House Passes Compromise Civil Rights Bill, Smooths Way for Last Senate Vote

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The house Tuesday passed a compromise bill and sent it to the senate. Congressional action there is expected to be completed later in the week. The house vote was 279-97. House action was taken over bitter-end opposition of Southern members, who denounced the bill as "judicial blackmail" and "a political sop to a highly organized minority group." Representative Selden, D., Ala., voiced the hope that the measure's senatorial foes will engage in extended debate when the compromise comes up in the senate.

Jerome's First Child To Sing at Pageant

JEROME, Aug. 27.—Mrs. Jeroma Kravenek Baker, Portland, Ore., who was born in Jerome on June 19, 1908, will present a vocal concert during the pre-pageant festivities at the Jerome Golden Jubilee celebration Tuesday night. Mrs. Baker was the first child to be born in Jerome. Following her birth nearly 50 years ago, residents of the treeless and arid region surrounded community held a celebration and took up a collection of $100 which was presented to Mrs. Baker's father. Kravenek saved the money for his daughter and, when she was old enough, bought a piano with it. Mrs. Baker credits this piano with starting her musical career. She switched to voice and took private lessons in Portland and, in 1928, won the Atwater-Kent contest for the western district. Among other honors bestowed upon her for being the first child born in Jerome, Mrs. Baker was presented with a silver cup by E. M. Rice, who drew the first farm on the new tract, and flour milled at the Jerome flour mill became Jerome flour. Her picture still is used on sacks of flour made at the mill.

Smylie Monday night crowned Anita Wilcomb as queen of the jubilee and Tuesday night Mrs. Jeroma Kravenek Baker, Portland, Ore., the first child to be born in Jerome, will present a vocal concert as a pre-pageant program.

The commission also said it would recommend a reduction in the state's sales tax rate from 3 percent to 2.5 percent. The commission's recommendations are based on a study of the state's tax situation and are expected to be adopted by the state legislature next year.

City Commissioners Reject Deal on Pool

The Twin Falls city commissioners Monday night voted not to buy an $8,000 swimming pool which will revert to the city free of charge in less than 14 years. The pool, located at the Harry Barry park, was built earlier in the year by the Holiday Swimming Pool company on city property. Terms of the lease at the time was that the city could purchase the pool for $5,000 at the end of six years or it would become city property at the end of 14 years. At the time the pool company stated it wanted to build the pool for advertising purposes and to be used to give swimming lessons. The city was to have use of the pool Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Recently the company has offered the pool to the city for $8,000. City Manager Joseph Lattimore claimed the pool would pay for itself in about three years if operated properly.

Urie, 17, route 1, Piler, at a county road intersection two miles south of Curry. Urie was charged with failure to yield the right of way. The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Wayne Hankins and State Patrolman D. L. Cain. Damage to the Ford was estimated at $600 and the Nash was demolished.

Flu Kills 1,000

DJAKARTA, Indonesia, Aug. 27 (AP)—The health ministry said today the Asiatic influenza epidemic cost an estimated 1,000 lives in Indonesia. About half a million persons were stricken with the disease which swept the nation starting last April according to reports compiled from regional public health offices. In conditions of tension and mistrust, no peace-loving state could give its permission for its entire territory to be flown over, he said. Zornin did not, however, turn down the alternate Western proposal for aerial inspection of a smaller Arctic zone. Western conference sources said they interpreted Zornin's remarks as a rejection of the larger "open skies" proposal.

Reds Claim Rocket Missile Can Deliver H-Bomb Anywhere

MOSCOW, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Kremlin has come forth with the first claim of successfully testing an intercontinental rocket missile capable of hitting "any spot on the globe." The announcement last night marked the most important Soviet military advance reported since Russia exploded her first H-bomb in August, 1953. If put into mass production, the nuclear-armed missile would seriously affect the world balance of power. So far there is no known defense against such a rocket. The statement broadcast to the world said the "super-range, multistage" rocket was tested several days ago. The missile flew at a record altitude, it said, covered a vast distance in a brief time and homed in on the target area. The announcement did not say that the test rocket carried a nuclear warhead. But the statement confirmed that a series of successful blasts of nuclear and thermonuclear hydrogen weapons had been set off in the Soviet Union in recent days. The United States announced last week that the Russians had resumed atomic tests in Siberia. Some members of the U. S. congress were skeptical of the Russian rocket claim, some labeling it propaganda. But Sen. Stuart Symington, D., Mo., former air force secretary, said that in the past such Kremlin announcements usually turned out to be fact. The Canadian defense minister, Maj. Gen. G. Randolph Peckers, said he doubted the Russians were ahead of the West in development of an intercontinental rocket.

Blood Quota Missing, Late Report Indicates

A blood drawing sponsored by the Twin Falls chapter of the American Red Cross was 70 pints below its quota of 150 at 1:15 p. m. Tuesday. The Rev. Robert Keim, general chairman for the blood drive, expressed disappointment and alarm at the lack of participation of local residents in the drawing. He said the Red Cross regional blood bank at Boise has not been able to fulfill its requirements of hospitals serviced by the bank. The Rev. Mr. Keim stated the regional bank had to borrow blood from other larger banks to meet the demands for blood made by hospitals. "If people do not participate in these blood drawings, blood will not be available in case of an emergency," the Rev. Keim said. The drawing was held at the American Legion hall and lasted from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. today.

Tipsy Driving Count Is Facing Teen-Ager

A case against a 17-year-old Filer youth charged with drunken driving, careless driving and driving without a driver's license was transferred Tuesday from Justice of the Peace Claude Brown's court to Twin Falls probate court. The youth, Jackie Davis, Filer, was taken into custody at 2:30 p. m. Monday on Kimberly road within the city limits by Constable Elton E. Holmes. Justice of the Peace Brown said the case will be handled under the youth rehabilitation act. Following the filing of charges Monday by Holmes, Brown conferred with Prosecuting Attorney James M. Cunningham regarding disposition. Holmes said he stopped the Davis car after he reportedly saw a bottle thrown from the window. He said Davis was driving 50 miles an hour. The posted speed limit where the car was stopped is 35 miles an hour. A Buhl man was cited for reckless driving Sunday night after being clocked driving 100 miles per hour in a 55-mile zone on the Clear Lakes road north of Buhl. Five others were cited for speeding by state police operating radar. Cited for reckless driving was L. George Hill, Buhl. He was later fined $50 and costs, plus a 30-day suspension. The sheriff's office reports Williams lost control of his car on a curve and, after passing through a gully, hit and broke off a telephone pole. The youth then walked two miles to Tom Behunin's farm and was rapping on the door when he fell unconscious on the porch. Mr. and Mrs. Behunin at first thought the noise was caused by dogs but, upon investigation, discovered Williams still was beating the side of the house with his heels although he was unconscious. They took him indoors and sent for Sheriff Keith Anderson and an ambulance. Hospital officials report he is not in serious condition. Eight families were left without telephones for four hours as a result of the accident.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Senator Jackson, D., Wash., told the senate today the United States has postponed target dates for achievement of 1,500-mile and 5,500-mile missiles. S. ballistic missile program "we will not be getting these weapons nearly as early as had been previously anticipated."

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 27 (AP)—Two men were killed and at least 10 train passengers injured today in a train-truck collision 20 miles northwest of Houston.

LONDON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Russia today rejected the West's disarmament proposal for aerial inspection of all the Soviet Union, the entire United States and Canada. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin, delivering a blistering attack on the West at the five-power London disarmament conference, in effect also rejected the West's conditions offer of a two-year suspension of nuclear tests. Zorin bluntly accused the West of preparing for a new war. In a 30-minute speech reviewing the entire arms cut negotiations, Zorin sharply asked the West about the purpose of its proposals on aerial inspection. He charged the latest open skies plan presented by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is designed merely to collect intelligence information for the preparation of aggressive warfare rather than for dispelling the possibility of war. Zorin's gruff speech, hardening the whole Soviet position on disarmament, significantly was delivered less than 24 hours after Russia claimed possession of an intercontinental ballistic missile which can be sent "anywhere in the world."

Tax Writeoff Limit Okayed By President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—A law signed by President Eisenhower yesterday which will limit fast tax writeoffs to industry.

The measure was passed in congress after a controversy arose when Idaho Power company was given fast tax writeoffs on two or three dams it is building on the Snake river in Idaho. The company later turned down the writeoffs.

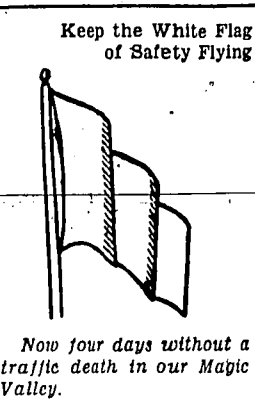

Critics claimed the company was not engaged in defense work and thus did not need rapid tax amortization certificates from the office of defense mobilization. Fast tax writeoffs were begun during World War II to spur defense industry construction.

The President's signature meant the program will come to an end Dec. 31, 1959. In the intervening months, only a limited group of defense and atomic energy operations will qualify for the write-offs.

Production Spur

Fast tax writeoffs allow tax benefits to industry as an inducement to expand production of needs in short supply.

The cost to the government in postponed taxes is expected to be five billion dollars under amortization certificates issued since the Korean war.

Now four days without a traffic death in our Magic Valley.

KEFAUVER TAKES BACK SEAT

Sen. Estes Kefauver and his antitrust and monopoly subcommittee languished with the wrong monopoly this summer and, as a result, his investigation of why U. S. Steel boosted its product $6 a ton recently didn't bear much fruit.

The senator from Tennessee who has an excellent past record for getting the maximum out of his hearings, is the first one to admit this.

The monopoly which proved too much for him was the hearing which his fellow Sen. John McClellan from Arkansas staged with his probe into union activities. McClellan and his boyish counsel, Bobby Kennedy, monopolized the big news and there was nothing that Keef could do about it.

Keefauver had as his star attraction the personable, eminently respectable chairman of the board of directors of U. S. Steel, Roger M. Blough. McClellan produced Jimmy Hoffa and the likes of Johnny Dio over a period of weeks and there was no competition.

If anybody should understand the public pull of gangsters on TV before a senate committee Keef should. He pioneered the idea with his probe of racketeering several years ago.

That's not to say that both Kefauver and Blough didn't give the effort to put news juice in the hearing a good college try. For example, they wandered into an informative discussion of how Macy's and Gimbel's in New York set prices and compete with each other.

Keefauver then moved to the price of eggs. He read a letter to a farmer from a farmer who complained that he was not getting a cost-of-living increase in the price of his eggs which he was selling.

Eventually, when the conversational detours were passed, Kefauver, asked Blough if he would supply the subcommittee with a breakdown of all the costs which went into one ton of steel.

"There's no other way to draw final conclusions," Kefauver said.

Blough replied that he considered this information a competitive secret.

Then Keef said that the subcommittee would take the cost breakdown, keep it confidential and only report it as an average, figured in with the same information from other steel companies.

Blough said he didn't think he could do that and the U. S. Steel phase of the hearing ended. It took up 784 pages of testimony.

RIFT IN BAMBOO CURTAIN

For eight long years the free world has had to rely upon usually inadequate and infrequent accounts of life behind the bamboo curtain in Communist China.

Most of these have come from once-imprisoned soldiers, missionaries, traders and the like. Generally untrained as observers, they have seldom been able to give us a penetrating report.

Now at last we will have a chance for a comprehensive and yet probing look at Chinese life after eight years of red rule.

The state department is allowing some two dozen American correspondents to enter the country to report what they see.

It goes without saying that the Peiping government is not interested in having these reporters divulge any brutal and embarrassing truths. The Communists will do their level best, as they do in Russia and its satellites, to control what the U. S. newsmen will see.

But perfect control is impossible, of course. And we can be sure that the American reporters who go into China will measure up to the high standard of U. S. journalism—which means they are trained as no others anywhere to dig beneath the surface, to see what was not intended for viewing.

Coupled with the greater freedom now given western newsmen in Russia and at least part of its satellite orbit, this entry into Red China represents a potentially significant gain in the quest for truth on the vast Eurasian land mass.

It is incredible to think that since 1949 the free world has been virtually blacked out from any steady, sure knowledge about the most populous country on earth.

Now that the barrier is being lowered, at least for the time, we count upon our seasoned news observers to bring us a lively, discerning and full account which will more than make up for all the years of sparse and distorted news about China.

And we count upon them to do it without any stage playing the propaganda game which the Chinese Reds undertook when they invited our reporters to come in.

SHOT FOR IKE

The United States public health service advises that vaccine to combat Asiatic influenza be given first to some 12.5 million essential workers in America.

But it came as something of a surprise to hear President Eisenhower tell his news conference that he expects to get a shot when it becomes generally available to the public. The nation obviously has no more essential worker than its President. There would seem to be no need to elaborate on this.

Doctors, nurses and health personnel in some areas already have received their inoculations. Mr. Eisenhower, standing at the very pinnacle of the country's vital work force, should have his shot without further delay.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The current session of congress will recess without even discussing the two most important and threatening problems confronting the nation today. Instead, the legislators at Washington have spent—or wasted—almost eight months in wrangling over civil rights, which affect only 15,000,000 people, and on foreign aid that benefits hardly any American taxpayers and citizens.

The two entirely neglected questions of great national concern are juvenile delinquency and increased economic support and security for the rapidly aging population—that is, the men and women over 65. The legislators showed no interest regarding these admittedly grave subjects, although they have definite political undertones.

However, it is known that both these problems will be presented to the session which opens next January. Seeking a popular issue for the 1958 and 1960 elections, when a new congress and President will be chosen, respectively, Democratic "liberals" will make a bid for the youth and old folks vote, which far exceeds the racial bloc of 15,000,000. There are lots of votes in the valleys of youth and the hills of age.

CONGRESS NEGLECTS IMPORTANT MATTERS

It will not be a mere political gesture. Many serious minded members believe that the states and cities cannot bear these burdens alone, and that they have become a subject of federal consideration and solution.

They argue that congress appropriates many millions for numerous federal agencies—the federal bureau of investigation, the treasury agents and the postoffice inspectors—to catch criminals, most of whom are less than 30 years old. But the same congress does not spend a nickel to keep youngsters from straying into paths of crime.

The congress, it seems, never heard of the maxim that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

THREAT TO SOCIETY—Juvenile delinquency is so great a threat to society that it is sure to become a political issue in numerous forthcoming elections in states and cities, especially in the great metropolitan areas. Many a governor or mayor may lose out because of the opposition's challenge that they have been as delinquent as congress in neglecting this problem.

The Republican nominee for mayor of New York has made juvenile crime and delinquency a major issue in his contest against Mayor Robert F. Wagner. The latter has responded by silencing officials who know and would like to publicize the extent of juvenile assaults upon society.

This issue, despite congressional indifference, will be raised in such metropolitan areas as Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles and San Francisco, to mention only a few places. If they seek reelection, the governors and mayors in those areas should clean up quickly.

SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFICIARIES—The principal problem involving the old folks concerns the amount of money which they are permitted to earn after they have retired at 65, and have become eligible for social security payments.

The maximum which they may earn now is $1,200 a year without forfeiting social security benefits. But they may collect from Uncle Sam this same amount even if they receive a million dollars in investment income. Critics of the system maintain that this is an unfair and an unrealistic arrangement.

With today's inflationary prices pressing on fixed incomes, even if a husband and wife receive the maximum social security payments of about $2,000 a year, and if they earn the permitted amount of $1,200 a year, they cannot live comfortably and decently in retirement. The capitol hill mail on this subject far exceeds constituents' complaints on any other domestic or foreign issue, which makes the congressional falling almost unbelievable.

Numerous neglected bills before congress would increase the $1,200 maximum of legal earnings to $3,000. Some would outlaw any limitation on "earned income," as against money from investments. Their sponsors contend that the boost would tend to decrease delinquency among the youngsters and their grandparents.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

SEED BURNED LANDS
 Many thousands of acres of rangeland have been burned over this hot and dry summer throughout the Intermountain West.

Blackened areas which had been covered with dry low-type grass and brush extend as far as the eye can see in a shocking number of sections, particularly in southeastern Idaho, where towns, farms and other valuable property have been damaged or endangered by racing flames.

Much of the land is publicly owned, a great deal of it administered by the federal bureau of land management. Many years of unregulated or inadequately controlled grazing, plus some deliberate and unwise burning, have removed the desirable forage and only form of plant life, largely cheat grass, remains. This is highly inflammable when mature and a poor range cover.

After the land has been burned over conditions are good for reseeding the land into desirable grasses which are not only more palatable for livestock but put down deeper roots and serve as a better protective cover for the soil. These grasses, particularly the wheat grasses, remain green longer even in drought conditions and therefore do not burn at every drop of a match or cigarette.

The bureau of land management has reseeded programs under way but the job of rehabilitating some 150 million acres of federal range is incredibly large. Funds should be available to reseed the burned over rangelands so that beneficial grasses will sprout as soon as moisture falls. Cooperative programs should be ready to go, particularly in acute problem areas.

A bureau of land management report says about 50 per cent of federal range lands are in a state of severe to critical erosion and 32 per cent are eroding moderately. This is gross waste—destruction of topsoil. Cheat grass should be replaced with desirable plants.—Salt Lake Tribune.

THE NEW DUCK SEASON

Under a lately announced change in regulations, Idaho duck hunters will have full 95 days—15 days longer than last year—to pit their skills and energies against the wily waterfowl.

As set by the Idaho fish and game commission, under authorization by the U. S. fish and wildlife service, the season will open Oct. 5—eight days earlier—and close Jan. 7—seven days later than last year.

Presumably more ducks will be bagged during the longer season, although some allowance has been made for that with reduction of bag and possession limits; and a logical inference would seem to be that there may be more ducks to be shot at this year than there have been heretofore, which would mark an approach to Ducks Unlimited goal to be applauded by everyone interested in that organization's cause.

There is indicated, at any rate, a situation in which the experts deem a bit of readjustment may be desirable, and it's to be given a try.

On the face of it, the extended season would seem to provide the best chance in quite a while of furnishing some hunting for all parts of the state. And duck hunters may be expected to take full advantage of it.—Idaho Daily Statesman.

ALGERIAN MASSACRES

President Coty of France is right in saying that nobody can learn of the latest massacres carried out by one of the Algerian rebel movements without being overwhelmed with pity and horror. But it hardly follows, as he suggests, that all civilized peoples should henceforth refuse any hearing to those whom he describes as the "instigators" of this hideous terrorism. That would merely prolong the slaughter.

The only rational conclusion, surely, is the need for France to strengthen the hand of those nationalist leaders who favor negotiation. This means offering to negotiate on terms which would enable them to rally more popular support. All experience of such situations shows that, if this is not done, the less extreme leaders lost their following to the more extreme.—The Observer, (London).

POT SHOTS

BRING WOLVES BACK!

Dear Shooter:

Everyone is entitled to her opinion, but I sort of resent it when women like my neighbor start flaming their opinions down my throat. That's what I told her. First she looked startled, then she laughed and now we're closer friends than ever!

It all started over this matter of bugs. Our yards were overrun with earwigs, aphids, spiders, mites and what have you. I suggested that we should have our yards sprayed to clean out the pests and give the plants a chance.

But not my neighbor! She insisted the Good Lord intended for those to eat up our shrubbery and that was that! So I told her she was entitled to her opinion but my yard was going to be sprayed and if she didn't want to spray her yard that was just fine and anyhow if that was the way she felt, she should make some sort of arrangements for packs of wolves, lions and grizzly bears to be turned loose on the continent like they used to be and also millions upon millions of buffalo.

And, well, I guess I sort of lost my temper, but anyway we both started laughing at the same time and we both had our yards sprayed at the same time and we don't have near as many bugs.

(Which Isn't Hard!)

From Labor day to Aug. 8, I have spent in fair Idaho, its mountains, canyons, deserts, streams and fertile valleys. I love it.

Its views that have a breathless charm, its sun and wind and sagebrush smell.

Its solitude that speak of God, its habitations where men dwell.

Oh, let me come again to you, named by the Redman long ago.

YEP, IT'S CROOKED!

Now that I have my money back.

I'm willing to agree that this system of issuing special permits is crooked.

No antelope permit. No goat permit. But on those deer and elk special hunts, I finally got smart. Didn't send in an application! That's the only way you can beat the game.

But lots of guys are going to join me in being mad at the fish and game department. Know what the ruling has been on moose permits? You're allowed just one permit in a lifetime. Well, I heard from a guy who should know that the fish and game department is going to change that ruling so that all the lucky soss-and-sos who have already had their moose permit will be eligible to get another one!

See what I mean when I say it's crooked?

 GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—After months of hearings before the senate committee investigating labor racketeering, with evidence of gangsterism and corruption on a wide scale, organized labor in this country is faced with an unhappy choice.

The AFL-CIO must purge itself of those who have hidden behind the fifth amendment to conceal the wrongdoing uncovered by committee investigators, as well as those who have brazened out the tactics of violence and corruption developed in the hearings. Big labor's executive council is faced with the demand to discipline and perhaps purge such powerful moguls as Maurice Hutzschon of the Carpenter's union and James R. Hoffa, who seems likely to replace Dave Beck as president of the Teamsters' union.

But to do this threatens to rock the uneasy balance of power within the organization. The unions involved were the bulwark of the AFL before the merger with the CIO. If the Teamsters and the builders should resist disciplinary action by walking out, the CIO and the industrial unions would be dominant.

Confronted with this unhappy choice and with the shocked reaction of the public to the disclosures before the McClellan committee, some AFL-CIO leaders are now saying that, after all, the trade union movement is a business like any other business and why should any one expect unions to have higher ethical standards? Big business, the argument runs, is more corrupt and more ruthless than big labor, and so why should labor be put on the defensive because a few union officials have been corrupted?

A. J. Hayes, head of the International Association of Machinists and chairman of the AFL-CIO ethical practices committee, in an article entitled "Critics in Glass Houses," demands to know why there should be such indignation against organized labor when corruption in other areas has gone almost unnoticed.

"Perhaps moral indignation," Hayes wrote, "like charity should begin at home. Corruption, as I have noted before, is a disease which infects society at large, and its manifestation in the labor movement is merely part of the total picture. I cannot accept with good grace much of the criticism which emanates from others who show far less concern for cleaning their own houses than the labor movement has shown."

He went on to cite several instances of corruption in business that got little attention in the press. But for many in the labor movement it is not enough for the pot to call the kettle black. These leaders who insist the AFL-CIO must clean house are making an issue of the Hutzschon case.

A sharp skirmish occurred at the recent council meeting in Chicago when, with some reluctance, the council agreed to take jurisdiction in the Hutzschon matter but to postpone action.

Hutzschon's allies in the building trades pointed out that he was not accused of misusing union funds. When he took the fifth amendment before a senate committee he was being questioned about a deal that netted $80,000, divided among his alleged co-conspirators (including two other Carpenters' union executives) who were said to have had inside information about a projected highway in Indiana. Was this fraud, as had been suggested before the committee, or was it just a business deal such as any business man might have entered into? And Hutzschon, who inherited a considerable fortune as well as control of the union from his father, was not using union funds.

But this was not a sufficient answer for Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers and James B. Carey of the International Union of Electrical Workers. Reuther challenged the right of the unions to a double standard of morality. Carey, insisting the council must take action, read from the AFL-CIO's own code of ethical practices:

"The American labor movement has ever been quick in its denunciation of public officials who betray their trust. We have been equally critical of businessmen who have used corrupt methods and bribery to gain their selfish, acquisitive ends. We must be equally quick to recognize and condemn those instances of racketeering, corruption and disregard of ethical standards when they occur inside our labor movement."

The council meets in New York on Sept. 24 for a showdown on the accused union leaders. Beyond Hutzschon are Hoffa and the Teamsters' union officials who ducked the fifth amendment.

Whether big labor can survive the shattering impact of this challenge is a question no one can answer with certainty.

LEWISTON, Aug. 27 (P)—A skin diver yesterday recovered the body of Rex Grove, 19, Lewiston, from the Grande Ronde river near Anacostia, Wash.

Searchers from both Washington and Idaho had sought the boy's body after a witness reported to officers that he saw Grove sink beneath the surface of the river while trying to reach shore Sunday.

American Student in Peiping Has Admiration for Red China

PEIPING, China, Aug. 27 (P)—in movies and comic strips," said Touring American youths yesterday met another American who came to Peiping the hard way. Captured in the Korean war, he is now a Peiping university student.

He is Morris Willis, 24, Fort Ann, Lake George, N. Y., who was taken prisoner at the 38th parallel in Korea in 1951.

Members of the American youth delegation in China paid a visit to Willis yesterday at Peiping university where he is a fulltime student of Chinese literature.

They dined together in the university cafeteria while Willis recounted his experiences and opinions of China.

"Before coming to China I had some primitive ideas about the Chinese people wearing pig tails and acting the way they are portrayed

"I like it here and like the people," he said. "I want to complete my studies."

While talking, Willis ate his food with a large fork instead of the traditional chopsticks.

"I never did learn to use them," he explained. "I like some types of Chinese food but not all."

"I still eat American food and dress as Western as possible," Eugene Bronstein, 24-year-old student from New York City on the American youth tour, asked Willis if the Chinese feel any hostility toward Americans.

"No—not toward the average American," he replied. "But don't let the American government's policy toward socialist countries."

The young ex-GI taken prisoner by the Chinese when he was 18, expressed the opinion that improvements affecting the life of the ordinary citizen have taken place since his arrival—especially in food, dress, construction and rise in industrial capacity.

In support of his claims, Willis said, "The Chinese make their own cars and planes now."

Asked whether he wants to return to the United States and study, he said, "Well, I get a little homesick once in a while but I have no definite plans for returning home right now."

"I'll return only after finishing my studies," he said.

Legion Executive Eyes Capitol Job
 BOISE, Aug. 27 (P)—The Idaho department commander of the American Legion says he may challenge Gov. Robert E. Smylie for the Republican gubernatorial nomination next year.

Hawley Atkinson, Boise insurance man, said Sunday he has been asked to run by a number of people and is "taking a good look at it."

The answer is still yes and no with me," he said, adding that his decision "would not be based on who else was going to run." Smylie has not said whether he will seek reelection.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Aug. 27—Twenty-seven Idaho cities will have an opportunity to view one of the U. S. atomic energy commission's latest traveling exhibits which feature commercial use of atomic power during September and October, it was announced here today.

The free exhibit, designed to acquaint the public with the many programs concerned with the peaceful applications of nuclear energy, will begin the Idaho tour at Preston on Sept. 15.

Entitled "Atoms for Peace," the exhibit is shown under the national sponsorship of the National University Extension association, of which the University of Idaho is a member, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The heart of the display is a series of panels which simply but graphically cover virtually the entire field of nuclear energy from a description of the nature of the atom to the utilization of nuclear reactors in producing electric power.

The display includes examples of the use of radio isotopes—the so-called "tracer atoms"—in medicine, agriculture, industry and other fields of research and development. Several of the panels are animated. In addition, the exhibit contains actual radioactive ore samples, simulated fuel elements, reactor control rods, radiation-detection instruments and other materials.

Mobile units used to transport the displays are the latest developments in the field of public education on peaceful uses of atomic energy carried out by the atomic energy commission since its formation in 1947. They are managed for the AEC by the museum division of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, a non-profit educational corporation.

During the Idaho tour, the mobile unit will visit Preston, Sept. 15; Pocatello, Sept. 16; Blackfoot, Sept. 17; Idaho Falls, Sept. 18; St. Anthony and Rexburg, Sept. 19; American Falls, Sept. 20; Rupert and Burley, Sept. 21; Twin Falls, Sept. 23; Jerome and Wendell, Sept. 24; Gooding, Sept. 25; Mountain Home, Sept. 26; Boise, Sept. 26-27; Nampa, Sept. 28; Caldwell, Oct. 1; Emmett, Oct. 2; Payette and Weiser, Oct. 3; Grange-

Shown here is part of an exhibit illustrating the commercial use of atomic energy. The exhibit will be taken to 27 Idaho cities, including Rupert, Boley, Twin Falls, Jerome, Wendell and Gooding.

Irish Terrorists Set Off Blasts

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Aug. 27 (AP)—Irish nationalists renewed their attacks on British-held positions Sunday, blowing up a customs post and a postoffice garage. The extremists wrecked the customs hut at Strabane, County Tyrone, with the blast breaking windows a quarter mile away. A short time before a small bomb exploded in a postoffice garage at Londonderry. There were no casualties in either incident.

Road Demanded

LEWISTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—About 2,000 persons attended a rally Sunday at which speakers called for early completion of the unfinished section of the Lewis and Clark highway.

Only a 20-mile link in the rugged Idaho wilderness just west of the Montana border needs to be constructed to provide an interstate highway from a point south of Missoula, Mont., to Portland via Lewiston.

Hoffa Facing Charges From Ethics Group

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The AFL-CIO's ethics practices committee today filed a new set of charges against Teamsters' union Vice President James R. Hoffa.

The committee said the charges were based primarily on evidence against Hoffa uncovered by the senate ethics committee. Hoffa testified four days before the committee last week.

Not Made Public
The charges against Hoffa and other high Teamster officials previously named will be aired at a hearing late next week in Washington. The charges were not made public.

An AFL-CIO source said that some allegations other than those made by senate investigators are included in the committee's evidence against Hoffa, heir-apparent to the presidency of the nation's largest single union.

At a hearing May 6, Teamster President Dave Beck and Vice Presidents Frank Brewster and Sidney Brown were named by the AFL-CIO as responsible for corruption in the union.

A supplemental report, not made public, was issued to the Teamsters on July 24.

Could Be Expelled
The Teamsters could face expulsion from the AFL-CIO if they fail to follow clean-up directives expected to be issued by the federation.

The Teamsters executive board is currently meeting in Los Angeles to decide what to do about the clean-up orders.

The new charges against Hoffa were announced shortly before the ethics practices committee began hearings on alleged corruption in the United Textile workers (UTW).

Committee Chairman Al J. Hayes and Jacob Polotsky, president of the Amalgamated Clothing workers, sit as a two-man committee.

UTW President Anthony Valente and Secretary-Treasurer Lloyd Kienert, accused of misusing $128,000 in union funds, appeared with 20 members of the UTW executive board at the hearing.

The Bryson boy was pulled from the ditch about 300 feet from where he fell in by his grandfather, George Gifford. Elmer Hurt gave artificial respiration and a doctor was called. Hurt keeps an oxygen bottle and face mask at his home, and the doctor used the equipment to revive the little boy.

T. F. Rejects Purchase on Pool at Park

$8,000 go toward buying the pool. Instead of to the police department, he said he thought the pool would be good for the community.
Two unidentified citizens from the neighborhood where the pool is located voiced their opinion against the purchase. They said they were happy to have the pool in their area and would like to see it remain under its present management.
Voting against buying the pool were Larsen, H. R. Grant, James Norfleet, and William Ostrander. Smith and J. Ted Davis were absent.
The commissioners postponed a review of plans of the Kimberly Road and Five Points west intersection until their next meeting which will be held Tuesday, Sept. 3, at 7:30 p.m. No meeting will be held Labor Day night.
City Attorney Robert N. W. Ballen said that what will be necessary to get set for the city this fall. He said he wanted the commissioners to advise him if he should include an advisory ballot regarding changes for dogs. Latmore says he has received about 10 calls on the dog leash subject and about nine of them have been in favor of such law.
Ballen said registration for the election will begin Sept. 5 and close Oct. 5. Filing for the three seats on the commission to become vacant will begin Sept. 9 and close Sept. 26. Voting will be Oct. 8, between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. Terms expiring are those of Norfleet, Smith and Larsen.
The commissioners approved plans for the final plat to the Howard DeWitt sub-division to be divided in lots with a 50-foot front.
They approved a basic agreement with the U. S. government and the state to build the proposed armory in Twin Falls. The city will pay 10 percent of the costs of the basic building. Any additions wanted by the city may be added at city expense.
An ordinance was passed authorizing fund transfers to the general fund from the sprinkling, flushing and cilling fund, $25,000; recreation fund, $7,000, and the fire department fund, $4,000.
Authorization was given Larsen to sign plans for the extension of the airport runway at Joslin field.
The commissioners authorized the city manager to call for bids for local improvement district number 81, a sewer project. It was agreed earlier by the commissioners that bids would be received and the people affected would be notified as to the cost of the project prior to approval. If too many disapproved the project would be dropped. Date set for receiving the bids is Sept. 23.
An ordinance was passed authorizing the issuance of bonds for local improvement district number 80, which was for sidewalks, curbs and gutters. The bond issue will be for $139,500 to be paid by property owners involved.

U. S. Lagging In Designing Of Jet Liners

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27 (AP)—In the mahogany-paneled battlefields of international commerce, a bare-knuckle scrap is shaping up over whether America's airplane builders will dominate the new age of turbine travel.
The piston engine era is coming to a close. American plane builders have swamped the field for 30 years.
The jet era is opening, and the British and French have declared themselves in for a fair piece of it. In the shadows is the Soviet Union, obviously preparing to equip the jet airlines of the communist bloc.
The battle of slide rules, sales charts and high finance is a quiet, concerned, but the more observant man-on-the-street saw part of it earlier this year when two shiny new foreign-built airliners toured the United States.
First came the British-made Bristol Britannia, a huge, four-engine turboprop luxury job dubbed "the whispering giant."
Behind it came the French twin-jet Caravelle, burning almost as much champagne as it did gasoline as it hopped from city to city.
On both occasions, American builders watched glumly as the visitors offered free rides to airline executives while smiling salesmen poured cocktails and propaganda.
Both planes were behind the British Vickers Viscount, the smooth turbo-prop plane that has been in airline service now for more than a year.
The pure jet plane is powered by the thrust from its propellerless engines. The turbo-prop gets its power both from the propeller and the thrust from the engines' exhausts.
As of today, American manufacturers have yet to roll out their first production jet airliner. Great Britain's De Havilland company flew the four-jet Comet II five years ago. This upsurge of foreign competition has made itself felt.
Figures of one year ago showed that of some 5,000 transport aircraft in service throughout the world, 85 percent were American-built. Today there are about 1,225 jet and turbo-prop aircraft on order by the world's airlines—and only about 74 percent will be American.
This is not exactly causing chaos in American circles. As Boeing, Douglas and Convair close in on their delivery dates, their jet sales are holding brisk. Their orders for the next four years total 722 jets compared with 56 orders for the Comet IV and the Caravelle.
But in turbo-props, it's Britain's Vickers and Bristol firms with 258 orders to only 189 for America's Lockheed and Fairchild.
British aviation experts believe, and rightly so, that the emergence of the Caravelle and Comet IV in the short-to-medium market may force American manufacturers to speed their own activity in that field.

General Says Testimony on Reserve True

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Air Force Lieut. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, Jr., has denied giving false testimony to back up a promotion for film star James Stewart.
O'Donnell said last night that "Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R. Me., was 'wrong' when she said he had given false testimony and then tried to have it stricken from the printed record of the senate armed services committee."
The World War II bomber commander who is air force deputy chief of staff for personnel, was visibly upset when he issued a statement to newsmen. He reiterated that Stewart had met legal requirements for promotion to brigadier general in the reserves.
Last week Mrs. Smith blocked senate approval of the movie actor's promotion and that of another reserve colonel—J. B. Montgomery, a former strategic air command major general who resigned his commission in 1955.
Mrs. Smith contended that O'Donnell gave "extensive false testimony" before the committee in behalf of Stewart and 10 other reserve officers.

Deadline Is Near For Highway Tax

BOISE, Aug. 27 (AP)—Calvin E. Wright, Idaho district director for the internal revenue service, reminded truckers today that Aug. 31 is the deadline for filing returns and paying the highway use tax for the year which began July 1.
Forms for filing and instruction booklets are available at all internal revenue offices, Wright said, adding that late-filing penalties are compulsory under the law.
The tax was levied by congress last year to help pay the cost of the new nationwide highway construction program. Returns due Aug. 31 must include reports on all vehicles in use by truckers during July. If additional trucks are put in use later, they must be reported by additional returns.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

An army of little children will go to school this fall for the first time. This is a momentous occasion in the child's life. He has looked forward to it for a long time and now that the great day is approaching he is excited and perhaps fearful.

His attitude toward this important event in his life will depend largely on how his mother has prepared him for it. If they talked about school as a place where he would find friends, have a best friend in his teacher and learn a great deal that would make him a big boy, a big girl, like his hero down the block; if they told him that he would have real work to do with pencils and crayons and even tools like scissors and brushes; if they told about the games and the fun there was at recess time, he is not likely to be too scared about what may happen to him.

Of course if they have taken him to the school so that he is somewhat familiar with the layout, shown him the rooms, the yards and the toilets and the drinking fountain, he will be less afraid.

It is not possible to remove fear from the child's mind because the new and the unfamiliar are always a bit frightening. That is why we try to take the newness off the idea of school as much as possible. If he has a friend going to school for the first time and likely to be in the same class that helps tremendously.

The mother's attitude on this important event is of great importance. If she is cheerful, matter-of-fact, chats about how wonderful it is to be going to school with all the other children she will avoid many troubles.

Does your child get along well with other children? Does he meet strangers easily? Do. Patri's booklet, "Your Child and Other People," tells how to guide your child in his behavior with other people. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Mrs. Angelo Patri, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Children catch the moods of their elders and it is extremely important that on this occasion there are no fearful good-byes, no last lingering farewells at the classroom door. It is better to deliver the new scholar to the teacher and vanish.

The teacher has a big share in the feeling a new pupil has at the end of the first day. If she gives each one a smiling welcome, shows him where he is to sit, where he is to hang his hat and coat, gives him a hook, a pencil and some paper and something to do.

Something of the first day. No matter how many reports are to be made, and they are many, please, Teacher, give the beginners a lesson, and then something to do. Teach them a line or two of a verse, a little song or something, so that when they go home and are asked, "What did you learn today," the answer will be prompt, full of a triumphant success instead of a bored, "Nothing. She was busy." Do make it something.

Cowboys Explode for Seven Runs in Eighth Inning to Tounce Timberjacks 13-4

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 27 (AP)—The Magic Valley Cowboys held onto second place in the Pioneer league Monday when they pounded out a 13-4 decision over the Missoula Timberjacks. The Jacks were tied for third place with Idaho Falls going into Monday's games. Magic Valley was leading the Jacks 4-3 going into the eighth inning when Cowboy batters blasted home seven runs to break up the contest. Tom Clarkson started off the rally with a single and moved on to second base as Vic Kray drew a walk. Back to back doubles by Lou Jackson sent three runs in and that was all for starter Dean Curtis, who was replaced by Billy Sheffield.

Sievers Is Threat to Mantle's Homer Title

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—Roy Sievers is in a good position to replace Mickey Mantle as the American league home-run king and become the first Washington player to lead his circuit in this department. While Mantle and Williams have failed off in their homerun production—Mantle's Monday was his first since Aug. 13, while Williams hasn't hit one since Aug. 14—Sievers has been going at a fast pace.

Phillies Drop Braves 4-3 on Pinch Single

By The Associated Press
Pinch-hitter Ron Northey came through with a bases-loaded single in the ninth inning, breaking a tie and giving the Philadelphia Phillies a 4-3 victory over the visiting Milwaukee Braves Monday night. Northey's hit, a liner into right field, came after reliever Ernie Johnson walked Ted Kazanski and yielded a single to Chico Fernandez. Harry Anderson batted for catcher Joe Lonnett and was purposely passed.

Tebbetts Puts Curfew On Slumping Redlegs

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—Angry manager Birdie Tebbetts lowered the boom on his slumping Cincinnati Redlegs today, slapping them with a curfew and rules on drinking beer and smoking. Tebbetts barred the door of the Redlegs' clubhouse at the Polo grounds after yesterday's 17-3 loss to the Giants, Cincinnati's 13th defeat in the last 14 games, and "roasted" his players' ears. It was learned he announced the following rules for players:

Kaline Powers Detroit Past Yankees 5-2

By The Associated Press
Detroit's Frank Lytle overcame the damage caused by Mickey Mantle's early power and with the help of Al Kaline's third homerun in two days rolled to a 5-2 victory over the New York Yankees Monday.

Illness Forces Delay in Contract Fight Between Basilio, Robinson

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—Promoter James D. Norris was stricken by food poisoning and taken to a hospital late Monday, postponing a meeting with middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson, who had been threatened with loss of his title earlier in the day by the state athletic commission. Norris, 50, became ill in International Boxing club offices at Madison Square garden shortly before Robinson showed up with his managerial retinue and lawyers. Robinson had arranged the meeting after the commission ruled he had to fight Carmen Basilio Sept. 23 as scheduled or face possible loss of the 160-pound crown.

Korean Civilian Killed by Guard

SEOUL, Aug. 27 (AP)—The U. S. army announced that a Korean civilian died yesterday after being hit by a ricocheting bullet fired by an American soldier guarding the Inchon pipeline.
 The army gave this account:
 The guard, Pfc. Martin Mills, Brooklyn, N. Y., fired three warning shots into a body of water yesterday after several Koreans ignored his verbal warnings to stop climbing on the pipeline.
 One bullet ricocheted off the water, hitting Jon Byong Kil in the arm and then the abdomen.

No Roost

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—The heat will be on for pigeons if the American Museum of Natural History has its way.
 The museum yesterday asked the city planning commission to approve $65,000 for an electrical system to shoot pigeons.
