Coroner's Jury to Probe Crash Which Claimed 3 Lives Near Glens Ferry

GLENS FERRY, July 17—A coroner's jury has been empaneled by Coroner Arthur Smith to investigate the deaths of three persons early Tuesday in a head-on accident on a straight stretch of highway 30 about five miles west of here. Both vehicles in the crash burst into flames and Mr. and Mrs. James Saeler and their 7-year-old son, Samuel Saeler, Texarkana, Tex., were cremated. Biss Harris, 20, Nampa, driver of the truck, is a patient at the Mountain Home hospital with serious burns about the face, arms and legs. Coroner Smith said the inquest has been adjourned for a week or 10 days or until Harris will be able to testify.

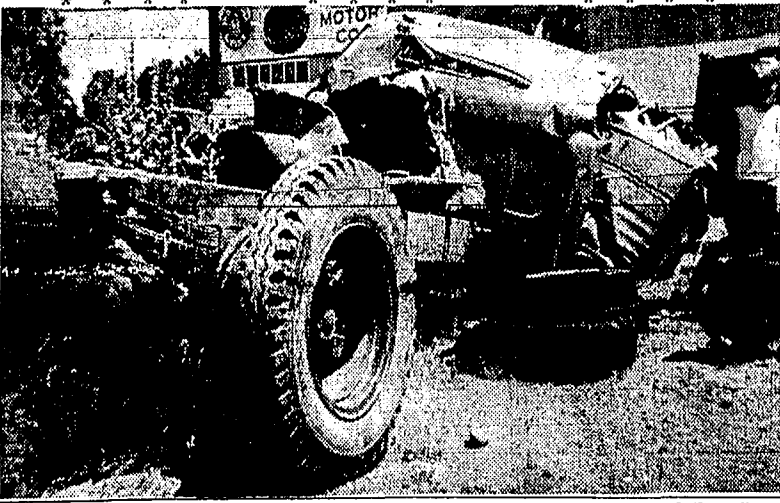

Members of the jury are Lloyd Waters, Keith Gifford, Mike Kosmala, Al Pfost, Ken Newman, Lewis Wheeler and Ralph Yraba-bal. Identity of the victims in the crash was established by Sheriff Earl Winters through the license plates on the charred 1955 Buick in which the Texas persons were riding. Mr. Saeler was 45 and his wife 40. He was a Texarkana businessman and was on his way, with his wife and son, to visit Mrs. Saeler's daughter, Mrs. H. R. Hinton, in the Dallas, Ore.

The bodies will be sent by the Bay mortuary Thursday to Texarkana for funeral services. The accident happened at 5:15 a. m. Tuesday on a straight stretch of highway. Both vehicles were approximately in the middle of the road, the sheriff said. The impact was so great the front bumper of the truck was wrapped around the passenger car. Harris was pulled from the flaming wreckage by passing motorists who said they could not get near to the passenger car because of the heat.

Wreckage Tells Grim Tale of Death

Charred and twisted wreckage tells a grim tale of death on highway 30 west of Glens Ferry Tuesday. Three persons, Mr. and Mrs. James Saeler and 7-year-old son, Samuel, Texarkana, Tex., were cremated when this 1955 Buick collided with a truck and burst into flames. Identity of the victims was established through the license plates on the car. (Staff photo-engraving)

Investigating officials still are trying to ascertain the cause of the accident that claimed three lives, demolished and burned a passenger car and this truck, and put Bill Harris, 20, Nampa, driver of the truck, in the Mountain Home hospital with burns about the face, arms and legs. Doubt Grows Over Suicide Attempt Here

While law officers continued periodic checks of Snake river below the Perrine Memorial bridge Wednesday for the body of a Gooding man, they reported "reason to believe" he hadn't jumped at all. Sheriff James H. Benham said a woman telephone call back from a Gooding man, who has been missing since Sunday night and left a "suicide" note, may have been seen traveling north on highway 93. He has not been out of the suicide possibility for Benham, who left his Gooding farm home about 9:30 p. m. Sunday "to get some tobacco."

A day-long search Tuesday failed to yield the body. Sheriff Benham said he does not believe the body is in the rocks and brush on either side of the river. He said if the body hit the water it probably went to the bottom and might come to the top in about one week. He said it would be impossible to drag the river because of boulders and debris.

Benham, with Deputy Sheriffs Wayne Hankins and Paul R. Wright, State Patrolman Marvin Wright, Jerome, resumed the search early Tuesday after halting at dark Monday night. The sheriff said the man reportedly had been wearing a large cowboy hat. He said the river and the general area of the bridge had been searched for the hat but it would not be found. It is not believed the hat would have sunk with the body if the latter did hit the water.

Farm Mishap Fatal to Boy

ARCO, July 17 (AP)—George Richard White, 16, Arco, was killed in a hay baler accident Monday afternoon. Details of the accident were still not clear today. He had been working alone on the baler on his father's ranch three miles north of Arco. He was found dead, with the upper part of his body in the baler, his head, Ned Walker, about 5:30 p. m. Monday. W. S. Marvel, Butte county coroner, said the boy's injuries included a broken neck and a crushed chest. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl White, were in Cobalt at the time of the accident, and the boy's uncle had warned him not to operate the baler alone, Marvel said.

Reporter Finds Loopholes in Atomic Test Site Safeguards

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 17 (AP)—A reporter disclosed today that he gained entry to the atomic energy commission's top secret Nevada test area by using credentials which included a certificate for a free drink at a Las Vegas, Nev., bar. The reporter, Pat Michaels, of radio station KVVZ and the Orange County News Service, said he was credited well in advance for Monday's "Dinoblo" test shot. He said he arrived at Las Vegas, checked in with Lieut. Col. William R. Hunter of the AEC information section and was on his way to Camp Mercury to witness the test. The loophole in security which I found lies between Colonel Hunter's office and the civilian security guards who police the area with an outward efficiency which would

Door Opened to Meeting of Red Leader, Wilson

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today a meeting of Russia's Marshal Zhukov and Secretary of Defense Wilson might prove useful. Eisenhower made the comment at a news conference. The President's suggestion that a Zhukov-Wilson meeting might be worthwhile stemmed from a request for comment on the recent shakeup of the Kremlin top command.

On that point, Eisenhower said in his opinion the shakeup resulted from fundamental changes within the Soviet government. Eisenhower recalled that he and Zhukov, now Soviet defense minister, became quite well acquainted at the end of World War II. They were both in Berlin at the time. The President went on to say that he and Zhukov at that time cooperated very closely, and that a Zhukov-Wilson meeting at this time might prove profitable by bringing together defense ministers of the two countries.

Eisenhower said he is dead set against recessing the current London disarmament talks on the basis of anyone there being tired or discouraged. He said there are sometimes good reasons for a recess so that representatives of the various countries can consult with their governments, but no excuse whatever for getting discouraged. The President also said there is no connection between the disarmament talks and yesterday's Pentagon announcement that U. S. armed forces will be cut by 100,000 men by the end of this year.

Discussing the projected manpower reduction, Eisenhower said both he and Secretary Wilson believe the United States at present is a little stronger in manpower than is necessary. Just precisely how much, he said, is not yet clear.

Chief Defends Police, Terms Letter as Silly

Police Chief Howard Gillette, guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Twin Falls Lions club Wednesday, attacked an open letter from a woman concerning the local traffic situation which appeared on the front pages of the Times-News as a "word picture" which was "ridiculous, silly and unreasonable." Gillette said it is about time for the press to "face the facts" and that "anyone can build up a state of mind by using an isolated, horrible example of a situation." He also accused the Times-News of "whipping the people into a state of hysteria," which he feels has since been fought.

He said he is "concerned" about the situation and will do everything in his power about it. He emphasized that the police department is "not on the defensive."

Chief Gillette reiterated other remarks he has made before the city commission and the Twin Falls Exchange club.

Guests were John Gentry, Twin Falls, and Morris Stacy, Pocatello, Lion.

Buhl Resident Is Fined Over Tipsy Driving

W. F. Jones, Buhl, was fined $100 and $3 costs Wednesday morning by Justice of the Peace W. L. Austin, Shoshone, on a charge of drunken driving. Jones was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Sheriff Thomas Comer after Jones' 1948 Oldsmobile was demolished in a one-car accident two and one-half miles south of Shoshone at 3:30 p. m. The automobile went off the road and rolled over. Dwayne R. Anderson, Elba, who was cited last Thursday on a charge of negligent driving after his car had collided with another vehicle, has signed a "John Doe" complaint against Tony Stocks, Burley, on a similar charge. Both men pleaded innocent when arraigned by Justice of the Peace Joe Weldon and Anderson posted a bond of $35 on July 11 and Stocks a bond of $40 on July 12.

Justice of the Peace Alvin Stimpson, Paul, reports he has fined several motorists on traffic charges. Emil Mayer, Rupert, was fined $5 on a charge of speeding; Earl Moose, Burley, $8 on a charge of negligent driving; Neal J. Hanson, Rupert, $5 on a charge of speeding; Owen McBride, Burley, $5 on a charge of negligent driving; Warren Hollinger, Rupert, $5 on a charge of negligent driving.

Opin Scholl, manager of the Buhl plant, said the strike affected 20 millwrights working on machinery installation. He believes the plant will be in production by Aug. 15. Some areas in Magic Valley were virtually untouched by the labor dispute. In Rupert, home construction was proceeding as usual by non-union carpenters, and in Burley carpenters remained at work at the Shelley processing plant and in downtown Burley work at the Cray-

Democrats Again Delay Committee Balloting on Dam

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Democratic backers again forestalled a vote on a bill to authorize a federal dam in Hells canyon today by talking throughout a two-hour meeting of the house interior committee. Republicans protested against what they called a filibuster. They say they have enough votes in the committee to kill the bill, already passed by the senate over Eisenhower administration objections. The bill would authorize a high federal dam which would flood the sites of three smaller dams planned by Idaho Power company in the Snake river bordering Idaho and Oregon.

Pilot Is Arrested on Low Flying Charge

BURLEY, July 17—Mathias Wayne Koch, 24, Pocatello, has pleaded innocent here of reckless and careless low flying in an airplane Saturday and has posted a bond of $150 for his appearance at his trial date for which has not been set. Koch was arrested by State Patrolman Marvin Snyder and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Joe Weldon, who is acting as police judge here in the absence of Judge Henry W. Tucker. Koch, who flies a crop dusting airplane for the Gale City Air service, told Patrolman Snyder Friday he has a waiver from the CAA to fly low. Snyder, armed with complaints from Burley residents that Koch had flown his airplane under a street light, asked the CAA and Chet Moulton, state aeronautics director, if Koch had a waiver to fly low over populated areas.

U.S. Eyeing Atomic Stockpile for NATO

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The United States is considering setting up a stockpile of atomic weapons for western European nations, Secretary of State Dulles disclosed yesterday. He said this would be "an act of confidence which would strengthen the fellowship of the North Atlantic community." He told a news conference a study would show "within the next few weeks perhaps" whether a change in U. S. atomic law would be needed. "No definite conclusions have been reached," Dulles said, referring to the whole idea.

He got on the subject when a reporter questioned him about America's disarmament negotiations with Russia, Canada, Britain and France. The question was whether the United States would, in connection with its disarmament proposals, make available nuclear material and weapons to any Western nation agreeing to quit trying to make its own atomic weapons. "We are studying ways whereby through perhaps a NATO stockpile of weapons and various arrangements of that sort," Dulles said, "there can be assurances to our allies that if they are attacked, if war comes, that they will not then be in the position of supplicants, as far as we are concerned, for the use of atomic weapons," Dulles said.

The secretary said he was not sure who would own the stockpile—the United States or the North Atlantic Treaty organization. He suggested it might be placed in the hands of Gen. Lauris Norstad, American commander of NATO military forces. In the event of war, the President as commander-in-chief could order Norstad to turn nuclear weapons over to the allies.

Dulles spoke out also on several other subjects, including the shake-up in the Kremlin last month. He said he is convinced "moderates" led by Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev have won out over "fundamentalists" who had wanted to rule Russia "with a rod of iron, in accordance with the Stalin example."

Atomic Blast Is Delayed for Day

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., July 17 (AP)—Technical trouble has caused a 24-hour postponement of the next atomic detonation in the 1957 series. The atomic energy commission now plans to set off the shot, previously scheduled for today, at 6:30 a. m. tomorrow. It is expected to be a small blast with an energy yield less than half that of a nominal detonation. A nominal device has the potency of 20,000 tons of TNT.

Defects in Buses, Trucks Are Noted

BOISE, July 17 (AP)—Clyde W. Campbell, district supervisor for the bureau of motor carriers for the interstate commerce commission, said today 45 trucks and buses were ordered out of service because of mechanical defects during a checking period earlier this month. He said inspectors stopped 316 vehicles at the King Hill checking station from July 8 to July 12. Forty-five of them failed to pass inspection. "This inspection turned out better than one held earlier this year," Campbell said. "At the previous inspection, 20 per cent of the trucks and buses were found to be defective."

LITTLE RADIATION ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., July 17 (AP)—The amount of beta radiation detected at Salt Lake City after Monday's atomic test explosion was infinitesimal, the atomic energy commission said today.

Driver Drunk In Car Wreck; Coroner Notes

Alcohol in the blood of a Burley driver killed in a two-car crash that brought death to a Pocatello woman and severe injuries to her son indicated he was intoxicated at the time of the accident, Dr. J. Woodson Ored, Twin Falls county coroner, reported Wednesday.

Dr. Ored said samples of blood taken from Stuart E. Jordan, 50, Burley, showed an alcohol content of .240. A content of .150 is considered indicative of intoxication. The accident July 9 just east of the Hansen-Murtaugh overpass on highway 30 resulted in the death of Mrs. Kenneth S. Briggs, 34, Pocatello. Her 7-year-old son, Michael Briggs, incurred two broken arms in the head-on collision. Jordan and Mrs. Briggs were killed instantly. The Briggs youngster was to be released Wednesday from Magic Valley Memorial hospital where he has been a patient since the accident.

Area Blackened

SHOSHONE, July 17—Approximately 55,000 acres of range land in the Shoshone district of the bureau of land management were blackened last week-end in a rash of fires, bureau officials reported Tuesday afternoon. The survey of the damage showed 61,600 acres were burned in the Wendell-Gooding-Shoshone fire. The remaining 3,200 acres were burned in a series of smaller fires, largest of which was 1,500 acres north of the Hunt project.

At 3:30 p. m. Tuesday the North Butte lookout for the bureau reported a fire midway between Shoshone and Richfield. The fire, started from the highway, was under control by 4 p. m. Another fire burned 50 acres northeast of Hazelton Tuesday afternoon.

WANTS 'PARK'

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Sen. Allott, R.-Colo., today asked congress to make the Dinosaur national monument in Colorado and Utah a full-fledged national park.

Brothers Accused of Stealing Maps Want Evidence Quashed

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—Two brothers involved in the theft of secret geographical maps valued at one million dollars moved in federal court today to suppress evidence seized by federal agents last December. The two are Emanuel Lester, 32, who was convicted of attempting to extort half a million dollars from a Pittsburgh office of the Gulf Oil corporation by a man named "Smith," at the beginning of 1952. About 30 maps as well as reports and memoranda indicating the location of possible U. S. and Canadian oil deposits are mentioned in the action here. The entire case is said to involve the theft of some 2,500 maps valued by Gulf at $34,500,000.

The brothers, in affidavits supporting their motion, claim their constitutional rights were violated when the offices of the U. S. Taxless corporation were raided by 16 federal agents last Dec. 18 and personal papers as well as maps were seized as evidence. Both brothers claimed that they were the sole owners of all the property confiscated in the raid with the possible exception of the "maps alleged to have been stolen." The original search warrant was sworn to by W. B. Edwards, a Texas attorney, employed by Gulf. "In Edwards' affidavit he swore he visited the offices of Taxless and saw a number of the maps which he recognized as Gulf property."

City Praised

POCATELLO, July 17 (AP)—Pocatello was pictured in the future as "the capital of an industrial empire" yesterday by Gov. Robert E. Smylie, who spoke at the city's 76th anniversary celebration. Smylie said the empire would be "built on the sound foundations of chemistry, raw materials and water."

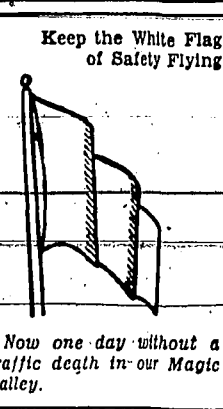

Fire Hits Roof of Buhl House For Third Time in 15 Years

BUHL, July 17—For the third time in 15 years, fire struck the roof of E. C. Osterhoudt's residence at 121 Eighth avenue North Tuesday afternoon and caused between $2,500 and $3,000 damage. The fire in the two-story residence was caused by electrical wiring, firemen reported. Some men were installing a gas furnace in the basement of the building but had to be warned of the fire by a neighbor who discovered the blaze and turned in the alarm. Firemen reported that the fire Tuesday was the third time in 15 years the building had had fires in its roof. The roof was destroyed and the attic charred. Considerable water damage was done to the rest of the building. Emil Haumont, a fireman, received a bruised hip when he fell while trying to climb onto the moving fire truck as the truck left the station for the fire.

Doubt Grows Over Suicide Attempt Here

Anderson and Deputy Sheriff Bill Bunn, Anderson Tuesday night said he has found no trace of the man but will continue watching the river for the body. He said he would also continue watching elsewhere for Johnson.

The search started Monday afternoon after an employee working on a paint project at the bridge reported he had spotted a note on a 1954 Ford parked near the bridge. The note, signed by Johnson, stated there was no use to look for him as he had jumped off the bridge.

Boy Drowned in Water Accident

CASCADE, July 17 (AP)—A family trip to Arling Hot Springs near here prior to returning home to Pomeroy, Wash., ended in the drowning yesterday of 9-year-old Lonnie R. Fulcher.

Sheriff Merton Logue said the boy was playing with a diving mask in the water, about five to six feet deep. The sheriff said Lonnie dived with the underwater mask strapped to his face, but didn't come up.

Carpenters of Region Strike For Pay Raise

ford body and paint shop. Carpenters also are working on residential construction.

Work continued on the nursing home at Shoshone as well as residential projects.

In Twin Falls, H. B. Reynolds, president of Reynolds and Walker, said his firm is "completely shut down." Major project hit is the water line program at Craters of the Moon where about 20 men are affected.

Ray Neilson, partner in Neilson and Smith, said his men are under construction are being delayed. About 65 men are not working because of the walkout, he reported.

The strike involved about 1,800 union carpenters throughout southern Idaho, the Associated Press reported.

The news service added that as construction projects ranging in size from single homes to Brownlee dam on the Snake river began to slow down during the morning, Federal Mediator Dan Edwards in Pocatello continued efforts to get union and contractor representatives together for further negotiations.

The present carpenter pay scale is $2.65 per hour. Tulls said the union is now demanding a two-year contract calling for a pay increase of 22 1/2 cents per hour to $2.87 1/2 per hour effective on the expiration dates of the former contract, plus a health and welfare program costing employers 10 cents per hour effective Jan. 1, 1958, plus another increase of 12 1/2 cents per hour effective June 1, 1958. This is similar to terms of a contract now in effect for the Boise local.

Employers offered a wage increase of 45 cents per hour, spread over a 32-month period. The union membership rejected this offer in a vote tabulated Sunday.

Ike Says Use Of Troops Is Not Foreseen

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he cannot imagine circumstances which would induce him to send federal troops to enforce civil rights—excluding school integration.

Simultaneously, he opened the way to a compromise that might bar the attorney-general from acting on his own to enforce desegregation of schools. This section of the administration civil rights bill has been bitterly contested by the South.

Eisenhower's comments were made under questioning at a news conference. He renewed his statement of last night that he wants four objectives met in any civil rights bill the senate finally passes.

Those objectives include enforcement, without jury trial, of voting rights and similar enforcement of "other" civil rights.

In today's meeting with newsmen, Eisenhower pressed on the question of whether he favors allowing the attorney general on his own motion to go into court for enforcement of integration in schools.

Eisenhower replied:

"Not when it is stated that way without some request from local authorities for action."

The new conference was held as the senate moved into an all-out fight on the merits of the administration-backed bill, after voting late yesterday to take up the legislation.

Intermittent senators yesterday voted in favor of the motion by Senator Knowland, R., Calif., to take up the bill. The motion passed 71-18.

Eisenhower said some persons had told him that the section of the bill which authorizes injunctive action to enforce civil rights in general—section three—might involve great dangers.

In the ensuing exchange the president said that if you try to go too far to fast in legislation in this delicate field, you are likely to cause trouble.

Payment Sought
Statewide Adjustment bureau Tuesday filed a complaint in Twin Falls probate court seeking $145.16 due on a promissory note owed by Jay Milton since March 28, this year. The complaint, filed by the bureau's attorney, Harry Turner, also asks 8 per cent interest and $25 attorney's fees.

Debt Suit Filed
The Statewide Adjustment bureau filed a civil suit in Twin Falls probate court Tuesday against Gene Cagle and Mary Cagle for alleged indebtedness to the Magic Valley Memorial hospital amounting to $297.26 and interest. The bureau is represented by Harry Turner, Twin Falls attorney.

Ushers were W. W. Preseay, Earl R. Dougherty, Leslie R. Jones and Robert B. Atwood. Concluding rites were held at the Twin Falls cemetery.

Educator Says Chinese Trade Is Poor Policy

SEATTLE, July 17 (AP)—Dr. Stewart Kirby, head of the department of economics and political science at Hong Kong university, said today he believed American trade with red China was impractical.

Kirby, who arrived here Monday for lectures on red China at the University of Washington, said only 15 per cent of one per cent of goods manufactured under the red regime could be exported because of heavy commitments to iron curtain countries.

He also said American newsmen should be allowed to visit red China but that only those familiar with China and the orient could correctly report conditions there.

Kirby, a six-weeks' lecture tour of the United States, said he recently traveled in red China but that his trip was carefully controlled by authorities.

The Hong Kong educator has other speaking engagements scheduled at the University of Chicago, University of Michigan, Harvard international seminar, Syracuse university and Cornell.

Mrs. Una Neade Taken by Death

RUPERT, July 17—Mrs. Una Neade, 64, died Tuesday at her home here. She was born Feb. 21, 1893, at Blanco, Tex.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Berg, Rupert; three sons, Don Neade, Rupert; Robert Neade, Declo, and Richard Neade, Pocatello, and five brothers, Jesse Rencher, Rupert; John Rencher and Jay Rencher, both Burley; Rollin Rencher, Kansas City, Kans., and Olin Rencher, Murray, Utah.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Saturday at the LDS first ward church with Bishop Earl Griffin officiating. Concluding rites will be held at the Rupert cemetery under the direction of the Goodman mortuary.

Part-Time Jails

LONDON, July 17 (AP)—A government advisory council Wednesday suggested part-time evening jails for not-so-tough boys who get-in-trouble with the cops.

The "attendance centers" would be for boys 17 to 21 convicted of relatively minor offenses—the kind that now call for short sentences in regular jails.

William Hardwick Claimed by Death

JEROME, July 17—William Hardwick, 77, died Tuesday at a rest home in Pocatello.

Mr. Hardwick was born Sept. 12, 1879, in Kansas and came to Idaho at the age of 12. He attended Washington State college and Stanford university. He married Alberta Triplett in May, 1905. They came to Jerome in 1908.

Surviving is one son, Mac T. Hardwick, East Pakistan; one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Hardley, American Falls; one brother, A. B. Hardwick, Salt Lake City, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Friday at the Presbyterian church with the Rev. William Perdue officiating. Friends may call from 6 to 9 p. m. Thursday at the Crippin funeral home. Concluding rites will be held at the Jerome cemetery.

Record Claimed

WARTON, England, July 17 (AP)—Britain's new fighter, the English Electric P.1, has exceeded the existing world air speed record of 1,132 miles an hour, the manufacturer announced today.

"The company is unable to securely reasons to state the precise speed reached," the announcement said.

Red Barred

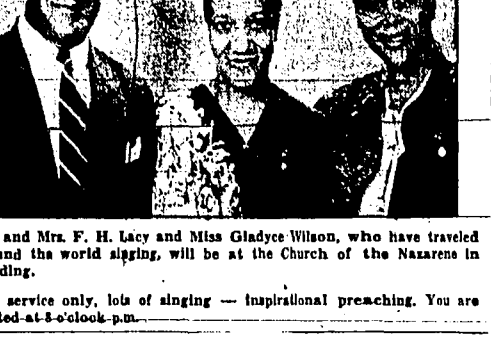

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The Air Force association has barred a Soviet representative from the convention it will hold here July 30 to Aug. 4. The air power group rejected an application from Lieut. Col. Valentin N. Ellstratov, assistant air attaché of the Soviet embassy.

False Alarms

Someone calling from pay phones Tuesday night sent both police and city firemen rushing to the home of Dr. Dean H. Affleck, 2188 Addison avenue east, on false alarms.

At 11:19 p. m. police received a call from a person who said he was Dr. Affleck reporting a prowler at his house. When police arrived at the doctor's home he was asleep. Police discovered the call had been made from a pay phone at Shelby's market.

At 11:30 p. m. Dr. Affleck's house was reported burning. Firemen rushed to the scene but found no fire. This call was made from a pay phone at 2380 Kimberly road.

Crops Making Good Growth For Gem State

BOISE, July 17 (AP)—Irrigated crops in Idaho were reported today "progressing very well" but pasturelands were becoming dry.

The report was made by the weather bureau in its weekly crop summary. The agency said the alfalfa-hay harvest was nearly complete in the Cottonwood, Weiser and Blackfoot areas and the second cutting of hay, along with some harvesting of grain, was beginning in the southwest.

Harvest Starts
The pea harvest was reported progressing in the north and southeast areas and sugar beet hoeing was nearly completed in the southwest.

Temperatures during the past week were close to normal, the bureau said, an increase of three to six degrees from the preceding week.

In a separate report the U. S. department of agricultural marketing service said the acreage of all field crops planted for harvest in Idaho this year is about one per cent less than the acreage harvested last year.

Barley Increased

A sharp increase in acreage planted to barley, as compared with that of last year, failed to offset declines in wheat, dry field peas and hay plantings.

"The primary factor in the reduction of the all-crops acreage from 1956," the agency said, "is the abnormally wet spring which resulted in much acreage in north Idaho not getting planted."

"Another contributing factor is the wheat allotments and soil bank participation. Partially offsetting these two factors, however, is the additional new land brought under cultivation this year."

The report said yield per acre prospects for field crops "are generally excellent."

Typhoon Hits Chinese Area

HONG KONG, July 17 (AP)—Typhoon Wendy, which killed 400 persons in the Philippines, slammed into Hong Kong and red China today, killing at least three more persons.

The victims, two of them young boys, were trapped in their huts by landslides caused by rain and high winds from the storm.

The center of the typhoon passed 50 miles northeast of here this morning to hit the Chinese mainland full blast. The storm disrupted communications, caused local flooding and landslides. All scheduled air services in this colony were halted.

Before crossing the Pacific to China, the typhoon caused one of the worst floods in Philippine history with at least 400 persons dead and another 1,000 feared drowned in remote Pangasinan province.

The costs of all accidents in the United States in 1956 were enough to provide three shots of Salk vaccine for every person in the world.

Savings Eyed

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration told congress yesterday it hopes to save an additional billion dollars by taking another look at plans for 1958 government spending.

Budget Director Percival Brundage gave this word to the house appropriations committee. He told newsmen after the closed session he had no idea at this time just where the hoped-for savings could be made.

Soviet Leader Pleased With Tour Results

MOSCOW, July 17 (AP)—Beaming with satisfaction, NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV returned home yesterday from an eight-day tour of Czechoslovakia. He was apparently highly pleased with the display of Czech-Soviet unity which marked the visit.

In the final speech of his tour at Prague, the communist party chief made a strong bid for closer cooperation among all nations of the communist camp, including Yugoslavia, and friendship with Western "progressive" parties.

He came away with a Soviet-Czechoslovak communiqué which declared a complete unity of views on everything from Khrushchev's purge of the Kremlin to unconditional outlawing of atomic and hydrogen bombs and tests.

Smiling with satisfaction at these results, the jaunty Khrushchev stepped from a Soviet jet liner Tuesday night and waved his hat at a high-level crowd of about 200 gathered at the airport to greet him.

He was followed closely by Premier Bulganin, the nearly silent man who had accompanied Khrushchev to Czechoslovakia.

President Klement Voroshilov, Ho Chi Minh, visiting president of North Viet Nam, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, nearly all the other members of the presidium, and even M. G. Pervukhin, former economic czar who was demoted in the recent shakeup, were on hand for the welcoming ceremonies.

From the airport the leaders drove along a route lined by militia to Lenin stadium, where Khrushchev told a mass rally the "genuine affection and friendship of the Czech people for the Soviet people had to be seen to be believed."

The journey, he said, had proved to be no "pleasure trip," but it had resulted in a "complete identity" of views in the interest of peace.

"Our Czechoslovak friends condemned the activities of the Soviet anti-party group," he reported, referring to the Bolshevik stalwarts, V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov, and Lazar Kaganovich who were deposed from their high positions.

The Czech party, he explained, was "struggling against revisionism, factionalism and dogmatism and agreed on the importance of the monolithic unity of the party on the basis of Leninist principles."

'Ten Commandments' Due Here

In a dramatic scene from Cecil B. DeMille's production, "The Ten Commandments," arriving July 24 at the Orpheum theater, Charlton Heston as Moses, prince of Egypt, makes a decision that contributes to his downfall as he leads the Pharaoh's throne. Answering the pleas of Hebrew stonecutters, John Derek, and water girl, Debra Paget, Moses recruits the Hebrew slaves building the ruler's treasure city and breaks open the stores of grain for distribution to the underfed hordes. The massive starring cast of the DeMille masterwork also includes Yul Brynner, Ann Baxter, Edward G. Robinson and Yvonne De Carlo.

Ten Commandments Movie to Open July 24 for Lengthy Run

Cecil B. DeMille's "Ten Commandments," the story of Moses and the flight from Egypt done in epic photography by Paramount Pictures corporation, will open at the Orpheum theater July 24 for an indefinite run.

The showing is the only one between Logan, Utah, and Boise and in which the premier showing is scheduled were chosen by DeMille.

The film will run at least two weeks. A four-hour performance with a 20-minute intermission, "The Ten Commandments" will be shown at 1 p. m. and at 7:30 p. m. weekdays except Saturday when an additional showing is planned for 9:30 a. m. The picture will be shown at 1:30 and 7 p. m. Sundays.

The planned showings are presented on a non-profit basis, with costs of production deducted and the remainder going to a church organization.

When DeMille finished his project of filming the life of Moses on location in the Holy Land, he was in a position to give full account of both primitive and luxurious living conditions in Egypt.

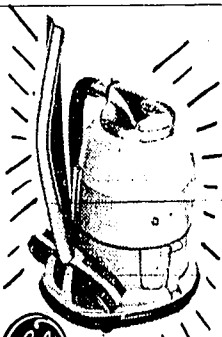

He lived through it all in a long series of personal experiences in Cairo and throughout the rugged desert wilderness southeast of the Suez canal where he retraced the footsteps of Moses from the Red Sea to Mount Sinai in the Vista-Vision-Technicolor production.

Camels, donkeys, Jeeps and his own blistered feet were the mode of locomotion for DeMille and his crew of actors and technicians over the hot lonely sands that lead to the original site of the Burning Bush and Mount Sinai where Moses heard God's voice and received the Ten Commandments.

"Moses and his unknown thousands of followers did it in the Exodus," DeMille explains, "I find no reason why I and this movie crew shouldn't do the same. As I see it, if we are to bring out the Holy Land an authentic chronicle, the least of our obligations is to do it the hard and authentic way."

DeMille chose a stellar cast for the production. It includes Charlton Heston as Moses; Ann Baxter, Neffreliti; Yvonne DeCarlo, Saphera; John Derek, Joshua; Nina Foch, Bilhah; Judith Anderson, Memnet; John Carradine, Aaron; Douglass Dumbrille, James; Henry Wilcoxon, Pentaur; Donald Curtis, Mered; H. B. Warner, Amminadab; Yul Brynner, Rameses; Edward G. Robinson, Dathan; Debra Paget, Lilia; Sir Cecil Hardwicke, Sethi; Martha Scott, Yochabel; Vincent Price, Baka; Olive Deering, Miriam; Frank DeKova, Abiram; Eduard Franz, Jethro, Lawrence Franz, Ben Hur, Caleb, and Julia Payne, Ellabebe.

Administration's Intent Not Yet Clear in Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The use of troops. Their method was would be a fair question to ask "Administration's Intent Not Yet Clear in Civil Rights Bill."

There in reconstruction days, roughly from 1866 to 1871, Congress imposed the administration's civil rights bill some heavy-handed legislation on and, also, the names of any out- the South and backed it up with the armed forces of the United States.

With the authors identified, it One of those reconstruction bills would be reasonable to ask them about the legislative gobbledygook about the legislative gobbledygook.

in part three of the bill, part three is identified now in the United States code as act No. 1985. Part three of the civil rights bill pending now before the senate actually is an amendment of that reconstruction act No. 1985.

About all that is known of the enforcement of the bill is that it was drafted in the department of justice or, at least, was made available to the house and the senate by that department. Intentionally or not, the bill's authors chose a tricky and devious method of empowering the President to use troops in the South to enforce such rights as integrated schools.

It would be fair to ask the bill's authors whether they sought to bury out of sight the provision for the use of troops. Their method was roundabout but effective. It would be fair to ask the bill's authors whether they sought to bury out of sight the provision for dent of the United States, or such person as he may empower for that purpose, to employ such part of the land and naval forces of the United States, or of the militia as may be necessary to aid in the execution of the judicial process.

It would be fair to question the authors about another interesting point: Who was to enforce the law? The bill provided for land and sea forces provided for the military of civil rights and not provided to enforce the greatest right of all the right to vote.

The senate by-passed its Judiciary committee in bringing the bill to the floor. If the bill had been referred to that committee, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D. Ga., probably would have sought the presence of the bill's authors as witnesses. And such questions as are suggested here undoubtedly would have been asked. Russell doesn't like any part of the bill. He especially objects to what he regards as decent and double talk in its presentation.

"The purpose of this bill," he told the senate, "was to tie this whole proposition into a law authorizing the use of troops to integrate Southern schools and not for the purpose of assuring the right of any citizen of this country to vote."

Another fair question to the authors and assistant authors would be: Was that the purpose?

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The unresolvable confusion and uncertainty which have marked the administration's handling of many grave problems, the South's chance of forcing a de facto or de jure compromise of the pending civil rights bill, White House wavering also jeopardizes other important matters awaiting action before Congress.

President's indecision is all the more puzzling to Capitol Hill because it was expected to have established a staff system, with Sherman Adams in command. The congressional consensus is that Adams permits himself to become immersed—or submerged—in minutiae, technicalities and petty politics.

It's failure to realize that the civil rights bill could be used to enforce segregation, and not merely to protect minorities' voting opportunities, has shaken the measures' supporters, especially the Southern bloc, the able lawyers and parliamentarians. It has discouraged both Republican and Democratic liberals, and thrown them on the defensive.

WHITE HOUSE HEDGING—Even more damaging was the President's ignorance of the fact that the bill, as framed by Attorney General Brownell, permitted the use of the federal military in its enforcement.

But these are not the only evidences of White House backing and filling, and an abysmal lack of team work. For instance, Adams insisted that his huge budget was "light to the penny" after months of preparation, only to concede that it could be cut. Secretary Humphrey and Under Secretary Burgess contributed to congressional confusion with equally contradictory remarks.

Eisenhower first maintained that his requests for national defense and foreign aid appropriations could not be reduced without endangering the security of the free world. But even on his issue, so close to his program for world peace, he recanted to the extent of more than a billion dollars.

SLIDING DECISIONS—The American disarmament plan, as presented at London by Harold E. Stassen, has confused our allies and other NATO members not represented at the conference. In their opinion, it had not been thought out clearly or definitively at the White House state department.

It reminds the Maclean and Bourgeois-Monoury ministries of Dulles' bewildering behavior during the Suez crisis, when his frequent shifts of diplomatic strategy led to Sir Anthony Eden's downfall and a partial victory for Coling Gurnell Abdel Nasser, the Egyptian dictator.

He also has deserted his Capitol Hill friends on the natural gas bill. They fought hard for his amendments to the measure, which were designed to furnish some federal protection over prices for consumers.

But when the change proposed by Eisenhower satisfied no group completely, blocking the bill in committee, he explained that he would not insist on their incorporation. He removed the rug from under his own dearest backers, who had warned that he would veto any measure that did not contain his recommended revisions.

FUTURE LAWS MUST BE CLEAR—The Supreme Court's equivocal attitude aggravated the situation created by President's indecision. While White House spokesmen suggest that vague and troublesome questions can be straightened out by subsequent judicial interpretations, the impolite and cynical retorts indicate that many legislators no longer place any trust in such a long-range reliance.

In fact, the general vagueness of White House proposals and Supreme Court interpretations may have one beneficial effect. It may teach the legislators, both national and state, that they must write future laws more clearly, more precisely, and more literally.

It is a long-needed reform, for Congress itself has frequently contributed to the confusion it now condemns.

KENNEDY LEADS

It wasn't too long back that it was fair to complain over the lack of 1960 presidential speculation on the Democratic side. Now all that has changed and the horses are off and running.

The early front runner is clearly Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Not only was his name quick on the tongue of Democratic governors at the recent governors' conference, but polls show him the present top favorite of rank and file Democrats across the country.

No politician with his feet on the ground is likely to forget that it is a long, hard road from the first promising mention to the acceptance speech before a cheering nominating convention.

After 1952, Adlai Stevenson read and heard many times that he could have the 1956 nomination for the asking. But when it came to the test he had to battle hard for it, even though he was always the leading candidate. Not too often do the major parties give away their top prize on a platter.

In Kennedy's case, there may of course be many opponents. Some already are in the picture.

But the young senator seems to have quite a few points going for him.

He is handsome, friendly and open-handed in manner. As first a congressman and now a senator, he has established a reputation for forthrightness and fair dealing.

In 1952 Kennedy proved himself a powerful vote-getter in his home state, unseating Henry Cabot Lodge in a year when President Eisenhower was sweeping the nation. He is up again next year and will get a further chance to show what his appeal is at the polls.

The effect of his being a Catholic is difficult to gauge. So far the party men who are talking candidate do not appear to regard it as a serious bar to Kennedy. Some knowledgeable observers believe it was a misreading of the election returns to blame Al Smith's presidential defeat on his Catholicism.

In any event, Kennedy in mid-1957, a full three years before nominating season, is the man to beat. There are signs he may be acceptable to both the South and the North, which is not an easy circumstance to bring off.

But first he has to win again in Massachusetts. And then he will have to buck what may be a highly formidable list of competitors in what surely is the most rugged competition any politician can encounter.

THE GIRARD TRIAL

As has been well noted before, there need be no fear that Army Specialist William Girard will suffer unfairly at the hands of the Japanese court which now will try him on a charge of causing the death of a Japanese woman on a firing range.

Japanese courts have a record of marked leniency in trials of American servicemen for offenses committed against Japanese nationals. Convictions have been relatively few and sentences have been light. In Girard's case he will be tried on Japan's lightest manslaughter charge.

The Supreme Court's unanimous decision that the United States has a right to deliver him over to the Japanese was founded on the accepted realities of national sovereignty.

The court said in effect that American soldiers do not take the U. S. judicial system with them when they go overseas to foreign lands.

They take only those constitutional rights which the host country specifically grants to them, since the host land can hardly be expected to suspend the normal protection it gives its own civilians.

In this particular instance, noted the court, Japan has reserved to itself the right to try not only "off duty" offenses of American soldiers against civilians, but "on duty" offenses of "particular importance."

The Japanese concluded that Girard's shooting of a woman scavenging for metal on a U. S. firing range was a case of such importance. After considerable deliberation, U. S. authorities bowed to this judgment and agreed to hand the soldier over.

The court has now said this was a reasonable ruling in keeping with the "status of forces" agreement detailing relations between Japan and our service units.

Some will argue that the decision by the government—aside from the Supreme Court's ruling—was an effort to appease Asian opinion—inflamed by our earlier refusal to let Formosa try another GI on a serious charge.

Whether or not political expediency entered into the original action, the high court has now decreed that this action had a thoroughly sound legal basis. The real alternative would seem to be to deny the right of sovereign nations to rule their own soil.

MAGIC VALLEY'S TRAFFIC TOLL

While the state as a whole shows a decline in the number of traffic fatalities, Magic Valley shows an increase of three over 1956 which was the worst year on record.

That should be significant to the people of this section of the state, and in more ways than one.

The price of gas, tires, oil and repairs makes going broke a very short trip by auto.

POT SHOTS

MOTION RECORDED

Dear Pot Shots:

If I may be permitted, I would like to record the motion picture of B. Tween concerning the total lack of any thought toward persons between 35 and 60 years of age. Surely there must be others in that category who get just as lonely as I do. In B. Tween is one who has spoke up to express it in a different way.

Pot, you have no idea how lonely life can be for an "old" bachelor or maid. Most of the people you know are married and have their own pastimes and hobbies which don't necessarily leave any room for their aging friends over 35 and under 60.

I've devoted considerable thought to the matter. Apparently everyone thinks we're old enough to take care of ourselves, but if you don't have companionship, what can you do—stay in your apartment and study all four walls? After awhile they start to close in on you!

Maybe it's something that some of us are going to have to tackle on our own, even if we have to put up with all the usual jokes about hunting for a man.

Is anyone else interested besides yours truly and in B. Tween?

THIS AN ILL WIND

Pot Shots:

It's indeed an ill wind that blows no good. The range fires last week-end apparently didn't make anyone particularly happy around here, but they did have an enjoyable factor.

I have never smelled anything so hauntingly pleasant as the smell of burning sagebrush. The pungent odor is without peer. We smelled sagebrush before. As a matter of fact, when we first drove through some of it coming out here a few months ago, we had to stop and sniff it. But burning sagebrush smells much better.

Now I can hardly wait until we have an opportunity to burn some of it in our fireplace this fall.

VIEW OF OTHERS

ALL THIS AND PARADISE

We sometimes wonder just what kind of alienations would be standard procedure in official life if it weren't for inquisitive reporters poking their noses into odd places and asking questions.

One such reporter for The Tribune happened to see a man he knew was supposed to be in the city jail buying cigarettes in a downtown drugstore. The man was serving a 30-day sentence for drunkenness and was on "trust" status. Just how extensive the trust of all authorities was not known, but it certainly exceeded anything contemplated by a jail sentence. Nor, apparently was it an isolated instance. When picked up by a radio patrol officer the prisoner said: "I do this all the time."

Perhaps the oddest thing of all was the prisoner's explanation of what he was doing at the hotel where he was picked up. He was waiting to get his $90 state welfare check!

—This is something folks with more of a yen for liquor than labor ought to explore. Free meals and lodging at city expense, the ruin of the town, and $90 tax-free spending money a month!

Who says this isn't the more abundant life?

(P.S.—On second thought, maybe you shouldn't try this route to the more abundant life. Welfare Commissioner Holbrook has promised that it won't happen again.)—Salt Lake Tribune.

A SMALL RUSSIAN CAR

For nearly 40 years the Russians have been announcing pompously that they cannot picture the fruits of life because they are turning out equipment for the heroic transformation from feudalism to an industrial society.

But the Soviets have been building mammoth steel mills and dams for a long time now. Are the fruits and necessities any nearer?

A letter from three workers to the newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya asks the question. It is quoted in the New York Times:

"We need a cheap, comfortable, economical automobile for two or three persons. . . . Other countries for years have been producing excellent small automobiles. The men complained that 'too much effort and material were going into expensive automobiles and not enough for small cars for the man in the street.'"

This, of course, is a direct slap at the rulers whose fancy limousines scarcely can be put in the category of capital to create heavy industry. We hope the three Russians get their car and not the salt mines.—Kansas City Star.

LET THE MONSTER BE!

The British house of commons and the secretary of state for Scotland have combined to bat down what the latter called "a somewhat monstrous suggestion."

A Labor party member, a Scot, proposed that new underwater photography and television techniques be used to settle once and for all the existence of the Loch Ness monster. The secretary said no and a trio of Commons members moved that the Scot see for himself by taking a jump in the loch.

The monster, then, remains safe. It would be a pity to expose him, his existence, real or fancied, is good for the tourist business, a boon to Sunday supplement writers and a symbol that some things remain unchanging in a world where flying saucers seem more typical than the stubborn old legend of Loch Ness.—The Milwaukee Journal.

BEATS FARMING

We heard this story recently. It seems that along early in the spring when there was still some snow on the ground, a farmer went into Randall Howe's to buy three hammers. The next day he was back and bought six more hammers. The following day he was back and bought 12 more, all at $2 a piece.

Randall asked, "Say, what do you do with all those hammers?" The farmer replied, "I sell 'em." "What do you sell them for?" asked Randall. "32," says the farmer. "Gee, you can't make any money doing that," said Randall. "I know," said the farmer, "but it beats farming."—Arlton Herald.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

There never was a staff of news-reporters which deserved favorable comparison with the committee of congress in the business of turning up big news stories. Our journalism has a supercilious habit of ridiculing these investigations, but the truth is that we are scavengers yip-yipping over the leftovers after the statesmen and their floozies and lawyers have made their kills.

We scoff at McCarthyism and rail at Bill Jenner, Bob Morris, Jim Eastland and Francis Walter, now chairman of the house committee on un-American activities. But we do ourselves no honor in bemoaning men who make the correspondents of the Washington corps look like a roomful of derelicts sleeping on and under the tables of the "press room" of the city hall in Chicago when I was very young.

They go to the President's press conference, a calculated political strip-tease; they snap at canapes with bureaucrats, generals and the chesscake J. P.'s of the supreme court; they scuffle for cheap and cheapening spots on television "panel" shows, and altogether they turn out county-seat journalism with the famous aplomb of a county-seat reporter approving the conduct of those on his run who phone it in so that he needn't go and get it.

Martin Dies, Parnell Thomas and Dick Nixon of the house committee manned the drags in painful revelation of treachery under F. D. Roosevelt's protection and patronage. And they took abuse from a mangy pack of sub-mediocrities who called their patriotic work "smearing" and "witch-hunting."

The English gang are even less bright and more servile to the unseen authors of the "line." So when Burgess and Maclean, two flaming queers of their foreign office, absconded to Moscow, they cleared their treble throats and cried, "Come, come, chaps, no McCarthyism!" A robust lot of McCarthyism was just what Whitehall needed, but their idiotic fourth estate forever snooping on the harried little princess, obscured the makings of another Hiss case until their government confessed that the worst was too, too true.

The house committee turned up not only Alger Hiss but Felix Frankfurter as the sponsor who first insinuated him into a bureaucracy which then became an "apparatus." Since then Pat McCarran, deceased, Herman Welker, defeated, Jenner and Eastland have hammered away at Weenie and it is not their fault that his work in the Morgenthau ring has not received the publicity which a diligent press should give it. Frankfurter's gall and guile have made a monumental record, but he can sink in the court's frustrated confidence that the awful truth will mold in the archives.

The Morgenthau diaries, subpoenaed by the Jenner-Eastland committee, analyzed by Jonathan Mitchell and sealed into the permanent record by Judge Robert Morris, are an appalling story of skulduggery. Frankfurter's name occurs and recurs like a wandering thread in a tapestry. But he sits on that bench representing a stifling corruption called democracy, though he is sworn to defend the republic and we need the committee only with abuse.

Who dug up Teapot dome? Reporters or a congressional committee?

Who exposed the true infamy of Pearl Harbor? The press ran with the Roberts commission whose mission was to hide the guilt of Roosevelt, Knox and the Pentagon in heaving Japan and blinding Kimmel and Short. Did the press expose Yalta or was this done by force of a congressional enactment? And

Is That So!

It's the Tricks That Make Cooking Tasty

Every outdoorsman should know how to prepare food over a campfire. Nothing fancy, but the main staples—mainly meat and vegetables. Having done my share of this, and having watched experts, here are some camp-side tips that will come in handy. Good for the kitchen, too.

When you buy sliced bacon, cut package in half. If a 1/2 slices fry with less curling. Or dust the bacon lightly with flour before you put it in the frying pan.

When you take sliced bacon from the cooler and it sticks together, roll the whole package crosswise. When you unroll it, the slices will separate without breaking.

For variety, the next time you're doing a thick steak or a roast beef, spread a thin coating of mustard over the top to add zest to the flavor.

To roast wieners at a picnic over an open fire, place them in a wire popcorn popper and shake them until they are brown.

Leave your boiled ham in the water it was boiled in until it is cold—makes it juicy and tender.

If you buy a canned ham, take it over to the meat department and have the butcher open the can and slice the ham by machine. Tie it back together with a string; cover with pineapple, then bake it. Avoids the messy job of slicing and the flavor will be improved because the juice from the pineapple has permeated the slices.

To keep hamburgers from sticking to the pan when you fry them, sprinkle the pan first with salt.

The practice of searing meat before roasting is based on the belief that searing prevents the escape of meat juices and thus cuts down on shrinkage. Not so, says Jane Stewart, who has written that fine book, Encyclopedia of Household Hints. Actually the opposite is true. Meat that is seared at the beginning of the roasting period actually shrinks considerably more than meat that is not seared, due to the loss of fat.

For indoor cooking, Jane advises: "Start the meat in a cold oven and roast it at a moderate temperature (300 to 350 degrees). Basting is unnecessary. A roast should be placed in a pan fat side up; then the fat will melt into the meat and do your basting."

To tenderize a tough steak, rub it on both sides with a mixture of vinegar and olive oil and let it stand

Group Admits Six Members

SHOSHONE, July 17—Six new members were accepted into the Wood River Center Grange Saturday night. They are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Callister and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Tchenan.

A report on the last Grange dance was given by Mrs. S. M. Hall. Mrs. Adolph Braun, home economics chairman, asked the women to turn in sewing for the state contest at the next Grange meeting.

The group voted to sponsor a $25 4-H scholarship to club expense at Moscow. The scholarship will be available to an outstanding member of a club sponsored by Wood River Center Grange.

A juvenile program was presented under direction of Mrs. Ward Mills, lecturer. Tony Barney was announcer. Taking part were Deann Stutzman, Dickie Barney, Kit Mills, Ezelle Vinsant, Arthur Mills, Lily Vinsant.

Speakers Named

SHOSHONE, July 17—Speakers for the LDS sacrament services Sunday evening were Mrs. Burton Thorne, Harrell Thorne and Kristine Sorensen.

Adell Smith, accompanied by Alvin Thorne, sang. Bishop Verik Kofficoff at the services. Mrs. M. J. Dille was accompanist. Prayers were offered by Henry Eddington and Carl Johnston.

SHOSHONE, July 17—The Rev. Paul Winkler, pastor of the First Baptist church, announces services hours for Sunday at the church: 10 a.m. Sunday school will be held followed by worship services at 11 a.m.

There will be no Baptist Youth Fellowship meeting Sunday because of the senior high camp opening that day. However, BYF members who do not attend camp will be in charge of a fellowship hour at 1 p.m. at the church. Refreshments will be served.

FINED IN GOODING

GOODING, July 17—R. J. Baerom, Gooding, was fined $1 Monday by Police Judge Joe Baumgartner on a charge of driving a vehicle with a defective muffler on it.

for two hours. This will not affect the flavor. Always use Longs measure of a fork to turn a steak. Placing the meat lets the nutrients escape.

When you prepare tough cuts of meat or fowl for a stew, add a teaspoonful of sugar to the stew pot and you will find that the meat gets tender much more quickly.

For the deer hunter, remember that the liver, kidneys and sweetbreads are extremely perishable—use them the first day if possible.

When cooking liver, use a sharp, lined fork and pierce them. This will keep the liver from popping and spattering.

If you like sweet pickles, you can save money by buying sour ones. Drain the juice from the quart bottle, quarter them, and replace them in the jar with two cups of sugar and two tablespoons of salt oil. Screw the cap on tightly and turn them upside down every day for four or five days. You'll find them crisp and good tasting.

To keep meat in hot weather, wet a clean cloth with vinegar, wrap it around the meat, and put it in the ice.

Above all, don't use detergents to wash your cast-iron skillets. Detergents, with their grease-dissolving qualities ruin the finish of a carefully seasoned pan. Then the food sticks. Instead, rinse it out with hot water and wipe it with a sponge.

Big Increases In Food Need Is Prediction

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The agriculture department now predicts that by 1975 the nation will need from 45 to 60 per cent more meat, poultry products and milk than it has been consuming.

This forecast is based on projected increases in population and on a rising dietary standard.

Officials say this opens the way for considerable expansion in the livestock and poultry industries, but cautions that not that much growth will be needed in the production of feeds for these industries.

The agency says that feed needs in 1975 may run only 40 to 50 per cent greater than present requirements.

Tecfological progress in feeding is likely to reduce feed needs for each unit of livestock output, it says. In other words, future farmers will be able to get more livestock production out of a given quantity of feed than present producers.

The department says continued advances in technology are expected in the production of feed—a development which also would cut down on need increases in production of such feed materials as corn, oats, barley, grain sorghum.

This being the outlook, the department says surpluses rather than shortages are likely to mark the coming 15 to 20 years.

Mining Group Backs Seaton Support Plan

SUN VALLEY, July 17 (AP)—Idaho's mining operators gave a group endorsement yesterday to Secretary of Interior Seaton's proposed long-range support program for lead and zinc.

In an official "declaration of policy" adopted at the end of the Idaho Mining Association convention here, however, the operators said the Seaton proposal provides inadequate protection in two respects.

The "declaration" also asked a program of federal relief for tungsten producers. It contained statements favoring the open shop in Idaho and asking tax relief for the mining industry.

The mining managers commended Seaton's plan which calls generally for protection of domestic lead and zinc production against foreign competition by use of import duties on a sliding scale.

"At the same time we wish to point out," said the operators, "that the proposal provides inadequate protection against a long and lengthy three-month period during which lead and zinc prices must be below the per cent before corrective action is even considered."

The declaration urged that Congress promptly enact legislation establishing a "peril point" of 17 cents a pound for lead and 14 cents for zinc. At or above the peril point prices, imported metals could be made free of duty or tax.

To keep foreign shippers from invading U. S. markets and forcing prices below the peril points, the Idaho group asked "reasonable protection" in the form of an excise tax.

The policy statement added, "We also urge that the conditions and waiting period before these excise taxes become effective be reduced from three months to the conditions and period provided in the excise tax law that presently applies to copper."

The operators also asked that the review by the President, treasury and tariff commission as proposed in the administration's plan.

Until such a law can be enacted, the operators asked that restrictions on the barrier stockpiling program be removed "so that world surpluses will be absorbed and prices restored to their 1956 level."

Regarding relief for tungsten producers, the statement suggested the program might take the form of purchases of presently accumulated tungsten inventories.

The operators endorsed "a labor-management policy based upon intelligent, willing collective bargaining. We do not believe that membership or non-membership in a labor organization should be a requirement for employment in the state of Idaho."

The group asked for recognition of tax relief for mining "as a risk and depleting resource enterprise." Specifically, the statement urged allowance of exploration expenditures as fully tax-deductible, and for a full allowance for percentage depletion, as well as cost depletion, for all minerals.

W. G. Woolf of Kellogg was elected president during the association's final business session. He succeeded LeRoy E. Traeger of Conda.

Other new officers are L. J. R. Hall, Wallace, first vice president; E. B. Douglas, Cobalt, second vice president; Harry W. Marsh of Boise was elected secretary-treasurer.

Talk on Police Is Feature for Club Meeting

City Manager Joseph H. Latimore, guest speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Twin Falls Exchange club Tuesday, outlined finances and personnel problems of the local police department.

He said the proposed 1958 budget of the city allocates $138,000 to the police department, with $103,000 for salaries. Comparing the local department with those in other cities this size, he said Twin Falls has 115 officers per 1,000 persons, while the median of all cities in the category is 147 police per 1,000.

Asked how Twin Falls and Boise compared, Latimore said Boise has about one policeman for every 635 persons and Twin Falls has one for about every 875. He added that Twin Falls has a greater amount of equipment at its disposal, tending to equalize proportions.

"Twin Falls has its share of police officers and is slightly higher than the lowest quarter of all cities of its size," he said.

When queried as to whether Police Chief Howard W. Gillette had ever asked for more men, he said, "Chief Gillette has asked for an increase in personnel each year since I've been here and I've been here five years."

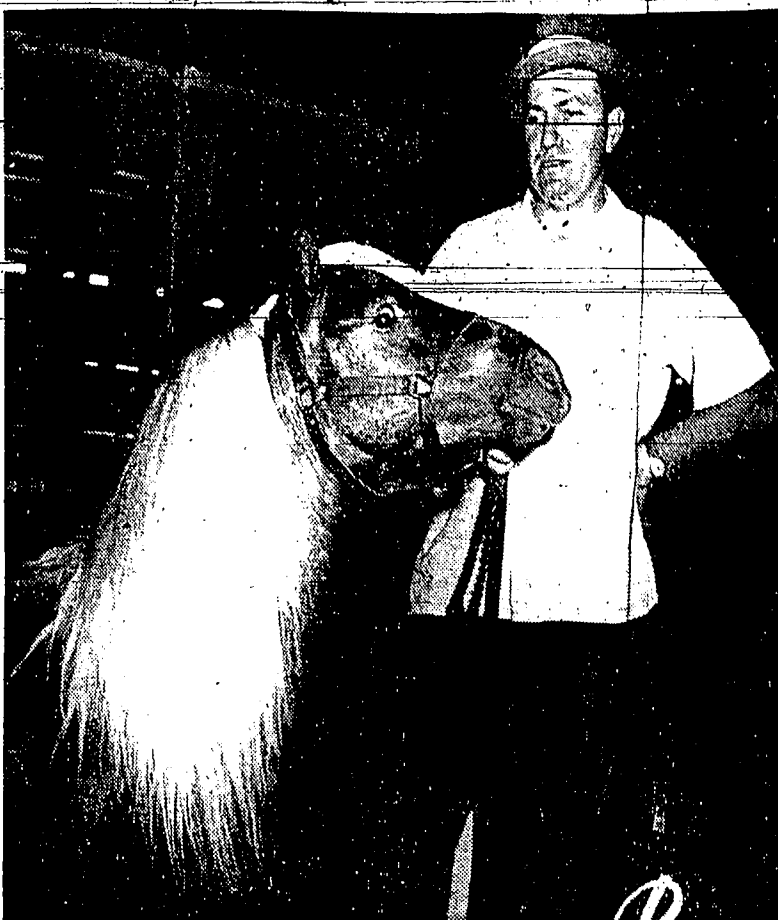

In concluding, Latimore said the Times-News and police department should work toward the common cause of eliminating traffic problems.

Following Latimore's remarks, Exchange club President James F. Blake opened the meeting for discussion and questions concerning the city manager's statements.

While some members viewed the traffic situation with alarm, others condemned the Times-News editorial policy of "creating mass hysteria" over a "not too significant subject." One member accused the newspaper and city officials of "keeping the traffic problem alive" when it might ordinarily "die a natural death."

The discussion, sometimes heated, ran well past the usual one-hour meeting time.

Champion Prepared for Horse Show

Joe Biles, horse trainer from Beaverton, Ore., displays Mr. Pepper, a long-time champion in the show pony class, Biles has entered the pony in the 14th annual Magic Valley horse show, opening Thursday night at Frontier field for four days. (Staff photo-entourage)

Trainer Declares Entries in Horse Show Are Top Quality

Joe Biles, long-time champion horse trainer from Beaverton, Ore., declares that Twin Falls has a finer quality of horses in this year's show than ever before.

Biles, who is entering 13 horses in the 14th annual Magic Valley horse show opening Thursday, said horses which will be shown will be some of the best in the nation.

Biles compares show horse training with that of training a champion boxer. "The right training equipment, atmosphere and working conditions are essential, and if you're going to train champion horses you might just as well do it right."

The lanky horseman who classifies his interest in horses as a hobby says "it takes about two and one-half years to develop a colt to a finished horse, and that's only the beginning, because a show horse must be trained constantly in order to make him a great horse in his field."

Getting a horse ready for a show is like "getting ready for a dance," and the most important step in good grooming is the shower.

Biles says washing a horse is a tedious job and care must be taken in washing and drying of the horse might catch cold. Another important, but tedious operation in preparing for a show is washing the horse's tail. It must be hand washed and fluffed, and brushes cannot be used. Brushes might break hairs or pull them out, Biles said.

"An interesting point which many

Modern Crime

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—The first robbery to telephone in the annals of crime so far as can be learned was chalked up by New York police Tuesday.

A downtown liquor store clerk reported a gut-sounding voice "telephoned and said:

"This is a setup. Get in the back of the store. If you're not there in four seconds, I'm coming in and kill you."

The clerk 30-year-old Herman Chernow, fled into the washroom.

He heard the cash register tick open and shut. He peeked in time to see a man vanish out the door with $100.

Damage Is Listed In Auto Mishaps

More than $600 damages were reported as the result of two accidents investigated by Twin Falls city police Tuesday. No injuries were reported.

An accident at Five Points east involved a 1950 Buick driven by Frank Horak, 62, 1733 Highland avenue, east and a 1956 Plymouth station wagon driven by George L. Swain, 50, Fort Riley, Kan.

Damage to the right side of the Buick was estimated at $300. Damage to the left front fender and bumper of the station wagon was also estimated at $300 by police.

An accident in the 400 block of Second avenue west involved a 1950 Ford pickup truck driven by James Harold Wilson, 47, and a 1956 Chevrolet driven by Mabel S. Holm, 179 Madison street. The police report indicates Wilson was pulling away from the curb and hit the side of the Holm vehicle which was in the right hand lane going northwest on Main avenue north.

HAY BURNS

Camp Tawakani Changed Into Deadwood City by 68 Campers

Camp Tawakani became "Deadwood City" last week and 68 campers at the Camp Fire Girls' camp became "frontier" men as the annual "Deadwood City" activities were climaxed Sunday night at a grand council fire at which 15 members of the staff and the "frontiermen" gathered. The week's events included a mock wedding, charivari, box social, quilting party, scavenger hike, cowboy hike, ranger hike and a gold strike.

Forty-three girls attended camp for the first time. "Billie's Blacksmith" was the cleanest cabin for the week with awards going to Janice Bacon, Cheryl Harshbarger, Elaine Lusk, Lynn Swenson, Gay Sprague and Sharon Stephens. Honorable mention was given to "Ann's Deadwood City News" cabin.

Best sanitation workers were Shirley Wilson, Carol Brewer, Pat Hoffmann, Karen Reed and Mary Olding. Best KP workers were Johnnie Chesney, Ann King, Judy Thomas, Kathy Gindling, Karen Holm, Mary Roan and Judy Anderson.

Special awards were given to the bugler, Kathy McIntosh, the best and Lorna Morgan, and the best camper of the week, Jean O'Bryan. "Gypsy Rendezvous" is the theme for the current week of activity.

Miller Seeks Full Freedom

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Counsel for playwright Arthur Miller moved again yesterday for Miller's acquittal of contempt of congress on the basis of decisions in higher courts.

Federal Judge Charles F. McLaughlin had thrown out one contempt count but retained a second one.

But the U. S. court of appeals here recently reversed the conviction of Marcus Singer, a Cornell university professor. The appeals court ruling stemmed from a recent supreme court decision setting guidelines for questioning of witnesses by congressional investigators.

McLaughlin had previously considered the impact of the supreme court decision on the Miller case but was asked to do so again by defense counsel Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., with the Singer decision also in mind.

McLaughlin is expected to hear oral argument on the Miller motion soon.

Camp Planned

SHOSHONE, July 17—Plans are being made this week for a group of the senior high age group of the Baptist church to attend camp at Cathedral pines next week.

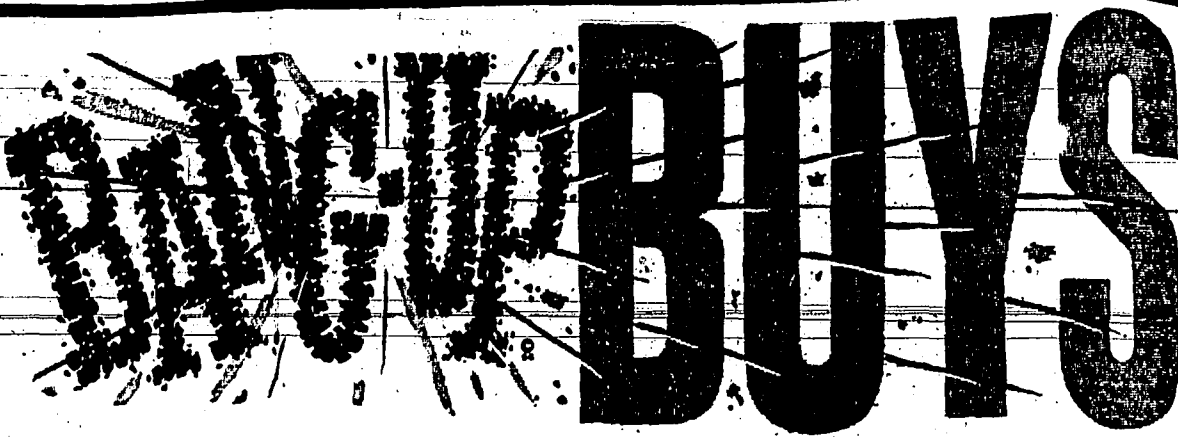

They will go to the camp Sunday afternoon accompanied by the Rev. Paul Winkler.

Those planning to attend are Robert Hatmaker, Robert Rinehart, Jimmy Alexander, Verlene Johnson, Howard Griffith, Ronnie Rogers, John Adkins and Gaea Carothers.

Experts View TV Set After Boy Is Killed

CHICAGO, July 17 (AP)—A group of electrical experts has decided that a portable television set was deadly enough to electrocute a 5-year-old boy who died when he touched it.

The experts were assembled by service county coroner Walter J. Cook in an investigation into the death Sunday of Howard Ehrenfeld.

In its present condition, the television set could kill, the experts told MacCarroll after a 90-minute study late yesterday.

Bulb Lighted

The engineers demonstrated that high voltage leaks from the unit's metal case were strong enough to light a 100-watt light bulb. The bulb was pressed into test use when a voltage meter was found to be defective.

However, a spokesman for the General Electric company in Syracuse, N. Y., where the portable sets are produced, said "under normal circumstances the set couldn't have caused such an accident." He said there was no reason to believe that other portable sets are dangerous.

Wants Study

MacCarroll said he would ask an impartial engineering group to undertake the detailed examination, and demand that at least "15 or 20 exactly similar sets by the same manufacturer be checked."

Howard fell dead in the kitchen of his family's home after brushing against the set, which was placed on an aluminum cart.

Partitioning as Solution to Political Problem Holds Little Hope of Success

By The Associated Press

Geographical partitioning has become one of the favorite diplomatic fall-backs when nations are otherwise unable to settle clashes of interest.

It never seems to settle very much for very long, and usually is merely a means of freezing a problem in the hope that some day a situation will develop in which settlement will be possible.

A major part of the world's troubles today revolve around a Germany which was first dismembered and then partitioned.

Most major partitionings since World War II have marked an advance by the communist bloc.

East Germany represents two things in Russian eyes—an acquisition for communism, and a buffer against a revived Germany or a beligerent West.

North Korea and North Vietnam are the fruits of aggression.

Palestine was partitioned by international action to give the Jews a national home and a haven for victims of war-time oppression.

Now Britain and France are considering new partitionings to settle problems which seem insoluble.

The suggestion for Algeria is non-geographical.

To oversimplify, it would establish separate regimes within the French commonwealth, for residents of native and European stock. A sort of ethnic partition, designed to solve the problem of giving the Arabs and Berbers enough sovereignty to satisfy them without endangering the rights of the French colonists and descendants of colonists who provide the country's real economic energy.

So far, the suggestion is informal, a trial balloon to test one more idea for ending the Algerian turmoil.

The other suggestion, more concrete but hardly more likely to succeed, is partition of Cyprus between the populations of Greek and Turkish descent. The Turks are a minority of about 30 per cent. Anything they could hope to get out of partition would present them with an almost impossible economic situation. They would become mere subjects of another Jordan.

On the other side, the Greek Cypriots would not be satisfied either, because what they want is not sovereignty, but self-determination, which in this case means union with Greece.

Nor could this settle the major international problem, which is Britain's need for a military base in the Middle East. Britain is developing her military holdings on Cyprus, rather than planning to evacuate them. Although Greece is a member of NATO, she is in no position to defend the island.

There has been whisperings that the Cypriots, the Greeks, Turks and everybody might like for the United States to assume the guardian role. That would merely involve her in more trouble of a type to which she is not accustomed, and in which she fumbles around.

The newly-suggested partitionings don't even offer the prospect of a good freeze.

Five-Cent Candy Bar Facing Doom

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—The 58th annual convention of the National Confectionery Salesman association faced a tasty, and tasty, problem today.

It's what to do about the five-cent candy bar, an established institution which is caught in an economic squeeze of soaring prices and sinking profits.

Mark Heidelberger, president of the Heidelberger Confectionery company of Philadelphia, said yesterday the industry would be better off to forget the five-cent bar and concentrate on a ten-cent bar.

He said approximately 500 candy manufacturers have voluntarily geared their output to a five-cent demand despite constantly rising costs.

In searing desert heat RPM Supreme Motor Oil gave protection as good or better than a heavy grade oil. And in weather as cold as 40-below in Alaska, this same oil let the Big Run cars start in one second flat—because it reduces friction like a light oil.

Good as new! Inspected after 51,000 miles, these engines were still running perfectly, showed virtually no wear.

Proof that RPM Supreme guards parts so well, keeps them so clean and free of sludge at all temperatures, that engines can outlast the life of the car itself.

COWBOYS LOSE; LEAGUE LEAD THROWN INTO THREE-WAY TIE

Great Falls Rallies for 3 Runs in Eighth Inning To Get Past Magic Valley

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 17 (AP)—The Great Falls Dodgers scored three runs in the bottom of the eighth then pitcher Jim Wexler fanned the final three Magic Valley batters in the ninth and the Dodgers beat the Cowboys 6-4 Tuesday night. The victory made the Pioneer league's first place a three-way tie between Missoula, which lost to the Salt Lake Bees, Magic Valley and the Bees—all with 9-4 records. Wexler also singled in what proved to be the winning run for the Dodgers in the eighth. The first two runs were batted in by Gus Sannicino's ground out and a single by Libby Julian.

For the Cowboys Duane Hermon knocked in three runs with a double in the first, a sacrifice in the fifth and a single in the ninth. Vic Kray singled in Hermon in the fourth for the other run.

Although the visitors got as many hits as the Dodgers, the home team was able to bunch theirs more effectively. They got to starter Russell Wingo for only three hits and three runs and then jumped on his relief man, Jack Schomer, for two hits and two runs. Their other tallies were unearned, but two more safeties off Bill Denney drove them in.

The Cowboys' inability to push baserunners in proved their downfall. They stranded 12 men while the winners got in all but seven of their runners.

Robinson Hurt As New York Drops Redlegs

By The Associated Press

Frank Robinson, Cincinnati's all-star left fielder, was struck on the head by a pitched ball and carried from the field on a stretcher Tuesday night as the New York Giants defeated the Redlegs 6-1.

Willie Mays had 4 consecutive singles and Daryl Spencer drove in 4 Giant runs with a single and 2 homeruns.

Robinson, the 21-year-old slugger who was the National league's rookie of the year last season, was struck above the left ear by a Ruben Gomez fast ball in the 8th inning. First reports said Robinson had suffered a concussion and that there was no sign of a fracture.

Milwaukee's Warren Spahn snapped Philadelphia's 4-game win streak with a 6-hitter as the visiting Braves allowed the Phillie express, 8-2. The Phils clung to the National league lead despite the loss.

Homers by Hank Aaron, his 39th, and Del Crandall and 2 triples helped the Braves, who moved within one percentage point of second place St. Louis.

The Snider blasted his 20th homerun with a man aboard in a 4-run 5th inning that broke a 2-all tie and carried the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 7-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals at Ebbets field.

A 2-run throwing error by Wally Moon, Cardinal right fielder, gave Brooklyn a 2-all tie in the 4th inning.

The seventh-place Pittsburgh Pirates shoved the Chicago Cubs deeper into the National league cellar, taking a 5-3 decision in a regularly scheduled game after earlier completing a suspended game and winning it 5-4 on a homer by outfielder Frank Thomas.

LONGEST DRIVER

DAYTON, O., July 17 (AP)—Mike Krak, Welkown, W. Va., retained his long-hitting title in the PGA Golf tournament Tuesday with a shot of 254 yards, 10 inches. Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., was second with 253 yards, 15 inches.

Former Middleweight Champ Will Officiate at Shoshone Amateur Fights

Former middleweight champion Gene Fuller, West Jordan, Utah, will spend three days in Magic Valley this week, refereeing an amateur boxing card at Shoshone and visiting other northern communities. In addition to making appearances at sporting events and a summer camp, Fuller will attend an LDS MIA dance Saturday evening at Sun Valley church. The card he is refereeing is sponsored by the Blaine stake as a fund raising project for the Sun Valley chapel.

The former champion is scheduled to arrive in Shoshone Wednesday afternoon and will spend some time at a camp on the north fork of Wood river.

At the time Fuller's visit was announced, Clifford Ward, Richfield, also reported the card for Friday's fights.

Allen King vs. Randy Park, both Richfield in the 55 pound class. The Byington twins, Halley, meet in the 66-pound limit match and Dale Cameron, Carey, vs. John Loidgfield, Richfield, at 85 pounds. In the 88-pound class, Jerry McWilliams, Halley, vs. LeRoy Lee, Richfield, and Tony Jansen, Richfield, and Bob Powell, Shoshone, meet in the 100-pound event.

A 115-pound contest pits Terry Croft, Shoshone, and Don Hunsen, Picabo, and Jim Handy, Shoshone, meets Vernon King, Richfield, at 118 pounds.

In the 132-pound division, LeRoy Johnson, Richfield, vs. Kent Briggs, Dietrich, and Merlyn King, Richfield, and Ralph Holly, Shoshone, both 135 pounds, have been matched. Golden Barlow, Carey, takes on Oscar Stimpson, Shoshone, in the 145-pound bout and Jerry Pidecock, Richfield, vs. Dale Bymaster, Dietrich, at 150 pounds. Dell Johnston, Dietrich, vs. Dan Ralls, Richfield, at 168 pounds, and the final match at 183 pounds, pits Merlyn Weeks, Richfield, against Darwin Park, Carey.

As an extra, a tag team wrestling match will be presented. Deadbeat Dillworth and Pretty Boy Patterson meet Tiger Price and Killer Peck.

Ward said other boys interested in participating may contact Lloyd Smith or Harrell Thorne, Shoshone.

Old Man's Theory Is Good, but 20 Years Old, Fish and Game Men Say

BOISE, July 17 (AP)—An 83-year-old Idaho frontiersman complained Tuesday at the state's administration of its wildlife resources but was told his ideas were "at least 20 years out of date." Paul Swayne of Star, who said he was a guide in Idaho's primitive area in the early part of the 20th century, presented to the Idaho fish and game commission a list of 21 "complaints and charges." Basically, his argument was that Idaho's big game hunting season runs too late in the year, resulting in the killing of pregnant does.

"It's against the law of nature," the gray-haired guide said. "But Ray Sims of Bonners Ferry, chairman of the five-member fish and game commission, said 'You have got to harvest the big game crop if you don't. They'll deplete the winter range and once the winter range is gone it takes 60 to 70 years to restore it.'

"It's easier to build up a depleted big game herd than to build up a depleted range."

Tom Felton of Moscow, a member of the commission, said that Swayne's contentions "are based primarily on past records and past experiences."

"They do not coincide," he said. "With present recommendations by biologists and conservation officers, who are in constant touch, not only with the Salmon river area, but with the entire game management program of the state."

"We have repeatedly requested Mr. Swayne to accompany our men on surveys in order to bring his knowledge up to date. But he has refused. His ideas are at least 20 years out of date."

Other members of the commission expressed similar sentiment. All five expressed confidence in the work of the state fish and game director, Ross Leonard, who was the object of much of Swayne's criticism.

"We have the utmost confidence in our director and his employees," said Ray J. Holmes of Twin Falls. "I think we have some of the best qualified men in the nation working in our department."

Artie Johnson of Boise emphasized that the commission has "the responsibility of hiring the director and we have no apology to make."

Referring to Swayne's appearance before the commission, Glenn

Braves Spurt To 10-3 Win Over Russets

BOISE, July 17 (AP)—The Boise Braves scored most of their runs in spurts of three here Tuesday night to knock down the Idaho Falls Russets 10-3 in a Pioneer league contest.

Jess Queen opened the scoring in the first for Idaho Falls with his solo homer.

But Boise came back with three in the fourth when Howie Bedell was safe on an infield hit, Bobby King walked with both advancing on an out and Ditz Johnson doubled them home. Gail Moore's double brought in Johnson.

Three more came in the fourth on a walk, a fielder's choice, an error and three singles. Bob Warner socked a two-run homer with singling Bob Jacoby on base in the eighth after Jacoby's hit had brought home doubling Gail Moore.

Qualifying Rounds Begin In State Amateur Tourney For Field of 120 Entries

Qualifying rounds for the state amateur golf tournament were set for Wednesday morning for a field of 120 from throughout Idaho and surrounding states got accustomed to the two local courses in practice rounds Monday. While the field was considered "very good" by meet officials, many past entries were expected before the deadline at noon. Ed Purves, Idaho Golf association president, reports both courses are in excellent shape for the tourney. Unable to pick a favorite from the star-studded field, defending champion Babe Hickey gains the nod along with his brother, Jim Hickey, two time champion and Twin Falls' Sheppard brothers, Dick and Rusty.

T.F. Legion Team Gets Split With Pocatello

POCATELLO, July 17—A scratch single down the first baseline cost Larry Kincheloe a no-hitter Sunday as the Twin Falls Junior American Legion baseball team split a double-header here with Pocatello. The host team came from behind to win the first 8-6, but Kincheloe stopped them 8-2 in the second.

Winners in T. F. Golf Meet Are Reported

Roy Giklu and Marge Baldwin teamed Sunday to win the mixed Scotch golf ball tournament at the city golf course. Just a step behind the winner's 33 net were Cliff Smith and Dorlene Packard at 34. Bob Packard and V. Smith tied Ron Everton and Anna Dean Coulam for third place, followed by Russ Baskerville and Carma Hunter. In fifth were Wayne Williams and Lorna Nore. All three winners received merchandise prizes. Another tourney will be conducted a week from Sunday. In the men's association meet, Ed Purves posted a 71 low gross score to take a two stroke win over Dr. Willard Peterson and Robb Smith, who tied at 73. Ken McClain claimed the prize for the most points with 43, and he was followed by Vince Binkley and Arnold Luft, both 42. Gibb Miller and Keith Jacobsen each had 41 for third place and Blaine Anderson got 40 points for fourth. Connie Larsen was fifth with a 39. The event was the group's annual Honey Pot tournament.

Bat, Monroe Take Tag Team Wrestling Bout

The Bat and Rocky Monroe teamed up to wrestle the tag team championship from Guy Brunetti and Joe Tanagero here Tuesday in the main event of the VFW wrestling card. Brunetti took the first fall for the hosts, befuddling Monroe with a series of drop kicks and then using body press. But The Bat took the next two falls, employing a half crab for the first and a body press for the clincher. In the no time limit curtain raiser, Ray Thomas used substitute Cui Roberts for a football and notched the win in 20 minutes. Roberts, pinch hitting for Henry Lenz, managed to take the first fall in 12 minutes with drop kicks and a body press. Thomas then began using head, butting Roberts all over the ring with it and finally pinned him. Then Thomas came back 12 minutes later with a "Joe King Special" and the win.

BROOKLYN, July 17 (AP)—That man was leading the National league hitters again Tuesday. Stan (The Man) Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals regained the top spot Monday, collecting one hit in two official at-bats against Philadelphia's Jack Sanford to raise his batting average to .344. Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves dropped to second place with .343 mark. He went hitless in five appearances against the Dodgers.

Utah Sets Meeting To Disentangle Boat License Law

SALT LAKE CITY, July 17 (AP)—Gov. George D. Clyde called a meeting for Tuesday afternoon to discuss Utah's tangled boat licensing regulations. Invited to the exploratory session in the governor's office were representatives of the coast guard, bureau of reclamation, Utah fish and game department, Utah wildlife federation and all other government or sportsmen's groups interested. At present, different groups controlling a number of different reservations in the state require separate licenses for boating on each reservoir. Recently publicity on the situation has pointed out that if a person wanted to use his boat on all the waters, he'd have it painted like a signboard before he finished complying with all the regulations requiring display of his many license numbers.

Los Angeles Charges Dodgers With Double Cross if Move Fails

LOS ANGELES, July 16 (AP)—A Los Angeles official Tuesday charged it would be "the biggest double cross in history" if the Brooklyn Dodgers failed to come to Los Angeles next year. The statement was made by county supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who claimed Brooklyn president Walter O'Malley had gone so far in lining up Los Angeles as the new home for the Dodgers that the city and county were about to rip apart sections of the 105,000 seat Memorial coliseum to make it a temporary field for the team until a baseball stadium could be built.

Giants' Rosy West Coast Dream Upset

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17 (AP)—Some shocking disclosures have upset the mayor's rosy dream of throwing out the first ball for the 1958 season opener of the National league Giants here. The pay television system which was supposed to lure the New York Giants to the West Coast will cost from 30 to 60 million dollars to install in the San Francisco area, Mayor George Christopher ruefully reported Monday.

And, he said, the job of installing the cables and circuits for the system will take three to four years. The cold facts on cost and time came from President Mark Sullivan of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, who also observed that the 30 to 60 million dollars was not forthcoming immediately. In other words, the money isn't in sight. "This is very discouraging for us who want major league baseball here next year," the mayor told newsmen after advising them of Sullivan's report to him. "Not only is the cost factor alarming, but the estimate on time is not encouraging," Christopher said. Reporters asked whether the planned 1958 shifts of the Brooklyn department, Utah wildlife federation and all other government or sportsmen's groups interested. At present, different groups controlling a number of different reservations in the state require separate licenses for boating on each reservoir. Recently publicity on the situation has pointed out that if a person wanted to use his boat on all the waters, he'd have it painted like a signboard before he finished complying with all the regulations requiring display of his many license numbers.
