TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The McClellan committee's effort to prevent the election of James R. Hoffa as the next president of the Teamsters union has fizzled.

If the discredited Detroit—has been arrested 17 times and convicted three times on minor charges—was not sidetracked by the congressional revelations, the labor leaders themselves must unseat him. So far, they have shown no heart to tangle with the burly and belligerent Hoffa.

With the exception of Senators McClellan and Ives, the senate investigators showed unusual deference to the handsome and natively astute Hoffa. Two members visited him in a friendly talk during the luncheon recess. Save for Ives, the Republican members were quite subdued in questioning the outstanding Republican in labor ranks.

Senator Pat McNamara, a Democratic labor figure from Detroit, was strangely silent.

HOFFA'S FAILURE OF MEMORY—In fact, Senator McClellan became exasperated with digressive interruptions by his colleagues on unimportant matters. He felt that they were wasting time, and preventing him from exposing Hoffa's intimate relations with Johnny Dioguardi, New York gangster, through tape recordings of their telephone conversations.

These invisible and mechanical witnesses shattered Hoffa's aplomb and nonchalance. He dived with him a convicted extortionist who had double-crossed the unions he was supposed to represent in wage negotiations with employers. But the employment as evidence of tapped telephone wires is repugnant to union men, as well as to many other people.

McClellan finally had to close the hearings in disgust at Hoffa's repeated failure to remember details of his operations, or what Ives called his "excellent forgettery."

MCCLELLAN MAY YET BLOCK HOFFA'S ELECTION—Due to these delays and digressions, McClellan was unable to exploit the most serious charges against Hoffa over television. They involved 48 "questionable actions," consisting largely of using union funds for personal profit. Thousands of letters to the McClellan committee show that it was this kind of cheating which aroused the sharpest resentment against Dave Beck among union members and their wives.

But the McClellan indictment, as read in his drawing room, was not nearly so effective as it would have been, if it had been brought out through televised questioning of a red-faced and squirming Hoffa. Moreover, it was so lengthy that only the largest, metropolitan newspapers could publish it in full. Ironically, a strike reinforced by the Teamsters prevented publication of Detroit newspapers during this period.

The hearings left no doubt in the minds of unprejudiced observers that Hoffa is not qualified to head the nation's largest and most influential union, since it can make or break any strike. But they also left Hoffa with a tactical victory, may enable him to succeed Beck at the October election.

McClellan, however, may make another attempt to block Hoffa's elevation at September hearings.

POSSIBLE RETALIATION—On Sept. 24 the Teamsters' union must face charges of misconduct filed against it by the ethical practices committee of the AFL-CIO. Under strict interpretation of its new code, Hoffa's organization should be expelled by the executive committee because of his alliance with "crooks and racketeers."

But Hoffa has promised to "purge" himself. Moreover, his judges' great fear is that he might retaliate against punishment by withdrawing the Teamsters from the parent organization. He might also take with him powerful groups in the building trades and transportation fields.

ORGANIZED LABOR COULD DISINTEGRATE INTO RIVAL CLIQUES—Thus, the AFL-CIO faces its most serious crisis in its two-year history, especially as there has been no real merger at local levels. It disciplines Hoffa and his followers in order to prove to congress and the public that it intends to "clean house." It may signal the breakup of the "one great union."

Organized labor would then disintegrate into several feuding, hostile and rival cliques—the AFL-CIO remnants, the Hoffa rebels and John L. Lewis' coal miners and allies. Such a dissolution would precipitate a dangerous crisis for industry, labor and the national economy.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

REUTHER'S YOU FIRST

Walter Reuther has suggested the "big three" automobile manufacturers cut prices by an average of $100 a car in order to combat inflation.

As president of the United Automobile Workers, one of the nation's largest unions, Reuther is interested in developing the thesis that prices, not wages, are the cause of inflation. He is specific when he proposes what the manufacturers should do. But he makes no definite promise at all about what the UAW will do in return.

Reuther says, in effect, first make the price cut. Then, when negotiations on the 1958 contract get under way, the UAW will consider the effect of the price cut upon the companies' financial position.

The manufacturers naturally won't accept any such proposal. As L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler corporation, pointed out, Reuther is suggesting that management abdicate its responsibilities by allowing the UAW to determine price policies. "Would it not be just as logical," Colbert inquires, "for the automobile industry to ask members of the UAW to take an immediate and sizable wage cut, which the companies would then 'take into consideration' in pricing their 1958 automobiles?"

President Eisenhower has urged both labor and industry to show restraint in order to combat inflation. Reuther believes that industry should show restraint first. Yet the UAW has just announced as one of its 1958 bargaining objectives "the biggest wage increase in the history of the union."

The two Reuther views simply can't be reconciled. Possibly Reuther didn't intend them to be. He is a shrewd publicist with a knack for making headlines, as his price cut proposal clearly demonstrates. And anyone who talks about cutting prices is bound to have an audience.

But if the inflationary trend is to be halted, it will take more than talk. Reuther's "you first" proposal to the automobile makers is meaningless unless he can promise more restraint by his union than now seems likely.—Salt Lake Tribune.

THE BAND IS PLAYING SOMEWHERE

There is no joy at Coogan's Bluff as the Giants, after 17 pennants, five world's championships, and 74 years as a New York institution, get ready to cross the continent to a cheering San Francisco.

To get further into the mood, "Somewhere in this favored land the sun is shining bright, the band is playing somewhere, and somewhere hearts are light; and somewhere men are laughing, and somewhere children shout." Indeed, and that place is the California city where about 10 million dollars will be spent on a new stadium and Horace Stoneham and his associates seem assured of a neat profit. Mr. Stoneham expressed his sadness over disappointing "the kids of New York," and moved on, reminding us that the "national sport" is a dollars-and-cents business operation after all.

Of course, all this is the ultimate working-out of manifest destiny. First came the mountain men moving up the western valleys, then the covered wagons, the gold rush and California statehood, next the railroads, then the population rush and industrialization, and now—the big league arrives.

So the National will be a national league for the first time. And if California runs true to form, Los Angeles shouldn't be far behind in evening the score by bringing Dem Bums west from Brooklyn. Then politicians would be able to say that at last the frontier has closed.—Christian Science Monitor.

POT SHOTS

READY TO TRAVEL

Potatoes

These handbags carried by most women are quite versatile. They have a number of uses, and if the little woman who carries one of the king-sized ones has the strength, she could pack a blacksmith outfit—including anvil—in one of them and no one would be the wiser.

They're made-to-order catch-alls—and do it as a matter of fact. I doubt if you'll find a woman anywhere who can tell you just offhand just what she has hidden away in her handbag. And when they get a new one, well, you should see some of the things that come to light during the process of transferring their worldly possessions!

One thing about it, a woman carrying one of those handbags would be ready to travel on a moment's notice and probably has enough equipment to go camping, tent and all!

IT'S CALLED INGENUITY

Pot Shots: I've always heard the younger generation is going to the dogs but it took until last week for me to come around to that line of thinking.

The incident that put me in line with the rest of the world concerned with the teen-age daughter did to her poor old mother.

Both of these women work at the same establishment, although the mother has it pretty soft. Anyhow, the other day Ma was badly hurried through whatever she had to do. Her ultimate plan being to gram in some reading on company time. In the meantime, Daughter was reading the magazine.

But quitting time for daughter came up before Mama was through with her work and the teen-ager made preparations to leave. Ever alert Mother noting this, warned that the magazine stayed in the office. Daughter complied.

Then about 15 minutes later Mama erupted in a grand display of righteous anger. She shrieked and carried on at length before the reason was found.

It seems both women were reading the same story, so when Daughter went home she took undue advantage. She cut out the end of the story—some 15 pages.

A note of explanation carried words to the effect, "I just couldn't wait to see how the story ended."

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Senators, "the public" and one former justice of the supreme court, James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, have questioned the professional and temperamental fitness of members of the supreme court and other federal courts.

Judge Harold R. Medina, of the court of appeals in New York, clearly nominates himself for serious public scrutiny. In gratuitous, unofficial speeches outside his court, Medina has widely ballyhooed his physical fears during his most notable exploit, the trial of the 11 so-called top communists. He has thus aroused a difference of opinion in the minds of lawyers and some of his brethren on the bench. He permitted the security authorities to surround him with armed "protection." Tom Dewey, on the other hand, when he was district attorney of New York county, rejected protection even for his small children lest the underworld think he was afraid.

Medina's speech to the Economic club of Detroit on April 18, 1955, has been printed and Medina, himself, has distributed copies to other federal judges, inviting them to draw their own personal conclusions. I got my copy from one of those judges.

Medina made the astounding admission that "I really didn't know what a communist was."

"I thought of them as a sort of rough-necks," he said, "who wanted to divide up our property and have a good time of it, but that was about all."

Yet this man had been acclaimed as a scholar, and whosever shows him contempt in his court for this ignorance may be sent to prison.

"I won't go into a long palaver about the threats to shoot me and all that sort of business," he continued. "They never bothered me at all. (Nobody did shoot at him, and there is no evidence that anyone ever tried to.)"

"This went on for a long time," Medina continued, "... and the deputy police commissioner came around and said they were going to give me some protection and I said: 'Well, you take your protection and go along with it. There is no use dramatizing this thing and making it look like something big, and all this and that. Just forget about it.' Well, the next day, he was back again and he said, 'Now, Judge, you know your business, don't you?'

"I said, 'Well, I know a little about it.'"

"He said, 'Well, we know our business and you're going to get the protection and we don't want any back talk.' Well, I understand that kind of talk all right and so from that time on, the FBI men, the city detectives, the state troopers—well, at first it was kind of exciting. We rushed out to our country place Friday afternoons with a state trooper ahead and an FBI car behind, and the sirens going. But I noticed when they got the people out of the way, they didn't know there was anybody behind the state trooper, you know, and boy, those fellows would cut right back in and I pretty nearly got picked off two or three times. So I had to keep about 10 or 15 feet behind this trooper's car, going about 65 or 70 miles an hour. And every old shoe old nail, pebble or whatnot in the road got thrown up on my windshield and by the time the trial was over, I had to get a new windshield—couldn't see through the darned thing."

These rootlets reach out only quacks calling out. That was the only thing that really worked on me. It seems ever since I was a child, I had been afraid of height. I had this awful feeling of wanting to jump ... It was years before I got over what they did to me ... when I was going to bed, Mrs. Medina would put those big windows up ... I would say, 'Eth, please put those down!' She couldn't believe I really meant it ... I tell you those fellows are demons. Positively demons. If you remember how many times in Russian history, people have jumped out windows ... He mentioned Masaryk of Czechoslovakia and the Russian schoolteacher who jumped out the window of the Soviet consulate in New York.

"I used to think they pushed people out the window," Medina said. "But you don't need to do that. When they get working on you, they know the way how to do, you jump out by yourself. You don't need to be pushed."

estimated that a single plant of water hyacinth produced a total of 14 billion hairs with a length of 600 miles! I repeat, that was a single plant of water hyacinth.

As for the root's speed of growth, that is equally fantastic! The roots of a wild oat plant—not counting the hairs—grew 54 miles in 80 days. That is over 3,500 feet a day.

If you think this is amazing, consider the density of hair roots. A species of grass grew 4,000 feet of root hairs inside of one cub inch of soil. Again, may I repeat, 4,000 feet inside of a piece of earth measuring one inch, by one inch by one inch!

Plant Root System Complex and Long

One of the truly great wonders of the world is underfoot—the common root system of plants. The visible growth of the plant, even of a large tree, above ground is nothing compared to the spread and density of the underground growth.

We think of roots, perhaps, as being thick, muscular, brown, branching and occasionally rebranching.

The true complexity of the root system goes far beyond this. Every tiny rootlet, down to the size of white sewing thread, will be covered with tiny, tiny root hairs. Their duty is to supply the tree with water and nourishing mineral. Should a heavy rain fall, the tree's internal water works would not gain a single drop until the water had filtered into the earth where it could be picked up by these root hairs—each hair, like a tiny mouth, drinking in water and dissolved minerals.

when there is water to grab. And after it!

Given the least bit of moisture in the soil, many, if not all, of the cells just back from the root tip look like a bit of felt. Each hair wriggles and twists to reach hold of a particle of soil. Then it spreads and wraps itself around the particle, unlocking it from the water from it and absorbing it all to the length of hair, wherever it touches moisture.

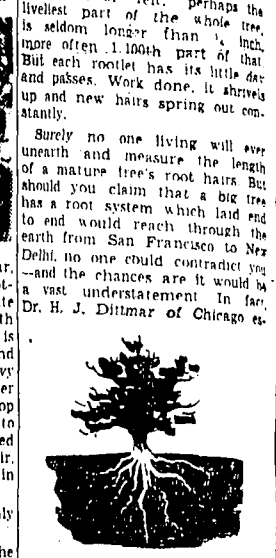

This bit of "felt," perhaps the liveliest part of the whole tree, is seldom longer than a half inch, more often 1,000th part of that. But each rootlet has its little end and passes. Work done, it shrivels up and new hairs spring out constantly.

Surely no one living will ever unlearn and measure the length of a mature tree's root hairs. But should you claim that a big tree has a root system which laid end to end would reach through the earth from San Francisco to New Delhi, no one could contradict you—and the chances are it would be a vast understatement. In fact, Dr. H. J. Dittmar of Chicago estimated that a single plant of water hyacinth produced a total of 14 billion hairs with a length of 600 miles! I repeat, that was a single plant of water hyacinth.

As for the root's speed of growth, that is equally fantastic! The roots of a wild oat plant—not counting the hairs—grew 54 miles in 80 days. That is over 3,500 feet a day.

If you think this is amazing, consider the density of hair roots. A species of grass grew 4,000 feet of root hairs inside of one cub inch of soil. Again, may I repeat, 4,000 feet inside of a piece of earth measuring one inch, by one inch by one inch!

Her Cherry Pie Is Twin Falls County's Best

Sharon Turner, 16, winner of the Twin Falls county cherry pie baking contest, proudly displays her first place effort as her mother, Mrs. H. L. Turner, route 1, Twin Falls, looks on. Miss Turner compiled 928 points out of a possible 1,000 and edged out two other entries in a close contest Thursday. Sharon is a member of the Mutual Society 4-H club. She will compete in the district pie-baking contest in Jerome Sept. 13 (Staff photo-enlarging)

T. F. High School Senior, 16, Wins Cherry Pie Competition

Sharon Turner, 16-year-old senior at Twin Falls high school, walked off with top honors in the county cherry pie baking contest in the Idaho Power auditorium Thursday.

Sharon, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Turner, route 1, Twin Falls, compiled 928 points out of a possible 1,000 based on preparation, quality and personal qualifications.

She outpointed two other entries in the contest and will now take her baking talent to the district contest in Jerome Sept. 13.

Other entries in the contest were Christine D'Arcy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Foster, Twin Falls, and Ann Brackett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brackett, Filer.

A member of the Mutual Society 4-H club of Twin Falls, Miss Turner was judged first by Mrs. Russell Miller, Mrs. Warren Daigh and Mrs. Agnes Hurst.

Among the factors judged were the methods she used in preparing her pie. This included how the ingredients and equipment were arranged, sequence of work, technique used and manual skill, the recipe submitted and how closely it was followed.

She also was judged on the texture and quality of the pie crust and filling once the pie had been baked.

Local Firm Bids Low for Program

Reynolds and Walker, Inc. Twin Falls, is low bidder for erection of a visitors center and related work at Craters of the Moon, the concern reported Friday.

The Twin Falls firm's bid was approximately $106,000, lowest of four bids entered with the national park service. Work will start as soon as official notice is received from the service. In addition to the visitors center, the project calls for installation of sidewalks and erection of comfort stations.

Reynolds and Walker currently is working on a residential project for park personnel.

Airliner Gas Is Purchased By Passenger

OAKLAND, Calif., Aug. 30 (AP)—An embarrassing mixup forced Transocean airlines to borrow a passenger's gasoline credit card last week so one of its planes could take off for Honolulu, the company admitted today.

The incident took place at Ontario, Calif. A Transocean Super Constellation was grounded when a gasoline salesman refused to accept the pilot's credit card for $1,135 worth of gasoline.

The pilot was trying to buy another brand of gas with an Esso credit card, the company explained. The usual practice is for the card to be honored, with the other company then billing Esso.

The impasse was broken when a passenger, Bill Hendrie, manager of the Barstow, Calif., Chamber of Commerce, signed for the gas purchase with his credit card. The plane then took off.

Douglas Johnson, executive vice president of Transocean, said a check for the $1,135 plus the company's thanks were waiting Hendrie when he arrived back in Ontario last night.

Newsmen Invited To View Formosa

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Nationalist Chinese Ambassador Hollington K. Tong has invited news organizations seeking to send reporters to Red China to also send the same newsmen to Formosa to compare life in the two Chinese nations.

He said it was his "earnest hope" that if and when American newsmen are admitted to Red China they "will have an opportunity of thoroughly investigating the deplorable situation that now prevails."

WENDELL, Aug. 30—Dillon Petersen has left for Chicago after visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. McCloud and Mrs. Louise Peterson.

Contracts Given Firms in Japan

TOKYO, Aug. 30 (AP)—U. S. forces in the Far East contracted for more than 133 million dollars' worth of goods from Japanese companies during fiscal 1957, U. S. army officials announced today.

The U. S. army procurement agency said the amount was "the highest annual volume of business done by the agency since shortly after the Korean truce."

Book Review Set

SHOSHONE, Aug. 30—The Rotary club Wednesday voted to sponsor a book review by Mrs. J. Woodson Creed in the near future as a money-raising project for the Wood River Convalescent center.

Mrs. Jack Edwards and the student exchange youth from Turkey who is staying with her family presented the program. They explained life in Turkey.

Intermediate Army Missile Seen Success

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Only the official silence imposed by the defense department prevented the army today from saying flatly that its 1,500 mile Jupiter missile is a success and could be in production within 30 days.

This positive army assurance about its entry in the longer range ballistic missile race developed after a Jupiter was launched from Patrick air force base, Fla., Wednesday and traveled the planned 1,500-mile distance over the Atlantic with a single hitch.

It came as Senator Jackson, D., Wash., renewed his contention that U. S. production of medium and long-range missiles has been delayed in time and cut back in numbers below previously planned schedules.

Jackson spoke out after a four-hour closed meeting of his senate-house atomic energy weapons subcommittee with Acting Secretary of Defense Quarles, intelligence officials, and missile experts from the army, navy and air force.

Quarles himself did not indicate anything about U. S. progress.

"We have not allowed funds restrictions to injure the programs to the best of our knowledge," Quarles said. He added that studies are continuing.

Jackson, who has previously alleged a missile slowdown because of Pentagon-imposed budget limitations, said:

1. Technical troubles have slowed down the dates when the U. S. intermediate range (1,500-mile) and intercontinental (5,000-mile) missiles can be expected to be available for operational use.

2. Money restrictions have reduced the number of missiles that the U. S. has planned to produce.

Secretary of the Army Brucker, during a visit to Miami Beach Thursday, said the army's Jupiter is "a spectacular success," but he went no further.

Delegation Will Attend Meeting

BOISE, Aug. 30 (AP)—Idaho will send four representatives to Roanoke, Va., Sept. 24-27 to consider uniformity in laws regulating the operation of motor vehicles.

Earle E. Kohler, state law enforcement commissioner, said yesterday he and three other representatives of the state department of law enforcement will attend the annual meeting of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

Others who will attend are George Denney, director of automobile registration and driver licensing; Ollie Arbelide, supervisor of the motor carriers division, and Ken McCoy, director of the financial responsibility division.

Divorce Sought

Cruel and inhuman treatment is claimed as grounds for divorce sought in complaint filed Thursday in Twin Falls district court by Mrs. Beverly A. Moore against Fred A. Moore.

They were married May 19, 1956, at Blingen, Wash., and have one minor child. She asks custody of the child plus $50 monthly child support and $10 monthly alimony. She is represented by May and May, Twin Falls attorneys.

Just Like Mom

HOOPER, Utah, Aug. 30 (AP)—History repeated itself this week when lovely Myrene Hunter, 17, was chosen to rule the Tomato days celebration here Monday.

The new queen's mother, Mrs. Roy B. Hunter, was queen of the first celebration held in Hooper, 23 years ago. Both the mother and daughter are brown-eyed brunettes and excellent horsewomen.

Complaint Filed

A complaint for support was filed Thursday in Twin Falls district court by Mrs. Elizabeth A. Williams against Glenn A. Williams. They were married May 12, 1948, at Medford, Ore., and have four children, the complaint states.

She asks for a court order requiring Williams to provide $214.90 per month as needed support for the children.

Dress to Kill

KANAB CITY, Aug. 30 (AP)—A man arrested for routine questioning admitted to police yesterday he committed three recent holdups to buy a suit so he'd look presentable when he robbed a bank.

New Weapon

SPOKANE, Aug. 30 (AP)—The army is developing a weapon to employ against supersonic, intercontinental ballistic missiles. Undersecretary of the Army Charles C. Figuecne said yesterday.

He said the weapon would have an anti-missile capability for use against intercontinental ballistic missiles that might be directed toward us but gave no other details.

Graham Makes Record Claims For "Crusade"

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Billy Graham yesterday said that his New York crusade had reached more millions than "any other religious undertaking in the history of the Christian church."

The evangelist said nearly two million persons had attended the four months of meetings he has conducted in Madison Square garden and that additional millions had been reached by Saturday night coast-to-coast radio and television broadcasts.

Graham winds up his crusade here Sunday night with an outdoor rally in Times square. After a three-week vacation, he will return for conferences with religious leaders. He said he may conduct some meetings late in September or early in October in surrounding communities.

He told a news conference that he hoped his crusade would be a "bomb" to open the door to spiritual revival in New York.

Bids Opened

IDAHO FALLS, Aug. 30 (AP)—Cushman and Johnson, Blackfoot, today were named as apparent low bidders on a contract for drilling and testing of a well for the national reactor testing station near here, the atomic energy commission announced.

Cushman and Johnson presented a low of $11,970. Four other firms also presented offers.

Library Sees Reading Boost, Adds New Books to Shelves

Arthur DeValder, Twin Falls librarian, announces addition of new books in anticipation of the fall season and an increase in book circulation.

Books added to shelves include numerous new works by such familiar authors as James Thurber, Marguerite Yourcenar, George Heyer, Evelyn Waugh and others. The new fiction titles are "Deadline," Boles, a newspaperman in the South takes a stand on segregation; "Blood on the Trail," Brand, another posthumous publication; "North of Market," Poff, hilarity and tragedy stalk the streets of San Francisco; "April Lady," another regency novel by George Heyer.

Also, "The Nature of Passion," Jhabvala, a warm and witty story of the new India; "The Assistant," Malamud, in which the central theme lies around strange happenings to people who strive for a better life; "Hand-picked for Murder," Martin, a whodunit starring Jim Bennett, private investigator; "The Awakening," Oldenburg, a Parisian love story imbued with tragedy; "Three for the Chair," Stout, "A Nero Wolfe threesome and 'The Moon by Night,' Packer, a story of Africa mingling love and adventure.

Other fictional offerings include "The Mary Roberts Rinehart Crime Book," a collection of favorites from the old whodunit master; "Go and Catch a Falling Star," Robertson, the story of a woman and a love that cast its spell over half a century; "The Wonderful O," Thurber, a satire on what happens when that important vowel is omitted from the language; "The Ordeal of Gilbert Pinfold," Waugh, the tale of a man's bout with hallucinations and finally "Coup de Grace," Yourcenar, Russia in the beginning years of Bolshevism.

New non-fiction titles are "Great True Adventures," selected by Lon-ell Thomas, a stimulating group of 29 adventures from ancient times to the present; "Lost Cities," Cottrell, revelations about ancient cities which have been lost for centuries; "Journey of an American," Ross, a personal account of our modern age; and "The Innocent Ambassadors," Wyllie, an account of a trip around the world.

Self-help items that should stimulate thinking are "Getting along in French," Pei, a modern language book; "How to Build a House for $6,000," Cherner, fabricating houses from component parts; "Official 35 millimeter Camera Rating Guide," Keppler, how to buy and test this popular camera; "Modern Basic Typewriting," Scott and "Office Practice Typewriting," Reynolds, learning to type for fun and profit and "How to Build Model Railroads and Equipment," Davis, for the basement railroader.

History and biography items are always popular and these offerings are good. "Charlie," Hecht, the improbable life and times of Charles MacArthur; "The New Age of Franklin Roosevelt," Perkins, an interpretation of the period 1932-1945; "Soviet Russia in China," Chiang Kai-shek sums up his 70 years; "American Indians," edited by W. M. Daniels, a collection of essays on the Indians and their plight; "American Heritage," the magazine of history and "The Geography of the Bible," Baly, a reference book in historical geography.

Final offerings are varied. "Not Guilty," Frank, a resume of cases in which innocent men were convicted of crime; "A Treasury of Catholic Reading," Chaplin; "The American Teen-ager," Remmers, a survey by social scientists of American youth; "The Living Legend," Phillips, the story of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Other new books are "Science Looks at Smoking," Northrup, a new inquiry into the effects of smoking upon your health; "You Can't Get There From Here," Nash, another collection of poems by an American favorite; "Empire of the Columbia," Johansen, a definitive study of the Pacific Northwest, and "The Psychology of Careers," Super, a vocational guidance guide for parents and teachers.

Boston Paper Walkout Ends With Concord

BOSTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Six Boston daily newspapers resumed publication today and tomorrow with the settlement of a strike that left 1,250,000 families without their daily and Sunday editions for three weeks.

The long stalemate between the fallers union, a branch of the International Typographical union, and the newspaper publishers ended at night after daylong negotiations and several meetings with Gov. Foster Furcolo.

The 230 mailers, who struck the morning and evening Globe, the Herald-Traveler and the Record-American - Advertiser for higher wages on Aug. 9, voted to accept a 10.25 weekly package wage increase spread over a two-year period. The other "improvements" in working conditions were also included but were not specified.

The mailers will receive a $4.50 weekly boost effective Jan. 1, $2.50 increase today and another $2.50 next Jan. 1.

A board of arbitration will also be set up by Massachusetts labor and industries Commissioner Ernest A. Johnson to determine if the mailers should receive any "additional" wage benefits besides the new contract's increases. The new pact runs from Jan. 1, 1957 to Dec. 31, 1958.

Before the strike the mailers made $94.13 weekly. They held out through five unsuccessful previous meetings for $108 to $110 weekly. Besides the wage boost the publishers will also contribute 25 cents per man per week to the union's welfare fund.

Immediately after the mailers 144-25 strike-ending vote was counted, the newspaper publishers asked their 5,000 employees to return to work. Today's afternoon editions were the first off the presses. The morning papers will resume publication Saturday.

Neither side was elated over the outcome although both factions were glad a settlement had been effected.

Max Milstein, president of the Mailers union, said the new contract was "as good as we can do, it's a working compromise."

ITU Vice President Joseph Bailey said that the final outcome of the walkout depends "on the results of arbitration."

Paul Hunkeler, representative of the Record-American-Advertiser said that "neither side ever wins in a strike but we're back to work and that's always nice."

Dulles Policy Fight Viewed In Campaign

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Senator Smathers, D., Fla., said yesterday Democrats are going to run against Secretary of State Dulles in next year's battle for control of Congress.

Smathers, who heads the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, said he is convinced criticism of the Eisenhower administration's foreign policies helped Democrat William Proxmire win an upset victory in Tuesday's special senate election in Wisconsin.

Proxmire defeated Republican Walter J. Kohler, a former governor, who ran as a strong supporter of President Eisenhower.

Acheson Recalled

"The Republicans ran against Dean Acheson when he was secretary of state," Smathers said. "Secretary Dulles represents this administration's uncertain foreign policies and he is a legitimate target for attack in the campaign."

Smathers spoke in an interview as Proxmire wanted to be sworn in as the first Democratic senator elected from Wisconsin since 1932. Proxmire was elected to fill out the unexpired term of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, a Republican.

Humphrey Agrees

Meanwhile, in a separate interview, Senator Humphrey, D., Minn., agreed with Smathers that foreign policy is likely to be one of the prime political issues in 1958.

"I think there are three fronts on which we ought to hit the Republicans hard—foreign policy failures, their lack of a farm program and their tight money policy that is pinching the small business man, the laboring man and the farmer," Humphrey said.

Proxmire, in a news conference said "I campaigned strictly on the Democratic record in congress. So my success was both a rejection of the Eisenhower administration and an affirmation of the Democratic program."

Speaker Named

Russian Turndown of Western Plans May Signal New Crisis for Cold War

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Russia's gruff turn-down of Western disarmament proposals had the storm signals flying again today in Washington. This could well mark a new period of tension in East-West relations.

Government experts who are paid to keep an eagle-eye watch on Soviet affairs were uneasy about Moscow maneuvers even before the Russians said no on disarmament. A mass of Soviet statements and actions already had started to fall into place. Enough so, in fact, that the disarmament turn-down wasn't much of a surprise.

Purely and simply, the unmistakable tone of Soviet words and deeds in East-West affairs has been switched from soft to hard. Evidence pointing toward a harder Soviet line in foreign affairs is impressive.

All this—and more—suggests that the Russians have some more tough moves up their sleeves. Many possible answers to the Soviet moves are under study.

The Kremlin's words and actions aimed at the outside world may be a smokescreen thrown up to hide internal problems. Nikita Khrushchev didn't boot many of his old communist buddies out of power without bruising some high-ranking officials' feelings.

The Soviets are busy with industrial and agricultural problems at home. They may be following the tougher line to show the West that the Kremlin shakeup hasn't left them with their guard down.

There could be other reasons. The U. N. general assembly is opening in New York next month and West Germans go to the polls on Sept. 15.

At the United Nations, Russians will have their hands full slaving off an American attack on Russia's bloody intervention during the Hungarian revolt last fall. The Russians are sure to beat the drums for their "stop-H-bomb tests" campaign and to charge the West anew with war claims.

In Germany, they may be sowing pessimism in an effort to show there is no hope of an East-West accommodation as long as pro-Western Chancellor Konrad Adenauer stays in power.

At any rate, the foreseeable future does not seem bright. However the Russians act and talk a conflict is always possible. Chances of miscalculation increase as tensions increase.

But the general assessment here is that the situation does not mean the Russians are building up to a fight. Chances are they are playing for time. When the Kremlin gets its homefront problems tidied up a bit, maybe it will be better for the West—for a while.

Aircraft Manufacturers Are Running in Supersonic Race

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30 (AP)—The two most anxious questions being whispered behind the "no admittance" doors of the world's commercial airplane factories are: "How fast?" and "How soon?"

For the public may find itself in the amazing position of being thrust into the era of supersonic flying at most before it has a chance to get used to the noisy, 600-mile-an-hour contraptions now aborning.

Some of the world's biggest jet-makers, facing a knockdown struggle in domestic and foreign competition, have even stopped whispering and are talking out loud about mach two—twice the speed of sound.

The latest and probably most significant public statement about the prospects for supersonics came from London recently from Sir Miles Thomas, chairman of a government committee set up to study British air transport.

Sir Miles' committee recommended that Britain start development of a 1,500-mile-an-hour jet airliner capable of flying at 60,000 feet and making the London-New York flight in about two and one-half hours.

The plane would be a vertical take-off model with a 135-passenger capacity.

"We are satisfied from expert evidence given to us that this project is a practical proposition within the next few years," he said, "and it is for us an economic necessity as well as a matter of prestige."

The committee judged that such an aircraft could capture the "blue ribbon" trans-Atlantic route "within 12 years."

This statement from Britain is certain to prod American designers into action. They are well aware that such a development by a foreign competitor could indeed swallow up the lucrative long routes and leave them with a billion-dollar white elephant in the form of jet planes now being readied.

In this country the loudest rumblings of supersonics have come from Boeing and Lockheed. Both firms have indicated they feel that the 1,500-2,000-mile-an-hour plane could be in production by 1970.

Hall L. Hubbard, senior vice president and engineering chief of Lockheed, has suggested that a prototype of such a plane could be developed by the mid-1960s if the company puts its mind to it.

With the exception of British Overseas Airways corporation, most airline executives register horror at the suggestion of supersonics by 1970.

They point to the billion-dollar investment to which the industry is already committed in subsonics and the number of years it will take to liquidate that outlay. They also fear that any supersonic plane would be so expensive to fly it would boost tariffs clear out of the reach of the passenger's pocketbook.

Both Lockheed and Boeing deny this. Hubbard was quoted recently that "the supersonic airliner, when it comes, will be no more costly to operate, per seat mile, than presently designed planes."

A Boeing spokesman echoed: "We don't believe in building planes that will cost more to operate than the previous ones." He said Boeing's 707 jet, to be put into service next year, is no more costly to operate than the present piston planes and said the supersonic type "will hold the line."

Cotton Taken From Critical Material List

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The government announced today it has lifted extra long staple cotton from the defense stockpile list and would dispose of all stocks now held within five years.

The general services administration said the agriculture department would catalogue and sell the stocks under terms to be announced.

GSA gave no details except that "sales will be on a competitive basis and in generally the same manner as sales of price-supported extra long staple cotton from the inventory of the commodity credit corporation."

The cotton will not be sold at reduced prices either for export or any other purpose, it said.

The office of defense mobilization removed extra long staple cotton from the list of strategic and critical materials, GSA said, because enough now can be grown domestically "to meet anticipated military and essential civilian needs."

Miss Southcote And Boise Man Wed in Gooding

GOODING, Aug. 30—Beverly Southcote, Boise, daughter of Mr. E. B. Hughes, Gooding, and Roy Williamson, Boise, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Williamson, Boise, were united in marriage at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Gooding Trinity Episcopal church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Kenneth Whitney, Boise, a canon in the Episcopal diocese. The altar was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and blue delphinium and white candles in silver candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Wesley Southcote, Carbondale, Colo., wore a white tulle gown with powder blue trim. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinium.

Oliver Hughes, Gooding, was maid of honor. She wore a white gown with a long train and a long veil. The bridesmaid, Pauline Wilson Panopolis, Pocatello, wore a powder blue tulle gown of the same style. Both attendants wore white gladioli corsages.

Best man was Clyde Martinson, Mountain Home, and Dale Panopolis, Pocatello, served as usher.

The mother of the bride chose a teal blue nylon tulle afternoon dress with pink accessories. Her flowers were pink roses.

Organ music for the ceremony was played by Mrs. Don Bums.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church recreation room with Mrs. Thomas Lanum, Jerome, Effie Fisher and Mrs. Therna Wilson, Gooding; Mrs. Harold Brown, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Fred Day, Mountain Home, assisting. Background music during the reception was played by Mrs. Lloyd Snively.

A three-tiered pink and white wedding cake centered the bride's table which was covered with a white and pink nylon cloth. Lighted tapers in silver candelabra entwined with pink roses completed the table decor arranged by Mrs. Maynard Hill.

For traveling the new Mrs. Williamson wore a brown nylon tulle suit with pink accessories and a pink rosebud corsage. She is employed in the employment security office in Boise. Williamson is employed by the Morning Fresh bakery, Boise. The couple will make their home at 305 Grove street, Boise.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Kenneth Whitney, Mrs. Lydia Summons, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gabriel, Keith Gabriel, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Beck, Theresa Reagan, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ausman, Mr. and Mrs. William Gladish, J. R. Day, Mr. and Mrs. William Lovell and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Graham, all Boise.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

The misbehavior of a section of our youth group is a subject of general concern and much talk, something like the weather that everybody talks about and does nothing to remedy. The organized groups with their duty to attend to the needs of the young people do their best but too much remains undone because of the lack of workers, of space and equipment, of money and time.

On every hand there are men and women who have spare time, and who talk about having something to do with it as if they longed for a worth-while occupation. A retired teacher sighed and said, "I miss the children so. I scarcely know what to do with myself."

A retired businessman seemed bored to extinction as he stood on the walk before his well-kept house and said, "This being at leisure isn't what it's cracked up to be. Days are longer than any the calendar ever listed."

Mothers whose children are married and in homes of their own often wonder what they are going to do once the house is tidied for the day. If only these fine people would look outside their usual circle and see how much they are needed by the growing boys and girls of their immediate neighborhood their hands, heads and hours would be filled to the last little lot of work plans, interests.

One retired teacher heard about a child who was having trouble with

EDEN, Aug. 30—Ingeborg Dietrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Dietrich, Kitzingen, Germany, and Spec. 2/c. Jerry Knapp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Knapp, Eden, were married July 13 in two ceremonies at Kitzingen.

The first ceremony was held in the Lutheran church followed by services in the chapel on the army post just outside Kitzingen.

The bride wore a white-length gown of lace and net. The bouffant skirt was designed with alternating ruffles of lace and net. The fitted waist was topped by a lace jacket with lily-point sleeves and Peter Pan collar. Her embroidered illusion net veil was attached to a floral crown. She carried an arm bouquet of roses and fern.

She was attended by Gella Mienich, Kitzingen, Spec. 2/c. Leonard Ryan, Pocatello, served as best man. A reception and dinner was held for about 40 guests at Gasthaus near Kitzingen.

Zurich, Switzerland, was chosen for their wedding trip.

Dr. Church, Two Utah Men Lead for Medalist Honors in Magic Valley Golf Meet

Dr. J. S. Church, Gooding, and two Salt Lake City men were leading for medalist honors in the Magic Valley Amateur golf tournament Thursday night, but the trophy was still unclaimed as most of the field was expected to qualify Friday. Dr. Church, Bill Metcalf and Paul Olmby, both Salt Lake City, were tied with 73's Thursday evening just one stroke ahead of Lynn Hansen and Ed Purves, both Twin Falls. Dick Owen, also Salt Lake City, was another step back.

College of Idaho to Boast Fast Backfield

CAIDWELL, Aug. 30 (P)—One of the fastest backfields in College of Idaho history is in prospect as the Coyotes prepare for their 1957 football season. Coach Ed Troxel expects a turnout of 60 men for grid drills beginning Sept. 9. He will rely largely on sophomores, with only four seniors and two juniors back from last year.

Guessing Ends As Detroit Rehires Tighe

DETROIT, Aug. 30 (P)—The Detroit Tigers Thursday ended speculation about Manager Jack Tighe's future by announcing that the 44-year-old rookie manager would be back in 1958.

Strangely, the club gave Tighe a new contract just after the fourth-place Tigers had suffered two of their most disappointing losses of the season.

"We are well pleased with Jack Tighe's work this season," said general manager John J. McHale. "He has done a good job and we made the announcement now so everyone can make plans for next season."

The Tigers, picked to finish second in the American league, went into a three-game series with the Boston Red Sox on Tuesday night needing a sweep to take over third place. Instead, the Red Sox took the opener 7-5 in 11 innings, beat the Tigers again Wednesday 1-0 on Ted Williams' home run, and lost Thursday's game 6-1.

"It came as quite a surprise to me—especially at a time like this," said the bald skipper who succeeded Bucky Harris a year ago after spending 20 years in the Tiger organization without getting a crack at managing a big league club. "I learned some things this year—things about myself and about players."

Tighe's contract is believed to call for a salary of about $27,000. The new pact is a one-year deal.

Brooklyn Puts $75,000 Price Tag On Maglie

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (P)—The Brooklyn Dodgers' asking price today was $75,000 for pitcher Sal Maglie and the famed hurler could go to the high bidder between the Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees.

The Sox disclosed last night they have made overtures to the Dodgers for Maglie and are hoping for an answer today or tomorrow. And they also revealed they're bidding, probably against the Yankees, for pitcher Virgil Trucks of the Kansas City A's.

Charles Comiskey, vice president of the Sox said he talked to Buzz Bavasi, Brooklyn vice president, about the 40-year-old Maglie and that the Dodgers executive promised a reply by today or tomorrow. Comiskey didn't say how much he was prepared to pay and Bavasi, informed in Brooklyn of Comiskey's statement, said he never heard of a White Sox offer.

Trojans Have Seven Lettermen to Replace Loss of Regulars in 1956

WENDELL, Aug. 30—Although the Wendell Trojans lost seven regulars off last year's football team, head coach Murray Satterfield has seven returning lettermen to begin the 1957 season. In 1956, the Trojans, led by M. L. Gates at quarterback, posted six wins and one loss in the Little Six conference. In addition to Gates, Satterfield lost his two starting guards, Norm Kessler and Vard McMan, and both ends, Tom Rydall and Dale Petersen.

Dave Stephenson, a halfback on last year's team, also has been lost through graduation. But Wendell has Jack Cox, 155 pounds, and Ed Klein, 185 pounds, with one year's experience each, to put into the guard spot and Jerry Frith, who saw action at end last year, will be counted on again at one of the end positions.

Also expected to see heavy duty this year will be Ramon Yarraga, a 165-pound center, who is a one-year letterman and a junior. Senior Larry Hansen at 170 pounds is slated for tackle duties and Jerry Stevenson, a junior, is an experienced halfback. He weighs 165 pounds. At fullback, Satterfield has Bill Letz, a 140-pound junior letterman.

Following the first few practice sessions, John Weaver has shown up well and is leading for the quarterback spot. Jim Carrell is a top contender for the other halfback spot. At ends, Denny Woodland and Ronnie Giesler have shown a great deal of promise and George Wahler and Steve Dixon are top prospects at tackle. Of all these prospects, only Wahler is a senior.

The Trojans will open the season at home Sept. 13, playing hosts to Mountain Home. The rest of the schedule includes, Sept. 20, Kimberly at Wendell; Sept. 27, Wendell at Shoshone; Oct. 4, Wendell at Halley; Oct. 11, Wendell at Halley; Oct. 25, Wendell at St. Teresa.

Boise, and Nov. 1, Valley at Wendell.

All home games will start at 8 p.m. until the Valley game, which will be played in the afternoon. Game time is set for 1:30 p.m.

Day Off

Thursday was a traveling day for all teams in the Pioneer league and no action was slated. However, a full schedule gets under way Friday night with Idaho Falls at Magic Valley; Salt Lake City at Billings; Boise at Great Falls, and Missoula at Pocatello.

Robinson Wins First Round By Negotiation so Agrees To Meet Basilio as Slated

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (P)—Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson Thursday won a nine-day battle of the conference tables for a money guarantee for theater television and agreed once more to defend his crown against Carmen Basilio at Yankee stadium, Sept. 23. It was a victory all around for the crafty veteran who had called off the battle of champions Aug. 20 because of a dispute with the International Boxing club over theater TV. Sugar Ray now will receive a minimum guarantee of $255,000 from the theater-TV receipts alone. He also scored when he had Teleprompter corporation included in the closed circuit deal with Theater Network Television, Inc.

Basilio also shared in Robinson's holdout win. The welterweight ruler will receive a minimum guarantee of $110,000 from the theater-TV receipts alone. He also scored when he had Teleprompter corporation included in the closed circuit deal with Theater Network Television, Inc.

Under the terms spelled out at a five-hour conference at the State Athletic commission offices, Robinson and Basilio also will get the same percentages of the $30,000 for radio (NBC) and of the movie deal with United Artists.

Nat Halpern, president of TNT, made the offer of guarantees after a series of meetings and more caucuses than at a political convention. The promoting IBO then announced it would underwrite the guarantees since the main contract is between the fighters and the IBC.

At Robinson's insistence, Halpern will license Teleprompter to handle the closed circuit telecast to theaters in four cities which TNT has not contracted for. The cities are Amarillo, Tex., Medford, Ore., Orlando, Fla., and Duluth, Minn.

Halpern said his outfit already has lined up a record number of 165 theaters in 122 cities in the U. S. and Canada for the fight. Halpern said about 500,000 seats are available. The fighters and the IBO get approximately $1 a seat from the total receipts collected by TNT from the theaters.

In the original offer by TNT, which had been signed by the IBC, Robinson (45) and Basilio (20) were to collect their percentages of the amount received but no money guarantee was given.

Robinson insisted flatly on the financial guarantee. On Aug. 20 he announced he had "a better deal" for theater-TV from Teleprompter corporation that gave him a personal guarantee of $250,000. He insisted the IBC switch from TNT to Teleprompter and when the IBC refused, Robinson called the fight off.

Patterson Is Given Fighter Of Month Tag

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (P)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson Wednesday was named "Fighter of the Month" again by Ring magazine. It was the first time in the two years the boxing magazine has been releasing monthly ratings that one fighter has been awarded the honor for two successive months.

The 22-year-old champion captured the July award for his 10th round TKO of Hurricane Jackson on July 29. He received the August prize for his sixth round destruction of Olympic champion Pete Rademacher at Seattle, Aug. 22.

Jackson was dropped to third among the heavyweight contenders and Zora Foley of Chandler, Ariz., was promoted from third to second. Eddie Machen of Redding, Calif., retains his top contender's berth.

The welterweight 147 pounds class was given the biggest shuffling of the month. Virgil Akins of St. Louis moved from fourth to second on the strength of his impressive kayo of Sugar Hart. Gaspar Ortega of Mexico fell from third to sixth as a result of a loss to Cuban veteran Kild Gavilan, ranked ninth.

Robinson insisted flatly on the financial guarantee. On Aug. 20 he announced he had "a better deal" for theater-TV from Teleprompter corporation that gave him a personal guarantee of $250,000. # 54-Man Squad To Start Grid Drills at ISC

POCATELLO, Aug. 30 (P)—Coach Babe Caccia expects 54 men to turn out Sunday for the first Idaho State college football practice of the season.

Caccia will greet 11 returning lettermen. He also expects 14 freshmen, 21 junior college transfers and 8 men up from last year's junior varsity.

The returning veterans include ends Bob Hodson, Mountain Home, Dale Latham of Shelley and Roger Olsen of Sandpoint; tackle Don Wyle of Glendale, Calif.; guards Charlie Malava, Honolulu, and Ed Petersen of Jerome; quarterback Ken Petersen of Boise; halfbacks Ronald Pugmire of Shelley, Jim Wagstaff of American Falls and Wayne McEachern of Pocatello; and fullback George Kom of Sandpoint.

Caccia, noncommittal about prospects for the season, said he sees rebuilding the line as his biggest chore. He lost seven regulars or semi-regulars from last year's varsity line.

The candidates draw equipment ends for the season, said he sees rebuilding the line as his biggest chore. He lost seven regulars or semi-regulars from last year's varsity line.

C. of C. OKs Mill Levy for Fairgrounds

SHOSHONE, Aug. 30—Members of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday voted in favor of raising the fair mill levy by one-half mill for operation and improvements at the fairgrounds.

President Frank Carothers reported on the tourist trade survey taken on Aug. 16 and on the North Side communities meeting in July.

Dr. R. G. Neher spoke on the progress of the Wood River Convalescent center, stating the center would be open by the first of the year.

At the present time, Dr. Neher reported, the building is costing $122,000 with $31,000 for equipment. There will be the kitchen equipment in addition to that. The county is about $5,000 short on its share of the funds and a request is being made to organizations and individuals to help furnish rooms at the hospital to make up the deficit.

In describing cost of furnishing various rooms, he said it will run $450 for a private room; $725 for a double bed room and $1,450 for a four bed ward. About $1,500 has been raised among the sheepmen for a four bed unit. The chamber was asked to furnish a private room.

Ways to raise money for the project were discussed and action on the matter was delayed until the next meeting when a complete financial report will be given and delinquent dues considered.

An appearance of Mrs. J. Woodson Creed, Twin Falls, to give a book review to raise funds for the hospital was considered.

The tourist trade survey on Aug. 16 showed $1,975.71 taken in during the day. Of this amount, $802.74 was raised at service stations and garages; $149.25 at motels and hotels; $475.36 at restaurants, driving safes, etc.; $84.10 at drug stores; $404.51 at grocery stores; $30.88 at clothing stores; $6.75 at barbershops and beauty parlor, and $78.95, miscellaneous.

Growers to Seek Maggot Control

BOISE, Aug. 30 (AP)—A meeting has been scheduled for next week as the initial action in an Idaho department of agriculture attempt to control onion maggots in the Gem state and Oregon.

Commissioner Robert Reichert said today the session would be held Wednesday in Caldwell and added that he would present a "well-defined" plan at the meeting. Reichert said his approach would be that of a mediator "with the intent of balancing need controls with the economics of onion production and sale."

He said a discussion of dumping of onion culls would also be included in the meeting.

ENDS TRAINING

GLENN'S FERRY, Aug. 30—Shirley Delby, daughter of Mrs. Lucy Delby, has completed advanced training for United Airlines at Cheyenne, Wyo., and is stationed at LaGuardia field, N. Y.

Restoration for Land Is Ordered

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 30 (AP)—The department of the interior restored 4,957 acres of Utah lands to public use yesterday.

The lands are located north of the abandoned town of Wildsoe, in southern Utah's Garfield county. The withdrawal of the land dates back to orders signed in 1889 and 1894.

The geological survey said the site was so remote further holding of the lands was not warranted. The bureau of land management said the lands are considered only fair for grazing.
