Galena Blaze Is Reported Under Control; New Fire Is Halted Near Ketchum

HAILEY, Aug. 9.—Mark Kary, Sawtooth national forest ranger at Hailey, said Friday morning the stubborn 7-day-old forest fire near Galena summit appeared to be contained and predicted "mopping up operations" would begin soon. Meanwhile, fast work by other forest rangers and volunteers was credited with stamping out another blaze 14 miles north-east of Ketchum "that could have been as bad as the one we're fighting now at Galena."

Spies Handed Jail Terms by Federal Court

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Jacob Ham, 64, a former Brooklyn tea and spice dealer, and Mrs. Myra Able, 52, were sentenced today to 5 1/2 years in prison each today for spying for the Soviet Union.

Her husband, Jack 54, a third member of the espionage ring, was sentenced Sept. 18. He was not present.

All three had pleaded guilty.

Shocked

Both Able and Mrs. Sobel appeared shocked when Federal District Judge Richard H. Lavet pronounced the sentences.

Throughout the preliminaries, the two Mrs. Sobel wept softly. Able, bespectacled and balding, had red nervously at the floor, walls and the ceiling.

The reason for not sentencing Able immediately was not disclosed.

Refugees

The Sobels and Able all came to the United States as European refugees.

The three defendants were charged specifically with conspiring with "numerous high ranking Soviet officials" to obtain documents, photographs and writings vital to the defense of the United States, knowing they were to be transmitted to the Soviet Union.

Able and the Sobels were arrested last Jan. 25 in their Manhattan apartments by FBI men.

Probers Unearth Payment for Dioxin

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The state racketeering committee said today that the old AFL auto workers union paid New York hoodlum Johnny Dineen and two other men $300,000 to get out of the union.

It said Dineen was given a $16,000 check Sept. 3, 1954, to buy out, and Anthony J. Doria, former secretary of the union, was paid $300,000, resigning, and, according to Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy, the head of the union's Chicago local, Angelo Inciso, got $300,000.

Pilot Credits Passengers With Being Brave on Tense Flight Toward Safety

HILO, Hawaii, Aug. 9 (AP)—A hand-picked pilot refused today to take any personal credit for nursing his crippled plane more than 1,000 miles from the choppy Pacific to a safe landing with 67 persons aboard.

Instead, Maj. Samuel Tyson, 37, of Council Bluffs, Ia., and Vacaville, Calif., insisted his passengers, including 10 women, deserved all the credit for their determination to stay calm.

They suffered untold miseries and discomforts with no complaint," Tyson said after landing his four-engine Boeing C-97 at Hilo's Lyman airport yesterday on its two starboard engines.

Tyson himself gave an inspiring exhibition of courage and nerve. But the strain of holding his plane aloft for nearly six hours on only two engines told on him.

"I snapped my watchband straining at the wheel and I was soaked with sweat when we finally landed," he said.

Tyson had 30 minutes worth of gas remaining in his tanks—enough for three more passes at the airfield had he failed in his initial attempt to land.

Air force officers said Tyson's decision to drop his plane to altitudes ranging between 50 and 100 feet was what enabled him to make land. By dropping so low, he picked up a 20-knot tailwind that spelled the difference between a safe landing and a ditching on empty tanks.

Two-Day Lincoln County Event Launches Valley Season of Fairs

SHOSHONE, Aug. 9.—Magic Valley's 1957 fair season was launched Friday morning with a "biggest ever" parade lifting the curtain on the annual Lincoln county fair here as throngs gathered at the fairgrounds. Fair officials said the kickoff parade was the largest in the fair's history, with 15 colorful floats drawing attention of the crowds lining the parade route in downtown Shoshone. The Chamber of Commerce presented nearly $50 in $1 awards to winners in the children's division which formed the bulk of the parade.

A color guard of Boy Scouts led the procession, followed by the Shoshone Riding club, the community band and under direction of Burton Thorne, the children's division and floats.

The line of march originated at the courthouse and wound through downtown Shoshone to the fairgrounds to open the two-day event officially.

Thomas Conner, Charles Peugh and Mrs. Nina Murphy were in charge of general arrangements for the parade. Judges included Mrs. L. M. Hatmaker, Mrs. A. W. Hansen, Mrs. Marge Nielsen and Mrs. Ralph Anderson, costumes; Mrs. Harold Thorne, Mrs. Joe Broyles, Mrs. Charles Pendleton and Mrs. Richard Mabbutt, vehicles and pets; and J. Howard Manning, Conner, Peugh, W. W. Whitehead, Eldon Guthrie and Joe Williams, ponies and livestock.

Judging of the community produce entries during the morning resulted in a $25 prize and blue rosette to the first place winning Wood River Center Grange for its exhibit under the theme "The dairy cow from Noah to now."

Second place, $20 and a red rosette, went to Lincoln Pomona Grange for its exhibit on "Alfalfa, king of seeds." Third place award of $15 and a white rosette was received by Magic Grange, which drew a cow from Noah to now.

House Votes Delays On Atom Generators

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The House refused today to order the atomic energy commission to go ahead with three experimental reactors and five atomic power plants for co-operatives or public power groups. The action was taken on standing votes subject to later roll-calls during house consideration of a $389,145,000 AEC construction authorization bill. Republicans contended that the projects would put the government more deeply into the public power business.

Democratic backers replied they are needed if this country is to keep pace in the atomic field.

Adopted on a 140-89 standing vote was a Republican-sponsored amendment to keep in the bill $129,915,000 for construction of the atomic power plants, but deleting language which would have directed the AEC to build the projects. All five now are in the negotiation stage and would remain so under the amendment.

The House also deleted from the bill on standing votes language telling the AEC to go ahead with work on three experimental reactors to be built at AEC plants in Idaho and Washington state.

These projects are a natural uranium gas-cooled reactor, a plutonium reactor to experiment with use of plutonium for fuel and an experimental special materials reactor.

Officer Kenneth DeYoung of the state police said four men were involved in the fight that preceded the shooting. He said they had been drinking and he gave this version of the incident:

Buhler, who will be a senior at Idaho this fall, and Thomas O. Webb left a tavern and drove by a car in which Filbert and Ivan Akers, 23, of Tacoma, Wash., were sitting. Buhler and Webb told him they thought they heard a questionable remark.

"According to Filbert," DeYoung said, "Buhler and Webb got out of their car and started to attack them. Filbert drew a knife from his pocket and stabbed Buhler in the abdomen."

Eden Boy, 16, Hurt in Crash

Condition of a 16-year-old Eden youth injured in a one-car traffic accident at 12:48 a.m. Friday six miles east of Twin Falls on highway 50 was described as "fair" at 11 a.m. by an attendant at Magic Valley Memorial hospital.

Don Blesner, driver of a 1940 Chevrolet which ran off the road and overturned in a coulee, incurred a broken leg, cuts and bruises in the crash. A passenger in the car, Earl Howard, 16, Eden, was drenched with gasoline but not injured. Howard was admitted from the hospital after an examination. State Patrolman R. E. Young says Blesner was found on the floorboards of the car with his head near water. The coulee carried about 18 inches of water. Young says the car tore down a section of fence owned by Howard Walker before overturning in the coulee.

Charges are pending against Blesner, Young said.

New Storm Heading at Gulf Coasts

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 9 (AP)—Tropical storm Bertha ballooned into a full-fledged hurricane today and aimed its deadly punch at the west Louisiana-upper Texas coasts along a 125-mile front. A weather bureau advisory located the hurricane, traveling roughly in the same path as its killer predecessor Audrey six weeks ago, about 140 miles southeast of Lake Charles, La. The storm's highest winds were estimated at 75 miles per hour within about 30 miles of the center with gales flaring out 100 miles from the center.

Bertha was expected to continue a slow trek between west and northwest at 10 to 12 miles per hour for the next 12 hours.

The advisory warned that tides would reach five to six feet between Galveston and Sabine Pass, located on the Louisiana border. Tides of three to five feet were expected along the central Louisiana coast.

Tides in the area normally are about one foot.

The area threatened by the hurricane includes the strip of Louisiana laid waste by Audrey, which claimed more than 500 lives in the Cameron-Grand Chenier area June 27 and reaped property damage in the millions.

But despite the threat of Bertha's punishing winds and flooding tides, some hardy residents of the Cameron area refused to leave.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Murphy said he believed "it is my duty to serve the public."

"Of course, I got my family out last night," he said, "I didn't want them here in case anything happens. I've got a wife and three children, two of them teen-agers."

Strike Parley Continues in Idaho Capital

BOISE, Aug. 9 (AP)—The main portions of a proposed agreement between southern Idaho carpenters and contractors still were being argued here today.

Spokesmen for Associated General Contractors and the Rocky Mountain District Council of Carpenters sat down to a fourth day of talks with Federal Mediator Dan Edwards.

Deadline

Today was also the deadline for a demand by six Nampa and Caldwell contractors that carpenters employed by them should return to work.

The Nampa-Caldwell employers sent a registered letter to Sam A. Olson, president of Local 1298, saying they felt the carpenters were still covered by the old contract because of a technicality.

No Notice

They claimed 120 days' notice to reopen negotiations had not been given before March 31, and they said therefore the contract was still in effect.

But Olson, reached at Ontario, Ore., said he had not received the letter. He added that he was quite sure the district council had taken care of all necessary steps preceding the contract talks.

Cassia Traffic Smashes Hurt Four Persons

BURLEY, Aug. 9.—Two one-vehicle traffic accidents brought injuries to four persons here Thursday.

Mrs. Ray Rasmussen, Malia, was being treated at Rupert General hospital for a broken leg and shock received when a pickup truck operated by her daughter, Ruth Rasmussen, 20, Salt Lake City, overturned four miles east of Malia on the Burley road Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Rasmussen incurred head lacerations and shock.

Cassia Sheriff LePage Layton, who investigated, said Miss Rasmussen told him she lost control of the 1955 Ford pickup when it skidded on loose gravel. The truck ran off the road and into a borrow pit where a deep ditch had been washed by rain. The vehicle struck over on its side when it tipped the ditch, pinning Miss Rasmussen beneath it.

In a second mishap five miles south of Declo on the Albion grade on highway 77, Melvin R. Howerton, Los Angeles, driver of a 1948 Chrysler four-door sedan, and his passenger, Portia Harrison, 430 Third avenue north, Twin Falls, received minor contusions and abrasions.

Howerton told Deputy Sheriff Hubert O. Warrell his northbound auto blew a tire, throwing the vehicle into the guardrail and causing it to spin. Eight guardrail posts were ripped out.

The couple was taken to Cottage hospital where they were treated and released.

Reports Made on Potato Shipment

OLYMPIA, Aug. 9 (AP)—An average of 100 railroad cars of potatoes are being shipped by Washington growers daily, William H. Shaw, assistant state agriculture director, announced yesterday.

He said shipments should reach at least 250 cars a day by Sept. 1. Most of the potatoes are of the russet varieties.

Another agriculture official, Louis W. King, reported prospects of a bumper crop of seed potatoes in the Whatcom county, which grows nearly all of the state's supply.

Man Is Killed by Helicopter Crash

SALMON, Aug. 9 (AP)—A helicopter crashed and burned late yesterday about four miles south of this central Idaho community killing one man and critically burning another.

Idaho State Highway Patrol officer Jim Perkins who investigated said Cal Roberts, 27, Boise, was killed and Lee Baxter, 34, of Los Angeles, was severely burned on the chest, face and shoulders.

Baxter was reported in critical condition Thursday night at Steel Memorial hospital here.

Perkins said the two had taken off from the Salmon Municipal airport on a test run to check some new rotors on the craft.

The two were believed to have been working as fire spotters. The helicopter belonged to Lynn Roberts aircraft in Boise.

plotted the Grange from subordinate to national levels. Judges were John Paulson, Fairfield, and Gerald Deal, Gooding. Miscellaneous and 4-H exhibits, and the flower show were to be judged during the afternoon with stalling and showing of livestock planned for 2:30 p.m.

Fair officials said the "largest crowd yet" attended the fairgrounds as the event opened during the morning. The 4-H divisions drew a smaller number of entries than last year which had set an all-time high.

Community exhibits are housed in the woolgrowers building adjacent to the fairgrounds. The two buildings on the grounds include the 4-H and women's divisions, hobbies, wood exhibits, Cub Scout exhibits and the flower show.

The X-ray unit opened at noon Friday and will close at 8 p.m. The show hours will be observed Saturday.

Friday evening's activities were to include the Shoshone Riding Club jamboree at 8 p.m. to be followed by a dance at the Lincoln school auditorium at 10 p.m.

'Spy' Ordered Held Without Bail in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Accused Russian spy Rudolf Ivanovich Abel was ordered held without bail today for a federal court hearing next Tuesday. He asked for the delay so he could secure an attorney.

Abel appeared this morning before Federal Judge Matthew Abruozzo, who granted his request for a postponement. Speaking accented English in a monotone, the 55-year-old Russian said he wished to obtain a lawyer.

Abruozzo remanded him to jail without bail after Assistant U.S. Attorney William P. Tompkins described him as "a colonel in the Soviet internal security system who headed a most elaborate and intricate espionage system."

"There is every indication that this man will flee the country" if he is released on bail, Tompkins said.

A grand jury has indicted Abel on three counts of masterminding a spy network that transmitted American defense and atomic secrets to Russia. If convicted of actual espionage, he could receive the death penalty under the so-called Rosenberg peacetime espionage law.

Catholics Ask Pope Rule on Segregations and strange. For even the clergy and the church itself have participated and are participating in the perpetuation of this type of segregation by, among other things, sanctioning the establishment and maintenance of separate churches and schools.

"Despite the fact that no competent attempt has been made to offer a conclusive proof to establish the validity of the principle, nor to demonstrate a bishop's authority to define a matter of morals, Catholics have been admonished that they are bound in conscience under pain of possible serious sin to accept it."

As a result, the letter said, educated Catholics have become demoralized and uneducated ones scandalized.

"For the good of souls," said the letter, "something must be done and done swiftly."

The letter said some clergy had advised the laymen that the Pope would not consider the question worthy of direct attention, but "we cannot be convinced that this is so."

Catholic consciences, the letter continued, seek to find out "whether the separation of any people or race from any other people or race is in itself 'morally wrong and sinful.'"

Water Lack Blamed as T. F. Trees Take on Wilted Look
Twin Falls' ailing ash trees are not the victims of disease or insects but they might need a drink of water, in the opinion of a University of Idaho plant pathologist.

Dr. Harry Fenwick, the plant expert from Moscow, looked over some of the wilted-appearing ash trees here this week and found no evidence of insect damage or plant diseases.

In the case of the young trees 2 to 4 years old, he believes they may not have been planted deeply enough and that the constant whipping of the wind has broken off root hairs and feeder roots. This, he points out, results in an insufficient amount of water transported upwards to the foliage.

Another possibility cited by Dr. Fenwick is that the trees were not watered early enough during the spring. Homeowners held off on the water because of large rainfall, but it just wasn't enough.

Thirdly, says Dr. Fenwick, some of the trees were "fed" insufficiently. A balanced fertilizer in the soil and plenty of water during the summer months would do much to eliminating your ash's wilting appearance.

As far as older trees are concerned, the heavy freeze in 1955 may have injured the root systems to permit fungi to move in. The fungi, he explains, destroy or plug the water-conducting tissues of the root so that when water demands are great during the summertime the moisture can't be transported to the foliage.

People Flock To Get Loans As Lid Lifted

Local borrowing under the state's consumer finance law, amended during the last session of the state legislature and effective July 1, has amounted to $68,000 during July, according to records at Twin Falls county recorder's office.

More than one third of the $62,000 in loans, amounting to the $68,000 made by local finance companies to Twin Falls residents, are for $1,000. The balance of the loans run from $300 to $500. Everything from automobiles to electric irons are offered as security by the borrowers.

No loans under $300 were recorded during the county recorder during the month. Prior to July 1, the consumer finance law permitted loans only up to $300.

Interest on the average $1,000 loan for a 24-month period runs around 4.5%.

Under the consumer finance law the companies are permitted to charge the borrower 3 percent interest per month on the first unpaid installment of $300; 2 percent interest per month on the $300 difference between $300 and $500 and 1 percent interest per month on the unpaid balance.

One borrower, who gave several items, a television set, lawn mower, radio, electric iron, sewing machine, electric range and other items as security for an $880 loan for 24 months is paying $273 interest. He is making 24 monthly payments to pay off the principal and interest.

None of the local companies are recording loans of less than $300. Other collateral offered by borrowers includes beds, platform rockers, record players, radio-phonographs, televisions, projectors, electric sewing machines and refrigerators.

A DISTINGUISHED LIFE

The late Sen. Walter George was the kind of lawmaker who makes the American legislative system workable and effective.

Inevitably, that system depends heavily upon a relatively few men of character and intelligence. This handful soberly guides the congress on a generally sane course, helps it to balance or cancel its errors, keeps it moving toward objectives despite its great inherent inertia.

For many years George headed the important senate finance committee which frames the nation's tax laws. In this post he was a stalwart guardian of governmental fiscal responsibility.

Basically a conservative, his opposition in the mid-1930's to some of Franklin D. Roosevelt's policies led the latter to attempt to purge George at the polls in 1938. The effort failed and George continued a senate career that lasted 34 years.

Despite FDR's action, George led the late president's campaign to gain congressional approval of the vital war-time lend-lease program through which we aided our allies.

Later in life, the senator turned his interest to foreign affairs and took the leadership of the senate foreign relations committee.

As chairman he was a strong advocate of bipartisanship in foreign policy. His personal pronouncements often had important effect both at the White House and in foreign capitals.

When he decided in 1956 not to run again, President Eisenhower gave recognition to his achievements in this field by making him a special ambassador to NATO.

Though for long years he was less in the public eye, Senator George had the kind of sincerity and intellectual honesty that marked the legislative career of the late Senator Taft of Ohio. In consequence he was held in high esteem by members of both parties.

George never shied from bearing the heaviest burdens a legislator could assume. In performing so wonderfully well the difficult tasks he undertook on behalf of the American people, he earned their lasting respect and won for himself a place among the outstanding U. S. senators of this or any prior century.

ANOTHER WAY OF FIGURING

Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska has done a little figuring of his own in the Helix canyon controversy and comes up with a few interesting facts.

The federal high dam proposed by the public power enthusiasts would require an appropriation of 651 million dollars, Curtis points out in setting the stage for his presentation. The three lower dams which the Idaho Power company has undertaken will require no appropriation and produce almost the same amount of power.

Of the 651 millions the government would have to appropriate for a high dam, says Senator Curtis, some would be reimbursed from power revenues, but 389 million dollars never would be repaid.

Then Curtis referred to the contention of proponents of the federal dam that the rapid amortization granted the Idaho Power company in the amount of $30,500,000 would amount to 300 millions if invested for 50 years at 6 per cent interest compounded annually.

"Those people who refer to the rapid amortization figures," said Senator Curtis, "might take notice of a 50-year projection of the non-reimbursable 389 million dollars that would have to be appropriated to construct the high dam."

That sum, if invested at 3 1/2 per cent interest (the government's current rate on most treasury obligations) and compounded annually, would amount to 2.2 billion dollars in 50 years, said Mr. Curtis.

He added that a reduction in the national debt in that amount would reduce the annual cost of servicing debt by 77 million dollars.

"In all the political fury generated over this high dam proposal," Senator Curtis declared, "some basic facts have been overlooked."

It should be kept in mind also that the Idaho Power company has turned down a legitimate opportunity for the so-called "fast write-off."

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

When asked the difference between a liberal and a conservative, there are those who like to say that a liberal stresses human values and a conservative highlights property values.

By any reasonable standards this must be judged a vast oversimplification, and certainly a superficial definition.

Human values are intertwined with property values. The latter, after all, were conceived by human beings.

They relate closely to important rights cherished by the human individual—the right of privacy and with it no small measure of human dignity, the right to hold and use material possessions as one chooses, the right to accumulate the fruits of one's labor.

A "liberal" who does not respect these rights is probably not as concerned for human advancement as he imagines. And a conservative who respects them is for human welfare whether he likes that term or not.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Majority senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson is now recognized as a modern Henry Clay, the great compromiser on the issue of slavery. With the aid of a Massachusetts man, Daniel Webster, Clay staved off a civil war for 40 years—a war which grew for a generation.

The tall Texan saved his party, at least temporarily, from splitting on the rock of civil rights. Whether he enhanced the Democratic chances of retaining the White House in 1860 is problematical, depending upon the reaction of the colored vote and other affected minorities to the bill which he worried through the senate. Although it is "bitterly disappointing" to President Eisenhower, who prefers the more extreme house measure, it marks the greatest advance for the colored race since Lincoln's emancipation proclamation, as implemented by the supreme court's decisions on racial segregation.

REFLECTION ON SUPREME COURT—The senate version, despite President Eisenhower's criticism, will probably satisfy all except extremists on this highly emotional question. For the bulk of uncollected mail reaching capitol hill during the debate opposed juryless trials and use of the injunctive process by a single federal judge. These letters influenced many votes in the senate, probably enough to produce passage.

It should be noted here, as it was in senate corridor conversations, that the senate action was an indirect reflection on the department of justice and the federal judiciary, especially the supreme court. Neither Attorney General Brownell nor Chief Justice Warren, who triggered this explosive problem, are popular figures on capitol hill.

The United States senate, although it saved the supreme court from Rooseveltian enlargement, not too many years ago refused to entrust problems of personal and political rights to the arm of the government over which Chief Justice Warren presides.

POLITICAL REPERCUSSIONS LIKELY—There will, of course, be far-reaching political repercussions. If the senate version finally passes that body, if it prevails in conferences with house representatives, and if it is accepted by President Eisenhower as the most he can get from congress.

The house conference committee will be headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, a Brooklyn Democrat and an ardent champion of all minorities, as chairman of the judiciary committee.

The other house members, as ranking men on the same committee, share his views on this question. The Democrats, however, may be guided by the advice of Speaker Sam Rayburn, a Texan and a Johnson crony.

COURTING COLORED VOTE—It is obvious that, in dealing with this question, both parties are courting the colored vote, which will become extremely influential in future elections even under the senate's diluted measure.

So, it is quite possible that the Celler conference committee may reject the other chamber's product, and renew the legislative battle in the congressional re-election year of 1958.

However, such defiant action may be dangerous for the Democrats. After all, the senate bill confers new benefits on the colored race, and their more moderate leaders may approve a program of "gradualism."

Moreover, in addition to diehard Southerners, Senator Johnson rounded up such Democratic liberals as Senator Kennedy of Massachusetts, and Senators O'Mahoney and Mansfield of Montana.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

SEAT BELTS—HOW SAFE?
The house subcommittee on traffic safety has begun hearings on the effectiveness of automobile safety belts.

A prime question is whether the installation of the safety device should be made mandatory as standard equipment.

The principal advocate of auto safety belts is Dr. John O. Moore, director of crash injury studies at Cornell University Medical College. He maintains that good seat belts save lives and reduce the frequency and severity of injuries to occupants of cars involved in accidents and cites impressive statistics to prove his thesis. He acknowledges, however, that to be of value, seat belts must be properly installed. They must be attached to a main section of the car body and not used as mere gimmicks hooked to parts not designed to carry their full load.

The main drawback to seat belts is the general lack of enthusiasm for them. On short trips few occupants fasten the devices even though it is known that many accidents occur at comparatively low speeds.

Dr. Anthony J. White, head of a private motor vehicle research organization, is heading a group of skeptics who contend that seat belts have limited value. He questions the accuracy of the Cornell researchers' prediction that widespread use of good seat belts would cut traffic injuries by 50 per cent.

Dr. White says statistics show how many people have been killed by being thrown from cars but they do not show how many of these same persons might have been killed if they had not been ejected.

The worth of seat belts in cars should be established—and, if they are proven valuable, their use should be encouraged in every way possible, particularly in the right front "death seat." But we believe it would be better if auto makers took the initiative instead of being required to install belts by government edict.

OLD DARK JOSEPH

Slaphus has a cliché compared with the task undertaken by the National Broadcasting company and the Columbia Broadcasting system. These two networks have decided to delete from the songs of Stephen Foster as rendered over their transmitters such words as "mammy," "darkie," and "black" (in relation to the color of skin, not of eyes, hair or other parts of the anatomy). The reasoning behind this editorial vandalism is, of course, entirely amiable and is designed, as we understand it, to avoid giving any offense to Negroes. It is pretty certain, however, to give a great deal of offense to adult human beings of all races who have sentimental associations with Kentucky or the Swanee river—or, that is to say, river—who object, on principle, to any sort of double-think or brain-washing. We suspect that CBS and NBC have let themselves in for a lot of static.

Consider, for instance, the anguished outcry that has already come from Fletcher Huges, Jr., curator of the Stephen Foster Memorial at Pittsburgh. Slavery and the Civil war, he says, are inextricable facts of history and of the American past. "It is pointless," he said pointedly to the broadcasters, "to turn back the clock." We surmise, moreover, that Negro sensibilities sustain no injury from the affectionate and tender words with which the Foster songs evoke a bygone era. After all, the era was one concerning which only white Americans, not Negroes, need to feel ashamed.

How is Stephen Foster's idiom to be translated, in any case? There is a certain validity to "All de world am sad and weary, Abby where I roam, Oh! darkies, how my heart grows weedy, Far from de old folks at home" which is unlikely to be retained by making it more grammatical. The ineradicable fact of the matter is that the old Kentucky home is quite as far away, in time if not in space, as Foster said it would be. And Massa, together with everything he stood for, is just as deeply interred in the cold, cold ground as if he were referred to in the song as Master or Mister. The broadcasters could more constructively turn their attention, we think, to contriving some intelligible lyrics for Elvis Presley.

DEMANDS FOR FEDERAL MONEY

In some areas, federal planning is essential to achieve a national purpose, as in the construction of a continental highway system, or an adequate waterway from the St. Lawrence to the Gulf of Mexico. But in many other instances, the demand for federal money springs from the delusion that Uncle Sam has an inexhaustible purse.—Chicago News.

POT SHOTS

MORE ANENT MOWING

Dear Pot: Would have passed right over "Ida, Sooner Mower's" letter to Pot, until the writer mentioned his sorrow for the children.

Go ahead and vacation, but please let us be proud of and enjoy our lovely yards, because I fully agree with "Regular Mower." And please don't feel sorry for our children. Have you taken a good look at yours?

I like to think the neighbors like my children. We teach them to be mannerly and never back-talk to an adult. We see that they don't take an ax to the neighbor's fence, they don't squirt the garden hose in open windows to ruin mattresses, bedding and stain newly-painted walls.

Maybe you'll think we are extra mean to them but they aren't allowed to chase around until midnight yelling and destroying property. Maybe I'm not extra smart, but I do know that most people like to be able to go to sleep so they can be rested for another day's work. I know my children are happy. Are yours?

So I say again, don't feel sorry for them. They still love me. By the way, are you really enjoying your vacation or just trying for a reason for it? Just give us a ring, we'll be happy to lend you a hand with your mower.

I. Liketa Mow (Twin Falls)

Pot-Shots note: For some reason, we have the hazy idea that a couple of neighbors are writing letters to each other through Pot Shots. What's the matter, not enough nerve to face each other?

WHAT'S ALL THIS?

Dear Pot: In reply to A. Reader, you need to do some more reading. You need to brush up. Don't you know? Haven't you read between the lines? They know the Golden Rule and make use of it.

We widows and widows have missed a lot of good in life, also a lot of bad. I would hate to trade my position in life (being a widow) to get hooked up with some men I know.

A. Reader had better do some preparing. The widows and widowers role, whichever it may be, is in the making for them if they live long enough. What you dish out to others will be dish back to you. I'm searching Twin Falls for a long-handled spoon.

Dear Pot Shots: We have a 5-month-old blond cocker spaniel to give to someone who will give her a nice home. We prefer someone with small children to have her for she loves to run and play. She can be picked up in Jerome at the pink house on Henry street.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Dave Dubinsky's union, the International Garment Workers, is the most impudent cabal in the entire system of chartered labor, but just the same he has not been called by the senate committee's investigation.

Nobody dares challenge Dubinsky even though his union is crawling with Marxian socialists. Some of whom profess to have reformed.

With the help of the Reader's Digest, the Luce magazines, and some daily papers, Dubinsky has been able to foist on the American nation and congress some individuals who broke with Stalin long ago and formed their own American communist party.

Their leader is Jake Lovestone, born in Russia. His chief agent abroad is Irving Brown.

They both intimate that they renounced communism long ago. Lovestone is clever, but Brown is a gaseous fourflusher. Neither has any credentials from any portion of the American people or American labor.

The partiality of magazine editors to these men is a mystery. The editors of dailies, however, are mostly too young to have personal knowledge of Lovestone's record and they are harried by a thousand details every day. They rely somewhat on "indoctrinated" school-boys of journalism sprouts, taught by misanthropic failures, and on syndicated Eastern publicity men who abuse their trust.

Dubinsky's union is a political asylum for veterans of this type. Lovestone, at the top, is lodged in Dubinsky's headquarters in New York. Dubinsky sits in an office designed for and occasionally occupied by Henry Ford, when the building was the regional capitol of Ford's empire.

After this apparatus broke with Stalin they started their own party, intending frankly to seize power in our country. Brown, a quantity and a strictly rhetorical fighter, was one of the organizers. (His press agents claim he was a football star at NYU where, on inquiry, it turned out he never even went out for bean-bag.) He has been a paid parasite on American union workers for a quarter of a century.

Segregation End Ordered for Bus

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 2 (AP)—U. S. District Judge Emmet C. Choate yesterday ordered an end Sept. 1 to segregated bus seating in Miami, thereby formally confirming a stand he already has made plain several times in remarks from the bench. City Attorney George Ockell said he had not read the formal ruling but would appeal it to the U. S. fifth court of appeals in New Orleans.

Bombs Explode

HAVANA, Aug. 2 (AP)—At least nine bombs went off in this uneasy Cuban capital last night. Five persons were injured by two explosions in small movie houses.

The army said four rebels were killed in a clash with forces of insurgent leader Fidel Castro between Peristero and Gubla on the eastern end of the island.

Beaver Is Basically Engineer at Heart

The beaver which once lived in large numbers across all the woodlands of Eurasia and North America has intrigued man from earlier days. Rightly so.

It can cut down trees five feet through and 100 feet high. To build its great, 1,000-foot long dams across running water, it often transports a hundred tons of materials including rocks and special mud. It erects 20-foot-wide homes, five feet high with complex entrances, internal flooring and other devices.

To keep supplied with food during the winter, it spends months of arduous labor cutting special sticks and anchoring them in the mud at the bottom of its artificial ponds.

To many, all this intricate work implies an intelligence closely akin to man's. The more because the results of the beaver's work seems to be based upon scientific principles—and man, essentially, is a scientist.

The more one studies the beaver's work, the more mysterious and complex it becomes. He seems to draw upon sources of information which reach back into the memory of previous generations. How else can you account for the fact that they can accurately judge the height of floods that are not to come for several months—which will raise the water to within a few inches of the living platform within their lodges; and exactly how far water is going to be backed up by the dam they are building? How do they know how strong and high the dam must be to fulfill its function? How do they know they must store large amounts of food at the bottom of their pond against freezing—winter—weather which will solidify the saps in trees and make their natural food too hard for even their chisel-like teeth to gnaw.

And more. In performing their work, like men, they work in family communities with full cooperation and considerable discipline under Chairman Kefauver, D. Tenn., of the subcommittee said in an opening statement that the subcommittee wants to find out first "whether prices are administered in the steel industry in such a manner that competition is negligible." If that is the case, he added, the subcommittee wants to determine if existing antitrust laws need revision.

The inquiry, Kefauver said, also is aimed at determining "to what extent steel prices increase was due to the increase in wage costs."

Price of Steel Gets Defense As 'Cheapest'

—WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—Roger M. Blough, board chairman of United States Steel corporation, told senators yesterday it was "sheer economic superstition" to contend the recent steel price rise will touch off a new round of inflation.

Blough, first witness in a new congressional inquiry into the steel industry and its pricing policies, said that "viewed in its true perspective, the price of steel is amazingly low."

"Steel is not only the cheapest, by far, of all the common metals," he said, "but with surprisingly few exceptions, it is also cheaper—pound for pound—than almost anything else you can buy."

"To put it in the politest possible terms, therefore, let me just say that the so-called 'high price of steel' is, in my opinion, another myth, pure and simple."

"Blough appeared before the senate antitrust subcommittee.

The steel hearings, at this time were prompted by the $6 a ton price rise for the metal, which became effective July 1. This was announced first by U. S. Steel, the industry's biggest producer. Other steel producers followed suit.

Chemicals Better Quality of Spuds

OLYMPIA, Aug. 2 (AP)—Some Washington potato growers are using chemicals to improve the quality of their crops, a state agriculture department official said yesterday.

Louis W. King, potato specialist for the department, said one example is the use of some chemicals to kill the tops of White Rose potatoes to prevent a loss of quality through overmaturing.

The same procedure can be used on other varieties, he added.

VISIT SLATED

TOKYO, Aug. 2 (AP)—The foreign office said today Indian Prime Minister Nehru will make a working state visit to Japan beginning Oct. 4.

the guidance of experienced individuals.

Yet, experimenters tell us that the beaver is a nonthinking animal, really. But he does what he apparently does mechanically. Capable beavers will work ceaselessly at the dam building activities when there is no need for them to do so, even when they cannot achieve anything by doing so, states Ivan T. Senderson.

Yet, how the beaver cuts timber hauls heavy stones, builds dams, digs and transports mud to plaster dams and homes, excavates 1,000-foot long canals with special locks to bring additional water and float heavy loads, erects vast houses, anchors a winter's food supply at the pond bottom—how he does all these things, seemingly purely automatically, without forethought, there says Iversen is the great mystery.

After all, all this implies a cumulative racial experience. A learning from what has gone on before. But if so, how is it transmitted from generation to generation so that a young beaver kitten can separate at birth from his colony and on his own, unlearned and on his own, just possibly, man himself, has not yet come up with the right intelligence to evaluate the kind of intelligence the beaver possesses to do these things which provides him and his progeny a safe winter home and an ample food supply under the winter ice.

Care of Your Children
By ANGELO PATRI

What is so pleasant as an evening of a summer day after the sun goes down and the stars come out and a soft cool breeze ruffles the leaves and a girl's curls lean to it in gaily abandon? How pleasant to lie on the sand, the waves murmuring softly above, the waves murmuring softly as they lap the sandy beach. One does not enjoy this serenity and beauty alone. Of course not. That takes two.

One hates to so much as hint that there is danger in the twosome on a summer night, yet the truth must be told. It is no news to any of us that given a summer moonlight night, two young people are likely to fall under the spell of its magic, being young and the stage so temptingly set. A summer holiday can become a most unhappy memory if the spell works and it is my firm conviction that the younger boys and girls need protection in this situation. I mean chaperones, curfew and parental watchfulness.

It is human to be weary at the end of a summer day. The warm days leave people with a feeling of laziness when an inviting chair on the porch or a rest on a glider is irresistible. The children are "all right" down on the beach or the country club. We hope.

Parents of younger boys and girls have no right to "hope" the children are "all right." They must know. That means they must best themselves to make sure that these young ones are not alone for the length of a summer evening. Parents have a duty toward them. That particular kind of trouble should be prevented.

How about the practice of staying out all night? This idea of a group going to a party at a distance and not getting back until next morning and no adults in the group? How about boys and girls out until the small hours of the morning in cars or boats? This should not be allowed and nobody but parents can make certain that it is not permitted.

Parents must know where their boys and girls of the early teens are and with whom. They should make certain that their children are protected from ignorance, their impulses and desires on these lovely summer nights.

Of course most boys and girls rebel at the thought of chaperonage or supervision but the experience of ages tells us they need it. Better be safe than sorry.

A record book of your child's development is valuable, not only for sentiment but for accurate information. It is easy to forget dates and incidents that are important. Leaflet P-12, "The Record Book" explains. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P.O. Box 129, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Church Avers Amended Bill Passage Good

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Sen. Frank Church, D. Id., defended the civil rights bill before the senate Wednesday as "the greatest advancement toward the enfranchisement of the Negro since the ratification of the 15th amendment to the constitution."

"The record should be made clear to the nation that there has been no serious weakening of civil rights legislation in the jury trial amendment, and those who cry 'havoc' because of fancied weakening, are playing cat-and-mouse to those who would have no bill at all," he said.

In the prepared text of his speech, Church said critics of the amendment had offered "precious little" evidence to support their charge that the jury trial provision emasculated the civil rights bill.

"If we will but penetrate the sound and fury to examine the facts, we will find that there is ample power and authority, unaffected by the jury trial amendment, to make this bill an effective instrument in extending broad new protection to the right to vote."

Church was a co-sponsor of the civil rights bill amendment which provides for jury trials in all cases of criminal contempt. The bill earlier was limited to voting rights only.

The senate passed the bill, 72-18.
