Puerto Rican Rules Braced On Gambling

SAN JUAN, P. R., Oct. 22 (AP)—The Puerto Rican government is trying to hold gambling in this island "to a more normal level," as Gov. Luis Muñoz Marín puts it.

New regulations impose, under conditions before a petitioner can get a license to operate here.

According to the law, only tourist hotels are eligible to operate any such casino in the first place. It was added to the tourist program as an incentive for investors in the hotel business.

Dig Industry
Recently Muñoz said a study made by government agencies showed around 100 million dollars were being gambled in Puerto Rico annually. This, he said, was completely out of balance, since it represented about one-tenth of the island's net income, and about half of the annual government budget.

Eighty per cent of the hundred million dollars, he explained, was being gambled through ways which are legal in Puerto Rico—horse racing, cock fighting, lottery, bingo and four licensed casinos.

Casinos Added

Three of these casinos are in San Juan hotels, and the fourth at Aguadilla, the city nearest to Ramey air force base. Two new hotels are under construction in San Juan, and both have licenses for casinos approved.

Previously, the code required only that a casino applicant invest not less than $300,000 in the hotel he was planning as a tourist resort.

Under the new code any new hotel wishing a casino license in San Juan must have 300 rooms or an investment of at least five million dollars.

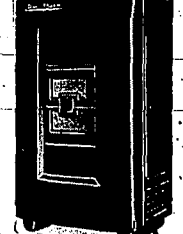

Red Chinese Say Economy Booms

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—American-educated Dr. Chi Chao-ling, head of the first red Chinese trade mission to visit Britain, said today industry behind the bamboo curtain has boomed since 1952 despite the West's partial embargo on Chinese goods.

Chi, leading a 20-man mission to promote red Chinese trade with Britain, admitted, however, that "our trade has not been normalized because of the strategic list. Now this has been shortened and we hope to see what can be done to step up our imports."

U.S. Workers In Saigon Are Under Guard

SAIGON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Americans, alerted by sabotage bombings of three U.S. buildings, stayed off streets this morning while thousands of Vietnamese masked in the city hall to celebrate the first anniversary of the Hungarian revolution.

Saigon's 2,000 Americans—all but 500 of them employed by the United States government—received strict instructions limiting their movement.

United States officials told Americans to stay home except for going to and from work.

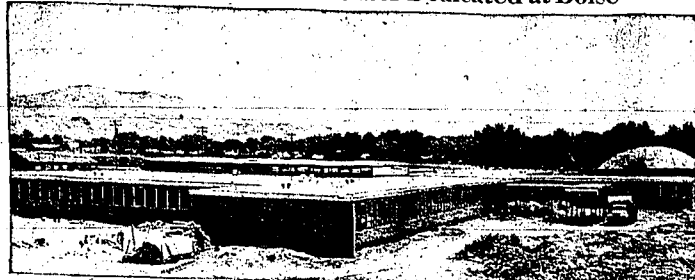

The orders followed the bombings yesterday of two American army barracks and of the United States information service (USIS) library in which 13 American military personnel were injured.

The Vietnamese government believes the bombings have been engineered to embarrass the South Vietnamese government during its first international conference.

All Americans were told to park their cars behind guarded walls instead of leaving them along the curb during the night.

Pub. A. L. McCallister and three members of the newspaper staff plied in to make the deliveries.

Elks Rehabilitation Center Dedicated at Boise

The Idaho Elks Rehabilitation Center at Boise, above, was dedicated last Saturday to the continued aid of crippled children. The center, which replaces the original Elks Convalescent home, was constructed with funds donated by Idaho members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. Cost is $500,000 exclusive of equipment and furnishings.

Elks Rehabilitation Center Is Slated to Open in November

BOISE, Oct. 23—The Idaho Elks Rehabilitation Center at 120 First street is expected to be in operation by mid-November following its dedication at ceremonies last Saturday.

A. A. Steele, Nampa, chairman of the dedication committee, said the center is awaiting shipment of some new equipment before starting operations. The center was constructed by funds raised in 21 Elks lodges in Idaho, along with some contributions by interested persons outside the lodge. The original drive included donations of $10 each from Idaho Elks.

L. A. Lewis, Whitler, Calif., past grand exalted ruler, dedicated the new structure. He said Idaho Elks could take great pride in their accomplishment and their membership.

When Lewis was grand exalted ruler 10 years ago he dedicated the old Elks Convalescent home, former of the present center. "The Idaho Elks lodge has done the most monumental job in proportion of membership of any state in the nation," Lewis declared. "What you have done here is to raise the standard of approval from non-Elks. There is not a person who does not feel proud of the Elks of Idaho," he said. William Hawkins, Coeur d'Alene, former ruler of Idaho Elks, was master of ceremonies at the dedication. Sen. Henry C. Dunsen and Rep. Gracie P. Smith, both of Idaho, were unable to attend. The 60-room structure contains special facilities for cerebral palsy victims and therapy for other crippling diseases.

Purchasing of Fluid Milk Is Up in America

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (U)—An agriculture department survey showed today that Americans are buying more fluid milk.

Their purchases in the April-June quarter of this year were 4 per cent larger than in the corresponding period last year and 10 per cent over that of the April-June quarter of three years ago.

Criticism said these increases apparently reflect joint efforts of the government and the dairy industry to promote consumption of fluid milk as one means of slowing down the slump of surplus dairy products in government hands under price support programs.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has urged the industry to exert greater efforts to sell milk as a good nutritional food.

The survey showed also that purchases of fluid milk were higher in each of the five major regions of the country than in the corresponding quarters of 1956 and 1954.

About two out of every three quarts of fluid milk bought for home use in the country were purchased in the northeast and north central regions. Consumers obtained nearly half of their milk purchases through home deliveries. The remainder was purchased at stores, creameries and milk plants.

Boy Survives in Old Refrigerator

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 23 (U)—Frightened cries of "Here I am, daddy!" led a father to his 4-year-old boy trapped for half an hour in an abandoned refrigerator.

Young Robert Stevens was reported in good condition today at Children's Memorial hospital. A spokesman said he survived the ordeal only because the rubber seals around the door of the old refrigerator leaked air.

His father, Harry, 34, heard the boy's weak calls and finally traced the sounds to the refrigerator.

Pumpkin-Headed Lovers Seem Happy

This romantic "couple" is part of the sales force employed by Lawrence Hunkin to push the sale of pumpkins on his farm at Kirtland Township, near Cleveland, O. They attract passers-by, and so far the sale has been good, headlines reports. The pumpkin-headed lovers are the creation of Mrs. Hunkin who has a sharp eye for detail, even down to the crab-apple corsage on the lady pumpkin's frock. The pair is stuffed with cornstarch, kept upright by broom handles. (NEA photo)

Oil Industry Confident of Own Stability

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—How will the petroleum industry weather the "adjustment" being widely predicted for the economy in 1938?

Better than most major industries, economists believe, unlike most, petroleum's two most important products are fairly well insulated from the effects of modern business adjustment.

Adjustment or no adjustment you will use your car just about as much as ever, and the house and office probably will stay heated.

No Recession

What's happened in the past? The Chase Manhattan bank reports that in the recession years of 1930 and 1934 the strength of gasoline and heating fuel demand helped overall demand for petroleum show a gain.

Domestic consumption in 1934 was 6.5 per cent greater than in 1933, according to the bank. Had the winter weather been normally cold there would have been a gain of about two per cent.

For 1934 the Chase reported an actual increase of two per cent over 1933 that would have been only about one per cent if weather had been normal.

The Chase, along with other industry observers, warns that the adjustment may be an economic adjustment but it has its impact in order and inventories in normal position.

Supplies Are High

Both the 1937 and 1938 adjustment periods were entered into with excessive inventories. Supplies are high now, too.

However, September supply patterns assumed a more favorable shape as imports fell below August levels and production was cut.

The month saw 13 million barrels put into storage, against a 20 million barrel addition in September last year.

Crude oil and the minor products showed losses while gasoline, the fuel oil and residual fuel all recorded gains.

Cemetery Gate Is Bound Shut

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 22.—The great iron gate at the cemetery entrance in the provincial Hungarian town of Magyarovar was bound shut with a heavy chain today.

It was a precaution against the communist regime of Budapest looking to stop the dead from infecting the living with the spirit of a new fight for freedom.

Today is the first anniversary of the start of a desperate struggle by the Hungarian people for release from oppression and from communism—a struggle crushed by Russia's red army.

And 90 of the thousands slaughtered in that battle a year ago are buried in the Magyarovar cemetery. The communists refused to let the living visit those graves today.

Church Mission Marked at Fete

ALMO, Oct. 22.—Eugene Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ward, was honored guest at a fraternal and farewell party Saturday evening at the LDS church.

He will leave for Canada on a two-year church mission.

Speakers were Wesley Ward, Ephraim S. Miller, Robert Durfee and Ward. Prayers were given by Kenneth Taylor and Floyd Knight.

Participating in the music program were Mrs. Dan Jacobs and Edith Ogilvie; John Thompson; Linda Mallory and Doris Durfee; Mrs. Don Jacobs and Clark Ward. Elaine Ward gave a reading.

After the program, dancing was held in the recreation hall. MIA officers were in charge of refreshments.

Snoozing Driver Unhurt in Crash

A 70-year-old Pennsylvania man went to sleep shortly after noon Tuesday three miles south of Hollister and crashed his 1935 Studebaker into a mailbox set in a tub of concrete.

State Patrolman R. E. Young reported Robert Sherman Reed, 70, was driving on highway 22 when he fell asleep. The car went across the road and hit the mailbox.

Damage to the car was estimated at $150. Approximately $100 damage to the mailbox was reported. Reed was not injured.

U. N. Day to Be Observed by Twin Falls Groups Thursday

Thursday has been proclaimed United Nations day in Twin Falls by Lydia Smith, chairman of the city commission. Marking the 15th anniversary of the signing of the U. N. charter, the day observed nationally and internationally.

Supporters of the U. N. halted the "Loop-hole" Is Found in Law

DOVER, Del., Oct. 22.—Prisoners who can't pay their fines are evidently having a one-way ticket out of jail here, until lawmakers patch the loophole.

More than 116 were released this week, according to Elwood H. Wilson, director of the Delaware penal system. He said still others would be freed after taking paupers' aid.

A 1933 revision of the Delaware legal code provides that justices of the peace do not have authority to sentence prisoners to specified jail terms when they plead poverty and can't pay their fines. As a result, the state supreme court ruled last week that prisoners held in conflict with the law should be freed after taking the pauper's oath.

Carpet Traffic Paths Removed

Do you have a traffic path? It's that best down section of carpet that has received the heaviest wear.

To preserve the "new all over" look, these traffic paths must be eliminated, so apply blue Lustre carpet cleaner with an easy to use long handle brush. The colors will spring out fresh and bright with the tap open and fluid to blend with the unsoiled sections of your carpet.

One-half gallon of Blue Lustre cleans three 9x12 rugs.

Cole Planning to Seek Nomination

BOISE, Oct. 22.—O. D. Cole of Boise says he will run for the Republican nomination for state superintendent of public instruction next year "if I continue to get support and encouragement which has been evidenced up to now."

Cole, a former state education official who had previously disclosed an interest in making the race, said yesterday he has sent a letter to school administrators and trustees asking their support. The incumbent, Republican Alton B. Jones, has not announced his intention.

Carol Nelsen Is Claimed as Wife of H. G. Stevens

TWIN FALLS, Oct. 22—A candle-light ceremony Saturday night at the Jerome Methodist church, claimed Carol Nelsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Nelsen, as the bride of Harold G. Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stevens.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dwight E. Wilcher as the wedding party stood before a canopy of white chrysanthemums and white lilies in the church. The altar was lighted with white tapers. The bride's dress was marked with white tapers on each side and white pom-poms tied with white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Lee McVey played the wedding music on the organ and accompanied Mrs. Robert Goley who sang "Because" after "The Wedding Song."

The candles were lighted prior to the ceremony by Carl McLean, Jr., and Jerry Lambert, both Twin Falls.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowning in nylon fabric and a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace with light-colored sleeves and a round collar with lace insert. The bouquet was a floor length, her finger tip veil was white tulle and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

So the schools are failing. Their graduates cannot spell, read or write. By writing the critics mean composition. They have crude manners and in short a most unsatisfactory product of a most expensive project. This is true—in some situations, but certainly not in all.

My sympathy is all with the schools in the big cities where immigrants arrive and settle. The schools are not prepared for them. Certainly not in the numbers they have arrived in the past few years. Many of these children cannot speak English. They have come from places so foreign to our customs of work, play and general living that they are bewildered and chastened.

Consider what happens to the teachers. The teachers being the real school. They are faced with large classes, forty in regular is not uncommon here. The children cannot tell their own names when the teacher calls the roll. She, poor lamb of the sacrifice, cannot pronounce them so they can be understood by their owners. That's just a trifle in the day's troubles.

These children must be taught English and the course of study. If one of the valuable critics had to take the teacher's place, for just one hour he would leave the chair in deep humility. How these teachers manage and they do manage, is something only they can explain.

Of course all elementary school graduates are not foreign-born. Nor are the high-school graduates. Among them are some who cannot get a hundred per cent in spelling nor can they write acceptable compositions. But there are many who can. These are not likely to go into the labor market at graduation but go on to college. They do rather well about.

Now about those English speaking children who do not read well and cannot write good English prose. Many of these children are first generation Americans who have English only in school and on the street. A poor background for fluid speech and writing. Many of them have foreign accents that will last for a lifetime. Naturally, all children who can walk and talk, are forced into school and forced by law to stay. There even when they prove they are not able to take the instruction offered them. This places a heavy burden on the teacher and deprives many children who could do well of the attention of the teacher.

Still another point. Teachers have little time to teach these days when they need it most. They serve milk, collect the money, serve cracker money, plan programs for P.T.A., etc., etc. Too much is too much. Schools are not failing but the communities are.

There is a rich treasury of books every child who does not read well and cannot write good English prose. Many of these children are first generation Americans who have English only in school and on the street. A poor background for fluid speech and writing. Many of them have foreign accents that will last for a lifetime. Naturally, all children who can walk and talk, are forced into school and forced by law to stay. There even when they prove they are not able to take the instruction offered them. This places a heavy burden on the teacher and deprives many children who could do well of the attention of the teacher.

Power, Lower Use of Gas Is Auto Formula

TWIN FALLS, Oct. 23 (AP) — Higher power and greater fuel economy are the two in the 1958 model line.

Initially all 1958 model cars have been redesigned by engineers without exception higher output is a feature of the cars. Similarly just about every manufacturer reports that greater economy will be shown in his

Design Problem

The combination seems somewhat paradoxical the auto makers have an explanation for it. They say they have made changes in the power train or in the chassis and gear ratios to achieve better economy of the fuel that enters the combustion chambers. The full mileage potential of this power has been realized, they say. They explain the poor mileage reported by motorists results from the discharge through the exhaust system of unburned hydrocarbons. Combustion chambers have been redesigned in many 1958 cars to improve in carburetion in this way. Another has reduced the compression ratio by coupling an overhead feature with the automatic transmission and still others have developed a better choke system that leaks out the fuel mixture more quickly after the car starts and under way.

Some of the car manufacturers show the resultant economy in fuel consumption ranges from five up to 20 per cent.

Meanwhile, the 1958-horsepower engine now in commonplace use in the auto industry. One car maker announces a multiple barrel injection system that will step power up to 400. This appears to be the top for the industry. However, there are several with 400 and 375 horsepower.

These models are in the higher price group. But power has been increased in several makes in the lower price field, too.

Race Confusion

The auto makers deny the continuing increase in engine power in any way with the agreement earlier this year to de-emphasize car power and speed. They say that (1) the engines now being introduced were in the production line when the agreement was reached and (2) the agreement committed them only to a policy of not emphasizing power. There was no agreement, they say, to reduce or freeze power potential at any given point.

Whether there will be any concerted effort to halt the upward trend in horsepower ratings probably will have to await further reports on research work currently under way in the industry laboratories.

Pocatello-Bruin Game to Count Double in Big Six

The Twin Falls Bruins' game this Friday against Pocatello will count double in Big Six standings. That was the decision Tuesday evening of the Big Six coaches.

Twin Falls head coach Bob Hilliard, who had an option on how a second game with the Indians should be decided, On Sept. 27, the teams were slated to play in Pocatello, but the Indians canceled out, claiming an outbreak of flu had weakened their team. At the time, Twin Falls had the opportunity to settle the matter three ways, either by forfeit, rescheduling or the third point which was accepted.

In making the announcement, Hilliard said, "We don't want to take the forfeit. We would rather win the game and have it count double. If we can't, Pocatello can beat us. It will put the Indians that much closer to the crown."

The Twin Falls decision left Pocatello with an excellent opportunity to upset one of the conference champions. Had Hilliard and the Bruin athletic department decided to take the forfeit, the Indians would have robbed the Indians of all chance to become the titleholder. Currently, the Indians are tied for first place with Boise.

The Bruins enter the game slated to play on Friday, Oct. 25, at 7 p. m. in a two-touchdown underdog, but they have been pointing to the clash all match week.

Mike Stone, the top scorer in the conference, will be ready for action Friday following a week of rest because of a knee injury. His return puts the Bruins in top offensive condition.

Shires-Bat Challenge Bout Set for T. F.

Professor Roy Shires returned to Twin Falls with his bag of tricks and lucky coincidences Tuesday night to beat Chief Suni War Cloud and set the stage for a challenge match next week.

The man Twin Falls wrestling fans love to boo, Shires was challenged by the Bruin's chief, Suni War Cloud, who was making remarks about westerners. Although he has not officially accepted, Promoter Cliff Tiedie promised he would try to arrange the match.

Tuesday night Shires opened up before the bell and had War Cloud in bad shape while the Indian was taking off his hat and tie. The Bruin's head man posted the first fall with an atomic drop and body press, liberally sprinkled with forearm smashes.

But the chief came back with his trademark of several times the Bruin's slaps and the Indian death-hold. The third fall came when War Cloud was about to top the win after getting his death hold hold. But when he fell back for added leverage, his head struck the ring post and War Cloud was knocked out.

Shires dismounted himself and took the fall with a press. The Bruin was the semi-final from Gypsy Joe the Globetrotter, getting his mark over his face and then copping the win with head butts and body press.

Cherry Azteca and Eric the Great punched their way to a draw in the opener.

The forfeit win, which means a record book could be brought to the Bruin's as a fairly respectable record for a school that is deep in the throes of rebuilding. But it is a lot more satisfying when you beat them on the football field.

With the golf season literally flitting by at the municipal course, city clerk Roy Whitte has taken off to his luck on the winter tournament circuit. He has taken off to his luck on the winter tournament circuit.

Ways to End 'Free-for-Alls' After WSC-Idaho Games Scrutinized

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 23 (AP)—The bloody free-for-all that have marred the intense football rivalry between Washington State college and the University of Idaho may be a thing of the past.

The "Battle of the Palouse" is one of the oldest gridiron feuds in the west, and the post-game fustings date back about to the first game 58 years ago.

Last year, after WSC's 33-12 victory at Moscow, students poured out of the stands to carry away the goal posts, through past excitement, up set in concrete at both Moscow and Pullman.

But the milling throng didn't break up after dousing the posts. Fists broke out all over the field, and police finally had to lay down a few iron barres to quell the disturbance. There were some minor injuries.

Students' railing bodies of both schools agree it is up to them to prevent similar situations in the future. A "good will" meeting has been scheduled tentatively for early next month to map strategy.

WSC leaders apparently will wait until then to decide what steps should be taken to insure a "good will" situation at the game here Nov. 16. But Idaho student leaders already have decided upon some recommendations.

Allen Dingel of Twin Falls, student chairman of a University of Idaho "ifit" quarter committee, said it may be necessary to discontinue the game for a few years if it can't be played in a calmer atmosphere.

The Idaho group recommends "adequate" policing of the gridiron to nip future student fustias before they get out of control. Dingel also says the schools should sponsor a trophy to be awarded annually to the winner of the clash when representatives from the losing school make their traditional nine-mile walk to the campus of the winner.

Vandal supporters have charged up a lot of mileage here. Except for 1954, Idaho hasn't defeated Washington State since 1925.

Dingel says Idaho president D. R. Thopphus supports the "peace" campaign to the extent that any Idaho student who becomes involved in a post-game fracas will find himself before a student-faculty disciplinary committee and would be subject to dismissal from school.

HALFBACK IS OKAY

Cougars Work on Sustained Offense
PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 23 (AP)—Washington State worked on developing a sustained offense during a cold, camp practice session Tuesday evening.

Coach Jim Buttherland, concerned by the Cougars' habit of falling a couple of touchdowns behind before laying good football, was seeking a formula that would work for the whole game at Southern California Saturday. Some lineup changes were expected with more sophomores, whom Buttherland praised after the Oregon game, perhaps to make the starting line.

ISC Leads Rocky Mountain Loop in Passing, Punting

Idaho State football players lead two statistical divisions in the Rocky Mountain conference. Ken Peterson, Idaho State quarterback, tops the league's passing artists with 14 completions in 29 pitches for an average of 483. Teammate George Kom, the club's fullback, has the best punting mark with an average of 46.8 yards for his 12 boots.

Idaho State, incidentally, is the circuit's only remaining undefeated team, having notched four victories. It also leads the conference standings with a 1-0 record.

Peterson's pitches have been good for 274 yards and three touchdowns. Trailblazing him in the passing department are Bruce Henry of Colorado Mines with 12 completions in 26 attempts for 128 yards, and Tom Muehle of Western State with 12 strikes in 26 attempts for 173 yards. Muehle's tosses have picked up four touchdowns.

Kom's punting has netted 361 yards with the longest kick traveling 50 yards. Center Don Soukup of Colorado college is second in punting with nine for 368 yards and a 40.1 average. Tied for third are fullback Charles Dorsey of Adams State, who has kicked 11 times for 430 yards, and end Ken Weisberger of Colorado college with 10 kicks for 341 yards. Both have 50-yard averages.

Colorado State's halfback Herschel Dees continues to set the pace in the rushing division with a 59-yard average to show for his 10 thrusts that picked up 472 yards. Several players have better averages but haven't carried the ball nearly as often. Colorado State's fullback Bud Covert has lugged the leather 71 times for 354 yards and a 4.7 average and Western State's Dan Merrill and Joe Redwood 3-4544. Merrill's Fuel Oil Ad.

Hit Most Flies
NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—Frank Thomas of Pittsburgh and Vio Wertz of Cleveland produced the most sacrifice flies in major league baseball in the 1957 season.

Statistics compiled by the Associated Press disclosed Monday that Thomas hit 12 sacrifice flies to top the National League. Wertz was high in the American League with 11.

Killer's halfback, has picked up 219 yards in 47 carries for a 4.6 mark. Bill Schmalz, the little substitute who finally got a starting assignment last week in Western State's lineup, paces the scorers with 42 points. In his first starting role in college, Schmalz responded with six touchdowns in Western State's 48-0 triumph over Adams State last week-end. He is a senior, third year in with 35 points and Secret third with 31.

Western State, as a team, leads the circuit in rushing with 1,419 yards in five games. The Mountaineers are also the pacesetters in total offense with 1,503 yards. Colorado Mines has accumulated the most passing yards with 346 yards in four touchdowns.

Space Conditions Duplicated For Rocket in Old Wool Mill

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 23 (AP)—The nervous system of the Titan intercontinental ballistic missile is being taken "into space and back" by scientists working in an abandoned woolen mill.

Testing equipment designed to simulate the wrenching take-off of the missile, the violent temperature changes as it soars into space and meteor-like heat as it returns to earth—all this where looms made of woolen cloth five years ago.

The old wool mill of what then was American Wool Company is the temporary home of the research and advanced development division of the Avco Manufacturing Corporation. Head of the division is Dr. Lloyd E. Smith, former chairman of Cornell's physics department.

Recently, Avco scientists announced they had achieved a "theoretical breakthrough" in their major task—designing a missile that would re-enter the atmosphere and find its target without disintegrating like a meteor.

At 18,000 miles per hour, the friction of air, dust and moisture in the atmosphere would build up heat to thousands of degrees.

Ordinarily, this would destroy both the missile and its hydrogen bomb warhead. How the "theoretical breakthrough" was achieved has not been revealed. But here are some of the testing machines that contributed to the solution.

A 100-foot "shock tube" in which gas is compressed in an eight-inch diameter chamber up to 80,000 pounds per square inch. A steel diaphragm lets go at a predetermined pressure and shock waves plunge down the testing tube, past the "hardware" to be tested.

Other testing equipment reproduces simultaneously (1) the pull of acceleration; (2) vibration equal to the shuddering vibration of a rocket's ascent; and (3) temperatures from minus 65 degrees to 250 degrees.

Other equipment—tests rocket parts for corrosion-resistance, susceptibility to noise, resistance to fungus, sea-water and sudden temperature change.

In one corner of the old mill, where some 1,800 Aveo researchers are employed, is a magnetic "isolation booth." Here electronic and electric components are tested behind a copper screen to make sure they radiate no magnetic energy to other sensitive instruments.
