

Regular weekly readers in the home of Fred Neher, cartoonist transplanted from New York City to Boulder, Colo., involve criticism of the artist's work by his family. Shown here are Neher, Mrs. Neher and the couple's sons, Jim and Fred. Neher says his family is a "tough bunch" to get a laugh from but after ideas have had the acid test, they're good. (Staff engraving)

Cartoonist of Feature in Times-News Finally Reconciles Family, Work Life

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the story of the daily routine of Fred Neher, creator of "Life's Like That," including such features as "Mr. Pip's Diary," "Hi-Treena," "Wilt-Tum," "Us Moderns" and "Some Funksies," which appear in the Times-News.

By FRED NEHER

After 34 years, I think I have licked the problem of trying to live a normal family life and still be a cartoonist. Perhaps, the biggest difficulty I have met is making myself stick to a schedule.

The hardest part, I find, is getting in the groove Monday morning after a pleasant Sunday. On Monday morning at about 6:30 a.m., I get up by the door of my studio and reach out and type me, and by evening I try to finish four panels. Then, on Tuesday, I draw two more, and on Wednesday morning, I read my mail and answer all letters.

"Tuesday is idea day. Over a period of years, I have trained myself to make notes during the week, and on Thursday, like an old mobster, I set on them and try to hatch out enough ideas for the next week.

On Friday I begin my Sunday page and by Saturday noon, if all goes well, another week's work has been turned out.

Fred Neher, who draws "Life's Like That" for the Times-News and other newspapers, finds western life satisfactory. Here, the cartoonist, poses with one of the hobbies he enjoys at his home in Boulder, Colo. (Staff engraving)

Idea—I wish I knew where they came from. I have tried some of them, and some do get ideas. I believe they are around us all the time, and if one is looking for them, he is bound to come up with something. Out mowing the lawn, clearing the hen house, giving to the postoffice, attending a football game and even getting a little money sometimes and listening in on a conversation will start a germ of an idea.

By Thursday night, I try to have from 30 to 40 ideas done in rough form. Each week I draw 15 ideas. "That leaves me a surplus and by now I have a stack nearly a foot high. Each week I go over these trying to work out another snafu with the ones I feel are not yet good enough to be used. The other day I figured I had used over 16,000 ideas since starting my daily and Sunday cartoon. That's a mass of ideas.

papers using my cartoons. Getting acquainted with the editors and the readers, knowing what they are talking and thinking about, gives me added material for my cartoons.

I was born in 1923 and raised in Nappanee, Ind. After being graduated from high school in 1941, I attended the Academy of Fine Arts in Chicago. Shortly after graduation, I went to work, doing background and lettering on "Doo-Dads," a popular strip of the day by Arch Dale.

Several years of work on this strip gave me enough experience to attempt my own strip, "Old Wally," a radio strip. A golf strip, "Layton MacDuff," came next, followed by "Country Movies," an animal strip and "Just Like Us," a kid strip, which appeared in the first issue of "Pamper" magazine and thereafter for four years. From 1930 to 1934, I freelanced through 40 markets, including "Punch." In 1934, Condé syndicate launched "Life's Like That."

After living and working in New York City for 20 years, I took Dr. Greer's advice and in 1951 headed for the hills of Colorado-Boulder to be exact. One week, I teach a two-hour course in cartooning at University of Colorado. I always find three or four students of real ability. For hobbies, I play golf, work in the garden and, in the summer, manage the Boulder Merchants basketball team.

My studio is located at home on the first floor looking out on the mountains. It is away from most of the traffic and makes a great place to work. Like in many offices, I too have my coffee break; but I am luckier than most people since I have a well-trained wife who brings me coffee several times a day.

Services Held for Price R. Howard

BURLEY, May 4—Funeral services were held Thursday at the Christian church for Price R. Howard with Rev. Emil Helseth officiating.

Mrs. Lloyd Cox was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Shirley Easton. Pallbearers were David Penstemaker, Richard Croeland, Earl Bell, Perry Wheland, Jay Peacock and Walter Baker.

Flowers were carried by Darlene Penstemaker, Ruby Critchfield, Brenda Bell, Janet Cox, Susan Boyles and Lorna Rasmussen. Concluding rites were held at Pleasant View cemetery.

from the national headquarters of the Florida Telephone Delivery service, saying that they were not amused by the cartoon and that no teenager would pass up a camellia for a hot dog.

Idea for "Mrs. Pip's Diary" came from the poems around my house—a lot of them are my wife, Frances, in action. I watch my own two boys, Jim and Fred, for "Hi-Treena," my teen-age cartoon. I try to keep "Wilt-Tum," the average American boy, getting into things that all boys seem to enjoy—from pre-fretting their fashions to borrowing a cookie from the cookie jar. Idea for "Us Moderns" are from the mouths of grownups, posing the characters in a crib brings out the humor. A nice thing about babies is that they are non-competitive; they are here to stay and will always furnish material for my drawings. My two boys say I must eyeball up at the local university.

"Mister, this is the LOWEST PRICED LUBRICANT ON THE MARKET!"

LUBRIPLATE THE MODERN LUBRICANT

"Now, I don't mean purchase price. LUBRIPLATE probably costs a lot more per pound than the grease you are now using... what I'm getting at is the over all costs.

"LUBRIPLATE lasts longer... yes it does. You see the film is tougher... it stands up longer. A lot of fellows who use LUBRIPLATE tell me they have been able to stretch their lubrication schedules.

"But the big thing is LUBRIPLATE arrests progressive wear and prevents rust and corrosion. Sure you save on parts replacement and machine shutdown... and as to lubrication... LUBRIPLATE saves on power. All you can put on a bearing. Of course it lubricates. My two boys say I must eyeball up at the local university.

Nevada Court Rules Gaming Board Wrong

CARSON CITY, Nev., May 4—The Nevada supreme court ruled Friday that the Nevada tax commission erred in revoking the gambling license held by the Thunderbird hotel in Las Vegas.

But at the same time, the high court held that gamblers accused by the state of wrongdoing are not entitled to continue operating under the protection of court injunctions while they appeal tax commission rulings to the court.

Support Arguments

The supreme court said it would appear that its decision lends support to arguments by attorneys for Thunderbird that the tax commission's order should have been stayed pending the appeal.

"Without a stay," the opinion said, "substantial damages may well be suffered before an administrative wrong has been judicially righted."

Legislature Responsibility

"However, the balancing of private interest against public interest in such matters as this remains the legislative responsibility."

The tax commission had ruled that Marion Hicks and Clifford Jones, holders of the Thunderbird gambling license, had harbored several interstate of eastern gamblers Jake Lasky and George Bach. The court said evidence indicated a $100,000 loan to the hotel was separate from casino business.
