Proceeds from the light bulb sale to begin Tuesday will provide eyeglass aid to underprivileged persons in Twin Falls county, particularly underprivileged school children. Freedom to Work Aide Seeks

T. F. Signatures for Petitions

Fredrick J. Smith, executive secretary of the Idaho Freedom to Work committee, told directors of the Twin Falls Chapter of Congress Friday that a lack of action by the committee might lead to stronger control by unions in the future. Smith was in Twin Falls in an effort to obtain some 600 signatures on a petition to put the right-to-work law on the ballot for the 1958 general election.

For a referendum vote, a petition requires 25,000 signatures. Smith says the committee has set 200,000 signatures as its goal. In effect the proposed law reads: "Prohibiting public policy and providing the right to employment shall not be denied or abridged on account of membership or non-membership in any labor organization."

Smith pointed out signers of the petition must be qualified workers in the state and can sign the petition only once. He emphasized that the committee intends to check each anything, the unions will be stronger. Smith's appearance in Twin Falls marks the official start of the committee to secure necessary signatures.

Smith explained that the committee has divided the state into 11 districts of four counties each and each district will have one man as a supervisor. Smith indicated there will be about 1,000 persons working on the petition. "If this falls, the situation will be chaotic. The average man does not realize just how powerful the unions are and does not know what they are doing today," Smith said.

Smith singled out Washington state as the best example of how union control has affected jobs. "We do not want Idaho to become another Washington," he said.

Following his visit here, Smith journeyed to Idaho Falls for similar meetings with other civic organizations.

China Reds Offer Plan on Newsmen

China's official newspaper said yesterday the United States must allow Chinese newsmen to enter the country on a reciprocal basis if American correspondents are to enter China, according to Peking dispatches.

An "observer" in the Peking Press recently commented on communications in the U.S. proposing that American and Chinese newsmen be allowed to enter each other's nation on a reciprocal basis.

The U.S. already has rejected the proposal but said it would consider visa applications from Chinese correspondents on an individual basis.

It seems that "Secretary of State" Foster Dulles is withering the "reciprocal" basis American relations which existed before the founding of New China when American arrogance refused all principles of international law," the story ends.

Since communist parties — here and in western Europe — were losing ground, a new front, with a promise of independence from Moscow, might enable them to put on the appearance of independent, national communist parties.

That in turn might enable them to infiltrate other groups and their members elected to parliament.

But when the self-criticism began in this country it was the Galt group against the kind of leadership the Fosterites had provided and the Fosterites standing pat for the old line kind of operation;

At its convention this year—which was in line with Khrushchev's idea—the party made a show of independence from Moscow. This was just rearranging the furniture.

Besides the nausea and disillusionment which drove some communists out of the American party after Khrushchev's speech, there were other factors which caused loss of membership.

One was the brutal Russian oppression of the Hungarians. An earlier one was this government's proclivity and conviction of more than 100 top and second-rung par-

American Eating Habits Are Enigma to Newcomer

Mrs. William L. Dunham, left, from Miesbach, Germany, says the eating habits of Americans differ greatly from those in her native land. With the help of Mrs. M. J. Barry, she is translating some German recipes at the home of Mrs. Barry. She speaks little English but understands it quite well. Mrs. Dunham, her husband and their son, Billy, are newcomers to the valley.

Newcomer to United States Expresses Liking for Valley

Mrs. Dunham was made up for her first visit. When asked what she thought of the new country, she said she liked it very much. She said the convenience and appliances are about the same as in her native land. She said she liked the weather, the food, the people, and the scenery. She said she was very happy to be in the United States and was looking forward to staying here for a long time. She said she was very grateful to the people who had helped her and was sure she would be able to adjust to the new life in the valley.

Board Splits High Schools Into Three Groups, Okays New Regional Tourney Step

BOISE, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Idaho high school board of control Saturday split competition in the state high school basketball tournaments into three categories and provided a new regional step in the tourney ladder. Concluding a two-day meeting here, the Idaho Interscholastic Activities association also reaffirmed its previous policy of charging radio stations a fee to broadcast state tournament games. Stations may broadcast the tourneys only if no commercials are used, however, said board secretary Earl Grider.

The board divided basketball competition into three categories based on enrollment of the high schools. AA division schools are those with enrollments under 125. A from 125 to 200, and AAA are those with enrollments of 200 or more. The present six basketball districts will remain the same with two districts in north Idaho and four in southern Idaho.

Winners and runners-up from each district will be entered in the two new regional tournaments. The four entries from north Idaho districts will play each other in a northern regional tourney. Competing in the southern region will be the eight teams, two from each district.

Then, Grider said, winners of the other district tourneys and south region will meet at a site yet undesignated for a single state championship.

The new regional step applies to AAA, AA and A teams, the secretary said. It replaces last year's system of A and B teams which went to the state playoffs, direct, to the state championship.

Idaho's radio stations recently decided to boycott broadcasting the state tournaments if they were required to pay a fee for the privilege. Grider said the board had decided to charge for the privilege of broadcasting the state tourneys, but that the fee would be set at a non-commercial or "public service" broadcast could be free.

It set the fee at $400 for individual schools and $100 for each "feeder" station using the broadcast. Fees for AA and A teams will be $15 a game and for B teams $10 a game. The board also decided to prohibit attendance at college training camps for high school football and basketball players.

Declo Pounds Wolves for 42-20 Victory

CASTLEFORD, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Declo Hornets continued their winning ways here Friday night by routing out a 42-20 victory over the Wolves.

Castlefords' victory was the first in a series of wins for the team. They have now won four of their last five games.

It was the first game for Castlefords and the second for Declo. Both teams were in excellent form.

The game was a close contest in the first half, but Declo pulled away in the second half to secure the victory.

Rams Crush 49ers In Exhibition Tilt

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14 (AP)—San Francisco's exhibition season winning streak was over Sunday as the 49ers crushed under a lopsided 58-27 pasting administered by the Rams.

A highly pleased crowd of 75,129 saw the Rams' victory. The game was a display of power and defense that held the 49ers to eight yards rushing.

The loss was the first for the 49ers in six games. The Rams now are 4-0-1.

Quarterback Roman Van Brocklin completed successfully 17 passes Friday night, and they were good for 310 yards and three touchdowns.

Out for Season

Bill Williams, the Boston's Red Sox Splendid Splinter, will probably be sidelined for the rest of the year because of a heavy chest cold.

But, the Splinter leaves behind a 376 mark, which should be good enough to win the batting crown for him. (INEA telephoto)

11-Under-Par Round Posted by Sam Snead

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 14 (AP)—The old slammer, Sam Snead of the West-Virginia hills, returned to golf's spotlight Saturday with a world's record equalling 11-under-par 60 that gave him 130 and the lead at 36 holes in the $40,000 Dallas Open.

Chipping for an eagle on the first hole, the baldish veteran, who has won every major golf event since 1932, National Open, bulldozed the 6-328 yard Glen Lakes Country Club course in a round that tied the record with a 60 for the all-time 18-hole record.

He overtook Red Stewart's Dallas record of 61, who had the lead with a 67 for 12.

Sam Snead, the golfing giant from Hollywood, Fla., who topped the field after the first 18 holes with a 60, had a terrible first hole on Saturday and wound up with a 70.

Byron Nelson set the record for 18 holes in 1945 at Olympic. When it was set by Al Broome at the Texas open in San Antonio in 1951, his 123 put him in a life for life.

Second, fifth top money winner of the year, Nelson, who has played in only a few tournaments and won only the Palm Beach Invitational.

He electrified the crowd of 8,500 when he clipped in from off the green from 20 feet away for his eagle on the first hole. He birdied No. 2 and was three under par.

He added a 30-foot putt on No. 10 and a 25-footer on No. 11 to win for a 40-footer on No. 12 which have given him the record. But on each nine, Snead had a 30 on each nine.

Midcoast made a great comeback to tie in the running for the big money. He three-putted on the green from 10 feet away. He pulled his game together, for a fine 32 coming in.

Williams May Miss Rest of Season

BOSTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Boston Globe says "It is quite possible" that Red Sox slugger Ted Williams may have played his final game this season.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 14 (AP)—Hillman Robbins, a hollow-cheeked air force lieutenant from Memphis, won seven of nine holes in a brilliant stretch run Saturday for a 5 and 4 victory over Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor which made him the new national amateur golf champion.

Drivers Virtually Nab Themselves As They Drive Into Radar's Beams

A driver's first reaction when he is stopped by an officer and informed he has been checked by radar and caught speeding is not "what happened?" but "how, and where did it happen?"

The first indication he has been caught exceeding the speed limit, either on city streets or highways, is when a patrolman says "stop" to him. He then looks down the road, and the majority of drivers do not notice the parked patrol car, or in some instances, the parked pickup truck or a sheriff's patrol wagon along the highway.

This parked vehicle contained the radar equipment and in most cases was operated by one officer. By the time the driver was alerted of the vehicle the speed of his car had been recorded and, frequently, by no one other than the driver.

The officer operating the radar equipment merely reads the meter, as the speed is indicated on a graph and radioed ahead to the other officer in a car who stops the speeder.

The reason the driver didn't notice the radar unit is because it is a small device. There are no wires, antennae, rubber hoses or camera lenses visible as the driver passes the vehicle. In some cases the radar equipment may be hidden behind a clump of sagebrush even mounted on a highway litter barrel.

Most drivers, if they notice a patrolman alongside the road or see a patrol car, instinctively slow down. However, by the time the driver's brain has relayed the message to the foot pressing down on the gas pedal the speed has been recorded. Even the attempt to slow down a little is permanently charted on the graph paper.

"With radar, the speeder is a witness against himself," explains State Police Lt. Clark Hinn, "Approximately 37 per cent of all fatal accidents on our highways are due to speeding."

State Police Are Active in Radar Checks on State's Highways

State Patrolman M. J. Bays, Jr. Twin Falls, issues a warning to a driver stopped during a state police radar check on highway 93. Bays is given the license number, color and make of car by another officer operating the radar unit which the driver has recently passed. If the speed recorded on the radar graph is over the posted speed limit the driver is cited. (Staff photo-engraving)

Devil's Corral Enters New Era as Plan Announced to Convert It Into Homesite

Devil's Corral, steeped in lore and romance of the old West, is moving with the times. Hobbes' room, honky-tonk, first hatchery and private zoo, its destiny now is to become a homesite.

The corral has been purchased by who had been using the natural Sterling Larson, owner of Twin Falls corral, to run livestock. Business college, who reports he plans to develop the area for a home. He purchased the corral from an authentic history of the corral, Charles Smith, Ruby Valley, Nev. He said he has talked with some of the previous owners and from them has learned much about the site. In the immediate future, he said he hopes to find someone who will live in the corral while he is bringing in water to some of the lower areas for irrigation.

The corral, located in the north side of Snake river just below Twin Falls, has a long and varied history.

In reality, Devil's Corral is a side.

New Marketing Operation Puts Corn on Coast Tables One Day After Harvesting From Fields in Wendell District

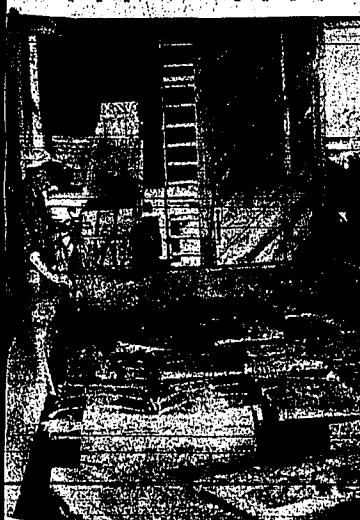

Freshly picked corn moves along concrete washing tank at the Wendell Valley Growers corn processing plant toward machine which ferries corn to sorting table. All ears are checked for fullness and uniformity before moving into shed for packing. The company sorted the last of many thousands ears of corn last Monday and end work for the season. Coast Enjoys Area Corn 24 Hours After Harvest

Crate containing five dozen freshly picked ears of corn move on conveyor belt into refrigerated truck for fast trip to Los Angeles. Corn is being consumed in the California metropolis within day after it is picked. (Staff photo-engraving)

Since the middle of August corn has been eaten in Los Angeles within 24 hours after it was picked in Gooding county fields.

This fast movement from field to table while the corn is still fresh is made possible by the three Durfee brothers, route 1, Wendell.

Known as Wendell Valley Growers, the brothers have streamlined the operation through hard work and planning. Their corn processing plant is located southwest of Wendell a few miles north of Snake river canyon.

The plant, equipped with washing tanks, elevators to convey the corn to sorting tables, packing benches and cooling tanks, is located on the farm owned by Glen Durfee. The other two brothers, A. J. (Bud) Durfee and Dale Durfee, have nearby farms.

Bud Durfee explains that the entire setup, including buildings and equipment, was built by him and his brothers. "This has been a dream of ours for several years. We began building the plant building last year and through the winter constructed the concrete washing tank and cooling tank," he says.

The elevators which convey the green corn to the sorting table was built by the Durfee. Glen Durfee is the owner of the plant and did the work on the elevator.

Beginning Aug. 16, an average of 48,000 ears of corn were shipped daily from the plant by refrigerated semi-trailers to California.

"We planted the corn on our three farms at various times so that during the season we would have a steady supply," Bud Durfee explained.

The corn is hauled from one of the farms to the plant. It is dumped into a concrete washing tank, washed, and conveyed to a sorting table by the elevator.

Six persons work at the sorting table. Each ear of corn is inspected to assure correct size of kernel and the proper degree of sweetness and tenderness. Rejected ears are thrown to one side and the approved ears go onto another belt or elevator and are taken to the packing benches.

One person directs the corn from the belt to four packers. The packers place five dozen ears of corn to a crate. Another employee seals the crates and stacks or dumps them into a cooling tank.

After a period of cooling the crates are lifted to a conveyor belt and run into a refrigerated truck. "We do not freeze the corn. Only cool it and keep it under refrigeration to insure its freshness," Bud Durfee says.

The average load taken to Los Angeles is 800 crates or 48,000 ears of corn.

The Durfee brothers have managed to keep most of the "butter" in the family. Their agent in Los Angeles who accepts the loaded trucks and markets the corn is their cousin, Kenneth Durfee.

(Approximately 15 persons are employed at the plant by other than the three Durfee. The trucking company hauling their produce is the Brown Trucking company, Los Angeles.)

After the first week of operation the Durfee began to receive requests for their produce from other west coast cities. Bud Durfee says a vegetable broker in San Francisco called him one day and ordered five truck loads of the corn.

Between the three Durfee brothers cultivate a total of 350 acres. Bud Durfee has 110 acres. Glen Durfee has 140 and Dale Durfee 100.

Next year they plan to contract with their neighbors for corn. The last load was shipped to Los Angeles Monday, all from the Durfee farms.

The Durfee brothers have been life-long residents of Gooding county. Their father, James (Jim) Durfee, was one of the first settlers on the Wendell tract.

Packers load five dozen freshly picked ears of corn into each wooden crate, 50 crates are loaded and loading in a refrigerated truck for shipment to Los Angeles. The corn, growing on the Durfee brothers' route 1, Wendell, is located southwest of Wendell, about 10 miles from the city. 48,000 ears of corn daily have been shipped from the plant to the West coast. Schultz Elected For Board Post

BOISE, Sept. 14 (AP) — Albert Schultz, school superintendent at Glendale, Friday night was elected vice president of the state board of control, Idaho Inter-School Activities association.

Schultz replaces Kenneth Primus, Genesee superintendent who becomes president of the board after the current two-day meeting. He is president of the Idaho Inter-School Activities association.

Board Secretary Ed Orser said members heard reports Friday on speech and music activities for this school year.

all-breeds class and in the Magic Valley Angus breeders-sponsored show for the best pen of three. In addition to his livestock entries, he took blue ribbons with his agriculture projects. He is a junior leader in the Twin Falls Junior Stockraisers 4-H club. (Staff photo-engraving)

It may be that quality is better than quantity, but Robert Carlson, 15-year-old Twin Falls youngster, just won't let quantity get in the way. Carlson entered three Aberdeen Angus steers in the 4-H livestock quality competition at the Twin Falls fairgrounds and won honors in three different categories.

Carlson's entries were judged champion in the 4-H steer class, 4-H Angus quality steer class and in the first round he was competing against himself for the Top award.

Carlson's steers were judged reserve champion honors in the 4-H all-breeds livestock quality competition. Again he competed against himself for the top award.

Carlson's steers were also honored by the Magic Valley Angus breeders. Carlson was awarded grand champion ribbon for the best steer in the breed.

Junior leader in the Twin Falls Junior Stockman's 4-H club, Carlson has been active in participating in fair activities to help the 4-H livestock program. He received a trophy for having the outstanding 4-H live exhibit at the fair.

Carlson is a member of the county forestry division.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (Special)—Idaho's Sen. Henry C. Dworshak has one of four senators who voted 100 per cent in this year's session.

With him for the honor are Senators Smith of Maine, Kuchel of California and Williams of Delaware, all Republicans, Idaho's other senator, freshman Frank Church, came through with a creditable 99 per cent average. The biggest chunk of his absences on the 111 roll call was for a 10-day trip to Argentina, which he made in Buenos Aires, Argentina, as an official U. S. delegate. During the trip he missed 9 of his total of 13 absences.

Church's predecessor, Herman Welker, now a Boise attorney, had a bad record for absenteeism. He was normally in the 70 to 80 per cent range.

Reports certain that Dworshak has the best record of answering the roll call in the Senate. In 1951-52 his average was 92.1, in 1952-53, 94.9, and in 1953-54, 97.8.

TWIN FALLS

City Officials Are Kept Busy as Time for Municipal Election Draws Near in Twin Falls

Map shows wards for city elections Oct. 8 at which three commissioners will be elected. Polling places are courthouses for the first ward, city hall for second ward, McKenzie Auto Parts for third ward, Memorial Lutheran school for fourth ward and Washington school for fifth ward. Many Twin Falls voters must re-register because they have not voted in a city election recently.

Many T.F. Residents Now Disqualified From Voting by Failure to Cast Ballot

Names of 3,286 Twin Falls residents representing 48 per cent of the registered voters living within the corporate limits of the city have been removed from the city voters' list. This was done because the registrars have disqualified themselves as municipal voters by failure to vote in the last two general biennial city elections.

However, the registration books for the five city precincts are now open at city hall for persons planning to vote in the municipal election Oct. 8. At that time voters will select three city commissioners to fill vacancies created by expiration of terms of Commissioners Ogleman, R. R. Grant and James Norfleet.

Chairman Smith said Saturday he will not seek reelection. He will complete a four-year term on Dec. 31, serving for the past two years as commission chairman.

Commissioner Norfleet was out of town Saturday and Commissioner Grant was not available for comment. It is not known if they will seek reelection. Norfleet was elected commissioner in October, 1933, and began his four-year term Jan. 1, 1934.

Grant will complete two years of service as a city commissioner and commissioner on Dec. 31. He was elected a commissioner in October, 1931.

When the city changed to a city manager-commision form of government in 1928 he ran for election commissioner and was successful. He was reelected in 1933 for another four-year term.

Hailey Airport Project Slated

HAILEY, Sept. 14—A new oil mat is to be laid on the runway of the Friedman Memorial airport and 16 airplane tie-downs will be installed along the parking strip.

Jack Davis, Hailey mayor, says the cost of about $7,000 will be divided three ways by Hailey, Blaine county and the state aeronautics bureau.

Plans are to remove the present deteriorated oil mat and re-use the materials on the parking strip. A trench two feet deep and two feet wide for 600 feet along the west side of the airstrip in front of the Johnson flying service buildings will serve as a drain. The approximately mile-long runway to the south of the proposed new work still is in good condition.

Doctor Shows How To Bathe Away "Corns" and Calluses in Minutes

By E. R. WALKER

YESTERDAY at the offices of a foremost New York foot-specialist, I experienced what many people have been the sufferer to the foot problems of millions. I was shown a quick, easy way to relieve tired, aching, itching feet—even feet tortured with corns and calluses!

As a reporter, I'm on my own feet about 12 hours a day. For years I've suffered—not only from corns and calluses—but also from recurring athlete's foot, and that tired, aching feeling so familiar to salesmen, postmen, policemen, teachers and others who must stand on their feet for their livelihood. I tried everything from special-made shoe inserts to all kinds of foot powders, creams and salves—all to practically no avail. So I was naturally skeptical when I was assured, in a doctor's office that in a few minutes I would be relieved of all the foot troubles that had been plaguing me for years. I just couldn't believe it—but there is what actually happened.

In just 20 minutes, the itching misery which athlete's foot had subsided. My corns were softened and dead skin washed away. So were my calluses!

In fact, my feet felt simply wonderful—and that is why I am writing this article so that others will be helped as I have been! For this doctor's simple method is now being made available to the public for home use.

PART 1. A Mineral Bath for Your Feet.

For the first part of this 3-way method the doctor has placed my feet in a bath of hot water, added a green powder containing Potassium, Iron, Magnesium, Lithium, Iodine and other minerals (similar to those found in the waters of famous natural Spas). Almost immediately I began to feel a new and wonderful sensation! All the pressure and the heavy feeling in my legs seemed to float away. My feet felt as though they had no weight at all. My foot and leg muscles seemed to relax. I could actually feel soreness and pain diminishing.

The perspiration, the dirt and the odors so common to your feet is now being cleansed from your pores, the doctor informed me. "The hot mineral solution is easing surface tension, stimulating circulation and sending a fresh supply of new blood to your feet. This helps cleanse out the pores that soap and water cannot reach. I could see dry, dead, scaly tissue being flaked away. I touched the hardened surfaces of my feet and found that they were now soft and smooth. I could feel the dead dry skin of corns and calluses softened and loosened.

PART 2. Corns and Calluses.

After about 15 minutes the doctor had me remove my feet from the bath. Then while they were still moist, he began to massage them with a special volcanic lava stone, which I had never seen before. This volcanic lava stone began to buff away the dead skin of corns and calluses that had bothered me for years. Best of all, one particularly painful corn on my little toe which I had to have cut off at least once a year was gradually being buffed away. It was as if I had grown a new pair of feet.

PART 3. Athlete's Foot.

Unpleasant Odors.

The third and final step of this doctor's treatment is a medicated cream designed to correct the condition of athlete's foot, prevent sweating and remove unpleasant foot odors. It contains a tested chemical which is now being used in hospitals, to help combat the dangerous bacteria and relieve skin rashes. As I rubbed this cream into my skin, I felt a cooling, mint-like sensation. The itching, burning, and the odor disappeared. A special combination of natural oils helps lubricate the entire skin surface, leaving a soothing film to help guard against reinfection.

"Even when I have gotten such wonderful results with just one application," said the doctor, "you must remember that the secret of well being, pain-free feet is constant care and attention. Your shoes must be fitted correctly and your feet must receive the proper hygiene. That's why you'll find that if you use this simple medicated method everyday after work, your feet will not only continue their remarkable improvement but will feel healthy, sweet and cool when after your toughest working day."

Nothing Else Like It.

If you suffer from tired feet, aching feet due to foot fatigue, you can now remove away those aches and pains with the use of your own hands. You can even avoid painful, stubborn corns and calluses without "vector blade" surgery, and if your feet are cracked, itching, sore from fungus infections... perspire excessively... give off unpleasant odors... you can relieve these conditions practically overnight.

But even more important, you can give your feet a daily hygienic "doctor's" care—right in your own home. Your feet will be kept strong, impart a feeling of well-being, inhibit the growth of bacteria and the medically developed products used in this doctor's treatment of Footwear Ministry Bath, Footwear Ministry Stone and Footwear Ministry Cream. These 3 items are sold as a complete application kit for only $2.98 and $4.98. It's a bargain when you think of what it can do for the condition of your feet, your sense of well-being and even your disposition if pain or corns prevent you from consulting your chiropodist.

As years rolled along the gap between fact-and-fiction, narrow, and sooner or later it becomes difficult to separate one from the other. But fact or fiction, stories of stolen horses and cattle that were hidden in the corral add to the romance of the place and were responsible, in part at least, for the corral being listed as a possession of the devil.

reality attributed to excessive speed. That is the "why" of radar today. Too many good drivers have fallen into the habit of stepping on the gas when they hit a stretch of highway that appears to be clear and open. Perhaps some do it unconsciously but the fact remains that speed is one of our No. 1 killers.

Hand declared.

Twin Falls Traffic Sgt. Frank Barnett says, "Radar, the electronic cop, works as well in a blizzard as it does on a warm sunny day and is just as accurate on the darkest night as in broad daylight."

Weather and atmospheric conditions have no effect whatever on the accuracy of radar equipment. A high frequency radar signal is transmitted several hundred feet down the street or highway and as a car enters this beam the correct speed is recorded on the graph.

The moving automobile changes the frequency of the radar beam

Steady Rise in Food Prices Expected To Continue as Marketing Costs Go up

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—The end of the rise in retail food prices is not in sight.

These prices have increased every month since June 1949. Agriculture department economists forecast further advances in the fall and winter. Food prices now average slightly more than three percent above those of a year ago. However, they are nearly three percent below the peak reached in 1949.

Food prices are determined largely by (1) cost of the raw materials and (2) charges for processing, transportation and marketing.

At present the cost of the raw materials is about 39 percent of the retail food bill. Marketing charges take the remainder, or 61 percent.

Most of the increase in food prices during the past 18 months reflects advances in marketing margins. Processors, transporters and merchandisers as a group have increased their charges six percent.

Report Gives Dairy Results Over August

C. W. Daigh, Twin Falls county agent, announced Friday that production records kept for 1,782 cows in Magic Valley during August showed the average butterfat production per cow to be 30.3 pounds.

Records were kept by the Twin Falls County Dairy Herd Improvement association and included 67 herds with 290 cows dry the total production of butterfat was 53,217 pounds with an average of 36.4 for each milking cow.

More than 814 cows averaged above 40 pounds of butterfat and there were only five herds with two dry cows that had an average higher than 40 pounds.

Born Heasbush, Clatskanie, a new member of unit 1 of the county association had the top producing herd with 18 calves averaging 42.5 pounds for 18 cows of mixed breeds, all milking.

Tom Walker, Twin Falls, with 16 registered and grade Holstein cows, all milking, averaged 42.8 pounds of butterfat for the month.

Smith, Buhi, with 17 registered grade Jerseys, averaged 42.3 pounds with one cow averaging 42.5 pounds.

T. J. Thompson, Twin Falls, with 11 registered Holsteins, averaged 42.3 pounds with one dry and E. J. Morgan, Hansen, with a herd of 16 grade Holsteins, all milking, had an average of 41.2 pounds.

All 67 herds were fed the same grain in addition to forage and 40 unprofitable cows were sold for beef.

ROAD TIMES-NEWS-WANT AD

since a year ago. Farm-produced food raw materials are up about three per cent.

Most of the increase in marketing charges represents wage increases to workers in food industries, higher transportation charges and advances in costs of containers, equipment and other things that food processors and distributors buy.

Agriculture department economists say that further increases in marketing charges are expected in the last half of 1950. They say wage rates probably will continue upward, that railroads have been paying further increases in freight rates, and that recent increases in the price of steel will push up prices of containers and equipment.

Eggs have been the only major food commodity group that has averaged lower than a year ago. Reflecting a big increase in production, prices dropped nearly 15 per cent. Sharp increases over a year ago are shown for meats, food fats and oils and beverages.

The advance in meat prices was mostly a recovery from abnormally low levels of 1949 which reflected a period of overexpansion in production, particularly of hogs.

Since 1947-49, the cost of food raw materials has shown a rather steady decline. But during the same period, marketing charges have shown a steady increase.

In the 1947-49 period, the average amount of farm-produced food products purchased for consumption at home by urban wage-earner and clerical-worker families cost $65 at retail. Of this amount $468 went to farmers for raw materials and $487 to processors, transporters and merchandisers.

By mid-1950, the cost of this quantity of food had climbed to $1,002. Of this amount, the farmer got only $330 and middlemen $612. These figures are based on agriculture department statistics. The department says that the bill for marketing farm-produced food products sold to civilian consumers in 1950 was nearly 80 per cent larger than the average for 1947-49.

The department reports that labor costs represent 48 per cent of the marketing margin, transportation charges 11 per cent, profits before taxes of marketing corporations 16 per cent, and other costs and profits of unincorporated marketing firms 35 per cent.

Of course, a major factor in sustaining retail prices to the high level of economic activity, employment and consumer income. Consumer studies show that Americans as a whole are eating better than ever before. They are buying diets containing much more meat, dairy and poultry products. These are the most costly food to produce.

Facts on Asian Flu

The U.S. Public Health Service has assembled this data on Asian Flu which will help you understand the disease and help you cope with it:

Influenza is an infectious disease. There are four main types—labeled A, B, C, and D, and each type has been seen in various strains, each of these somewhat different from the other. In 1957 a new strain of Type A appeared and since it first appeared in Asia it has been named the Asian strain.

A single case of influenza appears occasionally, but usually the disease occurs in lesser or greater epidemic form. People catch it from each other. They catch it so easily that it is not unusual for a large part of a community to come down with it within the first few days of an epidemic. Most epidemics of influenza last less than a month in one community but may appear in a number of places in one country or in the world at the same time or closely following one another.

Symptoms

Influenza attacks the individual suddenly. The symptoms can be some or all of the following: fever, chills, headache, sore throat, cough, and soreness and aches in the back and limbs. Although the fever usually lasts only 1 to 5 days, the patient is often as exhausted or weakened as if he had gone through a long illness.

The Cause

The cause of influenza is a virus. Viruses are smaller in size than bacteria and can be seen only with powerful electron microscopes. When a person has influenza, or is just coming down with it, the fluids in his mouth and nose contain the viruses. The disease is spread when these viruses get into the nose and mouths of other people. There are many ways that this can happen. The most common is through sneezing or coughing virus-laden spray into the air for others to breathe. Some other ways in which the infection is passed from one to another are through the common use of drinking glasses, towels, or other objects and personal contact like kissing.

Precautions

During an epidemic, when many people around you are becoming sick with influenza and the community air is no laden with viruses, it is almost impossible to avoid getting in the path of a few coughs and sneezes. However, there are a few sensible precautions to take at such times.

Keep up your resistance to disease by practicing good health habits such as getting plenty of rest and eating regular, well-balanced meals. For the short duration of an epidemic, you will be safer to stay out of crowds such as you find at movies and dances. At school or at work try to keep your distance from people who do not cover their coughs and sneezes with a handkerchief or tissue.

If anyone in your family has influenza, keep his dishes and towels separate from the rest of the family. Persuade him to cover his coughs and sneezes with paper tissue which he can drop at once into a paper bag. Replace these bags frequently and wash your hands after disposing of the used bags. When there is influenza (or any other "catching" disease) in the house, wash your hands thoroughly and often with soap. Always wash them well before handling food and after waiting on the patient.

Methods used by health departments to combat the spread of slower moving diseases are of little help against the swift attack of an influenza epidemic. It is really up to you to understand how this disease spreads from one person to another, and to protect yourself sensibly during an epidemic.

If you feel symptoms starting, do not forget that your illness is catching, and that those around you are in danger if you are careless. Influenza is most easily transmitted during the early stages of the illness.

The only medical preventive of practical value known to medical science is influenza vaccine. A new vaccine is being manufactured to combat the Asian strain of influenza. It should be noted that this new vaccine is different from the influenza vaccine which has been available for several years, because it is made specifically to combat the Asian strain of influenza.
