Stock Selling Is Being Probed by Senatorial Group

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—The senate antitrust subcommittee said today that considerable stock of Idaho Power company was bought by four purchasers just before the government gave the firm a fast tax writeoff certificate.

The subcommittee staff said a report from the New York stock exchange showed that 8,000 or slightly more than two-thirds of the Idaho Power stock bought between April 1 and April 24, in addition to amounts bought by "specialists and odd lot brokers," went to these four:

Standard Life Assurance company of Edinburgh, Scotland, 3,000 shares; Children's hospital in Boston, 2,200 shares; Bankers Trust company of New York as trustee for the Standard Oil (New Jersey) annuity trust, 2,700 shares; and Orin's Mills of Philadelphia, upholstered goods manufacturers, 1,000 shares.

Chairman Kefauver, D., Tenn., said the subcommittee still is expecting how they happened to buy stock at that particular time. The group is investigating whether there was a leak of information that the office of defense mobilization was about to announce the granting of fast tax writeoff certificates to the company.

Idaho Power subsequently announced it was turning back the rapid tax amortization certificates as a sequel to the row in which it was given permission to build the Hells canyon dam. The certificates would have allowed fast tax writeoffs on the building of two dams on the Snake river.

Reporters asked Kefauver at the end of the hearing what he thought the report on the purchase of the stock proved.

"We don't know yet," he replied. "The staff is asking why they bought it at that particular time."

He said the subcommittee is far from through with its investigation of Idaho Power. "We are going to pursue it with internal review," he said, adding that this would include whether some minority stockholder could force reinstatement and use of the certificates by filing suit.

Kefauver said the April 1-24 range of data was important because April was the date the supreme court sustained the company's license to build the Hells canyon dam and April 24 was the day before the award of the fast writeoff certificates was announced.

4 Youngsters Are Hurt in Explosion of Homemade Bomb Placed Upon Stove

Four boys, ranging in ages from 6 to 13, were rushed to Magic Valley Memorial hospital this afternoon after a homemade bomb exploded at a farm home south of Twin Falls. Injured were Jerry Long, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Long, and Larry Matthews, 11, Gary Matthews, his twin brother, and Clyde Matthews, 6, children of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Matthews. The extent of their injuries was not known immediately.

Talks on Disarmament

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is conferring in London with representatives of the Western nations in an attempt to put new talks into disarmament talks with Russia. The U. N. disarmament subcommittee will meet Wednesday after Dulles has had a chance to carry out private talks with the allies. (AP Wirephoto)

The sealed bomb exploded as the youngsters gathered around the stove. Bloodstains near the stove indicated that the boys were severely lacerated.

The boys were taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Bellevue Boy's Death Is Ruled as Accident

HAILEY, July 30—A coroner's jury ruled Monday afternoon that the death of Dee J. McKercher, 14, Bellevue, Sunday, was by reason of internal hemorrhaging accidentally caused by a .22 caliber gunshot wound. The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis McKercher, was shot in the chest by his own rifle in the hands of a companion. He died within a few minutes after being shot.

Dulles Makes Revival Tries In Arms Talk

LONDON, July 30 (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles conferred with officials of three other Western nations today in an attempt to breathe new life into U. N. disarmament negotiations. Representatives of Britain, Canada and France, as well as U. S. delegate Harold E. Stassen, took part in a private conference from which Russia, the fifth member of the U. N. subcommittee, was excluded. The principal matters were at the top of the agenda for the private meeting.

1. Mapping final details of a "limited open skies" aerial inspection proposal. 2. The consolidation of Western strategy on recessing or extending the talks, which originally were scheduled to end tomorrow. Stassen, or possibly Dulles himself, is expected to start outlining the aerial inspection proposals to the full subcommittee once the private conferences have ended.

British and American sources said that despite tomorrow's nominal deadline they expect the current session to be extended by a week or so, or until after the aerial inspection plan has been presented.

Dulles, who flew here last night at President Eisenhower's request to take a hand in the deadlocked negotiations, spent all morning in consultation with his British colleagues.

The blackout was ordered by Sir Bernard Burrows, British political resident in the Persian gulf. A royal air force spokesman said the order had been passed to all RAF personnel at the Sharjah base.

The decree came with a dawn attack by 16 Venom jet fighters on an unidentified fort held by the Imam of Oman's anti-sultan rebels. Twelve of the Venoms used rockets against the fort. The other four raked it with cannon.

Blackout Placed On Desert Fight

SHARJAH, Trucial Oman, July 30 (AP)—The British placed a general news blackout on military operations in Oman today to coincide with a mounting royal air force assault on rebel-held forts.

CAB Moves to Restrict Military Air Authority, Open Sky to Civilian Use

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—The civil aeronautics board today vetoed the right of the military to declare vast areas of airspace off-limits to commercial planes.

In a drastic step CAB said it intends to give the civil aeronautics administration virtually complete authority over the nation's dwindling airspace.

The CAA normally controls only civilian air traffic. The CAB had overall authority over military and civilian planes traveling in the United States.

Intervening in the battle between military and civilian aviation officials over the use of airspace, the CAB verbally spanked the military for encroaching on civilian air routes unnecessarily and without legal authority.

Truce Is Asked in Rights Debate for Other Legislation

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Senator Morse, D., Ore., today blocked an effort to have the senate put aside the civil rights bill temporarily to take up other important legislation.

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Southern senators agreed today to go along with a move to lay aside the civil rights bill temporarily while the senate works on a defense money bill and other legislation. Senator Russell, D., Ga., announced after a meeting of Southern Democrats who are fighting the civil rights bill that they will raise no objection to a two-day armistice in the senate battle over the measure. Republican senate Leader Knowland of California said earlier that backers of the bill are determined to keep the senate in session all winter if necessary to pass what they regard as an effective bill.

Knowland has said he would not object to a short break in the civil rights debate proposed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader.

Johnson had announced he would seek a unanimous agreement for the senate to take up compromise versions of the defense and agricultural appropriations bills, as well as several other pieces of legislation.

Russell said that if Knowland's remark about a session lasting all winter turns out to be a correct prediction, the Southerners will be around.

"Senator Knowland will have company," Russell said.

Knowland's remark about a session lasting all winter was made after a legislative conference with President Eisenhower. Knowland also said he is sure Eisenhower still opposes adding to the civil rights bill a jury trial amendment.

Knowland talked with reporters after he and other GOP congressional leaders held their weekly meeting with Eisenhower.

He said he expected the house would go along with the senate bill if it is passed in its present form—that is, with no jury trial provision—even though the senate previously knocked out a house-approved section providing sweeping powers of enforcement in many civil rights cases. The senate bill is primarily a right-to-vote measure.

Oil Import Cut May Bring Price Increase

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Price increases in gasoline were predicted by some congressmen today after the government announced its intention to limit oil imports, but senators from oil-producing states praised the government action. A voluntary import curb which the White House said "could lead to mandatory controls" if it is violated was asked by President Eisenhower yesterday.

He called for a 10 per cent cut in oil imports by companies east of the Rockies. It is designed to assure a high rate of domestic oil production which could be needed for national defense.

Senator Flanders, R., Vt., said a reduction of South American oil shipments to New England "will surely result in a price rise in the near future," and added, "In fact, that is the purpose of the order."

Senator Payne, R., Maine, called it "shocking favoritism for the oil industry which already enjoys preferential tax privileges denied other industries."

Senator Kennedy, D., Mass., expressed hope that oil users "are not penalized by price increases or restricted supplies" under the program, but said he would demand "immediate remedial action" if it is needed.

On the other hand, senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said, "This is a long overdue action which should strengthen the national security," as well as "provide some relief for our hard-pressed domestic producers."

Thousands Flock To State Funeral

GUATEMALA, July 30 (AP)—Thousands packed Guatemala's Cathedral square today at the funeral of assassinated President Carlos Castillo Armas.

Guatemala's Roman Catholic archbishop, Mariano Russell Arellano, celebrated the solemn pontifical mass.

Castillo Armas was shot down Friday night by a member of his own guard. The government claims the assassination was Communist-inspired. The guard shot himself, the government said.

Racing Range Blaze Is Reported Stopped

A range fire which burned up a steep Snake river bluff and then raced across an estimated 30,000 acres of brush and between Glens Ferry and Hammett to give the bureau of land management at Boise serious concern, has been brought under control. In a radio message to the Notch butte lookout at noon, the bureau said the blaze had been contained but was still burning. Earlier in the day the bureau's fire dispatcher at Boise reported crews had been able to isolate portions of the fire but were unable to get a firebreak around the entire blaze.

Bureau employees at Shoshone are mapping the large fire near Klamath Sunday to determine the area threatened. During the fire farms belonging to Don Stimpson, John Ward and Glenn Sorenson were damaged and Sorenson estimates he will cost him $200 to replace fence posts around a pasture.

Sorenson said 100 acres of pasture were burned in the fire and that one alfalfa field was scorched. Farmers and an Idaho Power company crew helped throw up a fire break around his land.

Stimpson backed to save his grain but even so the flames came close to the green grain some damage may have resulted. The flames on a potato digger were burned.

The Associated Press said the fire apparently was started by lightning late Monday. The fire service said crews were hampered in their control efforts because of the lack of sufficient equipment. As soon as the Shoshone district had equipment to spare it offered to send two tankers to Glens Ferry but by that time the fire was being brought under control.

Meanwhile officials of the Boise national forest said a damaging blaze which burned 500 acres of thick timber in the Bear valley area was in the mopup stage. The control had been reduced in size from more than 500 to 125.

One new fire broke out in the area Monday but smokejumpers controlled it quickly.

K. D. Flock, supervisor of the Boise forest, said fire danger in the forest areas now is rated "between high and extreme." He said no closure order will be asked at this time although he added that planes may be posted along highways leading into the forest areas to warn travelers to be careful.

Halsey Said in Good Condition

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—Retired Fleet Adm. William H. (Bull) Halsey, 74, was reported "feeling well" today in Doctors' hospital, where he is undergoing a physical checkup.

The World War II hero was reported yesterday to have suffered a stroke, but a hospital spokesman said today "this condition has been exaggerated."

Hughes and volunteer helpers used Bobo's machinery to drill a 34-inch hole beside the pipe to a 40-foot depth.

Then Vaughn (Red) Roberts, the most insistent of numerous volunteers, was lowered into the new well. He broke through the terra cotta wall just below Yvonne and pulled her down into his arms.

Maddox said the curly-haired child, "about the cutest little thing you ever saw," appeared to have borne the ordeal well except that she had become cold during her long stay in the pipe.

"It just doesn't seem like it happened," she said. "It's like a dream."

Yvonne Beasley, 28, wife of a textile worker, said during her all-night vigil beside Yvonne's bed at the Anderson County Memorial Hospital.

"Just a few weeks ago my husband and I were talking about Benny Hooper—the anguished family must have gone through," Mrs. Beasley said. "I just couldn't imagine."

Most of the throng which gathered at the spot during the drilling under flood lights got no glimpse of Yvonne when she was lifted from the rescue shaft at 11:40 p. m., Mrs. Beasley said.

"What was Yvonne wearing," she was asked.

"Nothing?"

"I hate to say this," Mrs. Beasley laughed, "but I was going to change her. I left her with Richard David, he'll be 3 in September, and had gone to the house with her pants in my pocket."

"He came in crying—his face was white; he was shaking—and told me she fell into a hole. I thought they had dug a little hole, and she had skinned her leg or something."

VIENNA, Ga., July 30 (AP)—Former Sen. Walter F. George, critically ill from a coronary condition, appeared somewhat improved today.

Rain Falls on Areas of Dry Eastern U. S.

By United Press

A band of scattered thundershowers continued to rumble over the drought-plagued East today, but for the most part the showers were too little and too late.

With damage to crops in the 11-state mid-Atlantic region already figured in the tens of millions of dollars, farm experts said steady, soaking rains were needed to alleviate the two-month drought. No general rains were in sight for the area.

In western Long Island, a heavy downpour yesterday did more harm than good. The downpour caused flooding and knocked out power lines without doing much good for the potato crop. Drought already has done an estimated six million dollars damage to the potato crop.

The New Jersey drought, termed the "most extended in 40 years," is expected to bring about a boost in vegetable prices soon at eastern markets. State officials said they will seek federal aid to farmers if they get nothing more than the predicted brief thundershowers this week.

The heaviest rainfall in southern New England yesterday was slightly over two inches at Norfolk, Conn., Hartford, Conn., recorded 1.5 inches. The weather bureau said more rain is needed over the entire region during the next two days. Rain-making machines were pressed into service throughout Massachusetts.

The nation's midlands, however, continued to ball out from dreary drizzle.

Severe thundershowers ripped the North Platte river valley near Scottsbluff, Neb., last night, causing extensive damage as high winds and heavy rain lashed the area. Crops were damaged, an irrigation canal was broken and a section of the Union Pacific railroad tracks were washed out by the 3.5-inch rainfall.

Wind gusts of 50 miles per hour also pounded Rapid City, S. D., and Williston, N. D. A tornado was reported near Plainville in the Texas panhandle, but no damage was reported.

Missing Clerk Is Discovered Dead in River

He said he saw it floating in water about 10 or 24 feet from shore near his farm in the Big Bend area of eastern Oregon. He said he pulled the body to shore, then called officers.

Beecher said there was a large bump on the back of the woman's head but he was uncertain whether it was received before or after she entered the water. He said the woman's body was badly decomposed.

Jeppesen said officials were uncertain what course to take in conducting their investigation of the death.

"The body was found in Oregon but there is no evidence to indicate whether she died in Oregon or Idaho," Jeppesen said.

Beecher said he had no plans to call an inquest and said further investigation was up to Idaho authorities.

Dr. William G. Reimer, Owyhee county coroner, said he definitely plans to hold an inquest at Homedale "to find out exactly how the deceased met death."

Reimer said the inquest probably will be held at the Idaho town within a couple of days. He said he would set the date as soon as the body is transferred from authorities of the Oregon county to custody in the Idaho county.

Budget OK'd As 15 Attend Protest Meet

series Oct. 1, 1950, and payment of expenses and fees in connection with them, one and one-half mills; street lighting, three mills; library, three mills; band, one-fourth mill; sprinkling, flushing and oiling fund, 15 mills; airport fund, two mills; recreation department, three mills; fire department, two mills; guarantee of local improvement bonds, one-half mill, and armory, one-half mill.

In the appropriation ordinance money was transferred from the general fund, sprinkling, flushing and oiling fund, recreation fund and fire department fund to the various departments for salaries, wages, maintenance, supplies, equipment and improvements for the year.

Amounts are administration, $72,400; engineering, $49,654; street, $104,642; sanitation, $12,946; shop, $21,530; police, $139,334; fire, $112,407; inspection, $22,288; parks, $13,857; recreation and pool, $35,350; and golf course, $22,410.

From other special funds the following transfers were made, water department, $280,873; airport fund, $85,412; street lighting fund, $31,687; library fund, $32,991; band fund, $3,181; local improvement guarantee fund, $13,792; armory fund, $15,113; the fund as provided by bond issue of May 21, 1956, sewer trunk construction, $4,102, and the federal aid project, airport runway extension, $70,500.

The salary ordinance generally raised wages of city employees $10 per month. The city manager, with five years' service, will receive $800 monthly. The city attorney will receive $775 per month, city clerk, $440; police judge, $220; city engineer, $625; superintendent, street and water, $625; police chief, $477; fire chief, $452; building inspector, $385; superintendent of parks and recreation, $342; recreation director, $400; golf course superintendent, $2,400 for eight months, and airport manager, $255. All wages increases are to be effective as of July 1.

Among those who protested against the 25-mill levy was H. H. Boper who told the commissioners, "I don't feel I am getting a dollar's worth for the dollar spent."

He said it is not the "dollar taken in but the one spent that counts."

One woman stated she was "dismayed" at the small turnout for the hearing. She said she was "embarrassed" to see so few present for the tax protest.

Chairman Lyons Smith said Monday night's crowd was the largest to attend a budget hearing since he has been on the commission.

He said the city is faced with increased costs and the necessity of raising wages and salaries to keep personnel. He said the commission pared some of the department's requests.

One protester asked why the city didn't put the tax question to vote each year. He asked why the airport fund and golf course fund were so high.

Luke Francis said he didn't feel the "slum" areas of Twin Falls were receiving a just share of the money levied. He said no "government is a good government that doesn't govern equally."

He said he didn't think the "slum" areas were receiving enough material benefit from the tax dollar. "Are we" levying for the aristocracy?" he asked.

He said his Fourth avenue west neighborhood had been denied a sewer system, that water would run down the streets and there were no curbs. Smith said the area was included in the last local improvement sewer district but bonding companies would not accept the area.

Francis asked why the avenue could not be paved. City Manager Joseph H. Latimore explained the city had been anticipating a possible sewage system for the area and had not wanted to pave the street and then have to do the work again after the sewer was completed.

Senator Asks Tax Writeoff Profit Halted

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Senator Kefauver, D., Tenn., urged Congress and the executive agencies today to halt what he termed tax-free dividends to public utility company stockholders paid from savings on fast tax writeoffs.

Kefauver, presiding at a hearing before the senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, said the practice has brought benefits of many millions of dollars to stockholders. But he said there were no such benefits to the customers of 13 utility companies whose dividends the committee was exploring.

Willard W. Gatchell, general counsel to the federal power commission which policies utilities in interstate commerce, told the subcommittee his agency will explore the whole subject.

He said he agreed the practice was "irregularity." But he said later that the practice was "a bonanza to the shareholders that is not intended to Congress, provides no benefit to the consumers."

"The time has long since passed when Congress and the commission ought to do something to stop it," he said.

Kefauver read a prepared statement saying "I make no suggestion of irregularity." But he said later that the practice was "a bonanza to the shareholders that is not intended to Congress, provides no benefit to the consumers."

on the trigger and accidentally pulled the trigger. The McKercher boy dropped the pistol and walked into the kitchen where he fell and died almost instantly.

The McKercher boy didn't say a word, the Rogers youth testified.

The other youth testified he was talking on the telephone at the time. He said he saw Rogers reach for the gun and look in it. He said he heard the shot but stated it didn't sound much different from the matches they had been shooting in the pistol.

He also stated the McKercher boy dropped his gun and walked into the kitchen. He said he thought McKercher was "fooling."

Rogers told the Ehrmantraut boy to call a doctor. He called Dr. Hawke. They also called Mrs. McKercher who was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schaefer. They boy's father had left for work at Cobalt three hours earlier.

At the inquest the father said he thought the shooting was accidental. Jury members were J. W. Davies, A. T. Glenn, James H. Neyman, Bert Shiris, Hubert Coats, Joseph W. Fald, Charles E. Read, all Halley.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday in the Bellevue school gymnasium with the Rev. Charles Shirk, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will be at the Bellevue cemetery.

higher, multiple purpose dam at Pleasant Valley.

Kuykendall said at the time that he did not construe Senator's letter as a request for any delay in action.

Some time ago the commission rejected a request of public power advocates to make the Senator letter a part of the hearing record.

Senator pointed out to the reporters that the commission "is completely independent of this department, and rightly so."

The reclamation bureau's investigation was started last spring but was suspended after the house appropriations committee protested that the bureau had not budgeted any funds for that purpose and was diverting money from projects already approved by Congress.

Senator said a supplemental appropriation would be asked for completion of the survey.

Senator Neuberger, D., Or., asked the PFC today to reopen proceedings involving Pacific Northwest's application for a Mountain Sheep-Pleasant Valley project license.

Neuberger said in a letter to commission secretary Joseph H. Outridge that the PFC examiner's decision "makes it apparent that the record is incomplete."

France with "Stassen" and other American officials.

The western meeting this afternoon was attended by British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and by Jules Moch and David Johnson, respectively the French and Canadian representatives on the disarmament subcommittee.

Also on tap for Dulles was a meeting with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd to discuss a wide range of diplomatic issues, including the tribal uprising in Muscat and Oman.

U. S. officials said it was possible that during his visit Dulles would meet with Soviet disarmament spokesman Valerian Zorin and attend at least one meeting of the disarmament subcommittee.

Hearing Continued

Preliminary hearing for Junior Roland Jordan, 27, Castleford, charged with statutory rape was continued Tuesday until 3 p. m. Friday on motion of Prosecuting Attorney James M. Cunningham because the principal witness for the state is ill.

Jordan, arrested July 23, on a warrant issued April 11, 1957, was remanded to county jail until he posts $1,000 bond. The charge against Jordan involves a 16-year-old girl.

Talk on Postal Service Given For Club Meet

W. W. Frantz, Twin Falls postmaster, Tuesday described the postoffice department as "the world's greatest communication system."

Frantz, speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Exchange club at the American Legion hall, said the postoffice "means many things to many people," and the postoffice is often trusted with an individual's most "intimate thoughts."

"Many people fail to realize the large number of services offered by the postoffice," said Frantz. "Such things as money orders, postal savings, an insured parcel service, COD stamps, and even stamped envelopes are just a part of the many services offered by the department."

The postoffice is also one of the largest businesses in the world, taking in more than 21 billion dollars annually. The Twin Falls postoffice took in more than $225,000 last year itself, Frantz noted.

With more than a half-million employees, the department has one of the largest vehicle services in the world, all part of an effort to bring better mail service to the many persons who use the postal services, he said.

Frantz said there has been no increase in postage rates since 1927 and operating costs have doubled. Frantz said he felt that the proposed postage increase would solve the problem.

In other Exchange club business, Gordon Glasman, general manager of KLIX radio and television, was presented an engraved cigarette lighter by President James F. Blake on behalf of the Order Exchange club, of which Glasman was a member prior to moving to Twin Falls.

Spurt in Air Conditioning Is Increasing

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—Some day man may wear air conditioned clothes, walk on air conditioned sidewalks and watch sports events in air conditioned stadiums.

These are just a few of the things that the crystal ball gazers in the air conditioning industry say are in the offing.

By the year 2,000, industry spokesmen add, man may control his climate by the flick of a switch or the turn of a dial.

J. W. Alsford, president of Mitchell Manufacturing Company of Chicago, says: "Within the next 40 years, if research and engineering continue at their present pace, we may well have taken a step toward changing everybody's way of living."

"Although all we can do is look into a crystal ball today, none of these dreams is beyond the realm of possibility."

Air conditioning has invaded homes, churches, offices, factories, theaters and stores to the tune of $1.5 billion dollars a year.

Americans now travel in air conditioned trains, buses, airplanes and automobiles.

Walter A. Grant, vice president of research and development for Carrier Corporation, notes that some experts believe one-third of the automobiles sold in 1961 will be air conditioned.

Experiments now are under way with air conditioning units for subways. The job of cooling 200 people jammed together like sardines is no mean task.

"Turning to the great outdoors," Grant points out, "air conditioning will achieve spectacular results both in the city and on the farm."

He explains that inflated plastic canopies may be used to suspend conditioned air over baseball and football stadiums, a forerunner of air conditioned streets and even air conditioned cities.

"Air conditioned pigs and chickens will produce more pork and more eggs per pound of feed," he adds.

Grant also visualizes the day when man will carry a little device in his hip pocket, delivering personal cooling at the flick of a switch.

"As the air conditioned man of tomorrow walks around in the broiling sun, solar batteries will generate the power to cool the thermoelectric clothing he is wearing."

Alsford says the only danger in making predictions such as these is that, more often than not, they are too conservative.

Envoy Learns About Ceylon In Big Hurry

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—The new U. S. ambassador to Ceylon, horse-breeding businessman from Ohio, confessed to congressmen early this month he didn't know the name of Ceylon's prime minister.

The ambassador, Maxwell Gluck, has learned since then that it is Solomon Bandaranaike. He has also learned a lot of other things about Ceylon in a month of intensive study at the state department.

The question originally was posed when Gluck appeared at a closed-door session of the senate foreign relations committee July 2 for questioning about his nomination.

Gets Approval

Gluck's nomination was approved routinely by the full senate the next day. Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., who voted against Gluck's committee, did not fight the nomination.

The transcript of the senate hearing showed that Gluck's appearance was short with Fulbright asking questions.

Asked about contributions to the GOP in 1956, Gluck said: "Let's see, I would say, all in all, $20,000 or $30,000."

Asked about 1957, he added: "Oh, hand, I would say around $10,000."

"If you contribute $30,000 do you think Ceylon is a rather remote post for that?" Fulbright asked.

"The one who went to Belgium," J. Clifford Folger, only contributed $11,000."

Fulbright then began asking Gluck questions about the Far East. "Do you know our ambassador to India?" the senator asked.

Gluck didn't, but he knew John Sherman Cooper, R. Ky., former U. S. ambassador to India.

Knows Nehru

"Do you know who the prime minister of India is?" Fulbright asked. "Yes," Gluck replied, "but I can't pronounce his name." (India's prime minister is Jawaharlal Nehru.)

"Do you know who the prime minister of Ceylon is?" Fulbright continued.

"His name is a bit unfamiliar now, I cannot call it off," Gluck replied. But he said he had several history books and a list of all the important people in Ceylon and was studying them.

Americans Are Sentimental on Two Eras of Nation's History

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — There are two periods in our history about which Americans are incurably romantic—the Gay Nineties and the Roaring Twenties.

Time has removed from the earth's scene most of those old enough to relish the tang of a Gay Nineties, and about me not being on the list. Why, lady, nobody's on the list when it comes down to cases. I know that."

It was a time when the faw tried to prove she could do anything a man could — but actually succeeded only in being a well-dressed woman in the history of mankind.

war and the beginning of the great depression—the so-called Jazz age.—And at the first flanking notes of an old Irving Berlin tune, many will drop nostalgic tears in their beer.

There has been a great revival of interest in "the jazz age," and many of today's serious, security-minded young people are inclined to ask rather crossly, "Just what was so wonderful about it anyway?"

They feel like maybe they have missed considerable.

Just what they missed is moving-ly told in "The Lawless Decade," by Paul Sann and George Hornby, a big bountiful prose and pictorial saga of the era of prohibited booze and the uninhibited flapper.

For the bouquet of a generation, the book is a Few people today really miss jazz age Sann. But it has its value. As author Sann concludes:

It was they heyday of a general-

Moscow Avers Dulles Trying To Halt Talks

LONDON, July 30 (AP)—Moscow radio today attacked Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' participation in the London disarmament conference and predicted he would throw a monkey wrench into the works.

The bitterly worded broadcast ignored Dulles' attempts to salvage President Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan and concentrated instead of a reshaping of previous Moscow demands.

The broadcast injected a somber note into the faltering talks which reached such a low state that President Eisenhower sent Dulles here to try to put through some practical first-step disarmament agreement.

The regular session of the five-nation United Nations disarmament committee was postponed again until tomorrow at American request as Dulles could confer today with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and other western officials here.

Moscow radio accused Dulles of "habitually throwing a monkey wrench" into such international conferences and said he was "simply trying to avoid for the time being the responsibility for hamstringing" the London talks.

Dulles implied this last night when he said such a move to reduce the danger of surprise attack should make it "more possible to make progress in reducing the burden of armaments and solving the grave political problems which endanger peace."

Diplomats interpreted his statement as an indication the United States will settle for aerial inspection even if nothing else emerges from the conference.

Boys Held for Making Bomb

DURANGO, Colo., July 30 (AP)—Authorities warned residents of this southwestern Colorado town today that several dynamite caps, part of some loot that included three and one-half cases of dynamite, may be somewhere in the community.

Durango city police and La Plata county sheriff's officers recovered 30,900 blasting caps and the dynamite yesterday and held two young boys for appearance in juvenile court today.

The boys, 14 and 16, admitted they had been experimenting with the dynamite, which was taken Saturday night from a timber camp north of here. They said they made some bombs, two of which were recovered. They told authorities that other bombs had been set off in the rest room of a drive-in theater and in a garage container. They pitched two bombs into the Animas river to test the explosive's power.

Weight of the Liberty bell has been recorded at 2,080 pounds.

Mill Prepared For Carnotite Ore Smelting

POCATELLO, July 30 (AP)—A smelter located 110 miles north of Pocatello should begin operations within a few weeks processing uranium-bearing carnotite ore mined from the west slope of the Bitterroot mountains, according to the Golden Ridge uranium company.

Company officials said they expected to sign contracts with the atomic energy commission to deliver the uranium to the AEC for $8 per pound.

The processing plant, according to officials, will be able to handle about 250 tons of carnotite ore every 24 hours and each ton should yield an estimated 20 pounds of concentrate bearing 32 per cent uranium.

The Golden Ridge company is headed by Karl M. Pratt, Salt Lake City. George A. Peterson, Rockford, is vice president and A. A. Merrill, Idaho Falls attorney, is secretary-treasurer.

The milling process, still secret and unpatented, was devised by Charles Herrington, a Salt Lake City engineer.

Marjorie followed him in a graceful dive. She tucked him into a life ring bystanders tossed in, then went back under and recovered the sergeant's upper plate.

Property Owners To Get Work Bill

CITY MANAGER Joseph H. Latimore Monday said all property owners who have the department remove fire hazards from private property will be billed for the cost.

Latimore said the city is undertaking a program to remove all dangerous fire hazards, such as dry grass and weeds, in many of the city's critical areas. He said the program is under the direction of Fire Inspector Carl Scheele.

The program has been in effect for about a month, and is expected to continue at least one more month.

California Land Promoter Passes

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., July 30 (AP)—Funeral arrangements were pending today for A. C. Blumenthal, known as the "boy wonder" of real estate promotion in Los Angeles.

Blumenthal, about 70, died last night in the Beverly Hills hotel of a cerebral blood clot.

A native of San Francisco, Blumenthal was graduated from the University of California and was named president of a realty corporation here at the age of 27.

Postponement of Blast Announced

ATOMIC TEST SITE, July 30 (AP)—Unacceptable winds last night caused a second 24-hour postponement of an atomic test.

The blast from atop a 500-foot tower was pushed back to 4:45 a.m. tomorrow because indications were that winds would sweep radioactive fallout onto the Dodge construction camp and Lincoln mine and toward Currant and Fly, Nev.

The first postponement was due to technical reasons.

When the device is detonated, Canadian soldiers will be among 700 troops in trenches 4,500 yards from the tower. The test will involve a weapon of comparatively low power.

Allied Commander Urges Retention of Strong Ground Forces in West Europe

PARIS, July 30 (AP)—The Western power of the hydrogen bomb has made it a crucial factor in the present debate.

There has been an on-again, off-again debate ever since on whether a thin line of ground forces would be enough in Europe, a sort of "trip wire" to sound the warning if Russia moved.

Norstad, and the international staff at his 15-nation headquarters, reject such arguments. These are their reasons for demanding a stout ground force shield:

It must provide convincing evidence that NATO will resist aggression.

It must be strong enough to force aggressors to concentrate and telegraph their punch, if they dare attack.

It is needed to protect continental air bases from which retaliatory forces would fly.

It must hold off attackers at western Europe's frontiers for the limited time it would take retaliatory air forces to crush Russia and end war. Europeans have experienced one occupation and liberation in the last 17 years and do not want another.

With sea and air elements, the shield must block Baltic and Black sea exits to Soviet undersea forces. The shield stands as a deterrent in a very special way, a way that has meaning for Americans at home as much as for Germans at the front line.

Norstad argues there is little or no chance of Russia provoking a local incident on the Iron curtain if it is visibly defended by strong ground forces.

It is convinced that if there were a local attack, or penetration where the line is thin, it would bloom into a full-scale war because neither side would withhold what it thought it needed to win.

If the shield is thick enough, however, the aggressor would have to make a deliberate decision to attack and while considering the move would realize he was invoking his own destruction.

Norstad also argues that, without any front-line forces, the West, then prime minister, said it was awake one morning to discover Russians had moved across the line in circumstances which the deterrent force on one pretext or another

Three Are Killed On Yacht Cruise

HONOLULU, July 30 (AP)—A Hawaiian racing cruise ended in death by carbon monoxide poisoning for three members of a yachting party aboard Richard A. Dole's Typee.

The three victims were overcome yesterday while they napped below decks after Dole started the engines of his 34-foot yawl.

They were Patricia Peterson, 21, Wayne Curry, 12, and Raymond L. Watson, 35, all of Honolulu.

Dole, son of James Dole, founder of the Hawaiian Pineapple company, said he started the engines about 8 a.m. to hurry the Typee's return after a week-end race from Honolulu to Kauai Island.

Garage Damaged

IDAHO FALLS, July 30 (AP)—Damage was estimated at $5,000 yesterday to a partially built high-way department garage which was blown down by wind.

Construction company officials said the building would have to be entirely rebuilt. All of the steel framework was in place when work was stopped by the strike of 1,800 southern Idaho carpenters.

Scrappy Grandma Grabs Wrongdoer

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, Eng., July 30 (R)—Villagers here today nothing but praise today for a courageous 76-year-old grandmother who tackled a thief, grappled with him and held him until aid arrived.

Mrs. Edith Allison spotted John Muir, 37, an unemployed painter leaving the apartment of her daughter with a stolen camera. She ran after him and subdued him until police came. Muir was sentenced to 18 months imprisonment yesterday.

Denver Visit Is Begun by Ike's 'Mamie'

DENVER, July 30 (AP)—A "drive around town," a visit with "mama," and an appointment at the beauty shop highlighted today's planned activities for the first time since the President's heart attack in 1955.

Mamie Eisenhower arrived here yesterday aboard the presidential airplane, to dedicate a park in her honor and to visit with her 79-year-old mother, Mrs. John S. Doud.

Except for the scheduled Thursday dedication of the 21-acre park in northeast Denver, sides termed "Mamie Eisenhower's visit," strictly casual—nothing important planned except visiting with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Eisenhower and Dr. Howard M. Snyder, White House physician who accompanied her here, watched last night's Patterson-Jackson heavyweight championship bout on television after a small informal dinner with her mother and aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Carlisle, uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Doud, and Mr. and Mrs. John S. Doud, Jr., are in the Brown Palace.

Mrs. Eisenhower and her entourage are staying at the Brown Palace since the Carlises are occupying available space at the modest Doud residence at 750 Lafayette street.

Aides said it was the first time since 1950 Mrs. Eisenhower had been to Colorado without her husband.

"I know he would have given anything to come too," she told yesterday's airport welcoming party.

"Ordinary procedure," was the way Dr. Snyder explained why he had accompanied the first lady here. "There's nothing alarming about it."

Mrs. Eisenhower will return to the nation's capital Saturday to observe the 55th birthday of her son, Maj. John Eisenhower.

Money-Waste Fears Voiced

LONDON, July 30 (AP)—Red-faced health ministry officials said today they feared they had spent 28 million dollars of taxpayers' money on orange juice children did not need in the first place.

A panel of diet experts reported after several years' investigation that the juice, given free by the government to all children up to five years old, was not needed by most of them.

The health ministry said the report by 14 experts that supplying of free orange juice was "a vitamin C to children over five years old should be stopped. It said vitamin C was marginal because hardly anyone has scurvy these days."

The report drew a barrage of criticism from the London newspapers and the conservative Daily Express headline said: "The great orange juice fiasco."

Idaho Power Gets Outline Of Tax Steps

BOISE, July 30 (AP)—The Idaho public utilities commission specified Monday the procedure for Idaho Power company to follow when the five-year amortization period on a tax-depreciated southwest Idaho power project elapses.

PUC Director of Utilities R. E. Larsen said the project included the C. J. Strike power project and transmission lines to Caldwell, American Falls and the Pocatello area. The project dams the Snake river about 20 miles south of Mountain Home.

Idaho Power had received office of defense mobilization authority for an accelerated tax amortization certificate to build the power-dam and transmission lines, Larsen said.

The certificate was similar to one authorized by the ODM this spring for three other dams in the Hells canyon reach of the Snake. Idaho Power later declined to make use of the Hells canyon permits.

In March, 1953, the commission prescribed that tax money saved by fast depreciation on the C. J. Strike project would be put into a special reserve fund.

The commission said then it would prescribe the method by which the money should be channeled back into a tax account, once the five-year period of fast depreciation was over.

Monday's order provides that the tax increase scheduled to follow the end of the depreciation period be transferred, in monthly installments, from the reserve fund to the tax account.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH PATTERSON
(Staff engraving)Reception Fetes
Couple Married
In Temple Rites

HAILEY, July 30—Mr. and Mrs. Keith Patterson, who were married Friday at the Idaho Falls LDS temple by President Francis Davis, were honored at a reception Saturday evening at the LDS church.

The bride is the former Arlene Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Marsh. Patterson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson, Carey.

They were accompanied through the temple by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Weaver, brother-in-law and sister of the bride; Mrs. Cecil Olsen, sister of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hanson, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom; Blaine State President Valdo Benson and Mrs. Benson; Bishop of the Hailey ward, Harold Buhler, and Mrs. Buhler; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Byington; Mrs. Billy Knorr; Mr. and Mrs. Vern Stocking, and Mrs. Lorin Price, Richfield.

At the reception the bride wore a gown with a fitted bodice and a full skirt with a wide waistband. The bodice was designed with a Peter Pan collar edged with tiny ruffles of illusion net, and long sleeves. Her waist-length skirt was fashioned of illusion net ruffles with the top ruffles caught to the lace overskirt with narrow white satin ribbon. Her finger tip veil was attached to a lace and rhinestone double cross-cord bandeau. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet centered with pink roses set in astepanotis and edged with nylon net and satin ribbon.

Mrs. Russell Weaver, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, Carol Patterson, sister of the bridegroom, Jolene Neyman, and Donna LaPrise, were bridesmaids. Their ballerina-length gowns of pale green crystal-line nylon were identical, featuring boat necklines and full skirts with unpressed pleats. They wore gold bandeau interlaced with white velvet ribbon. Their wrist corsages were of white frenched carnations with white satin streamers.

The bride's mother wore a sheath dress, multicolored with beige background and beige linen jacket. Her accessories were white. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue and white nylon dress with pleated skirt and her accessories were also white. Both wore corsages of white roses and chrysanthemums tied with green ribbon.

Russell Weaver was best man, Lou Peck and Arlon Dilworth were ushers.

The refreshment table was covered with a white hand-crocheted table cloth belonging to the bride's maternal grandmother. It was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom framed in a rosebud heart. The cake was decorated with pale yellow roses. Between the layers were clusters of white wedding bells with yellow centers.

White sashes, edged with pale green ribbon and set in crystal holders, flanked the cake. Atop the pale green punch in a cut-glass bowl floated white roses. White daisies in crystal bowls were at each end of the table.

Cake was served by Mrs. Dwayne Knigge, cousin of the bride, and punch by Mrs. Max Potter, aunt of the bride, and Velma Watts.

Marjorie Anderson was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Von Potter, aunt of the bride, Janice Nelson, Sharon Montgomery and Janet Hazen presided at the gift table.

Shirley Jones and Margaret Pyrah played background music during the reception. Mrs. Keith Hanson, sister of the bridegroom, Carol Patterson, Patsy Jewell and Kenneth Cook sang vocal selections. They were accompanied by Miss Jones and Miss Pyrah.

Reception assistants were Mrs. Jeff Jones, Mrs. Harold Buhler, Mrs. Vern Shaffer, Norma Broyles and Jeanne Macarillo.

For her going-away gown the bride wore a pale blue deacon dress with white accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

The bride, a 1957 graduate of Hailey high school, was employed in the Blaine county agent's office prior to her marriage.

Patterson, a graduate of Carey high school, attended Brigham Young university. He served several years in the navy and is now employed by the Adamson Motor company in Carey, where the young couple will reside.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Potter and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Marsh, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Nellie Rogers, Mrs. Belle Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Den Durfee, Mrs. Gladice Marsh and Mrs. Louise Conrad, all of Hagerman; Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Knigge, Pocatello; Mrs. Max Potter, Homestead, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hanson, Shelley; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Benson, Nampa; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Olsen, Arden Dilworth and Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Patterson, Boise; Thomas Carter, Blackfoot; Patsy Jewell, Jerome; Arjay Miller, Richfield, Idaho; Trammell, California. Also present were many friends from Carey, Hailey, Gannett, Pocatello, Bellevue and Ketchum.

Training Parley Is Held in Buhl

Buhl, July 30—Twenty-five executive officers of Women of the Moose from Twin Falls, Buhl and Jerome met Tuesday afternoon at Buhl for a training session.

Mrs. Floyd Dais, executive leader, was in charge of the meeting. Problems pertaining to the various offices were discussed and refreshments served.

Wed in Nevada

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Bruah announce the marriage of their daughter, Shirley Ann, to Earl L. McBride, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McBride, which took place Wednesday at Elko.

The bridegroom has returned to duty in the armed forces and the new Mrs. McBride will remain with her parents until he returns from overseas when she will join him in Long Beach, Calif., where they will make their home.

Pioneer Stories

Richfield Meet

RICHFIELD, July 30—Pioneer stories were told during the program hour when the Burmah club held its second July meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. C. J. Capps.

Mrs. Francis Stowell was in charge of the program. Mrs. LeRoy McGoffin conducted quiz games.

Reports were given by Mrs. Russell Powell and Mrs. H. M. Ross, Jr. Mrs. V. P. Perron also reported the recent cooked food sale netted $84.20. Another food sale was planned for Aug. 3 to be held in Shoshone with Mrs. Perron as chairman.

Mrs. Perron received the hostess prize. Mrs. W. L. Jensen, Mrs. Theo Ollieu and Mrs. Gerald Stowell received Pollyanna gifts.

Guests were Mrs. Alice Ross, Hermliston, Ore.; Peggy and Patricia Swinney, Portland; Mrs. Gene Williams, Shoshone; Mrs. Leon Hubsmith, Mountain Home, and Mrs. Charles Giles.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 23. Only one meeting is planned for August because of the county fair.

We, the Women

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Service

During business hours women should forget they are women, a successful career woman claims.

That is a piece of advice that has been handed to women before.

But it never has made sense and it never will. A woman can be intelligent, competent, responsible, and ambitious and still be every inch a woman and conscious of it.

Her very consciousness of her own femininity doesn't detract from her capabilities. It only enhances them.

On the other hand, the woman who tries to forget she is a woman and to make others forget it because she wants to be treated like "one of the boys" during her working day develops all kinds of unbecoming characteristics.

She is usually brusque, bossy and belligerent. Neither men nor women feel comfortable around her.

And, of course, in trying to cover up her femininity she is denying herself all the advantages that being a woman gives her.

Men never try to hide their masculinity. They practically wallow in it. The bigger and stronger and tougher a man is the better.

So why shouldn't women make the most of their femininity instead of trying to deny it?

Just because men once had the business world to themselves doesn't mean it is still a man's world.

Even a long time it has not been a world in which women are not only welcome but needed.

So they don't have to sneak around pretending they aren't women in order to get ahead.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

"Toby dear, please take your blocks into the other room. You're in my way here."

"I won't. I'll stay here."

For a minute Toby's mother lost her breath. Never before has this little one said anything like that. Then she remembers something she had been taught long ago and said, chuckling, "Oh yes you will," swept him up in her arms, gave him a hug and a kiss, carried him to the other room and gave him his blocks. He was laughing now and ran after her as she went back to her work.

"Now you work over there and I'll work here," she said and Toby went back to his play.

One of the first signs of a budding personality is the child's "No." He is not really asserting his will to be contrary, aggressive or rebellious. He is exploring the possibilities of becoming a person with opinions of his own. He is too inexperienced as yet to choose his time, his place and circumstance as one smiles at him and puts him where he needs to be with as much good will as one can muster. And patience.

What is one to do with the older child, one anywhere from 10 to 17? Make him obey? Sometimes that is necessary. When a child places himself in danger of any kind it is the duty of his elders to prevent disaster. However, if the child's experience with his parents has taught him that they interfere with his wish and will only when it is necessary for his safety or only when it is necessary to save him from a grave mistake, no such occasion will arise.

Toby will remember how his mother picked him up and put him out of the way of the hustle and bustle of the kitchen at dinner-making time. He will remember his father's good natured, "No, son. I can't let you do that. I'll have to be with you when you try to use the saw," and then, one day, stood by and taught him to use it. He will trust his parents and be unlikely to say, "I won't," to their suggestion.

He, and she, may argue the point but if father or mother or both are adamant he, remembering past experiences will agree, reluctantly perhaps, but agree. This trust in parents' good will and judgment has to be cultivated through the years. First the child relies completely upon his parents' leadership.

Gradually down the years command gives place to suggestion and finally to friendly leadership. The difficulties of adolescence will be greatly lessened, the friction in the family lessened immeasurably, if training for self-guidance began the day Toby said, "I won't" for the first time.

There are many ways to keep a sick child occupied without causing fatigue. Dr. Patri lists games, books, puzzles, maps and other ways for entertainment in his leaflet, "Convenient Children." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, "The Times-News," P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Wed to Ketchum
In Local Rites

Sharrol Robarge, daughter of Mrs. Fred Crable, and Allen Ketchum, son of Mrs. Alfred May, were married in services Sunday evening at the Methodist parsonage.

The Rev. Charles Banks, Jr., minister, officiated, performed the ceremony before an arch decorated with baskets of yellow and white gladioli in the presence of relatives and close friends.

The bride chose an aqua summer suit with pink accessories for her wedding. She wore a corsage of pink roses and baby carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Greg, Pocatello, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, attended the couple. Mrs. Green wore a blue suit with black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Crable chose a pink suit with white accessories and Mrs. May wore an orchid suit with white accessories.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was held at the Rice Bowl for the bridal party.

The newlyweds both attended Twin Falls schools. They are at home at 426 Locust street.

Newlyweds Pick
Burley for Trip
After Ceremony

SALINAS, Calif., July 30—Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Symons, who were married on the afternoon of July 7 chose Burley as their honeymoon destination.

Mrs. Symons, the former Nancy Jean Lund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Lund, and Symons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Symons, Burley, were married in services in McCormick chapel of the Presbyterian United church. The Rev. M. L. Kemper officiated at the ceremony before a background of bouquets of white gladioli, Marconi and Esther Reid daisies with baby breath. Mrs. Donald Godsey was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of white-ice-and-silk-organza. The bodice of lace was designed with an empire waistline, portrait neck and short sleeves. The full skirt of silk organza was worn over white taffeta. A flat headpiece with rows of gathered lace strewn with seed pearls held her shoulder-length veil in place. She carried a nosegay of stephanotis accented with white French lace.

Linda Raffetto, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She was attired in a gown of striped white organza over orchid taffeta. It was fashioned with a full skirt, scoop neckline, and an orchid taffeta cummerbund with puffed sash. She wore a white organza bandeau in her hair and carried a French bouquet of purple violets centered with pink roses and outlined with a ruffle of orchid net.

Kenneth MacIntyre served as best man. Fernin Oryp, brother-in-law of the bride, and Michael MacDonald, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

The bride's mother chose a beige linen sheath dress with a beaded neckline. She wore beige accessories and a small pink velvet hat. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. A three-tiered cake centered the refreshment table which was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, Marconi daisies and croft lilies.

For traveling the bride chose a charcoal striped summer suit with black accessories. On return from Burley they will make their home in Daily City, Calif.

The bride was graduated from Salinas Union high school and the University of California, Berkeley.

The bridegroom was graduated from the University of Idaho, Moscow, and the Stanford School of Physical Therapy. He is employed as a physical therapist in San Francisco.

Held at Church

HEYBURN, July 30—The Warner-Frost family reunion was held Saturday at the Heyburn LDS church.

Wilson Warner conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Orvin Jenks, Mrs. Edna Bayley and Mrs. Ruby Anderson were elected for next year's program committee, and Glen Owen, Florence Peterson, Monte Day, Ivan Warner and Glen Maybey, sports.

A potluck dinner was served at noon followed by a program under the direction of Mrs. James Wilcox, chairman. Mrs. Wilcox and Mrs. Calvin Heiler led community singing. Bell Anderson, Nancy Ingram and Edna Bayley gave readings. Clara Mayne played a violin selection, accompanied by Mrs. Everett Savage. Mrs. Wilson Warner presented a comic skit. Mrs. Orvin Jenks and Mrs. Larry Holm sang, accompanied by Mrs. Calvin Heiler. Peggy Ann Garner and Vyla Frost also entertained.

Outdoor games were played, directed by Glen Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Savage.

Out-of-town relatives attending were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Maybey and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Owens, Boise; Mrs. Alverda McCormack and Mrs. Dixie Cleaves and sons, Salt Lake City, and Mrs. Edward Owens, Piler.

The reunion next year will be held July 28 at the Heyburn church.

Fashion Decrees
Slimmer Styles
For Fall's Coat

BY GAIL DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

New York—(NEA)—The full coat has ended. Take place this fall is the slimmer coat, a shape called cocoon or almost cocoon. This new tapered width with its shoulders that are acceptably wider. It also brings middle and abbreviated sleeve. Even rounded shoulders are new width this year because of the shoulder yokes are a piece with the sleeves. And collars spread out from the neckers lend a fuller look to the part of a tapering coat.

There are lots of double-breasted coats for fall. They appear in the three-quarter and full-length versions and often have fur trim. Fur trim is all important to new coat fashions. Designers in many ways and many colors, flames in scarlet as a lining; tweed; it collars or edges a coat, lends an extremely elegant to the handsome Chesterfield.

The pet color for fur this fall, black, be it sable, mink, Persian, or seal.

When a collar isn't fur, it's crushed fabric or an equally scarf version designed to the waist, and, of course, designed to flatter. Pockets are placed high on this year, patch or flap, fur. But they're meant for decoration, not for use while they're real, just as, often, they're

COWBOYS EDGE POCATELLO 8-7 AND MAINTAIN LEAGUE LEAD

Homers by Kray, Tom Clarkson and Jackson Pace Win

Magic Valley's Cowboys preserved their narrow Pioneer league leadership Tuesday night, slapping back the Pocatello Athletics 8-7 before a crowd of 1,284 fans. The Cowboys' offensive machine got its spark from three players, Lou Jackson, Vic Kray and Tom Clarkson, all of whom smashed homers. The Cowboys came from behind in the fourth inning with a five-run outburst as the A's played the game to the ninth. Jack Schomer helped Kray in getting the win, but it was Bill Pleiss who finally got the man out.

The large crowd had barely got when the visitors chalked up a two-run lead in the first. Wright on an error and Joe Ala singled in two after Tony Conizzo and Dick Rogers had drawn walks.

But Lou Jackson got the home run back into the game as he led off the ninth. The Cowboys trailed the lead from the A's in the second on Denny Loudenback's single and Clarkson's homer.

In the third, Pocatello again took the lead as Glasgow walked and scored third on a ground out and a pitch. Rogers then doubled him and he scored seconds later on a single.

The big fourth clinched it for Magic Valley as Lou Jackson started

Mizell Hurls Cards to Win Over Pirates

By The Associated Press
Unpredictable Winner (Vincar Bend) Mizell, the big "B" in the St. Louis bid for the National League pennant, Monday night shut out the visiting Pittsburgh Pirates 4-0 with a masterful two-hitter.

Mizell didn't walk a man and was just two batters away from a perfect game.

Al Worthington walked in the deciding run in the 10th inning as the Milwaukee Braves beat the New York Giants 9-8 at County stadium. Nippy Jones poked a single that drove in two runs to top a ninth inning Milwaukee rally that tied the score.

Robin Roberts gave Philadelphia's pennant stock a tremendous shot in the army by pitching the Phillies to a four-hit 6-0 conquest of the Cubs at Chicago.

Classy Billy Pierce, winningest pitcher in the major leagues, stopped the homestriding Baltimore Orioles on four hits as the Chicago White Sox won 5-0 and moved within three games of the first-place New York Yankees.

The 30-year-old lefthander struck out six and didn't walk a man while coping his 15th victory against seven losses.

Boston right-hander Tommy Brewer posted his 13th victory and slugger Ted Williams provided the offensive spark by continuing his assault on Cleveland pitching as the Red Sox defeated the Indians 6-2 at Fenway park.

Williams, who treats Cleveland pitchers as cousins, scored the tying and tie-breaking runs while collecting a double and single in three official times at bat.

Free Bicycle

A boy's bicycle will be given away at Jaycee park tonight during the Magic Valley-Pocatello baseball game, which begins at 8 p. m.

In addition, about 50 other prizes, ranging from free gasoline to cases of oil and auto lubricants will be given away.

Tuesday night, Jill Newcomb, Twin Falls, won the girls' bicycle, the top prize in the first of two nights sponsored by Twin Falls petroleum dealers.

Injury Ends Man's Football Career

PHILADELPHIA, July 30 (AP)—General manager Vezie McNally of the Philadelphia Eagles said Monday he has been informed by defensive back Harry Dowds that he would be unavailable for National Football League action this coming season.

Dowds has experienced a long series of injuries, the latest involving a fall off a ladder in his Washington, D. C., home.

Traley Objects to Hurley's Method of Getting Support for Heavyweight Bout

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—Jack Hurley went to the blackboard today in an attempt to sell the boxing community on the heavyweights' championship fight between Patterson and Pete (the Lamb) Rademacher at Seattle on Aug. 22.

Hurley, in a broadcast aimed at a hostile press, billed himself as the "friendly promoter" of this flaccid flaccid of mind and he just might close off the press section. Personally, I find this in the category of good news because I have covered my share of disasters.

But, getting back to Hurley's letter, it was a masterpiece of ill-considered piece. Throwing more punches than Rademacher possibly can sustain, Patterson, he penned:

"Thousands upon thousands of Pete Rademacher's friends and relations have demanded the right to purchase every available seat for the match. And this is important to you, because these people, Rademacher's friends and relations, have asked me to abolish the press section rather than deny any of their hero perhaps crowned the new heavyweight champion of the world."

Give the man credit. He said "perhaps."

"However," Hurley added, "if you feel that your paper positively must be represented, then be prepared to give an account of your stewardship in the advance publicity."

In short, furnish me with one favorable story that I may present to a screening committee of Rademacher's friends and relations."

To which I must say:

Gentlemen, optimists and money changers, you may have my seat right now. I covered two executions and I don't want to see any more. As a suggestion, you might donate the press section to the annual convention of the National Association of Moricians.

Because Rademacher, a nice young fellow with a cleft jawbone, could be clouded into a come, or worse, in a bout.

Abe J. Greene, former president of the National Boxing association, which has trained 114 guns on such a ridiculous encounter, admits as much.

"Boxing is a very rugged game," he said. "A fellow like Rademacher, who has never been tested as a pro, could be in very great physical danger."

Rocky Marciano, the former heavyweight champion who couldn't be tempted back into the ring against Patterson "for five million dollars," has the same feeling.

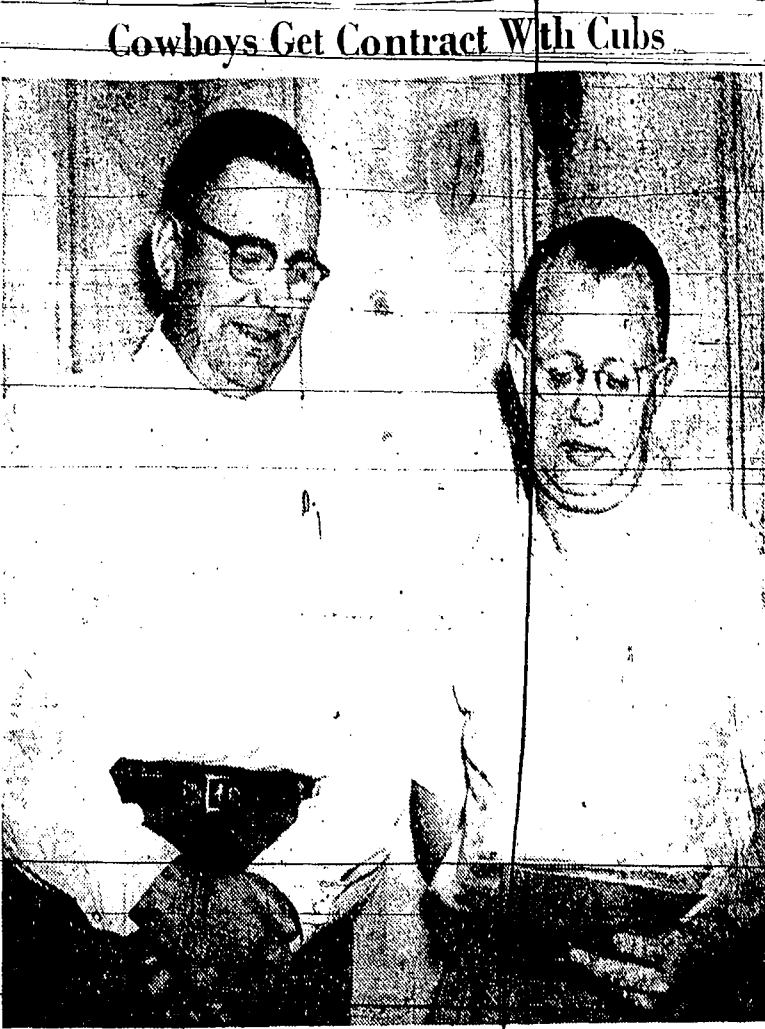

"You can't blame Patterson," he analyzed. "He has to fight whoever his manager signs him to meet. But somebody sure should be blamed."

There is a suspicion here that none of Rademacher's relations and certainly none of his true friends want to see him battle Patterson. Much better that the ex-football player should form a one-man line against the Chicago Bears, wrangle an army tank or even give lip to his mother-in-law.

One thing is sure. They can have my seat right now.

After all, Hurley himself will be standing. Because, as his letter started out:

"Only the pure of heart and mind shall be seated."

Magic Valley baseball corporation president Carl Sherwood, left, looks over a tentative working agreement with Gene Lawing, farm system director for the Chicago Cubs. The board accepted the Cubs' offer of the agreement, but the Chicago support is predicated on the attendance during the remainder of the home games. The final contract will be signed within the next few weeks. (Staff photo-engraving)

Cubs, Cowboys Negotiate Working Agreement, if Club Is Still Here

A 1958 working agreement offered by the Chicago Cubs was accepted by the Magic Valley Cowboys board of directors Monday but the pact is predicated on increase of attendance during the remainder of the current season. The agreement, similar to the one now in effect, will be signed officially at a later date. It again calls for the use of Cub farm system players to represent Magic Valley in the Pioneer league. However, all plans for the 1958 season are entirely tentative because the local team is faced with financial difficulties, which may force withdrawal from the league before this season ends, directors point out.

Before accepting the Cubs' pact, the directors, encouraged by an increase of attendance in the last two home stands, again agreed to try to complete this season with an eye toward competing again in 1958.

Gene Lawing, Cub representative, told the group the Cubs were willing to go along with the Cowboys despite the situation now at hand. He said the offer was made because of the good showings the club has made over the past years and because the Pioneer league was "solid." He added a solid league was equally important as the individual club, because neither could survive without the other.

He noted many of the majors rejected minor league affiliations because of this unstable background in a league. He also added another reason the Cubs were interested in Magic Valley was the fact play in the Pioneer league was of a "very high" caliber.

In other matters to come before the board, Ed Schaack, Cowboy business manager, reported attendance since the announcement of the financial trouble had increased a good deal but still was behind the 1956 pace. He said attendance had increased about 21 percent, but was still 10 percent behind the 1956 total.

President Carl Sherwood called another board meeting for 8 p. m. Aug. 14 at the office in Jaycee park. He said a good indication of whether the Cowboys stay or go will be known by then.

Williams Ousts Mantle As Batting Leader

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—Hitting at a fabulous .547 clip since the all star game, Ted Williams has taken a commanding lead in the American league batting race. The 38-year-old Boston slugger has hit safely in 16 of his last 17 games while gaining 36 points. Through Monday afternoon's games, Williams showed a .379 mark. In last week's action, he picked up 18 points and since the all-star game he's had 29 hits in 53 times at bat. He was at .343 on July 11.

While Williams, who is seeking his fifth American league batting title, has been streaking, Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees has been slumping. Mantle dropped eight points last week and has a .352 average.

In the National league, Dick Groat of Pittsburgh has rallied to challenge Milwaukee's Hank Aaron for the lead.

In fourth place a week ago, Groat increased his average 10 points to .336 and moved into second place behind Aaron's .342. The Braves' outfielder dropped 10 points with only four hits in 23 trips.

Stan Musial of St. Louis fell one notch to third as a result of a six-point decrease to .334. He followed by Willie Mays of the New York Giants at .319 and Dee Fondy of Pittsburgh at .316. Fondy had only a pair of hits in 20 at bats and lost 13 points.

Wally Fox of the Chicago White Sox climbed four points and snatched third place in the American league with a .330 mark. Bob Boyd of Baltimore is fourth at .325 and the Yanks' Bill Skowron is fifth at .323.

Williams hit two homers last week, giving him 22 for the campaign. This is two more than Mantle, who is in the runner-up position in the department. Mantle and Roy Myers of Washington are deadlocked for the runs-batted-in lead with 72 apiece.

Aaron continues to lead the senior circuit with 30 homers and 90 R.I.'s. Musial, with 77, has moved within striking range of Aaron in runs-batted-in.

Russets Blast Timberjacks For 18-5 Win

MISSOULA, Mont., July 30 (AP)—The Idaho Falls Russets got revenge here Monday, smothering the Missoula Timberjacks under an 18-hit barrage in a Pioneer league game which ended 18-5.

The Jacks stopped an Idaho Falls win streak at 10 Sunday. Missoula Manager Jack McKeon used six pitchers in an effort to stop the Idaho Falls batsmen Monday.

Idaho Falls' big inning was the third, when they scored seven runs. It started when Gordy Maxwell walked. Then Jess Queen, Jay Cooke and Wendell Antoine singled.

Bob Scariatto walked, Jack Rich singled and pitched Gordy Seyfried tripled while the bases loaded. A single by Moe Benedict brought home Seyfried for the seventh run of the inning.

Pitcher Jim Russell was Missoula's only bright spot in the game. Russell blasted the only homerun of the contest with McKeon on base.

Patterson Smashes Jackson Into Submission With 10th Round TKO

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—Floyd Patterson gave Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson an unmerciful beating Monday night, dropping the No. 1 challenger three times before referee Ruby Goldstein stopped the fight after 1:52 of the 10th round in the first defense of his world heavyweight title. When referee Goldstein stepped between the two men, the Hurricane had been bucked against the ropes near Patterson's corner from a tremendous punch barrage.

Jackson objected strenuously and Goldstein had to put both arms around him, pinning him from further action.

The 5-to-1 underdog put up a brave battle against the 22-year-old champion but he couldn't cope with the heavy artillery of the boy wonder of the Helsinki Olympics in 1952.

Just before the bell ended the first round, the Hurricane was down on all fours from a blinding right-left-right barrage.

In the second round, Patterson again felled the flapping Hurricane with another burst of fury. Jackson bounced up at about two but the official knockdown counter reached six while Jackson stood in a neutral corner.

Even the mechanical man who never tires began to run out of gas. The bout passed the halfway mark. Firing away with both hands, Patterson drove two lefts and a right to Jackson's head and body for another knockdown in the ninth. The Hurricane was up at four, blood flowing from his nose.

Jackson came out punching for the 10th and what proved to be the last round but he ran into a left-right combination as he bounced off the ropes. Tommy kept punching away only to catch another fierce barrage that drove him to the ropes and convinced Goldstein Jackson had enough.

The slaughter was a shutout on all three official scorecards. Each official had it 9-0 going to the 10th and so did The AP, Bill Recht and Joe Agnello were the judges.

It looked from here as though the fifth was the closest round with the Hurricane daffinick in his corner and pressing a body attack. After hurting Tommy with a left hook to the body in the fourth, Patterson appeared over anxious in the fifth and was missing with some of his leaping punches.

It was the second time Jackson had been stopped in 36 pro fights, both on technical knockouts. Nine Valdes dropped him three times in the second round for an automatic TKO, July 14, 1954. There was nothing automatic about this one for he took a fearful beating through most of the contest.

Patterson now has won 19 straight, stopping 13 of his last 14 opponents. Jackson lasted all 12 rounds June 8, 1955, when he lost a split decision to Patterson, the victory that sent Floyd on to a title bout with Archie Moore, Nov. 30.

The night he won the crown, Patterson stopped Archie in five rounds. This was his first fight since. Now he goes into a championship match with Pete Rademacher, the 1956 Olympian champ who never had a pro fight. They are to meet Aug. 22 at Seattle.

Patterson, heaviest of his career at 184 pounds, received a $175,000 guarantee in this independent promotion by Emile Lence. It was the first heavyweights' championship match in which the International Boxing Club has not had an interest since it was organized in 1949.

Reed Becomes 3-Time Water Skiing Champ

HAGERMAN, July 30—Lloyd Reed, Filer, became the water skiing champion of the Thousand Springs Water sports club Sunday, winning the group's annual ski meet. Reed, who won the championship for the third time, took first places in two of the three men's events and finished in the runner-up spot in the last.

Women's champion was Mitzi Salzer, Kimberly, who beat Vivian Bennett, Twin Falls, and Shirley Commons, Wendell, in the only event for the women, the slalom.

Johnnie Switzer, Kimberly, followed his sister's lead by coping top honors in the junior division. He edged out Junior Switzer and Lloyd Dodson, who tied for second and third.

In the men's division, Reed was awarded first in the trick and jumping classifications, but took a back seat to Jim Brown, Kimberly, who was tops in the slalom run. Taking third in the slalom was Don Hulme, Hagerman, and he also took third in the jump. Myrl Schroeder was second in the jump and trick events, while Brown, who has won the championship once, placed third with his trick skiing.

Awards will be presented Wednesday night at the group's picnic. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish.

Judges in Sunday's meet were Gordon Young, and Olen Baggett, both Buhl, and Mrs. Clinton Quigley, Castleford. Doyle Sligar, Thousand Springs resort owner, was announcer and John Switzer, Kimberly, operated the pickup boat.

Driver of the tow boat for women and junior competition was Fritz Bybee, Castleford, and Ray Wells and Jim Brown shared driving duties on the men's slalom course.

Each contestant was allowed two tries on the slalom, using one or two skis. Three jumps were held in the entries. Boat speeds were given under 30 miles per hour in all events.

Jackson Sings Loser's Famed Theme Song

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson sang the old song of the loser Monday night when he muttered in his dressing room that "The referee had no right to stop it."

But his manager, Lippy Bredbart, stood in a corner and snorted disgustingly.

"He didn't follow my instructions. If he had, he would have won the fight."

Would he permit Jackson to fight any more after the fearful beating he took in his abortive try to take the world heavyweight championship from Floyd Patterson?

"That's up to the fighter," said Bredbart.

Newsmen were held outside Jackson's dressing room for more than 15 minutes while physicians did a patch-up job on him.

The New York state athletic commission physician, Dr. Ira McCowan, emerged from the room and said Jackson was in good shape.

"But the referee (Ruby Goldstein) was right in stopping it," he observed.

Jackson sat disconsolately on his dressing room table when reporters finally were admitted.

Gone were the fierce pre-fight words that he would tear Patterson apart. He was, indeed, a picture of a beaten fighter. His voice was barely audible and he looked straight at the floor.

"Patterson is an improved fighter," he said, referring to their last 12-round bout in which Floyd won a split decision, "but I thought I had him at one point. I don't know whether it was the sixth or seventh, but I thought I had him."

Jackson said he was hurt the first time he was knocked down in the first round.

"My legs gave me away," he said, "after that, they got lazy."

Champ Accepts Accolades for Smashing TKO

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, world heavyweight champion, concentrated his attack on Hurricane Jackson's head for the simple reason that "his elbows made him hard to hit in the body."

Surrounded by shouting admirers, photographers and newspapermen, Patterson sat for a long time in the sweltering New York Giants' dressing room and soaked his tired hands in ice water.

"No, I wasn't hurt at all," he said. "No, my hands aren't hurt."

There will be two days of rest and then the quiet champion will start training anew, this time to meet an amateur, Pete Rademacher, Aug. 22 in Seattle. Rademacher won the Olympic heavyweight crown in 1956 at Melbourne, and Patterson took the same title four years earlier at Helsinki.

Patterson spoke in such a low voice that his manager, Gus D'Amico, had to take over and answer both questions and answers to the tightly packed ring.

"I thought my first fight with Jackson was tougher than this one," said Patterson. "Patterson won" the first on a split decision.

Jackson was well prepared for the body," said the champion.

"He kept telling me in the clinch to come on and fight, 'you bum,' he called me. I thought that was a funny way to describe a man who was winning a fight."

"Jackson's best punch was an uppercut."

Huge Deposit Of Guano Is Being Tapped

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—Prehistoric bat droppings scooped out of caves in the Grand canyon go on sale next month as fertilizer to farmers and gardeners in the Southwest.

Man-sized carnivorous bats inhabited the caves millions of years ago and left what engineers say is at least 100,000 tons of so-called bat guano—a grayish-brown powdery substance ideal for fertilizer because of its high nitrogen content.

In the last two years a million dollars have been spent by a Toronto holding company, New Pacific Coal and Oil, Ltd., devising a way to get the guano out of the caves and into sacks.

New Pacific President Frank Ruben told the United Press a tough engineering problem had to be solved since the caves were located in nearly perpendicular cliffs 650 feet above the Colorado river.

The solution involved construction of the longest single span cableway in the world to transport the guano to the top of another cliff 4,800 feet high where trucks can take it the 75 miles to Kingman, Ariz., and big guano warehouses there.

U. S. Steel corporation built the $500,000 aerial tramway which stretches more than two miles. The record single span—without the support of steel towers—extends 8,377 feet.

The guano will be sucked through a pipe from the cave into a bin below. From there it will be shunted into the cable car that can transport about 40 tons in an eight-hour day.

Ruben says that although the chemical fertilizer market has been slow, demand for organic fertilizers, especially with a high nitrogen content, is always strong. Guano's nitrogen content is from 10 to 16 percent.

In addition, research has been carried on to determine whether the guano contains commercial quantities of pharmaceutical drugs.

"It's too early to tell yet," says Ruben. However, he notes that research so far has isolated at least seven drugs, one of which, guanidine, sells for $5,000 a pound and is used in treating hypertension and hardening of the arteries.

The bat caves were first discovered by a construction worker employed at Lake Mead during construction of Boulder dam in the 1930's. Richard G. Van Gelder, of the American Museum of Natural History, says they date back 80 million years.

A subsidiary of New Pacific, U. S. Guano corporation, leases the caves from the interior department and one of the provisions of the lease is that all prehistoric bones and other items of interest besides guano become the property of the Smithsonian institution.

Ruben says his engineers have estimated 100,000 tons of droppings in the caves with the probability of many times that amount in additional unexplored caves. The guano will sell for roughly 20 cents a pound, depending on the amount bought.

The official says marketing will be done first in the Southwest and perhaps in other sections of the country later, if there is enough guano available.

He notes it is the second guano strike in the U. S. The first was at Carlsbad Caverns, N. M., but all the reserves there have been depleted.

Recognition

PARIS, July 30 (AP)—France is ready to recognize the new republic of Tunisia and probably will do so some time next week, informed sources said today.

Tunisia, which recently gained independence from France, became a republic last week under former Premier Habib Bourguiba as president. The Bey of Tunis was de-throned.

Official Makes Laxity Charge

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., has accused the Truman administration of neglecting to enforce criminal laws against labor racketeering, according to a New York Times dispatch from London.

Brownell, who is attending the American Bar association meeting in the British capital, said the Eisenhower administration found that criminal laws were not being enforced in several important areas, including labor racketeering, when it came into power in 1952, the Times said.

Brownell said that since he took over from Truman's attorney general, James P. McGranery, there have been more than 200 prosecutions of labor racketeers. He said there was a great need for reform in criminal procedure and predicted that there would be more progress in reform in the next decade than in any comparable period in the past.

The attorney general said several civil rights and tax laws were being vigorously enforced by the administration, the Times dispatch reported.
