Why Try To Alibi?

It's a great age in which we're living, with

This last week the Russians fired a satellite the entire world. It stayed put. Not only has it established its own orbit at 580 miles every 30 minutes, traveling at a speed of 18,000 miles an hour! Part of the rocket which carried the satellite into its history-making position is following the satellite in an increase of its own for good measure.

All that was breath-taking enough, but a glint fireball put on an extra show for several states in the west, narrowly missing a trans-shipment plane and putting thousands of civilians in a dither.

What was all this coming to? Is it the beginning of something disastrous? Have the scientists gone too far for the world's own good? Or are we entering into a new world of space that staggers all imagination?

The fact that a few more "ordinary" atomic bombs, rockets, missiles and the like were being set off in routine experiments claimed the only other development along speculative lines that seemed to indicate things were at all normal was a bombardment which embarked "artillery" in a decisive battle between the "Armies of Agriculture" and with eggs.

All the while, government officials, military authorities and our top-ranking scientists were offering about the Russian's great achievement the more they talked, the more ridiculous it made us by comparison.

The American people have been suspecting for a long time that our own propagandists have been minimizing the Russian's great achievement in order to make it look like the United States out of all true proportions.

The next time they try to give us a charge of that stuff (after they've finally thought of something) we ought to tell them that with something typically American, such as:

"Don't give us any more of that 'Spuitic'."

Why Not Compromise?

Now that the election has found the people of Twin Falls about evenly divided on a proposed dog leash law, the city commissioners may find it more difficult than they anticipated to make a decision.

No doubt, the commissioners expected the advisory ballot on the issue to give them some indication of what the people prefer, one way or another. As it is they are no better off than they were before submitting the question to the voters.

We did hear one city official express the pinion he was surprised at the outcome. He expected the people of Twin Falls would favor the dog leash law, but to one. But the sentiment locally was nowhere near as opposed to dogs as it is in Potomac where a similar vote carried by a wide margin.

The stand-off vote in Twin Falls might suggest something in the way of compromise, instead of the commissioners adopting a rigid dog leash ordinance on the basis of the small 11-vote majority favoring such a law.

Many of those who opposed the law have expressed themselves as favoring better controls over dog owners.

After all, it is the irresponsible dog owner who is responsible for most of the opposition to dog laws generally, and it is those who are causing the trouble who should be held responsible.

Knowing that passage of a leash law will antagonize all those who voted against such a drastic measure and that taking no further action in the matter will bring an equal protest from those demanding greater control over dogs, the commissioners are in good position to take a middle course.

Enactment of an ordinance that will hold all owners to account for the behavior of their dogs, with rigid enough penalties to assure compliance, probably would not meet with general acceptance.

If such a compromise were put into effect and enforced and the result accomplished the purpose of a leash law, then it might be found that Twin Falls could get along without the more drastic measure which is always highly controversial wherever it is tried out.

"BALLET OF INDECISION"

"The American people and their state legislators are engaged in a macabre ballet of indecision on traffic law enforcement that is danced to the tune of 40,000 dead and two million injured each year—all because our leaders will not lead and our people will not speak out for what they want.

That's the analysis of one of the nation's top safety specialists, Dr. Marland K. Strasser of the Association of Casualty and Surety

Companies, a leader in safety work for nearly 40 years.

"The day we put a stop to the ring-around-the-rosy between legislative action and public desire on traffic safety, is the day we will begin to protect ourselves against the cruellest and most unnecessary public disaster in our country today," said Dr. Strasser.

"After bloody 1956, the worst year in history of our highways, our country desperately needs a public outcry against the carnage.

We should consider a candidate's devotion to traffic safety when we cast our ballots. If we don't, some of us won't be around to vote again."

Change Handbook

An evaluation of changes made in the American economy since 1931 is the impact of technological improvements on each occupation and industry, and an analysis of employment trends in industries that show signs of growth. It is all contained in a new 1957 edition of the Occupational Outlook handbook.

The handbook, issued jointly by the department of labor and the veterans administration, describes more than 100 occupations and the major industries. It includes for the first time expanding fields of job opportunity such as electronics, physical and biological sciences, atomic energy, radio and television, broadcasting and social sciences. All industries and occupations covered in the 1957 edition of the handbook have been completely revised.

Youth Is Injured In Car Collision

SHOSHONE, Oct. 12—Two cars were demolished and an 18-year-old Shoshone youth was injured Friday in an accident near the Riverside service station on Highway 22.

Charles Edward Mitchell, 18, was taken to St. Luke's hospital in Jerome after his 1930 Studebaker crashed into a parked 1936 Ford. Mitchell received cuts and bruises on his arm, hand, face and head.

Investigating officers reported Mitchell was driving south on the highway when his car struck a parked car owned by Tom Bacia. The Ford was parked on the right side of the highway. It was knocked 20 feet by the impact and Mitchell's car was tossed 50 feet from the point of impact.

The accident was investigated by Sheriff of Police Bill Anderson, and Shoshone County Sheriff Thomas Conner.

Hagerman Area Events Related

HAGERMAN, Oct. 12—Mrs. Louis Gashola and daughter who have visited her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Candide Elorriaga and friends for the past week, left Thursday for her home in Italyway, Ore. Accompanying her was John Woodhead who will visit with his son, John Woodhead, Jr., at the Browner dam.

2 Divorce Decrees Granted by Court

Two divorce decrees were granted in Twin Falls district court Friday on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Joyce Westcott was divorced from Edmund R. Westcott. Their community property was divided by the court. There were no children involved.

Her maiden name of Joyce Boas was restored by the court. They were married at Elko, Nev., March 23, 1925. She was represented by Tom Alworth, Elko attorney.

Mrs. Mary Ella Senner received a divorce from Rex R. Senner. A previous property agreement was approved by the court. They had no children.

They were married at Emmett, June 8, 1925. She was represented by N. N. Jewell, Twin Falls attorney.

Prison Sentence Is Withheld Here

Benny J. Kindred, 18, Kimberly, was sentenced to not more than 15 years in the state penitentiary Friday in Twin Falls district court but the sentence was withheld and the youth was placed on two-year probation.

Kindred was apprehended Sept. 1 by a city policeman who had stated himself out in the Red Rock cafe, Twin Falls, and urged the youth after he had entered the machine through a window.

Sept. 12, the youth pleaded guilty to a charge of first degree burglary. Among other provisions of his parole judgment, A. Baker ordered Kindred to make restitution to the safe and to a Kimberly firm.

FFA's Initiation Set at Shoshone

SHOSHONE, Oct. 12—Initiation for freshmen in the Shoshone high school FFA will be held the week following national vacation, members of the chapter decided at a meeting Wednesday.

Howard Sullivan, club representative, left this week for Kansas City, Mo., where he will attend a national convention.

The group decided to serve refreshments at the first meeting of each month. There are two meetings held each month. Refreshment committee members are Ray Rogers, Anthony Parks and Edward Blanton. All members of the boys are invited to attend FFA meetings.

Burley Turns Off Irrigation Water

BURLEY, Oct. 12—Irrigation water for Burley was turned off Thursday after water use had declined sharply since the onset of cool weather.

R. J. Hockabee, city engineer, said the city water department will drain the irrigation mains and service pumps for protection during the winter. He urged residents to open valves so the lines may drain and be protected from freezing.

Colons Probe Into Teamster Fund Muddle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—State investigators disclosed today they are digging deeper into the handling of union funds by the Teamsters in areas which they believe have been under James R. Hoffa's domination.

All Teamster locals in the Central and Southern conferences have been asked to supply a listing of their cash assets, their stocks and bonds, and any advances or loans made to other Teamster units. The request was made in letters from the Federal Bureau of Investigation by Senator McClellan, D. Ark., chairman of the special Senate subcommittee investigating the Teamster management field.

McClellan said in a statement his committee was prompted by "clear evidence" already uncovered of what he called misuse of union funds by the newly elected president of the Teamsters Union.

McClellan said his committee was to find out the extent to which "this type of activity has been going on in areas which have been under the control and domination of Mr. Hoffa."

After the requested information was received, McClellan said, "it will be turned over to the committee to determine whether or not the problems raised can be dealt with legislatively."

The check stations were located at both the Washington and Lincoln schools.

Kenneth Graham, co-chairman of the Jaycee bicycle project committee, said the check was a "huge success" and many, many bicycles were found to be in extremely bad shape.

The check found an alarming number of cases where youngsters did not have licenses and Graham said the media matter was placed in the hands of the state.

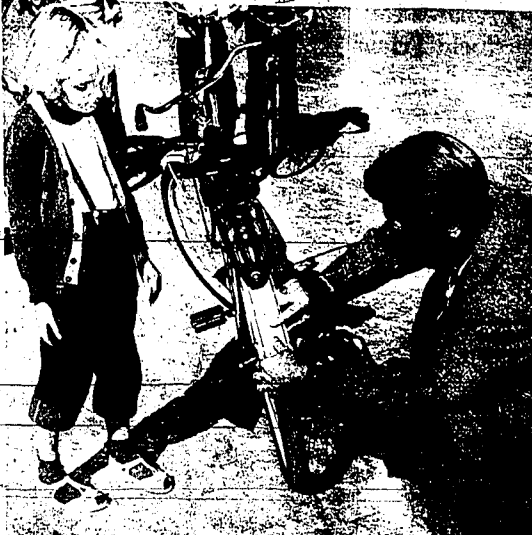

On hand to deliver safety talks to the youngsters were State Patrolmen R. E. Young, Traffic Sergeant Frank Barnett, city police department.

Graham said that due to unforeseen circumstances, the membership cards and colored decals did not arrive in time to be handed out individually to each youngster. Arrangements will be made to see that each child receives the membership kit.

He expressed deep appreciation to the many individuals who cooperated in making the project a success and particularly lauded the efforts of the professional bicycle repairmen, J. H. Blais and Wendell Cloyd.

Graham said the two made on-the-spot repairs and offered advice and recommendations regarding proper vehicle care. Each youngster

Judge in Illinois Clears Principal For Paddle Use

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 12 (AP)—A school principal who punished a pupil with an assault-and-battery charge was acquitted Friday.

The finding was announced by Judge Sackler, a justice of the peace, in an action brought by the mother of a 14-year-old Larry Lind against David W. Berger, III, the principal of Lakewood high school.

The mother, Mrs. Gladys Lind, argued that Berger, who is 20, was the last when he whacked a pupil with a 14-inch wooden paddle for taking clothing from another pupil's locker.

A hearing of the case, during which photographs of the young principal were shown in evidence, ended Friday.

Sackler announced Thursday that he was reviewing the case last night and going over it again this morning. Sackler indicated that his primary consideration was whether the paddling had been enough to warrant the charge.

Games of Bridge Played in Jerome

Jerome, Oct. 12—The Jerome State Bridge club met Saturday afternoon at the Elks lodge. Next meeting will be monthly meeting.

Area Grange Shown Films For Concern

A film on the use of the new dial system was shown by the extension division of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company at the meeting of the Knoll Grange Friday at the community center.

M. T. M. Knight, home economics chairman, reported sending a golden anniversary present to Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Holsinger. A card of thanks was received. Mrs. Elmer Dowsett reported on the Elks' dinner and asked for more help.

A letter was read from Sen. Frank Church in reply to a letter from the Grange asking them that the national Grange headquarters building at Washington, D. C., would be retained.

It was voted to change the hour of meeting from 8:30 to 8 p.m. The Grange also voted to drop birthday dinners for this year.

Mrs. Bryna Pilot, lecturer, presented her plans for the forthcoming year's program. The hostesses for one meeting presents the program at the next meeting.

Un-Bearable

BOZEMAN, Mont., Oct. 12 (AP)—A man dressed in a bear costume to publicize a Junior Chamber of Commerce "Half-a-Dollar" nearly became a hunting casualty Saturday.

Yern Strong, dressed as a bear, climbed a tall fir tree used as Bozeman's Christmas tree. "Bother" residents "spotted" the "bear" and the word spread around town.

One of the first at the scene was Deputy Sheriff E. L. Kirkpatrick, and he brought along a rifle.

Kirkpatrick said he had the "bear" in his rifle's sights when he noticed the "bear" was wearing shoes. Later he said he noticed other hunters also were aiming their guns and he rushed to tell them not to shoot.

After a crowd gathered, Strong released handbills advertising the Jaycee event, then came down the tree.

Kirkpatrick called the stunt "a very foolish thing."

Miners Laid Off

ELY, Nev., Oct. 12 (AP)—Consolidated Mines corporation announced Saturday it is laying off 65 men of its 20-man force because of dropping copper prices.

Gen. Mgr. Arthur J. O'Connor said the layoffs will begin this night shift. Operations will continue with a two-shift, seven-day schedule at the Tropic open pit about 10 miles west of Ely.

This is the first work force reduction for the Ely area since the operations recently.

Newlyweds Are To Be Feted at Home Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley H. Dobbs, who have just returned from a wedding trip to San Francisco, will be honored at a reception for members of their families this afternoon at their home, 27 Jefferson street.

A three-tiered cake flanked by white tapers will form the centerpiece for the serving table covered with a crocheted lace-over-green cloth. Mrs. Robert James will serve the cake, and Mrs. John Crawford will preside at the punch service. The guest book will be attended by Beverly Wintley and Mrs. Mack Bolinger will display the gifts.

The former Janet Marie Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess N. Moore and Dobbs, was married Sept. 27 at the First Baptist church.

The Rev. R. Eugene Crow officiated at the ceremony. The bride wore a white gown with a round neckline and a full skirt. She carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums and a corsage of pink roses. Her hair was styled in a short, wavy bob. She was accompanied by her father, Mr. Jess N. Moore.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Now and again I read an article telling "What children think of their parents." Parents have enough to contend with without having to feel that their children are not satisfied with their home and their parents. That is just too much. In my opinion children should not be asked such a question. Nor should they be asked to tell their opinions of their teachers.

Any such questionnaire can mean nothing but hurt teachers. Children are just that, children, needing the instruction and discipline their parents and teachers give them; needing the affection and care that is lavished upon them. They have not the experience nor the understanding of their experiences to be good judges concerning them. It is unfair to them and to their teachers and parents to ask such questions.

And I would like to say to the boys and girls who answer such questions with a gripe against their teachers or their parents that they are making a mistake to do so. Father is too strict. Mother is old-fashioned. I don't have enough freedom. I can't have dates. My allowance is too small. My parents don't understand me. None of these.

An American child is the most fortunate child on earth this day. He has a better home, a better understanding from his parents, better food and better clothes, better medical care, and as for freedom.

Special Aid Fund Is Explained for Group at Session

JEROME, Oct. 12 — The educational aid fund was explained by first vice president at the Tuesday night meeting of the American Legion auxiliary.

Mrs. Bob Thompson reported on a meeting of the junior activities group at the hall Monday night. Mrs. L. W. Sanborn asked all members to contribute to the food bank for the child welfare project. Canned foods and staples are to be taken to the Sanborn residence. It was reported that members had paid their annual dues.

Members voted to contribute $10 to the Red Cross drive. The home committee reported that the kitchen had been cleaned by the past president and the new president and that new curtains had been purchased for the kitchen by the party.

A report was given on the dinner party given by the past president for the new and old serving officers. The dinner was held at the Legion hall with Mrs. Oscar Post, president of the party, welcoming guests. Party members voted to hold their next meeting first Wednesday in November with Mrs. C. V. Williamson, Mrs. Bert Rhininger, Mrs. Bryan Henry and Mrs. D. L. Stroud as hostesses.

Payette Man Takes Halfway Lead in Bowling Meet Here; Lillian Aims Paces Women

Mr. Lillian Aimes, Twin Falls, grabbed the halfway lead in the women's western all-star match bowling playoff in Boise Saturday night while George W. Payette, a male entrant in the tournament being conducted at the local alley. Each of the eight top bowlers from the western division of the state are playing 32 games to see who will gain the right to try for state championship. The final 16 games will be rolled today night, the male tour.

Michigan State Drubs Rival Michigan 35-6

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 12 (P) — Michigan State's splendid Spartans, led by the built-like-chin charges of halfback Walt Kowalewski, turned arch rival Michigan into a fumbling giant Saturday and ground the Wolverines into the sun under a 35-6 score before a wildly cheering throng of 30,000. The talented Spartans looked every bit the part of the nation's No. 2 collegiate team as they crumpled the sixth-ranked Wolverines in a bit mobile line to the top again in the Michigan defense.

The Michigan State defense, which has yielded only six points in rolling over three opponents, stopped three Wolverines fumbles in the first half and set the pattern for the important contest.

Kowalewski, hampered last season by an ankle injury after being declared as one of the country's outstanding backs as a sophomore, recovered the first one on the Michigan 37 and quickly turned it into a Spartan touchdown.

The second fumble brought a 14-yard gain and a spirited running drive that had carried the Spartan four and the third one broke a Wolverine threat on the Michigan State 30.

This was the golden anniversary game in this Big Ten backyard football feud that dates back to 1883. Michigan's goal was the highest ever amassed against a Michigan team.

Jerome Trims Marsh Valley For 13-7 Win

JEROME, Oct. 12 — Marsh Valley scored a touchdown with only 15 seconds left in the game but still went down to defeat by 13-7.

The Tigers were scheduled to play Oakley and that game will be made up next Friday at Oakley. Marsh Valley's game with Idaho Falls also was postponed.

But Small led Jerome to an early victory by scoring on the fourth yard line early in the first period. After that neither team could score until Ron Kule uncorked a long pass to Ardeli Shook that covered 70 yards in the fourth period.

The Tigers had 11 first downs to 10 for the visitors. Larry Silver scored on the 27 yards and Lee Shook paced the winners offense.

Coyotes Bow to Western State

COUNTESS, Colo., Oct. 12 (U) — Quarterback Tom Mule ran wild Saturday, participating in five out of seven touchdowns as Western State college beat the Coyotes of Idaho from Caldwell 40-13 in a non-conference football game.

Mule, a hometown product, scored three touchdowns and passed to end Glenn Erickson and Ed McCarty for two more.

Western State took command of the game in the first quarter, leading 27-0. Mule ran twice, once on a run of nine yards and another on a 56-yard pass, intercepting a later pass from a two-yard play.

Richard Maggard plunged over from the two-yard line and Ed McCarty scored 56 yards off tackle for a counter in the third period.

Who's on Second?

New York Yankee Hank Bauer drives back to second base as his teammate, Enos Slaughter (17) runs for the same bag in a mixup in the first inning of the seventh World Series game in New York. Milwaukee Braves' Johnny Logan (left) and Felix Mantilla cover the play. Joe Paparella is the umpire. Bauer led off the inning with a double. Next up, Slaughter tapped back to the mound and Slaughter was tagged in a rundown. 10 wound up with both Bauer and Slaughter sitting on second. Slaughter was trapped by Logan and Paparella with both hands safe. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Fourth Quarter Passes Give WSC 21-18 Victory Over Stanford

PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 12 (P) — Washington State's vaunted passing attack, held in check through most of the game, came to life with electrifying speed on two fourth quarter touchdown throws by Bobby Newman, the second with 43 seconds to go, to bring a 21-18 victory over Stanford's Indians Saturday. A crowd of 25,000 in Stanford Stadium watched the opportunity.

Pullman Area Celebrates WSC Victory

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 12 (U) — This usually edgy farming community celebrated the Cougars' victory over Stanford Saturday night with a shouting, dancing, horn-toting celebration of Washington State's comeback football win over Stanford.

The 21-18 victory at Palo Alto kept WSC strongly in the running for the Rose Bowl. Residents here could remember such excitement since the Cougars signed Brown 14-0 in the 1955 New Year's day game.

Most ragers in town and on campus had been tuned loudly to the game, so interested passers-by could follow the action from outside. But most, townspeople and students stayed close to their seats.

The 180-point victory bell also rang Pullman's town with the word WSC had come from behind two fourth quarter touchdowns for the win. The big bell was to be rung by hand every 40 seconds until the team arriving at midnight. Cougars were expected to get extended leave if the players weren't back by the 1 a.m. curfew.

There was a mass evacuation as the whole community appeared to race out to begin the celebration with yelling, whistling, shouting, music makers and exploding firecrackers. Caravans of horn-blasting cars were quickly formed.

Several hundred students and several hundred adults were even venturing across the state line into nearby Idaho.

Idaho Fumbles Away 20-0 Loss To Oregon State

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 12 (P) — Alert Oregon State pounced on fumbles, and intercepted passes here Saturday and then captured a hard-fought 20-0 Pacific Coast Conference football victory from Idaho. The defending PCC champions, playing in rain showers before 14,600 persons, thus ran their unbeaten string to four games. Two of these victories were in conference play.

Dancing backs Ennel Durden and Joe Francis, and a running back, were the stars.

Backwards

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 12 (U) — The "go" on the wrong end of "hello" as the Corvallis high school band spelled out a welcome to Idaho's football team at the Oregon State-Idaho football game Saturday.

At the time Oregon State, a four-touchdown favorite, was to play a 0-0 tie.

As the banders lined up to play, the Corvallis high school drum major noticed that his fellow band members had spelled the word "hello."

He quickly ran the group command "backwards" to the other end of the line.

fullback, N.D. Beamer, carried the Oregon State ball to the end zone on a 20-yard run, the first of two Idaho fumbles and an errant pass on the drive.

Guard Jim Brackins knocked the ball from quarterback Howard "Willie" hands midway in the third quarter and tackle George Enderly recovered on Idaho's 39. Five plays later Beamer leaped over from the one.

Minutes later Beamer snared a WSC pass on his own 35 and ran back 25 yards. Beamer and Francis, hurdling and running over the would-be Idaho Vandal tacklers, carried to the Idaho 10.

With 25 seconds remaining in the third period, Francis shot over from the 10 and the second OSGO touchdown.

Idaho put in the most determined drive in this bleak, gray afternoon and the daily double. It required 10 plays to make the payoff.

Princeton Takes 13-9 Decision

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 12 (U) — Jim Noll's quick thinking and accurate passing saved Princeton from a flaking Saturday and the Ivy League football victory from Princeton. The defending PCC champions, playing in rain showers before 14,600 persons, thus ran their unbeaten string to four games. Two of these victories were in conference play.

Following an exchange of punts, which included a 55-yard quick kick by fullback Ken Hall, the Vandal's offense was in a state of confusion.

Starting on their 31, the Vandals, with Willis minding punts and short Jack into the line, moved to the OSGO 10.

OSGO field "Willie" attempted field goal from the 25. The ball, however, failed to clear the crossbar and Larry Aldrich pumped new life into the Vandals late in the second quarter.

The Vandals moved to the OSGO 31 before center Joe Wade intercepted a Willis pass.

Spud Men Stand Knee Deep in Yield at Hazelton

Four men connected with the potato harvest and processing in Hazelton this week examine a storage filled with potatoes from a farm, located on the Hazelton-Butte project east of Hazelton. The storage, under lease to J. R. Simplot company, has a capacity of 100,000 hundredweight sacks of potatoes. Checking the crop are, from left, Delmar Mecham, Hazelton, Dave Delwiler, Jerome, George Brandon, Hazelton, and A. R. (Art) Hulings, Twin Falls. The potatoes were grown in a 400-acre plot. Outstanding Spud Yield Is Shown As Crop Harvest Starts in Valley

Magic Valley's bountiful annual harvest is evidenced this week in the Hazelton-Butte project, area with the harvesting of approximately 150,000 sacks of Idaho potatoes from a 400-acre plot owned and cultivated by Brandon and Mecham, Hazelton.

The yield is averaging around 200 sacks to the acre with an occasional field showing as high as 350 to 400 sacks to the acre. For the entire 400 acres the yield per acre will be in excess of 200 sacks. The potatoes are exceptional in type, color and size. A. R. (Art) Hulings, area manager for J. R. Simplot company, said Thursday.

George Brandon and Delmar Mecham own two complete sections of land in the Hazelton-Butte project, located east of Hazelton. The men have been partners for over 20 years, engaging in farming in Duchesne county, Utah, before moving to the project four years ago.

The past season they had 400 acres planted in potatoes, 320 acres in peas and the balance in wheat.

Simplot company has contracted for the entire crop of potatoes which are being stored in three big storages, recently constructed along Highway 25 east of Hazelton, until they can be processed and loaded.

Using the latest in digging and potato harvesting equipment, the potatoes move in a constant stream from the field by trucks to the storages. "These are tremendous and the potatoes running between six and 14 ounces," Hulings said.

The three storages are 250 by 80 feet each and each holds approximately 100,000 bags per storage. This is fitting each bag at 100 pounds. One storage was constructed in 1956 and the two flanking the original were completed during the past summer. Hulings says all three are under lease to Simplot company.

A. R. (Art) Hulings, area manager for J. R. Simplot company, discusses the big potato harvest in Hazelton with H. E. Gundelfinger, president of the Hazelton state bank. Both men have been instrumental in the development of the Hazelton-Butte project east of Hazelton. Land formerly covered with sagebrush has been reclaimed, and is now producing a bountiful crop. Illustration of Magic Valley Farm Wealth Noted in Record Corn Pack

BUHL, Oct. 12—About 350 employees of the Green Giant company 1955 of 537,000 cases completed a record corn pack last week which exceeded 750,000 cases weekly line on Aug. 10 and things started moving about Sept. 1. The company operates five corn pickers.

which pick about 45 per cent of the corn. The balance is hand picked by Texas Mexican labor. A new feature this year is the use of dump trucks for hauling the corn. From the trucks the corn is dumped onto a concrete unloading slab where it is pushed onto a conveyor belt which takes it into the new production building. This building, which houses the machinery and employs to get the corn into the cans, has increased the capacity of the cannery by approximately 15 per cent. An estimated 25,000 cases can be processed in one day.

The first step in the husking which is done by machines. After the husks have been taken off, the ears are inspected and the kernels are removed from the cob. The corn is then washed and put through a final inspection before being put into the cans.

After the cans have been filled and sealed they are run through a continuous cooker which processes the corn. They are then taken by conveyor to the warehouse where they are labeled, cased, palletized and then stacked.

The waste is taken by conveyor to a huge stack where each grower may get 400 pounds for each ton of corn he delivered to the cannery. This waste is known as silage and is used to feed livestock.

Approximately 200 growers in this area raise 2475 acres or 21,000 tons of corn for the Green Giant company. According to Oran Scholl, factory manager, these growers are paid in excess of $200,000 for their corn. The factory workers also collect more than $200,000 from the company for labor performed. Field workers and truckers are paid about $100,000.

Of the 250 employees mentioned, about 20 are employed throughout the year to keep the plant in running order and ship the merchandise to the trade centers.

The Buhl plant is called a transit house because it is used for storage of all the products shipped in from the company's midwest plants for distribution—the standard 16-ounce cans. The warehouse which was completed last year is a major improvement in this transit operation.

This long conveyor belt removes silage from the corn yield at the Green Giant company at Buhl to deposit the silage stack at the newly-completed cannery at Buhl. Some 200 growers in the Buhl area have produced about 21,000 tons of corn for the cannery. At peak production, the firm employs about 250 workers, with 20 maintained throughout the year to maintain the plant and ship canned corn to trading centers. (Staff engraving)

Well-Being of Nation's Agriculture Debated at Top Levels of Government

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—How off is the nation's agriculture? This question is being argued by top government officials and by those having conflicting views on whether the federal government should do more or less to put more "pennies into farmers' pockets." The debate is being heard in the Senate at the coming session. The controversy has been fed by trade reports of the agriculture and by a recent document issued by the Senate Committee on Agriculture, titled "The Balance Sheet of Agriculture, 1937," issued by the Senate Committee on Agriculture. This bulletin said farm assets increased five per cent during 1956.

These assets were listed as farm lands and buildings, automobiles, tractors, motor trucks, farm machinery and equipment, livestock, crop inventories, household goods and financial assets. The bulletin said that most of the increase in assets in 1956 was in the value of farm lands. Of the total increase of $1,600,000,000 in all assets, land accounted for $6,800,000,000. Newsom declares that this increase in land values is not a true increase because, he argues, farmers owned no more land at the start of 1937 than at the beginning of 1956. He says they probably owned less, taking into account

Buhl's newly-completed Green Giant company packing plant began operations early in August, with heavy pressure on workers and machinery beginning during the middle of September. This overall view of the company's yard, including the storage apron with its mounds of fresh corn, was taken during the first pack to go through the company's new plant. Output during last week set a new record, firm officials report. (Staff engraving)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

In checking the history of the local hot lunch program at HANSEN school it was discovered that Mrs. William McMaster and Mrs. V. L. Wilson were the first women to organize a hot lunch program. They fell into their job naturally, as they were the only women in the school who voted to do something about hot lunches in about 1940 or '41, and became the sponsors of the project.

Mother of the school children were contacted, and willingly took on the job of providing a hot dish as a supplement to the carried lunches.

Two mothers, not necessarily mothers of the club, took turns a week at a time, planning and cooking the hot dish which was served in the canteen. They used one large pot and cooked on a hobplate, serving some 35 or 40 students. The charge was three cents, which was used to purchase the hot dish ingredients used with donated food.

Mrs. McMaster is no longer active in school activities, since her children are all grown and married. Mrs. Wilson, however, is now teaching the third-grade, still has a high school girl in her class.

There are a lot of names who should go along with these ladies, who started and kept the program started, but time dims memories and it would be impossible to give all of them the credit they deserve.

Many of the school lunches started with government aid and the WPA in the mid 30's, but HANSEN has one daily lunch back to 1911 or thereabouts. The civic club, a group of women dedicated to improvement in the community, fostered the program during the early months, when Mrs. Wilson served for many years as their chairman.

The civic club bought the equipment needed and the school board furnished the cost range. Whenever things weren't going too well, members of the club would step in and help, each woman working one day a week. The hot lunch was served in the basement of the grade school and the parents brought vegetables if possible, and were given credit. The menu included vegetable soup and sandwiches every day. Hot cocoa was served whenever milk was available.

One of the first cooks was Mrs. Well Grady, who drove a team and wagon. She left home with her three daughters, now Mrs. Edna Hadenmacher, Mrs. Linn Blackheart, and Mrs. Agnes Fock, OLENA, NEV., each morning at seven and forded the river from the island where they lived.

On her way, she picked up children and brought them with her to the school. After cooking lunch for the whole school, she took her children home. Each daughter had her own horse to do to get things done all alone in the little time that was left of the day. Later Mrs. Alton Parks, mother of Clint Abernethy, Mrs. Walter Frisco and Mrs. J. Z. Hoover, GOODRICH, and Mrs. John Reed, ELMO, NEV., cooked for several years.

The grade school building burned in the summer of 1922 and the program was discontinued until the health council took over in the early 1930's.

The 60th birthday anniversary of H. A. Sandy, SHOSHONE, was celebrated Sept. 24, at which time he was awarded a life membership in Wood River Center Grange. In the process of the event, 163 years of Grange work and membership came to light by his immediate family.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Sandy had belonged to Wood River Center Grange for 41 years. Their daughter, HAGERMAN, who holds membership in Wood River Center Grange, had been a member years while Donnie, SHOSHONE, another son, had been a member years, and their daughter, Elton Strickman.

Loan Officer Studies North Side's Project

RUPERT, Oct. 12—Harold Williams, operating loan division head, from the Farmers Home Administration, national office in Washington, D.C., spent a day and half this week touring the North Side of Minidoka reclamation project.

Accompanying Williams on the tour were William Baugh, Jr., state director, formerly Burley, and Vernon Nafus, state chief of program operations, Boise. The tour was conducted by Robert J. Harrison, Minidoka county supervisor, and Willard D. Stevenson, area supervisor.

Williams discussed the use of operating loan money on the North Side project and examined many of the recent loans made to the North Side Homeowners. He stated that the national office is concerned at the rapidly depleting operating loan money. He stated that the national office is concerned at the rapidly depleting operating loan money. AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

By Rev. Wayne D. Wardwell, Jr., Minister of Christian Education, First Presbyterian Church

Having grown up on foreign soil, it has long been of particular interest to me how we as American Christians deal with our brothers across the seas. I feel that we have a unique opportunity in the world today which has seldom been obtained in past years. With the increased ability to produce and move products, we are in a position to be international "good Samaritans" in a very special way. We can get more commodities anywhere, faster than ever before. Furthermore, we live in a time when the world is desperately in need of "good Samaritans."

Yet the appalling fact is that we give too late, though more, than others. We are slow to give, when they should be unhesitating, and worst of all, we give in such a way that the point is definitely made that we, the givers, are superior to the receivers.

Now, politically speaking, this might be thought of as unimportant blunders by religious and governmental leaders in connection with people who do not matter anyway. Why should we be paying greater taxes than any other people have ever paid before, to try to be better with people in distress who might someday bite the hand that feeds them? We have troubles enough at home to keep us busy without worrying about those beyond our borders. Unfortunately, these have been colossal blunders resulting in the loss of inestimable national prestige, goodwill and influence. This is not even to mention that in spite of large scale our take-home pay is the greatest in history, and one of the best ways to make sure of being bitten is not to give. As our young people would say, we have "hooded."

Of course, most of the "goodness" we have is more than, or five, or 10 years ago, so that we are feeling the effects now. Who can tell how much harm was done to our country when some years ago Russia immediately sent a needy India a small amount of wheat, while our commercial delay in shipping of a great deal more wheat in order to discuss the advisability of the gift was what strings it any should be tied to. Can you imagine yourself being in a completely down and out condition with a full quota of personal pride, being forced to sit in the spotlight of public scrutiny while a committee of community do-gooders deliberated for days whether or not you should be helped, these communities' actions being given daily publicity?

It seems a shame that we who have perfected the art of advertising at home, have so often done such a poor job of selling our most prized product, the American way to other people. An American soap company can effectively get the idea across that its product really gets the "good thing," but a nation cannot seem to get the idea across that most Americans are really very fine people.

Now, much of the attitude of foreign people toward America is dependent upon the method we use in trying to help them. So it would seem that how we give our gifts to impoverished nations is very important. Accordingly, I am glad that the Twin Falls Ministerial association has found it wise again to sponsor the youth "Trick or Treat" program on Halloween for the purpose of extending the American hand of help. The significant thing that will be known by those who give

Motorcycle, Auto Involved in Crash

A Twin Falls motorcycle rider, Sterling B. Larson, 16, 1525 Heyburn avenue east, was injured slightly Friday night when his vehicle collided with a 1955 Chevrolet driven by William O. Crippen, 45, 1205 North avenue east.

Police reported Larson received a bruised right knee in the accident at the intersection of Morningstar drive and Addison avenue east. Damage to the left side of the car was estimated at $75. Damage to the 1957 Indian motorcycle was approximately $25.

Police said Crippen started to make a left turn and when the motorcycle started to pass the two collided.

U. S. Reports 1958's Sugar Beet Acreage

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—Idaho's allocation for acreage allotment for 1958 sugar beets was set at 89,995 acres.

Last year's allocation was 92,891 acres. The department of agriculture said the closing date for filing requests was Jan. 17, 1958.

The national acreage allotment was set at 916,000 acres. This compares with a total allotment of 890,000 acres set in 1957 and 850,000 acres for each of the 1955 and 1956 crops.

Some 2,500 acres were set aside as a national reserve, but the rest of the entire acreage has been allotted since. Curtailment of the 1958 sugar beet crop is required, USDA said, because of the carryover of sugar from previous crops and an anticipated extensive interest in sugar beet production.

The state AGO committee will establish individual tract proportionate shares under standards similar to those effective last year. One percent reduces the minimum of two per cent of each state allocation as required for 1957 to one per cent as required for the 1955 and 1956 crops.

Farm operators desiring that proportionate shares be established for their farms should file requests on special forms available at county AGO offices.

Harvesting a bumper crop of potatoes is not a hit or miss proposition with Brandon and Mechem. Growing high quality potatoes is a specialized business today and the partners leave nothing to guess work.
Friday, Mechem said, "We spread out planting from April 10 to May 15, using a nitrogen broadcast ahead of our spring plowing and planting." The mixture of fertilizer used by the partners is one Brandon described as "especially adaptable to our type of soil."
All irrigating is done through a sprinkling system supplied from the well. Water is pumped from the well between 200 and 300 feet by three 300-horsepower pumps. They plan to add an additional pump next year.
Mechem says the sprinkling system enables them to have the proper amount of water when and where it is needed. "By having constant and a steady supply of water we are able to keep our crop in constant condition for high quality and tonnage production."
During the growing season cultivation of the potatoes is done, as Brandon says, "just when we figure they need it."

When the crops are in a certain stage rot-o-leaves are used to whip off the vines to insure a good starch content and maturity. During the harvest three mechanical harvesters, each operated by one man and five women, are put in operation. The potatoes are carried from the harvesters to bulk bed trucks and then hauled to storage.
On arrival at the storages the potatoes are removed from the trucks by other conveyors and piled until ready for grading, sorting, washing and bagging at the Simplot packing shed in Hazelton.
William Harding, Hazelton, is the harvester contractor and field boss for Brandon and Mechem.
The two sections of land, each containing 400 acres, was nothing but sagebrush and range land a little over four years ago.
Prior to the fall plowing, Brandon and Mechem confer with specialists regarding soil conditions and methods of bringing the ground to the best condition for production.
The construction of the three storages and the high yearly production by Brandon and Mechem is a credit to the area, H. E. Gumbel,

Medical Teamwork Credited With This Infant's Health

They Carl Mullins, Jr., Ketchum, takes his bottle from Nurse Verla Chase after a successful surgical operation, the type of which is considered by many experts to be a rarity in Magic Valley. The infant was stricken with a malformation of the esophagus or gullet. The defect is considered to be between 80 and 90 per cent fatal.

Until surgery could be accomplished the baby was fed by a tube into the stomach. Because of the precision teamwork of members of the medical profession in Magic Valley, the baby's life was saved. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mullins, Ketchum. (Pettigrove photo—staff arranging).

Medical Teamwork, Rare Operation Get Credit for Saving Ketchum Baby's Life

Today a 4-week-old Ketchum boy owes his life to the precision teamwork of countless numbers of the medical profession in Magic Valley. Four weeks ago, Mrs. Carl Mullins Ketchum, entered the Sun Valley hospital maternity ward, after the usual preparation by doctors and nurses. Mrs. Mullins entered the delivery room and gave birth to a strapping 8-pound baby boy.

Things were not as well as could be expected, however; the hospital staff suspected the infant of having a serious case of pneumonia because of increasing mucus deposits in his chest.

Immediately action was taken to remove the mucus. But in their efforts, they discovered a more serious defect. The child apparently had been born without an esophagus and saliva was being deposited into the lungs through the windpipe.

The two-doctor staff of the Sun Valley hospital had X-rays taken of the baby and confirmed their suspicions. The infant was suffering from improper formation of the esophagus or gullet. Medically speaking, the diagnosis was "atresia of the esophagus with a tracheoesophageal fistula."

The hospital staff recommended that the baby be immediately transferred to Twin Falls and Magic Valley Memorial hospital.

For a baby stricken with this particular defect chances are about 1 in every 20 cases diagnosed for survival. The estimated incidence for the disease is about 1 in every 8,000 births. Essentially, the reason for the high mortality rate is the ease with which the defect may be overlooked; doctors often "ring themselves" with what appears to be a pneumonia case.

If this defect is not corrected, the results are fatal. There are many possibilities of the defect being overlooked and untreated.

The first complication of the defect is starvation and the second, widespread and overwhelming pneumonia. This latter complication is caused directly by a spillover of milk and saliva into the lungs through the windpipe.

This being the case of the Mullins baby, the medical team had to work swiftly for these complications lead to fatality in a matter of days and are seldom complicated with life for more than a week or two.

According to an official spokesman of this team, this type of an operation is relatively simple but extremely difficult, due to the size of the child and its condition.

The spokesman noted also that the difficulty of such surgery results from the time required to work in such a small delicate area.

The surgeon, working with two assistants and a host of others, working on information supplied by others, brought the Mullins baby into surgery.

A long incision was made following the 10-line on the baby's right side through its chest. The ribs were spread allowing a clear view of the trouble spot.

The lower segment of the esophagus was cut free from the windpipe and the hole created, sewn closed. The upper bulb, or pouch was opened and the two ends were sewn together. The chest cavity was closed and also sewn.

Grange Officers Installed Jointly at King Hill Meeting

seeing what might have otherwise been a family tragedy.

Mrs. Mullins says, "We are so thrilled that something could be done for our baby. He is gaining weight rapidly and now weighs more than at any other time."

"It takes a little longer to feed him, and he has to be fed more often, but he is perfectly normal and we are deeply grateful," she notes.

This is not the end of the road for doctors and other members of the medical profession, for there is a never-ending fight against disease, sickness and tragedy.

Outdoor Association Members Pitch in to Work on Own Building at Frontier Field

Clyde Ross, left, secretary of the Twin Falls chapter of the Idaho Outdoor association, points out big game success in Idaho as the group meets in the building they are remodeling as a project. Watching from left are Elmer Anns, state president, Noel Bailey, local chapter president, and Cliff Bladen, local director. The building is a former barracks moved from Mountain Home airbase. Members each bought a chair to furnish the room. Kitchen facilities, picnic grounds with a barbecue pit and parking grounds are planned. Old walls have been torn out and replaced with new ones, and lights installed. (Staff photo-engraving)

Elmer Anns, left, state Idaho Outdoor association president, and Noel Bailey, right, discuss remodeling of the clubhouse kitchen. The clubhouse is located at Frontier field and members of the local chapter are doing the remodeling. Recently each member purchased a chair to be placed in the main hall. Plans are to construct a picnic grounds, barbecue pit, gravel parking lot and remodel the main hall floor so dances may be held. The clubhouse, a former barracks at Mountain Home air force base, was obtained in 1954. (Staff photo-engraving)

Many Plans Projected by T.F. Chapter Of Outdoor Association in New Building

Members of Twin Falls chapter of the Idaho Outdoor association, which began construction recently on a kitchen in their building located in Frontier field, are planning many projects for the new building. The present clubhouse is a remodeled former barracks moved in 1954 from Mountain Home air force base to the present location. Membership in the local chapter consists of 90 paid up members, Anns said Saturday. However, applications for membership are not limited providing the applicant is of good moral character and a resident of the state of Idaho, Anns explained.

Objective of the organization is to promote, support, assist and maintain the state's wildlife, its habitat and the recreational resources. A member is obligated to maintain high standards of sportsmanship and protect private and public lands where wildlife is found. The local chapter seeks to promote good farmer-hunter relationship and firearms safety, Anns says. There are several qualified members in the club who will instruct minors in groups of 8 or 10, in the safe handling of firearms. The course runs from 4 to 6 weeks and on completion the trainees are eligible to receive national rifle association junior certificates, Anns said.

Candidates may be elected from yearbook, newspaper or handbook witnesses testified before the senate appropriations committee earlier this year that the big job in spruce beetle and spruce budworm control was in Idaho and Montana. Over 15 million dollars has been spent in 1957 so far to control the spruce budworm attacking Douglas fir in the southern part of the state and the quick-killing spruce bark beetle in northern Idaho. Dworshak was told the greater

Forest Insects Cause Heavy Damage To Idaho Forests, Senator Informed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (Special) — Two serious outbreaks of forest insects attacked Idaho's forests this year and required large scale control measures, U. S. Forest Chief Richard E. McArdle, has advised Sen. Henry Dworshak. Dworshak asked for a report on the forest service pest control program in Idaho after department witnesses testified before the senate appropriations committee earlier this year that the big job in spruce beetle and spruce budworm control was in Idaho and Montana. Over 15 million dollars has been spent in 1957 so far to control the spruce budworm attacking Douglas fir in the southern part of the state and the quick-killing spruce bark beetle in northern Idaho. Dworshak was told the greater part of the budworm outbreak was in the Boise, Challis, Salmon and Targhee national forests also involved. An estimated 1.8 billion feet of timber was affected. The forest service successfully treated 600,000 acres during the year, using planes to spray DDT insecticide. However, McArdle's report said, "It appears likely further control measures will be necessary in southern Idaho before the current outbreak of the spruce budworm is checked." The Salmon and Sawtooth national forests were later listed as potential danger spots. The report said: "Heavy budworm feeding on several hundred thousand acres of fir timber on the Salmon and Sawtooth national forests may develop to damaging levels and require control in the spring of 1958." The spruce bark beetle has killed an estimated 113 million board feet of spruce timber in Northern Idaho since 1952. Also attacking white pine stands in northern Idaho is blister rust in areas where control measures have not yet been applied. This coming year, he said, a control program will be extended over 44,400 acres of white pine. Dworshak is a member of the senate appropriations committee. MEETING SCHEDULED WENDELL, Oct. 12 — A congressional meeting will be held at the Presbyterian-Baptist church immediately following the morning worship service.

Dairy Outlook Discussed for Wendell Meet

WENDELL, Oct. 12 — Wendell King, Wendell dairy farmer, guest speaker at the Wendell chapter of Commerce meeting Tuesday evening at the civic club room. King presented statistics on the dairy industry. Dinner was served in the chapter room by members of the chapter. Elites prior to the program of the evening. The business meeting was conducted by B. D. Zollinger, chapter president. Reports were made on advertising for a hardware business in Wendell. Action was taken to offer a reward to anyone giving information leading to the arrest of persons responsible for damage to crops on highway 25. M. L. Gates announced the 1957 man of the year dinner will be held Oct. 16 at the Gooding Grange, 7:30 p. m. The political dinner will be for the public. J. H. Freeman was appointed to assist with the chapter business. A report will be made at the November meeting.

Well-Being of Agriculture Is Debated in Top-Level Talks

sales for suburban and industrial development.
"The increase is nothing more than inflation," the Orange leader contends.
Newsom and others who argue that farmers are no better off this year than last, if as well off, point to the federal reserve bulletin report on farm assets as reflection in nine per cent fewer horses and mules on farms than a year earlier. Only in the case of poultry was there an increase.

The increased valuation put on livestock by the bulletin reflected higher market prices for animals, Newsom says. The higher prices were due, in part, to inflation. Cattle, for example, were valued at an average of $90.50 a head at the beginning of this year compared with $68 a year earlier, hogs at $12.50 compared with $11.70, sheep at $14.50 compared with $14.30 and horses and mules at $71.50 compared with $72.50.
But the critics cite an agriculture department report giving an inventory of livestock on farms at the beginning of the year. This report states that at the beginning of 1957 there were two per cent fewer cattle, five per cent fewer hogs, one per cent fewer sheep and
