WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Russian reaction to the American ultimatum today that it must be visible in the United States today.

At 10:35 a.m. a 1949 Oldsmobile driven by Julius Wehrman, 36, of 1000 17th St., N.W., Oldsmobile was stopped by police officers at the intersection of 17th and Fourth streets.

The Egyptian agency said members of the Syrian police and security forces confronted the "infiltrators" and the two groups exchanged gunfire.

The Syrian police officers returned to their own territory.

The Media dispatch did not say so, but the infiltrators could well have been nothing more than one of the many bands of smugglers who ply their trade along the rugged Turkish-Syrian border.

In a statement on the planned attack, the Syrian government said, Mena said the aircraft were trying to reconnoiter Syrian and Jordanian military positions.

It is more than 1,000 miles into space had a blast-off thrust of 250,000 pounds.

The Atlas, an intercontinental ballistic missile now under development by the United States, has three rockets producing an estimated total of 335,000 pounds of thrust.

Scientists said that the fact that the Russians could build one rocket of such enormous thrust proved they could build another to hit the moon.

The hydrogen warhead, exploding on contact, would help mark the rocket's arrival at the moon.

An assertion that "it is entirely possible" the Russians already have launched their moon-bound rocket came from Dr. Fred L. Whipple, di-

He suggested the Russians would have launched their rocket last Saturday. He said it would take the rocket five days to get to the moon and that a Saturday launching would time its arrival for Nov. 7, the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

Whipple said it would be "impossible" to launch a rocket by the way of the moon unless we knew exactly where it was launched.

Sputnik II's elliptic orbit takes 1,056 miles from earth at its farthest point. But at its closest point it is 40 miles nearer to earth than Sputnik I. Whipple and other scientists suggested the minimum altitude may have been set deliberately

Power Vs. Irrigation Dams Scheduled To Generate More Friction Next Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Columbia river "basin account" legislation, under which power-dam revenue subsidies, irrigation projects in the Pacific Northwest, promises to generate friction among upstream and downstream states early next year.

Such legislation, backed strongly by Democrats from the Pacific Northwest, included Senator Neuberger, D. Ore., is to be introduced next year's session of Congress.

Neuberger introduced a resolution last February calling upon the Eisenhower administration to submit legislation to establish a Columbia river basin account.

He said construction money for irrigation projects, should be provided by lucrative federal power-dam revenue because "it begins with the most feasible and lowest-cost irrigation projects have long since been completed. Future irrigation will be financially possible for farmers only if power revenues help to reduce the reimbursable acreage cost of development."

Secondly, there is no reason why the power-dam revenue from the Columbia River should benefit only that area directly contiguous to the plant. After all, the drops of water accumulating throughout an entire river basin contribute to the power potential of a river.

The site of a particular dam is merely an accident of bedrock, cliff walls and a sudden rapid or fall. The revenues from the dam should be used to help an entire region and not just the special place which is right at the site of the project.

The interior department sent the senate interior committee a draft of a bill to set up a Columbia Basin account.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Fred C. Andahl said in an accompanying letter, however, "we have not had an opportunity to discuss it with the bureau of the budget; the department of the army or the federal power commission. It may well be that these agencies will have valuable suggestions to make."

In view of this, Andahl wrote, "we are not able to make any commitments with respect to it at this time. I hope, however, that the department of the interior Northwest will find it a useful basis from which to begin our considerations."

Senator Dwyer, D. Idaho, is expected to oppose basin account legislation at least until after a Columbia river compact has been signed. Dwyer said the Columbia river basin has been unable to get together on a compact because of the waters of the Columbia and its tributaries.

Dwyer's opponent, Idaho Congressman Dwyer, said the basin account principle is a compact.

Private power companies are expected to oppose basin account legislation on grounds it provides a talking point for construction of dams in competition with them.

Committee of the National Reclamation Association—meeting this week at Phoenix, Ariz.—is expected to make recommendations for or against a Columbia basin account.

The committee—under the leadership of Senator Dwyer—will study a year ago at the suggestion of Senator Dwyer, who has heartily approved the basin account principle.

Senator Dwyer said the basin account principle is a compact.

Mystery Craft Stalls Motors Of Cars; Said "Space Ship"

LEVELAND, Tex., Nov. 4 (AP)—A man who has spent 20 years studying alien phenomena said today he believes a mysterious object seen in west Texas and New Mexico was a space craft from one of the neighboring planets.

The expert is James A. Lee, Abilene, Tex., a member of the National Phenomena and Director of Interplanetary Space Patrol, a west Texas organization which investigates "flying saucers" and similar objects.

Lee rushed here yesterday upon hearing of the second crash landing, the "thing" would have caused little more alarm if small green men had jumped out of it.

The egg-shaped object, described as about 200 feet long and a brilliant red, was glimpsed by at least five persons in the Levelland area, including the sheriff, three persons at Midland and another at Clovis, N. M.

James D. Long, Waco, said he was driving on a farm-to-market road near Levelland at 11:15 a.m. Sunday when he encountered the object resting in the road.

He said it was oval-shaped, about 200 feet long and glowed like a neon sign. He got out of his car about 200 feet away to investigate but when he did the object suddenly took off with a roar straight up into the air.

Long said his engine coughed and he and his friends and family went out when he got his car started.

Two other persons said they saw

It is a tradition at the academy for a visiting head of state to ask for amnesty for the cadets.

Snow Sweeps Over Western Areas of U. S.

By United Press

A fresh onslaught of wintry weather buried portions of Wyoming under 18 inches of snow today and threatened to bring more warnings for western Nebraska and parts of the western Dakotas.

The widespread storm swept the West during the week-end and began pushing eastward today.

Snow began falling in the western Nebraska, eastern Wyoming and northern Colorado early today.

The storm's progress was concentrated in the Rockies and the central and northern plateau regions.

As the storm moved east today, weathermen warned of freezing rain and hazardous driving conditions in western portions of Nebraska and the Dakotas.

Elsewhere, scattered light rain hit portions of the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, the Great Lakes and New England during the night.

Most of the rain was light with the heaviest amount, about one-fourth inch, at Richmond, Va.

Cooler weather moved into Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama with temperatures averaging a 10 to 15 degrees. Skies were generally clear in the northeast, preventing any appreciable cooling.

Fair skies prevailed over most of the Pacific Northwest and its coastal waters.

Forecasters said colder weather will penetrate the east today, bringing snow flurries in the lower Great Lakes and in the Ohio valley.

Generally fair weather is expected to continue along the Pacific coast.

Conversion of Sea Water Is Reported

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 4 (AP)—The Maxim Seawater company announced today it has developed a system of converting sea water to fresh water which could be delivered to the urban water system "at something around 20 cents a thousand gallons."

Maxim is a leading supplier of sea water desalination equipment to the navy and to many U. S. foreign shipping lines.

The company described the system. It says it can set up for community water production as an evaporation process with flash evaporators and vacuum designed to make the fullest use and reuse of every bit of heat furnished by the energy-producing boiler or other heat source.

An important development, the announcement added, is a method of pumping salt water to the equipment. Otherwise, the formation of salt scale quickly impairs the efficiency of any sea water treating process.

Ike Aide Asks Less Chrome, More Schools

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP)—A member of President Eisenhower's cabinet has urged the U. S. to exchange its country clubs for classrooms to meet the "gigantic" demand for Russian education.

Marion B. Pulos, secretary of the National Conference on Engineering and Scientific Education Saturday night, told America's concern for cost "should center on the far greater cost-labeled and, unfortunately, more menacing the challenge that faces American education."

Pulos said this challenge has been thrown down by Russia's "emphasis on education for its purposes."

The secretary said that America would be "foolish" to "ignore any threat to our freedom posed by the ominous fact" that Russian education is geared to the political purposes of the Soviet Union.

We may have to get along with a little less chrome and perhaps a few less country clubs in order to have more classrooms and more and better paid teachers," he said.

West Leading U. S. in Hikes In Population

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The western states topped the rest of the nation in the rate of their population growth by more than two to one between 1950 and July, 1950, the census bureau reports.

The population, agriculture, bureau, in a separate study, said the already pace of U. S. population growth was a good sign for the nation's battle for technical supremacy.

It said an over-rapid rise in population would put this country at a disadvantage in this respect. The birth rate of the two countries is about equal, it said, and neither faces the prospect of runaway population that is plaguing many economically underdeveloped nations.

The census bureau report last night said the U. S. population jumped from 150,871,000 in April, 1950, to 152,174,000 on July 1, 1952. It estimated present population at 172,400,000.

The 11 Rocky mountain and Pacific coast states registered a combined growth rate of 20.5 per cent, compared with the national average of 11 per cent.

Nevada, the smallest populated state in the union, had the largest percentage increase of 60.1. Its total population is 100,000.

Next was Arizona with 44.9 per cent; Florida, 40.2 per cent; and California, 31.4 per cent, and California, 27.3 per cent.

California, the largest, had the largest growth, its population jumping by 2,842,000 to 13,411,000, to candidate its standing as the second largest state in the union.

It still trails New York, whose population by 1950 was 19,040,000, a gain of 15,225,000, a gain of 87 per cent from its 1900 total.

By California, other states to show gains of more than a million in the six-year period, were Texas, 1,283,000; Michigan, 1,170,000; Illinois, 1,125,000; and Florida, 1,114,000.

The northeastern states showed the lowest relative rates of growth. The population boom of only 6.4 per cent. The south gained 8.8 per cent, and the Midwest, 11.3 per cent.

Four states registered population declines in the six-year period. They were Arkansas, down 145,000; West Virginia, down 41,000; Mississippi, down 24,000; and Vermont, down 7,000.

Truce Is Okayed On Texas Strike

DALLAS, Nov. 4 (AP)—An uneasy peace prevailed Saturday in the Lone Star Steel company labor dispute after strikers accepted a truce which means many will be returning to work.

Pickets were removed from around the sprawling steel plant Friday night. This followed a three-hour meeting of about 2,000 strikers, all but 50 of whom voted to go back to work.

Uttery residents, aroused by bombings, shotgun blasts and threats during the seven-week wildcat strike, were hopeful the truce would end tension that has gripped a 10-county area around the huge steel plant.

Loopholes on China Trades Found in U.S.

HONG KONG, Nov. 4 (AP)—The U. S. embargo on trade with communist China isn't as strict as advertised.

The way the law reads, raw materials from red China can be used in the manufacture of goods in Hong Kong for export. In the U. S. for example, if an American wanted to manufacture a tank, he could import imported into Hong Kong from the mainland and legally send the same tank to the United States. A manufacturer here can use raw silk originating in China in the manufacture of clothes for sale in the United States.

So far, little traffic has resulted from this official label a "loophole" in the embargo law.

It works like this:

In 1942, the Hong Kong government agreed to issue "certificates of origin" for goods made in the colony and exports to the U. S. It was further agreed with the U. S. government to distinguish between "manufactured" and "processed" however.

For instance, water chestnuts grown in China, had cleaned and canned here fall into the category of "processed" goods. But a dress made of silk from China is considered "manufactured."

Last spring, the Hong Kong department of commerce and industry requested that the U. S. government honor that distinction.

On July 12, the approval was announced. The U. S. treasury had given the okay for silk specifically of any origin to be used in goods "manufactured" here and to be exported into the U. S.

A U. S. woman who runs a native craft shop may become the first to take full advantage of this loophole.

She now is here exploring the possibilities of creating the U. S. market for silk goods made from materials from the mainland.

Apparently, non-American buyers of raw materials from communist China would not run afoul of U. S. foreign assets control regulations. What would happen if an American personally dealt directly with the red Chinese has not been adequately explained here.

Business circles here are not at all certain that such trade will result, however. First of all, there are the elements of guarantees as to quality and the regularity of shipments. If a manufacturer here puts all of his or her dependence on the Chinese reds, there is always the chance that the communists will simply cut off deliveries.

Oregon Appears Headed to First Date in Rose Bowl Since 1920 After Win No. 5

Oregon's Ducks, putting an accurate foot to the football, today appeared headed for their first annual migration for a "Rose bowl date" since 1920. Taking away nothing from the fine running, good passing and solid defense, but the fact remains that with a few points after touch down by Jack Morris, the Ducks might be wedding also instead they sport a 50-0 record in the Pacific Coast conference and only by losing their final three games could they beat themselves out of the Pasadena journey.

With Oregon, Washington State and California, the only teams eligible for the Rose bowl, the Ducks beat the other three. Against Washington State, the score was 33-0 and against Stanford last Saturday, 27-0. All told, Oregon has increased its record of 43 of its last 46 games.

Morris, the 185-pound senior fullback from Medford, Ore., earlier this season led a PCC record with his 23rd straight point-after-touchdown before finally missing.

He kicked three against Stanford while the Indians' Al Armstrong booted only two of his four attempts. Left on Oregon's schedule, in order, are Washington at Portland, Southern California at Los Angeles and Oregon State at Eugene.

In Saturday's other PCC battle, UCLA edged California 14-12 by virtue of Kirk Wilson's third goal. USC captured its first victory for the season by defeating Washington, 19-12, in the first game of the season.

Those results left Washington, State, UCLA and Oregon State tied for second place with records of 2-2. This week the Ducks play at the University of Oregon State in Corvallis and Stanford plays USC in Los Angeles.

Stanford's Coach Chuck Taylor, who has coached the Ducks since 1955, said the Ducks "could give a Big Ten team a good battle" in the Rose bowl.

He had just watched a last-minute try for victory fail when a Stanford drive stalled at the Oregon line as time ran out.

With the football season entering the home stretch most colleges have only three games left, the major exception being Stanford, which has a man alive with the possible exception of coach Donnell.

Perhaps the best example of the way the current season is progressing is the Big Eight. There, there was a man alive with the possible exception of coach Donnell.

Big Six Top, Cellar Teams Schedule Tilt

By The Associated Press

Pocahontas' Indians were firmly entrenched at the top of the Idaho Big Six high school football conference today with only one other team, Idaho Falls, standing in the way of the Indians retaining the league championship.

All conference teams will be idle this week. The final game for each scheduled for Veterans day last Monday. Idaho Falls will be at Pocahontas, Caldwell at Nampa and Boise at Twin Falls.

The hard-luck Caldwell Cougars pulled the biggest upset of the conference season last Saturday—7-0 win over Idaho Falls. The Cougars won a dramatic week-end showdown with the Indians.

Pocahontas had defeated Nampa 23-6 the previous day. In the only other game, Twin Falls beat Idaho Falls 12-13 to sink the Tigers lower into the depths of the conference cellar.

Twin Falls halfback Mike Stover scored 23 of the 32 points made against Idaho Falls in a 22-13 solid lead in the conference scoring department. The output boosted his season's total to 56 points.

Behind Stover in the scoring race were Down Harris, 30 points; Bobby Gierken, Pocahontas, 25; and Jim Lynch, Nampa, 24.

Dedicate Is Assigned Top Weight in Race

GAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Jan Barker's Dedicate today was assigned high weight of 128 pounds for Saturday's running of the 475-000 added Treadon handicap while Round Table and Gallant Man, a pair of 3-year-olds, each were given 124 pounds.

Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler, another 3-year-old, was assigned 122 pounds for the mile and one-quarter classic.

Thus judging secretary M. C. (Tyr) Shen-juged the three top horses "equal on the scale" and Bold Ruler only two pounds below them. As a 5-year-old Dedicate should carry more pounds than his younger opponents.

Dedicate, Round Table, owned by the Hays Brothers, and Bold Ruler are considered certain starters in the Treadon but Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man remained doubtful.

Of the other possible starters Calumet Farm's Phibius was given 117 pounds, with 115 on Samuel Tufano's Wise Man and 113 on Louis Lee Haggin's Mariner.

49ers Perch Alone Atop League After Another Slim Win

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4 (AP)—The San Francisco 49ers, who stage finishes you wouldn't believe in movies, perched alone atop the National Football League's western conference today thanks to a veteran pro and a pogo stick rookie. Quarterback Y. A. Tittle hit-keeping R. C. Owens with a 31-

Homerun Mark Threatened by 2 Young Stars

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—A few years ago it didn't seem possible that anyone would challenge Babe Ruth's major league lifetime record of 714 homers or Mel Ott's National league career standard of 511.

Now there's a chance that Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees will threaten these marks.

Both Mathews and Mantle were 25 years old when the 1927 baseball season ended. Mathews has accumulated for 223 homers and Mantle 202. At the age of 25, Ruth had hit 103 round-trippers and Ott, at the same age, had fanned the bases for 211.

Mathews, in his complete seasons with the Braves, has averaged 27 homers. The muscular third baseman smacked 32 last season and his highest output was in 1953 when he slugged 47.

Mantle has been with the Yanks six full seasons and part of the 1951 season. The swing-hitting outfielder, plagued by injuries during his big-league career, collected 24 homers in 1957. He belted 52 in 1956—his most productive season.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, ranked fifth in the all-time homerun list and tops among the active players, added to his career total in 1957. The 30-year-old slugger hit 38 homers to give him a career figure of 456.

Williams can duplicate that performance next season, he will use Lou Gehrig for fourth place in the rankings. Gehrig had 49 during his lifetime.

Stan "The Man" Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals enjoyed a banner year as he vaulted from ninth to sixth, behind Williams. The 36-year-old stalwart delivered 28 four-baggers to move past Ralph Kiner (26), Joe Mauer (24) and Johnny Mize (22).

Mathews' total is 281 and he is second to Williams among the active players.

Boxer's Workouts Make Him Favorite

DENVER, Nov. 4 (AP)—Middleweight Tony Giardella's impressive workouts are making him a favorite to split with Wilf Greaves, young Canadian, in their scheduled 10-round match at the Denver coliseum Tuesday night.

Giardella, ranked No. 2, sparred, punched the bag and shadow boxed before 600 onlookers at his workout Sunday. There was general agreement that the Brooklyn fighter has reached a fine edge and is at the peak of physical condition.

Greaves, fighting out of Pittsburgh, drilled hard before the season got to be heated the polish and juice of his year-old opponent. Greene appeared to be in top physical condition, though.

That's what Dean Ott, San Diego, got from this bucking horse during the saddle horse bucking feature of the Grand National Livestock Exposition in San Francisco's Cow Palace. New Sputnik Is Labeled as

Nothing New

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—John P. Hagen, director of the U. S. satellite program, believes Russia's launching of Sputnik was "nothing new more than a repeat of the rocket satellite thing." He said the rocket that launched Sputnik into orbit apparently was the "same old" one used to send Sputnik I and other satellites into orbit.

Hagen said, however, the recent space shoot-out between the U. S. and Russia was "a new development."

Hagen said the satellite launched at least once a month, he said he expected another one to be sent up about a month or so.

Dr. Hagen and other scientists are inclined to believe that the satellite as announced by Moscow, 1,100 pounds. At first thought, it was a rocket of fantastic thrust to shove such an object into space.

Dr. Hagen said the satellite weighed this much because it, and the last stage rocket were joined, or one and the same, and the rocket separated as the first satellite launched.

Other scientists and the Russians "simplified their project" by not separating the satellite and rocket. They said it meant there was that much less equipment to go wrong and that much less danger of failure.

Military experts declined to estimate whether the Russian rocket launcher had much more time and range than the U. S. intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM).

Election Endorses Portugal's Leader

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 4 (AP)—Government party leaders today voted the results of the recent assembly elections as a resounding endorsement of Prime Minister Dr. Antonio Oliveira Salazar's balanced budget and foreign policies.

They said the voting for 320 assembly seats yesterday was "heavy or heavier than in the last election in 1953. In those elections 80 per cent of the voters went to the polls."

Since Salazar's national union candidates ran unopposed in all the city, party and government chiefs said the election was a plebiscite on Salazar's leadership.
