

President Holds Ground on Civil Rights Measure

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower was pictured today as still in favor of all the "basic provisions" of the administration's civil rights bill—excluding a section especially denounced by southern foes of the measure. "I find no change in his position," senate Republican Leader Knowland said after a conference with the president. Knowland then added that Eisenhower "recognizes that the senate may feel there are certain clarifications that will be necessary." Knowland talked with reporters after he and other GOP congressional leaders held their regular Tuesday morning conference with Eisenhower.

The senate was to vote later in the day on Knowland's motion to bring the house-approved civil rights bill officially before it. Knowland predicted that motion will be approved "by a substantially heavy margin." He also forecast defeat for an expected motion by Senator Morse, D. Ore., to send the bill to the senate judiciary committee for a seven-day review of its provisions.

Knowland said adoption of that measure would amount to killing the bill.

Southern foes of the civil rights measure have concentrated their fire on section three of the bill. They contend it would open the way for military enforcement of racial integration in the public schools.

Opponents also have contended that the bill goes much further than the President's stated objective of protecting the right to vote.

Knowland said the President still favors "all four parts" of the controversial measure.

Asked specifically whether Eisenhower favors enactment of section three, the senator replied that in his opinion "it would be fair to say that the administration would not have recommended the four parts" if the President "had not felt that all are highly desirable and part of the program."

Solon Lashes Officials for Rights Stand

By United Press

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Sen. Harry Byrd today compared Chief Justice Earl Warren to Thaddeus Jones, long hated in the South as an author of repressive acts after the Civil War.

The Virginia Democrat also attacked Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., in a senate speech against President Eisenhower's civil rights bill. Byrd said Brownell had ducked questions as to whether it would permit use of federal troops to force racial integration of schools in the South.

Byrd said President Eisenhower didn't know what could be done under the bill in this connection but that the chief justice did.

"Of course," he said, "I have no documentary proof, and I suspect by design there is none, but speaking for myself, I strongly suspect that the modern Thaddeus Jones now cloaked in the robe of the chief justice... has a thorough and complete knowledge of what could and would be done under the bill."

As for Brownell, Byrd said:

Consolidation of Schools Is Voted

BUHL, July 16—Voters approved consolidation of the Buhl and Deep Creek school districts yesterday, 30-12. The 12 opposing votes came from the Deep Creek area.

Of the 39 votes for consolidation, 11 were cast at Buhl high school, 14 at the Fred Bratford ranch near Gooding and 14 in the Deep Creek area.

The Deep Creek district petitioned to be consolidated with the Buhl and Gooding districts. The Castleford area already have voted in favor of consolidation.

Estimate Upped

SHOSHONE, July 16—Bureau of land management officials here have upped their estimate of range blackened in the Gooding-Wendell-Jerome-Shoshone range fire over the week-end from 20,000 to between 30,000 and 40,000 acres.

A survey of the burned area, as well as surveys of other areas burned in the rash of fires over the week-end, still are under way by bureau officials. The large range fire, which officially started at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, has been watched by fire fighters since an unburned area within the large area still is on fire.

Fire-conscious Shoshone jumped on a grass fire north of Shoshone at the residence of Exerett and Will Sant at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday. The flames scorched a large before being brought under control.

Dutch Airliner Crashes; Death Toll Total Is 56

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, July 16 (AP)—A Dutch airliner plunged into the sea off northwest New Guinea before dawn today. By early afternoon hope was being abandoned for finding alive any of 56 persons listed as missing. A KLM plane missing included 19 children. He said the one child died of burns shortly after being found alive by rescuers. Native boats and launches from the Dutch destroyer Kortenaar searching the area for survivors recovered 11 bodies, Dr. I. A. Aler, president of KLM Airlines, said on the basis of information available, it appeared the plane developed engine trouble and made a forced landing on the ocean.

He said hope had almost been given up of finding alive any of the missing.

KLM listed the nationalities of the missing as 53 Dutch and 3 Britons.

Four of the survivors were seriously injured.

The Lockheed Super Constellation, carrying 59 passengers and a crew of nine, plunged into 600 feet of water shortly before dawn five miles off Black Island. One early report said the plane was in flames when it crashed but a KLM communiqué did not mention a fire.

The plane, "the Neutron," was on a regular flight to Amsterdam by way of Manila, Jakarta, Bangkok, Rangoon, Karachi, Beirut and Rome.

Levy Hearing Is Scheduled In Twin Falls

The Twin Falls city commission Monday night voted to hold a public hearing at 7:30 p. m. July 29 on assessment of a 25-mill levy for general revenue purposes for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958.

The resolution states that "whereas the board of commissioners finds it necessary to levy taxes for the general revenue purposes in excess of 10 mills on the dollar, namely 25 mills on the dollar on all property within the limits of the city for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958," it is resolved that a public hearing be held in accordance with state law.

All persons interested may appear at the hearing and file protests or any other objection they may have to such a proposed tax levy.

The commissioners approved the appointment of Max Brown to the planning and zoning commission to replace Charles Allen who resigned. Brown was recommended by the planning and zoning commissioners.

At the request of Chief of Police Howard Gillette the commissioner moved to notify the proprietors of the Douglas hotel that they would have 15 days to show cause why (Continued on Page 7, Column 1)

Smaller Potato Crop Foreseen For Gem State

BOISE, July 16 (AP)—A yield slightly below that of last year but above the average was forecast today for Idaho's late summer potato crop. The U. S. department of agriculture said indications are for a yield of 210 hundred-pound sacks per acre. The average for Idaho's late summer area is 204 sacks, the department said, and last year's production was 220.

First prediction of the yield of the fall potato crop will be made next month, the department said. Acreage planted to the fall crop is estimated at 175,000 acres, some 7,000 more than were harvested in 1956 and 31,400 more than the average.

The late summer crop is grown in the area west from King Hill and south of McCall. The remainder of the state is included in the fall crop area.

First shipments of early red potatoes were made July 10 and harvesting of the long-white and early-gem varieties is expected to begin early next week.

Church Slaps Mineral Plan

SUN VALLEY, July 16 (AP)—Sen. Frank Church, D. Ida., says the minerals policy proposed by Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton is "too little and too late."

"Since the administration has failed to produce an adequate program, the industry itself and the congress must take the initiative," Church said in a message to the Idaho Mining association in convention here yesterday.

"Senate hearings will be announced, according to present plans, for July 29-31," he said. "I hope the Idaho association can be represented."

Earlier Gov. Robert E. Smylie praised the Seaton proposals, but predicted they will run into trouble in congress.

The secretary's plan calls in general for protection for domestic minerals production against foreign competition by use of import duties on a sliding scale.

Three Persons Cremated When Wrecked Vehicles Burn Near Glenns Ferry

GLENN'S FERRY, July 16—Three unidentified persons, one of them believed to be a small child, were cremated early Tuesday when the sedan in which they were riding crashed head-on with a truck five miles west of here on highway 30 and both vehicles burst into flames. Sheriff Earl Winters is trying to establish the identities of the dead persons through the Texas license plates on the sedan. Bill Harris, 20, Nampa, driver of the truck, is in serious condition at the Mountain Home hospital with burns on his hands, face and legs. The deaths bring to 25 the number of traffic fatalities for Magic Valley so far this year. They are the first 1957 automobile deaths for that part of Elmore county that lies within Magic Valley.

Sheriff Winters is having difficulty trying to identify the dead persons. He said the sedan in which they were riding was a 1956 Buick two-door sedan while the license on it had been issued to a 1955 Buick four-door sedan. He said he had contacted the state motor vehicle

River Canyon Searched for Body of Man

Twin Falls county law enforcement officers and state police Tuesday morning searched Snake river below the Perrine Memorial bridge for the body of a Gooding man believed to have leaped from the span Sunday or Monday.

A note found on a 1954 Ford owned by Raymond R. Johnson, 50, Gooding, parked near the bridge said there was no use to look for him as he had jumped off the bridge.

Sheriff James H. Benham, with Deputy Sheriffs Wayne Hankins and Paul Ross and State Patrolman Marvin Wright, Jerome, resumed the search early Tuesday after halting at dark Monday night. The search party launched a boat at Blue Lakes Country club to investigate the river upstream and also maintained a lookout at the bridge spanning the river in the canyon at the country club.

Also participating in the search were Gooding county Sheriff Keith Anderson and Deputy Sheriff Bill Bunn. Anderson, Tuesday afternoon was checking in the Jerome area the possibility that Johnson had not jumped. Benham was told by a pair of motorists they had seen a man walking across the bridge about 11 or 11:30 p. m. Sunday.

Johnson, employed on the farm of Forrest Kinney near Gooding, left home about 9:30 p. m. Sunday. He told his wife he was "going to town to get some tobacco." Mrs. Johnson reportedly told him she would get the tobacco when she went the next day, but Johnson insisted. His wife said he removed fishing tackle from his car before he left.

Mrs. Johnson said her husband had not been despondent and did not believe he was seriously ill, although he had visited a physician recently.

The note on the car was spotted by a member of the crew painting the bridge. He said he had seen the car there earlier and just happened to walk past it.

Kruschev Reveals New Economic Plan

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, July 16 (AP)—Soviet communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev announced today that Russia and Czechoslovakia have agreed to unify their industrial and economic power so "we can successfully compete with the capitalist world." In his farewell speech in Prague's old town square, Khrushchev disclosed the bare outline of a new coordination plan which would integrate the economies of the two communist countries as never before.

"We discussed economic ties between the two countries," Khrushchev told the cheering crowd of tens of thousands. "We have to improve the co-ordination of the industry and agriculture of our two countries."

"We must better utilize our resources and all our capabilities. We need such coordination so that with the use of full mechanization and automation we can successfully compete with the capitalist world to produce such high productivity of labor as the capitalists can never dream of."

Khrushchev did not go into detail. Neither did the unrevealing formal communiqué issued this morning at the end of the week-long visit to Czechoslovakia by Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

But Khrushchev had spoken again and again of the need for tying together the Czech and Soviet economies as he whistled-stopped across the country.

In one speech, he spoke of the factories of one socialist country producing for all the other socialist countries, of the need to specialize, that there would be no duplication. The tone of his speeches suggested that economic coordination would be revitalized throughout eastern Europe.

This coordination has existed to some degree since the early 1950's. Two years ago, a "communist mutual economic aid" was established as part of the so-called "Molotov plan" for eastern Europe.

Algerian Leader Suggests Parley

PARIS, July 16 (AP)—The exiled leader of one of Algeria's rebel organizations in an interview in a Paris newspaper today offered to open talks with the French without preliminary conditions in an effort to end the bloody revolt within the next month.

Messali Hadj, leader of the Algerian nationalist movement, said he envisaged eventual creation of a "French-Arab commonwealth" somewhat like the British commonwealth.

Seven Killed
YORK, Pa., July 17 (AP)—Seven persons were killed and two others injured seriously today in a head-on collision of two automobiles on the Lincoln highway about four miles west of here.

State police said the speedometer on one of the cars showed it was traveling at 63 miles an hour, and the other 55 miles per hour at the time of impact.

Trial Set for Constable on Speed Arrest

Twin Falls Constable Elton Holmes, charged with speeding by city police, Monday afternoon pleaded not guilty, through his attorney, J. Alfred May, and is scheduled to be tried by jury at 10 a. m. Thursday before City Police Judge J. O. Humphrey.

The complaint against Holmes states he was speeding 85 miles per hour on Blue Lake boulevard north in a 25-mile zone. He was cited by two city policemen using radar.

Holmes' trial date originally had been set for 10 a. m. Wednesday. Holmes said Saturday he was chasing a California-licensed car which had run a red light at Addison avenue and Blue Lakes boulevard.

Minnie H. Puckett, 44, 405 Heyburn avenue west, was fined $11 and costs Monday in Twin Falls police court after being cited by city police for driving 36 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone in the 200 block of Washington street north.

Agriculture Secretary Urges End to Control on Corn Crop

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—The administration today urged congress to drop acreage controls and repeal mandatory price support floors for corn—the nation's basic livestock feed grain.

The proposal went to the senate in a 100-page report on methods of improving federal feed grain programs. It would junk a 20-year-old corn acreage control system which agriculture department officials said has failed to prevent surplus feed-grain production.

Under current law, the government is required to prop corn prices between 75 and 80 per cent of parity for growers who comply with acreage allotments in a 24-state "commercial" growing area.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's proposal would put corn in the same position as other animal feed grains—corn, barley and grain sorghums. Supports for these grains, which have no production controls, are now discretionary with the secretary at any level between zero and 90 per cent of the "fair" parity level.

west, he said. The two vehicles met head-on, nearly the middle of the road on a straight stretch of highway between two curves. The paved portion of the highway is more than 40 feet wide at the scene of the crash, the sheriff said. The truck was not loaded.
Sheriff Winters, who was assisted at the scene by Deputy Ronald Ross, Glenn Perry, said the occupants of the sedan were burned beyond recognition. He said the accident was reported by an unidentified motorist to a nearby ranch. Someone at the ranch called the sheriff's office, he said.
"As near as we know now, there were no witnesses to the accident," he said.
However, the unidentified driver of another truck stopped at the scene and is reported to have pulled Harris from the flames that were sweeping through his truck. He is reported to have said it was impossible to get close to the burning passenger car. The impact in the crash was so great the front bumper of the truck was almost wrapped around the sedan.
A fire truck belonging to the bureau of land management was sent to the scene but was able to do little more than cool the smoldering wreckage. Everything in the passenger car that would burn was burned beyond recognition.
There is nothing from which identity can be established, the sheriff explained.

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., July 16 (AP)—If you want to know how I really feel, said the tiny little man with the scholarly ways, "I'm rather sorry these boys can't stay as they are, with their joys, their vitality, their dreams."

But some of their elders were still awake, pleasantly philosophical and a bit sentimental too.
"I suppose there are times when we are all pretty much fed up with the adult world," the little man went on. "It's not only that we seem to make a mess of things again and again, never learning our lessons, but that we appear dimly disillusioned and not, as a rule, quite sincere."
"What I'm trying to say is that these boys have something we all need in our lives. You can't be in this camp a half hour without sensing it. Immature many of the Scouts may be, but they are all superbly alive, just as we all ought to be."
"I'm no cynic," said a newspaperman, "yet I'm shocked to think what the grownup way of doing things is going to do to some of these kids. Come to think of it, maybe I was like this once."
The newspaperman spoke gently. "That puts me in mind of what Andre Gide said: 'If we could recapture the uncompromising spirit of youth our greatest indignation would be at what we have become.'"
A Scoutmaster had this to say: "Some of the people back home often need me about scouting. They can't understand why a business or professional man wants to go in for this sort of thing. Their idea of helping the boys is to donate a few dollars every year. There's no way of getting across to them what they're missing."

New Study of U. S. Security Order Asked

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—The head of a special study commission urged congress today to overhaul the government's "haphazard" loyalty-security program before adjourning this year.
Chairman Loyd Wright of the commission on government security said the entire program, particularly for government employees, warrants early attention of congress.
Wright, a Los Angeles lawyer and former president of the American Bar association, was the opening witness at house civil service committee hearings on his commission's proposal to revamp government loyalty and security procedures.
The committee is not considering the security commission's controversial proposal to fine or jail newsmen or others who publish secret government information.
Wright made no direct mention of that in his prepared statement. He did say that "unfortunately," the commission's proposals on criminal laws "are not yet understood by some segments of the public and the press."
The 12-man commission, which spent a year and a half studying the nation's security programs, made its proposals in a report released June 23.
Plea Unheeded
Despite his plea for prompt congressional action, the committee is not expected to even finish hearings on the broad-scale proposal before adjourning.
Wright told the committee the current security program for government employees has been "hanging in doubt" since a supreme court decision last year that it does not apply to workers in "non-sensitive" jobs.
Describing the present setup, Wright said:
"Since 1947 there has evolved a vast, intricate, confusing and costly complex of temporary, inadequate, uncoordinated programs and measures designed to protect the nation against the agents of Soviet imperialism."
He said the commission's new plan "would make for a more efficient and economical use of the dialysis and guard against errors which might deprive the government of the valued services of a loyal employee."
The key to the new plan calls for separate procedures for employees accused of disloyalty and others who might be security risks.
The commission also recommended setting up a separate central security office to hear charges of disloyalty against government employees. Each agency now conducts its own loyalty-security hearings.
The commission also recommended that security risk cases involving no charge of disloyalty be handled through regular civil service procedures governing "suitability" for employment.

Probe of Red Union Tactics Being Slowed

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—The long-drawn-out subversive activities control board inquiry into alleged communist infiltration of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter workers shows signs of running well into next year.
Off and on, the hearing conducted by SACB member Francis A. Cherry has been under way since February. It is now in recess, with no further testimony likely before Sept. 2, and there was no certainty today when the department of justice will finish its side of the case.
May Lose Rights
The inquiry was begun on a petition by the attorney general to have Mine-Mill declared to be communist infiltrated within the meaning of the communist control act. Such a finding by SACB would strip the union of its bargaining rights before the national labor relations board.
Several things have happened to prolong the hearing, the chief one being the supreme court ruling in the case of Clinton Jencks who was accused of filing a false non-communist affidavit while an official of Mine-Mill.
Conviction Upset
The court upset the conviction, ruling that Jencks was improperly denied access to federal bureau of investigation reports bearing testimony given by witnesses against him.
The ruling has had a direct impact on the SACB's Mine-Mill case. Since the hearing started, more than a score of government witnesses have gone to the stand to tell about alleged communist activities on the part of officials of the union. Four of the witnesses identified themselves as informants or undercover agents who joined the communist party at the request of the FBI.
The latest undercover agent-witness, Arthur Morales, Butte, Mont., has not yet completed his testimony. Want FBI Files
Nathan Witt, Mine-Mill attorney, has demanded access to reports which these witnesses and others made to the FBI, for possible use in impeaching their testimony. His demands led Cherry to recess the hearing Friday.
Witt is now scheduled to file by July 23 a formal motion, setting forth what FBI documents he wants to see. Arguments on the motion will be heard July 30, after which Cherry has indicated the case will again be recessed, until after Labor day.
If, in view of the Jencks decision, Cherry holds that certain pertinent documents must be made available by the department of justice, then many of the government witnesses who have come and gone since February may be called back for further cross-examination.

France Faces Questions of 'Civil Rights'

By United Press

France is engaged in a civil rights battle which could cause the fall of the cabinet this week.

Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunory is trying to get the controlling house of assembly, to give his government special powers to suppress terrorism and Algerian nationalist rebels.

The trouble is that the special powers would be operative not only in Algeria but in France itself, where 400,000 Algerians live.

Members of parliament got into office the special powers might be used against Frenchmen as well as Algerians.

Nearly every party represented in parliament is against the special powers bill for that reason.

A two-day debate on the measure opened today in the national assembly. Bourges-Maunory is expected to follow up the debate by demanding a vote of confidence on it. The vote would be taken Friday.

It is being predicted freely that unless Bourges-Maunory agrees to amend the bill radically, he will fail to win his confidence vote. That would mean he would have to resign.

Behind the government's request for special powers lies the belief that the terrorism which has kept Algeria in turmoil since Nov. 1, 1954, is going to be extended to France.

Police estimate that there are 2,000 active Algerian rebel agents in France. They force their fellow Algerian residents, under threat of death, to contribute to rebel funds.

It is indicated that the police have reason to believe that the rebels may open a big campaign of terrorism in France in an attempt to force the government to give Algeria independence. There have been many incidents of terror so far. So far, however, only Algerians have been the victims.

In no country is the freedom of the individual more zealously guarded than in France.

But there is increasing talk that a powerful right wing government—say under Gen. Charles De Gaulle—is needed to get France out of its economic and political difficulties, of which the Algerian problem is the most serious.

Very few Frenchmen would like to put their individual liberty into the hands of a "tough" government which has powers like those that Bourges-Maunory seeks, even though it is recognized that all he wants to do is to safeguard the country against terrorism. As the Paris newspaper France-Tribune put it:

"The assembly is today faced with a difficult dilemma—to run the risk of permitting terrorism to develop or of letting our most basic juridical principles be infringed."

Bourges-Maunory entered today's debate with two strikes against him. The internal security committee of the national assembly rejected the bill last Thursday by a vote of 15 to 11, with 14 abstaining members.

Hence it looks as if the premier will have to whittle down his bill or risk losing his job.

Soviet Whirl Turns 'Gods' Into Villains

By The Associated Press

Pity the poor Russian who tries to believe what he reads about his political leaders.

He has to keep changing his mind about them.

In the alternating current of Soviet political affairs, the man who's a leader and a hero today more often than not turns out to be a heel and scoundrel the day after tomorrow.

The only more or less assured permanent residents of the Soviet pantheon of political geniuses are Karl Marx, Frederick Engels and V. I. Lenin. They are long dead.

Take three recent victims of the Soviet "up-again, down again" system of handling political careers: V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich until two weeks ago were described in their official biographies and the Soviet press as "outstanding sons of the communist party" and "true pupils of V. I. Lenin." Now they're deviants who tried to wreck the party. And Malenkov has been accused of complicity in Stalin's Leninist purge of 1949-50.

And so it goes. There's no certainty for anyone's reputation in the Soviet union.

The average Russian, confused, one day finds his factory's name changed from Molotov to something else, and his subway's name changed from Kaganovich to Lenin. It's a dizzy whirl, and he can hardly be blamed if he's much more interested in soccer results than the political brand of football.

First Gathering of New "Golden Age" Group Attracts 25 Residents Over 60

Twenty-five persons over 60 years old turned out for the first official meeting of the club's first officers, Mrs. A. Ostlund, committee chairman for the Soroptimist Golden Age project, acted as temporary chairman of the program and introduced Mrs. Lora Doss, Soroptimist president, who spoke briefly.

Mrs. Reske Honey was elected to serve as president, E. L. Brackett, vice president, and Mrs. G. W. Bice, secretary-treasurer.

In her first official action as president of the club, Mrs. Honey appointed several committee chairmen, who in turn selected committee members. Chairman of the membership committee is Mrs. E. B. Brobst. She will be assisted by Mrs. Myrtle Massey and Mrs. Ella George. Bylaw committee chairman is Mrs. Lillian Zettler, assisted by Mrs. Albert Tschannan, assisted by Mrs. Charlotte Bacon and Mrs. Ernest

Will fight money, and a voluntary lessening of labor union pressure for higher wages, be sufficient to halt the trend?

These are the two points about which, most British comments reveal, they make the point made by President Eisenhower, that there is too much pressure for wage increases which are not based on increased productivity. But labor is caught in the spiral, too.

The chronic inflation in most Latin-American countries has now broken into a gallop.

France is under tensions which have not yet come to a head, but which constantly threaten her with devaluation. She has continued a good many wartime controls. Right now she is faced with two problems.

She is increasing her reliance on import quotas in an effort to stop the outflow of foreign exchange on one hand, while trying to increase exports with the other. This concern with exports in turn has its effect on domestic inflation.

France has price controls with which she seeks to prevent the automatic wage increases which accompany rising living costs there. She is even making what is for France a rather revolutionary effort to collect taxes.

But since World War II she has had heavy military expenses in Indochina and Africa, and the pace is telling.

Italy has tried to stiffen her money and hold price lines. One result has been to increase unemployment, already a serious political and economic problem, without reducing pressure for increased wages.

The stability of all of these countries is vital to the United States, as here is to them. All are running into trouble during a period of relative prosperity. Britain's economy has been going through one crisis after another ever since the war. One of the basic reasons why Britain's anti-inflation measures have not worked is that increasing industrialization around the world constantly weakens her place as arbiter of its raw materials and banker for its development.

Congress is trying to find out why there should be inflation in the United States in a period when there is a relatively good balance between supply and demand.

Blurred Record

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—Delegates to the American Bar association annual meeting dined 15,570 cocktails at the opening reception of the three-day event, the ABA daily convention bulletin reported.

The bulletin said it was not known just how many of the 3,800 lawyers and the 2,000 wives accompanying them "participated in this feat, for as the afternoon wore on, it became increasingly more difficult for observers to distinguish among faces."

Persons interested in membership in the Golden Age club are invited to telephone Mrs. Brobst, membership chairman, 1782-NM, or any member of either the Golden Age or the Soroptimist clubs.

No Hope Seen For Finish of Cement Strike

By United Press

Union spokesmen said today the outlook for quick settlement of a strike which has cut the nation's cement production by nearly 75 percent was "very bleak."

Tony Gallo, secretary-treasurer of the striking cement workers, said although talks were under way at scattered points today he did not see any break in the deadlock.

Gallo said eastern management representatives were "dragging their feet" in the search for an end to the walkout which has idled about 16,000 cement workers. He referred to "eastern management" representatives as a "bloc," but did not identify the members.

Federal mediators have thus far declined to act in the strike which has been creeping across the nation for nearly a month. Estimates of workers in allied industry affected by walkout have climbed to more than 10,000.

Cox of the walkout, which is now in its third month in some eastern plants, is a union demand for an hourly wage boost of 13.5 cents, plus fringe benefits of 25 cents, retroactive to May 1.

West Pakistani Order Restored

KARACHI, Pakistan, July 16 (AP)—President Iskander Mirza has restored the elected government of West Pakistan to power after a four-month suspension. It was announced today.

A proclamation suspended ordinary government procedure at the end of March when the regional assembly got into a bitter and continuing battle over the budget.

Mirza invoked "governor's rule" for the province under the Pakistani constitution. He withdrew the suspension yesterday on grounds the situation had improved.

Forest Fires in U. S. Are Fewer Than Last Year

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—The U. S. forest service says forest fires have dropped to record low levels.

This mark is being established officials said, despite the fact that more people than ever before are utilizing the national forests for picnics, vacations and camping.

Man-made fires were said to be running five per cent below a year ago. Officials said this apparent reflection of effects of many fire prevention campaigns being carried out by federal and state agencies as well as by private organizations.

Another factor, they said, has been a gradual improvement in equipment and in better methods of fighting fires.

Paris Prisoners Touch Off Blaze

PARIS, July 16 (AP)—Inmates of Sainte prison started a fire today while their guards were on strike. The prisoners were angered over delay in serving of meals caused by substitution of national police for the regular staff. The prisoners are fire to straw mattresses in a court yard.

Extra Paris police and firemen rushed to the scene, and the fire was put out before it spread to prison buildings.

SIGNS OF SURPLUS

The years since World War II have witnessed an unbelievable expansion of American industrial plant, which already had proved itself in war as the world's greatest.

Now the question is being asked in some places whether perhaps the country may not be, temporarily at least, a little ahead of the game.

In one of its special reports, U. S. News and World Report points out that after pouring 61 billion dollars into plant expansion and improvement in the past five years our industry has begun to show a good deal of surplus capacity.

For example, the steel mills we have today can produce about 133 million tons of steel a year but the nation has never used more than 117 million tons in any year so far.

If the automobile manufacturers pushed their schedules to the limit, they could roll out more than 11 million cars, trucks and buses in a year. But they never have and now their operations are far below that pace.

The magazine's survey found some evidence of developing surpluses in such fields as cement, aluminum and paper, where shortages have been a plague most of the time since World War II. In the complex and varied chemical industry, numerous surpluses are reported. The oil companies are trying to hold output down to levels well below capacity.

The pattern is not universal. But the evidence of ample unused capacity is nevertheless striking.

Producers are not meeting the situation by flooding the market with goods at lowered prices. Their material and labor costs are too high. This factor rather than heavy demand seems to account for much of the upward push in prices. Though demand might well grow with lower prices and easier credit, price cuts at least do not appear likely.

Yet none of this is considered to spell gloom for the economy. Business generally is at high levels and expected to continue so. Booming population promises bigger markets tomorrow, regardless of prices. Industrial expansion goes on, adding more and more to total capacity.

Capacity in many fields may be running ahead of output. But the distinguishing mark of the American businessman is that he always confidently expects production to catch up. Yet, before he'll let that happen he'll expand again, against a still bigger day after tomorrow.

THE RED PURGE

The glare of the world spotlight is so bright these days of rapid communication and intense news interest that Russia has to think hard before liquidating its top villains with dum-dum bullets in the manner of the 1930's and later.

Even the old style exile to Siberia, which generally meant miserable imprisonment and slow death in the frozen wastes, is out. Like the H-bomb, the purge has had to be cleaned up.

So it is that Georgi Malenkov has been neither shot nor sent to Siberia to rot in prison, but has instead been sent there to operate a minor electric plant. This would be something like demoting Secretary of States Dulles to be consul at Spitzbergen, Norway.

Until the great outlaw, Malenkov had been in charge of all power installations in the Soviet Union. But when he and Molotov, Kaganovich and Shepilov tried to seize power in the Kremlin, the portly Malenkov wound up with only a power station.

Evidently the others are getting a similar downgrading to painfully minor posts. Once it was far to think of the Russian leaders as political cannibals, devouring each other in the brutal battle to survive. But now they've turned to a kind of modern day head-shrinking, reducing inflated power seekers to more or less permanent pinheads.

COSTLY SALUTE

Gen. Nathan Twining, retiring as air force chief of staff to become chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, has served his country long and well, in and out of battle. He deserves the highest honors—and fitting ceremonial tributes.

In today's high cost age, however, it has become a serious question whether those tributes in his or any other case ought to include expensive air displays.

As the general finished his tour of duty, some 260 jet fighters and bombers whooshed over Maryland's Andrews air force base in salute. Senator Chavez, N. M., says this parting compliment cost the government—and the taxpayer—$400,000 just for fuel alone.

Since a B-52 jet bomber consumes enough fuel in 10 minutes to power a moderate priced automobile for 100,000 miles, this seems believable enough. And to this must of course be added all the other expenses incidental to the demonstration—to say nothing of possible crashes, with loss of valuable pilots and expensive aircraft.

Fly-overs are impressive stuff, but it might be wise if hereafter we relied a little more on old-fashioned words and handshakes. They're a good deal cheaper, and can be just as sincere as 200 jets.

One mouth and two ears may mean that you should talk less than you listen.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—A definite and down-to-earth pattern has emerged in the Democrats' concerted attack on the administration's foreign policies. It differs in kind and degree from previous parliamentary analyses of this country's position in the world today and in the long tomorrow.

In this strategy, opposition critics have abandoned high-flown and technical oratory that reads well in the Congressional Record, but rarely causes a ripple of curbsome reaction or emotion. They are pitching their questions—and their answers—to the man on the street and to the housewife in her kitchen.

On all the grave foreign problems confronting the United States—Russia, the Middle East, North Africa, China, the satellites' relations with Moscow, national defense and curtailment of atom bomb tests—they are asking the very questions which trouble average Americans. They are advancing allegations and shifts of emphasis which come naturally to the minds of millions untutored in the high affairs of state, but who must pay the bill in taxes or tragedy.

EFFECTIVE POLITICAL PROPAGANDA—It is, perhaps, the most direct and practical example of effective political publicity since the late "Charley" Michelson and John J. Raskob "poured it on" Herbert Hoover in depression days.

It is also significant that these new-style propagandists happen to include many of the men prominently mentioned as Democratic candidates for presidential or vice presidential recognition in 1960—Senators Kennedy of Massachusetts, Humphrey of Minnesota, Johnson of Texas, Symington of Missouri and Douglas of Illinois.

Senator Kennedy, for instance, has demanded use of American influence to settle the Franco-Algerian crisis, which may yet furnish the communists with a beachhead in North Africa. He will soon ask for a more reasonable policy in trying to wean Poland and other satellites from the Kremlin's embrace.

JOHNSON FOR MORE REASONABLE POLICY—Senate majority leader Johnson heads a group which proposes a similar approach to red China, or at least an attempt to gain a trade advantage. It also opposes Secretary Dulles' refusal to permit American newspapermen to enter that country, and report facts which we—or he—cannot obtain under the current boycott.

Senator Humphrey suggests a greater effort to compose Arab-Israeli differences, especially the basic refugee question. He points out, and everybody admits, that there can be no final settlement in this communist-infiltrated area until ancient enmities are eliminated. For economic improvement, he advocates an internationally financed Marshall plan and EVA.

CAUTIOUS SUGGESTIONS—The Democrats generally urge a more perceptive attempt to work out a live-and-let-live with Russia and China, especially since the latest "purge" of Stalin has failed to heal old and ancient wounds, they recommend a tentative application of diplomatic molasses.

These suggestions, all of which are made cautiously rather than dogmatically, echo the thoughts and language of millions of Americans, who have become doubtful of Dulles' policy of omniscient and stand-offish rigidity. Since the U. S. must fight and pay for wars arising from these disputes, they see no reason why President Eisenhower should not throw his weight and prestige around the world more forcefully and effectively.

They wonder, as do their Democratic spokesmen on Capitol Hill, why the U. S. should not intervene to persuade our debtors and dependents, from London to Tel Aviv and other Middle East capitals, to eliminate the causes of future conflicts.

In short, the Democrats now believe that the American people have substituted a hard-boiled attitude for the sentimentality that was partially responsible for our present international predicament. The widespread support of reductions in money for foreign aid and national (international) defense indicate that they may have struck a popular and human chord.

OLD ENOUGH

Dear Pot Shots:

Get quite a chuckle out of that little note from "B. T. Treen" crying about the lack of entertainment for persons between the ages of 21 and 50. That group is supposed to be old enough to look out for itself and yet not so danged old that it needs any guidance.

Maybe it shouldn't be said, but a person over 35 and under 60 who isn't married could be classified as something of a misfit. Either married, or well adjusted to a bachelor existence, shall we say.

Sounds to me like some old maid is on the prowl looking for a man—any man!

Dear Pot Shots:

Don't think your advice to E.J.G. over Buhl was concerning pigeons will do much good. Pigeons just don't scare out of someplace where they're established. If you don't believe it, look at just about nearly any grain elevator.

However, someone with patience can trap them if he's clever with his hands and can devise a good bird trap. And once they're trapped, there's only one way to make sure they stay away. But it's not such a bad way, particularly if you like fried pigeons.

Frankly, I'd like to know if E.J.G. got any results trying to scare the things away. I never had much success with that method.

"You just don't burn T-bones, whether you're using a charcoal burner or what," our caller insisted. "If you do happen to burn 'em, it's quite a spell before you can make a down payment on another batch!"

He has a point there, but one little thing he overlooked is that rushing right down to make "a down payment" on another round of T-bones would be right in line with the philosophy of "modern" living. FARM 'SUBSIDY' LIMIT URGED

Why not put a limit on all forms of farm subsidy? We mean a limit of, say, $2,000 or less, be the amount any farmer can collect from the department of agriculture, including crop loan interest.

The avowed purpose of farm relief is to help the struggling "family farmers." The biggest oil bank payment revealed so far is $61,000—collected by a Kansas company on farm land owned in Colorado. Some family!

Several other payments run close to $50,000 each. For people on relief, that should afford living pretty high on the hog—Pittsburgh Press.

WASHINGTON

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Hopes for an arms limitation agreement with the Russians have now been given a not unexpected setback at the five-power U.N. disarmament subcommittee conference in London.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin did not reject the entire American plan outright. He merely rejected the basic American proposal on which the whole U.S. plan is built.

This plan has been presented by the American delegate, H. A. R. Stassen, from June 26 through July 5, as the key to the proposal to ban nuclear weapons testing for 10 months in exchange for an agreement to stop production of all atomic hydrogen weapons at the end of that period.

Zorin rejected not only the American test ban. He also turned down a proposal made by Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd on behalf of the governments of the United Kingdom, Canada, France and the United States. This was to set up immediately a technical committee to design a foolproof system of inspection to check against nuclear weapons testing.

This was a typical Russian reaction.

Zorin did not reply at this time to questions about whether the Russians would also agree to stop nuclear weapons production. But it was taken as an important concession that the Russians had at last accepted inspection—a key U.S. point.

This was supported somewhat by Zorin's April 30 presentation to the London conference, in which he outlined a Russian disarmament plan. This accepted in principle the necessity for safeguarding against surprise attack. Now he has apparently rejected this whole concept.

It is considered possible that Zorin's latest position in turning down the key American plan provision is merely a tactical move to enable him to represent the Russian plan. The purpose in this case would be to make his plan the basis for future negotiations, instead of the U.S. plan.

The Russian plan was first presented Nov. 17. It called for an immediate halt of nuclear weapons tests, destruction of nuclear weapon stockpiles within two years, a ban on their use thereafter.

At the same time the Russians proposed a reduction in U.S., USSR and Red Chinese armed forces to 2½ million men within one year and to 1½ million men within two years.

Reduction of forces within NATO and Warsaw pact countries was proposed. Military expenditures were to be cut proportionately.

Here for the first time the Russians accepted President Eisenhower's proposal for "open skies" inspection. They proposed it for an area of 480 miles east and west of the Iron Curtain.

On April 30, the Russians amended this provision to provide an area of inspection Alaska and the western U.S. in exchange for eastern Siberia, western Europe in exchange for the satellite countries and a thin slice of western Russia.

This was a lopsided offer in the Communist favor. But it is typical of the gimmicks put in most of their offers.

Yet this was hailed in some quarters as a major concession by the Russians. Part because they had abandoned their previous demand that the U.S. give up its foreign bases, second because they had moved the center line for European inspection zones a little farther to the east.

On flimsy pretenses of this kind, hopes have been built up that would be possible to do disarmament business with the Russians. Zorin has now dashed most such hopes to the ground.

Housing Act's Use Is Urged By Neuberger

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Senator Neuberger, D. Ore., Tuesday called on the Eisenhower administration to put into effect lower down payments on FHA-insured loans authorized in the new housing bill.

President Eisenhower signed the bill last week but government housing officials have not yet taken action to lower the down payments. A housing agency spokesman said at the time of the White House action, however, that there were indications such action would be taken.

The bill permits this schedule of minimums: 3 per cent on the first $10,000 of appraised value, 15 per cent on the next $8,000, and 30 per cent above $18,000. Present requirements are 5 per cent on the first $9,000, and 25 per cent above that.

Neuberger told the senate failure to use the authorization would place "a disproportionate burden of down payment" on American families needing better homes.

"For instance, purchase of a $14,000, three-bedroom home means a total monthly cost of almost $140—a cost which should not be assumed by families with incomes less than $8,000 a year."

"Yet this means that, today, less than 10 per cent of the population can afford to buy a $14,000 home without straining their family incomes and finances to a dangerous point."

Johnson Will Be Trying to Calm Temper

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Senate democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson, a Texan, is working quietly but constantly to maintain what he calls "a climate of reason" in the senate civil rights debate.

As a result it now appears possible, even probable, an accommodation can be worked out to pass a bill after much debate but without last-ditch filibuster fight by Southern Democrats.

The picture has changed in the past week and could do so again, particularly if the administration fights to keep the bill substantially as it passed the house. Meanwhile however there is much talk of compromise.

No Formula

It is denied Johnson himself is working for any compromise formula. But his public statements imply he foresees eventual passage of a compromise bill even if he has made no predictions.

"When this debate began, there was a widespread belief that the senate was shackled and handcuffed," he told the senate yesterday. "It was thought that we could do nothing but accept the bill without crossing a T or dotting an I or reject it altogether."

He has now talked his Southerners into showing more restraint than they have on the civil rights issue in past years. They agreed to allow a vote today on a motion to formally consider the bill—a motion which has rarely reached a vote in past civil rights tests in the senate.

Some Southerners read the 1956 election returns—with the evidence of a Negro vote shift toward the GOP—to mean civil rights legislation could no longer be stopped in the senate. They now are reported split in two camps—those who want to fight until they drop and those who want to compromise lest they get a tougher bill forced through by means of the "gag" rule.

Nerve Paralyzed Into Sleek Auto

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 16 (AP)—Two young men with glib tongues and neat suits started out with nothing but nerve yesterday and wound up with an expensive 1956 model car.

Police, who still were looking for them, gave this account:

They went to a car lot, tried out a 1956 model, said they didn't like it, then tried another. When the salesman got out to guide them through the lot, they drove away.

They went to a second lot, told the salesman they wanted to trade their car in for a newer one, then drove off while "trying it out."

They pulled the trick at two other car lots, making off with successively better models until they found the one they liked best.

Swimmer Killed By Shark's Bite

ATLANTIC BEACH, N. C., July 16 (AP)—A shark or a barracuda attacked and killed a swimmer off shore from this popular beach Monday.

The body of Rupert Wade, 47, Morehead City, was found floating face down several hundred yards offshore shortly after Wade shouted to a life guard that a shark had bitten him.

A doctor said Wade apparently died of loss of blood from bites above and below the right knee.

Algerian Rebel Is Hard-Bitten Desert Fighter, Despair of French Generals

ALGIERS, July 16 (AP)—He marches for days over the worst terrain without sign of fatigue.

He lives on next-to-nothing, without pay.

He fights bravely and, well as an individual or in small groups. He is poorly trained for team combat and inexpertly-led.

This picture of the Algerian rebel soldier emerges from personal observation and from conversations with French soldiers—from Gen. Raoul Salan, commander-in-chief in Algeria, down to Sgt. Emile Coyande of the Franco-Moslem militia.

Two years ago the rebel soldiers numbered 1,500. Today there are 22,000.

When the rebel is outnumbered by the French and has a chance to escape, he scampers like a rabbit.

When he is cornered, he will fight to the death, even when wounded.

He may be a veteran of the French army of World War II or Indochina. He may be an unemployed law clerk or druggist's assistant. But more likely he is a half-literate villager or country boy.

He may have joined because he believes in the Algerian nationalist cause or because he hates the French—or both.

Or he may have been "drafted" by rebels who descended on his village and gave able-bodied men the choice—join us or have your throat cut.

If he is a villager, he probably grew up with hunting rifle in hand and is an expert marksman. He is less expert with machine guns.

His training consisted of a few days of rifle squad drill. His uniform could be khaki with an American-style helmet or Moslem civilian clothing—skullcap, tattered suitcoat and pants.

He wears rubber-soled field shoes—or goes barefoot.

His weapons usually a pre-World War II bolt-action rifle or British.

French, German, Spanish or American make.

He also has Sten guns, a few mortars, even bazookas.

He has no aviation, no artillery. He has no motor transport to speak of but he does have some radio equipment.

He lives off the countryside, fighting in 10-man sections or bands of 20 to 500. He is a guerrilla—marching by night, ambushing by day and night.

If he is a member of one of the wilder tribes, he may mutilate his dead foe's body, gouging, cutting, chopping.

He has no chance of beating the French army in a pitched campaign. But the French have no chance of obliterating him short of an all-out atomic war of extermination.

Thus, Frenchmen believe, a pure military victory—by either side here is impossible.

Student Pilot Crashes Plane

SALT LAKE CITY, July 16 (AP)—A plane being flown by a novice pilot crashed at the Midvale Airport today.

The pilot, Galyn C. Larsen, 24, Salt Lake City, was reported in fair to good condition with multiple cuts.

The plane, a Cessna 140, was owned by Kemp and Kelsey Air Service. Frank Kemp said the plane was "pretty badly smashed up." He said the damage was covered by insurance.

Kemp said Larsen, who recently flew solo for the first time, attempted to land with the wind at his tail. Apparently he got bouncing, then turned sideways and tore the landing gear off. The plane looks pretty well busted up," Kemp said.

Fancy Wrappings Dispose of Trash

CHATHAM, Ont., July 16 (AP)—Charlie Dobson has discovered that application of the theory that everyone has a streak of laziness helps him get rid of his garbage.

The 76-year-old man who lives in a neat cottage on the outskirts of this city, just beyond Chatham's garbage collection area, fills a small box daily with his garbage of table scraps and old cans, wraps it attractively and places it on the shoulder of the highway in front of his dwelling.

"I've seen many a car stop, pick up the box and high-tail it down the road and I haven't had a box returned yet," he chuckled.

First "Quiet" Jet Engine Is Getting Tests

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., July 16 (AP)—A new whispering giant of a jet engine blasted away at full throttle on a mountain-side test stand here Monday. The modest roar that echoed over the sunlit rocks and sagebrush gave a promise of future quiet and reliable jet airline service for cities throughout the world.

Listeners found themselves agreeing with the engine manufacturer, Curtiss-Wright corporation, Woodridge, N. J., that the engine was much less noisy than the military jets now flying.

Roy T. Hurley, Curtiss-Wright president, said an airliner with four of the new jet engines—the Zephyr T388—also would be quieter than the current propeller-driven four engine transports, the great majority of which are powered by Curtiss-Wright piston engines.

Hurley told reporters that current jets all use engines developed for military purposes. He said with satisfaction as newsmen, airport representatives and airline officials listened to the low sound output of the first engine noise demonstration of its kind.

"That's the sound level we think can be reached if we forget military engines and go commercial."

The 12,500-pound thrust engine was run up first at full power with observers 300 feet away. Sound measuring equipment registered 100 decibels, which Hurley said was generally considered the maximum noise output that the public would tolerate. He added that a four-engine propeller driven airplane at that distance would produce about 115 decibels and a military jet would produce up to 135.

The group drove down a mountain-side 900 feet below the engine test stand and 3,700 feet away, or about where a listener would be when a plane was taking off from an airport. The sound level there was 88 decibels.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 16 (AP)—Pedestrian Clarence Benham, 35, thought he saw his brother-in-law driving along a street.

As a joke he turned in front of the automobile. The car, it jumped out, didn't belong to his brother-in-law. Benham was treated at a hospital for minor injuries.

AEC Investigates Damages by Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 16 (AP)—The atomic energy commission today investigated reports that yesterday's "Dialo" shot caused minor damage in some homes within a radius of 300 miles of the test site.

E. K. Butler, an inspector in the Carson City, Nev., police department, said the shock of the nuclear device equivalent to 10,000 tons of TNT broke a window in his home and cracked others in neighboring homes. Carson City is 250 miles from the atomic proving ground.

The AEC said it was the first case of blast waves traveling through the atmosphere causing damage at such a distance. The AEC said it would check the damage reports to determine if they were test related and accept claims for payment.

The "Dialo" device, which failed to fire June 28 because of a power failure, behaved perfectly yesterday as it was fired atop a 800-foot steel tower. The flash was seen as far as Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Teachers receiving awards for their work were Mrs. Bud Scovill, Mrs. John King, Mrs. Robert Stimpson and Mrs. Harold Hurst. Bishop Stevens Helmer made the presentations. Speakers were Clyde Stimpson, Warm Springs, Ore., and Dale McCombs.

Two Nike Rocket Sites Are Begun

HEIDELBERG, Germany, July 16 (AP)—The first two U. S. army Nike rocket launching sites in Europe are under construction today in West Germany.

Army officials ended a security blackout on the progress of the Nike project to disclose work has begun at two sites west of the Rhine river. German sources said a total of 11 Nike launching sites are planned for West Germany.

It was believed the Nikes will be the new Ajax model, capable of carrying an atomic warhead. The Ajax model is now replacing the conventional Nikes guarding cities and airbases in the U. S.

Planes Trying To Sink Tank

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—Three navy planes planned a war maneuver today on a steel container with 20 tons of radioactive sodium afloat in the Atlantic ocean.

They were to strafe and sink the yellow-colored cylinder now under guard by a coast guard cutter. The tank of atomic waste was dumped into the ocean about 185 miles southeast of New York Sunday but a delayed fuse dynamite charge used to sink it failed.

The cylinder was considered dangerous to navigation because of its size and also the explosive effect of sodium when mixed with water. No radiation danger was feared from the low-grade radioactive waste.

A coast guard cutter kept its searchlight on the tank last night to keep track of it. The container had been lost Sunday when it failed to sink and was not found until late yesterday.

Canada, U.S. Still Good Friends, but Northern Neighbor Is Becoming Irked

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—A Canadian like the Yankee dollar as well as the next man. But he is getting irked at some things Yankees are doing. And today he is saying so right out loud.

Canada needs U. S. dollars to develop its vast resources and growing industries. It also likes and buys many U. S. products—more in fact than it sells us. It's less than entirely happy about either of these things—and it chafes at our competition with it in world markets.

The new regime in Canada—the Conservatives coming in after 20 years of Liberal rule—is partly reminding Washington that it plans to oppose some practices both by the U. S. government and by U. S. businessmen.

Pictures Ban Is Protested

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—Three photographers took more than 200 pictures during an American Bar association meeting yesterday to demonstrate that modern cameras do not disturb court room procedures.

The photographers used 35 millimeter cameras without flashbulbs during the association's conference on personal finance, which is held annually.

Judge Philbrick McCoy of Los Angeles superior court, who opposes news photography in courts, presided over the session. He refused comment on the photographers' demonstration, held to protest canon 35 of the bar association, a rule that prohibits taking of pictures during trials.

The three photographers who took part in the one-hour demonstration were Art Rickerby of the United Press, Joe Engel of the New York Herald Tribune and Sam Schulman of International News Pictures. All are members of the New York Press Photographers association.

Peron Followers Remain in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 16 (AP)—The Chilean supreme court has denied an Argentine government request for the extradition of six Peronists, it was disclosed today.

The six men have been in custody here since they escaped from jail in Rio Gallegos, Argentina, several weeks ago, crossed the border and asked for political asylum. Observers said the men will be released if the Argentine government does not appeal the case.

Appeal Filed on Theft Conviction

The attorney for James Polson and Betty Jo Anne Johnson, convicted of second degree burglary, gave notice Monday he is appealing a Twin Falls district court sentence to the state supreme court.

Vernon K. Smith, Boise, stated he is filing his appeal on grounds that Judge Hugh A. Baker denied a motion to suppress evidence in the case and that a motion for a new trial was also denied by Judge Baker.

A 12-member jury found the pair guilty of burglarizing the Wilson-Bates store, Buhl, and Judge Baker sentenced them to five years in the state penitentiary. He placed the woman on probation for three years and withheld commitment of Polson for 10 days to permit Smith time to file his appeal. The 10 days were up Monday.

ALL-STARS THUMP SALT LAKE CITY FOR SOLID 9-3 VICTORY

Stars Jump to Early Lead Before Blasting Game Open With 4-Run Ninth Inning

SALT LAKE CITY, July 16 (AP)—The All-Stars of the Pioneer league Monday night punched over four runs in the top of the ninth inning for a solid 9-3 victory over the Salt Lake Bees in the annual mid-season classic. The Stars stunned the Bees with three runs in the first inning as Jess Queen, Idaho Falls leftfielder, and Billings' shortstop Lyle Krall got singles. Centerfielder Duke Carmel of the Mustangs cracked another single that brought in Queen for the night's first score. Boise rightfielder Bob Jacoby's hit was bobbled and Krall and Carmel skipped across the plate. Salt Lake was frozen out for two innings but they produced six hits in the third and collected two runs and their only threatening show of the game.

T.F. Tennis Club Is Defeated by Pocatello

The Pocatello tennis club scored a 7-5 team victory over the Twin Falls club here Sunday afternoon at Harmon park. Howard Sealey led off for the visitors with a 6-3, 6-2 win over Dick Rene. Stan Howell threw a scare into Vern Mitchell but finally fell before the Pocatello man 6-2, 0-6, 8-6. Bill Koch, rated No. 1 player in the state, tripped up Leon Fenwick 6-2, 6-3, and Gene Shirley fell before Jim Johnston, Pocatello, 6-4, 6-3.

Phillies Drop Cards to Take League Lead

By The Associated Press

The unpredictable Philadelphia Phillies vaulted into first place in the National league Monday night with prize rookie Jack Sanford pitching a 6-2 victory over the visiting St. Louis Cardinals.

Sanford yielded only five hits in chalking up his 12th victory against two defeats, the best record in the league.

Philadelphia banged out six hits including a two-run homer by Willie Jones, his eighth, and a two-run double by Grady Hamner.

Willie Mays, continuing his resurgence from the worst batting slump of his career, was the big gun for the Giants again. He hit his 16th homerun, a run-producing double and stole his 24th base as New York defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-3.

Mays, whose 12th inning homer downed the Cubs Sunday, reached the left field roof of the Polo grounds with a long drive off Don Elston in the third inning. The two-run blast enabled the Giants to overcome a 3-2 deficit. It was Willie's third homer in three games.

In the eighth, Mays led off with his two-bagger. He moved to third on Bobby Thomson's hit and scored on Daryl Spencer's sacrifice fly to center field.

The Washington Senators defeated the home-sitting Kansas City Athletics 10-3 making the most of 11 hits while the A's mowed Russ Kemmerer for 12 without effect.

Kemmerer contributed a 2-run homer to the victory, which gave the Senators a 2-1 edge in the teams' 3-game series. The home-run was one of three for Washington. Louie Berberet hit a 2-run round-tripper and Faye Thorneberry immediately followed with a bases-empty clout in the second inning.

Tim Thompson homered for the A's, also in the second.

Newcombe Remains Unimpressed

Don Newcombe, Brooklyn pitcher, appears only mildly interested as he strolls through mass of embattled Brooklyn and Cincinnati players during seventh inning melee at Ebbets field in New York, July 11. Identifiable Brooklyn players grouped around Cincinnati's Raul Sanchez and Dodger's Junior Gilliam at right are Pete Reese (1), Gil Hodges (14) and Roy Campanella (39). Redlegs' Don Hoak is on ground while Johnny Temple (16) of Cincinnati moves in. At left, Brooklyn manager Walt Alton tries to separate two unidentified batters, while at top left, Red Sox catcher Smokey Burgess is held by unknown opponent, and capless Dodger races to scene. Williams Ousts Mantle as Homerun King, Challenges for Batting Lead

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—Enjoying his best week of the 1957 season, Ted Williams has taken over the American league lead in homeruns while threatening Mickey Mantle's month-long edge in the batting competition. The 38-year-old Williams, playing in his 16th season for the Boston Red Sox, trailed Mantle by 26 batting points and two homeruns last week. In the four days of regular season action since the All-Star game, however, Williams collected nine hits in 16 times at bat, lifting his batting mark 16 points to .359.

The New York Yankees' star, meanwhile, had only six safeties in 19 tries dropping his average four points to .365. Mantle has been the batting leader since June 15.

Five of Williams' hits were homeruns while only two of Mantle's went out of the park. This pushed Ted's total for the year to 25 as compared with Mickey's 24. It also increased the Red Sox slugger's lifetime total to 443 homeruns.

In the National league, Hank Aaron of Milwaukee continued to set the batting pace at .347, an average unchanged from last week. The hard-hitting Braves' outfielder hit one homerun and drove in a pair of runs. He also is the top man in these departments with 28 homeruns and 74 RBIs.

Stan Musial of the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals boosted his average two points to .343 and replaced Pittsburgh's Doc Ford in the run-up spot in batting. Ford lost 13 points, collecting five hits in 26 trips. His mark fell to .331.

Mantle and Williams in the American league and Aaron, Musial and Ford in the National are the only players in contention for batting honors.

Bill Skowron of the Yankees is a distant third in the American league with .332.

Dick Groat of Pittsburgh is in the No. 4 spot in National league batting with a .319 slate.

Hector Lopez of Kansas City currently is one of the major's most productive batmen. He had hit safely in 20 consecutive games through Sunday. This streak raised his average to .320—good for sixth place in the AL.

Local Shooters Sweep Honors in Utah Rifle Meet

Local shooters practically ran off with the honors at the annual Utah State smallbore tournament last week-end, copping 36 of the 66 awards presented. However, Crest Page, Grand Junction, Colo., posted the high individual score and was the champion. The nine Twin Falls entries, headed by the Sanborn family, stole the thunder, however, from the field of 30 competitors from California, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho and the host state.

Of special acclaim was the performance turned in by Tom Burns, local navy recruiter, who posted four firsts in the meet. It was his first competition.

Mrs. Grant Sanborn wrapped up first place in the iron sights 100 yard expert and iron sights aggregate and then teamed with A. O. Becker in the buddy match for another first. Becker also posted four other firsts in the iron sights division, taking the top trophies for iron sharpshooter at 50 yards and 100 yards, second in the sharpshooter, 100 yards and second again in the aggregate. Henry Benson followed Becker in the aggregate, taking third.

JoAnn Sanborn was first in the junior all iron sights and aggregate. In the "any sights" division, Mrs. Sanborn picked-up second prize in the expert 50 yards, 50 meters aggregate. She took third in the 100 yards and also was first in the grand champion shoot. Later she again teamed with Becker to win the any sight buddy match. Benson also placed in that division with a third in the grand champion shoot.

Becker again followed in the any sights division, racking up top honors for sharpshooters in the 50 yard, 50 meter, 100 yard and grand aggregate. Burns also scored heavily taking first in 50 yard, 50 meter, 100 yard and aggregate for man.

Grant Sanborn swept the expert any sight ranks in the 50 yard and 50 meter events and followed up with second in the 100 yard. He topped that by taking the aggregate and then was satisfied with second in the expert grand scoring.

Injury Forces Burke Out of PGA Golf Meet

DAYTON, O., July 16 (AP)—Defending Champion Jack Burke, Jr., said he will be forced to withdraw from the PGA tournament unless his injured wrist improves by Wednesday's tee-off time. "Every time I hit the ball a sharp pain runs through my left arm," the curly-haired titleholder from Klamath Falls, N. Y., said.

"I'll rest today. Tomorrow I'll go out and hit some. If I can hit the ball off the tee, I'll play. Otherwise, I'm out."

Burke, idled for a month by aggravated tendons in his right hand which forced him to quit after 36 holes in the National Open at Toledo, injured his left hand in an accident at his home in Houston. He slipped while climbing down the embankment of a creek and hurt his left hand in breaking the fall.

He played an 18-hole exhibition here Sunday with his hand badly swollen, shooting a wild 78. Monday morning he took whirlpool and electric treatments and rested the hand on doctor's orders.

Burke is scheduled to meet Gene Mauts, pro of the most famous Valley Golf club, in a first round match. If he is forced to withdraw, his place probably will be taken by Gene Littler of San Diego, Calif., who heads the "standby" list.

Under the new PGA format, a field of 128 touring and home pro tees off in the opening round Wednesday. Ernie Schneller, Blue Lakes Country club, represents the Rocky Mountain section. Double-round eliminations are scheduled Thursday and Friday with 36-hole semifinals Saturday and 36-hole finals Sunday.

Condensing 368 holes into the last four days makes this the most rigorous test in golf, with youth and super condition almost certain to be deciding factors.

Eight ex-champions, not including Burke, are in the field. They include Sam Snead, a three-time winner (1942, 1949, 1951), Denny Shute (1936-37), Vic Ghezzi (1941), Chandler Harper (1950), Jim Turnesa (1952), Walter Burkemo (1953), Chick Harbert (1954) and Doug Ford (1955).

Dick Mayer, the new Open champion, will try to complete the rare "double," last achieved by Ben Hogan in 1948. Jack Fleck and Ed Furgol are ex-Open champions competing.

Completion of Highway in 6 Years Is Seen

MISSOULA, Mont., July 16 — "Boomers" of the Lewis and Clark highway were told yesterday that the road could be completed in six more years if funds are made available to a proposed timetable.

About 50 delegates from five states attended a meeting in Missoula today to discuss plans for the national highway which would follow the general route of the Lewis and Clark expedition from St. Louis, Mo., to Beasle, Ore., across Montana, Idaho and along the north bank of the Columbia river.

The financing timetable, proposed by Wayne Summers of Boise, secretary of the Idaho board of highway directors, was this:

Fiscal year 1958-$700,000 for 7 miles of grading and reconstruction and 22 miles of old surface; 1959—one million dollars for 5.3 miles of grading and reconstruction; 1960—$1,000,000 for 13 miles of grading and drainage in two sections; 1961-$800,000 for 8.2 miles of grading and drainage; 1962—one million dollars for 40 miles of paving, and 1963-$500,000 for 31.8 miles of paving.

Summers said it is anticipated that inflation would increase the $5,553,000 total of the schedule to about 6 million dollars. He said 7 million dollars has been spent on the highway since 1918, including $4,165,000 since 1946.

Clifford R. Salmen of Boise, division engineer for the bureau of public roads, suggested that the best place for boosters to push for money to speed up construction might be federal lands highway money, because this is not apportioned to the states but is divided between projects on the basis of need.

Salmen explained that the federal lands highway program provides for main roads across the public domain and national forests where other funds are not available.

"The forest service is for the Lewis and Clark highway and it is very high on our list of what should be done," Howard R. Jones of Missoula, assistant regional forester, told the gathering.

No Sorrow

MIAMI, July 16 (AP)—A 68-year-old cab driver died of a heart attack in court yesterday at the opening of divorce proceedings against him.

Mrs. Harry McAllister, 58, showed no emotion as her husband slumped across his chair in the courtroom. He was dead before a rescue squad could reach him.

"It's his own fault," Mrs. McAllister said calmly. "I asked him for an uncontested divorce. He wouldn't give it to me, but instead got himself all riled up."

Honey Egg Nog Is Shown for Meet

HOLLISTER, July 16 — Mrs. Maurice Humphries gave a demonstration for first year members on making honey egg nog when the Salmon Tract Club met Saturday at the Hollister Grange hall.

Following the demonstration, each first year member then gave it. Dick Owen demonstrated apricot whip dessert.

Plans were made for a lunch to be held at 1 p.m. July 22 at the Grange hall for mothers and grandmothers. Members were urged to be present at 11 a.m.

In other business, reports were given on 4-H camp. It was decided to order 4-H jackets for older members and T-shirts for new members.

All third year members of the club attended the bread school held Friday. The club was advised the Piler Achievement day will be held Aug. 9. Five guests were present.

School Held for Making of Bread

A school on making bread was held for third year 4-H club members Friday afternoon at the Idaho Power company auditorium by Florence Schults, home demonstration agent, assisted by Jane Marie Smith.

Clubs represented at the school were Salmon Tract Club, Merry Maids, Lucerne Happy Ladies of Bunk, Jolly Juniors of Hunker, Happy Helpers of Twin Falls and Handy Helpers of Castleford.

Picnic Planned

BUHL, July 16 — Cedar Draw Grange voted Friday evening to hold the annual Grange picnic July 28 at Nat-Soo-Pah.

The program included a reading by Mr. Harvey Grindstaff and a skit with the entire Grange taking part.

John Luntley talked on the trip he and his wife took through the Middle West and Washington, D.C. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hendrix, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hendrix.

ATTEND SCHOOL

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, July 16 — Robert Williamson, Buhl, and Wayne Klous, Filer, are attending a summer school course in photography at the University of Idaho.
