

Britain Avers Reds Seeking Arab Control

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—Britain accused the Soviet Union of trying to dominate the Arab world by every machinable and dangerous means short of war. It urged the U. N. to remain calm in the face of "this whole Soviet hullabaloo."

Britain, Turkey and other Baghdad pact members replied in the 22-nation U. N. general assembly to Soviet-Syrian charges that Turkey is about to launch war in the Middle East.

Amid the third round of bitter Middle East debate, communist Yugoslavia's Jozef Brijic called upon the big powers to stop exchanging threats over the Middle East crisis. "A chain reaction appears to have been generated which will carry us further than the worst protagonists may wish," he declared.

Turkey proclaimed its determination to remain in the Baghdad and NATO alliances, and described as "fantastic" accusations by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that the United States is encouraging Turkey to attack Syria.

Cmdr. Allan Noble, British minister of state for foreign affairs, told the assembly the Soviet Union wants to shake Turkey's adherence to NATO and the Baghdad pact, and to dominate the Arab world.

"If Arabs could really be brought to believe that Syria was menaced by invasion from Turkey, and had been saved by this menace by Soviet intervention, great benefits would accrue to the Soviet Union, and the position of the Arab friends of Turkey and the Western world would be shaken," Noble declared. Noble also accused the Soviet Union of trying to shake the Baghdad pact into taking hasty action which it would then represent elsewhere as giving support to its actions against Turkey and the United States.

He reflected the view among Western delegates, including the United States, that proposals to send Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to the Middle East should be held in abeyance pending an official announcement from King Saud of Saudi Arabia that his mediation offer has been withdrawn.

Lie Test Threat Returns Jewelry

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26 (AP)—Raymond Schall got his jewelry back. The threat of a lie detector test did it.

When $1200 in jewelry was taken from his Los Angeles apartment last week, Schall told police that whoever did it apparently entered his home with a key he kept hidden in the mailbox.

Police peered around the word that they planned to give lie detector tests to everyone who might be even remotely suspected.

Shortly afterward Schall found the jewelry—in his mailbox.

But yesterday Det. C. A. Kirby said that the investigation would continue. "A crime has still been committed," he said.

Price of Food Is Reported at Season's High

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The agriculture department said today retail food prices have passed their peak for this year and will gradually decline during the next six months to follow a normal seasonal pattern.

But these prices are expected, the agency said, to average well above those in the fall of 1956 with all major commodity groups except beef. Beef is likely to be up, recent reductions in the price of coffee dropped the index for the beverage group below the year-earlier level.

A report on the national food situation stated that prices are expected to continue along next year.

"The same factors which have bolstered retail food prices in 1957 are expected through at least the first half of next year," the report said. "Consumer income will be high in 1958 and demand for food will remain strong. Food supplies will likely continue a little smaller than a year earlier, perhaps until mid-year."

One factor expected to help bolster, if not push up prices, is the expectation that marketing margins will average a little higher next year than this.

"Total consumer expenditures for food in 1958 are likely to surpass moderately those of 1957," the department said. "The increased outlays will principally be due to population increase and somewhat higher prices for food, at least during the first half of the year."

Montana State Prison Draws Fire by Solon

DEER LODGE, Mont., Oct. 28 (AP)—State Rep. M. K. Daniels, Deer Lodge, D. Powell, declared last night that his constituents are "outraged and shocked by the complete and utter disintegration of order and discipline" at the Montana prison in Deer Lodge.

Daniels said Gov. J. Hugo Aronson "is directly responsible for the prison debacle."

"The Montana prison was the scene of a riot July 20 and has figured in the news since that time, with discussions by state officials and political figures and the escapes of at least four prisoners. Out-of-state penologists and official state groups have undertaken studies of the institution since the riot."

Saturday night a 23-year-old trusty escaped from the prison, entered two houses in the Deer Lodge area, allegedly stole two cars and abducted a young mother, before fleeing to the south, stealing two other cars and taking six other hostages. He was apprehended in Idaho Sunday and federal kidnapping charges were filed against him yesterday.

Edward Shafford, husband of the abducted mother, told a newspaper Sunday night that ratchets in the area went to do something about the situation where prison trustees roam freely about the valley. He said there would be a mass meeting called "to get something done about this."

Daniels' statement said, "Positive action is necessary and the complete failure of the governor or his administration to grasp the prison problem is cause of grave concern by everyone, and particularly the residents of this area who wonder what it will take to get the administration to admit there is a problem which needs a remedy."

Daniels said legislation introduced in the 1955 and 1957 sessions of the legislature, "providing for a training penologist free from political pressure" was killed in the state senate because of the governor's opposition. He said the proposed legislation "embodied many of the ideas and recommendations made by Royen J. Scudder," California penologist who studied the prison in the wake of the riot. Daniels said the bill was voted for by Republicans and Democrats alike in the house.

"As a sponsor of the bill," the state representative added, "I made a direct appeal to the governor and after conferring with him about the proposed legislation, was informed that the bill was not favored by him because it curtailed his power of appointment."

Aronson, reacted at his residence last night, said he had no comment on Daniels' statement at this time.

Son Aware of Qualifications for "Ike's" New Attorney General, William Rogers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—When 11-year-old Doug Rogers got home from school last Thursday, he found a stack of newspaper stories and editorials which his mother had clipped for the family scrapbook.

"They all concerned a fellow named William P. Rogers, who had just been named President Eisenhower's attorney general," Doug said.

Doug postponed his customary after-school trip to the refrigerator and sat down on the sofa to read the clippings. After half an hour, he burst wide-eyed into the kitchen and exclaimed:

"Gee, mom, I never knew dad was THAT good!"

Rogers finds this story highly amusing, which tells you one important fact about the new attorney general. He's a man who learned long ago not to take himself too seriously.

His friendly, unassuming manner is the second thing you notice when you meet him. The first is that he will raise the photographic quality of the cabinet by several notches.

Rogers is 44, but looks 10 years younger. Lean, blue-haired, broad-shouldered and six feet tall, he could easily qualify as the Republican answer to Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Rogers has several other assets which should stand him in good stead in the upper echelons of political life.

He is a close personal friend of Vice President Richard M. Nixon. He has warm ties with important leaders of both parties, dating back to his three years of service as chief counsel of the senate investigating committee which turned up the deep freeze and five percent scandals. And he is a former protégé of Thomas E. Dewey, under whom he served as an assistant district attorney in Dewey's gangster days.

Rogers will be literally moving straight up when he moves into the attorney general's suite on the fifth floor of the justice department. Ever since the Eisenhower administration moved into Washington, he has occupied the deputy attorney general's suite one floor below and directly beneath the attorney general's.

Since Rogers had an important hand in shaping justice department policies under retiring Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., there is no reason to expect radical changes in the department's approach to such problems as school integration, anti-trust law enforcement, and civil rights.

But there are two areas, at least, in which the new attorney general has strong ideas of his own, which are likely to be reflected rather quickly in department policy.

As a sensitive investigator, Rogers has a reputation for fairness and scrupulous non-partisanship. He is determined that the justice department have the same reputation under his leadership.

"It is very important," he said in an interview, "that the public have complete confidence that the laws are being enforced fairly, without regard to any partisan political considerations."

Rogers said he is an "enthusiastic" supporter of the Eisenhower administration's program, and will exert every effort to maintain the other party.

He also plans to push vigorously for creation of additional federal judgeships and other reforms to speed up the administration of justice in the badly-clogged U. S. court system.

"It takes well over two years to bring the average case to trial in federal courts here in Washington," he said. "In some areas, such as the eastern district of New York, the average delay is more than four years."

"No American should have to wait more than six months, under normal circumstances, to have his day in court. These prolonged delays in congested courts are unjustified and unfair to the people who seek relief in law suits."

Congestion in the courts was one of two subjects on which Rogers seemed willing to talk at any length. The other was his family.

Deidra Mrs. Rogers, whom he met while both were attending law school at Cornell university 21 years ago, the household includes the aforementioned Doug, Jeff, 12;

Tony, 17; and Dale, 20, a coed at Cornell.

If those clippings had praised Rogers' athletic prowess, instead of his record as a government official, Doug wouldn't have been so surprised. The elder Rogers is highly regarded in the Glenbrook road section of suburban Bethesda, Md., as a tough football quarterback. He also shoots a mean basketball at the cage he and the boys installed on the side of the garage.

Twin Falls Miss Weds Skelton in Church Services

A candlelight service Thursday evening in the Immanuel Lutheran church united in marriage Patricia Skelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Skelton, and Raymond Skelton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Skelton, Eden.

The Rev. Carl Loser of the Clover Trinity Lutheran church officiated at the double wedding ceremony. For the 8 o'clock service the altar was decorated with bouquets of yellow carnations and candles. Large baskets of yellow chrysanthemums and pumpkins with greenery and yellow satin bows and floor centerpieces flanked the altar. The aisle ways were marked with yellow ribbons and pom-poms.

Ruth Warner, organist, played the prelude and recessional and accompanied Joan Dunning who sang, "Oh Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her grandfather, John Dyer, Jerome, the bride wore a gown of imported French lace over satin and net. The fitted bodice was designed with a Breton neckline and traditional long sleeves. The waist-length skirt was gathered to a Basque waistline. Her hair was styled in a bun and she wore a coronet of embroidered daisies. Yellow daisies also accented the veil.

She carried a bouquet of sweet peas, roses, and white lilies, and wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Paul Martin, Jerome, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of blue nylon over taffeta and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Mrs. Ronald Tullis, in coral lace over taffeta, and Mrs. Nettie Bell Kessler, Eden, in pale green net over tulle, both sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore coronets of white velvet and carried bouquets of yellow carnations.

Dwight Skelton, Burley, served as best man for his brother. He wore a tuxedo and carried a sword. Billy Springer, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. Linda Johnson, cousin of the bride, lighted the candles. They were matching ballerina length gowns of blue tulle.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom, in pale green tulle, carried the rings on a satin pillow. Little Billy and Vicky Kessgens, Donnelly, carried and piece of the bridegroom, carried baskets of rose petals.

Mrs. Springer carried a dress of black with pink accessories, and the mother of the bridegroom chose a two-piece gray suit with pink accessories. Mrs. Dyer, grand mother of the bride, wore a black, fall dress with tulle and black accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the Immanuel Lutheran school. A three-tiered cake centered the lace-covered table. The cake was decorated in pink and white, surrounded at the base by pink and white carnations. Tapers of pink and white in crystal holders were placed on either side.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Often what is called bad temper, disobedience, general naughtiness, is fatigue. Children, in the amount of energy they can expend without reaching the fatigue point, are limited. This is something each mother and teacher must watch for and make note of so as to be ready to cope with its appearance.

Little children under six or so are fatigued by the time they get to bed. They get past the time when their bodies register "enough." Their nerves are still registering fatigue after that and they keep on going. This brings on the tantrums, the tears, the "I don't want to" if mothers will note when this happens how long the child has been racing and jumping about and call a halt inside that limit, things will go better when the mother or teacher call a halt to work.

School work is hard for children. It is as much of an effort and costs as much energy in proportion as the adult's work costs him. People forget that and ask three schoolchildren to take a period of rest and recreation before taking on the after-school lesson. They are not likely to do well. They are likely to take a strong dislike to the after-school lesson. Give them a rest period, a chance to wash their hands and faces, to take a white about what happened that day, to have a bite to eat with a glass of milk before going on with study and things will brighten considerably for both teacher and pupil.

Some parents seem to think that a child in early adolescence is a "big boy" or "big girl" now and can go on studying and working hard indefinitely. That is far from the truth. These children are in special need for relief, frequent relief, from concentrated work. The sharp-eyed teacher, seeing a pupil, blankly staring straight ahead or out of the window, his work untouched, immediately finds a reason for sending him out of the room to allow him to get a change of air, activity and freedom from pressure. He returns bright and shining and able to do work.

PAIDIC, Oct. 29.—Singer Frank Bateson denounced rock 'n roll Monday as a phony, false and dirty and said it was "aung, played and written for the most part by cretinous goons."

The famed crooner, writing in the magazine Western World published here, praised the influence of American jazz and popular music as a way of winning friends and influencing people throughout the world.

"My only deep sorrow," he said, "is the unrelenting insistence of recording and motion picture companies upon purveying the brutal, ugly, degenerate, vicious music expression it has been my pleasure to hear — naturally I refer to the bulk of rock 'n roll."

"It fosters almost totally negative and destructive reactions in people. It smells phony and cheap."

Hysteria May Mean Nervous Disorder, Charges Physician

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Swimming against the present-day scientific current, a medical doctor demands more attention for the "hysterical" and less for the "psychosomatic."

In case you didn't figure it out, the influence of the body over the mind instead of the other way round, which is "psychosomatic."

"Dr. Robert Wartenberg, the dissembler against the growing popularity among medical doctors of 'psychosomatic medicine,' implied that nowadays many people are called hysterics who actually have a nervous disorder."

Continuing hysteria always means something—that is why they're hysterical, he said, and then he complained that American writers like Dr. Lloyd Smith and Mrs. Leo Sells.

SPOKANE, Oct. 29.—Three major fires in the space of two hours—two of them two-alarm blazes—kept Spokane firemen hopping late yesterday.

A short time later, two alarms were turned in when fire struck a downtown furniture store. Guests in an upstairs hotel were evacuated before the storehouse blaze was pronounced under control.

The third fire damaged an apartment house. Firemen held the scene of this one from the furniture store.

President Is Reported Favorable for Expansion of Basic Research in U.S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The President is reported to be favorable to some expansion of basic research in the government.

His attitude was reported by publication of recommendations by the national science foundation for redoubled efforts in basic research to keep up with Russia in science and technology.

In a report to the President, the foundation suggested income tax directions be permitted for contributions to research. It also urged scientists and universities grant federal research aid.

The science foundation is a government agency. Its director, Dr. Alan T. Waterman, is an spokesman of the President. Waterman is one of a group of top scientists who conferred recently with the President to discuss "defense in basic research."

Informal sources said Waterman knew prior to making his formal recommendations the President was "not opposed" to such proposals.

The sources said the science official did not hinge his suggestions of the chief executives' views.

The sources added that the President's view on basic research was "probably a bit out of line" with those of former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson who once was quoted as saying he "didn't care what made the grass grow green."

Many of the foundation's proposals would require congressional action. It is up to Eisenhower to decide what requests if any to make of Congress.

Basic research is pure research for the purpose of finding out more about the laws of nature, matter and the universe with no immediate known use for the knowledge.

This Eleven Leads Notre Dame's Resurgence

Notre Dame Showing Is Surprise to Brennan

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Coach Terry Brennan said in the play the winning touchdown in the 17-7 victory which carried Notre Dame to a win over Pittsburgh to preserve its unbeaten record but there was more to the triumph than the signal call. "It wasn't the first time I saw a play in a game," he said, describing the pass from George Igo to Aubrey Lewis which covered 74 yards for the winning touchdown in the 17-7 victory. "I've seen them in before and some worked, some didn't. The execution is the thing. This time George threw a near perfect pass. Aubrey got to where he was supposed to be and the blocking was first-time the Irish of four wins, and no losses. "If

Strange Friendship Found in Bowling Trio

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—This is a little story of the three H's—Humez, Hamlin and Halimi—and it is worthy of mention chiefly because it provides another vivid example of the manner in which sport crushes all barriers of intolerance and blind prejudice. Unless you are an avid boxing fan you probably never heard of Charley Humez, Cherif Hamlin and Aliouph Halimi. They are prize fighters. Humez is a contender for the middleweight championship; Hamlin is the No. 1 featherweight contender; and Halimi is recognized over most of the world as bananaweight champion.

Sooners Remain in Top Spot

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Oklahoma Sooners remained on top in the United Press college football ratings by a slim five-point margin today but they were still the challenger in Texas A and M.

The Aggies, unbeaten and united in their first six games this season, almost "steal" first place from the defending champion Sooners as they accumulated 296 points in the week by halloing the 35-man United Press board of coaches.

Oklahoma had to come from behind to edge Colorado, 14-13, for its 45th straight victory last Saturday and this "squeaker" almost cost the Sooners the lead. "However, they managed to pick up 17 first place votes and a total of 301 points. Iowa, meanwhile, dropped from second to third with 284 points. Auburn jumped from fourth to fifth with 277 points, and Notre Dame retained its hold on fifth with 260 points.

Rounding out the top 10 teams in order were Michigan State (173), Duke (120), Army (80), Ohio State (40) and North Carolina State (35). "In battling Duke to a 14-14 tie Saturday, North Carolina State vaulted from 14th to 10th place. The Wolfpack was the only team to come to the top 10, replacing Mississippi, which dropped from ninth to 11th for 16th place following its 12-0 defeat by Arkansas.

Oregon, now the favorite to win the Pacific Coast conference championship and a berth in the Rose Bowl, headed the second 10 group. The Ducks were the only team to be in the Big Ten conference bid to the Rose Bowl, was 12th. Navy and Arkansas were tied for 13th place. Tennessee was 15th. Mississippi shared 16th place with Texas A and M. Colorado was 17th and Temple (AFL) State was 18th.

Missouri, Penn State, Stanford, Pittsburgh and Mississippi State were other teams that received points this week. Texas A and M, a 14-0 victor over Baylor last Saturday, was the No. 1 choice of first coaches, to the Aggies and the Sooners accumulated 25 first place votes between them. The other first place votes were distributed among Auburn (4), Michigan State (3), Iowa, Duke and Texas Western (2 each).

Dodger Heads Feted by L.A. Baseball Fans

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (AP)—Los Angeles borrowed a touch of Hollywood glamour Monday to roar a welcome to the recently transplanted Dodger baseball team.

More than 1,000 fans attended a civic luncheon to honor the new President Walter O'Malley and his boys. Known now as the Los Angeles "Pee Wees."

Quota at the head table immediately picked up rubber baseballs and tossed them to the players. There was a wild scrambling for the mementos, and during the rest of the luncheon prominent businessmen, waiters and even blue-nosed asked the baseball stars and officials to sign them.

The banquet room was bedecked with Dodger pennants, bunting, balloons and placards. Tables were heaped with popcorn, pop and peanuts.

In back of the speakers table stretched a giant sign which showed a Brooklyn bat hitting a baseball across country to a 609 in Los Angeles. "The greatest catch in baseball," the sign said, referring to Los Angeles' snagging of the Brooklyn team.

Comedian Joe E. Brown, Hollywood's No. 1 baseball fan, was master of ceremonies.

Records Are Made to Be Broken, But Not Richard's 500 Goals

By HARRY GRAYSON
NBA Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (NEA)—Maurice Richard's 500 goals in the National Hockey League is an incredible feat. He has scored 114 home runs in the majors.

Records are made to be broken, but not these two. Gordie Howe ranks next to Richard as an all-time scorer and the Detroit Red Wings leads the Rocket by 145. Mel Ott is second to Ruth in the homer. Foot partnership with 511, or 303 less, and the little outfielder with the foot clock spent 22 years at the Polo grounds.

Richard is called the Babe Ruth of hockey, and today even their seasonal records are in round, even numbers. 50 goals for the 1944-45 and 60 homers for the immortal Bambino in 1927.

Strengthening the magnitude of Richard's scoring is the celebration the Plying Frenchmen set off when he rang his 400th goal.

Richard, the oldest combatant in the league, is 36 and in his 15th full season, yet he recorded his 500th goal in the 10th game of a game, in Detroit the other night.

Richard's scoring is made all the more remarkable by the long service he has given to the game. The Rocket has rewritten the record book dealing with individual goals, and the only honor he hasn't won is the Lady Byrd trophy which annually goes to the player with the best combines ability with good sportsmanship.

But as Coach Toe Blake points out, "Pete" has a lot to be proud of.

Change Noted On Control of Soviet Forces

By The Associated Press

The most significant thing about the release of Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov is that control of the armed forces in Russia has changed hands.

Marshal Rodion M. Malinovsky, Zhukov's successor as defense minister, is now head man over the 4 million men in the army, navy and air force.

There are two powers in Soviet Russia, the Communist party and the armed forces. Many experts forecast the day when the army may be the supreme power.

Nikita S. Khrushchev is first secretary of the Communist party, and thus controls the party machinery which reaches into every city, town and village in the Soviet Union.

A top official to Zhukov's release may be that for several weeks the 15-man communist presidium which rules Russia has been trying to tighten its control of the most powerful military force in the world. There were indications six weeks ago that Khrushchev's prestige was diminishing.

He had saved his job at party congresses only by a narrow margin. Increasing emphasis was being put on Zhukov's rising prestige. There were several suggestions that he was now Russia's biggest man.

On Sept. 10 diplomatic reports reached London that Khrushchev had ordered party control of the army tightened.

These reports said that Khrushchev intended to re-establish party cells in army, navy and air force units.

It was through these cells that Josef Stalin kept firm personal control of the armed forces. Zhukov, though a communist from boyhood, did not like them. They were abolished after Stalin's death.

Little attention was given to these reports at the time. But the Press London dispatch which told of them suggested that they might become a conflict between Khrushchev and Zhukov.

Since then Russian newspapers have been emphasizing the necessity for close unity of the Communist party and the armed forces.

It was pointed out that the treatment which Zhukov received on his visit to Yugoslavia indicated that President Tito did not regard him as a contender for top Soviet leadership.

On the 19 days which he spent in Yugoslavia in his capacity of defense minister, Zhukov was in just one place. That was when he visited Tito at Tito's summer home in the Slovenian mountains.

Zhukov got back to Moscow last Saturday, the day on which his release was announced.

The fact that his release was decided upon and announced in his absence was emphasized in comment on the overturn.

It may well develop that Khrushchev was getting somewhat nervous over Zhukov's personal popularity and over the reports that Zhukov was getting close to Soviet leadership.

But this is naturally highly speculative. But even if Zhukov is to be premier, as has been suggested, another man now directs the armed forces. And Khrushchev controls the Communist party machinery.

How Missile Would Launch U. S. Satellite

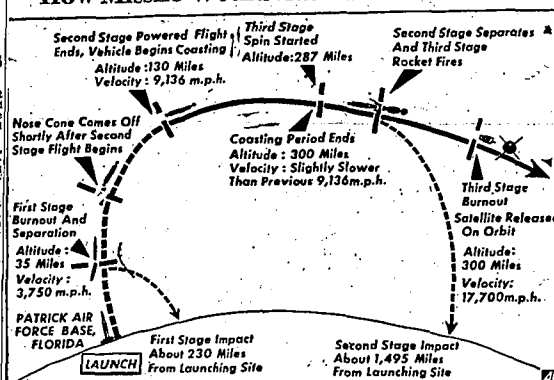

Diagram shows how the Vanguard missile, tested Oct. 23 in Florida, could pop a pin-sized, radio-equipped U. S. satellite into its orbit. The tests will have reached such a stage by December, the government says. Aka, day, and one-half inch ball, surrounded with red lines, indicates the path of the satellite. Firing of fully-equipped, 20-inch spheres is not expected to take place until March, 1958. (AP wirephoto)

Satchmo Is Given Rousing Welcome By Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 29 (AP)—Premier turned high-pressure hoses on a jumpin' and jivin' crowd of 5,000 Argentine jazz aficionados who turned out to welcome trumpeter Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong last night.

The perspiring and disheveled Armstrong said it was the "roughest welcome I ever got."

The demonstrators swirled into Satchmo's international orbit, outside of Buenos Aires, and spilled out across the runways when the famed American Negro trumpet player and his jazz combo arrived for a 10-day stay.

The streams of water failed to dampen the spirit of the crowd which had been whipped into a virtual frenzy by a variety of impromptu jazz bands at the airport.

Armstrong waited inside the plane for almost half an hour before braving his fate. With two federal policemen running interference, he dashed into the chattering, cheering crowd.

Citizenship Given To Dying Woman

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—A federal judge entered a consent to administer the oath of citizenship to a blind and dying nun, 81, who has not been outside his walls since she was 20 years old.

The naturalization ceremony was performed yesterday for Sister Margaret Mary in the convent of the Poor Clares by Judge Alfred J. Igoe. Igoe was granted special permission to enter the cloister where Sister Margaret expressed a deep wish to become an American citizen.

The frail nun, who weighs only 95 pounds and had to whisper acceptance of the oath, joined the order of St. Clare in 1936, seven years after she came to this country from Nordalben, Germany.

Resists Arrest

Governor's Talk Hits 'Pessimists'

PRESTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie replied yesterday night to what he called "faithless pessimists" who have been calling Idaho "decadent and lagging."

"We'd like to see our state progress steadily and sensibly," Smylie said in a prepared address for a joint meeting sponsored by the Preston Chamber of Commerce.

"That's what Idaho seems to be doing right now," the governor added, "and what disinterested observers on the outside think Idaho will continue to do."

"Idaho's average personal income," he said, "has grown faster since 1933 than any state in the West—save one—and faster than all but three states in the nation."

Scientists Warn To Crease Wool
MELBOURNE, Oct. 29 (AP)—Australian scientists claim to have found a way to put a permanent crease in pure wool fabric.

This woolly problem has baffled textile researchers for years.

The revolutionary discovery may give a new impetus to the making of wool fabrics in the face of increasing competition from synthetic fibers.

The process was developed by scientists of the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization at the wool research laboratories in Melbourne.

Wool fabrics treated with the process have undergone extensive experiments in which there was crushing or loss of the mandated crease.

Maynor, who now runs a telephone answering service, owns property in Durham and Orange counties. He declined to pinpoint the location of the find but said:

"I don't know for sure whether it's counterfeit, but if it is not and somebody proves ownership, I'll certainly turn it over to him. Otherwise, I consider it mine."

The find, Maynor said, consisted of 50 $1,000 bills and the remainder in 500 bills, all dated before 1946.
