South Hopes For Changes In Trial Act

WASHINGTON, July 15 (U.P.)—Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland doubted today that the administration would agree to killing the civil rights bill provision which Southern Democrats most strongly protested. The provision would permit the justice department to seek court injunctions against conspiracies to deprive persons of their civil rights and would permit trial without jury of those violating such injunctions. Southerners have demanded that this section—part three of the bill—be dropped. The demand has played a key role in compromise proposals now being discussed.

The southerners argue that the provision would authorize use of federal troops to enforce court orders against racial segregation in schools and other public places.

Other sections of the bill, less distasteful to the South, would (1) create a commission to investigate violations of civil rights, (2) provide for appointment of a new assistant attorney general to head a civil rights division in the justice department, and (3) authorize injunctions to prevent violations of Negro voting rights.

By Carpenters

BOISE, July 15 (AP)—About 1,800 union carpenters in southern Idaho will go on strike against their contractor employers at 8 a.m. Wednesday unless a new work contract is reached by noon.

The carpenters' union says the new contract being driven in a "wild manner" at the park and debris being thrown in the swimming pool. He was fined $10 and $1 as partial amount of costs.

government must show that they are "reasonable knowledge" of a federal injunction banning interference with court-ordered integration of Clinton high school last fall.

Later today, the jury heard a story of threats, tension and terror after Negro students were admitted to the high school.

"We had more concentrated internal trouble than at any other period of year," David J. Brittain, 41, principal of the school testified.

"Why did you close the school on Dec. 4?" asked Crawford.

The battery of defense lawyers rose as a man shouting objections. They were overruled and Brittain replied:

"There had been so many actions, and the tension was so great I figured that was the safest policy."

Keep the White Flag of Safety Flying

Now five days without a traffic death in our Magic Valley.

Tired Crews Still Battling Range Blaze

It would jump the Highway and endanger the district's lookout station at Notch butte.

All of the bureau of land management crews in the district were fighting the fire Sunday in addition to Idaho Power company crews and equipment from Burley. A bulldozer belonging to the state highway department at Shoshone was pressed into service along with the bureau's bulldozers.

Rumors that the fire was started deliberately are being checked by the bureau of land management. Officials are investigating a report a blue Chevrolet pickup was seen in the area prior to the fire and that after it drove away several small fires sprang up.

The flames rushed so fast across the dry desert that crews had difficulty catching it to fight it.

No estimate has been made yet by the bureau of all the land laid waste by the series of fires throughout the district.

The huge fire laid a smoke screen across the northern part of Magic Valley, smothering the eyes and making breathing difficult.

During the fire Saturday the farms belonging to Ernest Stevens and George Jenkins near Gooding were threatened several times. Fire fighters managed to keep the flames from crops and buildings. At one time the fire had reached the Stevens yard around the residence.

Water Battle Seen for AEC Reactor Area

IDAHO FALLS, July 15 (AP)—Comments kept on coming this week end on the water issue involved in the atomic energy commission request to expand its national reactor testing station near here by some 130,000 acres.

At a recent hearing the AEC said it needs the land to protect southern Idaho residents from radioactive fallout.

State Sen. Bert Call, D, Jefferson, says he thinks the agency actually wants the land for the extra water it would give, and says farmers should be entitled to the water.

Alex C. Coleman said in St. Anthony that the underground water is subject to depletion and called the request "federal encroachment on state water rights." He is a director of the Idaho Reclamation association, secretary of the committee of nine and a Columbia Basin Compact commission delegate.

Lynn Crandall of Idaho Falls Snake river watermaster for Irrigation district 38, said he thinks there "is a deep underflow below that the AEC is pumping" which should be adequate for the AEC.

Aden Hyde, Idaho Falls publisher and state flood control committee member, suggested that the AEC should develop the waters of Fall river.

Governor Repeats Plea for Highway

BOISE, July 15 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie said today that last week's "Operation Alert" proves the need for completion of the Lewis-Clark highway across north central Idaho.

He expressed his view in a telegram to Ernest Nelson of Lewiston, who was in Missoula, Mont., for a hearing today on the need for completing the route. Nelson has long been a leader in the promotion of the highway.

Smylie said the civil defense exercise last Friday "indicated how vital this highway is to an adequate civil defense program."

Merchants Give Backing to Show

Members of the Commercial division of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce went on record Monday pledging their full support to the 14th annual Magic Valley horse show which opens the four-day show Thursday night.

In other business, Mrs. Rodney Tegan, chamber office secretary, read the financial report. It was noted that $6,362.05 had been taken in and that expenses amounted to $6,229.97.

Merchants also discussed a "back-to-school" promotion and possibilities of having a king and queen of a costume parade and a king and queen of the back-to-school promotion.

The program has been scheduled tentatively for Aug. 15 to 17, said Gene Shirley, back-to-school promotion chairman.

Tighter Crop Control Still Seen in 1958

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—The government's forecast of a six percent decline in crop production this year has not altered prospects for tighter controls next year to ease pressure of farm surpluses.

This prospective decline reflected adverse weather conditions. Agriculture department officials said they are going right ahead with plans to set up over-all acreage planting limits for producers of corn, cotton, wheat, rice and tobacco who participate in the soil bank program next year.

These over-all allotments would be designed to limit shifting of land from these five major crops—now carrying price-depressing surpluses—to the production of other crops not so handicapped by oversupplies.

Benson aides said that the prospective reduction in production did not alter either the fact that the country still has an oversupply of many crops or what they said is a resulting need to prevent a shift of surpluses from one set of crops to another.

Announcement of the over-all allotments awaits final congressional action on the department's appropriation bill. This measure carries authorization for continuation of the soil bank program next year. Under this program, farmers are offered payments for retiring wheat, cotton, corn, rice and tobacco land.

The soil bank rates for next year are expected to be about the same as those offered this year. Some officials have argued for an increase in rates. They contend that by placing an over-all limit on the amount of land soil bank participants may plant, the department will make the program somewhat less attractive. This reduced attractiveness should be offset, they said, by offer of higher rates for retiring land. But top officials have vetoed these proposals.

Graham Calls for American Revival

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—Billy Graham told an overflow audience at Madison Square garden last night that the greatest need in America is not jet planes and atomic weapons but "a revival that will shake the country from one end to the other."

The 38-year-old evangelist addressed an audience of some 19,200 persons only hours after holding a large street-corner rally in Brooklyn.

"Will God allow us to see our cities destroyed by push button warfare? I don't know," Graham said. "God spared not the angels... God spared not the old world except Noah."

Airline Workers Keep Talks Alive

LONDON, July 15 (AP)—Employees of two major British airlines called off a threatened strike yesterday.

Drivers and aircraft loaders for British Overseas Airways corporation and British European Airways voted to continue talks with management on their demand for a $1.55 weekly wage increase. The companies have offered $1.15.

Lease Is Signed for College Grounds

Gov. Robert E. Smylie, seated, hands a signed lease for 99 years on the Southern Idaho College of Education grounds at Albion to R. Lyle Dalzell, right, publicity director for the Magic Valley Christian college, which has taken over the SICE buildings and campus. With the governor and Dalzell when the lease was signed were Secretary of State James Young, left, and Land Commissioner Arthur Wilson. (Staff engraving)

New Magic Valley Christian College Takes Possession of SICE Campus

ALBION, July 15—The new Magic Valley Christian college began life Monday in full possession of the campus of the Southern Idaho College of Education. A 99-year lease for the building and grounds of the old state school was signed Friday at Boise.

Acting upon verbal assurance from the state land board that the lease would be signed, R. Lyle Dalzell, publicity director for the new college, moved to the campus on June 1 and has been directing activities there for the opening of the new school.

Dalzell, in commenting on the lease, said, "We feel confident we shall be able to develop our school quite rapidly," but did not estimate when the school would begin to receive students. For its first two years of operation the school will offer two years of high school and two years of college. After the first two years, the school will offer a full four-year college course.

Although no head has been named yet for the school, the directors are launching a full scale program to develop the administrative personnel, Dalzell said. A concentrated fund drive will be in effect this fall to obtain funds to insure the successful operation of the school for the first five-year period, the publicity director added.

Dalzell, who is a minister of the Church of Christ, preached the first sermon at the school on July 7. Because of the interest shown he said regular services will be held at the school, beginning July 28.

Dr. George S. Benson, president of Harding college, Searcy, Ark., will be in Idaho July 20-27 to speak at

Gloomy Views Are Heard by 'Paper' Chiefs

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15 (AP)—Nearly 300 editors from newspapers across the United States returned to their homes today to report on sobering predictions of things to come.

The editors heard the predictions Saturday on the final day of the convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. It was a meeting marked by factual, hard-hitting reports from leaders in all walks of life.

One prediction came from Dr. Harrison Brown of the California Institute of Technology, one of a panel of nuclear scientists. Discussing the present behavior patterns of people and nations, he said: "I would be inclined to give rather substantial odds that sooner or later the boat will be rocked and industrial civilization will perish... almost certainly within the next 25 years, conceivably within the next five years."

Brown said the world is "long past the point" where agreement for the control of atomic weapons could be reached.

Lester B. Pearson, Canada's former minister of external affairs and now a member of parliament, warned that such American tariff barriers threaten defense cooperation between his country and the United States.

The ASNE elected Virgilus Dabney of Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch as its president. He succeeded Jenkins Lloyd Jones of the Tulsa Tribune.

Cable Laid

LOS ANGELES, July 15 (AP)—The telegraph ship Monarch is off to start laying the longest underwater cable in the world.

The cable will be stretched about 2,400 miles across the Pacific, from the West coast to Hawaii, to provide a two-way voice telephone system.

The job is being done for the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Too Close

FAIRFIELD, Conn., July 15 (AP)—James B. McKimney says a low-flying airplane not only caused his television picture to jump but knocked down his antenna as well.

The twin-engine red plane swooped low over McKimney's two-story house yesterday and the blast from the propellers blew the antenna over, he told police.

Landreth and Felix Turnipseed, Concluding services were at Filer 1000 cemetery.

FOREIGN JUSTICE

The concern of Americans that their sons in military service on foreign soil be accorded justice when they are charged with civil or criminal offenses is reasonable and understandable.

Nevertheless, there seem to be some misconceptions about the position held by U. S. forces stationed abroad.

We do not allow foreign courts to try our soldiers for certain types of offenses as a favor to these lands. It's the other way around. Like ourselves, these are sovereign countries with full authority over the territory within their borders.

If we did not have so-called "status of forces" agreements with these nations which convey to us the right to try our servicemen for various offenses committed under certain conditions, then the host lands would automatically have the power to mete out justice.

Stirred largely by the William Girard case in Japan, some lawmakers in congress now are proposing that all status of forces pacts be nullified. The effect of such a move, obviously, would be to leave the U. S. military without any control whatsoever in this field.

Secretary of Defense Wilson, speaking for the administration, says the canceling of these agreements would compel the United States to withdraw its forces from all foreign overseas posts. The reason is that our military would not wish to abandon all judicial authority in criminal cases to the host nations.

Under the existing agreements, foreign courts have jurisdiction over servicemen for offenses committed against local inhabitants while off duty. They also act against the most serious on-duty crimes. Other on-duty offenses come under the sway of our own courts-martial.

"We have troops abroad under the NATO treaty and other obligations. Having them there is indeed a favor to our foreign friends, but it is also a favor to ourselves, since our military experts believe it is a vital part of an effective defense for America and the free world.

But in all fairness we can hardly demand as a price for this defensive assistance the abandonment by our friends of their sovereign right to adjudicate crimes committed on their soil. We would not do this for them. They have already made reasonable concessions to us in this field, and their record of performance indicates that their courts hand out to U. S. servicemen a quality of justice of which we cannot complain.

CONFIDENT DIPLOMAT

As our diplomats thread the tortuous path in quest of lasting peace, they move with earnestness, energy and hope—but hardly with confidence.

But to this generalization one exception must be made. A diplomat with supreme confidence has turned up. His name is Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, famed master of the trumpet and a kind of permissible sacrilege which he calls singing.

"Ambassador Satch" has been touring some parts of the world and is about to embark on new ventures into Latin America and perhaps behind the iron curtain. Wherever he goes, of course, he blasts away on his trumpet and grows out an occasional vocal flourish.

Evidently the response has always been good, hence his confidence. For Louis says: "We're doing all right . . . they ain't having so many wars since I've been blowing over there."

Furthermore, he says, if it seems to work as well next time out "I'm gonna keep layin' it on."

Obviously this is a spirit which can commend itself to Secretary of State Dulles, his lieutenants and all his minions.

WHEN IT COMES TO PRINCIPLE

The sham of those who have been fighting desperately for a high Hells canyon dam was best illustrated by all the fuss Senators Morse, Neuberger and Church and Representative Frost made over the so-called "fast write-off" in which the Idaho Power company was portrayed as a bloodthirsty, hydra-headed monster.

The Portland Oregonian, leading newspaper in Senator Morse's home state, took the wind out of this over-inflated balloon when it said: "There is nothing improper in IPOCO, which applied for the tax program nearly four years ago, seeking the same tax advantage provided in 22,000 certificates granted to other firms, including 927 to electric utilities. The fault was in the law, and congress is responsible for the law.

"But speaking of conduct which involves political or business morality, what is one to think of Senator Morse's conduct in abdicating his long-standing and high-sounding position on civil rights and foreign aid to obtain southern Democratic votes for his Hells canyon bill? . . . In our opinion, Senator Morse is no longer in position to shout about principle—if he ever was."

Men who work five days a week probably do as much around the house as men who work seven days.

A Missouri man reported to police that his pockets had been picked. Will the good will please step forward for questioning?

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Both the Democrats and Republicans are playing poker politics of the 1958-1960 variety with two extremely important issues of the day—civil rights and the acute shortage of electric power for national defense plants and great peacetime industries in several key sections of the country.

The administration's insistence on immediate action on the civil rights bill, as well as the South's stubborn opposition to it, has dammed up three measures designed, partially at least, to maintain this nation's economic superiority over the communist world. They figure in all the pentagon's plans.

They are the proposals giving a final green light to federal or private construction of Hells Canyon dam in Idaho; to development of power now going to waste on the Niagara river in New York; and to TVA's self-financing of badly needed expansion in the Tennessee Valley. Regardless of the merits of private or public treatment, it is agreed that their completion is a national necessity.

CIVIL RIGHTS COME FIRST—No action on any of these essential contributions to our economic and industrial resources can be taken until after the civil rights struggle is settled one way or another. And the political probability is that neither problem will be solved at this season.

Many Republicans would like to see the civil rights bill fall of passage before an August or September adjournment. They would then bring it up again at the January session in a congressional election year. Another Southern "filibuster," successful or not, would be fresh in the voters' minds when they go to the polls in November, 1958. An anti-Democratic reaction could tip over many states and congressional districts.

ELECTION POSSIBILITIES—In fact, such a scheme might help to elect a Republican house, if not an administration senate, in the off-year voting. It might defeat several Democratic governors and senators who have been mentioned prominently as 1960 presidential possibilities.

It might conceivably elect Sen. William F. Knowland as governor of California, despite Governor Knight's recent fulminations against a Knowland candidacy. Knowland may need that boost in order to be available for a 1960 presidential tap.

DEMOCRATS RESORT TO DELAYING ACTION—Democrats are equally guilty in the resort to "delaying tactics" on an issue which may benefit them politically. The same members who favor the civil rights program also want extension of a public (federal or state) power system at Hells canyon, on the Niagara river and in the Tennessee Valley. But they are quite willing to sacrifice or subordinate these projects for the party's split-right-to-vote bill.

In fact, they would prefer to preserve the public power issue for the 1958-1960 elections than to solve this basic problem now. In their opinion, although there is statistical evidence to the contrary, it was their public power philosophy which enabled them to win both house and senate in last fall's contests, despite the Eisenhower sweep.

SHOULD NOT BE POLITICAL FOOTBALL—A by-product of this intrigue, which is centered chiefly in the senate, is that it strengthens the presidential nomination chances of politicians not caught in it, such as several governors and Vice President Nixon. Unlike Senators Johnson, Knowland, Humphrey, Kennedy, Gore and Symington, they can remain aloof from the combat, and possibly remain unscathed.

But it is regarded as unfortunate that such grave questions, which have international as well as national implications, should become partisan political footballs. (Released by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

VIEWS OF OTHERS

GAME OF CHANCE

J. Edgar Hoover's warning on the danger of picking up hitchhikers along a highway is timely. In a signed editorial in the July bulletin of the federal bureau of investigation the FBI chief wrote:

"During this vacation season countless citizens and families traveling across the nation's highways will be invited to play a fateful game of chance with hitchhikers—with life and death the possible stakes."

Mr. Hoover's advice on how to play the game was simple. Don't!

We know it seems callous to pass up that nice-looking young fellow, or that hot, tired older man, or that lone and helpless girl (who might have a pal with a gun hiding in a ditch or behind a bush). But the experience of hundreds of motorists who have picked up hitchhikers proves the danger. Many have been killed. More have been assaulted or otherwise abused. Hundreds have been robbed of money, car or possessions.

The best policy on picking up hitchhikers is indeed, as Mr. Hoover says, a simple: Don't!—Salt Lake Tribune.

THAT FEDERAL TAX TAKE

There are two ways of looking at the lately announced report of the internal revenue collector in Idaho that the federal income tax took $12,000,000 more out of this state during the year ending last June 30 than it did the year before when the bill was $120,184,000.

The report brings sharply to attention the gargantuan federal tax bite of which the income tax is only a part. The records indicate that Idaho taxpayers year before last paid into the federal treasury more than $200,000,000. So on the basis of the new figures the total for the year just ended will be at least $12,000,000 more than that.

There is also to be considered the fact that federal income tax rates haven't been raised the past two years, so that the proportion of their take remains the same. And it necessarily follows that the collector's report reflects a flourishing economy in Idaho.

It's a report that should provide a pretty accurate gauge for measuring the way things generally are going for most Idahoans, and in that respect, at any rate, it's quite welcome.—Boise Statesman.

TIP TO TIRED POLITICIANS

Senator Theodore Francis Green, D. R. I., who heads the foreign relations committee, has just become the oldest man ever to serve in congress. The previous titleholder was Charles Manly Stedman, D. N. C., who was 89 years old, seven months, 25 days of age when he died in office in 1930.

On Oct. 2, Green expects to become the first congressman to reach 90 while in office. A millionaire and a bachelor, the senator is still a tireless party-goer and frequently works out in the senate gym and swimming pool.

His explanation of how he keeps going so briskly might be worth noting by younger and tired politicians. At public dinners he says, he makes it a point to pass up the coffee. That way, he can sleep through the speeches.—Milwaukee Journal.

HIGHWAY HORROR

Millions of words have been written impugning the people to beware of the hazards of motorizing, but with tragic suddenness the fact is too frequently driven home.

For example, two Illinois families were obliterated in a highway crash. When the flaming wreckage was probed by rescuers, 11 dead were found, including seven young children.

It happened to them, it can happen to anybody in this era of hurry and horror on the highways. Never forget for a moment that the week-end family outing in the car can be stretched into eternity in the flick of an eyelash. Do drive carefully.—Los Angeles Times.

INDIANS LAUGH LAST

Arizona's aborigines, relegated to the most barren sections of the state, find they're just where most of the state's oil, natural gas and uranium have been found. Comments Phoenix Valley National Guard: "Consequently the poor Indian is no longer poor and is now being solicitously policed by automobile salesman, politicians and bankers."—Wall Street Journal.

Potato, Old Boy: Got one that stymies me for good. There's no more rhyme or reason to this one, well, there just isn't any reason!

Last winter one of the people in our office was continually hollering about how hot the office was kept. He'd open a window at every opportunity and when someone would jump up to close it before we all turned to ice, he'd sneer at 'em, say something about people who were afraid of fresh air.

Now that the mercury has been up near the 100 mark, he's screaming about our very efficient air conditioner. He allows as how the company is just trying to freeze everyone. Everytime he gets the chance, he either shuts off the air conditioner or opens that same old window, or both.

Can anyone explain that one?

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

I keep asking my lawyer why I can't have some kind of trial before an impartial tribunal when I am some judge-a-bum-and-he-bellows-for contempt of court. The judge actually means that I insulted his own majesty and that is just about the case, too, because the buff is a bum. I just expressed my honest opinion of him and I should be allowed to state my reasons and put the proposition to a jury vote.

Actually, the court itself doesn't matter one way or another. The court is just an office, like county clerk or alderman. I may have contempt for a county clerk or an alderman, but I do not have contempt for the office of county clerk or alderman. I can't be both-ered.

But even if I should express contempt for the office of county clerk or alderman, nothing happens. It is a free country and if I think these officers are despicable I can say so and nobody will throw me into jail. In fact, I could stand on a corner and, in a few minutes, hustle up a couple of dozen or a couple of hundred guys, depending on the traffic at that hour of the day or night, who would agree with me that these officers are strictly for limburger.

And that goes for the courts, too. What the hell is court, anyway? Why is a court scared? It is just a room where people commit perjury and lawyers outsmart one another at the expense of individual chumps who get pinched or sued. A court is no more majestic than any other public room and I guess you know what I mean by a "public room," too. They all have their legitimate purposes.

And a judge is no more reverend than the guy in the cap who swabs out the public room that I have in mind. It is no sure thing that the judge measures up to the other guy's standards of honesty, decency and conduct. I tell you I have known a lot of judges and some of them have been terrible tramps. But my lawyer keeps telling me that it is impossible for a court to be contemptible or despicable in this country. He is a very nice fellow and he makes a lot of money, but he seems to me to be absolutely nuts on this matter.

Why can't a court be contemptible or despicable? My lawyer says because that just happens to be the way it is, that's all. Isn't that a swell answer from a guy who spent all these years learning the old mandamus potatoes at Harvard Law?

It can't be contemptible because

He knows judges on the bench, and that includes the federal benches, too, from way back when they were kids in school, back when the judge was a husher around the clubhouse of the assembly district or some police station. They were bums then and they bought their jobs by kicking in money to the organization and pulling tricks at the polls and conventions. But when they climb on the bench all that goes into the past and their character changes and they become "your honor." You can't call them old nicknames like Gyp or Lefty or you will find yourself in the cooler and pay a fine of $50.

Do people call the President "your honor"? Do they call a bishop "your honor"? If I have to call some bum on a bench "your honor" why doesn't he call me the same? But no. You know what the bums do? They soon get so they think they are great exalted spirits to be addressed only in the third person, like kings.

They say they can't keep decorum otherwise. Well, that is just too bad. Maybe decorum is what is wrong with the courts. One of the things wrong with them, anyway.

Except that when the judge is hung over from tying a bag on at some christening or shakedown banquet the night before, he will bellow and snarl and bang that bung-starter at some poor, tremulous Joe before the bar who wonders what the heck he did to bring this down on him and whether he is going to get life just for walking into court wearing a cigar butt in his face. What is so terrible about that? Didn't those bums ever see a guy with a butt in his face before?

It is mighty darn strange to me that when a bum on the bench gets his nose out of joint at some citizen over some trifling thing, and the judge cites him for "contempt," the judge becomes complaining witness, aggrieved party, prosecutor and judge, all in one, and the poor guy who now becomes defendant can't do anything but just stand there and "take it." I contend that he should be able to transfer into some other court, draw a jury and say: "Yes, I called the bum a bum because he is a bum and I am going to prove it to you," and then put the bum on the witness stand and make a bum of him. The bums!

Pigeons Learning Some New Lessons

Although homing pigeons were used by the hundreds of thousands in World War II, in practically all theaters—in the jungles of Guadalcanal, from armored tanks in Africa, from downed bombers, from torpedoed cargo ships—yet, admittedly, they had their shortcomings. The pigeon has its natural enemies—hawks for example.

Next, our avian mailman takes time to get used to his beat—that is, oriented to a new loft site to which to deliver his messages. In fast-paced war nowadays, mobile lofts can be pulled by jeeps and be left far behind within two weeks, which is not good.

And finally, this aerial courier makes only a one-way delivery. It is transported to the front and from there flies back to its loft with a message—with no return message to the sender possible.

But the pigeon post has by nature circumvented one and man is helping solve the others—most of the man-made advances having been made since World War II. Some are in the works, right now.

As for its natural enemies. True, a swift hawk can spot a pigeon three miles away and, for their 120 miles-an-hour flight, the pigeon's lumbering gait of 65 miles an hour is easy to overhual. But against this handicap, the pigeon through the centuries has developed its own natural answer: Its feather is loosely attached, as any pigeon handler can tell you, especially the feathers on the back, and hence when a hawk swoops down upon the fleeing pigeon, it sometimes picks off only a cloud of feathers while in the ensuing confusion the twisting pigeon sometimes makes good its escape by hitting for the brush.

For another, to overcome the hawk and other daytime hazards, birds are now being trained to fly by night up to 50 miles in pitch darkness.

To make a night flier out of a day bird took doing. First trainers mated birds which naturally flew earlier in the morning and later in the evening than the average. From these, the "squeakers" were released from their day-darkened lofts only at night to return to their blacked-out homes from gradually increasing distances. Although night-flying is still in the experimental stage, by the third year when pigeons fly at their peak performance, these youngsters should be stretching the 50-mile limit considerably.

As for getting "oriented" to a new

Montour Woman Killed in Mishap

BOISE, July 15 (AP)—Mrs. Shirley Anderson, 32, Montour, died in a Boise hospital yesterday morning of injuries incurred in a one-car wreck near Horseshoe Bend Saturday night.

State police said Mrs. Anderson was a passenger in a car which missed the curve at the north end of the Payetta river bridge on Highway 15 two miles north of Horseshoe Bend.

Boise county Sheriff Sam Charters said witnesses reported the car was travelling at a high rate of speed and overturned after bouncing off an embankment three times.

GALVESTON, Tex., July 15 (AP)—A Los Angeles man is floating out in the Gulf of Mexico today. Michel Golden said before he left, he would sail or float his rubber raft 300 miles southwest along the lower Texas coast to Brownsville. The coast guard said he'd more likely end in the South Atlantic.

location, the time has been reduced to three days—a truly remarkable feat in which breeding fast learning birds played an important role.

But the most important development—a hush-hush secret in training circles—the former oneway fliers are now becoming round-trippers. The underlying principle is simplicity itself. Pigeons, like most creatures, prize two things: Food and sex. Now separate them. And so, by dangling food and water at one loft and sex at the other, it didn't take long for a bright bird to catch on—and soon, it was flying frantically from coit to coit, with distances gradually lengthening.

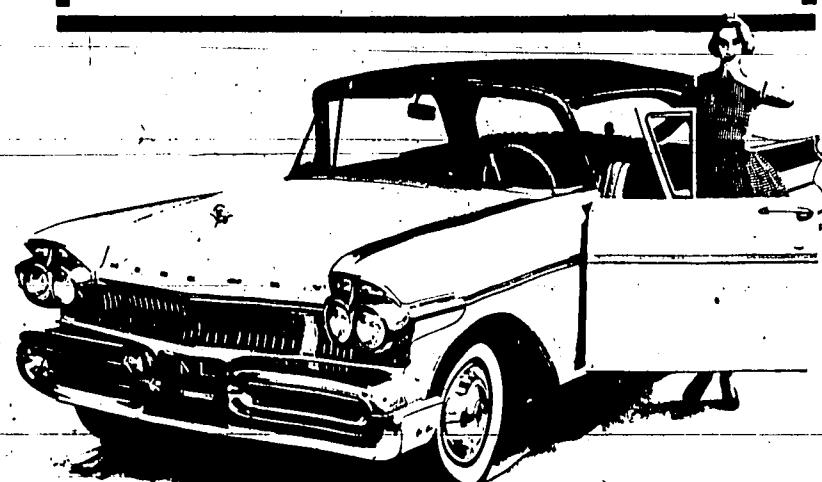

The round-trip experiment began with Mr. Corrigan, the great-grandson of Always Faithful 525 years. Within two months, Mr. Corrigan was high-tailing 12 miles to trip—a "bob-wire"—to announce his arrival at the "food" station with a message attached and then after a hasty reward he was in the air again within five minutes with another message arrowing to his "love" coit at a mile a minute. ## Experiment With Need of Ironing Vacation's Togs

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—To iron or not to iron? That's often a question best solved by a little careful experimentation.

And the experiment itself is most likely to be successful when it's performed with separates, especially when the separates are going along on a vacation.

The reason is this: Some of the so-called miracle fabrics undoubtedly need no ironing at all. Others need only a light touch-up with an iron. Others are handled. A finely pleated skirt need only drip dry, its mate, a blouse, because it is simple in cut, will need the services of an iron.

It is, however, a time bonus to be able to dispense with ironing yards of skirt. We show here separates that will go more than one place on a vacation and be ready for wear whenever they're wanted. All are in blend of Dacron, nylon and cotton.

Rug Strips Made At Guild Session

HANSEN, July 15—Strips of old cottons were torn and sewed together to be woven into rugs at the regular Wesleyan Service guild meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Earl Barnes.

It was decided to weave cotton loop potholders to sell at the annual bazaar which will be held by various organizations of the church at the Methodist church sometime this fall. A treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Carl Davis.

A family hamburger fry and picnic were planned for Sunday evening Aug. 11, at the picnic grounds at Twin Falls.

Mrs. Clarence Hollifield was guest speaker, leading the lesson on "Strangers within our gates." Roll call was answered with the same theme. Mrs. Earl Tridle, Mrs. Welton Tyler and Mrs. Wesley Dyer were guests.

Communism Is Program Topic

SHOSHONE, July 15—"Five ways to fight communism" was the program topic at the Wood River Center Grange home economics club meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Earl Cheney. Mrs. Harriet Cheney was co-hostess.

The program was under direction of Mrs. Ward Mills who spoke on the five points, emphasizing religious means of fighting communism. Following the report, she conducted a contest on the subject with Mrs. Ada Sandy and Mrs. Clyde Newberry second place winners. Mrs. Dean Barney received the mystery prize.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Newberry, Mrs. Ada Sandy reported the club's tuberculosis patient had been dismissed from the hospital.

Mrs. Hall urged members to turn in material for the "glasses for the needy" project.

Citrus fruits and tomatoes are rich in supplying vitamin C; green and leafy vegetables and potatoes are also sources of this vitamin and can help to make up the quotient of this nutrient we need every day.

Mrs. Rosenbaum Is Lesson Guide

HANSEN, July 15—Mrs. Delmar Rosenbaum lead the discussion, "Let's talk it over," a family council lesson at the meeting of the Kimsen Home Demonstration club meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joe Froehlich, Jr.

Roll call was answered with new hints in canning and freezing.

The group voted to contribute funds to send a delegate to the state convention at Idaho Falls. Mrs. Delbert Clappitt reported on the programs outlined for 1958. A workshop on uses of Idaho fruit will be held Aug. 5 at Twin Falls. Mrs. Maurice Capps and Mrs. Jack Long will be delegates.

Mrs. Blake Froehlich was assistant hostess.

Demonstration Is Planned for Meet

WENDELL, July 15—Sally Burratt, Twin Falls, Idaho Power representative, will give a demonstration on home freezing at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Wendell ward house.

The program, sponsored by the LDS Relief society, will last approximately two hours.

All persons interested are invited.

A request has been made for visiting teachers to bring in June reports. The demonstration will take the place of the regular work meeting.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

A young mother asks, "Should we take our baby, 3 months old, along with us for a motor trip across the country this summer? If we cannot take him we must give up the trip and my husband really needs the change."

Babies are better off at home of course, but if it is necessary for their parents to travel then there is nothing to do but take the baby and go. There are many comforts to take along in the car these days. There are beds for them, cradle-baskets that are hooked firmly in the back of the car. There are small portable refrigerators for bottles. One can stop along the way and have the bottles filled and go on assured of the baby's food.

Always one makes certain of water for the baby. It ought to be boiled and chilled. It goes along in the little refrigerator with his bottles of formula.

Clothing for the baby is important on such a trip. Pack warm clothes and always some for the heat spells likely to be encountered. And take a good supply of disposables. Once having decided on the trip, stop worrying about its effect on the baby and make the necessary preparations with the idea of a successful adventure well in mind. Worry will spoil any trip for everybody concerned.

The runabout child who goes on a vacation trip needs to be provided for because he, usually so active, must be confined to a seat in the car or the train or plane. Give him a lightweight bag in which he packs his favorite top, a new toy, a work book and crayons, slippers, a paperback picture book and any other thing he fancies. He packs his bag himself and takes care of it personally. This gives him something to think about and that will relieve his mother a bit.

Provide for comfortable sleeping for such children on a motor trip. The child who has always refused a nap may surprise you by falling asleep every now and then. If he should, he will feel better and behave better and his parents will have a more peaceful time.

How about taking the dog along? My experience says to put him in a kennel that you know to be a good one and leave him there. A long trip with children and a dog can be a worrisome affair. Some hotels and restaurants will not let a dog inside the place. Some dogs are subject to car sickness. In kindness to all concerned, leave Towser at home. Managing the children, the car, the baggage, getting meals on the way will be quite enough. Pleasant journey.

Does your child get along well with other people? Dr. Patri has written a booklet, No. 104, "Your Child and Other People," which gives advice to parents. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 96, Station G, New York 18, N. Y.

Social Calendar

Highland View club will have a potluck supper and the annual wiener roast at 7 p. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Gene Helm.

Members of Newcomers club will hold a picnic for their children at 1 p. m. Wednesday at Harmon park. Those attending are asked to bring a picnic lunch.

Mrs. Hollifield is Program Leader

HANSEN, July 15—Mrs. Clarence Hollifield led the program on "Strangers within our gates" at the meeting of the Woman's Society for Christian Service Thursday afternoon at the Hansen Community Methodist church. Mrs. W. C. Klutz led the devotions.

It was decided to send for a barrel of jars to be filled with fruit for the children's home at Boise. Mrs. Barnes reported that enough wooden blocks had been placed to make four quilt tops. Mrs. Bryan Harris budget report for the coming year was accepted.

The regular work meeting will be held July 25 with Mrs. J. L. Barnes. The reception planned recently for the Reverend and Mrs. Norcross has been postponed because of Mrs. Norcross' illness. A pound party will be held at a later date. Mrs. Klutz stated that a program outline for the coming year had been scheduled tentatively. Mrs. Orville Allen was hostess.

'Talking It Over' Is Meeting Topic

Mrs. Arthur Egbert presented the program, "Let's Talk It Over," at the Community Y's meeting Thursday evening at the YWCA building.

She stressed the importance of a family council in the home to encourage sharing ideas, solve problems, set family and individual goals and agree on how responsibility will be shared. She also pointed out that by talking things over, mutual respect develops between parents and children. A general discussion by the group followed.

A report on the county council meeting was given by Mrs. Gilbert McMill. Plans were made to hold a family picnic Aug. 11 at Nat-Soo-Pah.

Mrs. Paul Magee was hostess.

Initial Meet Led By T. F. Woman

Mrs. John D. Flint, new president of the Christian Women's Fellowship, conducted her initial meeting when the group met at the First Christian church.

Myrtle Anderson and Mrs. Jessie Davis gave reports on the quadrennial assembly which was held at Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind. It was announced that canned fruit to be donated for the youth and adult conference at Ketchum will be brought to the church Sunday or before July 24.

Mrs. Herman Grabert sang, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Hudson. Devotions were given by Mrs. Mark Hill.

The new executive board served refreshments.

Committee Meets For Church Club

KING HILL, July 15—Mrs. Mildred Carnahan and Mrs. Frank Jones, co-chairmen, were in charge of the meeting of the Women's Missionary society finance committee last week at the home of Mrs. Terrell Foster.

Plans were made for an ice cream social to be held at 8 p. m. July 26 at the United Presbyterian church basement. Those having ice cream freezers who wish to donate homemade ice cream are asked to call Mrs. Carnahan, 5362, or Mrs. Jones, 4611.

Some of them think they are going to be happy when all their children are in school and they have a little time for themselves.

Some are willing to be happy until their husbands get a promotion or a raise.

Some are sure they will be happy if they ever get a larger or a more convenient house.

Some even kid themselves into believing they would be happy if they could redecorate the house.

It's amazing how many excuses a woman can find for not being happy here and now and how easily she can deceive herself into thinking she would be happy if she just had this or had that.

But, of course, the woman who is always going to be happy sometime in the future never ends up by being happy at all.

As soon as she gets one thing she wants another. The freedom she thinks she is going to enjoy when the children are able to look after themselves, more often than not turns into a feeling of loneliness and frustration. As soon as she gets time on her hands she begins to worry because nobody seems to need her any more.

The only happy women are those who realize that it is today—that is important, today that counts; that today is the time to be happy.

They have ambitions and plans and dreams, just like unhappy women. But they don't kid themselves that they can wait to be happy until they have whatever seems vitally important at the moment.

They are willing to be happy with what they have while working toward their future goals.

Any woman who kids herself that she will be happy as soon as she can have this or is able to do that is just pushing happiness ahead of her—always a little beyond her grasp.

COWBOYS LOSE ONE, WIN ONE TO SPLIT LEAGUE LEADERSHIP

Pleiss Moundwork Sparks 4-2 Win In Second Game

Magic Valley's Cowboys rallied behind the four-hit pitching of Bill Pleiss to take a 4-2 win over Billings after dropping the first game of a doubleheader 8-0 here Sunday night. Pleiss' superb pitching lifted the Cowboys into a tie for first place in the Pioneer league. But his performance was more than matched by Mel Nelson, who gave the Cowboys only a pair of safeties in the first game. The Mustang hurler was never in serious trouble except in the third inning, when Lorenzo Jackson led off with a triple, but the Cowboys couldn't push him around. In the second game, Pleiss never had more than one man on base per inning with the Mustangs' two runs coming on solo homers by Leon Carmel and Bob White.

Players Gird For All-Star Clash in Utah

Missoula and Magic Valley rest in somewhat unusual positions on top of the Pioneer league today as players from around the three-state circuit gear for the annual all-star game at Salt Lake City. The game, matching first half winner Salt Lake City against a representative club from the other seven teams, will be played at Derks field tonight.

The host Bees tuned up for the game yesterday by nipping Missoula 12-10. Billings won the opener of a doubleheader with Magic Valley 8-0 but dropped the nightcap 4-2. A ninth inning rally gave Great Falls a 10-8 win over Pocatello and Idaho Falls tripped Boise 7-4.

After the reshuffling yesterday, Missoula and Magic Valley sat in a two-way tie for the lead with marks of nine and three. They hold a one game bulge over Salt Lake City.

Salt Lake City's victory was a tale of homers, two of them in the ninth inning. Behind 10 to 7 in the ninth, they got a three-run homer by Bob Hunt and another solid blast by Lou Vassallo in a five-run uprising.

The two blows came off the slants of Gene Carlson who took the loss. Salt Lake City's bullpen ace Ed Radzewicz got the win although Dick Duerr and Tom Shima followed him to the mound to quell a last-ditch Timberjack threat. Ben Sinquefeld and Dick Greco homered for the Jacks.

A two-run homer by Jackie Langer at Pocatello sunk the Athletics in the ninth inning. The losers went ahead six to three in the seventh on the strength of a five-run fourth inning. The A's slugs loaded single drove in two runs and another scored on the throw in from the outfield. However, the Dodgers came back with four in the eighth sparked by Shelley Brodsky's three-run double to get back in the game. Brodsky also homered in the third. Don Jorissen gained the win and the loss went to Ken Kinnaman.

A grand slam homerun by Bob Scarlato and another by Jim Gilchrist enabled Idaho Falls to get six runs in the sixth inning. Both bloopers were hit off losing pitcher Roger Clapp. Dick Jones allowed 13 hits but salvaged the win.

In the all-star contest tonight, manager Eddie Lyons has listed Bill Denny of Magic Valley with a seven and one record as his likely starter. Bee right-hander Tom Shima, who has won nine while losing five, will probably be on the slab for the Bees.

Women Links Stars Begin Open Match

OMAHA, Neb., July 15 (AP)—Leading women golfers from across the nation opened the 57th annual Women's Western Golf association amateur championship today on the Omaha Country club's rugged par-73 course.

The field, dotted with amateur champions of past years and many of the country's finest young golfers, fought for 32 berths in the championship flight.

Match play gets under way tomorrow and continues through Saturday when the finalists play 36 holes for the oldest trophy in women's golf, the W. A. Alexander cup, donated to the meet in 1901. The trophy is held for a year by each western winner.

The competition was spiced by the late registration of Polly Riley, Fort Worth, Tex., a two-time winner of the western. Miss Riley, a top competitor for many years, had an injured right foot, but said after a practice round during the week-end that it would not hamper her.

Miss Riley held the cup in 1950 and 1952.

Vic Seixas Retires Men's Singles Cup

MILWAUKEE, July 15 (AP)—For the first time in the 50-year history of the event, Vic Seixas has retired the men's singles cup of the Western Open Tennis tournament by crushing Texan Pat Barzen for the 1957 championship.

Seixas, the nation's third ranking player, overcame a slow start Sunday and never permitted his opponent to get his game working. Barzen, of Dallas, battled in the first set as Seixas won 7-5, but then couldn't keep pace as the Philadelphia quickly closed out the match, 6-2, 6-2.

The women's singles championship went to Karol Fageros of Miami, Fla., who had an easy time of it as she defeated Lois Felix of Meriden, Conn., 6-3, 6-2.

System

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—"I got a system," mused Casey Stengel about the way his New York Yankees have been pulling games out of the fire in the late innings "but I also get a lot of help from this muscle."

The Yanks really pulled one out Sunday when they rallied for six runs in the ninth inning to beat the Chicago White Sox, 6-4, after losing the first game of a doubleheader to Billy Pierce, 3-1.

"I was getting pretty mad," said Stengel. "My boys weren't looking too good so I told them to raise 'em a little so those other guys can't make any more good catches. He (Skowron) got the idea."

Utah, Colorado Tennis Teams Win

SALT LAKE CITY, July 15 (AP)—A Junior Wightman cup team from Utah and the junior Davis cup team from Colorado scored impressive victories Sunday as a preliminary to the Intermountain Tennis association tournament.

The Utah Wightman cup team showed complete mastery over a similar squad from Idaho and won 8-0.

Colorado's junior Davis cup team trounced Idaho in the finals 8-1.

Swims to Record

HONOLULU, July 15 (AP)—Don Fraser of Australia bettered a 200-meter freestyle world record in the final events of the Keo Nakama swimming meet here Sunday. It was the fifth world mark improved during the four-day meet over a 100-meter-long course pool.

Miss Fraser's new world record of 2:17.7 was almost a full second under Australian Lorraine Crapp's time of 2:18.5 set last year.

Phillies Nearing Loop Lead With Two Wins From Cards

Maybe it's about time somebody took those cocky Philadelphia Phillies seriously as pennant threats, because the "whiz kids" in the candy-striped suits are the hottest team in the National league and knocking on the door of first place. The Phillies now are only a half-game behind the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals, whom they walloped in both ends of a Sunday twin bill, 6-2, 1-4. The Sunday sweep behind "comeback" pitchers Curt Simmons and Jim Hearn was the Phillies' fourth doubleheader sweep of the season and gave them 10 wins in the last 12 games.

Stars Shine In Twin Bill With Seals

Hollywood made a late season appearance in San Francisco. And the Pacific Coast league-leading Seals are all for putting up the barricades against future visits from Clyde King's Stars.

Sunday's first game score: Stars ahead, 18-17. The fourth-place Stars took the second, 4-3, giving them a series triumph of 6-2 in their first 1957 visit to the Bay City.

But the Seals still held a three-game lead, thanks to help from Sacramento. The Solons, fighting to get out of the cellar, thumped Vancouver, 4-1. That made four out of five against the second-place Mounties. A second game was postponed because of wet grounds.

Third-place San Diego lost the opener to Portland in seven, 3-0, then bounced back 3-1 in the windup to stay 3 1/2 games out of first. Seattle, in fifth, lost to Los Angeles, 7-3, then squeezed a 4-3 victory from the sixth-place Angels.

Dodgers to Stay?

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—The New York World-Telegram and Sun said today the way has been cleared for construction of a new baseball stadium in Brooklyn and the Dodgers will remain in the city instead of transferring to Los Angeles.

The Scripps-Howard newspaper reported in a lead page one news story it has learned that Mayor Robert F. Wagner soon would have on his desk a report recommending that the city's board of estimate approve a $30 million dollar project at its July 25 meeting.

Plans call for the ballpark to be built at the site in downtown Brooklyn which President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers has preferred. O'Malley has said he would not move the club to California if he could have a ballpark built at the site now being considered in the city's plans.

Former Champ To Help Train

COLUMBUS, Ga., July 15 (AP)—Former world heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano is going to help Olympic champ Pete Rademacher get ready for his first professional bout — for the heavyweight crown now held by Floyd Patterson.

Rademacher's backers said Marciano would come here July 22 and spend a week helping the ex-army lieutenant in his training for the Aug. 22 bout in Seattle. Marciano also is scheduled to accompany Rademacher to the Washington bout 10 days before the fight.

It also was announced Saturday that the bout would not be televised. Mike Jennings, Rademacher's chief financial backer, said TV was ruled out because of time zone problems.

He pointed out that in order to accommodate viewers in the eastern daylight zone the fight would have to begin at 6 p.m. Eastern time. A bout at that hour he said, would mean the loss of some 60,000 potential paying customers who work at aircraft plants in the Seattle area.

To draw these customers the promoters have set the tentative first bell at 10 p.m. (PST) or 1 a.m. (EDT).

Ban on China Entry Due for Quick Change

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—The way will probably be cleared within the next two weeks or so for American newsmen to enter red China, authoritative sources said today.

Plans for the long-awaited breakthrough of the "bamboo curtain" will be discussed at a meeting here Thursday of news media representatives with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Assistant Secretary of State Andrew Berling.

The state department, under heavy pressure from news organizations and members of congress, has gradually been softening its position on the newsmen ban. Dulles has said recently that if plans could be worked out for a limited number of newsmen to go to China, something might be done.

Since then suggestions from various news organizations have been received by the state department. The majority of these proposals, it was said, favor entry into China of representatives of the 12 U. S. news organizations who had men in China prior to its seizure by the communists.

The 12 news organizations are the United Press, Associated Press, International News Service, National Broadcasting company, Columbia

Rough Start

TROYES, France, July 15 (AP)—Albert Marchal, 42, and his fiancée started married life somewhat deliciously but not necessarily at the prospect of matrimony.

Marchal was hit on the head and knocked unconscious by a 75-pound painting while waiting in the town hall to be married and his bride promptly fainted from shock.

Broadcasting system, New York Times, New York Herald-Tribune, Chicago Tribune, Chicago Daily News, Christian Science Monitor and Time magazine.

While some of these organizations had more than one representative in China previously, it was expected any new representation probably would be limited to one man apiece.

The chief state department argument against letting U. S. newsmen enter red China at present is that the Peiping regime is a "barbarian" government that should not be accorded the recognition and respect due a civilized nation.

Administration officials said the arguments against letting newsmen go to red China could not stand against the overriding right of the American people to know at first-hand from their own reporters what is happening in the world's most populous nation.

Possible Cancer-Cause Agent Said Discovered in Cigarettes

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—U. S. Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said today government scientists have found a chemical agent in cigarette smoke which they suspect may cause lung cancer.

Burney, in an interview with the United Press, identified the substance as benzopyrene. He said it formed when the aromatic oils in tobacco are burned at a high temperature and "cracked" much like crude oil is cracked to make gasoline.

The chief of the public health service emphasized that "no one has definitely isolated the cause of lung cancer." But he said researchers believe "excessive and prolonged exposure to benzopyrene may be it."

Burney said benzopyrene was found in significant amounts only in cigarette smoke because only cigarettes burn at high enough temperatures—800 to 815 degrees Fahrenheit—to crack the aromatic oils. Pipe tobacco and cigars burn at much lower temperatures, he said.

Last week Burney issued a statement declaring there is "increasing and consistent evidence" that "excessive" cigarette smoking is one of the causes of lung cancer. The public health service made no recommendation to the public as to how it should act on this information.

Asked by a reporter whether the statement was a warning, Burney said:
