School officials were notified Thursday by congressional representatives in Washington, D. C., that the federal government grants for the Minidoka school district had been reduced to a requested $350,000 to $251,000.

Superintendent Meyer said he had received the news from the federal office in Idaho and from the U. S. House and Sen. Henry Dworakich that the appropriation for the school district had been reduced.

and the fact that more people than ever enjoy a paid vacation. "About 10 million Americans," she said, "now receive an annual paid vacation."

Court Blocks

The federal department of health education and welfare said it was supporting construction of school facilities needed to relieve overcrowding in the districts caused by migration by federal activities in the area.

Supervintendent Meyer said the district could save $600,000 annually as far as $500,000 in federal aid, then had to completely reverse itself because of the state's further expectation about $357,738. The further reduction will mean another reversal.

Meyer had often reported the district hoped to open beds in January and February at the new schools which had been to construct 12 new rooms.

Solon Probe Links Underworld Mafia

To Union Rackets

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (UPI)—Senate investigators said today they have "some information" linking the underworld Mafia with corruption and racketeering in the Teamsters union. Chairman John L. McClellan, D., Ark., said his senate racketeers committee must break up the combine "or the hoodlums are going to take over the country." Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the committee, mentioned the "information" linking Mafia and union

New Leaders at T. F. Meet

Sen. Irving M. Ives, R. N. Y., obviously angered, broke in with the comment that "all this testimony is developing a rather sinister note."

Noting previous testimony about corruption and racketeering in the Teamsters union, Ives asked Kennedy how much of it was traced to the Mafia.

"We have some information on that," Kennedy said, adding that the committee expected to develop it later.

The Mafia or "black hand" originated in Sicily as a secret society and some law enforcement officials believe its remnants are a powerful force in the U.S. underworld—especially in the traffic in narcotics.

A federal narcotics agent first injected the Mafia into the committee's hearings Wednesday. Charles Amelio, who heads a special New York unit for Mafia intelligence, named Vincent J. Squillante, Wednesday as an "important" Mafia figure.

Squillante, scheduled as a witness later today, was executive director of the nation's corporation

S. 30 south from Declo to the Utah line the highway was either covered with snow or black ice. Snow was still falling in Idaho Falls on Friday morning.

The weather bureau reported the storm was moving out of the state Friday but a Saturday storm front is expected to bring snow flurries to southern Idaho and move eastward by afternoon.

Highway Aide Avers Roads Not Neglected

CALDWELL, Nov. 16 (AP)—Idaho's state highway engineer told county officials yesterday that his department is not neglecting the primary or secondary road system in favor of the interstate highway network. "It is our intention," said G. Bryce Bennett, "to keep the primary and secondary work current and accomplish the interstate construction in addition." Bennett addressed the annual convention of the Idaho Association of County Commissioners and Clerks. "Every effort is being made," he stated, "to use the interstate system to serve local as well as long-distance needs. This has a two-fold purpose. First, it keeps the highway number up for the great number of road users. Second, it provides the primary artery for the secondary systems in the vicinity."

Budget Scores Federal Land Grab Policies

CALDWELL, Nov. 16 (AP)—Rep. James H. Douglas, D-Idaho, predicted today that a three-day session will conclude Saturday evening with a vote on federal land grab policies.

The election of officers is slated for Tuesday afternoon. The three-day session will conclude Saturday evening with a vote on federal land grab policies.

Mennetti said the 1936 highway act set up the interstate system which has been financed by federal funds available in the first four years of the new program than those preceding it.

The report also noted that $7,000,000 in federal aid highway money was allocated to Idaho by the fiscal year 1938-1939, 1939-1940. The total was $14,000,000 in the next two years, $12,600,000 during the third year, and in the year ending June 30, 1942, it will reach $15,000,000.

State and county matching funds increased from 3½ million dollars in 1936-1937 to $7,000,000 in 1941-1942 and $7,200,000 next year.

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's anti-communist program to suppress the Democratic political, although he has no such intention. It is one of those fortuitous happenings beyond the control of even the purview of Congress and the President.

The President's addresses on peace and security and related subjects in which he has outlined his accelerated and coordinated reorganization of rocketry development, has not wholly satisfactory to the most ardent Democratic senators, many Republican legislators, to military men and public opinion experts. It did not reflect the spirit of urgency which they regard as necessary in today's crisis.

Not have they been too happy over the reaction of influential officials in the state department and at the Pentagon. They contrast officialdom's inertia with Pledge's electric announcement that the United States would build $500 billion planes to combat the fastest menace. They also recall his immediate billion dollar response to Albert Einstein's suggestion that the country start work on an atom bomb.

Both achievements strengthened America's power and prestige throughout the world.

TECHNICAL FOR "BOLD THINKING"—The great technical achievement of the state department and at the Pentagon. They contrast officialdom's inertia with Pledge's electric announcement that the United States would build $500 billion planes to combat the fastest menace. They also recall his immediate billion dollar response to Albert Einstein's suggestion that the country start work on an atom bomb.

Both achievements strengthened America's power and prestige throughout the world.

WHAT PRICE FREEDOM?

The methodical deep-beep-beep of the spinning Soviet earth satellite suggested the running of a clock against free men. Never more urgent than now that we have understood the true comparative nature of freedom and communism.

How do you win to the cause of freedom the peoples who have only the dimmest notion of its rewards? Millions of Asians, Africans know little of liberty as we know it. They see no reason to fight and die for it.

On the coin's other side, they know little of communist tyranny. They learned long ago to hate colonial domination which many have shaken off. But communism they seem to know only by vague repute. And they listen more to the material promise than to our tales of its terror.

We realize that if they should experience communist rule they will learn the ugly truth. But then it may be too late for pulling back. In our own interest as well as theirs, we dare not wait until that moment.

We and all who stand with us even in our strategic advantage must somehow make a monumental effort to assault the world with the bitter truths of communist tyranny. We must dwell upon them endlessly.

Yet we cannot rest there. With far greater energy and imagination than we have ever before brought to the task, we must show the world what the great rewards of liberty really are. They must see, and feel, the tangible benefits for themselves.

Americans traveling or living abroad must be better missionaries than they generally are. Too often we tend to put our worst foot forward, stressing the brassy aspect of our bustling life. We need to cultivate a deeper understanding of other peoples and show a willingness to embrace the good things of their life as we hope they will do of ours in return.

We know we have a great country. Fine tradition of freedom, and a remarkable record of achievement in the sciences, in the arts, in the competitive and others. But we must present our story with humility, not with an air of smug superiority.

We deserve to be understood for what we are. Again, it is our job to see that we are. But it is not all our own doing.

Some of the world's emerging peoples are primitive. They cannot be asked to for an easy appreciation of the comparative merits of our system and Russian communism.

But to others, like the people of India, have a long, long history of civilized living, are steeped in their own philosophy and wisdom, and pride themselves on their grasp of fundamental human values.

Too many among these people are blinded by the hate engendered in the colonial era. By mysterious means, seemingly wholly unreasonable, much of this hate has been shifted from Britain and France to us.

Some who have been subjected to supremacy now take an odd delight in our adversity. They do not appear to grasp that our adversity is the adversity of all aspiring free men.

Whatever our failings, our strength is ranged on the side of liberty, of living standards lifted up, of dignity and respect for the human individual.

On the success of the mutual adventure of trying to bring better understanding between ourselves and others hangs the fate of all free men on this earth.

CONTRAST IN GOVERNORS

We have commented occasionally on Governor Smylie's frequent gestures in calling for a "crackdown" on traffic law violators. Usually he suggests a greater use of radar or some such generality with which the people of Idaho are little impressed.

By the good fortune of coincidence, for which the governor can claim no particular credit, the state generally is showing an improvement over last year in the number of lives lost on its highways.

Now and then we read of the type of gubernatorial leadership we hope when it comes to coping with a traffic problem.

Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, for instance, demonstrated real courage when he decreed automatic suspension of the driver's license of any person convicted of speeding.

When the Republicans proposed a plank in their 1956 platform criticizing the Ribicoff decree, the governor called upon all the state's newspapers for help.

"Every paper in Connecticut," the governor pointed out, "landed on the Republicans for their opposition to my proposal, forcing them to abandon their opposition to my action."

As a result of this campaign, he continued, 17,000 drivers' licenses have been suspended, and a material reduction in fatal accidents on Connecticut highways has resulted.

Closer to home, Gov. George D. Clyde of Utah, mind no words in another aspect of the traffic problem.

"If juveniles are not old enough to face regular traffic courts, they are not old enough to be entrusted with the keys to the car on the highways," he declared Wednesday.

"I know juvenile court judges of the state generally disagree with me," said the governor, "but I have seen frightening evidence of young drivers who have been seriously injured or killed after driving off with suspended sentences or very light fines."

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WRRLRIG

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's anti-communist program to suppress the Democratic political, although he has no such intention. It is one of those fortuitous happenings beyond the control of even the purview of Congress and the President.

The President's addresses on peace and security and related subjects in which he has outlined his accelerated and coordinated reorganization of rocketry development, has not wholly satisfactory to the most ardent Democratic senators, many Republican legislators, to military men and public opinion experts. It did not reflect the spirit of urgency which they regard as necessary in today's crisis.

Not have they been too happy over the reaction of influential officials in the state department and at the Pentagon. They contrast officialdom's inertia with Pledge's electric announcement that the United States would build $500 billion planes to combat the fastest menace. They also recall his immediate billion dollar response to Albert Einstein's suggestion that the country start work on an atom bomb.

Both achievements strengthened America's power and prestige throughout the world.

TECHNICAL FOR "BOLD THINKING"—The great technical achievement of the state department and at the Pentagon. They contrast officialdom's inertia with Pledge's electric announcement that the United States would build $500 billion planes to combat the fastest menace. They also recall his immediate billion dollar response to Albert Einstein's suggestion that the country start work on an atom bomb.

Both achievements strengthened America's power and prestige throughout the world.

WHAT PRICE FREEDOM?

The methodical deep-beep-beep of the spinning Soviet earth satellite suggested the running of a clock against free men. Never more urgent than now that we have understood the true comparative nature of freedom and communism.

How do you win to the cause of freedom the peoples who have only the dimmest notion of its rewards? Millions of Asians, Africans know little of liberty as we know it. They see no reason to fight and die for it.

On the coin's other side, they know little of communist tyranny. They learned long ago to hate colonial domination which many have shaken off. But communism they seem to know only by vague repute. And they listen more to the material promise than to our tales of its terror.

We realize that if they should experience communist rule they will learn the ugly truth. But then it may be too late for pulling back. In our own interest as well as theirs, we dare not wait until that moment.

We and all who stand with us even in our strategic advantage must somehow make a monumental effort to assault the world with the bitter truths of communist tyranny. We must dwell upon them endlessly.

Yet we cannot rest there. With far greater energy and imagination than we have ever before brought to the task, we must show the world what the great rewards of liberty really are. They must see, and feel, the tangible benefits for themselves.

Americans traveling or living abroad must be better missionaries than they generally are. Too often we tend to put our worst foot forward, stressing the brassy aspect of our bustling life. We need to cultivate a deeper understanding of other peoples and show a willingness to embrace the good things of their life as we hope they will do of ours in return.

We know we have a great country. Fine tradition of freedom, and a remarkable record of achievement in the sciences, in the arts, in the competitive and others. But we must present our story with humility, not with an air of smug superiority.

We deserve to be understood for what we are. Again, it is our job to see that we are. But it is not all our own doing.

Some of the world's emerging peoples are primitive. They cannot be asked to for an easy appreciation of the comparative merits of our system and Russian communism.

But to others, like the people of India, have a long, long history of civilized living, are steeped in their own philosophy and wisdom, and pride themselves on their grasp of fundamental human values.

Too many among these people are blinded by the hate engendered in the colonial era. By mysterious means, seemingly wholly unreasonable, much of this hate has been shifted from Britain and France to us.

Some who have been subjected to supremacy now take an odd delight in our adversity. They do not appear to grasp that our adversity is the adversity of all aspiring free men.

Whatever our failings, our strength is ranged on the side of liberty, of living standards lifted up, of dignity and respect for the human individual.

On the success of the mutual adventure of trying to bring better understanding between ourselves and others hangs the fate of all free men on this earth.

CONTRAST IN GOVERNORS

We have commented occasionally on Governor Smylie's frequent gestures in calling for a "crackdown" on traffic law violators. Usually he suggests a greater use of radar or some such generality with which the people of Idaho are little impressed.

By the good fortune of coincidence, for which the governor can claim no particular credit, the state generally is showing an improvement over last year in the number of lives lost on its highways.

Now and then we read of the type of gubernatorial leadership we hope when it comes to coping with a traffic problem.

Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, for instance, demonstrated real courage when he decreed automatic suspension of the driver's license of any person convicted of speeding.

When the Republicans proposed a plank in their 1956 platform criticizing the Ribicoff decree, the governor called upon all the state's newspapers for help.

"Every paper in Connecticut," the governor pointed out, "landed on the Republicans for their opposition to my proposal, forcing them to abandon their opposition to my action."

As a result of this campaign, he continued, 17,000 drivers' licenses have been suspended, and a material reduction in fatal accidents on Connecticut highways has resulted.

Closer to home, Gov. George D. Clyde of Utah, mind no words in another aspect of the traffic problem.

"If juveniles are not old enough to face regular traffic courts, they are not old enough to be entrusted with the keys to the car on the highways," he declared Wednesday.

"I know juvenile court judges of the state generally disagree with me," said the governor, "but I have seen frightening evidence of young drivers who have been seriously injured or killed after driving off with suspended sentences or very light fines."

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Thank you, you'll come back and see us.

I heard the police formally hundred of times in Texas at a time when New York publications and New York radio were representing the southern white people as brutal barbarians.

I thought even though I had a household had a lynching in my back yard, I was not so much over the matter.

But when the time they decline to bail bailed potshots (Pot Shots) from Idaho children remain at Idaho potshots? Horrors! I'm going to have some chocolate icing on hand and see if they'll eat baked potatoes with chocolate icing.

The black, male pup is a young dog. He hunts well and finds phantoms. He also likes the water and may or may not be a good retriever. You can get the pup from Jack P. Parker at Jodlin field. The critter is a black and white pup and has a different home prompt.

Dear Pot Shots:

We have a very nice 3-month-old pup to give away. She is a pretty little shepherd and is good with children.

Page Is Newest U. S. 'Boom' City Open to Pioneer Spirits

TWIN FALLS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Do you have a business location for a place to flourish? A bowling alley, perhaps, or a small drug store?

Twins may be your town.

But you'd better be a business man with a pioneering spirit, a love of the desert, and a wife who won't mind sleeping sand dunes of the city.

Just as the planned construction of the $11 million-dollar Glen Canyon dam—the most remote largecrase to about 3,000.

Glen Canyon dam is being built in a "100-foot deep gorge on the Colorado River in northern Arizona—only 12 miles from the Utah state line.

Price is going up on a basis of reclamation. It's an engineer's estimate that it will be a $11 million project.

The nearest town is Kanab, 133 miles to the west. The nearest railroad is at Panguitch, 133 miles to the south.

At present, Page has a "mayor." About one-third of them will be out of 1,000 residents living in trailers and 250 children attending their families, and the businessmen school in a hastily erected water-

There may be more students than bedrooms. Another 200 or 300 may be housed in the school building.

Mayor Tom L. Steele, more will be contracted later.

"I just got word about 30 more first home will be ready next spring.

Steele says applications for setting up businesses in Page are still being accepted. There haven't been any applicants at all in a number of categories. Bowling alleys is one of these, and that's a little town can really use some recreation.

There have been nibbles, but no firm offers for publishing a town newspaper.

And it should be pointed out, the city is inside the Navaho Indian reservation and at present it looks like even deer will be banned, as it is on the reservation.

Organization Of Tax Group Studied Here

(From Page One)
Chairman, Mrs. Corinne Lester, Twin Falls, was elected temporary secretary.

A round robin discussion followed and the members of the group expressed the belief that the organization of a tax group was necessary to help the taxpayer in the state.

Donch Wall, Buhi, was instrumental in calling the group together. Wall and E. M. Rayburn, attorney, were the only ones who attempted to explain to the group what the For America group was.

One member present said he did not believe a movement to repeal the tax would succeed if it failed to have a political party organization. Wall pointed out that For America was non-political.

Another representative stated he believed the federal government would continue spending even though the income tax was repealed. He said he believed more money would be placed in the treasury owner who was now carrying too much of a load.

Sanborn explained it was impossible for the federal government to tax real property. Corinne Lester, who has power, he stated, he further pointed out one of the purposes of the For America organization was to help the states regain some of the power now lost to a bureaucratic central government.

At first the group attempted to appoint a six member permanent board of directors for definite organization. At least seven names were nominated but only one person mentioned declined for one reason or another. As a final attempt to get the group to move, a motion was made that those who had been nominated be appointed to the permanent committee. Two of those who had been nominated all refused to serve.

The temporary committee, Sanborn, called the temporary committee together after the meeting had adjourned to set date for the next committee will meet and start its work.

Official Avers Road Systems Not Neglected

The road building program, he said, the federal bureau of public roads approved the $1,250,000 from the primary to the secondary system.

"The department initiated these transfers," he said, "to provide financial aid on some of the highway improvement projects included in the 1954-55 construction program."

B. J. McClary, Portland, construction and maintenance engineer for the bureau of public roads, said this one, single characteristic that distinguishes an interstate highway from others is the "access."

He explained that controlled access prohibits direct access to through traffic lanes from individual property on the right of way. "It means reduction of traffic accidents and fatalities by about two-thirds," McClary said, "and safety feature alone should justify cost of access."

Construction of the proposed interstate system to proposed standards can save $300 million yearly and 10,000 personal injuries, McClary said, as well as a billion dollars in operating costs, 500 million dollars in accident damage and a billion hours in travel time.

"You gentlemen," he told the county commissioners, "can be of considerable assistance to the state and the bureau of public roads in selling this important access phase of design to the public. Highway with complete control of access are comparatively rare in the Northwest, and except for Alton, stretches, almost non-existent in our area."

"We need all the help we can get," the federal official said.

Payment Asked
The Magic Valley Credit bureau filed an indebtedness complaint Thursday in Twin Falls Justice court against W. O. Alpin, Twin Falls.

The bureau claims Alpin owes the bureau $670.00, interest and attorney fees due on a promissory note; Miller Drug company, Burley, $250.00; and Dr. Robert C. Miller, Burley, $45. The bureau is represented by W. H. Baker, Twin Falls attorney.

TEEN-AGER FINE
JENNIE Nov. 13—Terry Lee, 14, was fined $10 for driving at night on a day license, second offense. He appeared before police Judge Roberta Keiser.

IT'S A FACT
How Did Subpoena Originate?
A subpoena is a writ commanding a person to appear in court. It came about in English common law. The person was bound to appear or face punishment. That is "under penalty of 100 pounds." Which is heavier, Wet or Dry Sand?

Dry sand is heavier, measure up to a certain point of moisture. When builders measure sand for a certain standard of sand they fill a barrel level with dry sand and are permitted to heap the barrel with wet sand.

Couple Faces Summons for Case on Pool

An order for publication of summons in the case of Ray Nielsen and Mrs. Miller against Mr. and Mrs. Lord Mahr and Holiday Pool, Inc., was filed Wednesday in Twin Falls district court. The case of Twin Falls is named co-defendant to the suit.

The original complaint, filed Oct. 4 in district court, asks payment of $4,000 by Mr. and Mrs. Mahr to Nielsen and Miller.

The suit is sought for payment of labor, materials, excavating and construction of a swimming pool and summer in Harry Barry Memorial park.

The complaint says Mahr, doing business as Holiday Pool, Inc., entered into an agreement with Nielsen and Miller to construct the pool and summer. It further states that on Sept. 3, Mahr made an oral contract with Nielsen and Miller whereby they agreed to furnish labor, materials to construct the pool and summer.

Nielsen and Miller say they have been paid. They maintain they completed the project and it was accepted by Mahr and the city. They further maintain they were paid for all construction work of that amount for over $100,000 plus a 10 per cent profit of $10,000.

On Sept. 9, Nielsen and Miller filed for record with the Twin Falls county recorder a lien on the property of the city of Twin Falls, claiming the city owes them for the bill.

In the order of publication for summons is charged the last known address of Mr. and Mrs. Mahr is Salt Lake City.

Edward Babcock, Twin Falls, represents Nielsen and Miller.

Los Angeles Uses Petitions to Head Dodgers Off at Chavez Ravine

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15 (AP)—An armored truck with a guard riding shotgun arrived in City Hall Thursday, climbing a last ditch effort to head off Walter O'Malley before he reaches Chavez Ravine. Reposing in the truck were petitions signed by thousands of Los Angeles residents seeking to prevent the city from entering into a contract with O'Malley's Dodgers baseball club—unless the pact is approved by the voters. First man out of the truck was the guard who stood with a shotgun at the ready and a pistol at his side as the petitions were unloaded.

Asked the reason for the bristling display of armed might, a gray haired woman on hand to greet the truck piped up abruptly:

"There are people who would give a lot to see that the Dodgers never reach the city clerk's office."

There was no sign of highlanders, however, and the unloading proceeded peacefully, with some 15 women vying for the right to carry a bundle of petitions past the television cameras into City Hall.

Some two hours later—after the television cameras had departed—another batch of petitions arrived without fanfare in a private car and four men hurried into the clerk's office.

There the formal title procedure took place, just 45 minutes before the deadline, with Councilman John Johnson, the leader of the referendum drive, beamingly accepting congratulations from 15 or 20 of his supporters who clustered around.

O'Malley telephoned a statement here from New York saying "We will have to meet this challenge. It is unfortunate that the referendum will delay construction of the new stadium with resultant inconvenience to baseball fans."

The statement went on: "We believe the fans by their vote will rescind the special group who have financed the petitions and will support the advocates of major league baseball."

Sponsors of the referendum claim they have $5,000. A letter on the petition and fee collection there will be at least $1,500. The referendum procedure gives the city clerk 30 days to verify the signatures, and if there are enough, the ordinance approving the transfer of 300 acres to Chavez Ravine to O'Malley as a site for a baseball park is automatically suspended until an election is held.

At best, the election can't be held until the city clerk is authorized and the chances are the city will head off the special election by the vote of the city council.

By that time the Dodgers should be in the thick of the National League pennant race. But where their future home will be, at this moment, anybody's guess.

Aaron Says Award Was 'Big Thrill'

CHICAGO, Nov. 15 (AP)—This was a year of big thrills for me, but I guess today I got the biggest one of all.

This was the first comment by Hank Aaron, 23-year-old Milwaukee outfielder, after he was named the National League's most valuable player.

Aaron was told of his selection by vote of the Baseball Writers' Association of America before he appeared on a Chicago TV program.

"I just didn't think anybody could beat out Stan Musial," said Aaron, who led the majors in homers with 44 and hits with 122.

The Braves star won out over 37-year-old Musial by nine points in one of the closest votes since the poll started in 1931.

Gene Turley Knocks Out Reno Fighter

BOISE, Nov. 15 (AP)—Gene Turley, making his second appearance as a professional boxer, unleashed a savage third round assault here Thursday night and scored a knock out over Rusty O'Brien, Reno.

A veteran of several pro fights, O'Brien tried to keep the fight on the feet but was knocked out by a combination of a right, a left jab and a right cross shortly before the bell in the second.

Turley opened the third round with another fast flurry and dropped O'Brien to his knees with another well-timed combination. The Reno fighter stayed down for the mandatory fifteen-count. When he got up, Turley punched the Nevada across the ropes, and then felled him with a thundering right cross.

Fullmer Can Gain Little in Match With Neal Rivers

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Gene Fullmer has everything to lose and little to gain in Friday night's middleweight match with Neal Rivers, a rough customer from Las Vegas. The 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden will be the third start for Fullmer since he was knocked out by Sugar Ray Robinson in Chicago, May 1.

Robinson's left hook ended Fullmer's short reign as middleweight champ. He had beaten Jerry Gintie, when Gene, a former champion, was 16.

Fullmer claims he is punching stronger because he now is getting set before he throws a punch. All through his career, it has been Gene's strength, ability, and a hard punch, and his rugged physique that have carried him, not punching power. His style is to grind a man down to his size.

The Pulmer claim has a lock on the most important bout on the Garden show. Brother Jay, an unbeaten 20-year-old welter, backs off a hard punch and his rugged physique that have carried him, not punching power. His style is to grind a man down to his size.

The main event will be carried on network (NBC) radio and TV, starting at 4 p.m. (MST).

COMPLETES MOVE

BAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15 (AP)—The baseball Giants have completed their move to San Francisco, baggage and even turnstiles. Three members of the team, including pitcher Willie Mays, who won the National League MVP award, are in the city.

The main event will be carried on network (NBC) radio and TV, starting at 4 p.m. (MST).

At the 1956 Saratoga summer meet, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sumner took an $1,000 trophy to a gray colt by Hyperion-Deodora. The colt is the "Shine."

As a precautionary measure, rival cheer leading groups have agreed to make no megaphone raids. Washington, D.C. Mayor, Max Baucus, will be kept in his case on the WSC side of the field in case of a parade around the rhubarb track as is usual at home games.

But most of all, the affair is being left in to the student body. "We're appealing chiefly to the students' sense of responsibility," said Dick Adams, chairman of the WSC group. "But they know too that anybody who tries to create an incident is likely to face pretty severe penalties."

"We've been meeting with the heads of out-living groups, our cheer leaders and other campus organizations, to improve on all the need for reasonable behavior Saturday night. But faculty and student leaders feared the more recent fight throwing might permanent rupture relations between the schools."

Presidents of both schools warned that a recurrence of last year's post-game scuffle, could cause suspension of the football series, that goes back to 1954.

So student committees have gotten together on a program aimed at keeping a lid on campus spirit.

For the first time Saturday, the schools will be playing for a trophy. "This is a football shoe on a plaque of asphalt. This unusual trophy, gold for jointly by Idaho and WSC, symbolizes the walk between the schools."
