Trio of Seamen Killed by Blast On Board Ship

NEW LONDON, July 18 (U.P.)—A 21 1/2-pound charge of TNT in experimental work exploded on the deck of the escort vessel Somersworth last night killing three sailors and injuring eight others, four seriously. The blast occurred on the forecastle deck at 5:15 p.m. when the ship was off Montauk point conducting "test operations" with the submarine T-10, the navy said. The ship was not damaged. First indication caused navy investigators to believe that a time fuse on the charge may have been defective, the navy said. A board of officers from the New London base began an investigation of the accident when the ship arrived here shortly after 4:30 a.m. EDT. The charges are used in "investigating sound transmission" in underwater work, the navy said. The four seriously injured sailors were transferred to the British liner Queen Mary, which halted her eastward Atlantic crossing to make her doctor available. They were treated aboard the liner and then lowered to the deck of the navy submarine rescue ship Sunbird which had sped to assist the injured with two doctors aboard. There was no damage to the Somersworth, the navy said. The charges are similar to hand grenades and are tossed manually over the side during the sound testing experiments. The Somersworth carried a crew of 55 and four officers. Captain of the Somersworth is Lieut. Roy E. McCoy and his executive officer is Lieut. Robert W. Haynes, the navy said. The Somersworth, a small ship by navy standards, played a big part in naval history during World War II. She was the first ship to enter Manila harbor in the Philippines during the capture of the island and the first allied ship to enter Tokyo harbor following end of hostilities on Sept. 8, 1945. In addition, such a ship has a crew of 100 and accommodations for 57 hospital patients, according to Jank.

Demos Are Accused Of 'Steamrolling' Bill

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Amid indignant Republican cries of "steamroller" and "high handed tactics," the house public works committee yesterday approved four major bills dealing with water projects, power and federal buildings. Unfrustrated, Democrats, controlling the committee 19-15, replied to the Republicans that the measures were handled "in an orderly way" and approved by majority vote. Approved at a stormy meeting, which was closed to the press, were these bills:

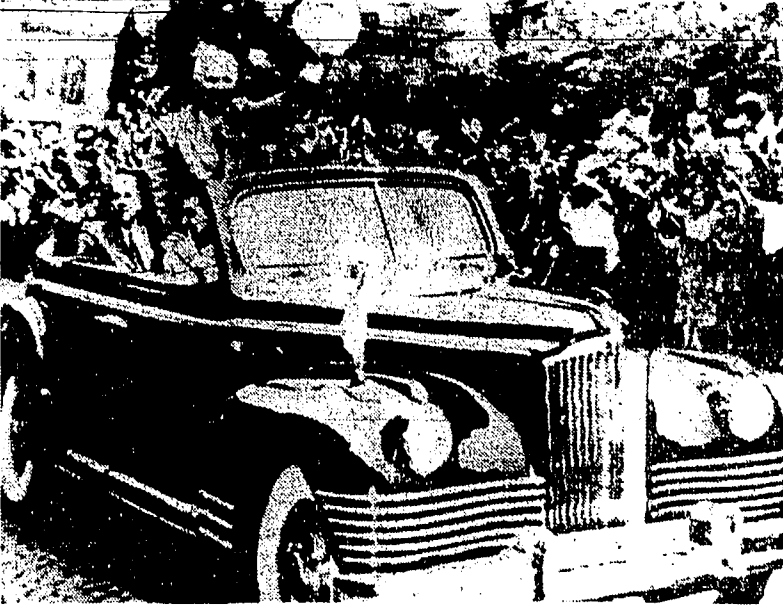

Hearing Over Vote on Bond Being Sought

BURLEY, July 18—Petitions asking the Cassia county commissioners to hold a public hearing in preparation for a bond election to raise funds for a new hospital in Burley will begin circulating in the county Monday. Decision to circulate the petition was reached at a meeting of the hospital committee here Wednesday night. William Beck, committee chairman, said Palmer Saterstrom has been named general chairman to work with area chairmen in circulating the petition. Volunteers who have agreed to head petition committees in their areas are Monroe Adams, Pella, for the Oakley Highway; John Koye, View and Springdale; Mrs. E. Hatfield, Declo, from the Springdale road east; Mrs. Charles W. Wilson, Unidy, Soropontist club, for Burley east of Overland avenue, and Jay C. Ertter, for Burley west of Overland avenue. Chairmen for Oakley, Milner and Starr's Perry have not been named. Dr. Charles A. Terhune reported at a meeting with the city council which aid of the council was in finding a suitable location for the hospital. Mayor J. Leonard Palmer named Kales Lowe, John Brown and Carl Robertson to work with the hospital committee. County Prosecutor Norman Nelson said petitions, to be eligible to sign the petition, must be property owners, residents of the county for at least 30 days and must have voted in the last election. He said the petitions could be signed by both man and wife.

Business, Labor Paying Little Heed To Anti-Inflation Plea of President

WASHINGTON, July 18 (U.P.)—Stagflation index today that both business and labor are substantially ignoring President Eisenhower's repeated pleas that they exercise self-restraint on wages and prices to curb inflation. Wages keep on going up and so do prices and the data indicate they have been going up more since January than before. It was in January that Eisenhower told the nation in his annual economic report it was time for some labor-management self-restraint. Available from the government and reliable private sources show that wage rates settlements, although they have been few, have been somewhat higher so far in 1957 than in the comparable period in 1956. Prices as reflected by the government's consumer price index—the most widely used measurement of the nation's living costs—have never stopped going up in 1957. The living cost index has risen to new records for nine straight months in a climb that started 15 months ago. Government economists have forecast another new living cost record will be announced in a few days. Eisenhower has repeated several times since January his warnings against speeding up the inflationary spiral with wage and price booms. On June 26 and again on July 2

Police Court Jury Rules Local Constable Guilty of Speeding

A six-man police court jury found Constable Elton Holmes guilty of speeding shortly before 2 p.m. Thursday after debating about 45 minutes. The case went to the jury about 1 p.m. after a sometimes stormy session by defense lawyers and the prosecution in the court of Judge J. O. Pumphrey. Three hours of testimony and summation were guided by City Attorney Robert N. W. Balleisen and Defense Attorneys E. L. Rayborn and James J. May.

Zhukov-Wilson Meet Idea Is Well Received

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—A visit to Washington by President Eisenhower's old friend, Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov, appeared today to be a distinct possibility. Eisenhower himself said yesterday that talks with Zhukov might serve a useful purpose in improving Soviet-American relations and easing world tensions. The Soviet embassy reflects in one comment, at least, a generally favorable attitude, and several U. S. senators of both parties said they thought it would be a good idea.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 18 (AP)—U. S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor today denied defense motions for a directed verdict of acquittal for 11 defendants in the "Clinton trial," landmark civil rights case. However, before the judge ruled on defense motions for acquittal, the government dropped criminal contempt charges against four other defendants, all from the Clinton area.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The house civil service committee overrode administration objections Thursday and voted for an 11 percent, $32-million-dollar pay raise for a million government workers. The committee headed by Representative Murray D. Tenn., acted by a reported vote of 14-10 shortly after hearing Robert E. Merriam, the assistant budget director, say such a raise would be inflationary.

Dixie Spokesman Views Defeat for 'Rights' Measure

WASHINGTON, July 18 (U.P.)—Sen. Richard B. Russell predicted today the senate will kill the most controversial section of the civil rights bill unless "some unusual pressure is brought." The Georgia Democrat, leader of the Southern bloc fighting the bill, apparently meant White House pressure. He referred to part three of the administration's four-point rights bill. Part three would empower the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions to prevent threatened violation of any civil rights. President Eisenhower indicated yesterday he does not favor extending this power to school segregation cases unless local authorities ask for federal intervention.

A Bingham volunteer fireman also died from injuries received when he fell from a fire truck Sunday, and a 19-month-old Provo girl succumbed, apparently after being run over by a car. Killed in the collision 15 miles northwest of Grantsville were Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Roberts of Salt Lake City and Edwin D. Benson, 38, Elco Vista Nevada. Benson's wife, Beatrice, and three children, Pat, 12; Peggy, 9, and Debbie, 4, were all in critical condition in the Tooele Valley Memorial hospital. A nurse said today all spent a poor night. She said Mrs. Benson was in the worst condition. "She has been told her husband is dead," the nurse said, "because she asked, 'But she doesn't seem to really grasp the fact.'"

Residents of Colorado Community Trek To High Land as Dam Break Threatens

CAPULIN, Colo., July 18 (AP)—More than 400 residents of this southern Colorado community fled their homes this morning along the Alamosa river below the crumbling Terrace reservoir dam. Another 1,000 persons in two nearby towns fled to evacuate. Capulin residents were evacuated to higher ground shortly before 10 a.m. when officials warned the dam would "go out momentarily." The state patrol said residents further downstream at La Jara and Manassa also were warned to be prepared to evacuate if the dam gave way. The patrol said the dam was crumbling from beneath "minute by minute." Highway crews worked feverishly with heavy bulldozers in attempts to fill the widening gap at the bottom of the dam. Four dozen workers were pushing dirt directly into the south section of the dam in hopes of plugging the hole. Assistant State Engineer David Mathias said the communities of La Jara and Manassa "may not be flooded" if the dam breaks, but that officials were "taking no chances." The patrol said it was taking steps to avert closing of U.S. highway 285 near La Jara. Mathias speculated that much of the flood-damaged area would be contained to the immediate area around the Capulin and fernlands. But he said it "depends on the force of the off from the mountain snowpack."

Sentences Are Imposed on 5 In Court Here

Five persons were sentenced to the state penitentiary Wednesday in Twin Falls district court for a total of 53 years but three of those sentenced will only have to spend time in the Twin Falls county jail.

Jesse W. Avery, charged with second degree burglary of the room of a guest at the Rogers hotel, was sentenced to five years in the state prison.

Roy O. Butler, 404 Second avenue east, was sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary on a charge of forgery. He had previously been placed on probation by the court but a bench warrant was issued against him July 8, and the probation revoked.

Butler had been ordered to go to Blackfoot for treatment for alcoholism and return to the court on June 28 as part of his probationary terms. He had also been ordered to refrain from all alcohol beverages during the probationary period. The bench warrant was issued after he had been arrested for drunkenness and failure to appear back in court on June 28.

Paul Hogan and Robert L. Ash, Twin Falls, pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery and waived their statutory time for being sentenced. Judge Hugh A. Baker sentenced each man to not more than 14 years in the penitentiary but commuted the sentence to four months in the county jail because of their previous record.

Herbert J. Morgan, 1905 Kimberly road, pleaded guilty to issuing a check without sufficient funds in a bank and waived time for sentencing. He was sentenced to not more than five years in the penitentiary but the sentence was commuted to 90 days in the county jail.

John Keller McMill, 130 Eighth street east, appeared in court on a charge of non-support of a minor child. He requested the court appoint him an attorney. J. Dean Mosher, Twin Falls, was appointed and the judge scheduled time for making a plea for 2:30 p.m. Friday.

attitude for the lease-purchase repeal, a senate bill to extend the act, which otherwise will expire July 21.

6. Republicans will seek to amend the TVA bill and insert some limitations to the bond issuing authority.

7. While many Republicans will support the Niagara power bill, they object to the tactics by which it was put through the committee.

At an impromptu indignation meeting in a corridor, Representative McGregor, R., O., ranking Republican on the committee, charged "Tammany Hall tactics" at the committee meeting.

Chairman Buckley, D. N. Y., who was standing nearby snapped back that "I certainly didn't use any Tammany Hall tactics. I'm not even a member of the organization."

As regards the water projects authorization bill, Democrats said their tabulation showed that as it was approved the bill now carries only 18 projects objected to by the budget-bureau, compared with 22 last year when the President vetoed the measure. Moneywise, they said, the projects objected to would cost $80,571,000 or 8.5 per cent of the bill's total.

The bill would authorize more than 100 flood control, navigation, beach erosion and power projects with a cost of $1,456,461,900. The committee has 23 projects in the bill as it passed the senate earlier this year and $1,819,292,000 in the measure which Eisenhower vetoed last year.

Agreement on Disarmament Called Closer

LONDON, July 18 (AP)—Britain declared today Russia and the West have made "substantial advances" in their quest for a disarmament agreement.

A white paper laid before Parliament said there is still a considerable divergence between the Russian and Western views of what should be written into a partial treaty to slow down the world arms race. But the government document added:

"Nevertheless, it is true to say that substantial advances have been made in the present series of discussions 'in the five-power sub-committee of the United Nations disarmament commission. The prospects of a partial agreement have materially improved since March."

The U. N. group has met 51 times since convening in London March 18. Its members are the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Canada. It is required to make a report to the U. N. assembly as of Aug. 1.

Constable Is Found Guilty In Speed Case

as a city constable from the county of Twin Falls.

During cross examination by Balleson he said he didn't remember if he had told the two police officers he was chasing a "Texas" car. He said the car carried a California license plate.

Questioning Holmes' statement as to whether there actually was a car he was chasing, Balleson asked the constable "lied." He asked Holmes "who gave you the authority to use a siren and red lights" on the constable's 1933 model car. Holmes said he had "the same authority" as the sheriff.

Balleson charged Holmes' duties as a constable are confined to that of a process server. Later, during his summation to the jury, Balleson added that as a constable, Holmes had the authority to "keep the peace," adding that "there was no breach of the peace" involved in the traffic violation. Keeping the peace, he said, involves "breaking up fights or riots."

After the defense rested, Balleson recalled Eastman and Barnett to the stand. Both reiterated their statements that Holmes had referred to the "Texas" car he was chasing. Eastman said he mentioned it twice and once again in the presence of Barnett.

The officers' reiteration was allowed to stand over repeated objection by defense attorneys.

Balleson began his summation to the jury by charging that in handing out traffic tickets, Holmes acted in excess of his duties as "attending justice courts" to execute, deliver and return processes and other papers.

"Anyone," asserted Balleson to the jury, "could assert on a holster and gun and with red lights and a siren tear down the street every time he saw something." If Holmes could.

Noting the speed at which Holmes said he was driving, Balleson said he seriously doubted whether there actually was a car being chased by Holmes. In fact, he added, Holmes was "lying."

"He was speeding after somebody who didn't exist," he declared.

Balleson, repeatedly during his summation, charged Holmes with "attempting to weasel out" of his traffic ticket "by suddenly thinking up a traffic violator as he was issued the citation. He accused Holmes point blank of "lying" several times.

Both Rayborn and Mays offered summations to the jury. Rayborn charged Balleson with "becoming so excited that 'I wonder if there isn't something more to it than he admits.' He cited a state statute providing that 'any person' who obstructs a police officer in his duty is liable to a maximum fine of $5,000 and one-year imprisonment."

"Is that why Mr. Balleson is so violent?" he asked, "to save the police officers?"

Both Balleson and the two defense attorneys cited state statutes on the duties of a constable, the defense contending that the constable has the right to arrest law violators, and Balleson that he is "a process server" only.

By mutual agreement of counsel, the jury was given copies of various state statutes to determine the point.

The jury included Howard Hine, James R. Clark, Clarence E. Waggoner, Donald Welch, L. R. Christensen and V. S. Bartlett.

Trial of Tony Stocks, Burley, on a charge of negligent driving has been set for Saturday morning. Stocks was arrested on a complaint signed by Dwayne R. Anderson, Elba, Anderson previously had been arrested by Burley Policeman Floyd Stewart on a similar charge. Like Stocks, he pleaded innocent but time for his trial has not been set.

Stewart said he followed Anderson around a corner and noted that Anderson crossed over a white line. Meanwhile Stocks backed from a driveway and drove down the street. Anderson slammed on his brakes when Stocks came from his driveway, he said. The policeman followed the car down the street to Stock's residence where the two were arguing. He said he cited Anderson then. Later Anderson signed a complaint against Stocks.

Carson Harp, route 4, Buhl, was fined $10 and $3 costs Wednesday by Buhl Police Judge Bernard Starr on a charge of running through a stop sign. Judge Starr also fined Harp $5 and $3 costs on a charge of driving without a driving license.

On the joint commission McKay succeeds former governor Len Jordan of Idaho, who resigned.

The appointment has no specific tenure. Members of the commission serve for as long as the heads of their governments desire.

The money would be allotted over a five-year period at the rate of 300 million dollars annually, divided equally on the basis of school age population and the financial needs of the states.

Died Last Year
The bill is similar to one killed last year after the house wrote in an amendment to withhold federal aid from segregated schools. The current bill contains no integration provision, but a move may be made on the house floor to add one.

In addition to the construction grants, the bill would authorize the federal government to purchase up to 750 million dollars of school construction bonds from local districts unable to find a market at reasonable interest rates.

Assures Payment
It also would authorize 150 million dollars in advances to reserve funds established by states to help assure payment of state school financing obligations.

Thus the total federal liability would amount to $2,400,000,000.

Crash of Jet Sets Fire to City's Homes

WORCESTER, Mass., July 18 (AP)—A jet plane crashed into a residential section here today and set fire to six houses. The pilot was killed. The unidentified military jet crashed long before plowing to the houses.

The crash touched off a fire which engulfed the wrecked plane and spread to surrounding city homes. The plane first hit the home of Mr. and Mrs. Verner W. Nelson. The craft then slammed into the other houses.

Mrs. Joseph E. Hannigan, whose house also was hit by pieces of the plane, said "the shock of the crash stunned me."

"The whole house vibrated," she said. "I thought it was an earthquake. I ran to the window and saw flames and smoke."

"I could not tell whether anyone was injured. The street was empty. Then a lot of people came running from every direction."

Labor Ethics Group Slates New Hearing

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The AFL-CIO ethical practices committee today called new hearings on charges that the Teamsters' and Bakers' unions are corruptly dominated.

Al G. Hayes, chairman of the ethical practices group, set July 31 as the date for hearing charges against the bakers, and Aug. 1 to air accusations against the teamsters.

Want Leaders Out
Ouster of the two unions from the federation is the ultimate penalty for corrupt domination but it is believed AFL-CIO leaders are trying to encourage the unions to eliminate leaders questioned in testimony before the senate racket committee so the unions themselves can remain in the AFL-CIO.

The senate racket investigating committee wound up hearings only yesterday into activities of Bakers' union President James G. Cross.

Won't Take Test
He refused to take a lie detector test as proposed by union rivals who told the senators Cross helped beat up a union officer and his wife. Cross denied the accusation. Cross also declined to call a special union convention to review his activities.

Cattle Thefts Charge Made

CALDWELL, July 18 (AP)—A 37-year-old Nampa man has been accused of cattle theft after officers discovered three calves had been transported from a range in the back of an automobile, police said yesterday.

Owyhee county Sheriff Jim Tucker signed a complaint charging Elmer Gordy with grand larceny. Tucker said the calves were taken off the range by a horseback rider and transferred to a passenger car. A Caldwell man said he saw the animals in the car and noted the license number.

Tucker and Canyon county Sheriff Dale Halle investigated and found three calves had been sold at Meridian for $150.

An accident at Shoshone street and Seventh avenue north Wednesday night involved a 1949 Studebaker driven by Fred L. Garrison, 432 Lucius street north, and a 1947 Dodge driven by Dr. Wallace Bond, 198 Buchanan street.

Police reported the Studebaker stopped for traffic and the Dodge was unable to stop in time to avoid a collision.

Approximately $175 damage resulted when a 1947 Chevrolet driven by James L. Van Horn, 54, route 1, Hansen, and a 1954 Oldsmobile driven by James Klundt, 21, 561 Third avenue north, collided in the 300 block of Fourth street west.

Estimated damage to the Chevrolet was $100 and to the other vehicle approximately $75. No injuries were reported.

Reports and pictures in booklet form are made out each year by the Jaycees in each town in Idaho western division.

Members of the Takakosh Camp Fire group were given posters, stickers and stamps to distribute at their meeting Wednesday evening in the old hospital building.

While the Camp Fire Girls are distributing literature, the Jaycees will be painting signs on highways. The Jaycees have been discussing a plan to set up roadblocks in the year future to place "Keep Idaho Green" stickers on each car. They also plan to talk to local merchants about "Keep Idaho Green" stamps on each statement they sent out.

THE NERVOUS KREMLIN

The inside stories of the purge of top Russian leaders suggest that Messrs. Khrushchev, Zhukov and company moved against Malenkov, Molotov, Kaganovich and Shepilov to avoid being jettisoned themselves.

There never was any real doubt that the purge was a development in the Kremlin power struggle that has been going on, inevitably, ever since the death of Joseph Stalin in 1953.

Whether the opposition was crushed simply because it existed as a general threat or because it was, as some stories now state, actually plotting to seize power, we cannot really be sure.

We do know that dictatorships seem to demand dictators, that totalitarian communism without a Stalin is close to being an unworkable contradiction. It is not a system of government meant to accommodate rivalries at the top.

Therefore, what has happened probably was inescapable. It was merely a question of when the time would be right for action.

To those of us on the outside, the delicate problems of timing facing the power seekers in Moscow look to be tantalizing in the extreme.

When a man like Khrushchev or Zhukov decides to act, he takes his life in his hands. For if he does not have the strength he believes he has, then the opposition will thwart his move and in turn may crush him.

Again and again the would-be dictator and his principal backers must make that decision as he consolidates his power and moves toward the pinnacle. Each time, the same agonizing question must arise whether he has the means to conquer and is using them at exactly the right moment.

Stalin confronted this dilemma not only up to the time when he purged his last evident rivals in the late 1930's but even beyond, as he sought always to keep new foes from emerging to challenge his authority.

It will be the same for the present rulers. If, as most seem to suggest, Zhukov's helping hand to Khrushchev was decisive, then sooner or later these two would appear destined to battle it out for the top.

Obviously, the Kremlin is no place for a man with shaky nerves. Even if you sleep in the dictator's bed, you never know on what waking day a challenger may not arise to spirit successfully your downfall. Among other things, democracy is clearly more restful.

A MERITED CITATION

Last fall, in one of the most celebrated ocean ditchings in aviation history, a huge Pan American Stratocruiser was set down in mid-Pacific beside a weather ship. Within 17 minutes all passengers and crew were aboard the vessel, and three minutes later the plane sank.

It was recognized at the time for what it was—a rare feat of skill and intelligence on the part of the crew, and a remarkably cooperative-rescue effort on the part of the men of the weather ship.

Now their heroism has gained formal recognition from the civil aeronautics board, which praises both crews in its report on the accident.

It credits the plane crew with averting a major air disaster by its "calm and efficient control of the situation." It particularly commended the pilot and his aides for diagnosing the ailments which unhappily struck two of the plane's four engines as it headed from Hawaii to San Francisco.

In the board's view, the crew acted with model efficiency at every stage of the difficult and dangerous ditching operation. And it was fully mindful of the superb help given by the sailors aboard the coast guard cutter Pontchartrain.

Such commendations are not only deserved, but wisely offered as an encouragement to others to deal similarly with emergencies of this character.

UNPREPARED

We like to think these days that we are truly a long way from another war. But, properly, we still maintain our civil defense organization in most areas in some fashion or other.

One sad thing, however, is that in very few places it is genuinely adequate even by the most minimum standards. Funds are insufficient and interest is low.

Another, evidently, is that public indifference is such that it is doubtful if even such defensive measures as could be taken would really be effective.

University of Michigan testers found that if air raid sirens sounded a real alarm only some 20 per cent of the people would believe an actual attack was under way. Most would do nothing in response, or perhaps do the wrong thing.

Considering all that is at stake, this is a rather sad state of affairs. Our luck had better be enormously good in the months and years ahead.

An Illinois woman who lives in a three-room apartment gave birth to triplets. There'll be changes made.

Horsepower in the autos keeps going up and horse sense in the drivers down.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—An economy manager and engineer by Uncle Sam underlies the thinking of numerous Democrats now investigating and attacking the administration's monetary and financial policies. They would have the federal government "administer" production, prices and wages.

As it did during "PAY" of the Roosevelt-Truman years. Nothing has developed before the Byrd monetary or Kefauver anti-trust committees to justify this theory, although voluntary changes are envisaged even by President Eisenhower. Despite a profusion of testimony by the so-called experts, no satisfactory explanation for the current inflationary trend has been vouchsafed.

The knowledgeable gentlemen have agreed to disagree, without regard to ideologies and political affiliations, on one of the most important problems confronting the American people. It has been a painful exhibition.

LIKE COUNSELS SELF-CONTROL—There has, however, been a generally accepted thesis stemming from these surveys. It is that the nation's industrial, business and economic structure has become so big that it is not responsive to the controls over money and credit now exercised by the Federal Reserve system and other governmental agencies. President Eisenhower, in accord with his philosophy, counsels self-control by management, labor and consumers. The concurrent increase of steel prices and wages suggest that his request has been disregarded. But the White House feels that the $8-a-ton boost for steel would have been more save for his warning.

POSSIBLE CREATION OF CONSULTATIVE BODY—The most significant effect of these congressional X-rays may be the creation of a consultative body, consisting of representatives of the government, employers, labor, farmers and consumers, for a voluntary and persuasive management of the economy—production, productivity, market demands and prospects, wages, prices and profits.

Such an arrangement, which Herbert Hoover tried to set up in 1930 at a White House conference, and which became a necessity during World War II, would not be another compulsory Blue Eagle or NRA affair. It would be an attempt to solve this increasingly critical problem in a democratic and American way.

It would be the answer to the Kefauver anti-trust committee's hints that Uncle Sam should become the big and sole boss of the nation's economy. It would also meet with many of the suggestions offered to Senator Byrd's more conservative committee.

PROBLEMS TOO COMPLEX FOR DEBATE—President Eisenhower's statement on the relationship between steel wages and prices indicates that he has given thought to this kind of solution. Certain leaders of labor and industry, who must exchange ideas in collective bargaining negotiations required by law, have shown a receptive attitude. They cannot afford to neglect public or political sentiment.

Save for a few ready protagonists on and off Capitol Hill, the current inquiries demonstrate that the problems facing the government, industry, business, farmers and workmen—in short, the American people—are far too complex to remain matters of selfish, self-serving and partisan debate.

Almost 30 years ago—1930-1933—several congressional investigations led to revolutionary changes in the relations of the government and the various economic elements listed above.

The testimony in congress today indicates that another overhaul of the economy is long overdue.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

STOP LEGALIZED MANSLAUGHTER—When a moral issue is involved we never can get anywhere by giving an inch in the hopes of gaining a foot. In world affairs we named it appeasement and learned the hard way. In our dealing with our own youth because the results are usually not too tragic and indulgence comes easy towards those we love, we still engage in that type of folly.

Except on the Indianapolis speedway and many of the organized tracks around the country, there has never been any intelligent sympathy for automobile racing—and without recent years even these now have been identified with bloody hippodromes than valuable automobile testing.

When our young people in number started buying old cars because they were cheap and started to bring them up functionally, if not esthetically, to the level of more recent models, adults hailed their ambition and American ingenuity. Those who liked organizational patterns formed hot rod clubs and set out to demonstrate how they could be of great value to the driver beset with sundry mechanical difficulties on the road and how they could encourage safer driving practices.

These efforts were applauded by parents and safety leaders generally. Highway patrol bodies gave encouragement to the extent of sponsoring and showing movies to assist the organization and development of the clubs along sound lines. Club members meanwhile labored away tuning up motors and stepping up horsepower. The result was inevitable. . . . A Blue Road Angel met a Pink Road Dragon at the Drive-In. They each started singing the merits of their respective cars and organizations and 10 minutes later a private race was on.

The more responsible hot-rodgers decided if stretches of abandoned highways could be released to them for scheduled time trials, everyone would be happy and no one would get hurt. On the basis of this eloquence highway patrol leaders, local politicians and some safety experts another hot rod season judgment and became the newer discipline of "peace in our time" with the youth of the land. Thus were born the drag strips and drag racing.

Two elements were not considered:

1. That boys without the sense of responsibility of the original leaders would organize cliques, call them hot rod clubs, but would engage largely in reckless driving and rowdism.

2. That no one would seriously enter a race without practice. The hot rodger is betting perfectly normal when he wants to be certain that his car and his driving skill will be applauded when he appears in front of the drugstore spectators. He is not going to wait to do his speed testing on the drag strip. Pride in his car will not permit him to chicken-out when others challenge him on the street or at the Drive-In.

The National Safety Council has issued a strong policy statement opposing drag strips and drag racing. Either it is largely unheard of or ignored by police authorities, county board members and parents generally. Only last week the supervisors of one California county approved drag racing on one piece of publicly-owned land after sponsors applied for a half-million dollars of liability insurance. It was in this same county several months ago that a mother of teenage children wrote a gripping article, published in the local newspaper, describing her night of terror. She unsuccessfully tried for more than two hours, she wrote, to arouse the sheriff's office to stop an unofficial drag race attended by several hundred youngsters. Letters to the editor followed in unprecedented number. The emphasis was not on law enforcement but on the need for a public drag strip.

While highway patrols have lost their original enthusiasm for drag strips and drag racing, they are not "tickling out their necks" to eliminate them. In the meantime in California, and there is no reason to believe the situation radically different in other Western states, traffic accidents reported, and the number of persons injured and killed had increased during the first three months of 1957 over 1956.

It is indeed high time that we as individuals join the efforts of the National Safety Council, the International Association of Chiefs of Police and the California Governor's Traffic Safety Conference, all of which have recommended against drag strip races by anyone.

Supervisors, councilmen, local and state police are our servants. Demand that, where public safety is concerned, they enforce the laws instead of finding ways to make them meaningless. As an insurance man you are recognized as a constructive force in your community. For the safety of our children start using that well-earned influence now to abolish drag racing.—Western Underwriter's Life Edition.

NOW SEE HERE, BOSS!

Dear Pot: They always told me the mark of a great man is the ability to mold his surroundings and actions of others to his own convenience. With that in mind, I have the honor of suggesting Mr. Twin Falls County for 1957.

It seems this man, who I'd best not name, owns a small acreage on the edge of town and keeps a cow. He also holds down a job that requires night work. So to suit his living to his odd hours, he has trained the cow to milk at 2:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

After the brief transition period was over, the cow continued to give a good flow and the man kept getting eight hours of shut-eye.

Dear Pot: If you think Ed Purves was a good shot down at the Country club golf course, when he hit the rockchuck in the head, ask Dr. Rex Hall what he hit.

Blank

Pot Shots note: We did and Dr. Hall reports an almost phenomenal shot. Seems he was testing off while someone was working on the green. He didn't bother with the warning "FORE" because he didn't think the shot would carry that far. Then all of a sudden he realized the ball would reach his green, and the ball arrived before his "FORE!" The descending ball hit the very corner of the man's glasses, flipped the specs onto the grass without touching the man. Furthermore, the glasses weren't damaged, either. Dr. Hall takes much of the zest from the feat with the simple explanation: "I really didn't plan it that way."

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The contributing as liberally as usual to the party treasury. That's the way Eisenhower Republicans now size up the conflagration to cut the President's 72-billion-dollar budget.

As for what started the fire, there is no general agreement. There would not have been any blaze to put out if it weren't for the Treasury Secretary George Humphrey hadn't used that phrase about a coming depression that will curl your hair.

Everyone who has gone back to look at the record knows this wasn't Al Humphrey said. Actually, he praised the budget. Furthermore, Humphrey has repeatedly warned against trying to cut the budget too much, too fast. The hair-curling depression he was talking about was one that he said would come in the 1960's if government spending kept on increasing.

Few people paid any attention to these distinctions. GOP strategists now insist the opposition was largely a protest from fat cats—the richer, more reactionary Republicans. George Humphrey is the spokesman for this group in the administration. They mistook his warning for the future as a warning of clear and present danger.

Today, probably nobody is sorer for this misinterpretation than George Humphrey himself.

When Meade Alcorn came in as new chairman of the GOP national committee, his first step was to put out the fire.

Alcorn didn't try to attack it frontally by dumping a lot of political cold water on it. Instead, he tried to burn off a few local areas ahead of the big blaze to act as firebreaks.

To flog up this metaphor completely, what Chairman Alcorn proposed was a national survey of the damage area. He wanted to listen to the crackling flames of criticism at the grass roots. He would let the fire burn a little longer.

This gave the impression that a split was developing in the Republican party. Alcorn was said to be sour on Eisenhower Republicanism.

It appeared that—in order to win a GOP congress in 1958—Alcorn might lead a movement for a more conservative policy. This was to satisfy the fat cats who weren't

When Meade Alcorn came in as new chairman of the GOP national committee, his first step was to put out the fire.

Alcorn didn't try to attack it frontally by dumping a lot of political cold water on it. Instead, he tried to burn off a few local areas ahead of the big blaze to act as firebreaks.

To flog up this metaphor completely, what Chairman Alcorn proposed was a national survey of the damage area. He wanted to listen to the crackling flames of criticism at the grass roots. He would let the fire burn a little longer.

This gave the impression that a split was developing in the Republican party. Alcorn was said to be sour on Eisenhower Republicanism.

It appeared that—in order to win a GOP congress in 1958—Alcorn might lead a movement for a more conservative policy. This was to satisfy the fat cats who weren't

Cancer Expert Says Cigarette Definitely Linked to Disease

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—An American Cancer society expert told congress today the evidence linking cigarette smoking and cancer is a cause of lung cancer.

The society's expert, Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, also said smoking is a cause of death from heart disease. Hammond made the prepared statement as an opening witness at a house government operations subcommittee investigation of filter cigarettes.

Witnesses also included a spokesman for the tobacco industry.

Contract Awarded On State Highway

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—The federal bureau of public roads said Wednesday it has awarded to Peter Kiewit and Sons of Idaho Falls a contract for construction of another link in northern Idaho's Lewis and Clark highway.

The work involves construction of 49 miles of the highway in an area about 50 miles east of Kootenai. The bureau said that 2.7 miles of the work is new construction and the remainder involves reconstruction of existing roadway.

The firm bid $520,032. The bureau said the project will be paid for entirely by federal funds, allocated to Idaho for work in national forest areas.

About 13 miles of the highway remain to be constructed in a virgin wilderness area. When it is completed, the route will provide access from east to west across central Idaho.

Utah Auto Crash Is Fatal to Three

GRANTSVILLE, Utah, July 18.—An elderly Utah couple and a young California father of three were killed about 1 p.m. Wednesday in a head-on collision on U. S. highway 40-50 about 15 miles northwest of here.

Tooele county Deputy Sheriff James W. Park and Utah Highway Patrolman Neal Bishop who investigated identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Roberts, both about 63, of Salt Lake City, which is about 30 miles east of here, and Edwin D. Bennis, 28, of Pico Vista, Novato, Calif.

Seriously injured were Mrs. Bennis. The Bennis children aged 4, 9 and 12 suffered undetermined injuries. All were placed under treatment at the Tooele, which is 11 miles southeast of here.

The attorney general said the advice of the county prosecutor should be followed because "he has to handle the court trial and has the right, we think, to have the required evidence obtained according to his interpretation of the law."

Anti-Submarine Forces Given Boost by Atomic Depth Charge

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Strange new weapons, which revolutionize the hunter-killer group using "dunking sonar." While hovering they lower a cable with sonar gear into the water.

During World War II sonar only had an effective range of from 1,000 to 2,000 yards. Today it has considerably greater range and is far more precise in reporting the nature of the object it detects.

"Magnetic anomaly detection" gear locates a sub by noting changes which it makes in the earth's normal magnetic field. MAD gear hasn't the range of sonar but has other advantages. ASW planes also use radar to detect surfaced subs or the snorkel breathing devices which are found on most Russian subs.

When an enemy sub is finally located the group drops its hunter role and becomes the killer. For this part of the mission the group also has a versatile array of weapons, with the new atomic depth charge as the ace in the hole.

"Hedgehog" is one of them. Details of it are secret but it's a device which fires clusters of explosives over an area. Any one of the explosives can blow a hole in the skin of a sub upon impact.

"Weapon alpha" is a rocket-propelled depth charge. It's possible for weapon alpha to employ the nuclear charge.

A prime sub-killer is still the long-range torpedo. This is the most likely means of delivering an atomic underwater blast to crush enemy subs. They can be fired from aircraft, destroyers, carriers and other subs.

The submarine itself has been developed as a prime anti-sub weapon and plays an important part in the missions of the hunter-killer group.

It is the goal of a commander of a hunter-killer group to pinpoint the position of his target so that conventional explosives will destroy it. Fixing his prey only in a general

Thomas, a lost baby robin, has a new "papa" in five-year-old Jamie McKinney of Atlanta, Ga., who found the tiny bird after it fell from a nest near his home. Jamie's folks have spent about a dollar a day for worms to feed Thomas, who, although able to fly now, refuses to rejoin his feathered friends. (NEA telephoto)

New Hope Is Seen for Talk On Disarming

LONDON, July 18 (AP)—The U. N. disarmament talks took a more hopeful tone yesterday as Britain proposed that working committees be set up in fields where East and West appear closest to agreement.
Among the four committees suggested in the U. N. disarmament subcommittee by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd was a group to study how a suspension of hydrogen bomb tests might be enforced.
Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin, who last week declared such a working group would be "a waste of time" at this stage, neither accepted nor rejected Lloyd's proposal. Zorin said he would "ponder" the statement and reply later.
It was the first time in the four-month-old negotiations that Zorin has not resisted proposals that working committees be appointed. He has met such proposals in the past with the immediate objection they would be premature.
U. S. officials said they attached no major importance to the fact that Zorin did not immediately say "no" Wednesday. But they added it was only one of several indications the negotiations had taken a more promising turn.
The general atmosphere in the closed subcommittee room was described as one of "getting on with the job."
The fact that Lloyd returned to the meetings with his new proposal was taken as another favorable sign.
Lloyd had skipped two previous meetings after attacking Zorin's attitude as "disappointing." The leadership of the British delegation was returned to Omdir, Alan Noble, minister of state, from whom Lloyd had taken over when the talks appeared closer to agreement in May.
It appeared Britain had dropped, at least for the moment, private suggestions that the talks should be recessed by Aug. 1—the deadline originally fixed when the subcommittee convened March 16. Some American officials predicted they will continue into September.
Lloyd told the subcommittee even though Zorin's rejection of Western proposals on nuclear matters last week was "disappointing," the work has gone very well in certain respects.
He emphasized that the five nations on the subcommittee—Britain, France, Canada, the United States and Russia—are closer to agreement on a partial disarmament treaty than when the meeting opened in March.

U.S. Revokes Approval for Local Broker

WASHINGTON, July 18 (Special)—The federal government has revoked the registration of a Twin Falls, Idaho, broker, following a U. S. district court decision last November.
The securities and exchange commission last week announced the revocation of Harold L. Nielsen's permit to act as a broker and dealer doing business as the Nielsen Investment company.
Last fall Nielsen was enjoined by a southern Idaho court from continuing his business. He was charged with engaging in the securities business while insolvent with his books and records not current and of selling unregistered securities not exempt from registration under the securities act of 1933.
He also was charged with effecting securities transactions while his aggregate indebtedness to all other persons exceeded 2,000 per centum of his net capital. An injunction was entered against his business at that time.

Flu Strikes

BAHIGAD, Iraq, July 18 (AP)—The Iraqi health ministry reported today that Asiatic flu has hit 28,000 victims in Baghdad. Five hospitals are operating special departments exclusively for handling the disease and all public recreation spots have been closed to half the epidemic.

Back in Business

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—The farmers home loan administration is back in business again in Idaho. Lester Bell, Ada county supervisor, said he has been instructed to continue to make loans, even though funds for the current fiscal year are not yet available.

Reduction of Manpower Is Seen by June

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Informed sources said today the army expects to make a second 50,000-man cut in its strength possibly by next June.

The new cut plus the 50,000-man cut ordered this week would reduce the army to 900,000 men—the same strength as the air force will have at that time.

Draft Cut

The army announced last night that it will trim its monthly draft calls as a result of the first 50,000-man cut. It said it could not say man cut. It said it could not say man cut. It said it could not say man cut.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson Tuesday ordered the armed forces to cut their authorized strength 100,000 men by the end of this year in a move expected to save 300 million dollars. Half the cut comes from the army.

It was considered likely that the army does not yet know the full effects of Wilson's order, although there were assertions that the army's overall combat strength will not be reduced.

Call Issued

The draft call already issued for August is for 11,000 men, 2,000 fewer than the monthly rate from April through July inclusive. Whether the August call will now be reduced was not known.

The army said it will make the required cut of 44,470 enlisted men by an elimination of the least effective personnel currently on duty in the army as determined by aptitude tests as well as a reduction in the draft call.

The Wilson order also required a 5,500 reduction in officer strength. The army said it will separate 2,000 commissioned officers from service but it could not say how they will be selected at this time.

Villagers Flee Ammonia Gas

RED BUD, Ill., July 18 (AP)—Escaping hydrous ammonia fumes from an auxiliary tank forced some 1,500 of the 2,000 residents of Red Bud to flee their homes today.

Mayor Elmer Schuchman, who ordered the evacuation, said several persons were made ill. However, there were no reports of serious injury.

Schuchman said homes painted white would probably turn brown or black within the next few days, depending on their nearness to the leaking tank, located at the Claude Simpson plant.

He also said the fumes, which cling close to the ground, were expected to kill plants and shrubbery.

Spotted

IOWA CITY, Ia., July 18 (AP)—Thomas Pyle of Cedar Rapids couldn't wash his sins away, so now he faces charges of breaking and entering.

A dye had been put on an envelope in a safe burglarized the other day and Pyle was spotted by the police.

Amnesty Is Asked By Woman Bandit

NEW DELHI, India, July 18 (AP)—A former dancing girl turned bandit queen asked Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru today for amnesty for herself and her followers.

The bandit girl, known as Pulli, operates ferocious Dacont gangs in two states of central India and is reported responsible for several murders. The government maintains a special troop unit with exclusive orders to capture her.

She wants to return to civilization and to lead a peaceful life. In her appeal to Nehru, Pulli said that if he refuses to grant amnesty she will have to live and die as a Dacont bandit.

Explorers Still Hunt Northwest Passage

Challenge to find a Northwest waterway passage (map) through the Arctic ice rests with Vice Adm. John M. Will (inset) and 12-mile Bellot strait. Together, they may end a 400-year search which began almost as soon as the North American continent was discovered. (NEA newsmag, photo.)

Marathon Search for Passage Through Arctic May Be Ended

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The United States navy is ready to challenge the secret of the historic Northwest passage this summer.

As a matter of fact, it may be forced to.

Vice Adm. John M. Will believes he has finally found the long-hidden Arctic waterway through which heavy cargo ships can plough from the Pacific to the Atlantic. The navy hopes the commander of its military sea transportation service is right.

Ships supplying our northernmost radar sites since 1955 have needed an escape route in case swiftly moving polar ice packs should block their Pacific exit. This year charts show the heaviest build-up of Arctic ice in history.

Unless conditions change, the ships stand a good chance of getting trapped. That's why a lot of official eyes are focusing with interest on 12-mile-long Bellot strait. This narrow channel divides Somerset Island from Boothia peninsula in north central Canada. Admiral Will has high expectations this is the way out.

Similar hopes have claimed the imaginations and lives of explorers since the 16th century. Passages have been found but none suitable for large ships.

Bellot strait aroused Adm. Will's interest when he learned a small mounted police boat had gone through it several years before.

Ad Agency Gives Up Large Client

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—The advertising agency of Baton, Barrow, Durbin and Osborn, Inc., has given up the account of the Reader's Digest, which it has held for 18 years, because of "an obvious conflict of interest" between it and another client, the American Tobacco company.

The magazine published last month an article which questioned the effectiveness of filter tip cigarettes with an analysis showing how much tar and nicotine was present in the smoke of various brands of cigarettes.

Charles H. Brower, executive vice president and general manager of the agency emphatically denied a report that the tobacco company had ordered the agency to choose between it and the magazine. American Tobacco was estimated to have a 22-million-dollar annual advertising budget as compared to about a million and a quarter budget for the magazine.

Idaho Is Planning Training Program

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—The Idaho state board of vocational education said Wednesday arrangements have been made for a training program intended to provide technicians for major Idaho industries.

The board said training in electronics and drafting will be offered at Idaho State college and courses in drafting will be given at Boise Junior college here and at the North Idaho Junior college in Coeur d'Alene.

Plans for offering the courses were worked out here at a meeting attended by representatives of the three colleges and by spokesmen for a number of major industries in the state.

Graham Will Take Revival To Australia

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham said today he hopes to conduct crusades for Christ in Sydney, Australia, and Birmingham, England, in 1959.

Graham revealed tentative plans for the new crusades as he prepared for the biggest revival meeting of his career, to be held in the 67,000-seat Yankee stadium—Saturday, Vice President Richard M. Nixon confirmed in Washington late yesterday an earlier United Press report he would come to New York to take part in the stadium rally.

Graham said he would "give much prayer" to tentative plans to hold the Australian crusade in March, April and May of 1959. The crusade would have offshoots from Sydney into Melbourne and three other major cities, as well as Auckland, New Zealand.

The projected Birmingham crusade, which would cover the entire "midlands" section of Great Britain, is tentatively planned for September, 1959.

The evangelist preached a sermon on the Apostle Paul (Acts 18:17) before an audience of 18,200—including 700 standees—in Madison Square garden last night. He addressed an additional 3,000 persons who could not be admitted into the huge sports arena in the street outside.

More than 1,074,000 persons have heard Graham's garden sermons. A first count of 724 persons who recorded "decisions for Christ" last night brought the total since the New York crusade began May 15 to 31,866.

"I'm sure that if Paul were recommended to a church today he wouldn't be accepted," Graham said in his sermon. "He wouldn't be the kind of character many churches today want, for he went to jail scores of times to witness for Christ."

"But I agree with the man who said that communism, nazism, and fascism succeeded because they possessed fire and that the church will die unless it is imbued with fire. If only we had men in New York with the passion and fire of Paul, New York could be saved."

Firemen See Need Of Research Fund

PORTLAND, July 18 (AP)—A fund to finance a permanent research committee must be set up immediately by the Pacific Coast Inter-Mountain Association of Fire Chiefs, its president said Wednesday.

Ellensburg, Wash. Chief J. T. Caldwell said such a committee would study fire fighting, its prevention and administration.

"Economics and politics are pushing us into a corner," he told the association's annual convention here. "If you believe in fire service and its survival, you must do something immediately."

The convention, which ends Friday, today paid tribute to 22 of its members who died in the past year.

The Most Rev. Francis J. Liepzig, bishop of Baker in Oregon, said "some of these soldiers of peace died in the actual fulfillment of their duties. Humanly known no death more worthy."

Attending the convention are fire chiefs from eight western states, Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines and Mexico.

'House Rolling' Party in Action

Midnight madness: Here's a "house rolling" party in full swing. It's Shreveport youngsters' way of showing how much they admire the homeowner's daughter.

New Twist Reported for Expression of Affections

SHREVEPORT, June 8 (AP)—Since to learn the villain is the admirer of his teen-age daughter—an admirer apparently neither musician nor whittler.

Although it is not a necessity, a few "for rent," "for sale" and street signs are usually sprinkled about the lawn for comedy.

While some expeditions have been staged by the girls, boys are credited with real mastery of the art by a petite blond high school senior, who should be a good judge since she has been the target of some 20 "house rollings" in three years.

"Boys throw the rolls high in the air," she explains, "just perfect so they'll weave around the trees and bushes, wrapping them up like a Christmas present."

Juvenile officers and most fathers hold that the messy shenanigans are not a form of juvenile delinquency so long as the motive behind it is the expression of friendship and property destruction is omitted.

Teams Shoot

HANSEN, July 18—The red team with 282 points, won the Woodman rifle shoot Tuesday evening at the Woodman hall. The green team scored 286 points.

Robert Perkins was high for men with a score of 56. Lee Hansen was second with 53 and Paul Sloan was third with 51. Mrs. Ruth Wright was high for women with a score of 52. Mrs. Cloe Weech and Mrs. Minerva Smith tied for second with scores of 51 and Mrs. Lerna Galico was third with a score of 48.

Eisenhower Refuses to Allow Questioners to Pin Him Down

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower refused to allow questioners to pin him down at his news conference on precisely what he wants or doesn't want in his administration's civil rights bill—is not only tough. It has been unsuccessful.

He has been asked about that bill at nine of his 17 news conferences this year—the last time was yesterday—and he hasn't been specific.

For example, he was asked yesterday for the benefit of his thinking on enforcement of the 14th amendment, which promises equal protection under the laws, and the 18th, which protects voting rights.

It appeared, when he started out, that he was going to get down to bating, and we will see what comes out. I am very hopeful that a reasonable, acceptable bill will come out.

The statement he issued Tuesday night was the most specific, even though limited, thing he has said in or out of his news conferences. He said he favored trial by jury, without a jury, for disobedience of a court order in a case involving voting rights. And he backed, in general terms, all of the bill's four sections.

But at his news conference, the answer he gave to a question about section No. three angered northern Democrats who are helping his Republicans fight for the bill.

Under that section the attorney general—without request from anyone—could move in through court orders to force public school integration. Eisenhower was asked if he favored this. His first word was "no," and he added not without a request from "local authorities."

But he quickly backed away from that, saying he didn't want to go further than the "little memorandum I published last evening."

Senator Douglas, D., Ill., one of the Northerners fighting for the bill, told the senate after he heard what Eisenhower said: "It's a very embarrassing position if the President pulled the rug out from under us."

But Douglas said he wasn't sure what Eisenhower's position was.

At the very start of his news conference he was asked if he was "aware" that this bill, by linking itself up with a post-Civil war law, would authorize him to call out the troops to back up a court order in civil rights.

"There may be that kind of authority resting somewhere," he replied, "but certainly, I am not seeking any additional authority of that kind."

Shortly afterward the leader of the senate Republicans, Senator Knowland of California, and one of the leaders of the Northern Democrats, Senator Humphrey of Minnesota, proposed in the senate that the pre-Civil war law be abolished.

That use-of-troops tie-up with Eisenhower's civil rights bill has been one of the points the Southern Democrats have hit hardest in their fight against the entire bill.

Rancher Will Not Agree to Forsake Land

OROGUARD, N. M., July 18 (AP)—A tough, bitter old rancher John Prather tightened up his hard but aging muscles today for a new defiance of the U. S. army and for maybe the 100th time said, "I'm not leaving my birthright alive, by damn, government or no."

Periodically threatened with forced removal from the 120-section ranch he carved out of the wilderness with half a century of patient toil under a boiling southwestern sun, Prather repeatedly has made the army back down from a showdown.

Whether the army will make another "strategic retreat" from the newest deadline for his removal—Aug. 1—from its 1,000-square mile McGregor gulch missile range is not clear.

But Prather's attitude, as it always has been in four years of negotiations and court actions concerning government seizure of the best 40 sections of his place, is clear. "An American has got a right to die at home," he says.

Headquarters for his ranch is a rock house barely one and a half miles inside the outer edge of the huge anti-aircraft missile testing ground.

The army has said that a six-mile wide strip around the perimeter is reserved for a safety zone, but that Prather may not remain in his home unless he signs a lease limiting his occupancy to the house and yard.

"That's ridiculous," Prather stormed in a voice still as steady at 82 as it was when he followed a chuck wagon and "little herd of sorry cattle" from Texas to New Mexico in 1883.

The lease offered Prather also specifies his home and hearth would pass to government control upon his death.

"I've spent a lifetime building this place and I've always planned to be buried right here," he said. "Do you think I want a bunch of army people making my home into a beer garden within sight of my grave?"

Crusty and obstinate, Prather nevertheless maintains a keen sense of humor from his home smiling in spite of assertions that "the army had better start realizing we taxpayers have to have land to grow something to feed the damned government parasites."

Prather recalls scraping up earth with a horse-drawn sump to make surface tanks to hold water in an otherwise barren land. Under his direction, 1,000-foot-deep wells have dotted the rolling plains he steadfastly declares is New Mexico's best cattle country.

The only time his voice nears a quaver is when he regards the sweeping vistas south of the Sacramento mountains, sees the scattered bunches of Herefords and Angus "bred up from those sorry cows."

Then he says: "Move out and leave home. If I did, I'd die. I might as well die at home. We'll just have to wait and see if its old age or if the government forces it."

Power Demand Reaches Peak

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—An all-time record for electricity demand upon the Idaho power company's transmission system was set this week, company Vice President R. E. Gale said today.

Gale said the new high in demand was 481,000 kilowatts. He noted that the peak electrical load for July last year was 428,000 kilowatts and attributed much of the increased load to new irrigation pumping.

He said delivery of this week's record load taxed Idaho Power's present generating sources to the limit. Some of the power, he added, included steam-generated electricity from Utah.

Gale said the area would continue to face a "critically tight" power situation until the Brownlee project in Hells canyon could be brought into power production next year.

Ohio Loan Firm Appeal Is Filed

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—An Ohio loan company filed appeals in third district court Wednesday from a state official's denial of applications for small loan branches in five Idaho cities.

State Commissioner of Finance R. D. Spaulding said he had returned applications from City Finance company on grounds "there was a question of whether additional offices were justifiable" in the cities.

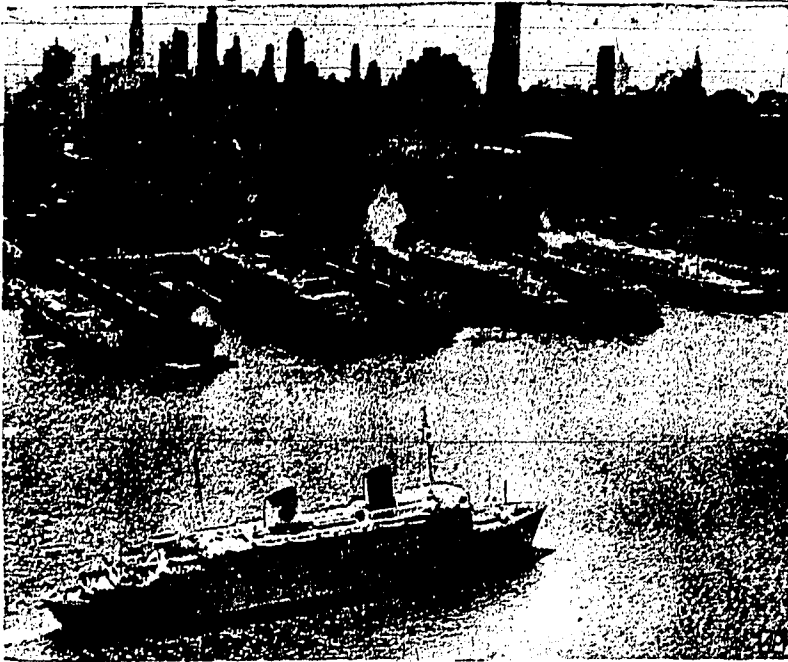

He said the company had asked for offices in Boise, Idaho Falls, Lewiston, Preston and Alameda. Spaulding said he planned to meet with company officials Thursday to discuss the applications. The appeals filed here cited questions of "law and facts" but included no further detail.

The company presently operates offices in Moscow, Nampa, Rupert, and Burley, Spaulding said.

Losing Home

WARWICK, R. I., July 18 (AP)—Floyd Howe of Major Potter Road who told police earlier in the week that a 100-foot section of the wall at his summer home had been stolen, made another call last night to report additional stones were gone.

Southwest, Long Plagued by Drought, Suffers Joyfully From too Much Rain

DALLAS, Tex., July 18 (AP)—The end of one of the longest and most costly droughts in history is written in green across the landscape of the Southwest which now has had too much rain.

The drought was almost as expensive as war, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture John White estimates it cost his state two billion dollars.

Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas and Missouri suffered almost as much. Only eastern New Mexico has not enjoyed the recent rains—two or three times the normal fall.

Now bears no longer terrorize the towns of New Mexico by invading them for food. There is food and water in the mountains again.

The dairy in Dallas that made a fortune last summer by selling water in cartons at 40 cents a gallon now sells only milk.

There is a five-year supply of water in the lakes north of Dallas, in fact, water rationing has almost vanished in the southwest.

But Texas temperatures still range over 100 degrees and there has been no rain in the interior of the state for a month. This is normal for a Texas summer but seems out of character after two and one-half months of cloudbursts and floods.

"More rain is a vital necessity, particularly in the western portion of the state," Commissioner White says.

White agrees with H. L. Jacobson, chief meteorologist of the weather forecasting center at Kansas City, that the Southwest drought is broken. But no one knows whether it will stay broken.

Meanwhile, farmers in Kansas complain that rain is preventing harvest of the first decent wheat crop in years.

And in Oklahoma, farmers say the rain has caused the poorest wheat crop in years. Heavy rains and floods ruined thousands of acres in the spring and continued rain has delayed the harvest.

In Missouri harvest predictions are lower than last year due to soil erosion—reductions and bad weather.

Joseph Berry, Colorado state climatologist, also calls the drought ended "as of now."

"We have no way of knowing," he says, "whether we are entering a long period of wet years or whether a cycle of dry years will return."

Pentagon Has Complex Task In Purchases

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The Pentagon after the smoke of World War II cleared began adding up the number of different kinds of things it buys.

The job took 10 years. It cost 300 million dollars. The answer: 3,128,613.

The house government operations committee disclosed the figure yesterday in a report to the house. And the committee said the number should be reduced.

It said the surface hasn't been scratched when it comes to standardizing military equipment.

For example, the committee feels that inter-service disputes over how long bacon should be smoked are a waste of time. The army and marine corps want their frozen slab bacon smoked 42 hours. The navy says 24 hours is enough.

Then there's also the matter of the height of the heels on the shoes of women members of the service. The navy says heels on Wave shoes ought to be about one inch high. The army wants the Wacs to wear 1½-inch heels.

Atomic Bomb Creates Vacuum

This photo made at the Nevada atomic bomb test site shows a dirt cloud being sucked up by the afterglow of an atomic bomb air burst. Depending on the height of the burst, and the nature of the terrain below, a strong, updraft with winds flowing into the ground below the burst is produced. The cloud consists of small particles of radioactive fission products and bomb residue, water droplets and larger particles of dirt and debris. (NEA telephoto)

Twin Falls Lass Wed to Coulson In Church Rites

The Immanuel Lutheran church was the setting Sunday afternoon for the marriage of Ruth Sylvester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Sylvester, to Roy Coulson, Hazelton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. Coulson, Hazelton.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. E. Mueller, before the altar decorated with arrangements of pink and white gladioli and white candelabras.

Dennis Lindeman sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love," accompanied by Mrs. Lassen, Clover, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace and net over satin. The bodice was designed with a low V neckline scalloped with lace. The full floor-length skirt was paneled in front with lace and the back panel of lace ended in a chapel-length train. Her illusion net veil was attached to a crown of pearls and red roses and white gardenias tied with white satin streamers.

Mary Sylvester, maid of honor for her sister, was gowned in pink lace and wore a band of French illusion tulle with pink feathered carnations in her hair. She carried a crescent bouquet of pink carnations with white satin streamers.

Fae Wenson, Halley, Doris Duen-sing, Denver, and Janice Johnson were bridesmaids. They wore matching dresses of blue lace and bands of French illusion tulle with pink feathered carnations in their hair. They carried crescent bouquets of blue carnations with white streamers.

Lee J. Coulson, Hazelton, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Russell Hammond, and Ronnie Makinson, both Hazelton, were ushers. Jerry Sylvester, brother of the bride and Reid Gardner, lighted the candles. Susan Sylvester, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Marlin Sylvester, brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

The mother of the bride chose a light blue print silk afternoon dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of light blue linen with white accessories. Corsages of both were pink roses and pink carnations.

A reception was held at the Memorial Lutheran school. Crystal vases of sweet peas and baby breath and tapers in crystal holders flanked the five-tiered cake. The cake, decorated with roses and topped by a miniature bride and groom, was placed on a mirror on the lace-covered serving table.

Mrs. Junior Coulson served and Mrs. Erna Duen-sing poured. Barbara Rehwal was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Glenn Baum arranged the gifts.

For a trip to Bryce and Zion canyons the bride chose a blue sheath dress with white accessories. They will make their home in Twin Falls.

Both attended Valley high school. The bride is employed by the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company and the bridegroom is employed by Curt Manufacturing company.

Prior to the wedding Mrs. Keith Bird and Mrs. Stanley Miracle honored the bride with a shower at the home of Mrs. Miracle. A pre-nuptial fete also was given at the home of Janice Johnson by Barbara Rehwal and Miss Johnson.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Reading the newspapers is too often a saddening thing, as time after time the story is told of a fatal shooting by a child too young or too mixed-up in his mind to know what death means. No child, however bright, can understand that. For him a gun is just another toy, and shooting is its function.

I would never give a child a toy gun, much less a real one, for that reason. Our children have been reared to look at shooting as an entertainment. The radio story goes "bang, bang, you're dead." Television pictures the shooting of the villain. The movies hold their own with Westerns. We know that every thought that enters the conscious mind tends to discharge itself in action. Why we put these dangerous toys and weapons in the hands of children is beyond me.

Some say that this killing game is good medicine for little boys, because it allows them to work off their aggressions, their "mads" at people and things. I disagree cordially. There are ways of working off aggressions that are not expressed in acts of violence against people. Children must be taught that there is a limit to their acts and it is reached when their acts hurt others.

This can be taught early in their careers, unless they are mentally defective. That is another story. Perfectly healthy, normal children can be taught to curb their anger and gain control of them if parents will take the trouble to see that they do.

The people who consider hunting good sport are, many of them, inclined to teach their children that sport. That is their privilege and their responsibility. The children who are given toy guns and allowed to play killing games do not have that supervision and instruction and so do not learn the how and the way and the time for a gun. It is this large group that gets into trouble.

My idea of all this, gained by experience with many, many children, is that guns as toys or weapons should not be allowed for young ones at all but should be reserved until they are old enough to comprehend the meaning of "kill" and the meaning of "death." And chronological age is not the standard. Mental age, maturity gained by instruction and experience under supervision, is a better gauge.

It is too late to do anything useful once a child misuses a gun. He is scarcely to blame. The responsible person is the one who gave him the gun.

You should never tease a bashful child. Dr. Patri explains the reason and tells how to guide bashful children in his leaflet "The Bashful Child." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 30, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

House Ballot For Aid Bill Is Postponed

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—A bill to provide for the administration of the death in Chicago of James Bowler, D. Ill., the bill was postponed until at least tomorrow.

Because of the death in Chicago of James Bowler, D. Ill., the bill was postponed until at least tomorrow.

Members of the bill said they believed the delay strengthened their position to prevent further cuts in the billion dollar measure.

The bill was postponed on an appeal by President Eisenhower to stem the slash in the budget that started yesterday.

Before the house would continue the foreign aid bill, it would set ceilings as to appropriations for it.

Separate appropriations bill would be enacted to provide the money. The senate appropriations committee began hearings on a bill today with John B. Hollister, retiring director of the international security administration, as its witness.

Hollister testified behind closed doors but gave newsmen copies of a statement he had prepared for the committee. This repeated the general argument of the administration that as the United States continues as a threat to the United States and its friends overseas "must maintain a common defense, military, economic and political, against a common threat."

Hollister said:

"Inevitably a large share of any reduction must fall upon our staunchest allies least able to maintain the forces deemed necessary, such as Korea, Taiwan, Vietnam, Pakistan and Turkey. It is in these countries that nearly all of the defense support money is spent."

Eisenhower said last night a 400-million-dollar cut the house voted yesterday in his defense support economic aid request "can be considered as no less than a threat to the world's security and that of the free world."

His statement came shortly after the house voted 300-100 to allow 60 million dollars for the program. Eisenhower originally had asked 800 millions. The senate cut the request to 800 millions, and the house foreign affairs committee reduced the figure to 700 millions.

AEC Describes Security Story As 'Ridiculous'

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 18 (AP)—The atomic energy commission today labeled as "ridiculous" a reporter's claim that he had entered the atomic test grounds in Nevada to witness Monday's "Dahlo" shot by showing gag credentials including one card good for a free drink at a Las Vegas bar.

Reporter Pat Michaels, of the Orange County News service and radio station KWIZ in Santa Ana, Calif., yesterday said he got past security guards at Camp Mercury by showing the free drink card, another which certified he was a back seat driver and several personal cards. He said he also was not questioned about a satchel he carried into the area.

Had Been Cleared

Lieut. Col. William R. Hunter, director of the AEC's test information office, said Michaels last week requested to witness the test and his credentials were checked and cleared. Hunter said the reporter's name was placed on a list of authorized news media observers.

"When Michaels arrived at the test site he was issued his badge at my request," Hunter said. "He, together with all other news observers, were under security escort every minute on the test site."

Michaels said today in Santa Ana that he had his "other" credentials, and AEC identification which was issued on the basis of those credentials.

Offers Proof

"If Colonel Hunter wants to see them, he may," Michaels said. "He phoned me yesterday and asked me about them. I told him, and he said, 'that's impossible.' I told him it had happened and that the proof was in the AEC identification which was issued to me not by Colonel Hunter but by the security guard at the site."

Hunter said Michaels was not questioned about his briefcase because all authorized newsmen are permitted to carry items necessary to do their work on news job in the test area.

HANSEN, July 18—The annual Methodist picnic will be held Aug. 11 at Camp Penstemon in the south hills, the board of education decided Tuesday evening at a meeting at the church. The picnic was postponed to Aug. 11 from July 28, to enable Murtaugh members to attend.

Services will be held in the hills following the picnic Sunday school will be held as usual at the church. Mrs. Joe Engel is in charge of preparing coffee. Mrs. W. C. Klutiz the punch and Truman Rathbun will see about getting homemade ice cream.

Beginning in September a new Sunday school superintendent to replace Mrs. Don Dietz and a new primary superintendent to replace Mrs. Hugh Sanderson will be appointed. Chicago Area Flood Called 'Catastrophe'

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—The Chicago flood last week-end has been termed a "catastrophe" by the National Board of Fire underwriters.

The board said yesterday it terms a catastrophe any disaster which causes damage of one million dollars or more. The Cook County Loss Adjustment bureau estimates damage claims from the flood may hit $7,500,000.

Still another menace threatened Chicagoans in the wake of the rain-caused floods.

The Chicago area mosquito abatement district reported the record rainfall produced conditions favorable to the hatching of billions of mosquitoes.

Entomologists said thousands of former dry areas in the county are flooded and swarming with mosquito larvae.

Girl Killed

MILES CITY, Mont., July 18 (AP)—The propeller of an airplane decapitated a 13-year-old farm girl while she helped her father cut hay yesterday.

Sharon Sammons, the victim, had been pulling a hay rake near a tractor driven by her father, Ernest Sammons, on the Miles City airport grounds. A light plane nearby was practicing take-offs. The plane veered off the runway, bowled over a marker-light and then struck the girl.

From Homer it will be on to Anchorage, then Seattle, down the coast to San Francisco and Los Angeles, and finally across the continent to Montreal, where Carlin began his odyssey seven years ago.

Mothers Die; Babies Saved In Accidents

By United Press

Two babies being held in arms by their mothers survived by seeming miracles when death struck the women, one from a lightning bolt in Florida and the other from an automobile in Mississippi.

One child was thrown unhurt upon the top of a car that fatally injured his mother yesterday at New Albany, Miss., and the other child was left unscathed when lightning instantly killed his mother.

Mrs. G. C. Wilhite, 23, of New Albany, Miss., was carrying her six-month-old boy in her arms along a country road when she was struck by the car. She died in a hospital four hours later.

Mrs. Harvey King, 25, of Dade City, Fla., picked up her son Ronald and walked into her yard to inspect an oak tree that had just been struck by lightning two days ago. A second bolt struck the tree, killing Mrs. King.

The child fell to the ground beside the mother's body, without receiving the slightest injury from the bolt.

New 'Whale' Can Swallow Two 'Jonah's'

Navy's New "Whale" Puzzles Fish; Gives Lift to Frogmen

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Although future use is classified, one thing about the underwater apparatus being tested here by the navy electronics laboratory is sure: it certainly has the fish puzzled.

The navy calls the unusual two-man submersible the "expectant whale." Fourteen feet long, it looks like a whale, except for great bumblebee eyes. Pushed by counter-rotating propellers, the baby sub is very maneuverable.

"It can do anything a fish or a plane can do," says John A. Beagles, superintendent of diving at the navy laboratory. "A battery-operated motor drives her at speeds up to five knots, but there are two sets of pedals provided for auxiliary power."

"Two of us can pedal her as fast as a man can swim, but we don't have to resort to foot power, for the batteries will run her for two hours, which is longer than our air supply would last."

The sub's interior is always flooded underwater and its operators wear self-contained air breathing devices. The craft weighs 425 pounds and its weight can be equalized at any depth. It can be moored on the bottom like a surface craft. When submerged, its crew can climb out to stretch their legs.

The sub has crashed a few times in murky water, but, Beagles says, these crashes don't resemble those of an airplane.

"You get shaken up a bit," he explains. "You hit bottom with a sickening thud, but you have to shake the stars out of your eyes and fly away. The sub is easy to operate, but there is an art in flying it. If you are not careful it skids around corners and cracks you like a whip."

"Fish peer into the plexiglass bubbles in the bow that serve as eyes. We're wondering what will happen if we ever see a real whale watching this sub doing flipflops at 20 fathoms."

Built by Aerojet, at Azusa, Calif., the baby sub is constructed of polyester-bonded glass cloth applied in various thicknesses as required for strength.

Not His Money

MUSKOGEE, Mich., July 18 (AP)—Patrolman Robert McLumber listened patiently as a trapped speeder assailed the money of Muskogee taxpayer's money for radar set to fine motorists. Then he asked to see the man's driver's license.

Education Group Names President

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—Hervon Snider of Moscow is the new president of the Unified Education council, announced Dr. John Booth of Boise, UEC executive secretary.

John Brandt of Nampa was chosen vice president of the group, which is made up of representatives from the Idaho Education association, the Idaho Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the Idaho School Trustees association.

Commission Bars Shifts in Service

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—The public utilities commission for the first time under the legislature's new power bill, refused yesterday to permit Washington Water Power Co. to ask for a rate increase to pay for the cost of a new electric power plant.

The PUC noted that the legislature made unlawful the extension of service to any utility or cooperative of persons already receiving service from another public or cooperative utility.

New York was the 14th state to require periodic inspection of vehicles.

BOISE, July 18 (U)—The public utilities commission, for the first time under the legislature's "anti-practice" bill, refused a request to permit Washington Water Power to permission to serve Sweetwater, Idaho, with electric power.

The PUC noted that the legislature made unlawful extension of service by any utility or cooperative of persons already receiving service from another public or cooperative utility.

The Appeals To Halt Slash Of Aid Funds

The House also handed the administration a setback when it refused a permanent authorization for military aid.

But the administration scored an important victory when the House turned down an amendment that would have asked Eisenhower to bar foreign trials of GIs.

The move, by Representative Burleson, D. Tex., was defeated in an unusual 134-134 tie on the teler vote, with congressmen walking down the center aisle to be counted.

A majority vote was needed to make the change in language in the bill.

It would not have had the force of law, but would have added the words that it was "the sense of Congress" that the President revise "stages of forces" agreements to give the U. S. exclusive jurisdiction over U. S. servicemen who commit offenses while on duty overseas.

Those agreements now provide for waiver of U. S. jurisdiction in some cases.

Plea for Halt For Inflation Gets No Heed

Wage changes show increases at least as high as last year. Private surveys of second-quarter wage changes show that wage increases were higher than last year, particularly in the construction industry.

Where wage settlements have generally run at a rate close to 11 cents an hour this year, increases last year were just above the 10-cent level. This may appear rather insignificant, but it gains strength when multiplied by the millions of workers affected and their hours of work.

Construction industry wage increases settlements have run above 15 cents an hour so far this year. In this and other industries, wage increases usually were also accompanied by other benefit changes adding to total labor costs.

Prices likewise are climbing for many items.

Government figures also reveal rising profits. Indicating that 1957 promises to be the highest profits year in history. Figures supplied by Eisenhower's council of economic advisers estimate corporate profits before taxes for the first quarter of 1957 at a $6.7 billion dollar annual rate compared with $4,700,000,000 for the same 1956 quarter.

Pickup Hits Can

BURLEY, July 18—Art C. Berger, 45, Oakley, driving a 1957 International pickup truck north on highway 27 at 12:30 a. m. Wednesday, hit a five gallon oil can and a chunk of concrete in the highway two and three-fourths miles north of Oakley.

Shirley LePage Layton, who investigated, said an automobile apparently had gone off the road at the point some time previously and had ripped out a portion of the picket fence at R. H. Ambler's residence.

He said the concrete can apparently had been thrown onto the highway at that time. Damage to the truck was slight.

Probers Hear Union Chiefs Abused Trust

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—A senate investigation testified today that $57,000 of union funds used toward purchase of luxury homes for two officials of the United Textile Workers was charged off as "organizing expenses."

The investigator, Alphonse Calabrese, told the senate racket committee the money was drawn by UTW President Anthony Valente and Secretary-Treasurer Lloyd Klement and wound up on cash payments on new homes.

Calabrese said $30,000 drawn by Valente was charged off on union records as organizing expenditures in North and South Carolina and Canada.

Actually, Calabrese said the money went toward buying a $42,500 home for Valente.

He said $27,000 drawn by Klement was charged to organizing in New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and the Midwest. But Calabrese said the money went toward a $52,500 home for Klement.

Both Valente and Klement have denied any irregularities.

Boise-Russsets Game Ends in 13-Inning Tie

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—The Idaho Falls Russsets and Boise Braves battled to a 13-inning 4-4 tie in a Pioneer league contest here Wednesday.

But the statistics amassed during the game will still go into the record books, although the game will have to be played from the beginning.

Berserk Pig KO's World's Boxing Champ

MEXICO CITY, July 18 (AP)—NBA world bantamweight champion Raul "Raton" Macias was attacked Tuesday by a pig that went wild but the boxer's doctor said the injuries are not serious.

Dr. Manuel Guardarrama said the popular Mexican's fighting ability should not be impaired. He said Macias has a deep and long bite wound on the inside of his left thigh. These, he said, would heal without any damage to the muscle.

It had been feared at first that Macias might have been more seriously injured in the accident while visiting the ranch of a friend.

The friend presented him a large pig named "Raton" in the fighter's honor.

The pig went wild, and knocked the fighter to the ground. The angered animal bit Raton several times before the young Mexican got to his feet and fled.

He fainted and was unconscious for 15 minutes, during which time friends tried to stem the flow of blood from gashes on his legs and shoulder.

He was rushed to a hospital in Mexico City.

Senators Get By Indians as Stobbs Wins

By The Associated Press

Aided by Roy Sleva's 21st homer and his own two-run double, Washington's hardluck southpaw Chuck Stobbs pitched his second victory in a row over the Cleveland Indians Wednesday night, 11-6.

Stobbs beat the Indians last June 21 to end a 16-game losing streak that ran back into last season. Wednesday night's victory, his third against 13 losses this season, stopped a Cleveland winning string at five straight.

Rookie Bill Fischer put down a ninth inning Baltimore uprising to save a 3-1 victory for the home-standing Chicago White Sox and Bob Keegan. It was the 35-year-old Keegan's 11th straight triumph.

The Kansas City Athletics scored two times in the bottom of the 13th inning to squeak past Boston 4-3 after the Red Sox had gotten one of their own in the top of the frame.

Bob Turley continued his masterful hurling for manager Casey Stengel as he pushed back the Detroit Tigers 5-1 at Briggs stadium. Rookie Jim Bunning was knocked off the mound by the winners.

Tony Trabert Is Just "Also-Ran" As Professional

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—Tony Trabert, practically a national hero when he led the U. S. to victory in the Davis cup in 1954, is just an "also-ran" as a professional but it doesn't bother him a bit.

On the other hand, he said today, he's sorry he ever entered Jack Kramer's Tournament of Champions—the first major pro tennis event in many a year.

"I'm well established in business now," said Trabert, "and I got what I wanted out of pro tennis. When I turned pro, it wasn't so much a matter of what I wanted to do. It was simply that I couldn't turn down $100,000."

Tony's record in the Tournament of Champions now stands at 1-3.

Top Exhibition Match Ends in Tie

Dick Sheppard posted the best round of the match, however, with a 34, Jim had 35; while Babe and Rusty took 36s. Going to the post, the state champion is expected to come from this group. Cards Snap Newcombe Jinx After 6 Years

By The Associated Press

Wally Moon and Del Ennis each bagged homers and drove in two runs Wednesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals regained the National league lead by one percentage point with a 1-3 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers, junking a four-game losing string and Don Newcombe's six-year jinx.

The Cardinals, who had lost 12 in a row to Newcombe since Aug. 23, 1951, got to the big right hander for four runs that bagged it in the fourth inning.

The Milwaukee Braves erupted for five runs in the seventh inning and routed the Philadelphia Phillies out of last place, with a 10-1 victory in a club-by-club game at Connie Mack stadium.

The crowd of 24,596 was barely in its seats when a first inning argument, punctuated by a barrage of beer cans from the stands, delayed action 18 minutes and prompted the Phillies to play the game under protest.

Robin Roberts, Philadelphia starting pitcher, was ejected and had to be restrained from charging umpire Jack Conlan.

George Crowe, big Cincinnati first baseman, hammered homers in his first two times at bat to drive in four runs and lead the Redlegs to a 5-4 victory over the New York Giants at the Polo grounds.

The cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs fumbled for two runs in the seventh inning Wednesday night to beat the seventh-place Pirates 4-3 at Pittsburgh.

Vejar Drops Bout To Joe Giardello

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 18 (AP)—Joe Giardello, the nation's third ranking middleweight, won a unanimous decision over Chico Vejar in their 10-round, nationally televised fight at the Fairgrounds coliseum Wednesday night.

Vejar, a 1-4 under dog, was unmarked at the finish but Giardello was bleeding profusely from a cut over his right eye opened in the fifth round.

Giardello, a rugged Brooklyn boy with a darning left hook, kept Vejar a part-time actor from Stamford, Conn.—off balance during the last four rounds.

Oil Hodges of the Brooklyn Dodgers hit only 270 in class B with Newport News, Va., in 1946 yet made the majors the following season.

Three Jack runs came in the fifth when Hintze and Greco singled and Floyd Hiney, attempting to bunt, forced Hintze. Wayne Tucker singled and Chuck Weatherspoon's single carried home Greco and Hiney. McKen's sacrifice fly brought home Tucker. Mustans.

The Jacks scored their final run in the seventh on Ben Siquier's fifth, when they tallied their five-run single, a hit by McKen and Elmer, and two Billings' errors.

Hoad, Sedgman Get Easy Tennis Wins

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—Lew Hoad and Frank Sedgman, the young and old of Australian professional tennis, swept to easy victories Wednesday in Jack Kramer's Tournament of Champions.

Hoad, playing his second match as a pro since signing for $125,000 for the next two years, crushed Pancho Segura, 6-1, 7-5, 6-2. Sedgman, Aussie Davis Cup ace of a half dozen years ago, dumped Tony Trabert, 2-6, 6-3, 8-6, 6-3, while a crowd of about 2,000 watched in the West Side tennis club.

Hoad now has played two matches and hasn't lost a set as a pro. Along with champion Pancho Segura, he is undefeated in the tournament. Gonzales didn't play singles Wednesday but he and Hoad meet Sunday.

Both of Carmel's blows were solo shots coming in the one-run fourth and the two-run eighth inning.

McNeil shared honors with Carmel when he hit a solo homer in the two-run fifth inning for the sacrifice fly brought home Tucker. Mustans.

Pocatello had one big inning, the seventh on Ben Siquier's fifth, when they tallied their five-run single, a hit by McKen and Elmer, and two Billings' errors.

FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY

Ties... that seems to be the key of the state amateur tournament following the first round action on Wednesday. While city pros have met and, more for a better interest.

But it started out with Jim Hiskey posting a stellar 32 at Blue Lakes Wednesday afternoon to overtake his brother, Babe, who was sitting in the clubhouse with the medal almost in hand. Ed Harper also made a pass for the award but failed only one stroke.

With that behind them, tournament committee found themselves with several that were facing up the flight pairings. Those easily overcome, but a third tie appeared.

The Twin Falls municipal Blue Lakes Country team tied at 290 for the team championship and the Sonny Hiskey Memorial trophy.

Then another tie came on, but tournament committee didn't care because it was only an extra shot. Dick and Rusty Sheppard played the Hiskey boys in a best exhibition match and it, of course, ended even Steven.

The boys, the oldest being 22, the youngest 18, followed a course by about 175 persons and other 75 late comers congregated around the green on the ninth hole. They were treated to some fine play highlighted by Jim Hiskey's delayed action putt that dropped the hole after it seemed to stop the tip of the cup.

Playing in that exhibition match was a pleasure for Jim Hiskey, who noted during the round that there was no pressure. "You miss or you don't miss and you don't care because it doesn't count," the crew chief Pocatello man said.

Then he went on to prove his point by missing two close putts on No. 7 and No. 8. He still came in with a one under par 38, though.

Among the other interesting side lights in the tournament is the three generation entry from Pocatello, Wash. The three men, from grand father through grandson are Jim Byron and Larry Constock. Larry, the youngest, was beaten out of championship flight spot in a sudden death play-off. His dad's grandfather are in the sixth hole.

Bill on the golf subject, had thousand miles away, Ernie Schneider, Jr., Blue Lakes pro, won the round in the Professional Golfers association tournament at Dayton, O.

He did it pretty easily too, taking off Bob Kivlin, Jr., of Brooklyn, Wis., 5 and 4.

Before he left, Schneider said he had no thoughts of winning a meet but only taking the first in rounds. "These would make him eligible for any of the PGA sponsored matches on the winter circuit."

Wednesday he accomplished his goal.

Racer Claims Salt Beds Not Fit for Speed

SALT LAKE CITY, July 18 (AP)—England's Capt. George E. T. Eyston says he has inspected the Bonneville salt beds near here and found them unfit for any type of driving. The Englishman, who has been racing and trying for records since 1912, is in Salt Lake City to supervise a record try in the international class F. The present record is 204.2 miles per hour. At 62, Eyston will not be driving himself. His crew and car will arrive about Aug. 1 and the record attempts will be started about two weeks later. Eyston said the salt flats are wet and soggy. He came here early to prepare the 10-mile course for high-speed travel. In 1938 the captain set the land speed record of 357.5 miles per hour in a huge 24-cylinder, 6 1/2 ton Thunderbolt auto. But the late John Cobb topped Eyston's mark in his Ralston at 394.2 miles per hour. His crew will be driving a tiny—by comparison—MG midjet sports car in the class F speed trials. The midjet-racer has been dubbed the Teardrop because of its design. Eyston hopes the midjet car will do 240 miles per hour on the course. The vehicle is a four-cylinder, rear-engine model about 15 feet long and weighing 1,700 pounds.

Tebbetts Apologizes to Pitchers For Remarks About Discrimination

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Birdie Tebbetts, volatile manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, apologized Wednesday to every pitcher in the National league for having charged earlier that they were deliberately throwing at Frank Robinson, his star left fielder, "because he is a Negro." Robinson, rookie-of-the-year last season, was hit in the left temple by a ball thrown by Ruben Gomez, Puerto Rican tightender of the New York Giants Tuesday night. Birdie, angered by a series of injuries to his key players, said after the game: "There is no question in my mind that they throw at Robinson because he's colored and he is at a disadvantage because he can't fight back. 'You don't see Stan Musial, Duke Snyder or Ted Kluszewski going down like this kid does. And they're good hitters, too. I'm just tired of seeing this kid on the ground all the time. This is the third time this year he's been hit on the head. I know this will cause a fuss good hitter.'"

Tebbetts said the first thing he did this morning was to telephone Gles in Cincinnati and explain the situation. "I want to make it plain that I called him, that he didn't call me," Tebbetts said. "I told him very definitely that I was not misquoted, that I had said all these things but that I realized now I was wrong."

Commission Sets Upland Game Bird Seasons for Fall

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—The Idaho fish and game commission set upland game bird hunting seasons Wednesday, reducing the area in which sage grouse may be shot. Minor changes also were made in seasons for some other birds. Shooting of sage grouse will be legal this year in only five counties—Ada, Blaine, Clark, Elmore and Washington—and in portions of others. The latter include the portions of Fremont, Madison, Jefferson, Bonneville, Bingham and Power counties lying west of the North fork of the Snake river and north and west of the main Snake river.

The season will run only from noon on Sept. 21 through Sept. 22. The bag limit will be two birds.

Seasons on all upland game birds will begin at noon on the date specified, the commission said. There will be no open season on sharp-tailed grouse or hen pheasants.

Slight changes were made in seasons for pheasants and partridge. The new seasons include these:

Chinese, Mongolian and mutant pheasants—bag and possession limit, three cocks; Bonneville, Bonner, Boundary, Kootenai and Shoshone counties, Oct. 19-Nov. 17, inclusive; Ada, Adams, Blaine, Boise, Canyon, Cassia, Clearwater, Elmore, Gem, Gooding, Idaho, Jerome, Latah, Lewis, Lincoln, Minidoka, Nez Perce, Owyhee, Payette, Twin Falls, Valley and Washington counties, Oct. 26-Nov. 24; Bannock, Bingham, Bonneville, Butte, Caribou, Custer, Franklin, Fremont, Jefferson, Lemhi, Madison, Oneida and Power counties, Oct. 26-Nov. 17.

No Termites, No Railroad; He Contends

MUSKEGON, Mich., July 18 (AP)—Dallas Varney has won his battle with termites and the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad.

The battle began when termites infesting rotting railroad ties on an abandoned siding threatened to invade Varney's new home.

Varney tried to find the owner of the tracks but couldn't and finally ripped out the 185 feet of rails. Then the Chesapeake and Ohio handed him a bill for $72.

When he failed to pay he was arrested for grand larceny.

Circuit Judge Henry L. Beers directed a jury to return a verdict of innocent after Varney's attorneys contended the track had not been used since 1929 and a house currently stands in its path.

"I have no facts to dispute the defense claims," Beers said.

And the termites?

"I haven't been bothered with them since I got rid of the old railroad bed," Varney said.

New Breed of Birdman Takes Over in Air Force Pilot's Seat

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A new breed of birdman is taking over the pilot's seat for the U. S. air force.

The nomination of Gen. Thomas D. White to be air force chief of staff, succeeding Gen. Nathan Twining who moved up to be chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, marks a sharp switch in type from hero to intellectual.

That's not to say that Twining lacks brains or White lacks a combat record. Twining is a brilliant officer and White has a chestful of combat ribbons.

White just happens to be the first of a new line of "bright boy" air force officers who have quietly moved into key air force jobs on records of brilliant staff work and imaginative long-range planning.

General White looks as much like a New York banker or diplomat as he does a general. And his personality is more a cross between a college professor and diplomat than that of a general.

He is tall, lean, distinguished looking, a meticulous dresser and speaks in a subdued, cultured voice. He has had numerous diplomatic jobs for the air force including long stints in Moscow, China and South America. In the process he mastered eight languages.

Fish are White's main hobby. He's an internationally-known ichthyologist. His wife, Constance, is just as interested in fish as he is. She is the daughter of a British general.

The chance to practice his foreign languages and dialects is about the only real pleasure the Whites get from the busy social life they are forced to maintain. He drinks very little, is not especially gregarious and would prefer to be home puttingling with his fish, listening to classical music and reading.

Son of an Episcopal bishop, White won an appointment to West Point when he was 16 and plunged into a military career with his considerable intellectual zeal, which now finds him reaching the top at age 55. In the process, especially during the past 10 years, his influence in shaping the future of the air force has been enormous.

He has directed the effort to focus attention on the rapid advance of Soviet airpower. He has masterminded the Pentagon in-fighting which finds the air force top dog in the missile field. When the going gets tough in congress for appropriations he is the one who takes over.

The dispersion of air force bases all over the world, the No. 1 fear of the Russians, is a program largely dreamed up and guided by White. He has an honest distaste for personal publicity. In his new job as air force boss he'll be unable to dodge the spotlight, however.

Monarchy Set To Come Back In Two Areas

By United Press

The ancient institution of monarchy may be headed toward a comeback in both Spain and Portugal. In Spain, Generalissimo Francisco Franco has finally made official his intention to put a Bourbon king on the throne when he either retires from office or dies.

In Portugal, Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar has caused considerable speculation by saying in a recent speech that the day might come when the monarchist solution might be the best.

The situation in both Spain and Portugal is a reminder that there still are a number of kings and queens in the world in this republic.

It also is a reminder that a lot of people believe that some countries which now are republics, in addition to Spain and Portugal, might be better off if they were ruled by constitutional monarchs.

Both Franco and Salazar are "strong men." Franco has been head of Spain, as chief of state, since the Spanish civil war of the 1930's. Salazar has been premier of Portugal since 1932.

Both men are virtual dictators. And both are getting old. Franco is 64. Salazar is 66.

No Successors

Neither man has built up a successor who might replace him and ensure his country a smooth turnover of power.

It has long been pretty certain that Franco planned to restore the monarchy in his country. In fact, as early as 1947, Franco promulgated a law which declared Spain to be a monarchy and empowered him to name a king.

But Franco has never planned himself down as specifically as he did Monday, when Luis Carrero Blanco, cabinet minister in charge of his office, told parliament:

"When the generalissimo is not with us, the destinies of Spain will be directed by a monarchy."

It is generally taken for granted that Franco's candidate for the throne is 19-year-old Prince Juan Carlos. Juan Carlos is the son of Don Juan, the actual heir to the throne as the son of the late King Alfonso XIII. Alfonso was overthrown in 1931.

In Portugal, 49-year-old Dom Duarte Nuno is the candidate for the throne if the monarchy is restored. He is a kinsman, in the Braganza family, of the late King Manuel, who was overthrown in 1910.

Divorce Granted In District Court

A divorce was granted by District Judge Hugh A. Baker Wednesday in Twin Falls to Mrs. Rachel E. Clayton against Officer James Clayton on grounds of extreme cruelty.

An immediate property settlement agreement was approved by the court in which she was awarded certain real property in Twin Falls county, all household furnishings, one-half proceeds of the sale of all crops on hand from the previous year, one-half of the proceeds from the sale of farm equipment and machinery, a 1956 Buick, one-half of all money on hand, one-half of the proceeds from the sale of a cafe in Buhl and one-half of all other property not mentioned specifically.

She was also awarded custody of their one minor daughter. He is to pay $75 monthly support for the child until she is 18 years of age.

Mrs. Clayton was represented by John C. Hepworth, Buhl, and the defending husband by Rayborn and Rayborn, Twin Falls lawyers.

Three Debt Cases Are Filed in T. F.

The Magic Valley Credit bureau filed three separate indebtedness suits in Twin Falls probate court Wednesday.

A complaint filed against Fred Blazberry is for the balance due on a promissory note made to the bureau, totaling $134.24, plus interest and attorney fees.

Paul Wolf is alleged to be indebted to the Curtis Chevrolet company, Buhl, for $162.06 and interest. A total of $339.44 claimed to be due on a promissory note to the bureau is sought in a complaint against Vern O. Wildmer.

The bureau is represented by William H. Baker, Twin Falls attorney.

Minor Accidents Reported in T. F.

Two minor accidents were reported to Twin Falls police Wednesday afternoon.

An accident at Fourth avenue east and Second street east involved a 1953 Ford driven by Marie M. Cutler, 16, 739 Juniper street, and a 1949 Chevrolet driven by Gary M. Nemnich, 18, 346 Blue Lakes boulevard. The Ford was damaged on the left front fender and the Chevrolet received slight damage.

Mrs. Esther Card, 282 Monroe street, reported to police that while she was parked in Albertson's parking lot, a car driven by Mrs. Bill Colfield backed into the side of Mrs. Card's 1955 Chevrolet, damaging the left front fender.

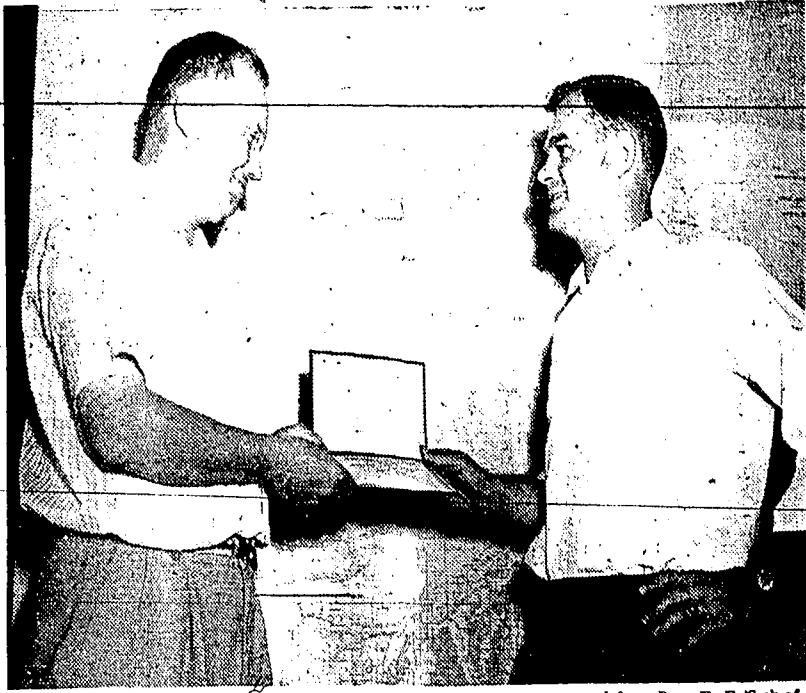

Probate Petitioned

A petition to probate the will of Mrs. Ella M. Bailey, who died July 4, in Twin Falls county, was filed in Twin Falls probate court Wednesday by her son, Robert E. Bailey, Boise.

The estate consists of personal property valued at $5,000. Mrs. Bailey left a will in a safety deposit box at the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company. This will named the petitioner as executor who in turn named Edward H. Heap as administrator.

The only heir listed in the petition is the son who is represented by Heap and Heap, Twin Falls attorneys.

Gooding Student Receives Award

John V. Elsinger, right, Gooding, receives the J. R. Simplot company award from Dean E. F. Cook of the University of Idaho college of mines as the student showing the greatest promise and achievement. The award consists of $100 and a certificate. (University press service photo—staff engraving)

Gooding Student Named First Winner of Mine School Award

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, July 15—John V. Elsinger, Gooding, a junior in geology at the University of Idaho college of mines, has been named as the first winner of the J. R. Simplot award as the student showing the greatest promise and achievement in the field, Dean E. F. Cook, college of mines, announced today.

The award, consisting of a stipend and a certificate, is the major prestige award in the college of mines.

Papers Filed for Estate of Woman

A petition of letters of administration in the estate of Mrs. Margaret Cunningham was filed Wednesday in probate court by George F. Baxter.

Mrs. Cunningham died July 6. Her estate consists of real and personal property not exceeding $7,000, according to the petition.

Heirs are Ethel Nichols and Doyle Bolton, both of Carthage, Ill., listed as nieces in the petition.

Judge Everett M. Sweeley set a hearing for 2 p.m. Aug. 1.

Switch of Power Firms Is Denied

BOISE, July 18 (AP) — A north Idaho community was denied authority to switch power companies in a decision Wednesday by the Idaho public utilities commission. The ruling said a law passed by the 1937 legislature prohibits granting authorization to Washington Water Power company to extend its lines and service to the community of Sweetwater.

served by the Clearwater Valley Power company, a rural electrification administration corporation. Residents of Clearwater had petitioned for service from the private utility last May 18, the commission said. The PUC dismissed the petition, saying the new law makes it illegal "for any public utility or cooperative to extend or render service directly or indirectly to anyone already receiving service."

Good Bargain Can Be Found In Tasty Cuts

By The Associated Press
Bargains in beef are scarce this week, but budget-minded housewives can still find good buys elsewhere in the meat department.

Here are a few for the coming week-end: Skinless frankfurters for the outdoor barbecue, chickens for trying or broiling, smoked picnic hams, roasting turkeys.

Some supermarket chains are featuring lamb shoulder chops among their week-end specials and a few have posted lower prices for roast leg of lamb.

Beef Is High
About the only good buy to be had in beef is boneless chuck pot roast. The choicer cuts, including the roasts and sirloin, range from four to 12 cents a pound higher in many of the larger cities. Choice beef on the hoof brings about $26.50 a hundred pounds in Chicago, $4 more than a year ago, and it's likely to go higher still.

"Wholesale beef prices are inching up steadily," observes a meat specialist for a nationwide chain of supermarkets. "It's getting rougher." While prices of a pound in some are up a few cents, still reasonable rates, the birds are still reasonable enough to be listed as good buys.

Egg Prices Rise
Egg prices are going up by leaps and bounds, however. One reason for the increase: Most of the eggs sold in grocery stores and supermarkets today are of top quality, and it is these high grade eggs that are most seriously affected by hot weather. Besides discouraging the hens, heat causes eggs to deteriorate faster.

A consoling thought: Specialists say retail egg prices have just about hit the top. They may stay where they are for a while or go down a bit—but they won't go any higher.

Budget items on the produce counter include bunched radishes, scallions, white turnips, cut or bunched beets, and potatoes.

Long white potatoes from California are classed as excellent buys, along with celery, cabbage, green or yellow squash, and tomatoes.

Best buys in the fruit department include grapefruit, lime and berries.

The Spanish village of Lila is located in France. A private road connects it with its mother country.

Cardinal Mindszenty Staying At U. S. Embassy Indefinitely

VIENNA (NEA)—Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, primate of Hungary who was imprisoned by the communists for over six years, will probably remain in the U. S. legation in Budapest for an indefinite period of time.

His eminence sought sanctuary under the U. S. flag after he was freed by the revolting Hungarian students and factory workers last November.

There has been some pressure to get Cardinal Mindszenty out into the free world, but no official moves have been made in that direction.

It has been pointed out that a hero's welcome would be given the cardinal if he were to reach Vienna and go from there to Rome or to America. But there is some risk that after this tribute the cardinal's case might be forgotten.

Cardinal Mindszenty is said to appreciate that as long as he remains in Hungary, even as a volunteer resident in the seclusion of the American legation, he has the role of something of a martyr to the Hungarian people.

It is recognized that communist forces might try to seize Cardinal Mindszenty and imprison him again. This would be a violation of all rights of diplomatic immunity and it would create a serious international incident. But the recent arrests of people visiting the American embassy on personal business is seen as a test of the American attitude.

Cardinal Mindszenty himself has had only two callers since he has been in the American legation. These were visits from his mother at Christmas time and a priest to hear his annual confession. The cardinal was allowed these same two visits when he was a prisoner of the communists.

Bridge Closed by Swarms of Flies

LA CROSSE, Wis. July 18 (AP)—Swarms of flies caused the temporary closing of a bridge across the Mississippi river. Attracted by the bridge lights, the flies landed on the roadway, resulting in slippery conditions.

Three cars and a truck were involved in an accident on the bridge. Traffic was halted for an hour and a half until the surface could be sanded.

Looking Back, Writer Enjoys Mysterious Mail of Boyhood

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (P)—One of the great delights of growing up when the world was young—I keep telling myself, now that the world is old—was getting secret mail.

Every adult is sure in his heart when young that he did something no one else ever did before or since.

One of the things I am sure of in my heart is that, as a child, I must have been responsible for the fact the U. S. postoffice ran so deeply in debt to the public. Certainly it complains to this day that the stamps it sells don't buy 17 out of the red ink.

Looking back now, I find it hard to figure out why I went overboard for secret mail. I think that basically, as one of the minor citizens in a seven-member family in a one-bathroom indoors house, I was reaching for some kind of privacy.

If so, I never got it. My private mail got to be pretty public in our neighborhood. The mere size of it was hard to hide on a street where a postcard from out of town signed by a stranger would stir more lives than the influenza.

Since nobody had ever written to me in my lifetime, I decided to write to them first.

The magazines of that day—as some still are to this day—were full of advertisements which invited correspondence. Once I started answering these invitations I hardly knew where to quit.

Hal Boyle

Opportunity didn't seem to knock at one's door. It merely awaited the lack of a two-cent stamp.

I began by deciding I wanted to be a ventriloquist. My mind was made up by seeing an ad which showed a man carrying a heavy box on his shoulder, and a muffled voice supposedly from the box startled bystanders by calling:

"Let me out!"

Naturally the voice came from a ventriloquist on the sidelines, just having fun. The idea of being able to do this appealed to me (then it still does), and I spent at least 12 cents in stamps investigating the mail. The cost came to more than I could afford at the time, but even now when I pass someone carrying a trunk I always halt and murmur, "Let me out!" Fortunately, no one pays any attention.

Other intentions I explored by mail were how to build yourself from a skinny joke at the beach into a muscled man who could whip any bully, how to become an electrical engineer in 12 easy shocks, how to grow chinillas for profit in the easy summer months and how to make quick money by selling Christmas cards to the neighbors just before Easter.

Those were the magic days of enchantment, however, to a small eager boy anxious for learning. All that I ever know (or even suspect) I owe to the U. S. postal service. I still regard every stamp I invested was a worthwhile investment. Never since has the world seemed quite so glamorous.

This whole golden age of youth collapsed when my mother intercepted the reply to an ad on how any girl can develop bigger busts in the privacy of her own home. I tore up that letter, and to this day I wonder what it said.

80 Passengers Shaken up as Crash Avoided

EL PASO, Tex., July 18 (AP)—A passenger on an American Airlines DC-6 plane today howled and panicked as the plane descended sharply from a 14,000-foot altitude, hurtling all 80 persons aboard from their seats.

These Bibbs, supervisor of the Fresno, Calif., county hospital, said from his hospital bed that he helped to calm the frightened passengers who were wandering in the plane's aisle and gave first aid to an injured woman.

Capt. Ed Bachner, a pilot with American for 15 years, said he veered right when he saw a green light ahead, presuming it was the runway of another aircraft.

The incident occurred on a New York to Los Angeles flight. Bibbs and Mrs. Mena Katz of Los Angeles suffered neck dislocations and other injuries were treated for minor injuries. The plane made an unscheduled stop at El Paso so that Bibbs and Mrs. Katz could be hospitalized.

"None of us had our safety belts buckled," Bibbs said. "We were all thrown from our seats. At the end of the dive, the plane turned again and threw me back in my seat."

"The passengers had been pretty well shaken up by the incident and everyone kind of panicked and was wandering around in the aisle," Bibbs said.

"I thank God we had a good pilot and we are still alive," Mrs. Katz said.

Bibbs said he was hurtled from his seat when the plane veered and tossed back when the plane descended.

Bachner said he was forced to make the sharp change in course to avoid hitting what he thought was another plane about 3 a.m. MST between checkpoints of the Salt Lake and Waco towers.

After getting the plane back on course, Bachner went back into the cabin to see whether any passengers were injured. When he noted the condition of Bibbs and Mrs. Katz, he decided to land at El Paso. X-rays showed no fractures had been sustained by Bibbs and Mrs. Katz.

The other 78 passengers got back on the plane and continued to Los Angeles. In addition, five crewmen were aboard.

Stand Reaffirmed. By British Labor

LONDON, July 18 (AP)—British labor party leaders reaffirmed Wednesday their belief in government ownership of industry, but committed themselves specifically only to renationalization of the steel and trucking industries.

They came up with a formula subject to many interpretations. Under it the party reserves "the right to extend public ownership in any industry or part of industry which, after thorough inquiry, is found to be seriously failing the nation."

The leaders clearly want to avoid a factional fight on nationalization at the party's annual Congress in Brighton from Sept. 30 to Oct. 4.

For this is a subject which has torn the party for years. Labor moderates have cooled to the idea that government ownership provides a certain road to vast social improvements. The left wing, on the other hand, regards nationalization as the party's central purpose.

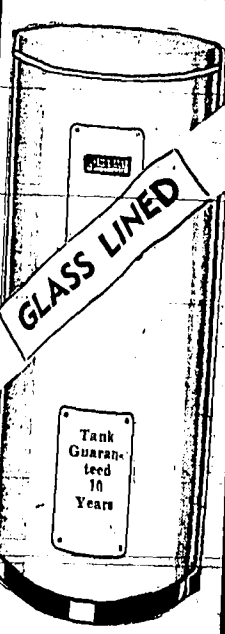

Permit Granted

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—The Idaho public utilities commission granted Francis A. Garron, Coeur d'Alene, a permit Wednesday to haul sand and gravel and heavy machinery within 100 miles of the north Idaho city. Garron does business as Luke's Transfer and Storage.

The green-eyed, long-haired Miss Gage drew cheers from the audience at the Long Beach municipal auditorium when she accepted the title.

Miss Gage's rise from part-time model in Baltimore is a 'true story' of American enterprise. She and her cousin Barbara Gage, took the two-way plane ticket Leona received as Miss Maryland and converted it into two one-way tickets, figuring to work their way back home if she lost.

Performer Says New Circus Modern, But He's Not Sure He'll Be Liking It

NEW YORK (NEA)—It was a little difficult to understand what Trevor Bale was saying because he kept wiping at the grease paint around his mouth with a large, dirty cloth. Finally, the words came through:

"I'll say this for the new circus: It's modern. Very modern."

He wasn't so sure he was going to like it, but don't get him wrong because it might be very good after all. Along with 1,500 men, women and children of Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus, Bale has been forced into a new way of life.

Gone is the dawn frenzy to set up the big top with its 10,000 seats because the big top is no more. Gone, too, are the chuck wagons, circus trains and acres of steel and cable.

For animal trainer and bicycle daredevil Bale, this season's tour will be accomplished by bus—his own bus. It is a 35-foot Greyhound equipped with beds for himself, his wife and four children. There is a complete kitchen aboard and a complete bathroom with hot and cold water. There also is air conditioning.

The bus-and-home cost, Bale $6,000, which is more than most circus performers can afford. Many of them will make this year's trip by car or train or bus and live in hotels or motels or tourist homes. Some of the circus families have invested in trailers.

It is different from the past 86 years when the circus took to the road from Sarasota, Fla., in 80 cars rebuilt to dormitory specifications. It is different from yesterday's circus when cooks would set up mobile kitchens and begin the day's meals while roustabouts hauled up the big top.

But it is also a different circus from yesterday. And anybody who can remember watching the greatest show on earth burgeon before his eyes became an oldtimer. This year's circus has cut its itinerary by more than two-thirds. It will play only 40 stops—and those are restricted to cities with large arenas.

"We are no longer," according to General Manager Arthur M. Concello, "in the restaurant, hotel, construction or railroad business. We are only in the entertainment business."

He has figures to prove why. To feed the troupe in a single day required a shopping list that included 2,000 pounds of meat, 1,200 loaves of bread, 25 bushels of potatoes, 2,800 eggs, 80 pounds of butter, 1,000 quarts of milk, 80 pounds of coffee.

Animal Trainer Trevor Bale: "It's very modern."

cost the circus $100,000 each year. "And the business of railroad travel," according to Harry Dubois, business manager, "is out of this world. There are no set rates for the circus. It all depends on what kind of a deal you can get."

For example, railroad costs were $155,000 in 1942. Last year the same number of cars going the same numbers of miles cost $800,000.

For the circus management, the change has meant a cut in costs and new engineering. Rigging to carry aerial acts and props has been redesigned to go aloft in modern coils.

Power Firm Hits Peak for Demand

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—Idaho Power company said Wednesday an all-time peak of electric demand was reached early this week, with customers drawing 481,000 kilowatts.

That compared with the previous peak of 428,000 kilowatts set in July last year. The summertime peak results primarily from the use of electricity for irrigation pumping, the company said.

"Delivering this amount of electricity taxes the company's generating resources to the limit, including the use of available steam power from Utah," R. E. Gale, Idaho Power vice president, said.

He added that the area will continue to face a "critically tight" power situation until completion of the Brownlie project on the Snake river, expected next year.

Neighbors to Seek Answer On River Use

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—The solution of how to divide use of Columbia river water between the United States and Canada probably will be "slow and frustrating," a member of the international joint commission said here.

Len Jordan, former Idaho governor and a member of the American section, said the water distribution problem is the biggest job confronting the commission. The panel was formed to recommend solution of boundary disputes between Canada and the U. S., particularly those involving water.

Bureau Meet
Jordan said the commission conferred last week in Portland with representatives of the corps of engineers, federal power commission and the Bonneville power administration on a 1949 report by the engineers.

Next year a similar report is expected from Canada on Columbia resources on its side of the river. About 70 per cent of the Columbia is in Canada.

Jordan said the IJC is concerned particularly with hurrying an agreement on construction of the Libby dam on the Kootenai river.

Dam Needed
"It is important to our north Idaho people that Libby be built," said Jordan, "because the river has flooded almost yearly in the Bonanza Ferry area."

Construction of the Libby dam, whose reservoir would extend into Canada, has been held up for lack of an agreement. The IJC applied in 1954 for construction of the project but Canada postponed action pending completion of its own investigation, Jordan said.

The former governor said he and the two other members of the commission's American section had spent two days viewing all the dams and dam sites on the Columbia's main stem in the United States, beginning with Grand Coulee. He and his wife are stopping here for a couple of days.

Jordan served as governor from 1951-55. He was succeeded by Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

The farthest north Lafayette traveled in the United States was to Portland, Maine.

Hospital's Chief Wants No Sirens

DENVER, July 18 (AP)—The manager of Denver hospitals wants sirens taken off the city's ambulances, which make an average of 10,000 runs a year.

"Nobody has shown me a case in which a life has been saved because of a siren," Dr. Lloyd Florio told a safety meeting.

Police Chief Walter Johnson recommended the sirens be kept because "people feel they are being cared for more efficiently."

No conclusion was reached at the meeting.

Force Cut Urged For South Korea

SEOUL, July 18 (AP)—The independent Korean newspaper Hankook Ilbo reported Wednesday that the United States has proposed South Korea reduce its 700,000-man armed force.

The U. S. embassy refused to comment on the report. Ambassador Walter Dowling, attending conferences in Tokyo, would say only "I have made no statement on this subject."

ABERDEEN, South Africa, July 18 (AP)—Eighteen lions and a hearse went abegging for a buyer today.

The largest zoo in South Africa sold at auction bears, hyenas and pumas, but the lions and the hearse brought no bids. The hearse belonged to the zoo's late founder, an undertaker on the side.

Mac Knows About Romance After Searching for Recipes

NEW YORK, N. Y.—I hope the Russians get around to claiming that they discovered love, marriage, and sex.

It will be so easy to prove them wrong.

Nearly everyone who reads knows these three items were discovered by American magazines, notably the ladies' ones.

In them you'll find more articles on love, marriage, and sex than you will on cooking and dressmaking, the subjects which once dominated their pages.

You may not find any information on how to save an apple pie that collapses during cooking, but you're sure to find a cure for a marriage whose meringue has fallen.

Mac neither one of us ever ran off with one of these up-to-the-minute highly skilled, love technicians.

I was so upset from what I read while looking for the recipe that I could hardly eat a bite, delicious as it was. Mary looked beautiful and seemed radiantly happy, but I felt she couldn't possibly be. Why we never had a date and figured out how to make our marriage work, with her submitting her compromises and I submitting mine!

When we had sputs, Mary had never had the benefit of a marriage counselor, and I had never asked to see papers proving she had studied the problems of love and marriage. Neither had I demanded to know if she fully realized the horrors that could result from the marriage of a man and a girl, and if she were willing to take the awful risk by saying "I do."

"Think of all the thousands and thousands of men and women who were married before the magazines discovered sex! These poor people are to be pilled, no matter how happy they and their children seem."

My mother and father appeared to be the two happiest people I ever saw, but how could they have been? They didn't have a single magazine editor to tell them what love was, much less what to do about it.

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

There's an editor and articles for every age range, from the first tinkle of the adolescent to the final tinkle of the rocking chair and rheumatism set.

There are instructions for everything from the first date onward, and the authors make it quite plain that if you don't know the roundabout rules of courtship and marriage by heart, and follow them to the letter, your romantic baroque is heading for the shoals and a steady stream of BOS messages.

Not long ago my wife asked me to skim through a copy of one of the ladies' magazines to see if I could find the recipe for a shrimp gumbo she wanted to make for dinner. I finally found it, but before I did I had learned to my dismay that under the 1956 rules of romance I was a complete flop as a sweetheart and lover.

I wondered why Mary was going to the trouble of cooking dinner, for such an awkward, bungling, non-understanding excuse for a Romeo. Why didn't she just give me a ham sandwich and a pile of these magazines, and send me to the attic to read.

How we have managed to have so many years of happiness and fun together is a mystery. According to the articles, we haven't done anything right since the first time I held her hand at a dance. Maybe we just think we have had an ideal marriage, and can thank our lucky stars.
