Pro-Communist Bloc Gets Control of Syrian Army; Rightist Elements Ousted

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Aug. 17 (AP)—Volatile Syria apparently moved closer to the communist bloc today as pro-Soviet officers purged rightists from the politically powerful army. Gen. Afif Bizry, known throughout the Middle East as the most extreme leftist in Syria's army, took control of the army over the week-end, usually reliable sources said. Bizry, 43, a known communist, immediately began to purge rightwing opponents. Thirteen officers were fired or resigned in Damascus and a number fled to Beirut.

"Ike" Appeals For Additions To Aid Funds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower counter-attacked today in an 11th hour effort to save the foreign aid program from what he considers crippling budget cuts. He held an unannounced breakfast conference with the speaker of the Democratic leadership—of the House, Sam Rayburn, and appealed for his help in restoring the 30 percent economy cut made by the House last week.

Police Question Man In Burglary Attempt

GOODING, Aug. 19—A Boise man is being questioned in connection with an attempted burglary and shooting in Wendell Sunday night and Monday morning but no charges have been filed and the man is not being held. A billfold containing his name and other identification was found beneath a window of the home in which the burglary was attempted. Found with the billfold, which contained the name of F. T. Johnson, Boise, were some silver coins, a small

Second Blast Is Postponed

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., Aug. 19—Adverse weather conditions today prevented the atomic energy commission from getting its scheduled blast of a small-sized nuclear device. Scientists were forced to postpone for 24 hours detonation of a device, dubbed "Doppler," because of strong winds and a rain storm at the Nevada proving grounds. The test was scheduled for 5:30 a.m. tomorrow. It was to be the second nuclear explosion in two days. The AEC yesterday finally fired its off-postponed "Doppler" device. The test had been postponed a record number of 19 times because of unfavorable weather and technical problems. The AEC had hoped to get back on its summer test schedule by detonating "Doppler" from a balloon 500 feet over the desert. It was to be the 13th blast in the series.

Cool Air Sweeps Through Midwest

A fresh surge of cool air swept through the Midwest today, bringing relief to the region after a week of oppressive heat. The cool air advanced touched off thunderstorms yesterday afternoon and night over parts of Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and northern Indiana. The showers actively spread into Ohio today.

U. S., Britain Hold Talkon Syrian Crisis

LONDON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The United States and Britain began urgent consultations today on the red drive in Syria which has offered the severest challenge yet to the Eisenhower doctrine in the Middle East. Middle East experts of the U. S. embassy were reported consulting with experts of the British foreign office on the Soviet moves diplomats said gave Russia its first satellite in the Middle East.

Plane Landed Safely as Pilot Shows Strain

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19 (AP)—"That's why we have two tires on each side," said the pilot after he brought 61 persons in a four-engine plane to a safe landing at International airport late Saturday afternoon, one big tire had burst on takeoff in New York.

1,500-Acre Blaze in South Hills Fought By 180-Man Squad

Fire which has swept through 1,500 acres of national forest and bureau of land management range land south of Kimberly is believed by forest officials to be responding to the efforts of the 180 fire fighters which had the fire surrounded Monday morning. The fire, believed started in a thunderstorm Friday afternoon, smoldered undetected until Saturday afternoon when a crew of 10 men was put onto it. Sunday morning the blaze apparently had been controlled but Sunday afternoon fanned by high winds, the flames shot past the firefighters and raced across the sagebrush and dry cheatgrass. The forest service poured men and equipment into the area Sunday afternoon and night but the fire, backed by shifting winds, kept eluding the fire fighters. By Monday morning 180 men were in the field and additional men were being recruited to relieve some of the men who had been on the fire line for nearly 24 hours.

Strauss Avers Fallout Poses Little Danger

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The chairman of the atomic energy commission has told Congress there is greater radiation danger in a luminous dial wristwatch than in all atomic test fall-out to date.

Taking a swing at critics of nuclear tests, he said that "a campaign—if one is inclined to campaign—against luminous wristwatches" would be "more beneficial to humanity than a campaign against the tests."

Release Testimony July 10 before a house appropriations committee was released last night, also said:

"Russia is not 'anywhere near the position that we are in the development of atomic energy.' If Soviet power approached that of the United States, he said, 'they would demonstrate it for the propaganda benefit.'"

"The Russians demonstrated a reactor at Geneva in 1955 which, compared with what we had then, was a model T Ford by comparison."

"Clean Weapons"
—U. S. scientists have developed prototypes of weapons in which the radioactive fallout is reduced as against previous weapons by as much as 96 per cent. "In four or five years 'it should be possible to clean up weapons of radioactive fallout completely.'"

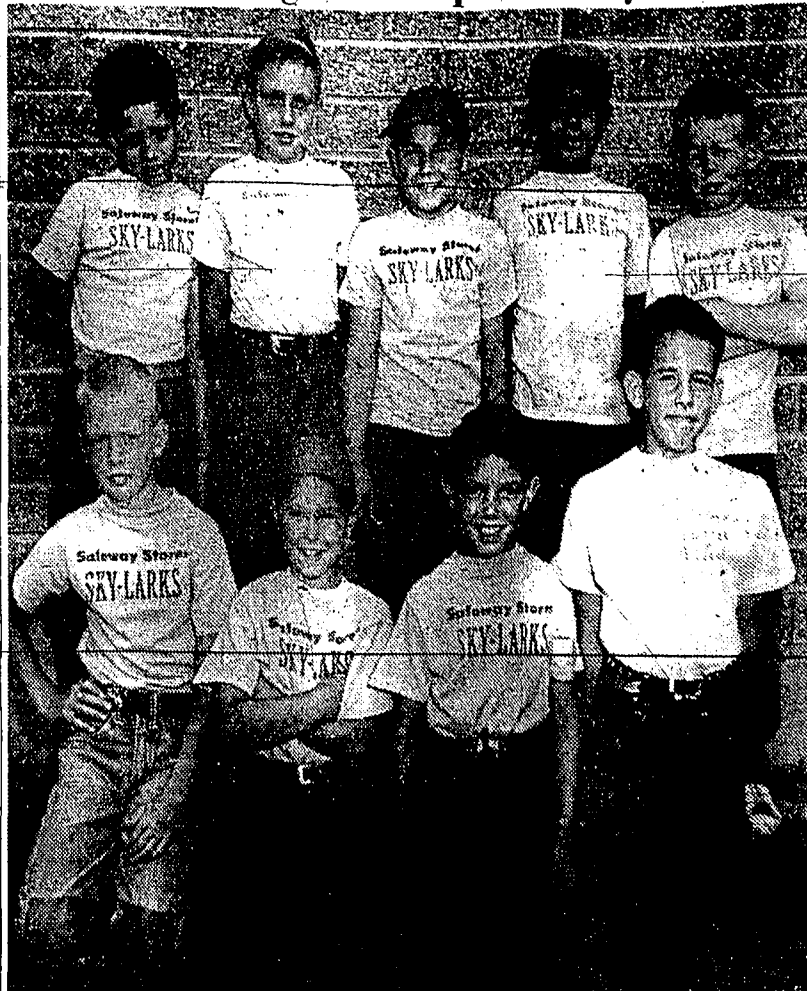

Strauss said that the luminous dial of a wristwatch delivers more radiation "by something like a factor of two than all that received from the accumulated fallout to date."

Steel Towers for Atomic Explosions Are Being Built in Twin Falls Shop

By HENRY G. CURTIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

When atomic bombs explode in tests over the Nevada desert or on atolls in the Pacific, there's a good chance that the huge tower atop which the device is detonated was made in a machine shop here.

The Self Manufacturing company of Twin Falls is just a little industry working in a shop with about 17,500 square feet of working space.

But the seven towers the firm is now building for nuclear tests in the Pacific next year will bring to 12 the number of such structures the shop has turned out for the atomic energy commission.

Company President Kenneth Self said he knew of only one other firm, a big manufacturing company, which had made an equal amount.

Self got into the atomic tower business back in 1954 when "we tested in a bid to the AEC for two towers and were low by $181."

"The AEC apparently was surprised that we had anything but sheep, spuds, hunting and fishing in Idaho," he added. "They immediately wanted to know why we thought we could build the towers."

Self had the answer to that question in the form of a huge 33-foot lathe which he bought a few years ago to be able to machine bits for oil well drilling rigs.

"We didn't make any money on those first two towers," Self admitted. "But surprisingly, we didn't lose any money either. And the experience gained was invaluable."

The Twin Falls shop turned out three more atomic bomb towers in 1956. By this year the company was ready to take on seven towers at once.

The atomic bomb test tower must be made with precision and consists of 25-foot-high sections bolted, one atop another, to heights reaching 500 feet and more. The four corner columns form a 20-foot square at the base and all the way to the top. A "cab" for housing the atomic device sits atop each tower and an elevator shaft rises alongside to carry technicians and the bomb to the cab.

If one section were "out of true," the columns above it would not sit in perfect balance. Consequently, each section of the column must be perfectly straight with its end flange machined to a perfect right angle with the longitudinal axis.

Even the guywire anchors must be machined to perfect specifications. Self and his company, which likes "specialty fabricating" jobs, was better fitted for such precision work than some larger shops.

"We can train 30 people to know exactly what to do in building the towers and keep close track of each piece as it moves along the production line," he explained.

The tower jobs for Twin Falls, like any big industrial contract, provided a boost to the economy of Idaho's Magic Valley.

Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Manager Mitchell Hunt pointed out that Self's payroll was expected to climb toward 40 employees at the peak of the tower job this winter. Subcontracts were let to firms as far away as Rupert, 40 miles up the valley.

Hunt said the activity at the Twin Falls shop was an example of what Idaho's small industries could do.

Plane Flips; Flier Unhurt

BOISE, Aug. 19 (AP)—A California air national guardman rubbed the dust out of his eyes and walked away unhurt yesterday after his F86A jet fighter cracked up on takeoff at Boise's Gowen field.

The pilot was identified as Second Lieut. Lother Elserloh of Redlands, Calif. The plane was severely damaged and believed to be beyond repair.

Apparently one of the plane's wings dug into the ground and it turned a cartwheel, according to Maj. Walter Stonebraker, operations officer of the 190th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron of Boise.

Elserloh is a member of the 195th fighter-interceptor squadron of California, which is starting two weeks of training here.

WILSON WON RESPECT

If Charley Wilson had left the Pentagon last summer instead of this summer there would probably have been shouts of joy among many officers of the services.

It's almost impossible to be secretary of defense without making some decisions which make you unpopular with the services.

The astonishing fact about Wilson's performance is that he finally won the genuine affection and trust of top officers of the army, navy, air force and marines, in spite of how some of his decisions might have irritated them. They're all sorry to see him go.

If anyone has reason to nurse a grudge against Wilson at this late date it is any officer associated with the army's ballistic missile program. Wilson is leaving behind an order which limits the army to using missiles with ranges not more than 200 miles. The army feels this is a cruel blow which will seriously hamstring its future effectiveness in the missile age.

But an army colonel in the missile program pays this tribute to the outgoing defense boss:

"There's no question that Wilson honestly believes that the 200-mile limitation is the best thing for the services. We differ with him on this question. But this does not obscure the fact that he has probably been the best secretary of defense we've had."

"He has learned the job like no man before him knew it. His insight and experience in production problems have been of tremendous advantage to the defense program, and he was always our best defender when we needed one."

Another feat attributed to Wilson during his Pentagon tenure was maintaining strict civilian control of the military and not permitting himself to be run by the brass.

The lawyers, bankers and intellectuals who preceded Wilson all did conscientious, patriotic jobs. A couple even had his salty humor, courage and wisdom.

But the big ingredient which the former president of General Motors supplied to the position was his successful industrial experience and background.

Experts agree that America's industrial might won World Wars I and II. Russian military leaders have known that the only way to win World War III would be to deliver a paralyzing blow to U. S. industry.

Maintaining America's big defense against the threat of Russian aggression and fighting the Korean war have mostly been concerned with industrial problems. Weapon development and tactical and strategic planning have naturally been vital problems.

But the great mass of top-level work involved in keeping up America's defense consists of industrial problems. Thus it would seem obvious that a man with outstanding industrial experience has the best chance to succeed in that Pentagon post. At least, if it wasn't obvious before Wilson took the job, it is now.

And there's another related requirement for the man who bosses the Pentagon. That is the need to have experience in running big operations. It's difficult for the average person to conceive the enormity of the problems and the scope of operations of the U. S. military machine.

Even being president of the gigantic General Motors didn't give Wilson complete experience for his defense job, he has said many times. The only real preparation for the job is doing it for four years, he has said.

Wilson would be the first to deny that every future defense secretary who had not been a big industrialist first is doomed to failure. But he would also agree that before a defense boss leaves the job, if he had done it satisfactorily, he would end up with the equivalent of big industry experience.

Soap King Neil McElroy, Wilson's successor, appears to have what it takes in personality and experience to handle this big Pentagon job. Observers are anxious to see what new dimensions in ability or lack of it he will bring to the post.

ADMIRABLE PREPAREDNESS

We in the United States do not know yet whether this country is going to be plagued with an epidemic of so-called Asiatic influenza. But health authorities believe there is a strong probability of it.

In consequence of that threat, Americans generally can have only the highest praise for the way in which health specialists are preparing for any emergency.

By mid-September they expect to have some eight million doses of vaccine available. Half will go to the armed forces, the rest to essential workers in transportation, communications and similar important fields.

The goal is 60 million vaccine doses by February, which would make possible inoculation of virtually all children and most of the aged—the groups aside from essential workers whose protection is considered most vital.

To achieve this, the health people have half a dozen drug manufacturers working triple shifts seven days a week.

The disease apparently is basically mild, though secondary infections can complicate matters. The real problem seems to be the speed with which an epidemic can spread. Authorities said a city of one million could find 200,000 people laid low within a few days.

It is this that they are moving with such remarkable dispatch to prevent.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has promised anxious Republicans that he will play as active and aggressive a part in the 1958 congressional and gubernatorial contests as if he were running himself. He seeks to reverse the Democratic trend in these areas lest it lead to Republican disaster in the 1960 presidential race.

Despite Eisenhower's 1956 sweep, the opposition gained a majority in both house and senate as well as outnumbering the GOP in their possession of governorships. The outcome enabled them to emphasize and boast that it was a personal rather than a party triumph, and that the Republicans did not have the confidence of the people.

A similar result next year would be extremely discouraging to the GOP with respect to 1960, especially with Eisenhower on the sidelines.

SEEKS TO DISLODGE DEMOCRATS—The President is especially concerned in dislodging the Democrats from control of the great and electorally important states—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and California. Three of them are headed by Democrats frequently mentioned as 1960 presidential possibilities—Harrison of New York, Meyer of New Jersey and Williams of Michigan.

Eisenhower, of course, will not interfere in primary contests for governor or senator, although he has expressed the wish that "modern Republicans" will be chosen by the masses and nominated by the people.

Once the choice has been made, however, he will get into the fight.

He realizes that this will be his last chance to leave his imprint on the party, since he cannot succeed himself. But if he can contribute to Republican recapture of congress and important gubernatorial posts, he feels that the 1960 nominee and platform will be compelled to carry on with his philosophy.

GOP ULTRA-CONSERVATIVES MAY TAKE OVER—Otherwise, as it did after Theodore Roosevelt's brief era of progressive leadership, the Grand Old Party will slip again into control of the ultra-conservatives. Eisenhower believes that such a retrogression would be injurious to the nation, the Western alliance against communism and to the party.

He has already begun to keep this pledge. He has said publicly that he admires ex-Gov. Walter J. Kohler, the anti-McCarthy man who has been nominated for the senate by Wisconsin Republicans. He has posed for photographs with State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes, New Jersey candidate for governor on the Republican ticket, and with the fairly large Forbes family.

He has used a lot of valuable time in appearing before photographers with individual members of congress or with groups from capitol hill. And if a Republican representative or senator cannot flourish a friendly or congratulatory letter on White House stationery, it's because he hasn't had the sense to ask for it.

In short, Eisenhower will leave Washington as a more strenuous and enthusiastic Republican than he was when he entered the White House.

J. EDGAR AND THE SUPREME COURT—J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, has found an indirect way to rebuke the supreme court for tampering with his sealed files. To editors who have criticized this amazing decision, Hoover has written:

"I appreciate your advising your readers of the important role played by confidential informants who furnished information to this bureau last year, and your support for legislation to protect the confidential nature of our work is appreciated."

ABANDON "IKE" THE NAME, THAT IS—Now that President Eisenhower is headed for the history books instead of another political contest, some of his friends—and numerous editors—have suggested that general use of the familiar "Ike" be abandoned or at least minimized. It strikes Washington correspondents, who are the principal offenders, as a good idea.

A FINE DAY FOR THE SENATE

When the senate amended the civil rights bill to require jury trials in criminal contempt cases, it assured the American people no more, if as much as, they are guaranteed by the constitution. There is no justification, as we see it, in the President or anyone else complaining about the free citizens of this country having a right that was clearly intended should be theirs.

The advocates of "civil rights" by federal force tried to jam a joker-lender bill, which had its origin in political thinking, through the senate. As it developed, even the President didn't know what was in the measure until it was analyzed by Southern senators and began to draw fire of senators from other sections. Besides tying in with an old post-war Between the States law authorizing the President to use troops to enforce federal court orders, it sought to add one more law under which federal judges could sentence to imprisonment without jury indictment of jury trial.

To Vice President Nixon's moan that "this was one of the saddest days . . . because the vote was against the right to vote," we say: It was one of the finest of senate days because that body refused to chip away a fundamental American right, and besides, as the record will show, no federal force bills are needed to promote the expanding vote registration in the South.

To the President's complaint that the courts' ability to enforce their orders are weakened, and that many extraneous issues were introduced to confuse, we say: Any weakening of court authority was the result of trying to extend federal dictation over the states and the people, and the extraneous issues were largely the outcome of drawing a bill with hidden and confusing purposes.

At the moment the future of the bill is uncertain. If it is dead, as some of its advocates think, that is a good thing. On the whole, voting rights will be exercised as well without it, and in conformity with the will of the people.

In our estimate, some of the leading supporters of the bill will find it difficult to explain their stand to their constituents when election times comes around. They attacked a fundamental, constitutionally guaranteed right of the people to serve a transient political purpose, and failed. Many voters in various parts of the country will see no glory in that performance.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

PROVOCATIVE STATISTICS

On the basis of police records it's possible—and desirable, too—to compile statistics that highlight sins of omission and commission in a manner to challenge attention.

Take for instance the statement of Pocatello's police chief the other day setting forth statistically the extent of property loss involved in traffic accidents. His figures show the total value of property stolen in Pocatello last year was $102,247.25 of which $70,655.50 was recovered, leaving a net loss of $31,691.68.

During the same period traffic accidents in Pocatello caused property damage figured at $185,000, in which there was no recovery or salvage.

In other words, these statistics show about six times as much property is destroyed in traffic accidents as is lost through theft.

It's a provocative statement, and if it gets the attention it well deserves it could stimulate a good deal more of thoughtfulness and care on the part of individual drivers, and go a considerable distance toward the reduction of accidents, which, incidentally, almost invariably involve the violation of traffic regulations.—Boise Statesman.

TAILGATING CAUSES ACCIDENTS TOO

A minor case—arranged in municipal court in Mitchell the other day because he had been observed following a truck too closely.

Judge Merton Tice fined him $25 and $7.50 costs after he pleaded guilty to the charge.

It would seem that a few more arrests of this nature might serve to remind drivers of the essential safety rules of the highway.

Speeding is a cause of accidents and speeders are frequently arrested. Another cause most certainly is driving too closely to the vehicle in front. But arrests for this safety violation are few and far between.—Aberdeen, S. D., American-News.

DID IT HAPPEN?

Maybe some of you good constituents can come up with the word on this one. All we have to go on is a rumor.

The way we picked it up, some of the more manly golfers patronizing the golf courses near Twin Falls finally got just a wee bit fed up with this Bermuda shorts business.

So they hatched a scheme to give the Bermuda shorts fans the business, so to speak.

On a recent Sunday afternoon, the group showed up in force, all wearing Bermuda shorts and what members of the group considered appropriate additions to such a costume.

The shorts were decorated with an ample quantity of lace, so we hear.

OUR BULLETIN BOARD

I. Object, Jerome—Perhaps your objection is well-taken, but the very nature of it qualifies it for use in the Public Forum where it would have to appear over your true name.

We turned it over to the Forum editor. If you so desire, just drop him a note mentioning the subject of the letter by way of identification and signing your name. Thanks, anyway.

ANENT SAMPLER

You could do humanity a real favor, if you only could.

The other day I happened to be in a store where the management was serving free sardapop as an inducement for potential customers to look over some new merchandise.

I don't go into the store for that purpose, but one of the salesmen insisted I partake of the free pop.

In the short time I was in the store, you should have seen the parade! You could tell by just looking that nearly 100 per cent of the crowd was looking for a free bottle of pop. They looked at the merchandise, but only in that manner used when someone is trying to be polite.

Here's where you can do the service: Why not run a list of places from day to day where people can get free coffee, soda pop, hotdogs, or what have you? That way they wouldn't have to look in more than one place in the paper.

BUT IT'S FLASHY!

A fellow was trying to explain the redness of his eyes after a little fishing-trip-the-other-day.

"My eyes are sunburned," was the explanation on the first attempt.

Then he thought about the trip for a minute and added, "But it was really the dust on the way back that did most of the damage."

He went on to explain he was riding in one of those long, low, 1957 models. The interior of the car is quite dusty, he explained, because the car is so long and so low that by the time the back portion of the car comes along, there's nothing but a cloud of dust left by the front half.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

CHICAGO—Have you got time to listen to a little story?

For two days before the AFL-CIO went into their secret, high, executive huddle in the Drake hotel, I had been investigating the background of William Lurye, the martyred hoodlum of Dave Dubinsky's union, who got his throat cut in a phone booth in the garment center in New York in May, 1949. Then, as David came out of one of those Westbrook Pegler lodge-meetings with Meany, Lechter and the rest, I nailed him with Lurye's police and prison record including one term of one-year-to-life for burglary.

The cops in a tough neighborhood on the west side of Chicago had run up almost a hundred burglaries against the rotating membership of this roving gang, and the law loved life for burglary although the best article the hoodlums got out of the particular job on trial was a suit that hocked for $35. So the judge buried the bomb.

Lurye was out in two years and four months, plus; and he was off parole in four years more, and this was part of his schooling for the role of altruistic martyr for Dubinsky's union in New York.

As Dave emerged I said I had a document for him. As he put on the fumble for his glasses, I said "This is the criminal record of your friend Lurye."

"The Times also related that Sacha Zimmerman, the old-time Trotsky-Stalin-Lovestone communist, now a solid man of Dubinsky's hierarchy had 'passed' to the police the name of a man whom Mr. Lurye had accused of being 'out to get him.'"

"I give you my word of honor as a man," Dave said, "this is the first I ever heard of it!"

"Heard of what?"

"This record. On my honor as a man, this is the first. On my word of honor."

I said, "Well, didn't you ever investigate him? You have a lot of local people. You could investigate. You say you didn't investigate this guy?"

Dave stopped dead. "Listen," he exclaimed. "Do they investigate you?"

"I don't know," I said. "They probably do. But you indorsed this fellow and gave him a 40-back (ticket) and now you tell me you knew nothing about him and more-over he didn't even work for you."

"He didn't," Dave said. "He worked for the local."

The New York Times for Aug. 12, 1949 said, "65,000 unionized dress-makers in this city were ordered to stop work for four hours tomorrow and join a public protest against the murder of William Lurye, a special organizer . . . Mr. Dubinsky issued a statement, 'The cause for which Mr. Lurye died is beyond the power of threat, intimidation or

Clothes Incident

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (AP)—A suburban Evanston woman told a circuit court judge Friday that her estranged husband has been rationing her clothes.

Mrs. Sammie Relling, 21, told the judge, through her attorney, that her husband, Harry, 32, let her take only the clothes she was wearing when she left him July 24 and has since permitted her only one change of garments.

She contended Relling said this would make her less attractive to other men.

Judge B. Fain Tucker ruled that Relling must return all her clothing. Mrs. Relling has filed suit for divorce charging cruelty.

Fish Change Spots But Leopards Cannot

A pocketful of wry: In space all objects, big and little, float at the same speed side by side around the earth. Without fuel to shoot them out of this path, they will go right on floating around the earth.

Nothing on earth ever stays the same. Everything changes slowly in shape, size or consistency.

A steel ball will bounce higher than a rubber ball. It dents just like a rubber ball when it hits a hard surface, but it snaps back into shape faster than a rubber ball. It is the snapping back into shape that makes a ball bounce.

Smoke is not a necessary part of fire. If just means that the fire is not burning properly. Bits of unburned material are escaping into the air.

The mixture of all colors from the sun makes white. The absence of all colors makes black. It is just the opposite with paint pigments. A mixture of the three primary colors makes black, whereas absence of all three makes white.

The reason men's hats have a little bow inside them is that at one time hats were made to fit by loosening or tightening a drawing. We taste sweet and salty things with the tips of our tongues, sour and salty things with the middle parts of our tongues, and bitter things with the back parts. To swallow a bitter pill, therefore, place it on the tip of the tongue and "chase" it with a gulp of water.

A leopard may not be able to change his spots but some fish can. When flounders swim over sand their spots become small but when they swim over rocks or pebbles their spots grow larger. This, of course, makes it more difficult for their enemies to find them.

If you find a fledgling out of its nest, the best way to save its life is to put it back into the nest if you can. There is no truth in the belief that if you do this the parents will not go near the nest again through fear of human smell. Most birds, you know, have no sense of smell and a very rudimentary sense of taste. But birds do see in color—something most mammals cannot do.

A day-old pronghorn can outrun a man.

The sperm whale is one of the few lopsided animals known. It has its blowhole on the left side.

The chemicals in one's body are exactly the same as those in the sea. Only, happily, the amounts of these chemicals vary considerably.

Boise Forest Areas Closed To Most Use

BOISE, Aug. 19 (AP)—Recreation leaders and others not having immediate business in the Boise national forest have been barred from the forest, officials announced today.

K. D. Block, forest supervisor in the timber sale areas have been closed to entry because of "explosive" weather conditions.

Little Moisture

In the forest the moisture of the soil has been measured as low as three per cent.

"When fuels become so dry they are highly flammable and forest fires become extremely difficult to control," Block said.

May Get Permits

Local residents and forest workers will be allowed entry by permit into the district forest ranger. The closures do not affect any through routes.

Areas closed are in the vicinity of Warm lake, High valley, Bear creek, Idaho City, Atlanta, and district and in the Featherhead and Cottonwood areas.

Musical Program Given at Meeting

HANSEN, Aug. 19—Mrs. Wilma Hill and her son, Jerome, presented a program of music and singing Thursday afternoon at the meeting of the Exchange Social club at the home of Mrs. Don Kilburn.

Mrs. Rudolph Martens was program chairman. Other guests were Mrs. Brennen, Mrs. Kilborn's mother, and Mrs. Floyd Patterson.

Mrs. Clifton Haynes received the white elephant. Mrs. Earl Hutchinson was presented an anniversary gift and gifts also were presented to Mrs. Hill and her sons.

The next meeting of the group will be canceled because of fair week. The Sept. 19 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Martens.

Women Feted at Birthday Dinner

KIMBERLY, Aug. 19—A dinner was given Friday evening on the patio at the home of Mrs. Ben E. Potter, Kimberly, in honor of Mrs. W. M. Van Houten on her 83rd birthday anniversary Saturday and Mrs. B. Walter, Twin Falls, on her 81st birthday anniversary Sunday.

Mrs. Potter and her sister, Mrs. C. H. Tyler were co-hostesses.

Mrs. Van Houten and Mrs. Walter have been active in community service for years. Mrs. Van Houten helped organize the Methodist church, working in the many departments. She was Woman's Society of Christian Service president and a charter member of the Ladies Pioneer club and a past president.

Mrs. Walter also was a member of the Methodist church and a past president of WSCS and of the Ladies Pioneer club. She taught in the Kimberly high school for a number of years.

Other guests were Mrs. Art Arnold, Burley, Mrs. L. L. Millon, Mrs. S. H. Proctor and Mrs. J. C. Poe.

Mrs. Arnold sang several solos.

BIRTHDAY FETED

KING HILL, Aug. 19—Mrs. Stanley Owens entertained 12 children Thursday in honor of her son, Randy, on his third birthday anniversary.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Busy mothers are likely to forget that there are years of difference between what they know about life and what a child knows. They often forget that there is a lifetime of difference between their set of values and those of this little child.

If mothers could remember these differences in knowledge and points of view they would have much more fun with their developing child and much, much less worry.

A child of three or so loves mud, water and sand. The youngster needs to play with water, needs to make mud pies and sand hills and must be in the nice soft messes he makes. He is developing his senses. He is developing the use of his hands, his legs, and his arms and his back as he gets up, sits down, runs and comes back, shouting meaningless words and syllables as he keeps busy with seemingly no purpose whatever. Nature has the purpose and he is carrying it out, by growing.

By and by this child makes disorder in a well-ordered room by piling up blocks and he makes noise by knocking the pile down. His elders wonder why he can't be quiet. They forget that this love of quiet has come to them lately.

A child puts his finger in his food and somebody says, "Keep your fingers out of your plate. Time you knew how to behave at the table." Again somebody forgot how he once loved eating with his fingers and how he would enjoy doing it now if he could.

Open House Will Honor Couple on Anniversary Day

HANSEN, Aug. 19—Friends and neighbors are invited to attend the open house honoring Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Robison on their 50th wedding anniversary from 3 to 6 p.m. Aug. 25 at the Robison home.

Mrs. A. E. Cish, Twin Falls, Ralph Robison, Othello, Wash., Mrs. V. L. Wilson and Warren Robison, are arranging the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Robison were married Aug. 28, 1907, at the Baptist church in Tonkawa, Okla. Both were attending Tonkawa college where they met.

They came to Hansen in 1911 where they have been engaged in farming.

It is requested that there be no gifts. No formal invitations are being sent.

Sale Plans Made At Declo Confab

DECLO, Aug. 19—Sales were planned at the Thursday meeting of War Mothers when members met on the lawn of the home of Mrs. Earl Osterhout.

The group decided to hold a rummage sale in September with Mrs. Osterhout as chairman, and a cooked food sale with Mrs. Frances Pineda as chairman. Mrs. August Quansrum is to make arrangements for the place for the sale to be held.

Watermelon was served for dessert to members and two guests.

T. F. Camp Has Business Parley

The white elephant was received by Mrs. Velma Treadwell and furnished by Mrs. William Arms at the business meeting of the Royal Neighbors lodge Vishnu Camp No. 2870 Friday evening in the Odd Fellows hall.

Plans were made for the flower booth at the county fair and Mrs. Grace Laubenstein was appointed chairman. Myrtle Anderson read the resolutions.

The charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Grace Anna Winans, Anna Branson, marshal; Mae Murray, assistant marshal, and Mrs. Laubenstein participated with a prayer by Mrs. Mata Van Buren.

Mrs. Lillian Harmon and Mrs. Clara Koehler served refreshments. The next meeting will be a potluck dinner Sept. 20 with all inactive and new members receiving a special invitation.

Reception Fetes Pair in Dietrich

DIETRICH, Aug. 19—Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Owens were honored with a wedding reception Thursday evening in the Dietrich Grange hall. Mrs. Owens is the former Willa Mae Bynaster.

Hyram Meservy was master of ceremonies. June Heiken sang, accompanied by Mrs. Eldon Dornier and Iva Lou McClure did a tap dance with Mrs. Dornier accompanying. Mrs. Dornier also played an accordion solo. Refreshments were served.

Miss Is Feted

KING HILL, Aug. 19—A farewell party for Valois Brown was given Wednesday evening by Mae McLean, Charles McLean and Sharon Baker.

The group swam in the Glenns Ferry pool, and held a wienner roast. Miss Brown, Pocatello, is a niece of Mrs. Stanley Owens.

RICHFIELD MISS FETED

RICHFIELD, Aug. 19—Mrs. Eugene Alexander entertained Thursday with a birthday party for her daughter, Joy, on her seventh birthday anniversary. Second grade classmates and her cousin, Lynne Turnbull, Cambridge, were guests. Judy Alexander conducted games and assisted her mother with serving.

Goal Forgotten By 'Next Week'

By ALICIA HART

The women who say, "I'm going on a diet next week," are the ones who somehow never get around to dieting.

The reason for this is simple: things you put off cease to have importance. Therefore, if you know you need to lose weight (your mirror and your scale tell you so), don't make any resolutions about starting to diet next week or next month. Start with the next meal.

Nobody says it will be easy at the outset. Breaking a bad habit never is easy and that's exactly what overeating is.

It's overeating, not gluttony, that's responsible for the fact that some women tote about with them extra pounds of fat from five pounds way up. Since this is about as comfortable as carrying a bag of groceries of the same weight, taking off the excess makes sense. And delaying the day doesn't.

We, the Women

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Service

We had a private telephone installed in Betty's room, said 14-year-old Betty's mother, "so that she can stay on the telephone all day if she wants to without bothering us. It's the perfect solution if you have a teen-ager in the house."

It's just ducky for Betty's parents. But what of the parents of her friends?

With no one to tell her to cut calls short or know when she is ringing some number every 15 minutes. Betty and her private telephone are making life hectic for her friends' parents.

Also, with a telephone in her own room, Betty can make after-bedtime calls when she feels like it. And she feels like it often enough to be annoying.

If a teen-ager misuses a family telephone, why encourage her to use a telephone even more by giving her a private line?

Wouldn't you think it would dawn on parents that she might be annoying the parents of the friends she is forever calling and keeping on the line?

All parents whose teen-agers misuse the telephone have to do is to make a few rules—and make them stick. No 30 and 40-minute conversations. No calling their friends at mealtime or after eight or nine at night. No bothering any family with repeated calls. No telephoning on Sunday afternoon when the man of the family is probably trying to take a nap or have a little peace and quiet in his own home.

Any teen-ager who makes a nuisance of himself with his overuse of the family telephone ought to be taught some manners, not given a telephone of his own.

Guest Entertains For Club Picnic

Peggy Lynn Parker, Santa Anita, Calif., played several accordion solos at the meeting and picnic of the Unity club Wednesday at Harmon park.

Guests were Mrs. Parker and Miss Parker, Santa Anita, Joanne Sommer, San Diego, Mary Smith and Mrs. H. E. VanOstran.

Members exchanged unusual salad recipes.

Mrs. George Denton, Mrs. W. L. Buchanan and Mrs. A. Devries were hostesses.

HOMERS PAVE WAY FOR MAGIC VALLEY VICTORY OVER BOISE

Cowboys Take Third Win In Row; Bill Denney Raps Fourth Homer in 3 Tilts

Unleashing their homerun power to score in only two innings, the Magic Valley Cowboys took their third win in a row from Boise here Sunday night 12-5. Jim Powers went all the way for the Cowboys and turned in a respectable seven-hit performance, although he entered the last inning with a four-hitter in sight. Again the power was provided by Bill Denney, who hit his fourth homer in three nights, and he was assisted by Duane Hermon and manager Walt Dixon, who each got four baggers.

Mustangs Moving up In Pioneer Loop Race

A bounding Billings ballclub eagerly eyed the Pioneer league's number one spot again today after deposing second place Missoula with a double win yesterday, 7-3 and 7-2. The twin Mustang victory swept the one-time league leaders within a half game of first place Idaho Falls as Missoula tumbled into fourth place, two full games off the pace.

Giants Board Is Pondering Coast Move

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—The board of directors of the New York Giants went into closed session Monday to vote on whether to accept Horace Stoneham's proposal to move the team to San Francisco.

The approval was expected to be virtually unanimous, thus leaving the way clear to iron out the details of the shift. Stoneham said that if any of the nine directors attending the meeting was against the idea of moving westward, he would not try to persuade the dissenters to vote with him.

There was some talk that some of the directors were unhappy at the thought of deserting New York, but once Stoneham got around to stating facts and figures, the talk died down.

Stoneham, it was learned, was ready to tell the directors almost exactly what he has revealed publicly over the course of the past month—that the San Francisco club is "very firm and very fair," that the old includes a 45,000 capacity stadium along with control of the concessions.

They say lightning never strikes twice in the same place but the Milwaukee Braves know better today. After it struck county stadium three times—once literally and twice in the form of Stan Musial and Vinegar Mizell.

A sharp bolt of the "real thing" hit the stadium during the second inning of yesterday's opener with the St. Louis Cardinals and before the day was ended Musial and Mizell struck to produce an 8-6 and sweep that cut the Braves' National league lead to 6½ games.

The Cardinals "braked" the Milwaukee runaway and raised the possibility that there may yet be a close pennant race.

The New York Yankees, meanwhile, seemed to be making good on their long-predicted runaway start in the American league when they swept the Baltimore Orioles 6-0 and 3-1 to open up a 7½ game margin, their longest of the season.

The second-place Chicago White Sox cooperated by dropping a 5-1 decision before beating the Detroit Tigers 4-1.

The Chicago Cubs dealt the Cincinnati Reds their sixth straight black, 8-2, the New York Giants beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4 and 1-0, and the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Brooklyn Dodgers 8-6 after a 2-1 defeat in the other National league games.

The Washington Senators whipped the Boston Red Sox 6-4 and the Cleveland Indians crushed the Kansas City Athletics 9-2 in American league games.

The Cardinals rallied for six runs in the last three innings of the 10-inning opener, Musial climaxing the comeback with a two-run homer, and then led all the way behind Mizell's four-hitter in the nightcap.

Musial had two hits in each game to regain the National league batting crown with a .333 mark and his 2,093 hit now place him 11th on the all-time list. Mizell's victory was his 10th of the year and the first since July 23.

Last Call Sounded On Hunt Permits

BOISE, Aug. 19.—The Idaho fish and game department today issued its last call for applications for permits in this year's controlled hunt for deer and elk.

From Leonard, director, reminded hunters that Tuesday is the deadline for filing. He said midnight is the mark closing time, but any applications brought to the state headquarters in person must be turned in by 5 p. m.

Included in these hunts this year are 1,700 permits in three deer hunts, and 1,225 permits in five elk hunts, Leonard said.

Postpones Swim

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Aug. 19.—California distance swimmer Florence Chadwick today again postponed her attempt to make a record-breaking 26-mile swim across the Irish channel to Scotland, because of bad weather and high winds made conditions impossible, she said. She would try again to swim from Lough Erne, Ireland, to Port Patrick, Scotland, tomorrow if the weather improves.

Curfew Lifted

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 19 (AP)—Pioneer league president Claude Engberg said today he has lifted the league curfew which prevented an inning from starting after 11:45 p. m.

He said the reason for his action was the fact that so many clubs are contending for the league's second half championship.

In the circuit its Salt Lake City at Magic Valley, Missoula at Great Falls and Boise at Pocatello.

Pitcher Mel Nelson starred in yesterday's only afternoon game as he led Billings on the mound and plate. Besides pitching the win, he knocked out the contest's only homer in the fourth. Don Choate went the route in the night game, allowing eight hits. Dick Schultz was the Missoula afternoon loser and starter Jim Russell took the rap for the night loss.

Great Falls turned in a strong performance against Idaho Falls while winning Russel pitcher Charlie Chronopoulos permitted a dozen hits. But the close-working Idahoans, never ones to slight opportunity, converted 13 hits into 13 runs and the victory. Great Falls starter Don Jorissen was tagged with the loss.

Pocatello, in the evening's scoreless contest, turned 15 hits into that many runs as winning hurler Henry Szostak gave up a mere six hits while going the route. Losing Salt Lake starter Tom Shima and his seventh inning replacement threw away the game.

152 Players Eyeing 55th Amateur Title

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 19 (AP)—An elite, but not regal, field of 152 top golfers teed off on the first leg of a strenuous week today in quest of one of the top prizes of the non-pros—the 55th western amateur championship.

They face a leg-wilting pace of 12 rounds, or 216 holes, in seven days of probable hot and humid weather over the 6,902-yard Old Watson Country club course.

It will be a new, if not tired, champion. Last year's winner Mason Rudolph, like Walker cupper Hillman Robbins, Jr., will be playing in the concurrent all-service tournament.

The only Walker cup team member in the field is Joe Campbell, Knoxville, Tenn., who won the national intercollegiate title while at Purdue.

Don Essig, Indianapolis, current western junior and national public links champ, rates high as does John Garrett, Houston, national intercollegiate finalist, and Phil Rodgers, La Jolla, Calif., 1955 national jaycee champ.

Three local shot makers who have to be counted in are Jim Tom Blair, 1951 western finalist and son of the governor of Missouri; Bob Cochran, western junior and Great Lakes amateur winner, and Jimmy Jackson, former Walker cupper and Trans-Miss Titlist.

Sentimental favorite is 67-year-old Chick Evans, an eight-time winner. Proceeds of the event will go to the Evans scholarship fund to send cadets to college.

DRAG RACER KILLED

DAYTON, O., Aug. 19 (AP)—Thomas E. Hutter, 38, Dayton, was killed on the Idaho drag strip yesterday while doing 107 miles per hour when his stripped-down racer skidded 284 feet and turned end over end.

T.F. Man Takes Singles Crown in Net Match Here

Bill Koch, Twin Falls, continued his domination of local tennis circles Sunday by trouncing Art Walker, Kimberly, 6-4, 6-1, to take the men's singles final in the Magic Valley open tennis tournament at Harmon park. Koch and Gene Shirley, Twin Falls, took top honors in men's doubles.

The meet was sponsored by the Twin Falls Tennis club and got under way at 10 a. m. There were 11 matches with some 32 entrants participating.

In other matches, Jo Walker, Kimberly, defeated Lois Lape, Twin Falls, 6-2, 6-1, to take first place in the women's singles in the junior boys' singles. Don Janak, Burley, defeated Bill Babcock, Twin Falls, 6-2, 6-2, for first place.

In the girls' singles match, first place went to Lois Lape, Twin Falls, when she defeated Lynn Wiley, Twin Falls, 6-2, 6-2.

Alan Folkman, Jerome, beat Brad Humphreys, Twin Falls, 6-2, 6-1, to take first place in the boys' doubles match.

Koch and Shirley teamed to defeat Art Walker, Kimberly, and Art Walker, Kimberly, 6-4, 7-5, in the men's doubles contest.

First place in the women's doubles went to Jo Walker, Kimberly, and Lynn Wiley, Twin Falls, after they defeated Carol Lindemer and Edwina Hinton, both Twin Falls, 6-2, 6-2.

Don Janak, Burley, and Vic Berrett, Twin Falls, ran into stiff competition from Bill Morrison and Bill Babcock, both Twin Falls, as they came from behind to win the junior boys' doubles match, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6.

In the boys' doubles match, Alan Folkman and Gene Prescott, both Jerome, defeated Roger Musier and Bob Lester, both Twin Falls, 6-4, 7-5, for first place.

Jo and Art Walker, Kimberly, combined forces to take Mickey and Bill Tymrell, Twin Falls, 6-1, 6-1 in the mixed doubles match.

All awards were presented by Koch following the final match.

Ken Venturi Beats Field At St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 19 (AP)—Golden boy Ken Venturi, 26-year-old former amateur star from San Francisco, "beat the pros" yesterday when he copped the St. Paul with a record-tying 72-hole total of 266—22 under par for his first big title since he turned professional.

Venturi, decided to try to play-for-pay tour after he defeated all the pros but Jackie Burke in the 1956 masters tournament, put together rounds of 68, 67, 65 and a final 68 to tie a record set by Lloyd Augman in 1951 and equaled by Dr. Cary Middlecott the next year.

"My new putting stroke did it," the former car salesman said. "I just changed a few basic things in the stroke before the Tam O'Shanter 'world' tourney and it worked perfectly."

Rose Roseburg, another San Franciscan, who led the field after his opening round 64, came back with 66 for a 208 total and second-place money in the $24,000 event.

English Car Breaks Six Speed Marks

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Aug. 19 (AP)—The British Motor corporation's experimental racing car, the EX179, set six American speed records for Class G cars Saturday on these western Utah salt flats.

The car which in two previous days' runnings broke nine world and 56 American national records was clocked both ways over a 10-mile straightaway. The speeds were averaged. There are no previous records for the class under these conditions.

Tommy Wisdom of England drove the streamlined car with 948 cubic centimeter cylinder displacement and 70 horse power, with a supercharger.

He was clocked at 143.31 miles per hour for a distance of one kilometer; 143.47 for one mile; 143.05 for five kilometers; 142.30 for five miles; 142.08 for 10 kilometers; and 138.33 for 10 miles.

Experts Call Rademacher, Patterson Tilt Mismatch

Boxing history could be made in more ways than one Thursday night, when Olympic champion Pete Rademacher makes his pro debut against Floyd Patterson in Seattle's Slick's stadium.

The bout is roundly condemned as a mismatch by boxing authorities the world over.

There is no betting line whatever on the fight. It is scheduled for 15 rounds but could wind up as the shortest heavyweight title fight on record. Tommy Burns holds the record. He stopped Jim Roche in 1:28 of the first round at Dublin, Ireland, March 17, 1908, according to the Ring Record Book. Joe Louis' annihilation of Max Schmeling in 2:04 of the first round, June 22, 1936, is the second fastest.

Rademacher, a balding, 28-year-old former football player, almost certainly has no chance at all. The big fellow, who stands 6-1½ and weighs 210, is a slow-moving fighter with fairly fast hands and a good punch. He was dropped in the first round by Dan Becker, a stocky South African, in the Olympic semifinals at Melbourne. But Pete jumped up quickly and stopped his rival.

An amateur for 15 years, Rademacher is accustomed to fighting 30-round bouts. At this stage it would be difficult for him to gear himself for longer fights. Patterson, who won the Olympic 165-pound crown in 1952, found it difficult to adjust himself to the longer route.

Patterson, 22, six feet and 185 pounds, has a 32-1 pro record including 22 kayos. His only defeat was an 8-round disputed decision to Joey Maxim on June 7, 1954.

In his last defense July 29, the fast-striking Patterson butchered Hurricane Jackson in a 10-round TKO. Jackson went to the hospital afterward.

Rademacher won 72 of his 79 amateur fights, including 35 by knockouts. In the Olympics, he swept all three of his fights by technical knockouts.

The bout is scheduled to start at 10 p. m. It won't be radio broadcast or telecast. Referee Tommy Loughran, the onetime light heavyweight champion, will be the only ring official.

Perez, with a flashy style and a fair punch, won two bouts this year. He stopped Julian Valquez (5) and outpointed Courchesne. But he was stopped by Harold Gomes (6) in his last start, July 12.

Lulu, 24, has a 36-11-1 record that includes 14 kayos. He was stopped three times.

Floyd Patterson says he has no designs on fighting 10 years from now. When he retires as a heavyweight he hopes to buy a farm in the country.

Play Begins For Women's Golf Crown

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 19 (AP)—Defending champion Mariette Stewart Strell ranked as the player's choice today while Barbara Romack Porter, the hometown girl who made good, was a heavy favorite as play began in the 57th annual U. S. women's amateur golf championship.

Poker-faced Mrs. Strell from Fonthill, Ore., who resembles the incomparable Ben Hogan in her powers of concentration on the golf course, and silver-blonds Mrs. Porter were two of a dozen players rated as championship possibilities in the match play tournament.

By the luck of the draw, both were placed in the same lower bracket, but will not meet until late in the week if they get past their early matches.

Mrs. Porter carries a plus-two handicap at the host Del Paso country club course and knows every foot of terrain and every break on the greens on the 6,368 yard, par 74 layout. She won the national in 1954 and has been playing in recent 2 to maintain a 3-game advantage over second-place Vancouver.

The Mounties shared triumphs with the Hollywood Stars, losing 13-4 and winning 5-4. The Stars are in fourth place, .001 behind San Diego.

San Diego lost 3-3 to sixth-ranked Los Angeles, then came back to edge the Angels 4-3. Seventh-place Sacramento lost to sixth-place Seattle 4-3 and beat them 7-2.

First Division In Coast Loop Stays Tight

By The Associated Press

The Pacific Coast league's final month promises to be exciting, if Sunday's games are any indication.

In all four doubleheaders, PCL clubs traded victories, leaving the first division as tight as it stood after Saturday's contests. Only five games separate fourth place from first, where the San Francisco Seals have been entrenched since June 11.

The Seals split with last-place Portland, losing 3-1 and winning 10-2 to maintain a 3-game advantage over second-place Vancouver.

Sailors Having Tough Living In Antarctica

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—Sailors on the icebreaker USS Healy are having a tough living in Antarctica. The crew is reported to be in good health and morale.

The story of the frigid life at the south pole filtered 9,000 miles to the 10,000 amateur radio station of Ham Paul M. Blum, a man who disdains sleep as "mere habit." Blum's radio is the only link the polar crew has to the warmer world other than their own radio communication.

Through Blum's radio have come the most popular radio programs of the world. Two weeks ago, Blum's radio was the only link the polar crew has to the warmer world other than their own radio communication.

Some sailors spend spare time studying for advancement in rank. Nearly all the polar crew are camera bugs. "They tell me they've a million pictures of the stars," Blum said.

The photo fans work under handicaps. I went outside today to take a photograph," radioed sailor Bill McPherson of Long Meadow, R. I. "My camera froze and a finger froze to the shutter. But I got my picture."

Gutter Ball

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 19 (AP)—G. Van Natta reported it to police when his bowling ball went into the gutter yesterday. His car was stuck open in a turn and the ball rolled out of the car into the street, Van Natta related.

Before he could retrieve it, another motorist leaped from a car, grabbed the ball and sped away.

Opinions Are Divided; Fall Outlook Poor
NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—Businessmen appear to be as divided as stock market operators and government and banking economists on the prospects for a boom this fall.

A survey of 205 industrial corporations today shows the majority of their top men still optimistic but also reveals a growing minority that now looks for a downturn in production and sales and especially in profits.

A similar taking of the consumer pulse recently also showed uneasiness spreading among those with the final say as to which way the economy will go. Consumers this summer are less confident than they were last winter that good times will go on forever.

Brokers' houses have been preaching caution in a stock market making wide swings with small volume. Most people seem to have taken to the sidelines.

Financial circles gossip about what they interpret as a split in opinion among federal reserve system officials as to whether business is heading up or down.

The gospel version on the New York federal reserve bank's failure to follow quickly in hiking the discount rate in the face of the current rate, any such hike usually is a fear that inflation and speculative boom are in the cards. Holding to the old interest rate of lowering it is usually interpreted as a fear of deflation rather than slow down of a business slowdown rather than a new boom.

Work Started
POCAHELLO, Aug. 19 (AP)—Work on the Michael unit of the Fort Hall reclamation project, expected to take two years, began today.

The $382,645 job includes a pumping plant building, three 1,500-horsepower pumps, a power substation and relocation of a sewer line.

Law to Control Reds Remains Untouched After Three Years
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Today is the third anniversary of a law which the government has treated like a dead letter. The law was passed in 1954 to control the activities of communists in the United States.

This week a government lawyer, looking at a copy of the 1954 act on his desk, said: "From the time this law was put together, I think members of congress must have written it on the back of matchboxes."

Law to Control Reds Remains Untouched After Three Years

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Today is the third anniversary of a law which the government has treated like a dead letter. The law was passed in 1954 to control the activities of communists in the United States.

This week a government lawyer, looking at a copy of the 1954 act on his desk, said: "From the time this law was put together, I think members of congress must have written it on the back of matchboxes."

But if now, while the test of the 1954 act is pending, the government began doing some of the other things to the party called for by the 1954 act, the communists might, and no doubt would do this:

They might try, by legal arguments about persecution, to get the court to throw out all the government has been trying to do under the 1954 law.

The 1954 act in large part makes additions, or amendments, to the 1950 act. The government has thought it safe to use only one of them, one which lets it move against communist-infiltrated unions.

The government has started action—also before the SACB—against two unions: The United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America; and the International Union of Mines, Mill and Smelter Workers.

But even there the government is in knots. Before anything comes off its case against the two unions, the courts will have to uphold what the SACB has already done under the 1950 act.

If the courts finally knock out the 1950 act, the SACB itself will be knocked out and anything it ruled now about the two unions mentioned above wouldn't count anyway.

Rite Pending For Victim of Plane Mishap

RUPERT, Aug. 19—Funeral services are pending here for Robert Underwood, about 30, a mechanic employed by Holmes Construction company, Heyburn, who was killed Saturday when he was struck in the spinning propeller of a small airplane.

Underwood, a passenger in a plane piloted by Harold Holmes, Burley, was returning from Austin, Nev., where he had been employed. They had made a forced landing at Lucin when engine trouble developed in the Cessna 180. Underwood got out, pulled around the plane into the field, officials said.

The body was brought to Tremonton, Utah, and from there to Rupert by the Goodman mortuary.

Underwood is survived by his wife and two children. The family has been living in Rupert for about a month, coming here from Park City, Utah.

Warrant Issued
BURLEY, Aug. 19—A warrant for the arrest of Ronald Evans, Rupert, has been issued by Justice of the Peace Joe Weidman on Evans' failure to appear on a charge of driving with an expired license. He was cited July 27.

Mustn't Cheat

MARGATE, England, Aug. 19 (AP)—Organizers of a mass channel swim scheduled to start at midnight weren't going to let any of the women participants get out in front if they could help it. They ordered Marshal Sam Rocket to inspect the 17 men and seven women swimmers for buoyancy aids including inflatable bras.

Record Crowd Is Predicted at Annual Event
BOISE, Aug. 19 (AP)—Western Idaho state fair manager Ambrose Johnson today predicted that a record crowd will visit the show here during its five-day run, Aug. 27-31.

Johnson said total attendance for the week should run over 125,000 persons, slightly more than last year.

Highlights of the fair this year, Johnson said, will be afternoon horse racing and a "horse-a-rama" evening event.

He pointed out that the racing would be divided into five classifications including thoroughbred, chariot, flag team, quarter horse and saddle horse competition.

Official Asks Small Budget For Military

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 19 (AP)—J. S. Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson called on Latin American nations today to curb military budgets to fight the menace of inflation.

Anderson's speech, prepared for delivery to the delegates of the Inter-American economic conference, was one of his first major addresses since joining President Eisenhower's cabinet.

Higher Standards
The rate of development in the western hemisphere is encouraging, Anderson said, but the people still demand effective ways to boost living standards.

"All of us, I am confident, will continue to scrutinize our military budgets in an effort to accomplish savings that would make resources available in each of our economies for the kind of constructive development that advances well-being," he said.

"Military expenditures by their very nature act as a brake on rising living standards and for that reason they should be held to a level that will provide an adequate posture of defense."

Chiang Could Launch Blows Against Reds

TAIPEI, Aug. 19 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek now has the military power to launch a limited attack against red China at any time, most observers here agreed today.

And, it is almost certain that widespread armed revolts against the communists will trigger a nationalist military move against the China mainland.

Encouraging Signs
For Chiang, who retreated to Formosa eight years ago, there have been encouraging signs during the past few weeks.

Reports from Canton say that posters have recently appeared proclaiming "Expel Mao-Tse-tung" and "Welcome President Chiang Kai-shek."

Students in the industrial city of Wuhan, in central China, have been shouting such slogans as "Welcome to the Kuomintang (Chiang's own party) to come back quickly."

Only last Thursday Peking radio announced the arrest of a rebel group in northern China.

It is generally agreed that Chiang's nationalist air force is capable of launching bombing raids or dropping paratroops in red China—thus touching off a war overnight.

The question is whether the nationalists have the naval and logistic ability to sustain a full-scale invasion of the China mainland.

The key point is whether Chiang has enough ships and planes to move a major portion of his 600,000-man force across the 100-mile Formosa straits.

Armchair strategists say red China's three-million-man military force would simply open up, let the nationalists pour in, and then swallow them. But military experts agree it is not that simple.

Chiang personally is convinced that once his troops gain a foothold on the mainland there will be wide support from Chinese there.

Desertions Seen
He also is counting on desertions from the red army. Reinforcing this belief is the fact that 14,000 red prisoners who fought in Korea decided to join the nationalists on Formosa rather than return to the communist mainland.

Chiang himself has admitted that he will need American backing (although not U. S. troops) in order to relate the mainland.

Chiang has made a remarkable comeback from bleak days of 1949 when American aid was cut to a trickle and most of the world was ready to write off Formosa.

The nationalists have maintained that communist control of the mainland is not an accomplished fact. The reports of growing unrest now coming out of red China for the first time tend to support this argument.

Services Held for Mrs. Alice Parks

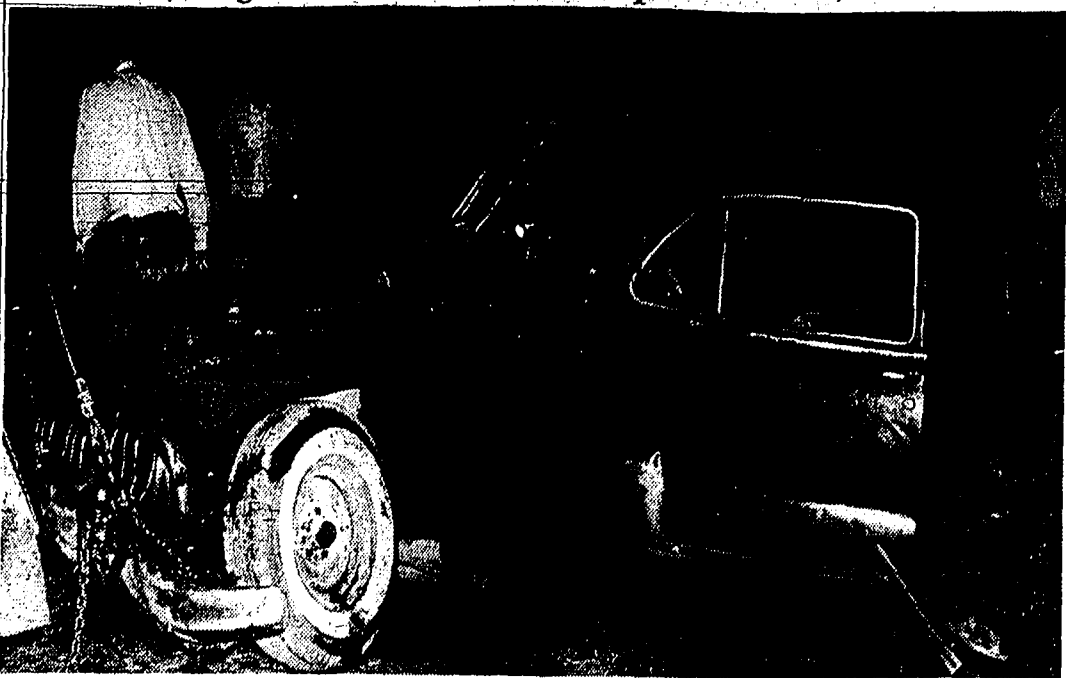

HAGERMAN, Aug. 19 (AP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Mary Parks were held Saturday at the Reorganized LDS church with Elder Lyle Gilmore and Elder Cecil Gilmore, Boise, officiating. Concluding rites were held at the Hagerman cemetery.

Mrs. Leonard Condit and Mrs. Cecil Gilmore sang, accompanied by Mrs. Morris Stokes who also played the prelude and postlude.

Funeralbearers were Dana Gilmore, Harry Dennis, Arlen Dennis, Elvin Dennis, William Ullman and Hale Gilman.

No Break for Paper Strike Foreseen Yet

DETROIT, Aug. 19 (AP)—Detroit's newspaper strike was deadlocked today. None of the city's three large dailies published in the face of a mailers' strike against one of them.

The vice president of the striking International Mailers union Local 40, Raymond Brown, said today he tried to arrange negotiations with the Detroit Newspaper Publishers association but was "refused."

None Will Publish
The dispute is between the mailers and the Detroit News. The publishers association, representing all three papers, said yesterday none of the papers will publish because under a joint contract, "a strike against one newspaper is a strike against all."

Brown said Robert Bulz, secretary of the association, "refused on behalf of the association to attempt to even settle this present dispute."

Brown quoted Bulz as saying, "These people have been discharged and are going to stay discharged."

He said he hoped the association "if not willing to meet with us" would "allow members of the clergy" to arrange or be present at a meeting between the opposite groups.

Sunday Papers
Detroiters received Sunday editions of the Times and Free Press. Both evening papers except for Sunday. An all-day meeting yesterday of the publishers association resulted in the no-publication decision, stopping today's editions.

The strike began early Saturday when the 87 News mailers walked out at the News after refusing to work a second overtime shift "because they couldn't humanly work on."

Construction of Two Plants Set

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 19 (AP)—Plans for construction of a multi-million-dollar pulp and paper mill and container plant near here by the Boise-Cascade corporation were announced here during the week-end by company president Robert V. Hansberger.

He said the two plants would be located at the Big Bend of the Columbia river about 30 miles west of here. He said cost of the two plants had not been determined exactly, but the industries would employ about 200 workers in the combined operation.

Boston Mailers' Strike Unsettled
BOSTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Negotiations were at a standstill today in the 11-day-old mailers' strike that has halted publication of Boston's six major daily newspapers.

The latest impasse resulted when state labor and industries Commissioner Ernest A. Johnson discontinued further negotiations with local union representatives of the International Typographical union. He charged the local union negotiators with "welching" on a promise to place a publishers' wage offer before the union membership for a vote.

Graham Approves Discipline Actions
NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham says he approves use of the rod and trips to the woodshed to discipline children. But he added that parents also should discipline children through love and understanding.

Graham addressed 19,000 persons last night in another of his New York crusade meetings in Madison Square garden.

Congress May Hold up Fund On Dam Study

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Congress may put off until next year action on a second request by the interior department for money to study the proposed Pleasant Valley dam site.

The department recently asked senate and house appropriations committees for permission to investigate the feasibility of building a high dam in the Snake river bordering Idaho and Oregon. The request may be overlooked in congress' rush for adjournment.

Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton wrote chairman of the committees, asking that $100,000 be made available to study a project which would flood the sites of a dam proposed by a group of private power companies and another planned by Idaho Power company.

Seaton wants to transfer the money from other survey projects and use it at Pleasant Valley, downstream from the Hells canyon reach of the Columbia river tributary, during the year which began July 1.

The high Pleasant Valley structure would flood the sites of a lower Pleasant Valley dam proposed by Pacific Northwest Power company and a Hells canyon dam licensed by the federal power commission for construction upstream by Idaho

Underpaid

IRVINGTON, N. J., Aug. 19 (AP)—Crime doesn't pay—at least not for thieves who broke into a local dairy.

They dragged a 300-pound safe down several flights of a fire escape, loaded it into an automobile, drove five miles away, then smashed it open.

The loot? Thirty-five cents.

Power.
PNP's application for a construction license is before the FCC. An examiner was recommended granting of the license to PNP, which was formed by four power firms in the Pacific Northwest.

Seaton said in his letter, submitted along with revised justification data: "Certain preliminary work has already been accomplished on the Pleasant Valley site. This work indicates that further detailed studies are justified by the federal government in order to determine whether this site should be developed to provide flood control and power production."

The importance of these studies, Seaton wrote, "is so great that it is felt that the distribution of the budget estimate as presented in the department's justification should be revised to provide an allocation of funds to finance the Pleasant Valley studies."

The strike lasted 117 days.

Dance Scheduled

JEROME, Aug. 19 (AP)—A jubilee dance will be held at the high school at 8 p. m. Saturday in conjunction with the Golden Jubilee celebration.

Music will be supplied by the Mountain Home air force base band.

Highlight of the evening will be the announcement of the winner in the jubilee queen contest.

Announcement will be made at 8 p. m. by Mrs. Hinkle Cox, chairman of the queen contest committee.
