POT SHOTS

MY DEAR OLD DAD
He's "growing down" as some folks say.

With burden of years from day to day,
His brow bears many a furrowed line,
He's growing old, that Dad of mine,
For the curls and waves of his hair
His shoulders and his step
His hair is white, as white as snow,
But blue eyes sparkle with friendly light,
His hair is warm and his heart is right.

He's old, oh yes, but only in years.
For his spirit soars as the sunset,
Blot! I've been and we'll be again
In knowing a man like my dear old Dad.

Proud as I, to stand by him
As he goes by me when the way
Was dim;
I've found him worthy and just and true,
A prince of men, that Dad of mine.

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—More polite, more discreet, far more suitable, the power of Congress has been reduced to a mere shadow of its former self. It is a sad state of affairs, but it is a fact. The power of Congress has been reduced to a mere shadow of its former self. It is a sad state of affairs, but it is a fact.

Is That So!

Names of Flowers
The names of many flowers have interesting histories. Some plants, for example, are hybrids of the word coming from the Latin language, which means the offspring of a man and a wild boar. Some of the names of flowers are: Arrowroot, The star obtained from the roots of the plant was used by the American Indians to make the poison out of the roots of the plant. PROTEST HAVING ITS EFFECT

While some political observers are inclined to believe public opposition to President Eisenhower's $11.6 billion dollar budget is dying down, there is plenty of evidence to indicate the issue is not dead by any means.

Any radical change in the government's spending program would not be a surprise. It is only reasonable to assume that it would take several years for all the pressure to become effective.

There has been some speculation over the shake-up in the President's official family. Many Republican and conservative contend that it's no mere coincidence several members of the cabinet are stepping out.

Fiscal affairs and administrative policies have more of a bearing on the public than the President's family. According to their way of thinking.

They insist for instance that Secretary of Treasury Humphrey decided to resign because of his opposition to the trend of the Eisenhower administration.

Although he is on the best of terms with the President personally, it has been explained that the secretary did not want to continue in office in view of the fact that current legislation and authorizations for future spending may lead to an unbalanced budget, a possible increase in the public debt and no prospect for a cut in taxes.

All this in itself indicates that the key man in the government's financial operations has not been unmindful of the people's protest. He revealed his apprehension quite some time ago with his observation that we could have depression that "would cut our hair" unless we got our fiscal affairs in order.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson is reported to feel about the same way, despite his apparent attempt to defend the amount of money being spent by our military and naval establishments, which foreign aid and military spending were under fire recently.

Both men apparently feel their usefulness as conservative balance wheels is about over, in view of the President's growing partiality to "modern" Republicanism.

When the President was able to force Vice President Nixon and Sherman Adams to take the stump in defense of official policies, the older and more conservative men apparently felt that it was time to step out.

And that raises another question. If the present administration is going to try to outdo the New Dealers and Fair Dealers in government spending, it is probable this trend toward "modern" Republicanism, the voters will have several scores to settle in the coming elections.

Meanwhile, the millions of American people who are growing tired of shouldering the tax load to support the government's extravagance concealed in the government's spending, should not lose heart.

They should continue to write to their representatives in congress, demanding that "modern" spending be brought under greater control.

There is evidence that the public protest is having its effect, but the voice of the people must persist in its demands to win out in the long run.

MONEY SPENT ABROAD BY U. S. CITIZENS

Not only have there been other forms of assistance which might be considered as a national aid, but also, our soldiers and civilian workers have spent billions from their pay envelopes that fell into the hands of the enemy. The money has been spent in the form of food, clothing, shelter, and other necessities. The money has been spent in the form of food, clothing, shelter, and other necessities.

The principal beneficiaries of American abundance and generosity are the Chinese, the Russians, and the Japanese. Of these three nations, only China is still a solid ally, and she is gradually breaking away from the influence of the United States.

The staggering sums, as well as doubt of the current value of the investment for congressional opposition to some of the same.

"Will you kindly explain to us," asks W.P.I. of New York, "the status of the International Labor Organization, and why the United States is represented in it?"

The ILO is a body of 46 nations, created by the League of Nations. It is supposed to be a body of nations, created by the League of Nations. It is supposed to be a body of nations, created by the League of Nations.

It has no meaning for us because our labor standards are so far above those in other countries that the debate becomes academic. I do not believe in the ILO. It is a body of nations, created by the League of Nations.

Committee Votes To Cut Increase

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—The senate banking committee voted yesterday to scale down the house-approved increase in the direct home-loan program for veterans. It rejected three other moves to spur home buildings for ex-GIs.

The committee voted 7 to 6 for a $6 million dollar increase in the direct loan program. The increase would be used to finance the loan increase approved by the house.

But he didn't. Rain forced cancellation of the observance, which honors the founding of Franklin.

Sen. Homer Capelhart, R., Indianapolis, said the amendment, which would increase the amount of the $6 million dollars would be enough when added to 132 million dollars still available for the program from previous years.

Under the program the veterans administration has been able to obtain loans rather than loan guarantees to private lenders. The program is of use mostly in rural areas where public financing cannot be obtained.

Soviet Offer Raises Hope Of Arms Ban

LONDON, June 15.—The Soviet offer to admit Western inspectors to nuclear test sites was seen by many quarters Saturday as a major step forward in disarmament negotiations. But they pointed out that the offer was not without many details to be clarified. The proposal was put to the UN disarmament committee Friday. Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin suggested a two or three year moratorium on nuclear tests with an international committee under the UN to enforce it.

Zorin said the Soviet union would agree to admit Western inspectors to nuclear test sites. He said the Soviet union would agree to the moratorium on nuclear tests.

The immediate reaction from Western sources was that the Soviet proposal represented an important advance but that it needed to be thought out before the UN could agree to it.

John Moch, French representative to the disarmament committee, said the proposal was not without merit but that it needed to be thought out before the UN could agree to it.

The Western position is that the Soviet proposal is a step forward but that it needs to be thought out before the UN could agree to it.

Senate Probe of Idaho Power Company Has Atmosphere of Trial of Criminals

By PAT MURPHY

(Washington Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 15.—A Senate subcommittee's probe here this week of the Idaho Power company has much of the same atmosphere as a criminal proceeding.

The "prosecuting officer" is the Senate subcommittee, headed by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho. The "defendant" is the Idaho Power company, which is being accused of mismanagement and financial irregularities.

The hearing was held in suite 407 of the Senate office building, a small room that got rather crowded at times, although not with members of Congress. A dozen or more reporters were on hand for what had been promoted in eastern papers as a "show trial."

Also in the audience (in a front row seat) and enjoying the show immensely, was Senator Frank Church, D-Idaho. He is the "prosecuting officer" in this case.

West's Water Outlook Good For This Year

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Reclamation Commissioner W. A. Dethlefsen said Friday continued storms to the West and Southwest seem to assure good supplies of irrigation water for most federal reclamation projects.

In his report to Interior Secretary Dethlefsen said water supply prospects were fair to excellent in most reservoirs full or nearly full in the Pacific Northwest as of June 1.

Soldier, Just Homesick, Is Out of China

HONG KONG, June 15.—An American, captured during the Korean war, returned to Hong Kong Saturday and said it was "just plain homesickness" that made him want to leave China after 2 1/2 years. He was to board ship for the United States Saturday night.

The 31-year-old former GI from Iowa, Mich., was the eighth to come home from the 21 American prisoners of war who refused repatriation after the Korean war. He died in China.

But after he was processed by American officials here, he said, a news conference about his homecoming was set for Sunday.

"I haven't been home for nine years," Fortuna said. "I was homesick for my family and I just plain homesickness that is making me so sick."

Clive's answer

"How do you feel about communism?" That's a loaded question, Fortuna said. "I'd rather not answer that. You guys are getting loaded for me. That's too much."

State Report Is Given for Vital Events

Residents of Magic Valley are healthy, according to statistics released by the Idaho division of public health for February.

In most sections in which county statistics were kept Magic Valley reports were below the state average. There was only one classification in which the area was over the average, marriages and divorces.

Best showing was made in the classification of infant births and deaths. The entire state listed 1,338 births and 60 deaths; infants up to 11 months were counted.

Magic Valley reported 279 births and only four deaths. Births by counties included Blaine, 4; Cassia, 1; Elmore, 4; Gooding, 13; Jerome, 28; Lincoln, 3; Minidoka, 21 and Twin Falls, 2. Four deaths were reported in Blaine, Jerome and Twin Falls counties; the first two reporting one each and Twin Falls two.

There were 33 other deaths listed in the state in February, 13 of which were credited to the Magic Valley counties. Blaine, Cassia, Elmore, Jerome and Minidoka counties reported five deaths each in that month; Gooding, 7; Twin Falls, 2 and Lincoln, 1.

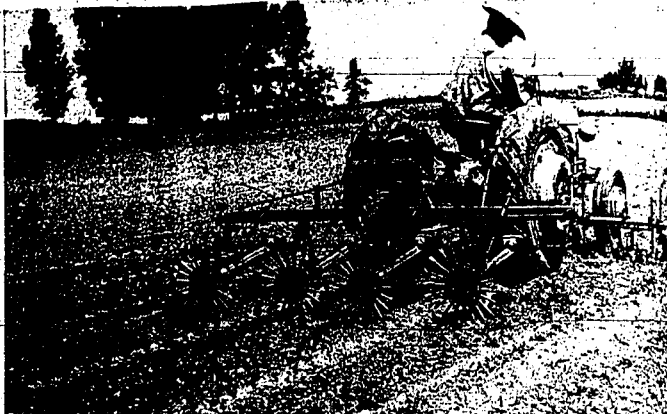

Accidental deaths in Idaho numbered 24, four of which were in this area, one each in Elmore, Gooding, Jerome and Twin Falls counties.

Of the 94 cases of reportable diseases in the state, 115 were listed to Magic Valley. Cassia county led this list with 34, followed by Twin Falls, 23; Blaine, 15; Lincoln, 14; Minidoka, 13; Gooding, 4; Jerome, 4 and Elmore, 2 each and Gooding, 1. The statistics on marriage and divorces show 543 marriages in the state in February to 235 divorces. In Magic Valley there were 31 marriages with Twin Falls county recording 12, followed by Blaine, 11; Lincoln, eight each, Minidoka, three and Jerome and Blaine two each. The statistics on marriage and divorces show 543 marriages in the state in February to 235 divorces. In Magic Valley there were 31 marriages with Twin Falls county recording 12, followed by Blaine, 11; Lincoln, eight each, Minidoka, three and Jerome and Blaine two each.

Bumper Idaho Sugar Beet Crop Taking Shape on 90,000 Acres of State's Land

A bumper Idaho sugar beet crop of record-setting proportions is shaping up on 90,000 acres of farm state land, according to reports from the Idaho sugar industry spokesmen, following completion of the annual spring thinning job.

High optimism is based upon the rapid development of the crop under nearly perfect weather conditions and the increase in acreage allotments established by the United States department of agriculture under new amendments to the sugar act, federal law which regulates the production and marketing of all sugar in the nation.

Idaho acreage was stepped up more than 6,000 acres this year under the new rules which enable domestic sugar producers to share in supplying the growing sugar market.

In 1935, Idaho's sugar beet acreage allotment was 80,000 acres. This year's total was stepped by eight and 12 percent to 86,267 acres, all of which has been planted, according to this week's summary.

Industry spokesmen estimate the acreage increase will be worth an added $2,500,000 cash farm income, over and above the $21,500,000 gross Idaho value placed on the 1935 Idaho sugar beet crop.

In the Magic Valley section of Idaho, the planted acreage increase has amounted to more than 4,500 acres this year over a year ago, according to most reliable figures available. Beets in this part of the state are grown in seven counties, Twin Falls, Cassia, Minidoka, Blaine, Lincoln, Jerome and Gooding. The bulk of these are processed in two Magic Valley factories of the Amalgamated Sugar company at Rupert and Jerome. The balance of the area's crop is shipped to the Layton sugar company's plant at Layton, Utah, for processing.

Early this year, the Rupert and Twin Falls factories completed processing the 1934 crop and reported production of 173 million pounds of sugar from a total of 600,000 tons of beets.

H. A. Klock, Idaho district manager for Amalgamated at Twin Falls said average tonnage of beets harvested vested per acre in 1934 set a new record for Twin Falls and Rupert factory districts. In the former area, comprising parts of Twin Falls, Jerome, Gooding, Lincoln and Cassia counties, sugar beet growers produced an average of 22.5 tons of beets per acre, or a total of 30,000 tons on slightly more than 13,000 acres harvested. The average tonnage per acre in the Rupert district, which includes sections of Cassia, Minidoka, Blaine and Lincoln counties—was 18.4.

In the latter area, Klock said the average was all the more remarkable, since some 7,000 acres of the total 16,000 acres harvested there consisted of new plantings broken out of sugarbeet only two or three years old.

A significant development throughout the Magic Valley production area, according to sugar beet growers and processors, is the growth of spring mechanization stimulated by the new monomerg sugar beet seed.

The monomerg is so-called because it develops into a single plant, rather than the cluster of plants terminated by the multimer seed which has been universally used for many years. With precision planting, the monomerg makes machine thinning of beets a highly successful operation, supplanting the old stop hand-labor which has been traditionally associated with sugar beet field work in the spring.

Extensive field experimentation has shown that machine thinning produces at least as good results as hand work—and at about half the cost in labor and expense. The new technique has been called the second mechanical revolution in the

Dulles Marks 50th Year of Public Career

WASHINGTON, June 15 (UP)—Secretary of State Dulles Saturday observed the 50th anniversary of his start in diplomacy.

His career in foreign affairs began on June 15, 1907, when he attended the second Hague peace conference as a member of the Chinese delegation.

Aides said the 50-year-old Dulles was celebrating the occasion by working as usual. As is his Saturday custom, he planned to remain at home—preparing a speech to be delivered in San Francisco June 26 and getting ready for a congressional committee meeting next week.

Dulles has not spent all these past 50 years in diplomatic work. He also has had a career as an international lawyer.

But periodically throughout his half century of his life he has held a number of important diplomatic assignments under both Republican and Democratic presidents.

He went to the Hague meeting as a member of the Chinese delegation because his grandfather,

No Drugs Yet Discovered to Conquer 'Flu

NEW YORK, June 15 (UP)—Scientists say no drug to stop the 'flu bug once it has taken hold.

Influenza is caused by a virus, just as polio is. Antibiotics and other drugs can kill germs, but they don't touch viruses.

The best defense is a vaccine, which acts specifically against the type of 'flu virus causing an epidemic. Health authorities are getting ready for vaccination programs.

If the current epidemic of Asian 'flu spreads here to any serious degree, it will be a serious disease.

Treat Symptoms If 'flu does strike, doctors treat the fever, the aches and pains, sore throat, cough and other symptoms that 'flu causes. Aspirin and other drugs can reduce fever and relieve aches.

Doctors urge elation to complications from 'flu—pneumonia or other infections caused by bacteria, which hit at the time when 'flu patients are in weakened condition. Antibiotics and sulfa can overcome the bacterial infections. If administered in time, if a serious epidemic hits, medical authorities generally advise using antibiotics from the outset, to prevent the serious complications. Most doctors advise staying in bed a day or two after the fever from 'flu is gone to lessen chances of germ infections.

1918 Recalled Complications such as pneumonia were responsible for many of the 10 million deaths caused by a worldwide 'flu epidemic in 1918.

'Flu is generally a mild, short-lasting illness. But once in a while a particularly virulent or tough type of 'flu virus develops, and it can have devastating effects. The UN world health organization says reports all indicate that the new Asian 'flu virus is causing only a mild form of influenza.

Plants Ahead Of 1957 Auto Sales for U. S.

DETROIT, June 15 (U-P)—More new cars still are rolling from the assembly lines than are moving out of dealers' stocks.

The latest survey of dealer new car inventories will show a substantial upturn in the number of units in warehouses dealer into and out of the factories. Preliminary tabulations indicate the total may have increased as much as 50,000 units during May.

Output High

Because factory output so far this year has averaged slightly more than 570,000 units monthly, the figures indicate over-all retail deliveries continue below expectations. Most recent new car registration figures put the sales average at less than 500,000 units monthly.

The industry's current production rate is slightly below that of last year. A year ago the manufacturers were cutting back assemblies, trying to reduce record-breaking inventories. The effort succeeded—largely through the sacrifice of dealer profit.

So far this year the assembly plants have built about 3,125,000 cars. At this point last year the total was slightly under three million.

GM Volume Down

Indicated output for this year's January-June half now is about 1,000,000 units, with the probable retail sales total slightly under three million. Most of the deficit, both in production and retail deliveries, is represented in General Motors' volume.

While GM's Buick, Cadillac and Oldsmobile divisions have lagged behind last year's volume, Ford and Chrysler have been hitting higher levels to keep the industry overall total ahead of last year's figures.

Not even the most ardent optimists among the industry's executives look for a major upturn in new car sales in the months immediately ahead. There are many, however, who look for a big upsurge in the November-December market. That period will mark the final phase of the industry's 1956 model year.

Educators Finish Week's Sessions

West End Residents Are Asked to Give 125 Pints of Blood at Buhl on Monday

BUHL, June 15—Persons in the west end of Twin Falls county are asked to donate 125 pints of blood to meet the quota at the Red Cross bloodmobile visit from 2 to 6 p.m. Monday at the Buhl Moose hall.

"Only 60 pints were given when the bloodmobile made its last visit in December," says Gene Christofferson, blood chairman for the Buhl chapter. "Buhl must make a good showing in this visit to keep the blood program going," he added.

In the past six months west end residents have received 140 pints of blood through hospitals in Twin Falls, Boise and Jerome. In the armed period, only 60 pints were donated.

The three main functions of the Red Cross program in Buhl are the bloodmobile visit, the swimming and first aid benefits and the home nursing program.

Feature Performers

George and Tommy Hanneford, of the George Hanneford family, will be featured with the Shrine Circus scheduled to appear at Jayco's ballpark Friday and Saturday. Two performances are scheduled daily with matinees starting at 2:15 p.m. and evening shows at 8:15 p.m. (Staff engraving)

Hanneford Family Featured in Shrine Circus Scheduled Here

The George Hanneford family, sponsorship of the Magic Valley present standard bearer of one of the oldest riding families in the Shrine Circus in Magic Valley. Led by George Hanneford, Jr., the family is a tradition in show business and today is in the fifth generation. The act is comprised of George, his wife, Katherine; sons, George, Jr. and Tommy; and daughter, Kay, the youngest of the family.

George Hanneford, Jr., started his show career at the age of 15 in Ireland. In 1935 the family came to America. At that time the act consisted of George, his brother, Freddie; his sister, Elizabeth; and his mother. Since that time, George and his family have appeared with Barnum and Bailey circus, and also spent several seasons at the old New York Hippodrome when it was New York City's greatest showplace.

In 1931 they appeared for a long time in London and Paris and also were featured with the original Clyde Beatty show and with the Hopping Cassidy circus. Today the act features the young Hannefords handling all the difficult and comedy routines, with George and his wife serving as ringmasters. Both boys have been riding since they were 10 years old and sister Kay started at the age of 4. George boasts that neither he nor his children ever held a job outside a circus except when the boys were in the army.

Two performances of the Shrine circus will be given daily, matinees starting at 2:15 p.m. and evening shows at 8:15 p.m.

Rising Sugar Price Brings Supply Boost

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—The agriculture department, in a move to check rising sugar prices, acted here to increase current supplies in the domestic market.

It required an order requiring some offshore areas to hold back a part of their 1957 quotas until after Nov. 1.

Permit Shipments

This action would permit these areas to ship their full quotas to this country any time they desire.

Under the revised order, Cuba had been required to hold back 100,000 tons; Mexico, Peru and the Dominican Republic, 15,000 tons each; and Hawaii, 50,000 tons.

This is the second action taken by the department this week in an effort to halt rises in sugar prices. Two days ago it increased the 1957 quotas by 100,000 tons to a total of 9,100,000 tons.

Action Explained

Explaining its new action, the department said that "in recent weeks prices for offshore raw sugar have been rising markedly without either bringing forth supplies consistent with the interest of consumers or contributing, generally, to the welfare of the domestic sugar industry."

"Accordingly," the department continued, "it is desirable to permit sellers to offer their supplies within the quotas currently in effect without limitation on the time of delivery. This amendment in the order permits importation of the full amount of current quotas at any time."

"As a result of this amendment, any subsequent reduction in quotas for offshore foreign and domestic areas will be effective only to the extent that buyers' requirements remain unfilled on the effective date of such reduction."

It's Okay to Relax; Experiment Shows Steak Will Always Taste Just as Good

BY ELWYN NAYLOR (Magic Valley Editor)

Relax, everybody, relax! The future is secure. A steak will taste just as good, 10 or 25 years from now as it does today.

Seriously in the interests of science and having nothing to do with the gastronomical possibilities, a couple of newsmen Friday took a trip into the future just to be able to report how a steak will taste when cooked electronically.

Others returning home from the university are Dean Moore, Denny Naylor, Everett Ball, Ivan Crockett, Clark Bedow, Robert Hartley, Carol Wilson, Arlene Frimham has gone to Coeur d'Alene to work during the summer months in a youth camp.

Graham Says Bible English Hard to Read

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Bibliographer Billy Graham said today that the King James version of the Holy Bible is a book "no one can read."

"One of the reasons it is so difficult to get people to read it is that it is written in a language no longer spoken," he said.

Graham said a modern Bible revisionist told a Madison, Wis., newsman that the King James version was a happy man, who added a long-faced religion to a not too happy man.

After his sermon Graham told the United Press he had "heard" the Bible was "hard to read."

Christian Century magazine said he is leading a drive to take the American Protestantism.

"There are many religious periodicals in the United States," he said. "This particular one has been up a running attack against the work for years. I have never answered them in the past, but I intend to now. They have no right to express their opinion."

APPOINTMENT MADE

get hot, it can be cleaned with a damp cloth as soon as a sock is through using it. When using the oven is ready to use in 3 seconds.

The electronic oven can do just about everything all modern appliances can do—combined, it can be baked, a steak, a hamburger, a whole chicken, and coffee boiled all in one operation. As a matter of fact, a complete meal if all items could be cooked the same amount of time could be wrapped in one package and cooked as a unit.

Above the oven is a timer. All an operator has to do is determine a time he wishes a particular item of food to cook, set the timer and then hurry to get the table set before the food is cooked.

Is there any danger an operator will cook his hand to a crisp while reaching into a hot oven for his dinner? No. Safety doors shut the oven off whenever the door is opened so there is little danger a man's knuckles will become a snack for pig's knuckles and sausage.

Cowboys Trail League in Team Batting Averages

Team batting average of .247 last Tuesday was the big reason Magic Valley Cowboys found themselves in the Pioneer League.

A .247, the Cowboys have gone below .240 in the last three games. Included in that figure are 22 home runs, five triples and 11 doubles.

The Cowboys ranged third in the league in home runs, with 22, and scored 62 times in 10 games.

Gutowski Clears 15-9 For New Vault Record

AUSTIN, Tex., June 15 (AP) — Bob Gutowski, a thin 150-pounder from Occidental, vaulted higher than any man in history Saturday night as he soared 15 feet 9 3/4 inches to break his own world's record.

His great leap featured the NCAA track and field meet, marking the closest any man ever has come to 16 feet, the goal of vaulting for a decade.

Until Saturday night, Cornelius Warner of Fresno State had vaulted the highest in history—15 feet 8 1/4 inches. It was an indoor meet at Chicago in 1943.

It was not listed as the world's record; however, because only outdoor marks are considered. Warner's mark was 15 feet 7 1/2 inches in 1942.

Don Bowden of California produced the next great mark when he bettered the existing world record in the 80-yard run.

Ance Robinson of Fresno State set the 220-yard hurdle in 22.2 to tie the world record set by Dave Sims of Duke in 1956 and Bobby Moore of Albion Christian College.

Sox Swap Goodman For Fornieles

BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles Friday swapped pitcher Mike Fornieles to the Boston Red Sox for versatile Billy Goodman and then filled in on their pitching staff, equalling Ken Lehman from Brooklyn.

The Fornieles-for-Goodman trade was a straight player-for-player swap between the two American league clubs. Lehman, a lefty, was acquired via the waiver rule for which he was believed to be something more than the $10,000 waiver price.

Goodman also went after 15 feet but failed in three attempts. Twice he went over the creaser but hit 1' coming down.

Greg Bell of Indiana broad jumped 28 1/2 feet 7 inches—just 1/4 inch under the world record—done this in the preliminary Friday at the same time Morrow was tying the world record in the 100.

John Brown of Pacific Lutheran threw the javelin 246 feet 1 inch for a new collegiate record by almost two feet.

Lee Calhoun of North Carolina college, the Olympia high hurdles in 22.2, set a new NCAA record of 22.2.

Charles Jones of Iowa hung up a new collegiate two-mile record with 15:14.

Tree Climbing! Champion Killed

COQUILLE, Ore., June 15 (AP) — James L. Dunlap, 28, Coquille, was killed in a practice climb here today as he prepared to defend his world's highlimbing championship at Albany, Ore., July 4.

Dunlap's body was found at the base of a tree he had been climbing in a park here. There were no witnesses to the accident.

Last year at the Albany Timber competition he set his record by climbing a 100-foot spar tree in 58.1 seconds.

New Area Being Opened for This Type of Summer Home

This is one type of summer home approved by the forest service for construction in designated areas. One such area, the Valley View, is being opened to construction of summer homes. One house has already been completed in the area which is located on Val creek between Allatawa and Pettit lakes in Stanley basin. The Valley View area is located just west of the Breckenridge ranch. The forest service has surveyed sites for 15 homes in the new Gem state summer home project. (Staff engraving)

New Summer Home Area in Stanley Basin Opening Now for Applications

Applications are being accepted by the Sawtooth national forest for summer home sites in a new area opened in Stanley basin, announced by V. J. Sevy, forest supervisor. The first house in the new summer home area was completed last fall. There are some 10 home sites in the area which has been named the Valley View summer home area. It is located on Val creek between Pettit and Allatawa lakes, just west of the Breckenridge ranch. None of the home sites is located adjacent to either of the lakes. The development is the most recent for summer homes in the Sawtooth forest. In recent years, a number of summer homes have been built in the Shoshone and Valley Hot Springs areas south of Colonne, Id. Summer home applications for the new area have been established around Pettit lake, a short distance from the new area.

He's Exponent of Clean Sweep in Business District

Only those people who are out and around in the wee, am, hours ever see Tony Vaquer at work in the business district of Twin Falls. But everyone can notice the results of his labors after he has cleaned the usual debris from gutters. Vaquer, a long-time resident of Magic Valley, has had a varied career that includes farming and law enforcement. (Staff photo-engraving)

He said, "I noticed a car with a young couple in it so I stopped and sat at the end of the block. The couple got out and began walking slowly toward me looking in the gutter. The girl was real pretty but she didn't look happy and she had her money was there. She did neither did the boy. They stopped near where I'm working and the boy looks at me. I look at him and ask him what he wants. He says the girl has lost a purse. I asked the Vaquers asked the girl to describe the purse and when she had done so I reached into his pocket and handed it to her. 'You should have seen how pretty and happy she looked,' Vaquer said. The couple then left. Vaquer had breakfast with them at a cafe. 'I went and had a lot of coffee with them and then told the girl to open the purse and see if her money was there. She did it and the boy. They stopped

Camp Fire Girls Are Preparing for Third Season for South Hills Camp

A 40-acre woodland tract in the south hills, with a lodge and housing units for some 200 Magic Valley girls, is ready and waiting for camping season to begin. And officers of the Twin Falls Camp Fire Girls council, which sponsors a beautiful Camp Tawakani 40 miles south of Twin Falls, are hoping to fill the camp for the three-week camp sessions beginning July 7.

In its third year of operation, Camp Tawakani can accommodate 100 girls, ranging in age from 7 to 16 at each of the weekly camp periods. This far, 140 Magic Valley girls have enrolled.

Mrs. Norman McIntosh, council president, stresses the fact that the camp is open to all girls, not just Camp Fire Girls or Blue Birds. "We'd like to have as many girls enjoy the life at Camp Tawakani as possible," she said. "It's an opportunity then all to get outdoors in a beautiful atmosphere with efficient and thoughtful supervision."

Camp Tawakani is comprised of a main lodge, seven sleeping cabins and a shower house. The lodge can seat 120 girls at mealtime and includes the kitchen facilities necessary to feed 120 hungry girls. Evening council programs are held before the fireplace in the main lodge.

The sleeping cabins are of various sizes. The smallest provides bunks for eight girls and the largest for about 20. The shower facilities include individual stalls for eight persons. All buildings have been contributed by various organizations in Twin Falls county, and this year Union Motor company will provide a pickup truck for use during the three-week season.

Marian Schroyer, former Twin Falls resident, has been hired as camp director this year. Miss Schroyer comes to Twin Falls for the summer after five years as an elementary teacher in schools at Anchorage, Alaska, and an adult recreation assistant in Nevada and USO work at Anchorage. Born in South Dakota, she attended Northern Baptist University at Aberdeen, S. D., and received her bachelor of arts degree from Idaho State University at Pocatello. She has lived in Minnesota, South Dakota and for several years in Rupert. Miss Schroyer has been active for a number of years in organizations terest, dramatics, physical education, music, child psychology, counseling and first aid.

Council officials believe they have the only "handyman" in the state to be called upon in case of an emergency.

"Perhaps 'handyman' isn't the correct name, though," comments Mrs. McIntosh.

Bade, coach at Valley high school for seven years, will take care of the "odd jobs" incident to incident in camp life, but he'll also be active in supervising the baseball, volleyball and other sports enjoyed by the campers.

Mrs. Bade, in addition to serving as camp nurse, also will supervise sports actively on a daily basis.

Edith Lyons, who has taught at Memorial Lutheran church for three years, will work as counselor during the three-week camp period.

Also on the staff are Leona Alvarado, Twin Falls, for her third year as handicapped counselor, and Sharon Rude, Twin Falls, in the dramatic department. On duty are Jean Chisholm, in her second year as music director, and Barbara Zillmer, in the campers' department.

The camp also has two counselors-in-training, Sandra Hartzfeld, Twin Falls, and Melba Jones, Buhl, and, reported Mrs. McIntosh, there's a room for more girls. Any girl 10 years of age or older for counselors-in-training, they may apply at the Camp Fire office here.

Mrs. McIntosh urges all prospective campers—especially non-Camp Fire Girls or Blue Birds—to enroll for the camp. There's still plenty of room. This far, 43 girls have enrolled for the first week; 70 for the second week, and 28 for the third. The camp ends July 28.

Iris Challenge Her Ability

Mrs. G. W. Vallette. Deeds like to grow iris because unlike other hobbies she has tried it presents a real challenge to her ability. For years she has been trying to produce a hybrid of two recessive characteristics and, to date, is just about as far from success as she was when she started. Meanwhile, though, she has become an expert on iris. (Staff photo—enlarging)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

There's a direct descendant of Adam and Eve in DECKO who doing her best to create a Garden of Eden. She can furnish proof of her ancestry and the iris she grows are proof of her ability. Mrs. Vallette, who has been growing iris for years, is more than a hobbyist, she is a recognized authority on the flower. When she started growing iris, it was a hobby, but, as with other hobbies she has tried, it became a passion. After amassing $2,000 in five volumes, she quit. There wasn't a great deal more she could do.

Genealogy interested her at one time but after she had traced her ancestry back to Adam and Eve, there wasn't much left in that field either.

She's a painter and song writer, too, and probably would have gone farther than she did in both fields except for her eyes. She quit painting 10 years ago because it hurt her eyes and says music is too hard to read with bifocals.

Proof she might have gone far in painting had it not been for her eyes came from George Eugene Schroeder, an artist who lived in IDAHO and BUTTE and from whom she took lessons. Of all the students he taught only two showed any real talent, and Mrs. Vallette was one.

She has tried her hand at writing with moderate success and in spare moments, still does some crocheting. Pansywork now is a sort of an anti-climax, since, at the age of 15, she did an elaborate Irish collar as her second piece.

Having tried her hand at many hobbies and conquered them, perhaps Mrs. Vallette has found her niche in iris growing. After all these years, she has not accomplished that which she set out to do.

Knowing nothing about hybrids, Mrs. Vallette set out to breed iris to combine the shell pink color with the usually are associated with several faults. While some of these hybrids do exist, none has been good enough yet to introduce.

Mrs. Vallette has close to 3,000 different iris in her collection and has

City Employee Is Well Informed About Local Residents' Nighttime Activities

It was all there, Vasquez remembers. While performing his work another night he found a man's wallet. "It didn't contain any money but it did have a lot of papers in it," Vasquez said. "The owner was a preacher from a nearby town and he came to the city to get a liquor license. I took the wallet to the police station and they returned it to the preacher. He never did send me any thanks. I guess he knew I had found out about the liquor license."

Vasquez' years in Magic Valley have provided him with a wide acquaintance and he was many incidents which would be material for a gossip column. However, Vasquez subscribes to the philosophy of "never to evil, hear no evil, speak no evil." He can be persuaded to tell a few unimportant incidents but it is always careful to avoid disclosing names.

Tony was born 64 years ago in Cuernavaca, Jalisco, Mexico. He attended school until completing the eighth grade and then became a marble worker apprentice in Mexico.

After a few months he quit the job and enlisted in the Mexican national army, advancing from private to first sergeant of his company. He remained in the army for 23 months and in addition to his top kick duties was paymaster for his men.

"I used to pay them every morning. I don't believe they do that now," he said. Vasquez left the army and came to the United States in 1915 and settled in Kimberly. He lived there until 1923 and was engaged in farming.

"I went broke four times farming," Vasquez says. "I worked on the building of the sugar factory and for six years was yard foreman." At one time he planned to build and operate a hotel but a fire nipped his plans. He had saved his money and had part of it in his trousers when the fire awoke him early one morning.

to Scotland, Ireland, Wales and England on the west.

One of her associates was captured by St. Patrick. The line goes back to Claudius Caesar and Mark Anthony Boone and through Melville to Scotland, back to King David, the Psalmist, and through him, to Adam and Eve. Her last royal relative was Edward III of England who ruled 600 years ago.

But none of her hobbies has been as engrossing as raising iris. While she still has not bred the shell pink iris she has succeeded in introducing a few new varieties, among them the Pearlshell, 20th Street, and the Purple Striped.

This year she plans to introduce the Creamy, a semi-faded lacy lemon-cream, and Circus Lady, a white variety with gay whorls of purple striping.

With all her activities, Mrs. Vallette has had time, too, to be a mother. She has had nine children, six of whom are still living, 20 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Getting mothers with her request, she started her own robin rosin. Before she realized what she had started, she was directing several rosin robins on various subjects. Since 1924 Robins Roos has been a regular feature in the bulletin of the American Iris society.

Mrs. Vallette is national chairman of the Society's "robins" and is an accredited judge for the society. At the recent iris show in JEROME she and Mrs. Sidney Smith, TWIN FALLS, judged the collections and the miscellaneous classes.

It was 17 years ago that she became interested in genealogy. An aunt, a retired school teacher, had a cousin who was a professional genealogist. He had traced her family, the Stebbins family back to 1620 and discovered that of the 26 barons who had signed the Magna Carta, the blood of 10 ran in the Stebbins family.

Starting then, Mrs. Vallette went back to discover that the blood of her family ran from Byzantium and Kiev to the east to Norway, Sweden and Denmark on the north, Lombardy, Sicily and France on the south and

"I jumped up and ran out of the house without my pants. I'll bet I looked funny to some people leaning in through the door trying to pick up the trousers while the flames were shooting over and around my head," Vasquez observed. He added that he did recover the trousers but lost so much furniture and equipment in the fire that he abandoned the idea of the hotel.

In addition to farming and working at the sugar factory he was a labor agent for sugar beet workers for several years. He also has been deported as a deputy sheriff and served in Gooding county in that capacity for two years.

Recently he acted as interpreter for a Spanish-speaking translated worker when the man was brought into justice court.

Vasquez now lives on Haggard street with his wife, whom he married in 1948 in his old hometown in Mexico. Vasquez made the trip back to Mexico after the 1946 trip to marry the present Mrs. Vasquez, who is the daughter of all his friends here and three brothers in Mexico have died.

He says that during his 1946 trip to Mexico he had some difficulty with his passport and papers and only through the assistance of a member of former Agriculture Secretary Henry Wallace's staff was he able to return.

Vasquez carried on a correspondence with the undersecretary for a number of years after he had helped him return to the United States. Vasquez for making friends had enabled Vasquez to get acquainted with the undersecretary while he was on a tour of duty in Mexico.

While Vasquez has a fondness for his native country he says, "There is no country as good as the United States and I intend to live the rest of my life here."

Tree, Shrub Seeds Planted at University in Soil Bank Plan

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, June 16—Around 200 pounds of woodland tree and shrub seeds now coming to life in 26 seedbeds at the University of Idaho college of forestry nursery is the beginning of the farm woodland phase of Idaho's soil bank program.

With each seedbed 23 feet long and 4 feet wide, 25,000 square feet of planting area, has been devoted to start of the soil bank.

"Our plan is to have at least one and a third million seedlings available for farm bank planting by 1950 and 1960," reports Franklin H. Hays, forestry professor at the University of Idaho, forestry nursery manager. After that the nursery capacity will be expanded as the soil bank program grows.

The university's participation in providing planting stock for soil bank use is in cooperation with the Idaho state department of forestry and the U. S. forest service. It is in addition to the university's longstanding program of providing trees to farmers throughout the state for woodlot, windbreak and conservation plantings. Close to a million seedlings have been going out each spring for this purpose for many years.

White the soil bank seedlings are being their first year in the seedbeds, the 20 acres in the new college of agriculture farm assigned to the soil bank nursery are being prepared for tree production. A well is being provided for sprinkler irrigation. Next spring the soil bank trees will be transplanted in that 20-acre nursery. There they will grow another two years before going out to farms.

Soil bank planting stock being produced by the university consists of the windbreak, woodlot and Christmas tree species common on Idaho farms throughout the state. Largest

Major Departure From Fisticuffs

Glenn (Bud) Jones looks over a display of needlework he did as relaxation from his bookkeeping. Job Jones, an ex-professional boxer, has been offered $50 for his portrait of Jesus which won him first prize in needlework at a hobby show. (Staff photo-encouraging)

Magic Valley Hobbies No. 76

Former Pugilist Relaxes With Fancy Work When He's Not Balancing Books

Normally needlework is associated with females who sit, sew and carry on a conversation all at the same time. Rarely is such an art associated with the male member of a family and especially a male who has known a professional boxing career in which he lost only one fight—out of 33 times in the ring.

Glenn (Bud) Jones, 258 Washington street north, Twin Falls, recently won first prize in needlework at the Twin Falls hobby show with a picture of Jesus. The same man was a heavyweight fighter but injuries received during World War II ended his pugilistic career.

During his professional fighting days, mostly spent in the service, Jones fought such greats as Lou Nova. With Nova the Twin Falls man won a draw in an exhibition bout.

"Whether of us could knock the other out," Jones recalls, "so the match was declared a draw."

Jones' interest in the artistic field began while he was a patient in the naval hospital at Bremerton, Wash. There he began to draw and paint to while away the long hours of recuperation. Later he became interested in needlework when his wife bought the equipment as a hobby for herself.

Mrs. Jones soon despairing with the wrist aching job and was ready to throw the whole thing in the trash can when her husband took over the project. His interest grew to the extent he has been offered as high as $50 for some of his work.

"To Jones, needlework is a form of relaxation. He never sells anything he makes. Often he gives his finished products to friends and relatives, but mostly he devotes his time between needlework and painting to relax his mind after a day's work as bookkeeper for the Twin Falls Co-operative, Inc."

"Most of this type of work is done during the winter months," he states, "During the summer months I have other things to keep me busy." He and his wife recently completed redecorating their home. Most of his needlework is designed to be used as covers for auto pillows. He has various designs which he draws to scale before making them into a picture with heavy yarn. The colorful pictures range from the prize winning portrait of Jesus to petcocks, tigers, horses, eagles and a pair of kittens he made to cover a small pillow for his two children.

On the average it takes him about a month of leisure time to complete one pillow cover, but if "I worked at it steadily I could do one in about 12 hours," he states.

Jones' career has not been entirely devoted to fighting and figures. He has written articles for Coronet and the Reader's Digest and poetry for various publications.

He is also a bass fiddle player. For four years he played with Edde Arnold on the Grand Ole Opry radio program. He has played with various other orchestras and still plays the instrument when he and some of

Mrs. Spencer Is Paid Last Honor

GOODING, June 15 — Funeral services for Mrs. Cora Ann Spencer were conducted at 2 p.m. Thursday, by the Rev. George Goddard, Jerome Baptist minister.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gee sang, accompanied by their daughter, Peggy Gee.

Paliborers were Ray Falconburg, John Aiken, Russell Deahl, Merlin Drash, Gooding, Clint Hawn, Gooding, and Delbert Hall, Jerome. Honorary pallbearers were Joe McNeill, Mayo H. Vaughn, George Weigle, Tom Barcoe, C. Vandavie and Paul Vandavie.

He says he gave up his music career because it took him away from home and he didn't want his family traveling about the country all the time. He returned to Twin Falls about a year ago.

His wife is a native of North Dakota. Jones was born at Twin Falls but has been gone for the last 15 years. He says he plans to spend much of his leisure time this summer in reacquainting himself with the countryside and introducing his wife to the mountains.

He and his wife recently
