Operation of Blaine Mine Ends Friday

HAILEY, July 10.—Triumph mine will be shutdown entirely Friday because of depleted ore reserves and a decrease in lead and silver prices, Lewis Robinson, manager, announced Tuesday. Robinson said a small crew will be retained for salvage and to keep the mine pumped free of water. There are 50 to 60 persons working at the mine now, he said—about 38 in the mill and 12 in the office and other buildings.

House Grants New Life for Soil Program

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—The house Tuesday reversed its stand of two months ago and voted to continue the Eisenhower administration's soil bank farm program for more years. There wasn't a fight about it. The switch came on a voice vote which passed 387-0. The bill, which was sent to the senate the day after the vote, would extend the program until 1961. The bill also would allow the use of surplus agricultural products for the program.

U. S. High Dam Vote Is Delayed

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Proponents of legislation for a federal high dam at Hells canyon took advantage of absenteeism today to win at least a one-week reprieve for the embattled measure. The scheduled vote at 10 a. m. EDT. to vote on the measure. Opponents claimed in advance that they had enough votes to kill the bill. But by a combination of circumstances—some of them apparently planned in advance—resulted in postponement of committee action for lack of a quorum. The tactics of proponents apparently called for a boycott of the meeting and counted on absenteeism or tardiness by opponents. The tactics worked. Promptly at 10 a. m., Chairman Clair Engle, D. Calif., a backer of the measure, ordered the committee clerk to call the roll. Only 12 members—one backer and 11 opponents—were present. Sixteen are needed for a quorum. Engle quickly called off the meeting over the strong objections of Rep. A. L. Miller, Nebr., ranking Republican member. One of the GOP leaders in the fight against the measure, Rep. John P. Saylor, Pa., arrived too late because of an ironic set of circumstances. Miller, realizing the importance of having all of the anti-Hells canyon committee members there on time, called Saylor's office shortly before 10 a. m. to make sure he would be at the meeting. Saylor said he was in the hallway en route to the committee room when he was called back to answer the telephone. By the time he got to the committee room the meeting was called off.

Two Drivers Dead; Boy's Arms Are Broken When Cars Crash Near Hansen

A Pocatello woman and a Burley man were killed and a 7-year-old boy was injured and taken to the Magic Valley Memorial hospital late Tuesday afternoon as the result of a head-on collision about 15 miles east of Twin Falls, just east of the Hansen-Murtaugh overpass on highway 20. Dead are Mrs. Kenneth S. Briggs, 34, Pocatello, and Stuart E. Jordan, 50, Burley. Hospitalized with both arms fractured and being observed for other possible injuries is Michael Briggs, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Briggs. An attendant at the hospital said Wednesday morning the boy's condition is "fairly good." The two deaths bring Twin Falls county traffic fatality total to 10 for the year and Magic Valley to 22.

Smashed Cars Bring Death to Two Near Overpass

Only tangled wreckage remains of two autos that met head-on east of Twin Falls late Tuesday afternoon, killing two persons and injuring a 7-year-old boy. Dead in the crash are Mrs. Kenneth S. Briggs, 34, Pocatello, and Stewart Jordan, 51, Burley. Mrs. Briggs' son, Michael, is in "fairly good" condition at Magic Valley Memorial hospital with fractured arms. The accident occurred just east of the Hansen-Murtaugh overpass, located about 15 miles east of Twin Falls. (Staff photo—engraving)

Traffic Death Scoreboard

Here is a comparison of traffic fatalities as of this date for 1956 and 1957 for Magic Valley and for the entire state:

Magic Valley, 1956	21
Magic Valley, 1957	22
Idaho, 1956	114
Idaho, 1957	90

Briggs car said as Mrs. Briggs, going toward Hansen, came down over a small rise in the highway, Jordan pulled his 1950 Chevrolet over into her lane of traffic. Steekler said he saw her brake lights go on momentarily just before the crash. He estimated her speed at about 50 miles an hour. Hal Miller, Salt Lake City, who was behind the Steekler car, said he saw the Chevrolet spinning as he came over the rise in the highway. Miller, an ex-hospital technician at Portland, said he grabbed his first aid kit and rushed to the woman's car. He said he used a stethoscope and felt no heart beat. He said he and some others removed Jordan from his car. He said Jordan had a chest injury and was bleeding internally. Miller said he checked the boy and put a splint on the boy's right arm. The accident was investigated by State Patrolman H. E. Carr, assisted by Sheriff James H. Benham. (Continued on Page 12, Column 1)

Men Say New Bill on Dam Showing Intent

Two Magic Valley irrigation leaders Tuesday condemned a proposed congressional bill to have army engineers build a high dam at Hells canyon as conclusive evidence that a federal Hells canyon dam would imperil water rights of southern Idaho farmers. S. A. High, Kimberly, president of the Magic Valley Water Pumpers association, called it "the same bill with the pretense of aiding the farmers of Idaho—stripped away from it."

Hearing Is Started on Manslaughter Charge

A motion to strike a complaint and amended complaint against Perry Miles, 35, Pocatello, charging involuntary manslaughter in a traffic death, was being considered Tuesday by Probate Judge Everett M. Sweezy. The motion was filed by Miles' attorneys, Douglas Kramer and Lloyd Walker, at the outset of a preliminary hearing in probate court shortly after 10 a. m. Tuesday. Miles is charged with the death of Mrs. Dan Foran, 26, Pocatello, who was injured fatally June 29 when an auto driven by Miles failed to negotiate a curve and overturned about seven miles south of Twin Falls on highway 74. Mrs. Foran died about two hours later at Magic Valley Memorial hospital.

Hopeful Arms Ban Possible

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Senator Humphrey, D. Minn., said today that Russia's sudden stiffened attitude against a disarmament agreement may be only "a temporary reaction" from the Moscow shakeup. He said a state department expert will be questioned tomorrow by the senate disarmament subcommittee heads "on this and other developments in the London negotiations." Humphrey, who receives secret state department reports on the disarmament negotiations, told a reporter: "I personally believe the shakeup in the Soviet union will not worsen chances for at least a limited disarmament agreement and might conceivably improve them." Humphrey's stand, which he described as "cautiously optimistic," echoed somewhat similar sentiments expressed in London after a second look at Soviet negotiator Valerian Zorin's reply to a U. S. proposal for a 10-month ban on nuclear weapons tests. Zorin called some parts of the U. S. plan "fictitious" and others "a waste of time." But both U. S. and French sources in London took the view that Zorin had left the door open for a compromise.

Survey Shows Water Supply Still Plentiful

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Irrigation water stored in reservoirs across southern Idaho continues to be plentiful with the farm season well under way, a survey showed Tuesday. Storage in principal reservoirs along the Snake river, which stretches clear across the state, and on the Payette river in the southwest portion of Idaho, is well above that of last year. Stored water in Boise river reservoirs, also in the southwest, is below that at this time in 1956 but river officials said the water available will be adequate for the season. "Rainfall during June was slight and farmers had to begin using irrigation water earlier than usual," explained Forrest Sower, Boise project manager. "However there is plenty of water in the reservoirs and we'll have some left at the end of the season." The principal storage reservoirs on the Snake river held a total of 3,356,100 acre feet of water on July 8. Watermaster Lynn Orndall reported. Figures, for the comparable date in 1956 were not available but on June 29, 1956, the stored water total was 2,688,530. On the Payette river Cascade reservoir at the latest check held 653,000 acre feet of water compared with 515,400 a year earlier and Deadwood reservoir had 165,000 compared with 164,100. On the Boise river, Lucky Peak reservoir was filled to its capacity of 280,000 both years. River officials explained the reservoir is held at its peak as late in the summer as practical to make the lake more attractive as a resort. Anderson Ranch dam at the last check had 460,000 acre feet of water compared with 404,178 a year earlier. Arrowrock had 261,540 compared with 279,000 and Lake Lowell 97,240 compared with 113,325. In the Snake river reservoirs this year's July 8 total at Pallasades was 637,800 acre feet compared with 507,000 on June 9, 1956, when construction still was under way.

Youth Is Reported Missing in Forest

KIMBERLY, July 10.—Word was received from the Rock Creek ranger station early Wednesday that Eugene Gillette, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gillette, Kimberly, was lost in the south hills. Up to 2 p. m. no further word had been received as to whether or not he had been found. Gillette, who is working for a lumberman in the Mindoko division of the Sawtooth national forest, called on some friends Tuesday night at the Girl Scout camp. When he did not return to the lumber camp Tuesday night, fellow workers believed he had stopped off at the ranger station. However, when he was not located at the ranger station Wednesday morning a search was started for him. No further word has been received from the area.

Russell Meets With President For Talks on 'Rights' Measure

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower assured the South today that the administration has no intention of launching a "punitive expedition" under its proposed civil rights law. Sen. Richard B. Russell, D., Ga., leader of the Southern fight against the controversial rights bill, took the opposition's case to the White House today. He apparently failed to win Eisenhower's agreement to any major compromise. But he said the President's mind is "not closed" to a "clarifying" amendment. "I found no intention of purpose on his part to go on any punitive expedition against the South," the Georgia senator said after the 50-minute meeting.

Party Leader Has Spotlight On Red Visit

PRAQUE, July 10 (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev full credit for "uncovering and destroying" the Molotov-Malenkov opposition. Bulganin, who arrived in Prague with Khrushchev on a "friendly visit" this morning, told a gathering of Czech and Soviet leaders in the presidential palace: "It is necessary to emphasize especially that the great merit in uncovering and destroying the anti-party opposition goes to the first secretary of the central committee of the Soviet union, Comrade Khrushchev." Khrushchev told an elite and respectfully attentive audience that the West planned to "regenerate" Germany in the role of a shock force in the preparation of a new war. "We must be vigilant," Khrushchev said. "There is a constant danger of war as long as imperialism exists." Khrushchev thanked the Czechs for their "warm reception," congratulated them on their success and said: "But your success, as well as the success of other countries of the socialist camp, cannot but evoke the vicious fury of imperialism reaction which is doing all it can to activate the forces of counter-revolution in these countries so as to cause harm to the building of socialism."

Little or no precipitation except isolated thundershowers." (Probably)

Full Service Resumed for Milner Area

MILNER, July 10.—Full service has been restored on the Milner tract following a break in the main canal Saturday, but farms on the far side of the tract will not receive irrigation water until Thursday. A small flow of water was turned into the canal Tuesday morning but the gates were not opened wide until late Tuesday afternoon. Repairs on the break were completed late Tuesday. The canal banks were washed out around noon Saturday where the canal crosses a coulee. Water from the canal rushed down the coulee and emptied into the Twin Falls Canal company's main canal. The water was shut off at Milner reservoir and repairs were started immediately.

Air Force Is Happy About Fast Bomber

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 10 (AP)—The air force today proudly displayed its first supersonic bomber—"It's even better than we expected," a general said—and announced plans to buy more for testing purposes. Lieut. Gen. C. E. Irvine, head of air force weapons procurement, said at the official unveiling of the B58 Hustler that the Convair atomic super-bomber as of now is the fastest in the world—and we plan to buy an additional test quantity. Irvine told newsmen the air force already has ordered 13 B58s for testing and is pleased with the first one that is in talking about buying 17 or 18 more. Asked about the speed of the B58, Irvine said he could report only that it was highly supersonic. But he said later that it was designed to approach twice the speed of sound—and we are already at the point where we can make it go faster than it was designed to go.

Woman Shot By Own Gun

BURLEY, July 10.—Mrs. Amelia Hultzer, 17, Heyburn, is a patient at the Cottage hospital with a self-inflicted gunshot wound in her leg—she shot herself while jack-rabbit hunting Tuesday noon. The mishap was not reported to the sheriff's office until Wednesday morning. Mrs. Hultzer, who works at Ted Abo's ranch, Heyburn, was hunting jackrabbits with some friends during the noon hour Tuesday. She was riding in the bed of a truck and was getting out when the gun went off. Her physician said the injury was not serious and that no bones were broken. Up to noon Wednesday the caliber or type of gun she was carrying had not been determined.

Middle East Tension Mounts As Syria, Israel Trade Shots

JERUSALEM, Israel, July 10 (AP)—Cairo radio reported today the supreme Arab command had gone to the Israeli-Syrian border where Israeli officials said a 10-hour artillery duel had created a "grave situation." Cairo radio, broadcasting in Hebrew, announced that Egypt had "taken all steps needed to go to Syria's aid, should such aid be required." Syria and Egypt are linked by military pact and have a joint military command. The broadcast said the high command had taken over "personal supervision" of the border area. Sniping was reported along the border today but officials said the situation generally was quiet and that U. N. officials were investigating yesterday's clash. One of seven persons wounded in yesterday's battling was reported today to be in "very critical condition." Reports circulated in Jerusalem that the Soviet Union was urging Syria to "further attacks on Israeli villages," but there was no official confirmation here. But the officials said it was unlikely yesterday's 10-hour artillery duel would precipitate an all-out war; otherwise, thought it more likely, Israeli troops might attack, occupy and destroy the Syrian positions then retire across the border into Israel.

Finland Talk Highlight for Club Meeting

Aspects of life in Finland, "known to the average American as the little nation in the far north that paid its war debt," were described for the Twin Falls Rotary club Wednesday.

Speaking to the club at its regular noon meeting in the American Legion hall, Mrs. George Warberg, recently returned from a year's stay in Finland, told of the trials and successes of the small nation, hampered by excessive war reparations to Russia.

Mrs. Warberg paid tribute to the courageous Finns in their war with Russia shortly before the outbreak of World War II.

"The newspapers of the world," she declared, "blazoned the deeds of the great little nation of less than 4 million people who withstood the onslaught of more than 200 million Russians, until they were crushed by the aggressor and forced to ask for an armistice."

The armistice agreement, which Finland was forced to ratify, called for staggering reparations," she said.

The armistice provided that Finnish troops lay down their arms and cease firing on Sept. 4, 1945, and that the Russian soldiers were to keep firing until the following day.

Some 85,000 Finnish soldiers lost their lives in the war with Russia, she noted.

"This great loss has touched nearly every town in Finland," she said.

LITTLE LIZ

Nobody will ever win the battle of the sexes because there's too much friendship with the enemy.

pointed out. "And the Finns have not forgotten their dead. It is touching in the way they pay tribute to their fallen soldiers."

"It is a tragic thing," she added, "that Finland, who has struggled so nobly against aggression, should now be forced to turn to Russia for aid." The West, she believes, seems "preoccupied" with Finland's current economic problems which recently forced a cabinet to resign.

Education in Finland compares favorably with that of the United States, pointed out Mrs. Warberg who traveled extensively through Finland lecturing on English language and the American way of life.

"They have the same problems of our schools—overcrowded classes, teacher shortages and curriculum problems."

Concluding her talk, Mrs. Warberg pointed out that the Finns hold the United States in high regard and hope for continued friendship with this nation.

Warberg, a Kiwanian, brought a message of greeting to Twin Falls Rotarians from a Rotary club in Finland where he attended a meeting.

Manslaughter Hearing Open In Auto Death

to strike, "charged definitely with the crime of involuntary manslaughter for the operation of an automobile in an unlawful manner and without due caution and circumspection, and that there is no such crime in the state of Idaho."

Amplifying the motion before Judge, Sweezy, Kramer said the state legislature, in 1953, had eliminated the crime of involuntary manslaughter in the uniform motor vehicle act.

"The motion claims the amended complaint 'charges definitely with the result of an unlawful manner and delegates without due caution and circumspection,' and there is no crime of involuntary manslaughter in the state of Idaho for the operation of a motor vehicle."

Balleisen, in presenting the state's viewpoint on the complaint, told the court the legislature during its 1953 act had eliminated only a portion of the phraseology in the involuntary manslaughter law, and reemphasized that the state was within its rights to make the charge against Miles.

Both the defense and Balleisen cited court cases, including a supreme court ruling in the Gummerman case which involved six traffic deaths near Malta, to support their contention.

On July 2, Judge Sweezy had overruled objections by Miles' counsel to the amended complaint which claimed Miles was driving in excess of 70 miles an hour "while under the influence of intoxicating liquor."

The amended bill, which was signed by Deputy Sheriff Wayne Hankins who investigated the accident, claims Miles "drove in an unlawful manner," and "at a rate of speed in excess of the posted speed limit . . . of 45 miles an hour."

The complaint accused Miles of driving "in excess of 70 miles an hour" and "under the influence of intoxicating liquor."

At the time of overruling the objections, Judge Sweezy reset the preliminary hearing for today.

Walker, in Wednesday's hearing, opened his remarks to the bench by pointing that he knew "we are in a state of hysteria . . . caused by the serious highway problem."

He dealt primarily with the charge that the prosecution had changed the substance of the original complaint in the amendment, in adding "intoxication." He cited previous court decisions to prove "only the form can be changed, not the substance."

In recessing, Judge Sweezy ordered the witnesses, which included Hankins and State Patrolman Howard E. Carr, to return.

Carlton Johnson, 35, Jerome, was fined $150 and costs Tuesday by Probate Judge James P. Gossett, Gooding, on a charge of drunken driving. Judge Gossett also ordered Johnson's driving license suspended for one year. Johnson was arrested at 8 p. m. Monday one mile east of Wendell.

Mrs. Kathleen McCool, Gooding, was fined $10 and $3 costs Tuesday by acting Gooding Police Judge Orris Griffith on a charge of running through a stop sign.

Dale E. Bush, Hazelton, was fined $10 and $3 costs Tuesday by Probate Judge Theron Ward, Jerome, on a charge of running through a stop sign. Budd was arrested on Monday by State Patrolman Roy Thomas on highway 25.

David G. Peary, Burley, forfeited a bond of $15 Tuesday in Rupert police court on a charge of speeding.

The report of Justice of the Peace George Byard, Jr., Shoshone, to Lincoln county commissioners for the second quarter of 1957, shows six fines for traffic violations.

Fined were Ralph Taylor and Mike Guler, $1 and $3 costs each on charges of running through stop signs. Robert Struthers and a person identified as "John Doe," $25 and $3 costs each on charges of negligent driving. Vernon Erickson, $15 and $3 costs on a charge of speeding and Jack Morris, $5 and $3 costs on a similar charge.

The "John Doe" fined by Judge Byard was a driver arrested on a "John Doe" complaint signed by a private citizen and his true identity was not ascertained. He was an out-of-state man.

Elmer Rose, Burley, was fined $10 and $3 costs Wednesday by Buhl Police Judge Bernard Starr on a charge of running through a stop sign.

Artist Talks and Paints for Lions

Members of the Twin Falls Lions club had an exhibition of painting and a lecture on art by Carl Orrin, local commercial artist, at their noon luncheon at the Park hotel Wednesday.

Orrin told the Lions that art has long been an avocation particularly to men and that "art is a man's job." He also said that art has been misunderstood and misrepresented over the centuries. To illustrate his point, Orrin told of the ancient Egyptians and their use for art.

While he was discussing the various problems connected with the art, Orrin painted a picture of a lion, which will be placed on the wall of the Lions meeting place.

Minidoka Selects New Prosecutor

RUPERT, July 10—Charles Creason, 31, has been appointed Minidoka county prosecutor to replace Sherman Bellwood who resigned last week following his appointment as district judge. Bellwood was named by Gov. Robert E. Smylie to replace Judge H. W. Beckwith, who died.

Creason, a graduate of the Rupert high school, received his law degree at the University of Idaho in 1951. He has been practicing with his father, Henry Creason, since he was admitted to the bar. His father was prosecuting attorney in Minidoka county in the 1920's.

Both Creason and Judge Bellwood will serve in their appointments until the next election.

Filibuster Is Nothing New To Senators

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Here we go again. The big blow, or filibuster over civil rights legislation, has begun and soon should hit the senate full blast.

Although oldtimers have pointed to ominous signs in the legislative sky all this session, the first definite storm warnings went up last week.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D., Ga., said he doesn't think newspaper editors are getting enough information on what the fuss is all about, and that the only way to get the whole truth is by reading the "Congressional Record."

Now the "Record" has a limited circulation, so, Russell said, "we shall require a long time to get the facts across to the country."

Resistance

And Monday, when the bill was called up by Sen. William F. Knowland, R., Calif., Russell said: "President, we will resist."

Well, it won't be the first time. No one knows who first thought up the idea of killing a bill by talking it to death, but the device probably is as old as man's attempt to govern himself.

Old Custom

In the first congress Sen. William Maclay of Pennsylvania wearily issued a report card on his senatorial colleagues that looks as modern as tomorrow's "Congressional Record."

"Every endeavor," Maclay said, "was made to waste time."

Now a word of caution: Possibly because Huey Long, king filibuster of them all, occasionally went in for comedy, an impression has got around that a filibuster is a gay thing, with quips falling as freely as in a well rehearsed vaudeville act.

With a few exceptions, the reverse is true. For boredom—monotonous, unrelieved boredom—is one of the filibusters' most effective weapons.

During one filibuster, Long paused to say to Vice President Garner, who was presiding, "I desire to ask that every senator be made to stay here and listen to me, unless he has excused himself."

Garner's ruling was prompt and pointed.

"In the opinion of the present occupant of the chair," he said, "that would be unusual cruelty under the bill of rights."

Land Reserve Hearings Set

WASHINGTON, July 10—A public hearing on a proposed withdrawal of nearly 31,000 acres of national forest lands at the headwaters of Salmon river will be held in September in Boise.

The hearing will be held by the bureau of land management in the Idaho statehouse at Boise Sept. 19 and 20.

The fish and wildlife service requested the withdrawal. It asked that the lands be withdrawn from entry under the mining laws for the benefit of valuable salmon and steelhead spawning areas, including the only known spawning area for sockeye salmon in the Salmon river drainage.

The withdrawal would include lands in Bear valley and Marsh creeks of the middle fork of the Salmon river and Valley creek, Red fish, Pettit and Alturas lakes, and the headwater reaches of the Salmon river within the Challis, Boise, Salmon and Sawtooth national forests.

Thirty-one of the vessels and 509 fishermen were released and returned to Japan, the headquarters said.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—It is not only Northern politicians and jurists striving to enforce school segregation who provoke and irritate Southern opponents of this social revolution below the Mason and Dixon line. They feel that the North misrepresents their position in almost every propaganda medium—the newspapers, magazines, books, radio, television, etc.

Southern legislators and editors maintain that they are using legitimate and recognized means to prevent implementation of a decision of which they regard as a "usurpation" of rights reserved to the states by the constitution. They recall that only a few years ago, many distinguished Northern politicians, editors, professors and even clergymen staged an open and unlawful rebellion against the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act.

Southern spokesmen complain in particular against the North's persistent contention that opponents of integration are encouraging or practicing "violent and illegal" methods. In this connection, they resent especially the emphasis given to Northern organizations, particularly television, give to sensational and discredited troublemakers like John Kasper, Ace Cline and Eldon Lee Edwards, grand dragon of the repudiated Ku Klux Klan.

DISTURBING MEDIUMS TO SOUTH—Northern newspapers, radio and television programs, according to denunciations on Capitol Hill and elsewhere, feature these disturbing and provocative figures, creating the general impression that they are representative of the Southern opposition.

Sometimes, they are connected erroneously with the respected organizations fighting integration in the courts and state legislatures. These include the Citizens Councils of South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas; the Defenders of State Sovereignty in Virginia; the Patriots of North Carolina, and the State Rights organization of Georgia.

SOUTHERN EDITORS' STATEMENT—The so-called "agitators" do not belong to these organizations. In fact, they have been repudiated by name in resolutions. Newspapers, radio announcers and television programmers have been asked by William J. Simmons of Jackson, Miss., to distinguish between responsible Southern organizations and these unauthorized spokesmen.

Simmons is editor of the Citizens Council, official publication of the Association of Citizens Councils of the United States. He says:

"Our organization is dedicated to lawful and peaceful resistance to the supreme court decision on school segregation. We sincerely believe that it is in the best interest of the country to resist the court's usurpation of the right to amend the constitution.

"Our sole objective is to convince the people of the justice of our position. We are happy that, despite the refusal of certain news media to tell our story, despite the appearance of persons not qualified to speak for the South, and despite the persistent distortion of our position, we are making real progress in our fight to preserve the constitution."

DIXIE HAS HOPES—Other Southern spokesmen now believe that the North may show more understanding of their attitude, since the supreme court has invalidated so many state laws against communists and other criminal elements. The South also considers that many Northern interests are slightly hypocritical on the racial problem.

POT SHOTS

HOT FOOT TREATMENT

Pots: Maybe the scapulae and kerose treatment will work against aphids. I don't know for sure. But I do have a sure-fire system for eliminating them and any other bugs all in the same operation.

A weedburner really gives bugs fits.

Of course, it's a bit hard on such delicate plants as rosebushes, etc.

KITTENS FOR KIDS DEPT.

Dear Pot Shots:

We have five kittens to give away to persons who will give them good homes. Four are yellow and white and one is dark striped. We live at 313 Tyler street and will be home after 5 p.m.

Thank You

EDITING, NOT CENSORING

Just how do you go about figuring what letters you will not print and what letters you will print? Seems to me you and the editor of your Forum have set yourselves up as a couple of mighty mean censors.

What are you trying to prove, that we, the people, do not have freedom of speech and freedom of the press is just a term to conceal a mighty censorship?

Blank (Twin Falls)

Pot Shots note: It's called editing, not censoring. Sure, you have freedom of speech and, yes, freedom of the press is more than just a figure of speech. But don't construe freedom of speech as a green light to libel and slander at will. That is not the intent of that particular freedom. Any letter you care to sign will be printed in the Public Forum so long as it conforms to the laws of libel and slander and is not considered poor taste. How much farther can you go? And so far as Pot Shots is concerned, this corner is not designed with the intent of providing an opportunity for everyone to knife everyone, so to speak.

TYPING TROUBLES

Dear Pot Shots:

While you complained about typing troubles, well, I have them too. I'm a typewriter operator and I've had some trouble with my typewriter. I think I'll wait until I can get it repaired before writing anymore.

Can't read (Twin Falls)

Children should be equipped with power brakes. Our Parent says.

PUPS FOR KIDS DEPT.

(Adult Division)

Dear Pot Shots:

Have two con and cat hounds. One is about a year old, one 2 months old. Phone 0413-32 or we live three-fourths of a mile north of the West End garage in Buhl.

Don Huff (Rt. 3, Buhl)

This Australian shepherd is a 6-month-old female ("She won't be a year old until Christmas," says the owner) that needs a new home. You will have to pick her up at the owner's house between Jerome and Twin Falls. For directions, phone Jerome 0394-24.

OUR BULLETIN BOARD

A. B. Twin Falls: If you would care to clean it up a bit—quite a bit—it might be suitable for printing. But you never really expected it to see the light of day in the form you wrote it, now did you? We'll be looking for your revised note and thanks.

Pal Opal, Twin Falls—We appreciate them kind words, partner, but it wouldn't be fair to discuss the matter here. If you care to, you may enlarge on your topic, sign your true name, and send it along to the Public Forum. Thanks, anyway.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

One of the charges against Dave Beck is "misappropriation" of union funds. Dave Pegler, the perpetual president-dictator of the Garment Workers' union, is Beck's loudest accuser within the union racket. Dubinsky recently paid himself the most elaborate and revolting home, and at the expense of his subjects, that anybody has dared express in his own behalf since the heyday of Adolf Hitler. Sen. Barry Goldwater, Westbrock Peeler of Arizona hammers away on the obvious fact that "misappropriation" does not necessarily involve larceny. This should not need laboring, but I have been yelling it up for more than 20 years without results.

Dubinsky's henchmen insist endlessly and without provocation that he never stole a dollar. They protest at least enough, if not indeed too much. Why do the friends of an honest man feel obliged to go around bawling "Dubinsky is not a thief?"

But is he innocent of "misappropriation?" Dubinsky runs a propaganda paper largely devoted to laudation of Dubinsky. I recently cited a typical, nauseating tribute to himself.

On March 1 an editorial entitled "Happy Birthday" said Dubinsky had recently "celebrated his 68th birthday in the modest manner in which he insisted." The next sentence said he was "a great American" whose birthday should have been marked by "fanfare." In closing expression of that modesty, Dubinsky wished himself "continued good health" for many years, though many of his subject-victims would settle for much less.

The masthead of this paper, amusingly called "Justice," names Dubinsky as president and general secretary-treasurer, and one Leo Stein as "editor."

The front page of "Justice" for Feb. 15 was arch and sly. This one showed Dubinsky in the center of a group on board the U. S. S. Argonaut, a carrier, off Miami. He had binoculars. An unfortunate vice admiral, E. W. Olderton, and a four-striper named W. A. Thorn were there "watching" American servicemen risk their lives in a political show ordered by an itinerant secretary of the navy named Thomas. Thomas soon hit the bricks back to California without answering a demand for the full roster of union-ers whom he had invited on board to degrade patriotic servicemen by putting them through such a "demonstration."

Another in the picture was William F. Schmitz, recently elevated to the grand national headquarters of the AFL-CIO job trust after a career as president of the Bakers and Confectioners' union. You have read recently how his filthy racket is infested with bums who give themselves Cadillac cars and that one of them had a pet prostitute on the union payroll for "organizing duties" of an unusual nature.

On information and belief, I insist that the routine activities of a prostitute are not of an unusual nature in the union racket especially at convention time. But all this aside, if you were a navy or a marine how would you like this patriotic duty thrust upon American servicemen by orders of the Pentagon with court-martial and disgrace for the alternative?

Now I come to the 25th anniversary of Dubinsky's presidency, celebrated at Madison Square Garden on June 13, again with the true, typical modesty of this socialist lick on the corpus of American workers. There was not only the regular semi-weekly edition of "Justice," with a top-line reading "25 years Dubinsky presidency—ILGW progress," but a slick-paper job in rotogravure, 20 pages of expensive cuts and text, all in praise of Dave Dubinsky, at the expense of subjects who well might hate his very stripes.

There were tributes from Eleanor Roosevelt, Herbert Lehman, George Meany, A. A. Berg and Sen. Irving M. Ives, smeared all over the back page. Berle is a new deal nobody who last year said there was "no place for nationalism in the twentieth century." American workmen had to pay for this political propaganda, too.

Page one is a massive, "human-interest" study of the "modest" man at his desk. I counted 22 other photos of Dave in the same supplement, plus a school in China paid for in the sweat of American toil-ers but named for the glory of Dubinsky. There was also a banner for Adlai Stevenson, with Dubinsky standing just below.

In further humiliation of the American armed forces "Justice" for May 15 has a big picture on page one showing Dubinsky with an air force general and seven other officers. The cutlines said "Pres. Dubinsky signs papers making available millions in ILG funds to finance homes at Stead air force base, Nev." He now has more than 300 million dollars to "appropriate" as he pleases. So perhaps "misappropriation" would be hard to prove. He had a million-and-a-quarter to flip away to one foreign country for a hospital; almost a million more to another foreign country for a nautical school for children with no ships to go to sea in.

Answer Found to Inflation—Spend Only 15 Cents Per Day

By HAL BOYLE

NEAR MARVILLE, Tenn., where lives a man who can whip inflation by the only possible way. He doesn't buy much. He lives by a personal standard above the changing dollar.

"This is no stunt with me," said Bert Garner, a tall, bent intellectual who at the age of 71 points out he can and does at times exist at the rate of 15 cents a day or less.

He hand grinds corn and soybeans, puts in a little chocolate or powdered milk, and when hungry makes a meal of it and says he is satisfied.

"What is normal... what is right living," said Bert, who can still climb 25 to 30 miles a day through the Great Smoky mountains. "I prefer simple ways."

To understand Bert you have to know him a bit. He doesn't fit any pigeon hole you know.

Bert has studied at a number of universities across the country. He worked in all kinds of wandering jobs. He spent about a dozen years with the U. S. immigration service. He lives now all alone in a woodland building of his choice. It is a two-room cabin he built 37 years ago. It is in the area where his ancestors arrived some 200 years ago or nearly.

Bert is slender, white-haired, widely read, and cheerfully proud that his way of life isn't for a family man.

Garner has a major criticism of civilization as most of us know about it—and, on occasion, complains about it.

"They're in a rat race, trying to keep up with the Joneses. Sometimes I feel that it is a good thing that there is a choice which opens the way to some people for the kind of leisure. You can work or you can live... I like to live."

Bert himself, who is interested in such momentous questions as the distribution of snakes in the 30-acre wilderness in which he handgrinds his cabin, also knows that to a disciple of nature and considered a dolence there can be no spare time.

There are 80 different kinds of trees in his woodland empire and he has grown 28 different kinds of vegetables in his garden.

So long as a bud burgeons, a bloom flowers, he is alive to the changing moods of nature, which, if nature be not his God, set often in petaled splendor and bright-winged farewell, many times his consolation.

Bert has worked in cities such as New York and Philadelphia, and has studied on the West Coast but either a greatness or weakness in his being has always brought him home to his woodland cabin near the hills of his birth—the Great Smoky mountains. He figures he has held a job only 20 of his 71 years and some of those 20 years were wasted.

In an era of creeping inflation the area of his desire enlarges more. The berries along the mountain trail red his palate and his path.

Bert says he has lived in depression times as little as $15 a year, and today can live comfortably in the woods have their bright-bird adventures—for $100 a year and spend at least $40 of the amount on books, newspapers, and magazines. Outside of common sense, his major vice is reading.

TOASTER BURNS

HEYBURN, July 10—Heyburn's chemical fire and the Santa River Mutual Fire truck, which were called Friday night to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delano Bailey where an electric toaster was causing thick smoke to pour from the kitchen. Only damage was to the toaster.

FOCUS OF RED POWER

Experts on Russia will be arguing for weeks and months the full meaning of the Kremlin's ouster of four top red officials, V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov, Lazar Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov. But from the outset one thing seemed reasonably clear.

Whatever the announced causes of the move, whatever the obvious evidence of policy differences among the ruling Soviet clique, the vital fact is that someone in the Soviet Union now has sufficiently dominant power to order and enforce such a sweeping dismissal.

Some will say right off that it is Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev. Others will give very special weight to war hero Marshal Zhukov's appearance as a full member of the reigning presidium—successor to the politburo—and say it is a Khrushchev-Zhukov team operation or that the red army in fact rules the nation through Khrushchev.

Only time and major actions of the future will tell. But beyond all doubt it was a real flexing of the power muscle which ousted such established Kremlin figures as Molotov and Kaganovich. Molotov particularly, by virtue of his vast knowledge and skill in affairs, had been viewed by outsiders as nearly indispensable to any Soviet regime.

Officially, the Kremlin says one big reason for the ouster was that these men were warmongers who were against relaxing international tensions and improving Russia's relations with the rest of the world.

We of course do not have to buy this line. Khrushchev, Bulganin and others still in the ruling pyramid have either supported or directed such actions as the political assault on Tito, the red invasion of South Korea, the smashing of Hungary's revolt and the threat of similar force against Poland last fall.

But, as observers in Washington have noted, it may be a slight cause for encouragement that men like Khrushchev who have at least given lip service to peace and disarmament will now have a freer hand in charting the Russian course.

Thus if there are any genuine peace desires emerging in Kremlin councils, they will perhaps have a better chance of evolving into concrete proposals without the retarding influence of such rigid Stalinists as Molotov.

Certain experts believe the "warmonger" talk from the Kremlin is all smokescreen, that in truth the basic cause of this shake-up was differences over how to cope with mounting discontent and inadequate production responses among the Russian people.

Decisions already taken for great decentralization of the Soviet bureaucracy were intended to spur new production spirit and assuage discontent. The ousted men may have been resisting these changes so foreign to the Stalinist pattern.

Any domestic changes reflect themselves in Russia's capacity to influence the world power balance, and therefore are of keen interest to us. Similarly, we will watch sharply to see if any genuine peace and disarmament moves emerge from Moscow now that the "warmongers" are in theory shoved aside.

But while we wait to see the policy effects of this action, we can hold fairly certain only of our original conclusion: There has been a real consolidation of power in the Kremlin into fewer hands.

THREAT OF INFLATION

Like the Russians, the threat of inflation is always with us. The battle between inflationary and deflationary forces is to the domestic front what the East-West struggle is abroad.

Right now the battle is raging afresh. The cost of living index has hit a new high again after a climb of many months. The steel industry has announced a price boost that will surely have spiraling effects throughout the economy.

President Eisenhower, anxious to avoid controls, has urged business not to hike prices unless necessary to get expansion money, and called on labor to relate demands for wage increases closely to advances in productivity.

Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey has of course warmly defended the government's policy of keeping a lid on money and credit as an essential weapon in this fight. The report of the joint congressional economic committee lends support to his position.

On the other side, certain leading Democrats, particularly some involved in Senator Byrd's inquiry into U. S. financial conditions, attack the "tight money" policy as costly and damaging to important segments of the economy. They stress the perils of inflation.

With inflationary pressures evidently mounting in spite of existing efforts to combat them, it would be surprising if the present tug-of-war on the issue should be resolved in favor of easier money.

But however the current phase works out, the conflict will go on indefinitely. Our tremendous economy is constantly churned by powerful forces which continuously threaten to become unmanageable.

Inescapably, too, there will be loud pleadings on both sides, one will argue that we are approaching "one peril" or the other. We shall just have to keep our shirts on and hope that out of the turbulent air will emerge policies that somehow keep us traveling that delicate wire.

JUSTICE FOR A LITTERBUG

An unidentified Pontiac youth who tossed a beer bottle on the highway in the nearby McCarum area came into collision with Idaho's new litterbug law.

It's with no regret that we learn this youngster was overhauled and hauled into court where a magistrate assessed a $50 fine and required the youth to pick up the broken glass.

Among all the genus litterbug those who break glass on the pavement are most obnoxious, and perhaps most dangerous.

It's too bad that all of them can't be brought to justice as this Pontiac had been.

It's to be hoped that word getting around as to what happened to him may serve as an effective warning to others who might be guilty of the same offense which is no less vicious because it's sometimes a thoughtless action.—Boise Statesman.

BENEFITS LAPSING

It is estimated there are approximately 10,000 persons in Los Angeles county eligible for benefits to disabled under the revised social security act, and 4,000 of them will permit their rights to lapse if they don't file by June 30.

Physically or mentally impaired persons covered by social security can receive payments from $6 to $105.60 a month if they are unemployed because of their illness. It would be wise for those in this group to have a ruling on their status before the deadline is reached.—Los Angeles Times.

Accused Spies Deny Charges As Ridiculous

PARIS, July 10 (AP)—An American couple last night declared charges that they had spied for Russia are false and ridiculous. Earlier in the day they had told reporters in exaggerated tones that France was giving them political asylum, but the French said this was not the case.

Russians-born George Zlatovskiy and his wife Jane of San Francisco, were indicted Monday by a federal grand jury in New York on charges of conspiring to transmit vital U. S. secrets to the Soviet Union.

"We have chosen to live in France since 1940 and the French authorities are perfectly informed about the American pretensions," they said in a brief statement.

"The information concerning us—such as we have read it in the press—is straight out of a novel. Everything in it is false, and moreover ridiculous."

The couple shut themselves up in their apartment. If returned to the United States for trial and convicted, they could face the death penalty.

Earlier in the day, Zlatovskiy had raised the issue of political asylum as a possible defense against being returned to the United States.

"The French have given us political asylum," the former U. S. army intelligence officer told reporters who found him in a walk-up left bank apartment. "We are their guests."

But the French government immediately denied this.

"The question has not yet arisen," a foreign ministry spokesman said. "The United States has not yet asked for extradition."

Youths Group To Depart for Church Camp

BUHL, July 10.—Twenty members of the Methodist Intermediate Youth Fellowship will leave Monday morning for their annual summer Christian adventure camp at Camp Sawtooth, 32 miles north of Fairfield.

Attending will be Patricia Konecny, Sheryl McBratney, Marlene McDonald, Susan Davis, Frances Crocker, Gary Clark, Janet Piper, Jean Baty, Shirley Stewart, Sharon Stewart, Linda Hartman, Helen Christensen, Ann Albee, Elsie Davis, Duane Dana, Diane Dana, Marilyn Flynn, Jerry Machacek, Robert Loughmiller and Donald Loughmiller.

Mrs. Lawrence Loughmiller and Stanley Albee are going with the group as counselors.

Members are asked to be at the Methodist church at 8:30 a.m. Monday. This is the largest group of this age youth to attend from the Buhl church, the Rev. Leonard Clark said. They will return July 19.

Four members of the Senior MYF will return Monday from camp. They are Larry Loughmiller, Luman Ooad, Dana Botkin and Janet McBratney.

All Out of Step Except Charlie

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—A hundred schoolboys marched past their proud parents Monday and everybody was in step except Prince Charles.

Arms swung in unison as the pupils at the exclusive boys school, which Britain's future king attends, put on a show of calisthenics for the window of their annual sports day. But Charles, in the front rank, was way out of time.

"Watch yourself Charlie," hissed a friend in the rear rank. The remark carried round the sports ground. Charles blushed and got into time.

The Duke of Edinburgh grinned behind his hand. Queen Elizabeth II chuckled.

Way Cleared On Expelling Russian Trio

MOSCOW, July 10 (AP)—The Soviet government's official newspaper yesterday cleared the way for the expulsion of V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich from the communist party.

In a full-page major editorial, the government newspaper Izvestia again invoked Lenin's 1921 injunction that in cases of violation of party discipline the central committee is empowered to use extreme measures, including expulsion from the party.

Without party membership, a Soviet citizen cannot participate in any significant government or party activity. Expulsion amounts to political annihilation.

Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich have been ousted from the party's ruling presidium by a unanimous vote of the central committee.

The central committee's announcement July 9 referred to the 1921 Lenin credo on discipline. Tuesday's underscoring left little doubt that the minimum fate facing the Stalinists triumvirate is expulsion from the party.

Whether the party leaders, headed by Nikita S. Khrushchev, will be satisfied with the political destruction of their opponents remains to be seen.

Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich so far have been stripped of their high party and government posts but not dismissed from the ranks of the party itself. Molotov is a former premier and foreign minister. Malenkov succeeded Stalin as premier. Kaganovich has held top industrial expert assignments. The three have not been seen publicly in Moscow this week.

2 Soil Districts Formed in State

BOISE, July 10 (AP)—The Idaho state soil conservation commission approved yesterday formation of two soil conservation districts.

Land owners affected earlier had approved the districts.

The South Canyon district, in Canyon county, was created with Joe Oberst and E. P. Blankenship, both of Nampa, as supervisors.

In Camas county the Fairfield district was approved with Wesley Fields of Corral and William Simpson of Fairfield as supervisors.

The commission approved addition of territory to three other districts, the Canyon, Dry Creek and Twin Falls districts.

Labor Shortage Being Predicted

DETROIT, July 10 (AP)—There won't be enough young women for all the jobs available to them in the next 10 years, a woman manpower official said this week.

Mrs. Arnyess Joy Wickens, deputy assistant secretary for manpower of the U. S. department of labor, spoke at the annual board meeting of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

In remarks prepared for delivery at a forum on womenpower, Mrs. Wickens said the economy will need at least 10 million more people in its labor force by 1965—and half of them will be women.

Review Asked

SALEM, Ore., July 10 (AP)—The Oregon supreme court yesterday was asked to reconsider dismissal of an indictment against Idaho Power company for failure to obtain a state permit to build its dams in the Hells canyon reach of the Snake river.

Oregon Attorney General Robert J. Thornton filed the petition with the high court. Thornton, a Democrat, contends that the company should have been licensed by the Oregon hydroelectric commission before starting Brownlee dam.

Purges Could Tighten Bond Between Reds

By United Press
The Kremlin shakeup is likely to improve Soviet Russia's relations with Yugoslavia, Poland and communist China.
President Tito of Yugoslavia, communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland and Chinese Red leader Mao Tse-tung support strongly the contention that there can be different roads to socialism.
That means, of course, that it is not necessary for communist countries to follow blindly the lead of Soviet Russia.

Victory for Tito
To a great extent, the victory of Soviet communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev over his enemies in the Russian collective dictatorship is a victory for Tito, Gomulka and Mao also.
Tito broke away from Russian domination in 1948. Gomulka won a great measure of independence as the result of his skillful course in last fall's Polish revolt. Mao never regarded China as a Soviet satellite.
There have been sharp divergencies between these three leaders and the Russians on matters of communist doctrine.

Longtime Feud
There has been intermittent feuding between Tito and Soviet leaders for nine years. Mao criticized Russia's brutal suppression of the Hungarian revolt and gave possibly decisive support to Gomulka in Poland's rebellion against Russian domination.
Two of the three biggest Soviet leaders purged in the Kremlin shake-up were old-line "Stalinists" who held that Moscow was the supreme fountain-head of communist wisdom.

This seems to make it likely that there will be much closer cooperation in future between the Russians and the supporters of "national" communism.

C. J. Carpenter Final Rites Held

GOODING, July 10—Funeral services for Clarence J. Carpenter were held Friday at Thompson chapel. The scriptures were read by Z. W. Pond, pastor of the church. Rev. Dixon gave the eulogy and benediction. Kenneth Dixon spoke.

Z. W. Pond had charge of the committal at Elmwood cemetery. Pallbearers were Augustine Sabala, Fred Winters, Rex Miller, Robert Mitchell, Brese Spencer, all Gooding, and Howard Hill, Shoshone.

CONVALESCING
SHOSHONE, July 10—Mrs. Nellie Helderman, Richfield, who was released from the Twin Falls clinic hospital Sunday, is convalescing at the home of her son and family, Robert Vaden.

NOTICE OF LETTING

Chairmen Discuss Displays

Frank Lintz, left, and Harry Jennings, co-chairmen of the Magic Valley Gem-Rock show in Buhl Saturday and Sunday, view some of the items which will be on display at the Buhl high school. The geode Jennings is pointing at is believed to be the largest ever found at Rabbit Springs near the Nevada border. (Staff engraving)

Precious, Semi-Precious Gems To Be Displayed at Rock Show

BUHL, July 10—Rubies, sapphires, topaz, and other precious and semi-precious gems as well as the rough materials from which they are cut will be shown at the Magic Valley Gem-Rock show Saturday and Sunday at the Buhl high school gymnasium.
No admission will be charged and hours for the show are from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.
Dr. Elwood T. Rees, Twin Falls, will display more than 50 stones which he has faceted. The display will include rubies from India, spinel from India and golden and blue sapphires.
Another member, Harry Jennings, co-chairman of the event with Frank Lintz, will display finished making spheres as a hobby. The spheres will be shown with the rough material from which they came. One of Jennings' most treasured items is a neck slide of black and white agate centered by a topaz, which he faceted himself.
Jennings said that there are 150 members in the Magic Valley Gem club, which is sponsoring the show, and about 40 per cent of them work their own rock. The others are collectors.
Other displays will include fossils, Indian artifacts, fluorescent and radio active materials and desert glass as well as machinery used to work stones.
Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Mitchell, Shoshone, will show colored slides and moving pictures on both days concerning members' findings, where they were located and how they have been worked.
A field trip for persons interested in petrified wood and agate will be taken to Texas Springs, Nev., with Frank Clark, Glenns Ferry, as guide.
Club members have collected rock for grabbags, which will be sold to help defray expenses. A display of moving material to that in the grabbags will be shown. The Buhl Chamber of Commerce also is helping with the expenses.

Farming Cost Still Goes up

CINCINNATI, July 10—A farm magazine editor says he thinks current trends in farming point to a day when only very wealthy families will be able to afford farms.
Charles R. Koch, editor of the Farm Quarterly, said today that the investment in farming today is about $15,000 per worker and costs run about $5,100 a year or more.
Koch addressed the rural life conference for priests of the Cincinnati Roman Catholic diocese.
Koch said there are trends toward enlargement of the farm unit, use of new labor-saving devices and contract agreements under which the farmer becomes little more than a day laborer.
The editor said he thinks a healthy agriculture should be based on widespread individual ownership where a man succeeds or fails largely on the basis of his initiative and soundness of his opinions.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Parents undoubtedly have grave responsibilities these days when cars have such a high value to children that they will actually steal them to have the thrill of mastering them. To sit in the driver's seat and hold that wheel and have that wonderful machine respond to his hands is to make a child feel like a monarch.

Now all fathers and mothers know this and most of them keep a watchful eye on the children and the cars. Father says firmly, "No. You cannot drive the car even to the garage. When you are older and more understanding about cars, you will be taught how to drive but not now, not until you can carry a big responsibility. A car can do terrible things unless the driver know what he is about. Sometimes even then it is dangerous."

Unfortunately all fathers and mothers do not have this attitude. Some are so irresponsible as to be quite unknowing about this desire of a boy or girl to feel master over a car and be really a big person. This leads to trouble, big trouble.

There are parents who are so occupied with their own affairs—work, poverty, all kinds of worry and responsibility—that they do not know that their boys and girls are at loose ends—they stop in the candy shop and have soda and meet their friends. They do just that. And they do more sometimes. They get hold of a car by one means or another and go for a ride. There is an accident and a girl in her early teens lies dead by the roadside. The law holds the boy driver responsible. A boy of 18? A girl of 14? Who is responsible for such tragedies?

All of us, I think. Homes of today offer so little of activity and interest to half-grown boys and girls. Society is geared too high to keep much speed. Fathers and mothers are both at work, trying to earn enough money to keep a roof over the family's heads and pay for the car they must have. Work is denied children. Yet half-grown boys and girls need work that is within their ability and capacity in order that they may grow physically and mentally in sound health.

I am not excluding the boy or girl who helps himself to someone else's car or who takes the family car without permission. What I would want to know before condemning the boy or girl is: What supervision, what leadership, what instruction, what useful work or play are available to him? Society has a responsibility here. The school—the police—the law cannot carry it alone. All of us, including fathers and mothers, must help.

Starting while children are young is the secret of developing the correct routine for successful adulthood. Dr. Fair gives advice in his leaflet "Helpful Habits." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, 74 Times-News, P. O. Box 29, Station G, New York 18, N.Y.

U.S., Russian Views Firmly Set in Parley

By The Associated Press
The disarmament stalemate in London, now being attributed to Soviet stiffening, is also a result of American stiffening.

Two months ago the United States was foundering around in an effort to keep the world from thinking the Soviet union was the only one interested in stopping atom bomb tests and in disarmament in general.

When Soviet Delegate Zorin put on a "reasonable" front, the zeal of the Eisenhower administration was redoubled, although it was noticeable that Secretary Dulles was more cautious about "cautious optimism" than was Harold Stassen, the American representative in London, and the President. Since then the President seems to have cooled some, too.

Outside White House circles, and particularly at the pentagon, there was a growing feeling that if the administration didn't watch its step it would begin to want agreement for agreement's sake. Many felt this involved risking national security.

At that time the American approach to the problem itself was vague.

In Trouble
Stassen got himself into trouble by trying to act as a one-man band, running back and forth between the Russians and America's allies to see what common ground could be established.

The allies were afraid the United States might do something to lessen the deterrent effect of its nuclear weapons and so place NATO in an exposed position.

This was coupled with the fact that Britain is just shifting her defense program onto a nuclear base, and that France is about to produce the new weapons.

During that period, American policy was shifting and the world was confused about what Washington really intended.

Was the White House really gambling with what Winston Churchill and many others considered the one real war deterrent?

Policy Develops
However it may have been then, policy has been developing.

The United States is not going to give up her deterrent. Its value has become increasingly obvious with evidence that Russia's leaders are as aware as everyone else that to start a war which promised the use of nuclear weapons would be to start international suicide.

The United States is not going to agree even to any "first step" program of disarmament without firm and enforceable guarantees of good faith.

Seeing this, the Russians have fallen back on their old tactic of agreeing to principles and balking on details.

The disarmament situation is almost exactly as it has been through all the years—nothing but a propaganda fight.

California Hit by Fire

Firemen stand helplessly by as a wall of flame races up the mountainside to the very edge of their firebreak refuge in Santa Susana pass, Calif. Unable to continue on the road because of the flames, the firefighters were forced to wait until their firebreak completely burned itself out before they could bring their equipment into the area to join other firefighters forming a continuous fire line. Fire raged out of control for the third day near Chatsworth defying efforts of more than 600 firefighters. (NEA telephoto)

Voters Reminded Of School Ballot

BUHL, July 10—Residents in the Buhl and Deep Creek school districts are reminded by John M. Baiker, Buhl school board chairman, of the election Monday when the consolidation of a part of the Deep Creek district with the Buhl district will go to a vote.

Polls will be open from 1 to 7 p. m. at Buhl high school, Deep Creek school and for those living in Gooding county within the Buhl school district, the voting place will be at the Fred Bralson ranch.

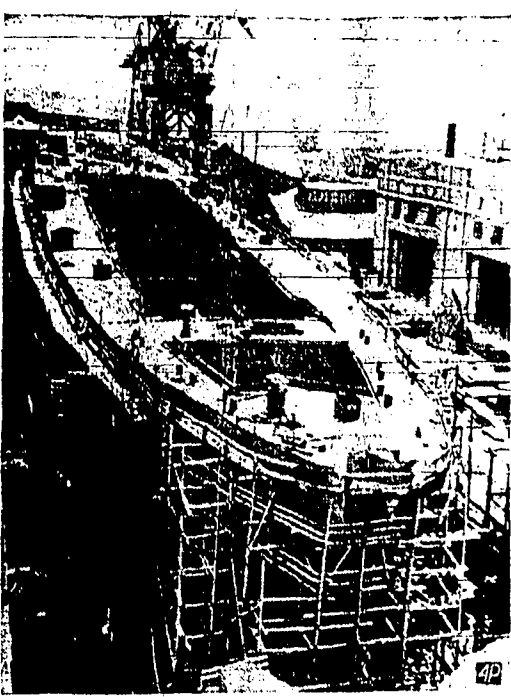

Firemen Have to Fight With Bees

PHILADELPHIA, July 10 (AP)—Firemen answering a blaze here Monday were kept hopping with bees in their boots.

The fire was a five-foot long log—the home of the bees—burning briskly on a street corner. Many of the bees invaded the firemen's boots until water was used to put out the fire and rout the bees.

Fire Lieut. Max Friedman said someone carried the log to the intersection and dumped it. Someone else, he said, lit the fire to drive away the bees.

Atomic Icebreaker

Here's the first photo of what the Russians say is the hull of the nuclear-powered icebreaker which the Soviet Union is building at a Leningrad shipyard. It's to be named "Lenin." Soviet press articles have described it as the biggest and most powerful icebreaker in the world. It will be used on the northern sea route in Russia's arctic regions where, the Russians claim, it will be able to serve for months without refueling. (AP wirephoto)

Contractors Get Idaho's Licenses

BOISE, July 10 (AP)—About 750 certificates of license are being mailed to contractors throughout Idaho, John M. Molitor, registrar of the state contractors license board, said yesterday.

Molitor said the licenses were approved at a recent meeting of the board. The board expects to mail the last of the licenses today.

The licenses are necessary for contractors who wish to work on public works projects, he said. Accompanying each license this year is a copy of an attorney general's opinion which interprets a 1955 amendment to the public works contractors licensing act as requiring subcontractors to have the licenses also, Molitor said.

power shortage so that the needs of large industries in Washington and Oregon could be filled, leaving Idaho's irrigation reservoirs depleted at the beginning of the irrigation season.

The above statements are not idle speculation, but are typical of what was experienced by irrigation pumpers of Arizona in the 1940s. At several times during these years their power was prorated to two days a week while at the same time power from the federal Hoover dam was flowing to the factories of Los Angeles.

The testimony has all been given and nothing has been changed.

"As president of the Magic Valley Water Pumpers association and as an active farmer with 30 years of experience with pumping and irrigation, I feel qualified to say that the supply of power to the farmers of Idaho is a matter of life and death to approximately one-half million acres of the best Idaho farm land. This land is in the main divided into small family units.

"These farms were developed from sagebrush by private initiative with no public assistance. They have become a sound business venture under present economic conditions and have become an important part of the economy of the state of Idaho. In 1950 irrigation pumping was supplying the water to 132,250 acres from 1,900 pumps. At the close of 1956 the acreage watered was 401,983 from 4,534 pumps and using 107,413 horsepower. This development was predicated on the continuing supply of cheap farm electric power without which we could not operate."

Sharp said, "The proponents of a high government dam in the Hells canyon area have endeavored to sell the project to the irrigators of southern Idaho as a reclamation project."

"The fact that Representatives Frost and Ullman plan to introduce a new bill authorizing the high government dam with very little change from the bill defeated in the subcommittee, this dam to be built by the army engineers, points out the government dam as purely a power project which would be operated as a power project and have nothing whatsoever to do with irrigation or reclamation as we have always contended."

"The mission of the army engineers is to develop dams for power purposes and the United States bureau of reclamation to build dams for the reclamation and irrigation of new land."

"The fact that the same dam can be built, if authorized, by the corps of army engineers is indicative of the fact it is a power project in its entirety."

"On behalf of the Committee of Nine and the water users of the Snake river valley I would like to express our appreciation for the interest taken by the people of southern Idaho in the Hells canyon dam matter now before the house committee."

"They realize the serious condition we would be in here if Idaho Power company should be kicked out of Hells canyon. We would be on a 'brown-out' for 7 to 10 years before they possibly could get other dams built."

"It would necessitate the building of steam plants and that would necessarily cause the power rates to be increased. And $100,000,000 a year would have to be appropriated for the next three or six years, which is far more money than congress ever has appropriated for any one project in its history."

Lesson Given

WENDELL, July 10—The lesson was presented by Edith Bruner Sunday evening for the Methodist Youth Fellowship. JoAnne Finger-son conducted devotions. Church camp was discussed. Seniors to attend senior camp will be JoAnn Shultz, Karen Wright, Sheryl Crow and Roberta Johnston.

Women Turn Out to Put up Huge Poster

District members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union turned out Tuesday to put huge poster on this billboard at Filer. Women decided to do the work themselves after an outdoor advertising company declined to do the work because "beer advertisers wouldn't like it," reported Mrs. Homer Schnell, Filer. The poster depicted a wrecked car and the slogan, "It was only beer... but its companion was death!" Several boys helped the women. (Staff photo-entourage)

WCTU District Members Erect Billboard at Filer Themselves

FILER, July 10—Armed with a 2-by-14-foot sign, 12 brushes, four stepladders, and a bucket of paste, 18 members of the fifth district of the Women's Christian Temperance Union erected a huge sign-board here Tuesday.

Under the direction of Mrs. R. A. Drake, chairman of the roadside sign committee, the 13 women erected the large sign after an outdoor advertising company refused the work. The sign is located on the south side of the highway just east of Jordan's corner in Filer.

The billboard on which the WCTU poster is displayed was constructed in April, 1955, with funds donated by all church groups in Magic Valley. It cost $100.45.

Opinions Split On Evaluation Of Red Purge

WASHINGTON, July 10—U. S. experts on Russia were reported split today on their estimates of the amount of real power now exercised by Soviet communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev in the wake of the Kremlin shakeup.

So far they have come up with three estimates covering major possibilities:

Alternatives
1. Khrushchev is well along the way to becoming a virtual dictator. The system of collective rule which was installed upon Stalin's death four years ago is doomed.

2. Khrushchev is still the "first among equals" or the "chairman of the board" of a collective rule system. With his most formidable critics out of the way, however, Khrushchev can now expect much more support and much less opposition.

3. Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov may be the real strong man. Zhukov represents the military power, and Khrushchev could not have continued as communist party boss without his support.

These varied theories reflect a lack of hard information.

State department officials have been deeply interested in reports from communist sources, mainly in eastern Europe, that Khrushchev's foes in the presidium precipitated the crisis that resulted in their ouster.

They were V. M. Molotov, Lazar Kaganovich, Georgi Malenkov and Dmitri Shepilov.

Services Held for Mrs. McLaughlin

WENDELL, July 10—Funeral services for Mrs. Lenora Winona McLaughlin were conducted Tuesday at the Presbyterian-Baptist church with the Rev. William Perdue, pastor of the Jerome Presbyterian church, officiating.

Mrs. Elva Olson sang, accompanied by Mrs. H. F. Holsinger, who also played the prelude and postlude. Flower arrangements were made by Mrs. Pearl Cook, Mrs. Carl Martin, and Mrs. Donald McCloud. Pallbearers were Carl Martin, Donald McCloud, Willard West and C. S. West. Concluding rites were held at the Wendell cemetery.

Work Shown

SHOSHONE, July 10—Demonstrations were given at the Magic 4-H club meeting Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Ross, leaders.

Achievement day on July 16 was discussed. Ginger Ross demonstrated de-horning cattle. Karen Sorenson demonstrated how to weigh a calf and Carol Ross demonstrated mending socks.

Roof Installed

GOODING, July 10—Approximately 20 veterans Sunday morning installed a new roof on the 44 by 100-foot War Memorial hall. Members of the American Legion, Perry Bryan Post No. 30, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Tropic Post No. 3078, donated the labor. Howard Smith managed the work party.

The auxiliaries of the two organizations furnished and served the potluck dinner at noon.
