Ike's Missile Offer Given NATO Allies' Formal OK

PARIS, Dec. 19 (AP)—The 15-nation Atlantic summit conference today offered Moscow a foreign ministers' meeting on disarmament and formally accepted President Eisenhower's offer of ballistic missiles and nuclear warheads for arming western Europe.

The heads of government said the allies cannot accept the Soviet idea that Russia should have a monopoly on nuclear weapons and missiles in Europe pending disarmament.

These key decisions, announced in a 1,500-word communique, wound up NATO's four-day conference.

President Eisenhower said the result "should make war less likely, peace more sure."

Secretary of State Dulles said the conference had gone a long way toward accepting "a strategy of victory" over Soviet threats.

The final communique worked out in a session of almost three hours but the blame on Russia for the need to bring West Europe's defenses into the age of push-button warfare.

"In the Soviet view," the communique said, "all European nations except the USSR should, without waiting for general disarmament, renounce nuclear weapons and missiles and rely on arms of the preatomic age."

But Russia itself is arming with "the most modern and destructive weapons," so the NATO summit council decided that "we have no alternative but to remain vigilant and to look to our defenses."

"To this end NATO had decided to establish stocks of nuclear warheads, which will be readily available for the defense of the alliance in case of need," the communique said.

"In view of the present Soviet pol-

Ike Leaves

PARIS, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower flew home to Washington tonight convinced that the NATO summit conference "should make war less likely, peace more sure."

The President flew off in his personal plane, the Columbine III, at 12:34 p. m. EST, and was due in Washington about 6:30 p. m. EST tomorrow after a refueling stop at the Keflavik U. S. air force base, Iceland.

"War Less Likely . . ."

In high spirits as he boarded Columbine III for his return to the U. S., President Eisenhower this morning termed the NATO summit talks may "make war less likely, peace more sure." The President is shown here as he told the 15-nation conference that the free West still holds "the margin of power over the communists," but warned that "heroic efforts" are needed to steer the world toward peace. 12 Dead, Many Hurt as Deadly Tornadoes Lash Over Midwest

By United Press

Tornadoes knifed across portions of three Midwest states last night, taking at least a dozen lives and wreaking heavy damage, and today weathermen warned five southern states that they might get a taste of twisters. Injured totaled more than 200. Daylight and restored communications raised the toll of dead in southern Illinois, hardest-hit area in last night's tornadoes. At Murphysboro, Ill., where the death list was longest, an Illinois national guard report listed 10 dead, two of them found today and unidentified. A man died at Sunfield, Ill., when he went out to look at the damage and a baby was killed near Farmington, Mo.

The twisters continued to claim lives in packed hospitals today. At Mount Vernon, Ill., a 4-year-old boy died, raising the two-state death toll to 13.

The tornadoes also nosed into western Indiana, but weathermen could find no evidence that any touched the ground.

Ed Hall directed the ravages at Murphysboro and alowed the work of searching the ruins. Communications were on a skeleton basis with the city as late as noon CST today.

At Fort Worth, Tex., the weather bureau gave an alert warning of a "few tornadoes and severe thunderstorms" for extreme southeast Oklahoma, northwest Louisiana, extreme northeast Texas, southern and central Arkansas and extreme northwest Mississippi, extending the alert to 8 p. m. CST.

About 25 tornadoes were reported last night, springing out of a mixture of warm gulf air masses in Missouri, Towns hit included Chaffee, McBride, Mo., as well as country areas; Murphysboro, Mt. Vernon, Gorham, Sand Ridge, Chandler, Sunfield, Boyd, and Wood River, Ill. Illinois national guardsmen feared dead might be found at Gorham, which a guard report called "completely wiped out."

Closing of Service Stations Overruled

A Twin Falls district court decision filed with the clerk of court by Judge Hugh A. Baker has ruled that a city ordinance which limited hours of operation of two Twin Falls service stations was unreasonable. The decision came almost 16 months after the city, through its attorney Robert N. W. Ballelsen, filed separate complaints against Perkins Standard Service station, Filer avenue and Blue Lakes boulevard north, and Gasser's Conoco station located at Five Points north.

The complaints filed in August, 1956, sought to enjoin the stations from operating at hours other than 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. The city contended that operating during other hours was in violation of city ordinance 1031, the zoning ordinance passed by the city commission on July 2, 1956.

The ordinance attempted to limit hours of operation in neighborhood business zones.

In his memorandum decision, Judge Baker stated, "I am of the opinion that under the facts established by the evidence, limiting operating hours is not reasonable."

"It following that decree will be entered in each case in all respects in favor of the defendants."

The two cases had been joined for trial earlier in the year when it was heard before the late Judge Robert Beckwith. After Judge Beckwith's death, attorneys for both sides stipulated the decision could be made by Judge Baker.

When contacted regarding the decision City Attorney Ballelsen said he had "no comment." Asked if he

George Blick Is Suggested As Legislator

Members of the Twin Falls Republican central committee voted unanimously Wednesday night to recommend to Gov. Robert E. Smylie that George Blick, Castleford, be appointed to fill the vacancy created in the house of representatives by the death of Kenneth G. Bell.

Blick has served three previous terms in the house and ran next to Mr. Self in the last election. Another election will be held before the next legislature is due to meet.

The committee also decided to hold a "Salute to Congress" dinner here Jan. 20. Dewey Short, assistant defense secretary and former congressman from Missouri, will be guest speaker.

Guests at the Wednesday night meeting in the Twin Falls county courthouse were Theo H. Wegener, Boise, national committeeman, and John Martin Emmett, executive secretary of the state central committee.

Wegener declared, "While the fundamental differences between the Republican and Democratic parties on many basic issues are readily apparent, nevertheless, it seems to me that they need constant emphasis and restatement."

Wegener cited a letter from a Republican who stated he and his family voted Democratic because he disagreed with what he termed was a pronounced trend toward liberalism or modernism within the party. Wegener asked, "Was this really a plan for conservatism they thought they were striking?"

"The Republican who stays at home or splits his ticket because he may not be in absolute agreement with his own party's candidate or platform is inviting the establishment of policies with which he is certain to find himself in almost total disagreement," the national committeeman said.

Yule as Usual

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Dec. 19 (AP)—Mayor Virgil Bailey pledged today that Christmas will be observed with rejoicing in this tornado-devastated community next week, "one way or another."

The children of William Beasley, whose home was swept off its foundations and reduced to rubble, could have told the mayor that. They reported they've already written Santa Claus, telling him they've moved to their aunt's home and please to bring their presents there.

Post for Red Cross Region Goes to West

Harold West, 38, Burley agricultural leader, has been appointed Red Cross regional campaign chairman for 10 Magic Valley Red Cross chapters, it was announced today by William H. Bakes, Twin Falls Red Cross chapter chairman.

The appointment was made by the Idaho state campaign chairman, Arthur Oppenheimer, on behalf of General Lucius Clay, national campaign chairman. Mr. West will replace the late Kenneth Self.

West, a native of Idaho Power, has been active in public and business life for many years. He served as state commissioner of agriculture from his appointment by Gov. Robert E. Smylie in 1955, until March 1957, when he resigned to return to private business. He is now general manager of Idaho Potato Processors, Inc., at the firm's new Burley plant. He resides in Burley with his wife and three children.

West will work with Bakes and the chairman of nine other Red Cross chapters in Magic Valley. He was formerly active in Red Cross work in Idaho Falls.

Other regional campaign chairmen include George Crookston, Caldwell; Gerry Gardner, Coeur d'Alene, and Burtland Smith, Idaho Falls. All serve the Red Cross on voluntary basis.

In making the appointment, Bakes of the Twin Falls Red Cross campaign plans will be announced soon.

Launching of Army Jupiter Missile Made

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Dec. 19 (AP)—The mighty Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile was fired last night in a spectacular display of rocket power but the defense department announced later it did not complete its full flight because of "technical difficulties."

Observers at this launching site midway on Florida east coast thought at first there had been an explosion but the missile shot skyward like a flaming arrow and was visible for more than four minutes as it sped out over the atlantic.

The launching at 7:08 p. m. was the second in two days of one of the powerful new weapons being developed by the U. S. It followed the launching of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

The identification of the firing Wednesday night of the Jupiter quieted the suspicions of some observers that the army might be trying to sneak a launching of an

Protest Deadline Set for Hearings

BOISE, Dec. 19 (AP)—Mark R. Kulp, Idaho reclamation engineer, today set as the final date to receive protests on a request for appropriation of water stored in Lucky Peak reservoir on the Boise river at Jan. 28.

If protests are received, Kulp said, there will be a date for a hearing on the proposal.

The hearing is intended to result eventually in a determination of water rights for fish in Idaho streams. The U. S. reclamation bureau stored for the Lucky Peak appropriation, seeking to have the entire storage capacity of the reservoir, 307,000 acre feet, set aside for irrigation purposes.

Brewster Ousted, Says Newspaper

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 19 (AP)—Control of the Western Conference of Teamsters has been wrested from Frank W. Brewster by other conference officials, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer reported today.

The newspaper said power was taken from Brewster during meetings of the conference policy committee and executive board here Sunday and Tuesday.

William Franklin, Seattle, secretary-treasurer of the Western conference, will administer the 375,000-member organization with the consent and guidance of elected policy and executive committees, the newspaper reported.

Sputnik to Fall

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 19 (AP)—The world's first man-made satellite, sputnik I, is due to fall to earth early in January, the Smithsonian astrophysical observatory predicted yesterday.

The Soviet moon was launched Oct. 4. It is a 23-inch, 184-pound sphere. The famous beep-beep of its radio died about a month after launching when the batteries were exhausted.

Order Fixing Sugar Quota Is Seen Soon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Trade sources speculated yesterday the agriculture department's order fixing initial U. S. sugar marketing quotas for 1958 probably will be issued Friday afternoon. The order, under law, must be issued some time during December. Sugar experts said the complex sugar situation should not add appreciably to the department's problem in estimating the country's 1958 requirements. They predicted, however, it would inevitably have some effect on the amount of the estimate, since that could influence prices.

Agriculture department officials *traditionally refuse to give any ad*vance news concerning the fixing of marketing quotas.

Some trade experts figured the original estimate of 1958 consumption would be approximately 8,000,000 short tons. This would be only 100,000 tons above the first estimate for 1957 consumption, although the growing U. S. population adds about 130,000 tons to the consumption of sugar each year.

Trade sources said one reason for such an estimate, or even one of 8,500,000 tons, could be the inventory situation. Generally, these sources, particularly those on the side of producers, say the stocks of sugar in this country at the end of this year are likely to be higher even than they were at the start of 1957.

In addition, they say, the domestic beet sugar industry is expected to deliver 100,000 to 150,000 tons of its 1957 marketing quota after Jan. 1, 1958. Such sugar is distributed under what is called constructive deliveries — sugar sold up to midnight Dec. 31, 1957, but not delivered until the following month, or until Feb. 28.

The consumption estimate was awaited as year-end reports indicated a possibly troublous course for sugar prices in 1958.

The agriculture department, in an outline of 1958 prospects, said pro*duction and consumption of sugar* are continuing upward, but that trade in sugar appears leveling off. New mills are being built in all parts of the world, and some normally deficit and surplus countries, especially in Asia, continue to expand their output. Except for the USSR, which has weather troubles, "more beets or cane are being planted" over the world, the department said. It said the 1957-58 crop "estimated at 47,700,000 tons will be a record."

Bean Pest Fights Urged by Senator

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Sen. Henry Dworshak, R., Ida., said today he has asked the agriculture department to earmark more pest control money next spring to battle beet leaf hopper which caused an estimated $13,000,000 damage to Idaho's bean crop last year.

"This tremendous loss to our state's economy would seem to call for a larger program than the 8,500 acres sprayed this year if we are going to believe anywhere near effective control," Dworshak wrote Emory D. Burgess, plant pest control director.

The senator said he has received assurances from the agriculture department that a field survey will be taken early next spring and that if conditions indicate another serious hopper infestation, an expanded control program will be initiated.

NEWS BULLETINS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The agriculture department today estimated 906,272,000 bushels of fall-planted winter wheat will be harvested in 1958.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 19 (AP)—The Arkansas state police said a tornado hit the cotton belt community near Waldo, Ark., in the southwest part of the state today. A United Press correspondent at Magnolia said an ambulance had brought in several injured persons to the hospital.

SEATTLE, Dec. 19 (AP)—A vice president of the Western Conference of Teamsters denied categorically today that control of the organization had been "wrested" from its president, Frank W. Brewster.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The defense department announced the Thor missile fired at Cape Canaveral, Fla., today landed in the selected impact area.

Shoshone Tot Stays Critical, Doctors Aver

DENVER, Dec. 19 (AP)—Two-year-old Carl Rogers, Shoshone, who underwent an operation to have a hole in his heart closed, will remain on the critical list for at least another week, doctors at National Jewish hospital here said today.

Dr. Sol Carl, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Rogers, is fully conscious and is showing an interest in toys. This morning he played with a wooly toy dog after a fresh feast of milk.

Doctors said the boy's respiration, blood pressure and temperature all were normal and that he was sleeping normally, but that his condition was considered critical.

The operation Tuesday to correct Carl's congenital heart condition was the second. An attempt last June was halted when the boy's heart failed and doctors had to massage it back to action.

U. S. 'Gag' on British Atom News Denied

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—America's atomic boss yesterday personally denied unofficial British charges that the United States has barred Britain from announcing a big step toward harnessing the H-bomb for peace.

Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the atomic energy commission, also said the achievement of H-power "is still remote."

Strauss had his office here release a statement he drafted in Paris, where he is attending the NATO summit parley. It began:

"A report to the effect that the United Kingdom atomic energy authority has suppressed announcement of success in the control of the fusion reaction at my request is completely false."

Scientists of both countries have been attempting to achieve a controlled thermonuclear, or fusion, reaction. Such a reaction would produce energy which, if harnessed in a reactor, would give the world a new source of power.

The British press has been saying that England's atomic scientists

Death Car Driver Has Year in Jail

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 19 (AP)—Larry Mattinson, 20, American Fork, was given a maximum one year in the Salt Lake county jail yesterday on a charge of negligent homicide. He was the first person charged under the new law.

District Judge Stewart M. Hanson passed sentence and granted Mattinson a stay of execution until Jan. 2.

The charge against Mattinson was filed after an accident in Salt Lake county last July in which a passenger in his car, Thomas J. Landrum, 15, American Fork, was killed.

Fire Controled

SPOKANE, Dec. 19 (AP)—A stubborn, three-alarm fire that swept through the Falls City building in downtown Spokane was brought under control early today with loss estimated at about $200,000.

More than 200 city firemen fought the blaze for six hours. Several firemen were overcome by smoke but there were no serious injuries.

Smylie Urges Rail Rate Cut to Avoid Spud Catastrophe

BOISE, Dec. 19 (UP)—A plea from Gov. Robert E. Smylie for an emergency freight rate reduction to rescue Idaho potato producers from "catastrophic loss" today brought a prompt response from Union Pacific railroad that it will seek relief of approximately 20 per cent for Gem state and eastern Oregon spud growers. Smylie had wired the Union Pacific railroad asking for an emergency freight cut of approximately 25 per cent as a means of helping Idaho potato growers move their remaining large stocks of quality potatoes to market.

The Union Pacific response came within a matter of hours. It was delivered to the governor by A. H. Genge, traffic manager for the UP at Boise.

The railroad advised the governor that its move for an emergency cut will have to be submitted to the rate bureaus controlling the proposal. The proposal would reduce the freight rates for potatoes during the current marketing season even below the rates existing in the previous marketing period.

Under the railroads proposal, a rate increase which was in effect during the last marketing period and a more recent rate increase would be suspended on potatoes loaded in cars to a minimum of 40,000 pounds to destinations as far east as Chicago and St. Louis as

Crops' Values In U. S. Show Drop in 1957

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP) — The agriculture department said today the value of crops produced in the United States in 1957 was $17,546,892,000.

The department's summary of crop values was based on what farmers received for forage, field and miscellaneous crops; fruits and nuts; major seed crops; and commercial vegetables. In all 79 crops were valued.

Corn, as usual, was the king-size money maker. The 1957 crop was valued at $3,991,111,000, down from the 1956 value of $4,459,405,000.

Hay displaced cotton as the second high-value crop. The hay crop was valued at $2,383,250,000 compared with the 1956 value of $2,303,-616,000.

Cotton and cottonseed reached a 1957 value of $2,017,143,000, down considerably from the 1956 value of $2,401,462,000.

Wheat was in fourth place with a value of $1,230,440,000, down from the 1956 value of $1,984,174,000.

Soybeans, valued at $1,004,934,000, got into the billion dollar class for the first time. Total 1957 soybeans were valued at $980,747,000.

Tobacco, usually a billion-dollar crop, slumped to a 1957 value of $458,552,000. In 1956 tobacco was valued at $1,169,795,000.

Other big money-makers included oats $803,943,000; barley $379,529,000; rice $21,587,000; sorghum grain $468,009,000; peanuts $157,700,000; potatoes $408,329,000; sugar beets $169,169,000; apples $210,111,000; peaches $130,134,000; pears $161,-000; oranges $252,217,000; lettuce $143,985,0000; and tomatoes, $150,-202,0000.

Soviet Official Claim U. S. Is Trailing Reds

MOSCOW, Dec. 19 —Deputy Premier Josef Josefovich Kuzmin, head of Russia's top planning body, said today the Soviet Union has expanded its oil production so much that "Americans are now trying to catch up with the Soviet Union."

Kuzmin, chairman of the state planning commission "Gosplan," addressed a first-day meeting of the supreme Soviet (parliament). He reported on production for 1957 and outlined Russia's economic plans for next year.

The 1,347 members of the supreme Soviet convened in the white-marbled former throne room of the Russian czars in the grand palace of the Kremlin.

Attending the joint meeting of the chambers of nationalities and the council of the union, the two houses of the supreme Soviet, were Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and members of the presidium.

The council of nationalities met first and unanimously adopted a four-point agenda for the meeting, which is expected to last for five days. The council of the union confirmed the agenda in a separate preliminary meeting.

General Snows Cover Roads, Galena Closed

Galena summit was not open at 11 a.m. Thursday following another snowstorm during the night and snow at Sun Valley was estimated at 12 inches as the resort prepared to open Friday. General snow covered the entire Magic Valley area and powdery snow was reported falling at midmorning from most areas with the exception of Twin Falls.

The highway department at Shoshone reported U. S. highway 93 from Shoshone north to Clayton had a snow floor and was getting severe north of Timmerman hill which was being sanded. U. S. 93 alternate in the Richfield-Arco area was snow-covered-and sanding was in progress at the Craters of the Moon. Chains were recommended on the roads which are extremely slick.

No report from Magic Mountain was available Thursday as the ski lift operator, Claude Jones, worked to open the road. As of Wednesday, he reported 25 inches of snow at the lodge and 30 inches at the top of the ski runs.

State highway 46 from Gooding to Fairfield has a snow floor and Johnson hill is being sanded. Driving conditions are fair in the area. Roads from Rogerson to the state line are icy with some snow spots.

Mrs. Pearl Barber at Galena reported it snowed slightly all night and was still snowing at 11 a.m. The weather was considerably colder and no cars had come over the summit although she was expecting the crew from Stanley momentarily.

Snow was about 40 inches deep at the foot of the summit and the highway was banked on both sides.

Light, powdery snow started falling at 7 a.m. in Hailey and was blowing. There was no snow during the night.

Seven inches of new snow were reported at Shoshone and it was still snowing at noon. Two inches were reported at midmorning in Gooding and was snowing in Buhl, Burley and Rupert.

Nels Slaiam, member of the state highway crew patrolling highway 93 over Galena summit, said seven inches of new snow had fallen on

3 Valley Men Escape Hurts In Air Mishap

RENO, Nev., Dec. 19 (AP)—Three Idaho men en route here walked away unhurt when their single-engine Cessna 180 crash-landed on the desert 25 miles south of Reno.

The CAA identified the trio as Ken Roundy, Burley, the pilot, and Donald and Ralph Holmes, both Heyburn, although she was expecting the crew from Stanley momentarily.

The craft was damaged extensive*ly when it skidded across a field and* nosed into an irrigation ditch. The CAA said the airplane was owned by the Holmes Construction company of Heyburn.

Ted Nickolich, 19-year-old University of Nevada student, said he was driving toward Reno when he saw the three men climb out of the wreckage. He said they told him the plane "conked out" and they were circling the area in search of a clear landing spot on the U. S. highway 40 construction project in the vicinity.

Three Are Killed In Bomber Crash

PALOMAR MOUNTAIN, Calif., Dec. 19 (AP)—A fiery bomber crash in fog about a quarter-mile from Cooper has left three air force officers dead.

The six-engine B47 Stratojet plowed into this 6,000-foot peak yesterday while returning to March air force base, 50 miles to the north, from a training flight.

Flames shot 100 feet high and live ammunition went of, an observatory official said.

Flying debris nicked the dome of a smaller telescope, the 48-inch Schmidt.

The victims all lived at Riverside.

Boost in Jobless Roll Is Predicted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell said today the nation faces what he termed "a cyclical economic adjustment" in 1958.

He saw a probability of increasing unemployment and more labor strikes, but with improvement toward mid-year.

"I don't think we are in for a serious economic situation," Mitchell told a news conference. "The economists I've talked to believe we will see an upturn somewhere around the middle of 1958."

Deputy Given Job of Ousted Soviet Official

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP) — Premier Mikhail Yasnov of the Russian republic, largest in the USSR, has been demoted and replaced by his deputy, Radio Moscow said tonight.

The broadcast gave no reason for the change.

It said Yasnov stepped down as leader of the principal Soviet republic and took over as deputy premier. His deputy, F. Kozlov, replaced him as premier.

Kozlov was identified as a *member of the 120-member central com*mittee of the Communist party.

It was the third Soviet government change announced in a week.

Last Saturday, four ministers, all dealing with defense, were abolished and their functions were transferred to other agencies.

Yesterday, N. A. Mukhkitdinov, Communist party leader of the Uzbekistan republic, was elevated to the politburo and the secretariat—the party's two top bodies.

There are 15 Soviet republics, with Russia as the "mother" state.

Jobless Claim Increases for Valley Listed

Close to 200 initial unemployment compensation claims were filed throughout Magic Valley last week, according to figures released Thursday by H. S. Cutler, director of the local employment security agency office.

In Twin Falls alone 81 new claims were filed, bringing the Twin Falls total number of claims to 468. In Jerome, 64 new claims were filed, for a total of 307; Rupert reported 16 new claims, a total of 86; Burley reported 21 new claimants, with a 136 total, and Gooding reported 12 new claims, for a total of 113.

For Magic Valley as a whole, the total number of claims climbed to approximately 1,110 during the seven-day period. For the state as a whole, 1,641 new claims were filed, bringing Idaho's total active claims to 9,514.

The average weekly benefit amount paid out during the week was $33.68. The total of all benefits paid in Idaho during the week was $189,203.

Smylie Urges Reduction in Freight Rate

well as Oklahoma and Texas points. This would amount to about 17 cents per hundred pounds.

To destinations in California and the Pacific Northwest, the railroad proposed elimination of the most recent increases.

Governor Smylie said that the railroad's proposal was being studied but that an initial appraisal indicated that the rate reductions themselves and an increase which would be allowed in carloading tonnage to reduce ton-mile costs, appear "to effect approximately a 20 per cent reduction."

The governor in another wire to the Union Pacific, expressed gratification for prompt action and advised that if there was any way he could be of assistance in "bringing the plight of the Idaho potato industry to the attention of the rate bureaus, to please command us."

His first wire, to William Burns, traffic vice president of the railroad at Omaha, urged expeditious consideration of his request for the approximately 25 per cent cut.

Idaho has one of the biggest potato crops in its history and of high quality. Approximately 30,000 carloads already have moved and at least that many remain to be marketed. There are more unmarketed Idaho potatoes on hand than at this time last year even though national production is down 10 per cent from 1956.

The governor's wire came about following a conference between the state agriculture commissioner, Robert Reichert, his assistant, Leland Fife, and Thayer Hill, rate analyst for the Idaho public utilities commission. The conferees considered pleas for relief from the Idaho Potato Producers association and from individual potato shippers and growers.

In his telegram to Burns, Smylie pointed out that the Idaho crop is not moving as it should despite the drop in national potato production.

"An emergency adjustment of freight rates to our markets would rescue the producers from catastrophic loss," the governor informed Burns. "I am advised that the railroads serving Aroostook county, Me., have voluntarily requested ICC approval of an adjustment which will move the main crop to market with some hope for Maine producers.

"Much Idaho tonnage is now being diverted to competitive transport and more will be unless relief is secured. An approximate emergency reduction of 25 per cent would be most helpful. I most earnestly urge you to expedite any possible consideration which the Union Pacific and connecting railroads can give us. You have a great stake in Idaho and we, of course, have a great stake in the Union Pacific. I shall await your advice at the earliest time."

Launching of Army Jupiter Missile Made

allied vehicle, the Jupiter-C rocket designed to place a satellite in an orbit around the earth.

The defense department announced in Washington an hour and a half after the launching that it was a Jupiter, and added:

"This test of the Jupiter, under development by the army, is one of a series of IRBM and ICBM flight tests conducted at the Cape Canaveral range."

Later, the department said, "The missile did not complete its full flight because of technical difficulties." A spokesman would not amplify.

There have been other Jupiter launchings here before, and they always have been among the showiest in the nation's rocket arsenal.

But this one was especially dramatic in the early evening darkness and in almost clear weather.

The 60-foot long weapon scurried through a few thin, scraggly clouds, then streaked starward.

Its start was so fiery that the first impression on watchers from beaches five miles distant was that there had been a terrific explosion.

White steam mixed with smoke billowed around the base of the snow-white, floodlight-bathed missile and mixed in with the bright flash of flame to add to the visual effect of a detonation.

But the missile rose straight and true — slowly, majestically at first, then quickly gaining speed—flashed through filmy clouds that barely reduced its brilliance.

Electronic Device Is Saver of Time

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UP) — Two General Electric Company Engineers have developed an electronic device that frees highly trained scientists at the Knolls Atomic Power laboratory from routine calculating work.

The device measures, counts and classifies the time of flight of neutrons from a nuclear reactor. It is said to accomplish in an hour what it previously would have taken a man a month to do.

Education Is Talk Subject At Club Meet

"Is sputnik the new star for the American wise man?" Dr. Carl McIntosh, president of Idaho State college, asked Twin Falls Kiwanians in a speech Thursday.

Addressing members following the weekly luncheon at the American Legion hall, Dr. McIntosh urged maximum effort to advance science education, but warned against adopting Russian principles to do this and against concentrating on military technology to the exclusion of other aspects of education.

"That we will see modification of our educational pattern is certain," Dr. McIntosh said.

He suggested a list of criteria for evaluating the flood of proposals on how the pattern should change.

"Does the proposal take into account the known quantity of trained men and women required to accomplish its objective?" was the first question.

Dr. McIntosh said there are not enough persons trained to a high level in mathematics or physics to satisfy present demand. To increase school requirements in mathematics will require more teachers, better utilization of personnel, he pointed out.

His second question: "Does the proposal provide the minimum lead time to accomplish its objective?"

As an example, he used a ninth grade student who decides to begin preparations for a science career while he is in high school. If he completes necessary academic training he will be ready to take high level teaching, research or industrial job in 1968 at the earliest.

The third test: "Does the proposal go beyond the manipulation of organization charts?"

"Nothing can overcome quickly the educational deficit which has grown in the United States during the past few years," Dr. McIntosh said.

He asked if the proposal identified the nature of the sacrifice which must be made to accomplish its objectives.

"If we wish specialized training for all of the highly competent, the cost must be deferred and all must share the burden," he declared.

He pointed out that education in the United States must be strengthened and "we must place a high value on trained intelligence."

"We must do three things," he said. "Identify those who can excell; motivate a calculated share of them to pursue intellectual interests and make it possible for them to learn with a minimum of wasted effort."

Dr. McIntosh was introduced by Curtis Eaton, program chairman.

NATO Allies Approve Ike Missile Setup

icies in the field of new weapons the council has also decided that intermediate range ballistic missiles will have to be put at the disposal of the supreme allied commander Europe."

The tone of the whole communique was defiant of Russian threats and warnings about nuclear weapons and missiles. At the same time it kept open the door to negotiation.

The NATO chiefs said they regret and deplore Russia's tactics of boycotting a newly created 25-nation U.N. commission on disarmament. They called on Russia to resume co-operation with the United Nations in this field, but offered a foreign ministers meeting to resolve the deadlock. This represented an American concession to European fears of atomic war and demands for East-West talks.

The summit leaders called on the Soviet Union anew to fulfill its "solemn commitment" to permit the unification of divided Germany through free elections.

"The perpetuation of injustice to the German people undermines international confidence and endangers peace," they said. They reminded the Soviets that at the Geneva summit conference in 1955 they "took a solemn commitment that "the reunification of Germany by means of free elections shall be carried out in conformity with the national interests of the German people and the interests of European security."

As to the possibility of negotiations, the communique said:

"We state our willingness to promote, preferably within the framework of the United Nations, any negotiations with the USSR likely to lead to the implementation of the proposals recalled above longstanding western proposals for disarmament.

"We are also prepared to examine any proposal, from whatever source, for general or partial disarmament, and any proposal enabling agreement to be reached on the controlled reduction of armaments of all types.

"Should the Soviet government refuse to participate in the work of the new disarmament commission, we would welcome a meeting at foreign ministers' level to resolve the deadlock."

Sugar Firm's Slate Chosen During Meet

OGDEN, Dec. 19 (AP)—All officers of the Amalgamated Sugar company were reelected today at a meeting of the board of directors following the annual stockholders meeting.

Officers include Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the board; H. A. Benning, president; A. E. Benning, executive vice president and general manager; R. H. Cottrell, vice president and manager of factory operations; J. J. Dunbar, vice-president and sales manager; and J. R. Backman, secretary-treasurer.

A. E. Benning reported the company bought approximately 2,002,000 tons of beets in 1957 from growers in Utah, Idaho, Oregon and Washington.

Total production for the 1957-58 factory run is expected to exceed 5,250,000 bags (100 pound units) of sugar, compared with 4,927,000 bags from the 1956 crop.

The Lewiston, Utah, factory completed its run Dec. 1. Twin Falls and Rupert plants will operate until mid-January; Nyssa, Ore., and Nampa until mid-February.

COUPLE TO VISIT

HAILEY, Dec. 19—Mr. and Mrs. George Wurst left Wednesday for Ashland, Mont., to spend the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Royal and son.

Auto Crashes Here Blamed On Icy Roads

By noon Thursday Twin Falls police had investigated three traffic accidents caused by slick and snow-covered streets. None of the drivers was injured.

At 8:05 a.m. a 1940 International truck driven by Charles L. Wickhorst, route 3, Twin Falls, and a 1952 Pontiac driven by Reva M. Pence, 335 Sixth avenue east, collided at Five Points west. Damage to the Pontiac was estimated at $100. No damage resulted to the truck.

The second accident occurred at 8:50 a.m. at the intersection of Ninth avenue and Second street north. A 1955 Cadillac driven by Arthur Watson, 303 Jackson street, and a 1955 Chevrolet station wagon driven by William L. Monteith, 484 Buchanan street, collided. Damage to each vehicle was estimated at $150.

Damage to a 1956 Cadillac driven by Woody T. Seal, 79, Twin Falls, was estimated at $200 following a collision at 9:42 a.m. with a 1956 Ford pickup driven by Glen W. Prescott, 24, 427 Third avenue west. The accident occurred at the intersection of Fourth avenue and Second street east. Damage to the front end of the Ford was estimated at $30.

the summit Wednesday morning. About nine inches of new snow fell on the Stanley side of the summit, he said, bringing the total snow cover there to about 10 inches with two inches falling last night.

A snow slide on the Big Wood river side of the summit covered the road about 4 p. m., Sislam said, but was cleared away before dark. He said the road was open when he came down Wednesday evening, although snow was drifting badly on both sides of the summit.

E. O. Seagle, Sun Valley, said Wednesday's storm brought 10 inches of new snow on Mount Baldy. There now is about a 21-inch snow cover at the top — about 9,200 feet; 17 inches at Roundhouse — 7,500-foot level on Baldy, and about 11 inches on the valley floor. Dollar mountain had seven inches of new snow and a total snow cover of 14 inches.

State police reported route 68 between Dixie and Hill City has been closed by deep snow and no effort will be made to reopen it this winter. The road normally is closed each winter.

Flights at Joslin field were reported operating about 30 minutes late because of weather conditions in Boise, Pocatello and Burley. Visibility was reported at one-half mile and the ceiling at 1,000 feet with the wind blowing. Flights were expected to continue to enter reasonably on time if the ceiling did not lower.

The new storm resulted from an unusual condition, according to the weather bureau at Salt Lake City. A frontal system off the West Coast was not expected to cause any weather changes here. The new snow is the result of warm, moist air over-running the Intermountain region from the northwest.

Colder temperatures are expected for Thursday and Thursday night.

Students Meet For Assembly

Judy Schaefer, Hailey, received the November student award for punctuality. Resourcefulness is the trait selected for December and the winning student will be announced Friday. Each month a student is honored for an outstanding skill or personality trait.

In keeping with the holiday season, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Aiken, Jerome, presented picture slides of the Holy Land. "People often forget the true meaning of Christmas," said Mrs. Aiken, narrator, "But what could be more impressive than to actually walk where Christ walked on Christmas day." Mrs. Aiken explained the history of the Holy Land in connection with each slide. She said, "Christianity and history will walk together."

Solons Pledge Struggle Over Benson's Rule

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (UP) — Dairy-state senators today promised an all-out battle against the decision of Secretary of Agriculture Benson to lower price supports on milk and other dairy products next April 1.

The Benson announcement yesterday also brought protests from some house members. Two farm groups expressed criticism.

Benson told a news conference dairy supports will be cut to the legal minimum of 75 per cent of parity. These supports now are at 86 per cent of parity for milk, and 80 per cent for butterfat. Parity is a legal standard for measuring farm prices in terms of farmers' expenses.

The secretary said supports have been so high that dairy surpluses recently have cost taxpayers 375 million dollars annually. And he bid for consumer backing for the reduction by saying the move would cut retail butter prices by about 2½ cents a pound, and reduce the cost of milk by about half a cent a quart.

Senator Wiley, R., Wis., usually an administration supporter, bluntly told Benson he would ask the senate agriculture committee to veto the cutback.

Senator Proxmire, D., Wis., promised a "finish fight" against what he called a "shocking injustice." He said he would ask congress to set the support level at 90 per cent of parity.

Mrs. Anna Eves Passes at Home

Mrs. Anna Leighow Eves, 82, 1221 Ninth avenue east, died at her home at 4 p. m. Thursday.

She was born on Dec. 26, 1875, at Millville, Pa., and lived there until 1920 when she moved to Filer. She moved to Buhl two years later and to Iowa in 1941. She returned to Twin Falls in 1955.

She was married to James Edward Leighow in 1904 in Pennsylvania and he preceded her in death in September, 1937. She married J. Walter Eves in July, 1941, in Buhl. He preceded her in death in September, 1954.

She was a member of the Methodist church and the WCTU.

Suvivors are one brother, Fred Weinman, Portland, Ore., and two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Stella Weinman, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Lillian Weinman, Des Moines, Ia.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Albertson memorial chapel in Buhl with the Rev. H. G. Harvey, First Methodist church, Filer, officiating. Concluding rites will be held in the Buhl cemetery.

U. S. 'Gag' on British Atom News Denied

have made great strides toward the production of H-power but that the AEC has made Britain keep the news under wraps.

Strauss, in denying he had requested any such gag, repeated what he and the British have said at least twice before:

Scientists in both countries have done work which suggests they may have achieved controlled fusion reactions; however, this "will only be ascertainable as a result of elaborate and protracted experiments."

Strauss said that if controlled fusion reactions definitely are established, this "would be an important step — but only a step — in the longe range efforts to develop thermonuclear reactors for the production of economic power."

His statement concluded that while the achievement of economic thermonuclear power doubtless will be realized, it is still remote. And he said "it will not, therefore, interfere with the necessary development" of atomic power reactors of the fission type.

The London News Chronicle said last week that Britain has made a thermonuclear discovery that "is greater news than the launching of the sputniks." But it said the United States had refused to allow Britain to make an announcement.

Two days ago the London Daily Express said Britain has made brilliant advances in the field but agreed not to claim full credit at the request of Strauss. The newspaper said Strauss apparently feared trouble from congress if it became known that Britain had made greater progress than the United States in H-power research.

As if to emphasize his denial of gagging the British, Strauss said the two countries have "arranged for substantially simultaneous publication of reports from some of the British and U. S. laboratories" which have been working on fusion projects.

Patrons Sought in TV Study Project

CHICAGO (UP) — The recruiting of patrons for educational TV programs will be conducted by a new organization, it was announced here.

Edward L. Ryerson, former board chairman of Inland Steel company will head the new group called ONSET — Organization for National Support of Educational Television.

Ryerson said ONSET was formed "in recognition of the fact that there should be an organization devoted to developing educational programs and to matching such programs with appropriate patrons."

The patrons, unlike commercial sponsors, will be accepted only by invitation, Ryerson said.

Scout Council Picks Officers At Area Meets

SHOSHONE, Dec. 19—At the annual election dinner for the Wood River Boy Scout council Monday night at the Richfield school, Clifford Ward, Richfield, was named chairman for the coming year.

Bud Purdy, Picabo, was named vice chairman and William Horting, Richfield, was elected district commissioner.

Lloyd Smith, Shoshone, officiated at the election ceremony.

During the dinner meeting, Smith received his 25-year Scouting award, presented by Myron Dossett, Twin Falls.

Russell Kelley, Shoshone, and Lester Stubbs, Richfield, were introduced as members of the nominating committee.

Main speaker was the Rev. Ralph A. Lawrence, Shoshone. He pointed out the minister's point of view on Scout work, stating that Scout leaders are responsible for the next generation of boys and that the future requires people better prepared, confident and able.

Bud Purdy officiated at the meeting. Ralph Hale, Jerome, gave the activity report for the district the past year, stating that 10 per cent of the troops in the district are first class.

Vern R. Thomas, Richfield, was in charge of program numbers presented during the banquet.

Hale announced the next training session for Jan. 6, noting 62 men in the district have thus far participated in the five training courses held.

The next district meeting will be held Jan. 13.

Harold Gribble, Twin Falls, was concluding speaker. He stressed the need to talk less about delinquency in youth and to do something to prevent it. "Know Scouting," he urged the leaders. "Anyone can dream but that isn't worth anything unless the dream is put into motivation," he added.

The prayer was by Clifford Ward. Members of the LDS Relief society served the dinner. Wives of Scouters were guests.

Only Sparring Shown so Far Among Union

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP) — When the AFL-CIO threw out the Teamsters, Laundry and Bakery unions on corruption charges, all sides said pious words—no war on one another. There's been none yet. It's still early.

The triple expulsion cost the AFL-CIO about 1½ million members and around $900,000 a year in dues. It wasn't aimed at the unions themselves but at their leaders. If the leaders quit or are ousted all three unions can return.

Stay in Councils

So far Teamsters who are members of AFL-CIO labor councils around the country have stayed in the councils. There's no sign they intend to quit, nor any that they'll be thrown out.

This would indicate a wait-and-see attitude all around. It may be a wishful-thinking wait-and-see.

The three ousted unions could do the AFL-CIO some damage. At least the Teamsters, biggest AFL-CIO union until it was kicked out, could do so. AFL-CIO unions are supposed to refrain from raiding one another for members. The teamsters could try.

Raids Seen

The Teamsters could do other damage: through helping smash an AFL-CIO union by crossing its picket lines to deliver goods to a struck plant. It's possible the Teamsters may raid or try to take over the Bakery and Laundry unions.

There's been a tie-up anyway. The men who drive the bakery and laundry trucks and trucks bringing raw materials to the bakeries are and have been members of the Teamsters.

The Bakery union itself is already split. Led by a reform group—humorously called the "no-dough bakers" by outsiders—a rival union has been formed and given a charter by the AFL-CIO.

The original Bakery union had 132,000 members. The new one claims to have signed up 50,000 of them.

Suspend Officials

War between the two groups got under way in earnest Monday when the old, ousted union suspended four of its vice presidents who helped establish the new union.

Biggest stumbling block to return of the Teamsters—with its membership of 1,330,000—to the AFL-CIO is its newly elected president, James R. Hoffa. AFL-CIO President George Meany made it plain the Teamsters could return if Hoffa got out and they cleaned house.

Hoffa refuses to quit, saying: "Why should I?" Hoffa is on trial in New York on wire-tapping charges, and is involved in a federal suit—brought by some of his Teamsters—challenging his election this fall.

A federal district judge has enjoined Hoffa from taking office until his suit is decided. Meanwhile, former President Dave Beck, who didn't run again, is sitting in as Teamsters president until the case is settled.

Northwest Passage Plays Important Role for Canadian Mining Industries

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— The Northwest Passage promises to play an important part in Canada's mining industry.

The recently conquered trans-Arctic waterway is destined to become a profitable sea route for transporting rich mineral deposits from the northern reaches of Canadian territory.

Its new high potential as a valuable commercial asset is revealed by Commodore O. C. S. Robertson, Arctic expert and Canadian naval attache to Washington.

He explains that as present mineral payloads are exhausted, new mines must be opened up in far northern regions. The nearby passage would provide a convenient means for getting the deposits out.

This is only one of a series of future Arctic events which promise to focus interest on the Northwest Passage for some time to come.

Next year Canadian ships will replace the U. S. military sea transport service in the task of supplying a large part of the distant early warning radar stations. At the same time they will take over another job that could uncover further secrets of the famed polar waterway.

Vice Admiral John M. Will, MSTS commander, reports, "Canada will carry on the hydrographic survey work in the central Arctic which has been accomplished by MSTS during the last three years."

It was Admiral Will's painstaking probings of the frigid waters that uncovered a passage deep enough to provide DEW line cargo ships with an escape route to the East. Such a route was necessary in case ice should block their Western exit.

Robertson believes more surveys of the passage are needed to increase its safety. "We know where ships can go," he says, "but we don't know where they can't go."

Although the recent work to open the passage has been a man-sized job, Robertson credits a woman with making the project possible in the first place.

Several years ago Moira Dunbar, a geographer for the Canadian defense research board, was studying some aerial photographs of the Arctic waters. She noticed several ice islands floating in waters which make up part of the passage. Islands of this size could only enter areas where the water was deep.

Her findings were largely responsible for Admiral Will's decision to survey the area.

The joint U. S.-Canadian effort reached its climax in September when three coast guard ships and a Canadian icebreaker crossed Bellot strait, the key link in the passage.

Since 1850 at least five smaller boats had passed through the strait. But the success of the U. S. and Canadian vessels proved for the first time that Bellot was deep enough for large ships.

It also closed another chapter on the search for a Northwest Passage which has lured explorers into the Arctic for about 400 years. In that time two others have been found, it is reported. But both were too far north to be of any use to the DEW line supply operation.

The first was found by Roald Amundsen, a Norwegian explorer, in 1906. The second was discovered by Commodore Robertson in 1954.

"Incentive System" Paying Off For Libraries Through Nation

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—A simple gimmick aimed at increasing traffic to and from libraries has given those traditional devotees of silence, the librarians, something to shout about.

It's the old incentive system, applied to reading.

The non-profit Library Club of America, called a "literary Boy Scout movement," showers badges on children who read books.

In two years, the LCA has grown from three clubs with 500 members to 1,600 clubs with 500,000 members. The clubs are located in every state, plus Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico, as well as in Europe, Africa and Asia. Assisting in the spread of the LCA program are such organizations as PTA's, Girl Scouts, Boys' clubs, and the armed forces.

Directing this fast-growing organization is Frank Jennings, a reading specialist and educator, who notes with satisfaction that the LCA program also rubs off on adults.

"Parents are proud to see their kids win medals for reading," he said. "They get interested in the books and before you know it, they're going to the library, too," said Jennings, who still finds time to read about 200 books a year despite a busy schedule.

This by-product is important, he said, because a poll recently showed 83 per cent of our adult population never reads books.

The LCA, he added, supplies youngsters aged 8 through 14 with free blue and gold badges. To qualify for membership, a child must read at least four books. Reading six more books earns an honor pin. Then comes the life membership badge, a dime-size, gold-plated bauble that bears the motto: "Readers are leaders." A child earns this by reading at least eight more books and pledging to read at least two books a month for life.

The club, brainchild of Sidney Satenstein, president of American Book-Stratford Press, is bankrolled by the Book Manufacturer's Institute. The financing has become a problem, said Jennings, because of the great demand for badges. "On my desk right now there are 9,000 applications," he said. "If we maintain this rapid growth, we'll need the support of some philanthropic foundation to keep us going."

Soviet Okays English Peek At New Craft

LONDON, Dec. 19 —Soviet aviation chiefs have agreed to let Britain test their hush-hush TU-104 jet airliner to see if it meets western safety standards, British sources said today.

The sources said British technicians would be given "full access" to the plane to check its safety and engine noise as part of an agreement under which Russia's Aeroflot airline hopes to open direct service between Moscow and London.

It was reported the agreement would be reached today subject to any "bugs" the British find in the TU-104.

Aeroflot officials have been in London for two weeks discussing the agreement with British government experts and spokesmen for the state-owned British European airways.

United States, British and other western airliners are not permitted to operate commercially until they pass rigid safety rules laid down by the international civil aviation organization. ICAO is a United Nations specialized agency with headquarters in Montreal, Canada.

Russia is a member of ICAO, but seldom sends delegates to its meetings which are held in various parts of the world.

Aviation sources said the TU-104 likely would meet international airworthiness requirements, but might fail noise tests.

The plane is as noisy, or more so, as the British Comet jetliner. The Comet has been banned from New York's International airport because it makes too much noise.

Final Rites Held For G. Firebaugh

SHOSHONE, Dec. 19 — Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday at the McGoldrick funeral home for George E. Firebaugh. The Rev. Ralph A. Lawrence officiated.

Pallbearers were Ray Whitt, Earl J. Hansen, Daniel Sullivan, Eugene Fischer, Boyd Miller and Harold Bybee, all Glenns Ferry. Honorary pallbearers were Sigel Hall, Rupert Manning and Bill Mealer, Shoshone.

In charge of flowers were Mrs. Leonard Daugherty and Mrs. George Young.

Concluding graveside rites were held by the "Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers" with Bybee in charge.

Budget Holds No Funds for Rockets' Help

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Officials said today no money for arming West Europe with intermediate range rockets is budgeted in the $3,940,000,000 foreign aid bill being readied for congress.

They said several hundred million dollars may have to be added to the request to pay for the 1,500-mile-range Jupiter and Thor missiles—if the European nations decide they want them.

The 15-nation North Atlantic alliance summit conference at Paris yesterday accepted unanimously the principle that NATO as a whole should have the weapons. Britain and Turkey agreed to accept them. Only The Netherlands among the continental European allies said yes immediately. However, the United States is not expected to have intermediate range missiles ready to deliver overseas until late next year.

Express Confusion

Meanwhile, diplomats dealing with the foreign aid program expressed some confusion over President Eisenhower's reference to the export-import bank in his opening speech at the NATO meeting Monday.

Eisenhower, saying the United States was stepping up its economic aid, listed some proposals in the works. Among other things, he said: "We will ask the congress to increase the lending authority of the export-import bank by an additional two billion dollars."

The diplomats here said the puzzling thing about this Eisenhower reference was its inclusion with some foreign aid proposals, such as a request for a 625-million-dollar development loan fund.

Outside Aid Program

They said the export-import bank generally is considered outside the foreign aid program. And they said the two billion dollars being sought is a routine recapitalization which just happens to fall due at this time.

The bank, established 24 years ago, provides long-term loans to foreign buyers so they can purchase American goods.

Eisenhower's new foreign aid program, as developed so far, seeks more funds for economic and technical aid than for military aid to friendly nations. This marked the first time since 1950 that less money was contemplated for military assistance than for economic-technical aid.

BOISE, Dec. 19 (AP)—Idaho's production of hops this year gained nearly one-half million pounds over that of last year, the department of agriculture said today, but the increase was the result entirely of expanded acreage.

"Kids" Christmas Dance Slated by Area Riding Club

HAILEY, Dec. 19—The Sawtooth Rangers Riding club will sponsor an event this year which is almost as old as Hailey, the "kids'" Christmas dance.

For some years this project had been done by the Hailey Miners union.

The dance will be held from 1 until 3 p.m. Dec. 24 at the Hailey high school gymnasium, with Julius Kauffman's orchestra donating the music. A Santa Claus will distribute gifts to all children present and all are welcome. Mrs. Leonard Knight and Mrs. Grant Hawkes are in charge of arrangements.

The Christmas dance for adults, also sponsored by the Riding club, will be held Dec. 25, starting at 9 p.m., at the high school gymnasium. Thorne's Ambassadors, Shoshone, will play. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allred, Gannett, are in charge of arrangements.

Shoshone C. of C. Changes Vote Day

SHOSHONE, Dec. 19—The annual election dinner for the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce will be held at 7:30 p. m. on Jan. 7 at the Manhattan cafe, instead of on Jan. 9 as previously announced.

Senior football coaches will be special guests. Frank Carothers, president for the past year, will be master of ceremonies.

Ralph Smith, E. I. Shaw and Douglas Hansen are serving on the nominating committee and Ray Oyer, Burton Thorne and Lloyd Smith are in charge of the dinner arrangements.

THE TITO CASE

From the outset in the late 1940's, our economic and military aid to Yugoslavia has been a cold business proposition. Thus there will be no tears shed in America as the military part of the deal is terminated.

The probable character of a future war has been so dramatically altered in the past half dozen years that there is not much point, anyway, in shipping additional arms to Marshal Tito. The types we would be willing to send would be of diminishing value. The day of conventional weapons is passing.

No indication has been given that we intend also to stop economic assistance to the Yugoslavs. Viewed in the hard business light, there is still some advantage for us in such an arrangement if it helps Tito to cling to some shred of independence from Moscow.

We are not as hopeful of that continued independence as we once were. That is perhaps another reason we have now decided against putting any more of our military substance at Yugoslavia's disposal.

Increasingly in recent times Tito has seemed to move closer to the Kremlin he once defied. Naturally this has caused us to look with mounting suspicion upon the whole aid deal.

Ironically, at this juncture Tito announces he wants no more military aid because our periodic congressional reappraisals of the program are humiliating to his country.

Presumably he may have his domestic reasons for taking this stand, but to use it can only be laughable. In the best of circumstances we had to be skeptical of this deal all the way. As things have worked out, he has given us ample justification for repeatedly re-examining the program.

We have tried to fortify Tito as an independent bulwark against Russia. To the extent that goal can still be served, we will go on pursuing it.

But we have no illusions about Tito or his Communist state. He is not our friend and we are not trying to make him one. We find him useful as he finds us useful. When there is no more value in this convenient association, the last penny of our assistance will be cut off.

IKE'S POPULARITY

President Eisenhower's most vigorous critics among the nation's politicians dwell often on what they regard as his grave inexperience in government and politics.

They like to think of him as the "old soldier" who somehow was persuaded against his will to run for high office, when he might better have rested on his remarkable military laurels and welcomed the secure niche in history they gave him.

They suggest that it was a mistake for people to allow themselves to be captivated by a military hero and thus to vote him into the presidency twice by overwhelming margins.

Undoubtedly Mr. Eisenhower came to the White House green in the way of politics. And very likely some of those who helped to put him there were swayed largely by hero worship.

Yet there is a curious irony in this line of criticism. For the opposite face of President Eisenhower's tremendous popularity has been the unpopularity of standard-type politicians.

Possibly, instead of complaining at the fact that more than 30 million voters swarmed to Mr. Eisenhower's banner, some of these politicians should turn their searching glances back upon themselves. The testimony of opinion samplers before his two elections indicated not simply hero worship but great trust—offset by deep mistrust and weariness with respect to politicians in the usual mold.

If politicians don't want to see popular generals elected to high office, then they ought to arrange to earn higher popularity ratings themselves.

LET'S USE OUR HEADS!

We hear a lot these days about this country needing more brain-power. Unquestionably we do, but very possibly there are some valuable sources of that power which we could tap right now, without waiting for an expanded educational program.

For a long time psychiatrists and psychologists have been saying that very few of us use our brains to the fullest measure. Some portions we hardly ever employ. The parts we do use we tend to rely upon haphazardly most of the time.

Obviously we could not sustain a high mental pitch continuously in our waking hours. But there's no doubt that a great many of us could put out a good deal more effort than we do. What counts is the power of concentration upon the tasks at hand.

Listen to the testimony of the eminent in any field from writing to baseball. The driving concentration they apply runs like a thread through all their efforts.

An actor develops a role to the hilt by never flagging for an instant in his characterization. Stan Musial, one of the great batters in baseball, says his concentration weakens only 20 times or so out of 400 to 500 times at bat in a year. So it goes through all fields.

We have plenty of trained but unused brains in this country. What we ought to do about it is obvious.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Army engineers' miscalculations on the cost of building the famous St. Lawrence waterway will subject the government to many million-dollar law suits, increase tolls for ships traversing the ocean-inland route and help to destroy its economic value to the Middle West.

Ray Tucker

It is an extremely hush-hush story at Washington, but it is well known to the construction companies involved. Indeed, it is no exaggeration to associate this blunder with the Pentagon's failure to build an intercontinental bomb or a satellite in the heavenly orbit before the Russians. In matters outside the strictly military field, they are incompetent.

INCORRECT ANALYSES — Private industry can do these massive and monumental jobs more efficiently and economically than any government agency. Bureaucracy and interservice jealousy are death to development and to progress. Here is the sad story:

When the army engineers made preliminary soundings of the St. Lawrence river to determine the excavations necessary to deepen the channel for ocean-going vessels, which would carry cargoes from many lake ports to overseas countries, and vice versa, they figured that it would require an expenditure of about 30 cents a square yard for the excavations.

Upon this and similar estimates, the total cost of transforming the St. Lawrence into a seaway was based. And, of course, the time for pay-out of the principal, the rates of interest, the toll charges and many other financial costs were based on these analyses.

For economic and political reasons, and this observation applies to almost every federal project in all fields of competition with private business and industry, the final bill to the taxpayers was placed at a basic minimum. It is easier to get such bills as the St. Lawrence construction act through congress, if they are so soft-soaped as to ultimate costs.

MILITARY EXPERTS' COSTLY ERROR — Now, however, with work on the St. Lawrence waterway actually under way, the five construction companies find the army engineers' soil samplings and deepening costs were totally erroneous.

In fact, one firm which bid on the basis of the military experts' report has gone bankrupt, and the other four will lose millions unless they recoup through suits against Uncle Sam.

They have, it appears, a legitimate complaint, although nobody can predict what the supreme court will decide. Its decisions puzzle the nation's finest judges and lawyers.

The army engineers, in preliminary exploration of the bed of the St. Lawrence river, found it to be composed of a sand formation. They estimated that the river bottom could be dug and deepened at a cost of about 30 cents a square yard. Naturally, this estimate influenced the five corporations on their construction bids.

RIVER BOTTOM HARD AS CONCRETE—However, when actual construction began, the excavating and construction companies found that the river bed was not composed of simple sand, but of material as hard as concrete. As a result, they had to bring in new and different drilling machinery, employ concrete rather than sand drilling experts, and incur many other unexpected expenditures. As against the army estimates of 30 cents a square yard, it will be 80 cents.

This episode is symptomatic of many federal projects, especially with respect to the army engineers' and the interior department's preliminary estimates of costs on improvement of rivers, harbors and the construction of federal power dams. They always estimate the cost at about half of final construction expenditures so that they can persuade a hard-boiled congress to approve their projects.

Once they have been started, as is true of the St. Lawrence waterway construction, congress feels obligated to okay the new and extravagant costs to the taxpayers and to the shipping interests.

In view of these unknown facts, the St. Lawrence waterway may become the nation's greatest white elephant.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

IDAHO'S POTATO CHALLENGE

"Idaho's potato family should quit kicking each other in the shins and start battling the new problems mous industry.

An out of state potato leader made this observation privately while attending the recent Idaho Grower Shippers association convention in Idaho Falls. The statement carries significant import for Idaho's fa- in the market together."

In the past few years, Idaho has seen its Russet potato monopoly fade. Once Idaho produced 95 per cent of the Russet-type potatoes in the national market. Now that percentages has shrunk to less than 50 per cent! Colorado, California, Washington, and Minnesota, for example, have moved quietly but emphatically into King Russet's court.

This relatively new and serious challenge to Idaho's renowned trademark is compounded of several disguised and complicated factors. It is not just outside production alone. Freight rates, for example, have increased 14 times since 1946—from 75 cents per hundred pounds to Chicago, for example, to $1.48. Colorado can ship into the big Texas markets decidedly under the $1.40 it costs an Idaho shipper.

Towering suspicions separate grower, shipper, processor, and packer at times. They operate to debilitate Idaho's aggressiveness in keeping abreast of a complex and rapidly changing marketing situation.

And it is the terminal market where Idaho is losing out. This does not mean that Idaho has lost any of its quality that down through the years has made the name Idaho synonomous with the premium potato. But it does mean that Idaho has not been as sensitive to consumer needs—and has not controlled packaging to assure itself meeting these consumer needs.

Idaho ships most of its crop in 100 pound burlap bags. We have never seen a housewife toting a 100 pound burlap bag out of the market to her home. Which means that in between Idaho and the housewife the repacker has stepped in to put the potatoes in a small, attractive, invitingly labeled package on the market shelves. And the repacker is more conscious of the package and it consequently is often labeled merely "potatoes." Idaho's famed Russet has often lost its identity in the repacking shuffle.

What astute observers of the Idaho potato industry feel is needed is a change in marketing agreement—which would better standardize—and assure—Idaho's quality in any pack that goes out of Idaho. The marketing allowable now can result in too many lesser grade potatoes getting in the pack. And because of its grade and size percentages per bag, it does not encourage easy repacking into smaller bags—a necessity for the modern market. They also feel that Idaho should develop a patented label to go with this new grade and size uniformity that would everywhere identify Idaho potatoes as Idaho potatoes. Repackers aren't inclined to tinker with a federal patent by reshuffling Idaho potatoes with lesser grades. This attractive and patented label could also go on the growing parade of processed potato items going out of the state. Edd Moore, secretary-manager of the Idaho Grower Shippers association, has done considerable work on the project. As it is now, a maze of labels mark the crop—but not one, attractive, distinguishing one. Commissioner of Agriculture Robert Reichert will shortly call another meeting of all segments of the state's potato industry to address themselves to the new merchandising subtities that threaten to undermine Idaho's potato prestige.

We hope the meeting will crystallize into the industry-wide cooperation which is needed to keep the Russet on the potato throne. The distrusts and suspicions must melt and the industry take a hard look together at the "new look" in the market place. With Idaho's established prestige still a fact in the market, the problem invites solution. But let's not have Mrs. America wait too long. She might begin thinking potatoes are just potatoes no matter where they're from—Idaho Falls Post-Register.

According to an etiquette book some things just aren't done in a restaurant. And sometimes they're burned.

This business of wrong numbers apparently has some possibilities that could stand a little further investigation. The situation isn't as deplorable as some readers would have us believe.

"The only thing I can see bad about these people who get wrong numbers is that they hang up without telling who they are," says one guy. "Take that little number who phoned the other night. The only thing I regretted was that I wasn't the 'Jim' she was calling!"

It seems there should be some sort of ruling that folks start out by giving their names and phone numbers before they find out they've got a wrong number.

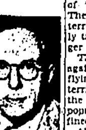
GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

WASHINGTON

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Eisenhower's new proposals to exchange atomic and hydrogen bomb information with North Atlantic treaty allies and other friendly countries is the result of a gradual shift in policy that's been on since 1945.



Peter Edson

At that time the U. S. had a monopoly on how to make atomic bombs. The aim was to keep this a tight secret.

The original 1946 McMahon Atomic Energy act put a flat ban against exchange of this information with other countries. The penalty for violation was $20,000 fine and 20 years in prison.

But in 1949 Russia exploded its first A-bomb. And in August, 1953—only 10 months behind the U. S.—Russia exploded its first hydrogen bomb. Since that showed the Russians already knew as much as American scientists, and more than its allies, it changed the security requirements.

Consequently, when the McMahon act was revised in 1954, the control-of-information section was considerably amended.

Giving out information on the design and composition of weapons was still broadly restricted. But provision was made to give allied countries information on the size, weight and shape of atomic weapons.

This was to permit them to build or to possess weapons using atomic warheads and to plan for their own national defense. The transfer of the actual weapons themselves and of fissionable materials going into weapons was still restricted.

For peaceful uses of atomic energy, however, the President and the atomic energy commission were authorized to exchange information with friendly countries on refining and production of nuclear materials, reactor development, research, health and safety and industrial development.

Following this authorization there was a great development in nuclear weapons. The first bombs were big and heavy. New bombs became lighter and smaller and easier to deliver.

Three years ago the development of "clean" atomic weapons began. They were designed for use over territory that American and friendly troops could occupy without danger of radiation.

They were also designed for use against enemy planes and missiles flying over American or friendly territory. The clean weapons reduce the radiation hazard for civilian population. Fallout is locally confined and not broadcast world-wide.

All of these developments have made it desirable to give more atomic weapons information to friendly countries for their own protection and for America's first line of defense.

Recent Russian development of guided missiles has made greater exchange of information almost essential.

What is proposed is not a sweeping giveaway of all of America's know-how in atomic weapons, nor of the weapons themselves. The United States proposes to keep control over all nuclear materials, whether used in bombs or power reactors.

The atomic energy act amendment which it is now understood President Eisenhower will present to the new congress will be a fairly simple thing, not a detailed spell-out.

It will first require that the President make a finding that it is in the interests of the United States and the defense of its allies that certain information on atomic weapons be given to one or more specified countries.

The requirement would still stand that the President satisfy himself this information will be given full security by the receiving country and will not be leaked to an enemy country.

What is envisaged is merely an increase in the degree of cooperation between the U. S. and its principal allies in nuclear warfare. For instance:

Britain now makes and tests its own nuclear weapons. But the United States is restricted from giving the British information on clean bombs. This is considered information the British should have for their own defenses.

The United States cannot give France and Germany information on how to make even the now-obsolete Hiroshima-type of heavy atomic bombs.

In other words, the United States cannot give its allies atomic weapons information the Russians already know about.

What the administration wants is to ease these severe restrictions.

Reclassify Tracts

BOISE, Dec. 19 (UP)—J. R. Penny, bureau of land management supervisor for Idaho, today announced the reclassification of "small tract" areas near Irwin and Swan Valley.

He said the tracts have been classified as suitable for lease and sale under the small tract act.

A portion of the area near Swan Valley has been designated for sale for community park purposes and is no longer subject to small tract application, Penny said. The area near Irwin has been declassified and is no longer considered as valuable for small tracts.

Italian Areas Hit By Snow, Floods

ROME, Dec. 19 (UP) — Torrential rains were washing away two widely-separated Italian villages today and snowdrifts seven feet high isolated eight other communities.

Rains which have pounded the southern coast of Sicily since Sunday was undermining the village of San Paolo, causing it to start slipping into the Mediterranean.

In northern Italy, rain-provoked landslides were sweeping the village of Musio into the lake of Garda, near Verona.

In the Piedmont region of northern Italy, snow cut off eight communities in the Sesia river valley but reports here said the villagers had plenty of food and medical equipment stored.

Career in Dramatics Is Goal Of Entry in Miss T. F. Event

* * * *

JUDIE HOLMAN

A career in radio and television or any field of dramatics" is the ambition of Judie Holman, a contestant in the Lions club-sponsored Miss Twin Falls County Pageant at 8 p.m. Dec. 28 in the Twin Falls junior high school auditorium.

Miss Holman, 17, a senior at Twin Falls high school, hopes to attend Idaho State college. Her hobbies are acting, dancing, music and dramatics. Recently she was in the cast of the high school production, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

Her measurements are 34-inch bust, 34-inch hips and 22-inch waist. She weighs an even 100 pounds, is five feet tall, has brown eyes and hair and a fair complexion.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Holman, 183 Polk street, Twin Falls.

Girard Opens Blasts at U. S. On Trial OK

OTTAWA, Ill., Dec. 19 (UP)—William S. Girard, discharged from the army and home for Christmas, broke a discreet silence of more than 10 months' duration yesterday and contended the United States, forfeiter him stand trial in Japan.

"I'm an American citizen and I should have been tried by my own country," was the young ex-soldier's first comment on separation from the service at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., yesterday.

Girard, 22, who touched off an international controversy last January when he killed a Japanese scrap picker on a military rifle range on what a three-man Japanese court called a "childish whim," was returned to civilian life in short order.

Military authorities rushed him through separation procedures within a few hours of his arrival in Chicago yesterday with his doll-faced Japanese bride, the former Haru (Candy) Sueyama, 20.

Girard's resentment of his treatment was obvious despite a statement, "I ain't got no bitterness against anybody."

Perhaps the first real welcome given Girard was from his sister-in-law, Shirley Girard, who boarded the trans-continental train at Joliet, Ill., embraced him and his bride, and said "we're glad to have you home, Bill."

Resentment at his suspended sentence was still prevalent in Japan when he boarded a transport early this month and began the long voyage home. Upon arrival at San Francisco, Girard was booed by fellow GIs lining the railing of the ship and onlookers at the pier.

He told newsmen in Chicago, however, the booing was because I was the first one off the ship and the others had to wait."

As the train passed through his boyhood home, Streator, Ill., Girard fondified childhood scenes to a fellow passenger—here he used to hunt pigeons, there he had once fallen off a bridge.

His brother, Louis, was on hand to greet Girard as his train pulled into Chicago. Then he hurried to Ft. Sheridan, near Chicago, where authorities lost no time in handing him his separation papers.

Girard said he thought his trial was a "fair one," but he considered the idea of being tried in a foreign court as unjust. The Japanese court suspended a three-year sentence for manslaughter. Earlier, the case became an international incident and went as high as the U. S. supreme court which decided Japan had jurisdiction over Girard.

Now, all Girard wants is to "be anonymous. I just hope people will forget about me."

Following his discharge, the young ex-GI traveled with his relatives and his bride for a reunion with his ailing mother at Ottawa.

Neither the army nor Girard would disclose what sort of discharge he was given.

Fred C. Sievers Paid Last Honor

HAILEY, Dec. 19—Funeral services for Fred Carson Sievers, who died at his home north of Hailey Sunday morning, were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the McGoldrick chapel. The Rev. Charles Shirk, pastor of the Presbyterian community church, Bellevue, officiated.

Mrs. Shirk was soloist and Mrs. Willis McKercher, accompanist.

Pallbearers were Halbert Haich, William Myers, Jack Heinsch, Ray Rogers, Gayle Worthington and Irvin Braswell. Honorary pallbearers were Fred Peek, Wilbur Peek, Fred Platts and Dewayne Lee, Jr. Robert Sievers and Jack Sievers, all grandsons of the deceased.

Concluding rites were held in the Hailey cemetery.

Jerome Dog Law Passed for Dark

JEROME, Dec. 19—The Jerome city council passed a dog control ordinance at its meeting Tuesday evening.

The new regulation requires that all dogs must be leashed or otherwise confined within the owner's premises between the hours of 9 p.m. and 6 a.m. after Feb. 1.

The ordinance also deals with the control, detection and treatment of rabies and with the various licensing regulations.

Wins Pool

BARCELONA, Spain, Dec. 19 (UP)—A five-man group which calls itself "Los Cinco" today celebrated its second big football pool win within a year.

The group won this week's lottery for $661,000. A year ago the same group hauled in $36,000. The system in picking the winners?—"Give the underdog in any given game the benefit of the doubt."

Deflated

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (UP)—A native Texan had his traditional Texas ego deflated yesterday while Christmas shopping in crowded Macy's Department store. He asked the saleslady to ship a gift package to Dallas.

"What's that near?" she asked.

Sum Is Denied By Jury Trial

JEROME, Dec. 19—In a civil suit heard before a jury in probate court Tuesday brought by Heard Roofing and Insulation company, Twin Falls, against L. W. Harding, Jerome, the jury returned a verdict unanimously in favor of the defendant.

The firm was attempting to recover damages to the extent of $220 allegedly caused by the defendant in running over a metal-reinforced hose while picking up a load of roofing material on Dec. 18, 1956.

Heard Roofing was represented by William H. Bakes, and Harding by Dean Mosher.

Witnesses for the plaintiff were H. H. Heard, Mrs. H. H. Heard, Victor Scott, and Lloyd Reilly, all Twin Falls, and Gene T. Hamilton, Pocatello.

Harding appeared in his own defense and was his only witness.

Members of the jury were Cleo Ambrose, foreman, Clair Ricketts, Mrs. H. L. Ellis, Pearl D. Johnson, Mrs. Ray Duncan and Lyle Howells.

The case was heard before Probate Judge Theron Ward.

Bureau Holds Holiday Meet

SHOSHONE, Dec. 19—A Christmas program was presented at the Monday night meeting of the Farm Bureau at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Mills.

Sandra Mills recited, and children from the Ervin Baun, Lewis Holley, Earl Vinsant and Ward Mills families sang several Christmas songs. Mrs. Braun and Sharon Holley were accompanists.

M. E. McKendrick, president, conducted the business meeting during which a discussion was held regarding helping Jerome county open an insurance office, and a project to obtain fertilizer for farmers use next spring.

Lewis Holley gave the prayer. McKendrick reported on a state convention held at Pocatello recently.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 27 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Boyd.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Vinsant.

County Delegates Appoint Officers

SHOSHONE, Dec. 19—Members of the 1958 ASC county committee were appointed this week by community delegates from Richfield, Dietrich and Shoshone. The community delegates are Everett Ward, Ralph Towne and W. W. Whitehead.

Named to the county committee are Eugene Alexander, chairman; Preston Page, vice chairman; Clifford Stutzman, regular member; Earl Voss, first alternate, and Floyd Clapp, second alternate.

The county ASC committee has the responsibility of establishing the policies under which the various programs such as the agricultural conservation program, soil bank, wheat allotment and marketing quotas, price support, sugar beet and others are operated.

Caroling Enjoyed

SHOSHONE, Dec. 19—Students of the high school went on a caroling party Monday evening.

The FFA provided the hayracks, pulled behind tractors, for the tour, and the PTA were hostesses to a chili supper held following the tour.

The group met at the high school home economics building for the supper. Teacher advisers are Sheldon Callister and Mrs. Lola Bond.

CASE DISMISSED

JEROME, Dec. 19—The case against Leon Allen on a complaint of battery filed Dec. 4 was dismissed in probate court Tuesday at the request of the prosecuting witness with the prosecuting attorney concurring.

T. F. Law on Gas Stations Is Overruled planned any further action he again refused to comment and when asked if he were aware of the judge's decision he replied, "I have no comment on anything."

Thursday, Balleisen said an appeal to the state supreme court or any further action regarding the cases is "at the pleasure and decision of the city commissioners."

At the trial in April Balleisen contended that if the stations stayed open longer than 9 p.m. the noise and lights would interfere with the tranquility of the neighborhoods involved.

In his decision Judge Baker stated the city had failed to prove that there had been a traffic increase on the streets because of the stations and there was no proof that traffic would be reduced by closing the stations between 9 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Judge Baker pointed out that no evidence had been presented to show that lights and noises from the stations were objectionable to the neighbors. In fact, he stated, the defense attorneys had showed the lights were beneficial and cut down on traffic accidents at Five Points north.

He said testimony of witnesses stated noises were from the traffic on the streets and not from vehicles pulling in and out of service stations.

The judge did say that if "the businesses from the manner of their operation become, in fact, detrimental to morals, health, safety and general welfare, no reason is now apparent why the city may not then correct by reasonable regulatory ordinances under its general police power.

"In my opinion," he continued, "that prospect is now too remote to permit regulation of the character attempted."

He said "not one witness" called by Balleisen "testified the facts even remotely tending to show the limitation of operating hours would promote general welfare of the neighborhood."

The judge did not rule on other portions of the zoning ordinance. He did not decide if the zoning map had been filed according to statute. The stations had contended the map had not been properly filed.

He pointed out that only "the reasonableness of the provision is involved and is before us for decision.

"No one questions the good faith or honesty of purpose of the commissioners in adopting the limitation provisions. Undoubtedly, they acted in the utmost good faith," the judge stated.

Dutch Plants Are Grabbed By Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Dec. 19 (AP) Premier Djuanda told newsmen yesterday the government has officially taken over major Dutch industries in Indonesia and if the Dutch want compensation they must turn over Dutch West New Guinea.

But, he said, whether West New Guinea is yielded to Indonesia or not, the Dutch never will regain the powerful economic position they had held here.

If the Netherlands refuses to give up the New Guinea territory, he said, "we will continue our present courts and eliminate Dutch economic interests in Indonesia."

Shortly after he spoke, 700 Dutch citizens sailed on the Dutch ship Waterman for Singapore in the biggest evacuation since the campaign against Hollanders opened three weeks ago. There were indications that most of the 46,000 Dutch nationals will leave within the next two weeks.

In its campaign for possession of West New Guinea, Indonesia has ordered all nonworking Dutch to get out of the country. Indonesian workers — without official government approval — have seized Dutch firms.

Djuanda's statement was the first official admission that such Dutch interests as shipping, port facilities, electricity and gas had been nationalized. Previously, officials had said that only Dutch port facilities had been permanently taken over by the government.

The premier said the takeover of Dutch enterprises was carried out under state and war and siege regulations.

Djuanda said all Dutch enterprises were now under government supervision and denied reports that unions had gotten out of hand in seizing Dutch firms.

Probers Told Of Teamsters $1,000 Bribe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Two Tennesseans swore yesterday that $1,000 was paid to fix a criminal case before a Chattanooga court. A third witness insisted the money was a "campaign contribution" to the judge, Raulston Schoolfield.

Harold E. Brown told the senate rackets investigating committee he accepted the $1,000 for Schoolfield. But he said the money was to help Schoolfield's unsuccessful attempt in 1954 to win the Democratic nomination for governor.

Committee members scorned this explanation but Brown said that if a payoff was involved, "it was unbeknownst to me." Brown is assistant district attorney general in Tennessee.

The committee took testimony Tuesday that $18,500 was passed in 1951 to quash an indictment against 13 Tennessee Teamsters accused of violence in labor disputes. Schoolfield killed the indictment and two witnesses said there was a lot of talk he got the money.

Schoolfield was invited to attend the two-day hearing, which wound up late Wednesday afternoon. He did not appear and Chairman McClellan, D., Ark., told reporters the committee had no plans to subpoena the jurist. McClellan added there was a chance a summons might be issued later.

The judge has made no comment on testimony taken by the committee, saying he would have to first make a study of the hearing record.

Schoolfield's activities were but one phase of a broader series of committee hearings that dealt with labor violence, and the prosecution of offenders, in Tennessee.

This inquiry was also wound up Wednesday, with McClellan saying it revealed "a pattern of wanton disregard for the law."

Blaze Brought to T. F. Fire Station

When the Twin Falls city fire department could not go to a fire early Wednesday morning because the fire was outside the city limits the fire was brought to the Twin Falls fire station.

State Patrolman R. E. Young said Chester Partin, 438 Martin street, was driving north on highway 93 north of Berger when he noticed his car was afire. Partin stopped the car and called the Twin Falls fire department. He was informed that the city's firemen could not leave the city limits.

Filer firemen were called to the scene but were too late to prevent total destruction of the fast burning vehicle.

Young said when the car was being towed to Twin Falls by wrecker a spare tire started to burn again. He said the fire was then taken to the Twin Falls fire department where it was extinguished.

Rich Oil Discovery Made on Land Owned by Slave's Heirs

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 19 (AP)—Descendants of Ino Hudgins, an African slave who arrived in America in chains, are sitting atop the hottest oil boom Texas has seen in years.

Ino was brought to Texas when this state was a republic and sold to a plantation owner in Matagorda county.

As his heirs tell the story Wednesday, Ino was a good worker, but no master could break his pride.

"My father is a great man in my country," Ino is quoted as telling his master. "He is richer than you."

The Civil war freed Ino. Later he purchased a part of the land he had worked as a slave, and kept adding to his holdings. He is estimated to have owned 300 acres.

He left it to his children and they passed it on to theirs, the tracts being cut into many pieces. Ino's descendants live in a collection of small homes scattered across an area known as "Hudgins' settlement."

The Houston Chronicle reported Wednesday that several weeks ago an oil company put down core test drillings that showed hundreds of feet of oil sands.

Oilmen are still tight-lipped about the prospects. No actual well has been drilled.

But the descendants of Ino who still own the land are being offered $35 an acre for mineral leases. A great deal of land in Texas is leased to oil companies for $1 an acre.

The Chronicle termed the activity "the hottest oil lease play on the Texas Gulf Coast in the past 25 years."

Weather or Not

Twin Falls weather wasn't much to brag about Wednesday, but you can say it was unusual without stretching things too far.

Take the temperature, for instance. Just about any day of the year the mercury will hit its low points of the day sometime in the dark, early morning hours and then rise until it hits a peak during the afternoon. But not Wednesday.

The low mark during the dark hours Wednesday morning was 41, and by 8 a.m. it had inched up to 42 degrees. Then about 10 or 10:30 a.m. a snow storm blew in and with it came a mass of cold air that dropped the temperature down to the day's low of 31. Later it warmed up to 44 but as darkness neared at 5 p.m. it had dropped rapidly back down and the thermometer read 34.

The snow brought .11 of an inch of precipitation to the city area.

Inventory Lists Theft of Liquor

KIMBERLY, Dec. 19—An inventory of the state liquor store here Wednesday disclosed almost 26 cases of liquor were taken when the store was burglarized recently.

Sheriff James H. Benham said the inventory shows 25 cases and 11 bottles taken by the burglars. She said the cases contained 12 bottles of fifths. Most of the liquor was Old Crow and Seagram's V. O. and three cases of vodka.

The sheriff said the burglary evidently took place Sunday night. It was reported to his office Monday.

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK

BOISE, Dec. 19 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie was announced yesterday as principal speaker at the annual winter convention Jan. 24-25 of the Idaho Press association.

Safety Speaker Cancels Talk After Mishap With Cigarette

BOSTON, Dec. 19 (AP) — A Des Moines, Ia., man canceled a farm safety lecture after he landed in the hospital. It seems he cleaned his tractor with gasoline and then lit a cigarette.

This is just one of the annual batch of fire oddities compiled from records of the National Fire Protection association, a non-profit fire safety group with headquarters here.

In other 1957 fire quirks:

Hunters getting rid of pesky jackrabbits near Gorham, Kans., put out a brush fire by beating the flames with dead rabbits . . . John Cannon's $25,000 home was destroyed at Cedar Beach, Ont., when he found he didn't have a nickel to call the fire department from a public booth.

A man telephoned firemen at Columbus, O., from Plattsburgh, N. Y., to report a fire in Columbus. He explained he was talking long-distance to Columbus when his party shouted "fire!" and hung up . . . two Cornwall, Vt., Cub Scouts were so successful in starting a fire by rubbing two rocks together they touched off a 15-acre brush fire.

A bra with built-in "falsies" started a blaze at a Berkeley, Calif., launderette, causing $100 damage after the foam rubber ignited in a gas drier . . . a myopic sparrow picked up a still-burning cigarette butt at Brooklyn, N. Y., and set the awning of a branch library aflame while trying to feather her nest . . . when the rear car of a 10-car Pennsylvania railroad train caught fire, passengers were moved forward and the engineer highballed 10 miles to waiting firemen at Portgage, Pa.

Magician Harry Albacker, Lorain, O., had to beg off a playing date . . . fire had destroyed all of his 150 white rabbits . . . it took farmer Vic Evans of Weston-on-Trent, England, six months to discover his house was on fire. A beam had been smouldering and Evans admitted wondering why the house was so warm every morning when he woke up . . . two Garden Grove, La., boys, aged 7 and 8, decided to test their new water pistols—by squirting them at a vacant house they had set afire . . . a monkey suffering from insomnia caused a serious fire (and his own death) at Eugene, Ore., by playing with matches after being put to bed by his owners . . .

An errant marksman practicing archery in the cellar of Edward Loll's Bay City, Mich., home touched off a blaze when the arrow hit an electric wire and sparks fell on bales of hay . . . a man in Australia jumped out of his car when it caught fire . . . his pants caught fire and he ripped them off and tossed them away, causing a 50-acre blaze in a pasture.

When fire broke out under a lawn tent at a Bradford, England, wedding reception, the guests emptied bottles of champagne on it . . . and at Lyons, Mich., George McQuillan admitted somewhat disgruntedly that he burned down two barns because he was mad at not being allowed to join the town volunteer fire department.

2 Divorce Cases Started in Court

Two divorce actions were filed Wednesday in Twin Falls district court.

Delia Josephine Welker charges cruelty in her suit against Ellis Dean Welker. They were married Jan. 15, 1955, in Twin Falls and have one child.

Mrs. Welker, represented by Lloyd Webb of the firm of Rayborn and Rayborn, asks custody of the child, $77 per month toward its support and $10 per month for herself. She also asks the court to award her the kitchen and household furnishings and a 1949 Plymouth.

Barbara J. George charges cruelty in her divorce action against Vernon L. George. They were married Oct. 20, 1951, in Springdale, Ark. They have no children. May and May represent Mrs. George.

EXECUTIVE NAMED

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—Mark W. Cresap, jr., the son of a Chicago suit manufacturer, yesterday was named president of Westinghouse Electric corporation, the nation's oldest and second largest maker of electrical goods.

Wisconsin is an Indian name meaning "the meeting of the waters."

"Spring"

LEWISTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Mild weather in Lewiston? Mrs. Franz Riendeau would say so.

Just outside her window, a white hyacinth has four blossoms.

The hyacinth is normally associated with spring. But then the temperature only once has dropped below freezing this month and has climbed into the 50's on several occasions.

Former Agent Of FBI Given Prison Terms

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Former FBI Agent John Joseph Frank was sentenced to eight months to two years in prison today for failing to register with the government as an agent of the Dominican Republic.

Federal District Judge James R. Kirkland allowed him to remain free on $10,000 bond while he appeals his conviction.

Frank, 42, now a Washington lawyer, is the only person indicted so far by a special grand jury investigating the 1956 disappearance of Columbia university Prof. Jesus De Galindez and pilot Gerald Murphy, Eugene, Ore.

The government charged that Frank acted as a "security adviser" to Dominican Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo on trips to Spain and Kansas City, Mo., that he investigated De Galindez for Trujillo before the professor vanished, and that he was at a New Jersey airport under an assumed name March 6, 1956, when Murphy allegedly rented a light plane.

Frank was sentenced to eight months to two years on each of four counts for which he was indicted. The sentences were made to run concurrently.

The maximum sentence he could have received was $10,000 and 20 years.

Kirkland said Frank has never been in trouble before and had an excellent record during eight years with the FBI, two with the central intelligence agency and as an investigator for the office of price stabilization in Detroit.

Demo Senator Terms NATO Result Feeble

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (UP)—Assistant senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., said today the results of the NATO conference were feeble and demanded a complete reappraisal of U.S. foreign policy.

He was backed up in his criticism by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D., Minn., a member of the key senate foreign relations committee, who said the Paris conference was "living testimony to what some of us call the failure of cooperation, negotiation and leadership with our allies."

People Not Disappointed

Mansfield, also a member of the foreign relations committee, said the American people did not expect much out of the NATO conference, and, to date, they have not been disappointed."

A Republican member of the committee, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Ia., said he was "confident that substantial progress" was made at the gathering of North Atlantic treaty nations.

'Kindness' by Allies

Humphrey said the NATO agreement to make U. S. missiles available to member nations "represents a kind of pre-Christmas kindness on the part of our allies who did not want to repudiate the one American position at this conference."

"This is at best a polite face saving and regretfully some of the more important things such as political and economic improvements in NATO were not pressed," he told a reporter.

Conference Said Important

Sen. Frederick G. Payne, R., Me., said the conference was important "because it will attempt to strengthen NATO by finding methods for greater cooperation among the member nations."

But he added in a weekly newsletter that "the Kremlin's policy of economic and political encroachment in the Middle East and elsewhere also calls for a new approach in matters of foreign policy."

Sailor Undergoes Operation at Sea

HONOLULU, Dec. 19 (UP) — The coast guard reported today that a navy sailor stricken with appendicitis while on the high seas was transferred to another ship and underwent immediate surgery.

The coast guard identified the sailor as Alvall G. Inman, Port Townsend, Wash.

Inman was transferred yesterday afternoon from the USS Shelton to the escort destroyer USS Epperson, which had left Honolulu carrying a surgeon in answer to an urgent radio message.

The scene of the transfer was 283 miles south of Honolulu.

Initations were the surgeon began operating almost as soon as Inman was brought aboard the Epperson.

Use of Pocatello Facilities Sought

BOISE, Dec. 19 (UP)—Sen. Frank Church, D., Ida., has asked Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy to consider the use of facilities at the Pocatello naval ordnance plant in the accelerated missile program.

Church said it was his understanding that special projects had been undertaken at the plant, and he was under the impression that some of the work had been in the missile field.

He wrote McElroy that "it occurs to me that with the greatly accelerated missile program, it would be well to have facilities reviewed again with the thought of using them to greater capacity at this time."

Japan Air Force Gets U. S. Arms

TOKYO, Dec. 19 (UP)—The United States is going to equip Japan's fledgling postwar air force with the "Sidewinder" missile, an air-to-air rocket which homes itself on an enemy plane.

The decision to send the Sidewinder to equip Japanese planes was announced today by the U. S.-Japan security committee, after its fourth session, lasting five hours.

The Sidewinder will be the first missile delivered to the Japanese, although more than a year ago it was reported unofficially they had asked for nine different types.

Idaho Publishers Will Hear Smylie

BOISE, Dec. 19 (UP)—Idaho newspaper publishers will hear Gov. Robert E. Smylie as the principal speaker for their annual winter convention here Jan. 24-25.

They also will hear a talk from Louise Shadduck, assistant secretary of the department of commerce and development, who will discuss tourism in Idaho.

New officers of the Idaho Newspaper Advertising service, Inc., will be chosen at the Jan. 24 session. Officers of the Idaho Press association are to be elected Jan. 25.

Solid Fuels With Rubber Base Offer Major Break in U. S. Missiles Work

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Gilbert Swart stared moodily at a thick, dark liquid being poured from a hot vat into a long cylindrical mold.

"You know, I bet if you start using a rubber instead of asphalt process you'll solve your stability problems," Swart said to Dan Kimball, the man standing next to him.

"We want it to burn, not bounce," Kimball replied, "but we'll try anything."

It led to the first major breakthrough in developing a satisfactory solid fuel for rockets.

Subsequent improvements make the navy's intermediate range ballistic missile, Polaris, one of the country's most promising new weapons.

And most important for the future, solid rocket fuels appear to be most adaptable to storing on space platforms or the moon, for the refueling of space machines.

Swart is head of research for the General Tire and Rubber company, of which Aerojet-General is a subsidiary. Dan Kimball, who served as secretary of the navy, is now back as president of Aerojet.

Spurring World War II

Aerojet made rocket takeoff boosters for aircraft. But because they were essentially an asphalt product the boosters were unstable and deteriorated in extremes of weather. It wasn't until Swart suggested binding the explosive elements with a rubber base that these fundamental problems were licked.

Since then research has built tremendously increased thrust into solid fuels to the point that they are within about five per cent of having the thrust of liquid propellants. Plastic binders are also now used.

A dozen firms, including Hercules Powder company, Olin Mathieson, Standard Oil and Thiakol Chemical corporation, are now in this field. This relatively new industry promises to be worth a quarter of a billion dollars in the next few years.

The liquid chemical fuels used in the Jupiter, Thor and Atlas missiles are extremely difficult to handle. And the valves and pumps which mix them in the rocket motors are complex, precision pieces of machinery which have given the missile testers most trouble.

The solid propellants are merely big blocks of black plastic, easy to handle and easy to store. It is estimated that they could be stored in space, for example, for five years, without deteriorating. Once they are fired there is practically no possibility of burn-out or failure in flight.

When research began to move the solid propellants within the thrust range of the liquids more than a year ago, the navy jumped on them as the solution to arming ships with long-range missiles. The navy had been well aware that the danger and difficulty of using liquid fuels aboard a fighting ship practically precluded their use on the sea.

Today, Adm. W. F. Raborn says of the Polaris IRBM:

"Thanks in great part to the solid fuel developments the Polaris project in all stages is going extremely well."

The Polaris is expected to be developed into a usable, practical weapon not much later than the Thor and Jupiter, Admiral Raborn says.

Aerojet alone has 15 different types of solid rocket propellants in production and 15 more in various stages of research and development, Dan Kimball reveals. Other firms in the field report about the same broad range of solid fuels in production and being developed.

The basic materials used in the solid fuels include ammonium nitrate, ammonium perchlorate, lithium nitrate, lithium perchlorate, nitrocellulose, nitroglycerin and potassium perchlorate. All of these, and the others being developed, are found in ample supply in the U. S.

The solid propellant is ignited by an electrical impulse of varying strength depending upon the character of the fuel. Some could not be ignited by the heat of a blow torch. Others require only a minor jolt, or impulse from a small battery.

Once ignited, the solid fuel engine cannot be turned off until it is completely burned out. For this reason propellants are good only for missiles and not usable for conventional jet aircraft.

Research expert Gilbert Swart explains operation of synthetic rubber as base for solid fuel for rockets to William O'Neil, president of the General Tire and Rubber company.

Shutdown Set

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 19 (UP) — Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical corporation plans to close down one of eight potlines at its Mead, Wash., reduction plant Friday because of "the uncertainty of obtaining hydroelectric power from Bonneville power administration."

Vice President S. B. White said the one-line shutdown would cause the layoff of about 125 employes.

Atlas Test Said Delayed for U.S.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 19 (UP) — The firing of another Atlas intercontinental missile has been delayed until next year because of the success of Tuesday's test, the San Diego Union said today.

In a copyrighted story, the Union reported that the firing of another Atlas, scheduled for 9 a. m. (PST) today at Cape Canaveral, Fla., had been postponed.

The silver-colored Atlas was launched successfully for the first time Tuesday. Two other flights on June 11 and Sept. 25 ended in ground detonation of the missiles when they wobbled off course.

Enough data was collected from Tuesday's successful Atlas flight over the south Atlantic testing range to make another immediate test unnecessary, the Union said.

Attends Meet

KELLOGG, Dec. 19 (UP)—Insurance executive John Mattmiller handed the gavel at the Kiwanis club meeting here today. It was his first meeting since the crash of his light plane Oct. 31.

Mattmiller received the "man of the week" badge from the group for not letting two casts and a wheel chair keep him away from the meeting.

Railway Fixed

TOKYO, Dec. 19 (UP)—The railway connecting red China with communist-North Viet Nam has been repaired and is expected to open for traffic soon after being out of commission for 15 years, the communist New China News agency said today.

The railway links Kunming in Yunnan province and Haiphong in Viet Nam. The Viet Nam section has been in operation since July, 1956, but repairs of Japanese-inflicted war damage on the Chinese stretch were not completed until yesterday. The news agency said the entire 513-mile line is now ready for traffic.

Strong Demo Solon Passes From Attack

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (UP)—Rep. Jere Cooper, one of the shyest and also one of the most powerful men in congress, died last night of a heart attack. He was 64.

Death of the Tennessee Democrat, pal Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D., Ark., an outspoken foe of tax cuts, in Cooper's post as chairman of the house ways and means committee which initiates all tax legislation.

Cooper, sometimes referred to as "the loneliest man in Washington," died as he had lived for years—alone. His death at the Bethesda, Md., naval hospital came so swiftly that he was unattended by friends or relatives at the time.

Cooper entered the hospital Dec. 5 following a mild heart attack. He was reported only yesterday afternoon by his secretary as recovering "beautifully."

But he experienced a "severe attack" yesterday evening and died almost immediately, the hospital reported. He was a veteran of almost 29 years in congress.

Cooper's position as top Democrat on ways and means made him chairman also of the Democratic committee on committees which exercises great power in apportioning house committee assignments.

Cooper was little known outside Washington and his native Tennessee because of his shy and unassuming manner. The death of his wife in 1935, five years after their marriage, and the sudden death of his only son at the age of 16 affected him deeply and caused him to shun the spotlight.

CLOSED CHRISTMAS DAY

Russian Fleet Strong Avers 'Jane's Ships'

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Russia is designing "underwater satellites," atomic-powered submarines capable of carrying 50-ton ballistic missiles with a range of 1,500 miles, the authoritative "Jane's Fighting Ships" said today.

The 1957-58 edition of the publication issued today said the missiles are fitted with thermonuclear warheads.

It said the missiles were about 70 feet long. It described them as "the length and weight of a motor torpedo boat."

The authoritative index of world naval power described the "rapid ascendancy" of the Soviet Union as a major naval power second only to the United States as "the most significant development in Soviet grand strategy" since World war II.

"Russia is building up a powerful force of modern cruisers and destroyers and the largest submarine fleet the world has ever seen," Jane's said.

It noted the Soviets are "pressing" the development of the atomic-powered submarine. It said the Russians now have 474 submarines compared to 204 for the United States, and added that a "large percentage" are of "long range" and "new construction."

"It is not impossible that nuclear-powered submarines equipped with guided missiles could replace aircraft carriers as the spearhead of naval warfare within a few years," the review said.

"The importance of underwater aircraft in sea warfare has increased considerably in recent times . . . advances in nuclear propulsion enable submarines to submerge indefinitely and to launch guided missiles with far greater chance of survival than surface ships," it said.

Jane's noted that nuclear-powered submarines require "only a fraction of the maintenance and none of the support of the aircraft carriers."

The review said that Russia also has built more cruisers and destroyers than the rest of the world combined and that these surface craft "incorporate the latest technological equipment."

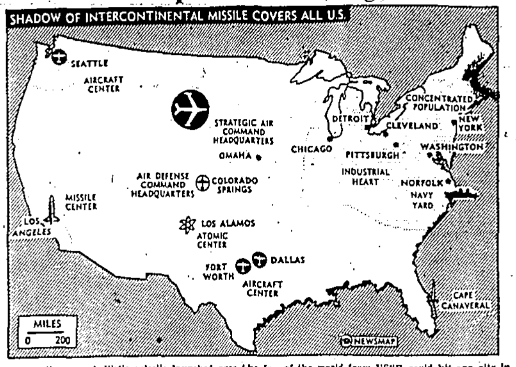
Jane's said the U. S. navy, headed by more than 100 aircraft carriers, is still the world's biggest. The "most outstanding feature" in the U. S. field of naval architecture "are the simultaneous adoption of nuclear propulsion and guided missiles on a general scale," it said.

It said the U. S. already had developed nuclear propulsion for an aircraft carrier, a cruiser and several submarines and that guided missiles had been introduced experimentally in aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines.

"In the future all the major warships of the U. S. navy will be atomic-powered," Jane's said.

The edition is the 60th to be published by Jane's.

Most Important U. S. Targets



A 5,000-mile-range ballistic missile launched over the top of the world from USSR could hit any city in the U. S. Newsmap spots the prime targets defense officials know would head any attack list. Dulles' Proposed Visit to Spain May Aid New Plans for Europe Defenses

By United Press

The visit of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to Spain may be a big development in the new plans for European defense.

Dulles is to fly to Madrid tomorrow, on his way home from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris, to talk to Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

It will be only a five-hour visit. But it could turn out to be secondary in importance only to the Paris meeting itself.

Spain is not a member of the NATO alliance. But it is closely, if indirectly, tied in with NATO. That is because of the seldom-mentioned fact that under an agreement with Franco, the United States is building a network of air, naval and supply bases over the country.

The official announcement of Dulles' visit, first issued in Madrid, said that the visit was being made at Franco's invitation.

Dulles will "consult" with Franco, Foreign Minister Fernando Maria Castiella and other officials, it was said.

Dulles naturally will give Franco a full report of the NATO meeting which ends today, including the agreement in principle of western European countries to the establishment of nuclear missile basis on their territory.

It is an agreement in principle, rather than of fact, because the question of equipping the bases with missiles is still to be negotiated between the United States and the individual countries concerned. As had been made plain in Paris, some of these countries do not want the missiles.

Dulles may sound out Franco on the possibility of setting up missile bases in Spain. If he does, it is not only possible but probably that Franco would agree to consider the suggestion favorably.

Spain never has been invited to join NATO because some European allies, still mindful of the Spanish civil war, object to Franco's regime as "totalitarian." That may be. But Franco also is a bitter enemy of communism. And his country, protected by the grim Pyrenees mountains, would be the last bulwark of defense if Russia's red army swept over western Europe.

Franco has intimated that he would join NATO if all of its present 15 members asked him to.

The fear of Russian communist aggression is pretty nearly as serious now as it was when NATO was formed in 1949.

Russia's successes with its sputnik earth satellite and its intercontinental ballistic missile have radically changed the European defense picture.

It seems quite possible that those allied countries which have objected to Franco's regime and have called him a dictator might have some second thoughts about him now.

That Spain would strengthen NATO is unquestionable. It would not be surprising if Dulles' visit to Madrid proved to be the first step toward bringing Spain into it.

Substitute

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 19 (AP)—A Tulsa motorist heard a siren last night and thought he should obey by pulling over to the side of the road.

Hurley Mitchell told the sheriff's office two men pulled up in a late model car after sounding the siren. One asked for his driver's license and when Mitchell handed it over along with his billfold containing $123, the man said: "Well, you're not the one, but I'll just keep this."

There wasn't much to do, said Mitchell, because the man pointed a pistol at him, then drove away in the car with his companion.

Blaze Hits Utah School Addition

BOUNTIFUL, Utah, Dec. 19 (AP)—The 740-pupil Bountiful elementary school was closed today, the result of a fire last night which roared through a 3-year-old addition.

Principal Matt Galt said classes will resume Jan. 2 and that all students will be taken care of in the building. It will be necessary to arrange double class schedules.

Galt said announcement of the schedule will be made prior to the reopening. The Christmas vacation originally had been scheduled to start Friday evening.

Ask Missile Ban

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 19 (AP)—Thirty-nine Heidelberg university professors today appealed to the West German government to prevent the stationing of atomic missiles on German soil.

The professors coupled their appeal with a call for controlled nuclear disarmament and reiterated their support for the declaration of 18 German atomic physicists who recently demanded the government denounce nuclear arms. The professors said that missiles in Germany would mean "a deepening of the division of Europe and a further postponement of German reunification."

Routes Open

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 19 (AP)—All major routes over the Sierras were open again today after a windy snowstorm had blocked U. S. highway 40 for more than 14 hours.

The Feather river route, U. S. 40A, also was opened after highway crews cleared debris from a landslide.

U.S. Reported Nearly Ready To OK Plane

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The air force may be nearing a decision on the award of a contract to develop a new bomber capable of flying three times the speed of sound, it was reported today.

The plane is the WS-110A or so-called "chemical" bomber — a manned aircraft which could span continents at 2,200 miles-an-hour at altitudes approaching 100,000 feet.

It is only in the design stage now. Eventually however it is tagged as the successor of the B-52 when that long-range bomber becomes obsolete.

Air force officials steer clear of everything but fleeting references to the WS-110A. It is known however that the multi-million-dollar contract to develop it probably will go either to Boeing Airplane company or North American Aviation, Inc.

An evaluation team from the Pentagon is reported to have visited the plants and inspected the preliminary designs of both firms. Top-level action on the recommendation of this board may be forthcoming shortly.

The chemical bomber gets its name from the fact that it is expected to be equipped with a new engine using so-called "exotic" chemicals as fuel—boron, for example.

The General Electric company is understood to have been conducting research on this engine.

There may be some opposition in congress to spending the large sums required to develop the WS110A.

Sen. Styles Bridges, R., N. H., a member of the senate preparedness subcommittee which heard a reference to the plane this week, expressed opposition to devoting money to such a project.

Bridges, who also is on the senate appropriations committee, called for an increase in B-52 production instead. By the time the chemical bomber is ready, he said, the United States should have long-range missiles in operation that would make the WS-110A unnecessary.

But the air force, which contends the need for manned aircraft will exist far in the future, believes a bomber like the WS-110A should be built despite missile developments.

Catholics Barred From Yule Jaunt

JERUSALEM, Israel, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Jordanian government today declared 63 Roman Catholics unwelcome, making it impossible for them to organize an annual Christmas pilgrimage to Christ's birthplace in Bethlehem.

There was no reason given for the action in the announcement forwarded to the Israeli government by Jordanian officials.

Some 1,000 Protestants and Catholics had requested permission to make the pilgrimage from Israel to Jordan-held Bethlehem.

Jurist Okays $187,000 for Plane Wreck

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19 (AP)—A compromise settlement of $187,000 damages has been approved for the family as a result of a jet fighter crash into dependents' quarters at Eielson air force base, Alaska, in November, 1955.

The settlement, one of the largest awards for personal injury on [illegible] record, was approved by Federal Judge George B. Harris.

The suit, which originally asked damages totaling $650,000 from the government, was brought by T Sgt. William J. Fimple, 29, and his wife, Ethel, 22.

The Fimples' 11-month-old triplet sons were among the 14 persons killed in the crash and fire which followed it. Mr. and Mrs. Fimple and their two surviving sons were among the 36 persons seriously injured.

The agreement provided $94,000 for Mrs. Fimple, who incurred near total loss to both hands; $25,000 for William, Jr., 6, and $10,000 for Timothy, 5; $7,000 each for the estates of the deceased triplets; and $37,000 for attorney fees.

Harris expressly provided that no award would be made to Fimple on grounds his injuries were incident to his military duty. He is now assigned as a meteorological observer at McClellan air force base, Calif.

Power Meet Set

IDAHO FALLS, Dec. 19 (AP)—A meeting is scheduled here Dec. 21 to discuss power allocations from the proposed Burns creek regulating dam on the Snake river below Palisades.

NATO Pact Not Exactly What Secretary Dulles Had Favored

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—No matter how much of a success it is called now, the agreement reached in Paris between this country and its NATO allies yesterday was the very kind Secretary of State Dulles previously said he didn't favor.

Just eight days before the agreement, he said he didn't favor it because it was the kind which he had felt long ago would never get anywhere.

The main purpose of President Eisenhower and Dulles in going to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Paris—when western Europe and even this country face the threat of Russian missiles—was this:

To get the allies to accept American nuclear weapons and missiles which would be set up within their borders.

When Eisenhower and Dulles arrived they found some of the allies wanted no part of the missiles because of their fear of Russian reprisal if war started.

The Paris meeting was split for two days. Then Wednesday the 15 allies agreed—but only in principle—that the NATO nations should accept the new American weapons.

That "principle" doesn't mean anything unless it's put into practice. And this is what must come first:

1. This country must have the missiles to deliver. It doesn't have them now. And it is not expected to have them before the end of 1958.

2. The allies must actually agree to accept the missiles in fact. Since now there's only agreement in "principle," any of the 15 can refuse to permit American missiles inside their territory when the rockets are ready.

Earlier this month, before Dulles went to Paris, it was clearly known some of the allies didn't want the weapons.

Because much of the negotiations were going to be handled by diplomats—who are experts at making the unpleasant sound nice—there was a chance they might reach an agreement that sounded bigger than it was.

At a Dulles' news conference here Dec. 10, the secretary was asked if he felt there "should be an agreement in principle on missile bases at the NATO meeting." This was just before he set out for Paris.

Dulles answered: "No, I would not think so. I don't favor a great deal these so-called agreements in principle."

He recalled that he had been at the 1919 Paris peace conference and that whenever he heard of some proposition being accepted in principle, he said, "I always felt discouraged because I knew it would probably never get anywhere."

Oops

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 19 (AP)—Joseph Laryaz thought a paper bag his wife left on the kitchen sink was full of garbage and pitched it into the garbage pail.

Then he learned the bag contained the Christmas cards he and his wife spent their evenings addressing last week and that his wife had left them out to mail.

Contracts Let

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 19 (AP)—Two New York firms have been awarded the joint $1,455,000 contract for construction of a missile tracking base on Antigua Island in the British West Indies.

Sixth naval district headquarters said the base is to be used in tracking missiles fired at the Cape Canaveral test center. It will be built by Tony Pazarini Construction company Inc., and D. L. Praeger company.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Down through the ages there has been mother and daughter trouble during the teen-age years of the daughters' lives. The girls, though children in experience, feel grown-up and want the freedom and privileges of adulthood. This difference of opinion often causes difficulties between mothers and their girls.

The trouble usually starts by the daughter wanting to wear lipstick. "All the girls do," she complains.

"All the girls do not," says mother firmly," and if they do, what of it? You are entirely too young. There will be time enough for you to wear lipstick and what nots. Time enough. Just now you're a child. Too young for lipstick."

That does not settle the matter. Daughter continues to feel grown-up and keeps asking, demanding she be given what she wants. These days the young girls wear lipstick. In that they are imitating their mothers as they can be expected to do. They feel like lipstick so what can one do? The evident unhappiness of the child wears on the mother so at long last she says, "So long as you must you can wear a very light one. Very light remember. I'll look at it and if it is light enough, all right. But no rouge. That's out so don't ask for it." In time that will come; too, for daughters will do what they see mothers do.

Lipstick, powder, rouge, the usual make-up are part and parcel of women's costume and there is no use fighting a losing battle. The girls must grow up. Wise mothers take a look ahead and gradually ease their authority over their daughters, losing their notion that they are still children and by degrees yield to the pressure of the daughter's growth and development. By the time the girls are ready for make-up they ought to be intimate friends of their mothers. On a friendly basis such arguments as that about lipstick, dates, late hours, can be amicably settled. Mothers have to bow to the daughters' maturity and accept the hope if not the fact of the children's personal responsibility.

Sometimes mothers and fathers go along for years with the idea that the children have stayed children while all the time they have been growing up and going away from parental care and home ties. As one mother remarked, "All out of a blue sky she said, 'I'm going out tonight with Dale and I won't be home until quite late. We are going to a dance at The Brookway.' We were stunned. We didn't know what to say. Oh, yes, she went. Imagine. All of a sudden."

It is not suddenly. It is day by day. Keep ready for it just that way.

One way to help your child to meet people is to let him open the door for guests. Dr. Patri has written a book No. 304, "Your Child and Other People," to help children get along with other people. To obtain a copy send 25 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Jury Is Hearing Pipeline Actions

A 12-member Twin Falls county jury began hearing evidence in the suit of Peter Tesar against Pacific Northwest Pipeline corporation Thursday morning.

Attorneys began questioning jurors at 10 a.m. Wednesday. By afternoon Wednesday the attorneys had run through the panel without obtaining 12 jurors.

Judge Sherman Bellwood recessed court until more prospective jurors could be subpoenaed. Tesar seeks $2,-450 compensation for damages allegedly done to his land during pipeline operations.

Rites Set for Heart Victim

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the White Mortuary chapel for Robert B. Correll, Irwin, who died at the Sacred Heart hospital in Idaho Falls Tuesday evening following a heart attack in downtown Idaho Falls Saturday. Mr. Correll was 44.

He was born Aug. 11, 1913, in Little River, Kans. He married Patti M. Franklin Dec. 2, 1939, in Detroit. Mr. Correll was an employe of the Anderson-Burk corporation, Seattle, electrical contractors, who have been contracting for electrical work at the Palisades dam project near Idaho Falls.

Besides his widow, Mr. Correll is survived by six brothers, John Correll, Hutchinson, Kans.; Frank Correll, Waterford, Mich.; Roy Correll and George Correll, both Detroit; James Correll, Twin Falls, and Elmer Correll, Jerome, and five sisters, Mrs. Gale Orafmiller, Pontiac, Mich.; Mrs. LaVerne Myers, Waterford, Mich.; Mrs. F. M. Gookins, Hutchinson, Kans.; Mrs. Ross Loughridge, Canoga Park, Calif., and Mrs. Wesley Stapleton, Twin Falls.

Mr. Correll was a member of the Methodist church, the Hermiston, Ore., Elks lodge and the Masonic lodge at Umatilla, Ore.

Officiating at the funeral services will be the Rev. W. A. MacArthur. Graveside services will be held by Twin Falls lodge No. 45, AF and AM.

Howell Movement Played by Group

The Howell movement was played Wednesday by the Magic Valley Duplicate Bridge club at the YWCA here.

Winners were Mrs. Artell Kelly and Mrs. Jack Carson, first; Mrs. Robert Tucker and Mrs. August Averett, second; Dr. Herbert Burgess and Mrs. H. Miller Proctor, third, and Mrs. William I. Spaeth and Mrs. L. H. VanRiper, fourth.

Mrs. Tom Mackay, Spokane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elcock, was a guest.

The club will not meet for the next two weeks. A five-week series will start Jan. 8.

Grain

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (AP)—Grain futures prices turned mixed in late dealings on the board of trade today.

Nearby wheat deliveries moved upward following early declines. New crop July and September, 1958, contracts traded lower on the outlook for a bumper crop of the bread grain next year. Both the July and September deliveries established new lows for the season during the session.

New Plant Is Designed for Age of Space

DETROIT, Dec. 19 (AP)—Here in the world's automotive center a new kind of factory is developing to meet the challenge of the space age.

Currently it is the production home of the Redstone—the largest and most accurate of our new operational missiles.

The Redstone is being built by Chrysler corporation in a government-owned plant that covers an area about the size of 50 football fields. At present, only part of the huge plant is in use.

Unique Operation

But, as C. A. Brady, operating manager of Chrysler's missile operations says, "It is certainly unique—first, in the ratio of technical people employed, and then we are in unique territory. We don't have a reservoir of experience to call on."

Some valuable experience, of course, has been garnered by Chrysler in executing its multi-million-dollar contract to develop and build missiles for the army.

Mass Production

Chrysler is expected soon to go into mass production of the Jupiter, the army's intermediate range ballistic missile. One reason it will be in good position for the job is that many parts of the Redstone are interchangeable with Jupiter, sources in Washington said.

Chrysler is the biggest corporation engaged in ballistics missile production, though that business is a comparatively small part of its manufacturing.

The army isn't saying what the daily missiles output is at the plant here. A tour of the elaborate layout, however, gives the impression that the output is not large.

Not Yet Assembly Line Job

Making missiles at the present time is not an assembly line job, even at this huge installation 16 miles north of Detroit.

An engineer-scientist quipped: "The paper used in making preparations to build a missile outweighs the missile.

The giant robots emerging from this plant are made with the precision of fine watches. All parts are tested and re-tested.

A production supervisor said the goal is "reliability—something that never fails."

Power Off

Electricity in a limited area of Twin Falls will be turned off from 1 a. m. to about 2 a. m. Friday, it was reported Thursday afternoon by Idaho Power company officials.

The area will be from Jaycee park out Elizabeth boulevard to KLIX and some of the rural area to the east. Also affected will be Madrona street south from Elizabeth boulevard.

Power is being shut off to make changes necessary before the Eastgate substation on Highland avenue is activated Friday. Capacity of the new substation will be 10,000 kilowatts. It will "relieve part of the overload" at the Filer avenue substation.

Persons with electric clocks were advised to set them ahead one hour tonight.

Fruit handling and fishing are the major industries of Port Clinton, O.

Dramatization Is Seen as Aid To Cure Juvenile Delinquency

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—So the juvenile delinquent is caught, convicted and sent to a training school where he serves his time and is released.

What then?

There's a good chance—in some cases it runs as high as 50-50—that he will wind up in trouble again. All too often the pattern will be retraced until he is listed as a hardened criminal.

Dr. Michael M. Miller, a psychiatrist who spends a couple of days each week at a boys' training school in Cheltenham, Md., has worried about this. And he thinks he may have an answer to one of the nation's most serious problems.

When a youngster starts getting in trouble, why not let him act out the conflicts? Then all those involved—the parents, the teachers, the psychiatrists—can see where the stresses are and what is behind the trouble.

For the theory is that during the acting these problems become increasingly real, and the youngster is liable to blurt out exactly what ails him.

This acting for keeps—it's called psychodrama—long has been used in hospitals for the mentally ill. But Miller believes this is its first attempt for juvenile delinquents, both actual and potential.

Recently Miller thinks he made judicial history by having a 15-year-old act out his problems before Judge Alfred D. Noyes of the Montgomery county, Md., juvenile court.

Miller borrowed the Bethesda-Chevy Chase high school dramatic club, and the instructor, Pat Dalla Santa, played the role of the boy's father.

It must have been quite a performance.

During the drama the boy shouted: "Why do you move us all over the country? Every time I make a few friends, I've got to leave them. That's what happened in Chicago."

And a moment later, he said: "You're more interested in being made a sucker of by your neurotic friends than in your own son."

The real father, who was in the audience, said: "Why, I never thought the boy felt that way. Why didn't he tell me? Why didn't he talk things over."

The play acting father, Dalla Santa, said it became real for him, too. He told Miller: "A few minutes more of that, and I would have let him have it."

Gooding Chamber Names Directors

GOODING, Dec. 19 — New directors for the Gooding Chamber of Commerce were elected Tuesday.

They are Joe Roesbery, manager of Home Lumber company; Don Coburn, co-owner and manager of Nelson Drug store; Art Davis, manager of Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company; Ray Clements, Safeway manager; and Jim Mussley, co-owner of Schmitt and Mussley real estate. Holdover directors are R. L. Van Houten, Emmett Clemons, Harley V. Crippen, James Norfleet and Valdo Gray.

Charles Walls, president of the merchants bureau, also will serve on the board.

A resolution was drawn up asking the federal government not to extend the federal age and hour law to the main streets of America.

Hailey Bride, 18, Succumbs

HAILEY, Nov. 19—Mrs. Lila Lee Brown Wrytock, 18, a bride of one month, died early Thursday morning in Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Wrytock wakened her husband, screaming with a pain in her chest. He attempted artificial respiration and then took her to the hospital. She was dead on arrival. Her death was attributed to a heart condition.

She was married on Nov. 22, 1957, to Wayne Wrytock.

Mrs. Wrytock was born May 14, 1939, in Hailey and attended schools there until her junior year in high school. She was graduated from St. Paul's Episcopal Girls school in Walla Walla, Wash.

Mrs. Wrytock had gone to Salt Lake City last June and was attending a beauty school.

Funeral services are pending.

Early Plans for Pre-Season Ticket Campaign Outlined For Magic Valley Cowboys

Preliminary plans for a Magic Valley-wide advance ticket sale for the Magic Valley Baseball club were set up Tuesday night by the Cowboy board of directors. The campaign is expected to get under way immediately following a committee formulating meeting Jan. 14. The action was taken during the club's annual public meeting, which was attended by baseball fans from most of the surrounding communities. The situation of the Cowboys and the Pioneer league was the first topic of discussion but Cowboy president R. M. Serpa told the group no concrete arrangements could be made until the Pioneer league meeting set for sometime in January.

Serpa however told those attending the meeting that the directors have every intention of fielding a team this year and has never considered dropping out or suspending operations. He added the Pioneer loop may run with only seven teams unless another is picked up. If one team drops out, it won't be the Cowboys, he emphasized.

Schaack reported on the Pioneer league meeting and minor league convention in Colorado Springs. Only routine business was taken care of by the local league as the future was clouded.

In discussing the ticket drive, the group endorsed a plan that would include every community in the valley under direct chairmanship of that area's director-representative.

In view of the holiday season, they deferred action on the matter for three weeks.

Serpa reiterated it would require a highly successful drive to put the local franchise on a sound basis. A sale of between 20,000 and 30,000 tickets would carry the local club well into the season and gate receipts would supply the funds to continue operation in 1959.

Serpa also reminded that the club's annual stockholders meeting will be conducted Jan. 27.

Massachusetts Severs Relations With NBA

BOSTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Massachusetts state boxing commission was an "outlaw" among the sport's governing bodies Wednesday after resigning from the National Boxing association with sharp denunciation of NBA officers. Acting chairman Henry Lamar announced the resignation Tuesday after charging the national body's officers with acts detrimental to boxing.

In a letter to NBA president Gilbert H. Jackson, Lamar accused NBA officers of an "outright attempt to undermine and hinder boxing in the commonwealth."

The action followed by only a year and a half the Massachusetts commission's break with the New York state athletic commission. That resulted when Massachusetts granted Billy Daly, manager of Vince Martinez, a license despite the objection of New York chairman Julius Helfand.

The resignation from the NBA was the aftermath of a dispute which arose when the Massachusetts commission sanctioned a bout between Virgil Akins of St. Louis and Tony DeMarco of Boston for the welterweight title Oct. 29 at the Boston garden.

The NBA and the New York commission refused to go along, preferring instead to name several boxers for an elimination series to determine a champion to succeed Carmen Basilio, who won the middleweight title from Sugar Ray Robinson in September.

Akins knocked out DeMarco in the 14th round. With the loss, the NBA and New York commission dropped DeMarco from their elimination plans.

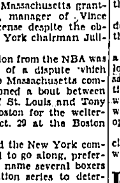
In its first action after resigning from the NBA, the Massachusetts commission granted title approval to a 15-round rematch between Akins and DeMarco Jan. 21 at the garden.

Matchmaker Johnny Buckley announced the date for the return bout after negotiations for television on Jan. 22 collapsed.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY

Weather holds the key for duck hunting in the final stages of this year's season and unless Magic Valley gets some typical duck hunting weather—miserable snow and cold—the situation is not going to improve.



Hovey

That is the opinion of most of the local duck hunters and Charles Blake, district bird biologist for the fish and game department.

Those hoping for a big migration in here to bolster shooting before Jan. 7 will wait in vain. Blake reports Idaho no longer is getting any migratory birds, and hunters will have to get along with what's here.

With hunting being as poor as it is, that statement makes it sound hopeless, but it isn't, Blake contends. The same number of ducks are here as have been in past years but the mild weather permits them to bunch up. More important, bluebird weather allows them to feed after dark, beginning just after the legal shooting hours close.

At present, Blake estimates there are 200,000 plus winter-population mallards on the Minidoka refuge, east of Rupert, and the Burley-Rupert area has the most birds. On a field trip last week, Blake estimated between 15,000 and 20,000 birds are resting on Snake river between Burley and Declo.

The middle area of the valley, Twin Falls and Jerome counties, has a good supply of birds but they are rafting on large open waters and at the Hagerman refuge. That fact, coupled with the night feeding schedule, has made hunting poor.

The duck population along Snake river from American Falls to the Boise river is distributed quite evenly. For local hunters to get good shooting a hard cold spell coupled with a good snowfall will be needed on the perimeters around the valley to force them into the valley.

This was emphasized Wednesday when the wind and snow brought hundreds of birds into the center of Magic Valley, the Wendell area being overrun that day. But as it cleared, so did the ducks to a large degree.

It all boils down to this: Snow and cold weather or winds are needed to knock the ducks off their night feeding and put them into the field throughout the day. Unless that happens, Blake says the season will continue the status quo.

A plague of injuries, all to key men, has struck the Filer Wildcats and will have its effect throughout the remainder of the season.

Sidelined heading into week-end play are Jay Davis, Norman Lancaster and Ron Pierce.

Davis, a first string 6-foot, 1-inch forward, broke his right hand in the first quarter of the Twin Falls game Tuesday night and probably will be lost for the year. Wildcat coach Paul Ostyn said Davis, who was the team's leading rebounder and whose last second shot gave Filer a win over Madison of Rexburg, was not sure when he injured his hand. However, it will be in a cast for two months. Ostyn said it may be possible for Davis to return in time for tournament play.

Lancaster, a junior counted on for heavy service, has been lost for six weeks because of a shoulder separation in the Meridian game last week-end.

The third injury occurred in practice Wednesday night when Ron Pierce sprained his ankle. Ostyn said the extent is not known but hopes to put Pierce back in the line-up by next week sometime.

Grant Hall, the Wildcat playmaker, also has been hampered somewhat by an eye cut which required seven stitches to close.

Kezar Stadium Sold Out for Playoff Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19 (AP)—Kezar stadium just isn't big enough. At least it's not big enough when the San Francisco 49ers are winning.

The 49ers clash with the Detroit Lions for the western division title playoff in the National Football league Sunday and all the reserve tickets were sold almost before the mud settled from the 49er's victory over Green Bay.

The line began forming outside the 49ers box office Sunday evening. In four hours Monday morning, some 30,000 reserved were gone—and there was still a restless line.

So 49er officials passed out certificates entitling the fans to buy the 4,800 general admission tickets that normally go on sale Saturday or Sunday.

The remainder of reserve tickets sold through 23 agencies in surrounding communities also were gobbled up.

It's the first title playoff for the 49ers in their 12 years of existence, and 60,000 seats just aren't enough.

Lewis-Clark Rally To Edge Alaska

LEWISTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Trailing by seven points with four and one-half minutes left, Lewis and Clark normal put on a closing spurt to beat Alaska 67-66 in a basketball game here Wednesday night.

Joe King put in the winning basket on a tipin with just 20 seconds left. The visiting Polar Bears had two shots at the basket before the final buzzer, but missed both.

The visitors from the north were hurt by injuries and lack of reserve strength. The five starters went almost all the way for Alaska, with only two substitutes seeing action.

Alaska took an early lead, built it up to 12-2 and were ahead 34-33 at the half. The Polar Bears spurted after intermission and were soon in front 41-33.

Lewis-Clark closed the gap, was ahead once 46-45 and then trailed until King's final basket.

Iowa Coach Eyes Texas A and M Job

DAVENPORT, Ia., Dec. 19 (AP)—Forest Evashevski, Iowa head football coach, said "Don't count it out" when asked if he might take a similar coaching job at Texas A and M.

Evy would neither confirm nor deny whether he had been contacted by officials of the Texas school. He made his remarks while in the Quad-Cities for a speaking engagement Tuesday night.

Texas A and M was left without a coach when Paul Bryant resigned.

Wallen Given Voit Memorial Trophy

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19 (AP)—Left end Dick Wallen of UCLA Wednesday was announced as winner of the W. J. Voit memorial trophy, awarded annually to the "most outstanding" player on the Pacific coast.

Wallen, already selected as an All-America player, will receive the trophy at the Southern California Football Writers association meeting next week.

The award was voted by sports writers in a poll conducted by the Helms athletic foundation.

Retiring PCC Commissioner Turns Back To Law Books as Conference Breaks up

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19 (UP)—Out of the wreckage of the Pacific Coast conference walks the loneliest figure ever associated with it, Victor O. Schmidt, who is resigning next June as commissioner.

The bookish, 53-year-old lawyer had the job of probing infractions of the house rules after the gridiron scandals of 1956 began to break. This led to rows between him and UCLA and Southern California, which were fined $15,000 and $10,000, respectively, by the conference for not letting him come on the campus to quiz athletes under suspicion.

And these fines, plus other stiff penalties against the two schools which joined California in bolting the conference last Friday, led to many attacks against him in the Los Angeles area. Such hostility may have been too much for the unobtrusive Schmidt.

Here's how one source close to the PCC squabble put it to the United Press:

"Vic would have stayed on the job if he had not been defamed so often by certain factions in Los Angeles."

But as matters stand, there may not be much of a job left anyway now that those three schools are leaving and Stanford has indicated it may follow suit.

Schmidt, who had announced his resignation on Dec. 5, termed Friday's secession "a great disappointment."

And this walkout came on the heels of an erratic fortnight which saw the PCC first beat down a move to curtail his power, then accept his resignation and finally get sandbagged by the Bear-Bruin-Trojan triumvirate.

Schmidt, willowy and shy, joined the conference in 1940. He became acting commissioner in 1944 upon the death of Edwin Atherton. The latter was a rugged FBI man. Schmidt is a student who reads history in his spare time rather than football features.

"He never was an athlete himself," another source told the United Press. "And this often has been thrown up into his face by the PCC athletic directors. They would prefer to have some ex-football star or coach holding the post.

In fact, the directors once voted to drop him after his present contract ran out. They were overruled by the faculty representatives who had hired him.

Last September the bombardment on Schmidt got a little hotter during an investigation of the staggering PCC by a committee of the legislature. Assemblyman Joseph Shell of Los Angeles charged that the Bruins and Trojans were fined an extra total of $25,000 because the commissioner had been "affronted" by their refusal to let him on campus.

His announcement that he was quitting just after getting what amounted to a vote of confidence by the PCC faculty representatives drew another reaction.

"There was much to indicate he didn't push but was shoved," wrote Art Rosenbaum of the San Francisco Chronicle.

One way or the other, he now can get out of the rat-race and into the quieter realm of writing contracts.

Good Try Wasted

Flipped Coin Brought Brown to Cleveland

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (ENA)—Whether at Massillon, O., or Ohio State, the Great Lakes naval training station or the Cleveland Browns, the best anybody ever did with Paul Brown was to hold him off a little, which is what the National Football league did last season when his team finished with a 5-7 record. Now, as the Browns move toward what should be their seventh appearance in the league's championship game in eight years, a look at them shows why Brown is almost impossible to beat. The records, in fact, show last year to be the only time in 12 years (four in the old All-American loop) that Brown didn't win a division title.

In sports, luck or circumstances always seems to run with the big winner and that's how it has been with Cleveland this year. Take Tommy O'Connell, the quarterback who might have been selling insurance this year. Or Jim Brown, the rookie fullback who came with the flip of a coin during the draft meetings.

Brown and O'Connell can be considered Paul Brown luck. But the Cleveland offensive unit also is a superb example of casting and recasting available talent.

The story of the Cleveland comeback starts last season when George Ratterman, quarterback, came off the field with a wrenched knee early in the fourth game, against the Washington Redskins.

Brown put Babe Parilli in, watched his club lose, then on the plane ride home told one of his assistants, "Call O'Connell and get him here as quickly as possible."

So on Tuesday morning, O'Connell, the smallish ex-Illinois star who had been dropped by the Chicago Bears and was working in a Chicago insurance office, walked in for his first practice as a Brown.

He was on the bench for two games and then Parilli hurt his shoulder against Baltimore and O'Connell took over. Cleveland won three of its last five with Tommy, should have won another. When this season started, Brown, who had tried nearly everybody during pre-season works at Hiram, O., finally decided to give O'Connell full attention.

O'Connell, to Brown's mind, had been too small. Just a thrower. But he was stuck with him and he went to work and now he has a star who completed 63 of his first 110 passes, eight for touchdowns, and figures to be in Cleveland for some time to come.

With Jim Brown, the Syracuse kid who leads the league in ground gaining, it started at a Philadelphia hotel during last year's draft meetings.

Cleveland, Baltimore and Pittsburgh had identical records. In the coin flipping to determine who would pick first, Paul Brown came out last.

So he sat down at the table with his assistants and went over the list of players he wanted. If Brown had won the toss, he would have gone for Len Dawson, Purdue quarterback. But now he had to wait it out. The picks started—Paul Hornung, bonus to Packers; Philadelphia took Clarence Peaks; Packers, Ron Kramer; Rams, Jon Arnett; the Colts, Jim Parker, and the Pittsburgh table called for Dawson.

Brown looked down, then called over to Bert Bell, the commissioner, that he would go for Brown of Syracuse.

The rest is in the records. They do not show, however, the canny bits of chess moves Brown made with his offensive club. Preston Carpenter was the big ground gainer as a halfback last year. Coach Brown made him into an end. He moved Herschel Forrester to left guard, a new spot for him; put Art Hunter, a tackle, at center, and inserted James Ray Smith and Fred Robinson as his right—or messenger—guards. Service returnee Chet Hanulak moved into the starting backfield with Brown, O'Connell and Ray Renfro.

This, printed on paper, seems merely a juggling of names. But it comes out as more than this. It is, when you know coaching, the secret to big success.

Camera-Shy Pro Golfers Find Money Quiets Nerves

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (UP)—The pro golfers have found a tournament which is tougher to win than the U. S. Open and, in the process, have proved that even the worst prima donnas of cow pasture pool can stand the grinding of cameras if the price is right.

Cameras have been the bane of the bunker brigade ever since golf became important enough to photograph. Many a photographer has barely escaped having a nine iron or a putter imbedded in his skull.

But television has changed all that by sound-proofing the whirr of the cameras with dollar bills.

The shooting effect of greenbacks on the camera-shy nerves of the nation's top pros is being proved every Saturday by a show called All-Star Golf. It is a series of 26 matches, each an 18-hole medal play affair, with the winner coming back the next week against a new opponent.

Six cameras record the action.

To make it even worse on the tender sensibilities of the pros, they have to wait between each shot while the cameras are moved into position. Thus one filmed round takes about six hours.

But the waiting, and the jumpy nerves, all become worthwhile with the winner receiving $2,000, the loser getting $1,000 and a $10,000 bonus for a hole-in-one and a $500 bonus for each eagle.

Ed (Porky) Oliver proved that the grinding of the picture machines can't be too bad. In the first match he shot a 62 in beating Julius Boros.

But others who competed in the matches, which are played under tournament regulations and edited down to an hour show, view the affair with rather mixed emotions.

"You might call this the ulcer open," says Bob Toski. "With the small gallery on hand, it's like the Yankees playing in Yankee stadium before 70,000 people with nobody uttering a word."

One other thing bothers Toski, that he might make a bad shot and millions of people might say "look at the bum swing that Toski has."

Jay Hebert analyzes the ability to withstand the assault of the cameras in this show presented on 163 stations by asserting:

"At least you aren't surprised. The major problem with being photographed while playing is when someone sneaks up on you, that is, when a camera starts grinding just as you reach the top of your backswing."

Billy Casper admits that the cameras bothered him more on the green than they did while he was driving or hitting his irons. And Cary Middlecoff figured that playing in this "tournament" is much "tougher on a golfer than regular tournament play" not only because of the cameras but also because of the waiting "which causes you to lose your pace."

Yet, Billy Maxwell summed it up by saying it was all worthwhile because it will help to educate the golfing masses.

Stengel Is Content to Use Same Pennant-Winning Yankee Lineup

By CASEY STENGEL

GLENDALE, Calif., Dec. 19 (UP)—For some strange reason, everybody keeps looking at the Yankees and asking, "Are you going to make any trades to strengthen the club?" And I keep answering that the 1957 New York team was a good club. It was good enough to win the American league pennant and it carried the world series to seven games before we lost.

I'm never against making a deal that will help the team. We've done it in the past and we might do it again. But until the other teams in the American league make trades that put them in a position of threatening the club we had at the close of last season, I'm taking my time making deals. They may come later. I've got all of spring training and until June to deal and trade.

And I'm not dealing away seasoned players unless I think I'm going to get something better. Take a look at our club.

Back of the plate Yogi Berra, Elston Howard and Darrell Johnson give us all the depth we need. Berra is still my kind of catcher.

Now look at the infield. Moose Skowron and Marv Throneberry and maybe Joe Collins fill the bill at first. Bob Richardson showed me plenty of stuff at second base and what's wrong with Gil McDougald at shortstop? All I know is that people like Frank Lane of Cleveland keep trying to get him.

And at third we got Andy Carey, Jerry Lumpe and I can use Tony Kubek in the infield if I need him there. Any way you look at it, I'm more protected in the infield than any club in the league.

Right now, if I had to field a club my outfield probably would have Mickey Mantle at center, Hank Bauer in right and Norm Siebern in left field. That still leaves me strong guys like Enos Slaughter and Harry Simpson even if I don't use Kubek as an outfielder. And I've got Bobby Del Greco for insurance and that guy Howard can fit in if he isn't catching or playing first.

Siebern was the player of the year in the American association and he could be another great Yankee outfielder, so that's why I put him down as a starter. We may not start him right off, but he's too good not to play a lot.

Our pitching must be good or the other clubs wouldn't be shooting out feelers for them. But if they're trying to get away guys like Johnny Kucks and some of the others then I start thinking what they can do for the Yankees.

Whitey Ford ended the season strong and there's no reason why he can't start off that way. Bob Turley has lots of stuff and Don Larsen can do it again if he gets off to a good start. I'm counting on Bob Grim and Al Cicotte and there's always Tom Sturdivant to take his turn. And there's still some good pitching left in Sal Maglie and Tommy Byrne.

Sure, the White Sox and Detroit were helped by some of their trades. Billy Martin should give the Tigers a big boost. And the Red Sox possibly will play better this coming year. But we had a lot of tough luck, too, and could have finished even stronger without it.

That's why right now I'm standing pat and looking, not dealing.

U. S. May Go With Two Men For Davis Cup

MELBOURNE, Dec. 19 (AP)—There were growing indications Wednesday that the United States would throw a two-man team of Vic Seixas and Barry Mackay against the Australians in the Davis Cup challenge round next week giving them the ironman role of both singles and doubles.

"I have made up my mind on the doubles team," Captain Bill Talbert said, "but I would prefer not to reveal my choice at the moment. I don't want the boys to relax their training efforts."

As far as the mysterious captain would go in disclosing his hand was to say that Mackay, the 6-4 Davis Cup freshman from Dayton, Ohio, continues to occupy a "key role" in his challenge round plans.

"It is quite obvious that Mackay is an imposing figure in our scheme of things," Talbert said.

"We have been playing him very hard in both singles and doubles. Both pro Dinny Pails and I are paying very close attention to his workouts."

Should young Mackay give an impressive performance in the singles on the opening day, Thursday, Dec. 26, he almost certainly would be thrown in as the partner of Seixas in the doubles against the formidable Australian team of Mervyn Rose and Mal Anderson.

It would take a collapse of form by the towering college champion or a show of jitters to put him on the bench on the second day.

Mulloy, 44, is co-holder of the Wimbledon doubles championship with Budge Patty, and is rated one of the leading doubles performers of the world. But in losing a match to the Belgians last week he showed his reflexes had lost some of their edge and his overhead was exceptionally weak.

Mackay, on the other hand, while lacking in international experience has a booming service which is very important in doubles and is able to return the ball with power. His main fault is that he has large legs and can not move as agilely as desired but he volleys and hits overheads with killing effectiveness.

There has been little news in the Australian camp owing to the fact the team lineup is virtually set for the challenge round.

Cougars Trip Gonzaga for 65-57 Victory

PULLMAN, Wash., Dec. 19 (AP)—Forgetting its usual two-platoon system, Washington State stuck with regulars most of the way Wednesday night in beating Gonzaga of Spokane 65-57 in a pre-conference basketball game.

The game was all tied up at 50-50 with about 5½ minutes left. Then the Cougars pumped in 11 straight points without allowing the visitors any and were safely ahead 61-50 with only a minute and a half left.

The Bulldogs started hitting again and cut into the margin several times, but free throws by Jim Ross kept WSC out of danger.

The Cougars swarmed all over the visitors after intermission and held Gonzaga to a woeful .157 shooting average in the second half. WSC hit at .375 in the second half and .348 for the game.

Jim Ross was high for the winners with 20 points. Bob Turner led Gonzaga with 16.

Jean Claude LeFebvre, Gonzaga's 7-foot, 3½-inch French import, scored seven points during the game. Six of these came in a five minute burst in the first half.

Coach Jack Friel of WSC, who recently recorded his 500th collegiate victory, was presented a gilt basketball.

His team was down five points at the intermission presentation, but got busy and presented him another win.

Sooners Are Ready

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 19 (AP)—Oklahoma's Sooners are in top-top shape for their Orange bowl game against Duke Jan. 1 at Miami.

The Sooners scrimmaged for one hour Tuesday, and afterward trainer Ken Rawlinson said they are "in their best physical condition of the year."

Coach Bud Wilkinson used all players on the squad in the scrimmage. He closed the drill with 30 minutes of wind sprints.

Oregon Coach Gives Ducks Good Chance to Beat Ohio State in Rose Bowl Clash

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 19 (UP)—Coach Len Casanova of the University of Oregon football team, who has never lost a bowl game, has said over and over this season: "Those kids continue to amaze me." But Casanova probably would be the least amazed should Oregon upset Ohio State in the Rose bowl on New Year's day. Although the coach knows he is up against the national champion he sounds almost optimistic. "If we show the spirit of some previous games in which we have been underdogs, there is more than a good chance of victory. I would even say there is a like*lihood of victory," he said.*

Despite the coaches' optimism, Oregon will go into the game at least a two-touchdown underdog in what some have called a mismatch. Even so, the Ducks hardly can fare worse than have other Pacific Coast conference opponents of Big Ten Rose bowl teams. The PCC has won only once since the series started after World war II—a 7-0 Southern California victory over Wisconsin in 1953.

Spirit has been a major factor at Oregon this year. The Ducks, picked to finish as low as seventh in the PCC, wound up as co-champions with Oregon State, despite losing two of their last three games.

Oregon's overall record was 7-3; its PCC mark 6-2. Its three losses were by scores of 12 to 7 decisions—6-3 to Pittsburgh, 13-6 to Washington and 10-7 to Oregon State.

The team's big assets are spirit, a stout defense and speed. It doesn't have sheer power and has been outweighed most of the time. The line averages 203 pounds and the backfield 178. Oregon led the PCC in total offense but didn't face any team with the running power of the Buckeyes.

The stars include Jim Shanley and Jack Morris, a pair of senior backs who take turns running and blocking for each other. Some call Shanley the most under-rated halfback in the nation. He is exceptionally hard to bring down, has speed and packs 170 solid pounds on a 5-foot, 8-inch frame.

Jim Brent, the stalwart of the line is Harry Mondale, a 5-foot, 6-inch guard who weighs 195 pounds and is called "Firepha" by his mates. Ken Jones, the only remaining four-year lettermen in college football, having played when freshmen were eligible and then going into service.

The surprise of the team has been Jack Crabtree, the senior quarterback in his first year as a regular. He completed 50 per cent of his passes and has developed into a fine signal caller.

Oregon also has a top-flight pass receiver in end Ron Stover. Other fast backs include Willie West, Le*Roy Phelps, Charley Titterville* and Chuck Osborne. Morris has been clocked in 9.5 in the 100-yard dash.

It will be Oregon's first Rose bowl appearance since 1920 when it lost to Harvard 7-6. The only other time Oregon played at Pasadena was in 1917 when the Ducks beat Pennsylvania 14-0. In 1949 Oregon went to the Cotton bowl when Norm Van Brocklin was its star and lost 21-13 to Southern Methodist.

ISC Ready for Games With San Jose State

IDAHO STATE COLLEGE, Pocatello, Dec. 19—Following a two-week lay-off, the Idaho State college Bengals resume cage action this week-end with a pair of home games with San Jose State. Coach John Grayson said Monday that he hoped to be able to field a strong team, despite the absence of Lloyd Harris, the Bengals' *leading scorer. Harris sprain*ed an ankle in practice last Thursday, and will be out of action for another week.

Another loss came when guard Conrad Wells was hospitalized last week with tonsilitis. Grayson had planned to start him in place of Harris this week.

San Jose State brings a tall, experienced squad to Pocatello. The Spartans hold wins over San Francisco State and Stanford, and have lost one game to California and two to Oregon.

Eddie Diaz, 5 feet, 10 inches and 6 foot, 7 inch Marv Branstrom will be the men the Bengals will have to stop, Grayson said. Diaz scored 392 points to lead San Jose State last season, while Branstrom totaled 308.

The Bengals have not seen action since Dec. 7 when they downed Denver 46-33. The previous night they lost to Washington State by a 68-55 score.

An added attraction this week-end, Pocatello high school will play Salt Lake City's South high in the preliminary games each night. The games both nights will start at 7:30 p. m. Both these high school teams won state championship last season.

Harmony Was Keynote When PCC Started

SEATTLE, Dec. 19 (UP)—A sports bowl appearance since 1920 when it writer who covered formation of the new skeife-torn Pacific coast conference says that all was harmony when the circuit was organized 43 years ago.

"Everything was smooth, unanimous, pleasant and without argument," said George M. Varnell, associate editor of the Seattle Times. Varnell made the comments in recalling that University of California, which has announced plans to pull out of the conference, was the leader in the formation at a meeting Dec. 2, 1915, in Portland.

"Rules as simple as premier reading was agreed upon—unanimously—and the conference came to life," Varnell wrote.

"There were no questions of how or when for scheduling football games, aid to athletes, scholastic standings, enforcement of penalties or the like, which have so upset the PCC that the end of the road appears to be in sight."

At the time, Varnell said, California had dropped rugby and returned to football and was looking for nearby competition. California's athletic director, John A. Stroud, attended a meeting of the Northwest conference, which was made up of Washington, *Oregon, Oregon agri*cultural college (now Oregon State), Washington State, Idaho and Whitman.

After Stroud outlined a plan for a coastwide conference, Oregon, Oregon State and Washington joined California to form *the new con*ference. Idaho and Washington State did not come in immediately.

Devine Hired As Grid Coach For Missouri

COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 19 (UP)—Daniel J. Devine, the 33-year-old coach who led his Arizona State Sun Devils to an undefeated season, was named head football coach at the University of Missouri Wednesday.

Selection of Devine came as no surprise. He was the only one of the field of candidates to be interviewed by Missouri officials.

Devine will succeed Frank Broyles, who resigned after a year's stint to become head coach at the University of Arkansas.

No salary figure was announced, but it was understood Devine would get $15,000-a year.

Devine's three-year agreement contains a renewal option of two years.

"We considered him the outstanding candidate," Athletic Director Don Faurot said in making the announcement.

The new coach will retain three members of the present grid staff at M. U. and plans to bring three assistants with him from Tempe.

The three being retained are Clay Cooper, freshman coach; Henry Smith, line coach, and John Kadlec, assistant coach. All were members of Faurot's staff of two years ago, and remained under Broyles.

The trio Devine plans to bring here include Frank Kush, line coach, Tom Fletcher, backfield coach and Al Onofrio, chief scout.

Devine is expected to build toward a different kind of football from the iron-bound defense and punting and kick-blocking which Broyles featured. Devine says he likes to score touchdowns. His team led the NCAA last season with 397 points in 10 games.

He features the multiple offense, a version of the style at Michigan State where he coached before going to Tempe three years ago.

Tittle, Rote Match Wits in Pro Playoff

By United Press

Y. A. Tittle and Tobin Rote are two National Football league quarterbacks who can run for their lives or just for the fun of it. They're prime examples of the "new school" of National Football league quarterbacks and should put on a fine show for San Francisco fans and the nation's TV viewers in Sunday's western division playoff game.

Pro quarterbacks used to say they never got their uniforms dirty. But they have been living dangerously in recent years.

Better defenses against passes, including crashing linebackers who often greet the quarterback almost as soon as he takes the ball from the center, have forced NFL teams to look for signal-callers who are agile enough to run when their receivers are covered. They also have to be rugged enough to stay in one piece when hit by big defensive huskies.

Tittle, 195-pound Forty-Niner veteran, and Rote, 215-pound Lion star, meet these requirements.

Tittle is hampered by leg injuries but he is one of football's top competitors and undoubtedly will take off like a rabbit Sunday if a run will help his team. His runs helped San Francisco score a key victory and ruin New York's hopes of retaining the league title three weeks ago.

Rote is an "iron man" similar to Otto Graham, former Cleveland Brown quarterback. Graham played in all of Cleveland's games during his 10-year career. Rote never missed a game in seven seasons with the Green Bay Packers and has appeared in all Detroit games this year. He shared the signal-calling job until Bobby Layne was injured this year.

John Brodie, a 190-pound rookie, is San Francisco's reserve quarterback. Jerry Retchow, a 212-pound second year pro, has been working behind Rote since Layne was injured.

"Our kids have the spirit to win another," said Coach Frankie Albert, predicting his Forty-Niners will capture a berth opposite Cleveland in the Dec. 29 league championship game. The Forty-Niners are three-point favorites.

Dave Parr, Villanova back, electrified fans in the final home game of the season when he ran 81 yards with a Wichita punt for his third touchdown of the game.

Minico Wins

RUPERT, Dec. 19—The Minidoka county Spartans swept to an easy 54-40 victory over American Falls here Wednesday night as they continued to prepare for Big Seven conference competition.

It was the second victory in a row for the Spartans and leaves them with a 2-2 seasonal record.

Legal Battle Continues for Chicago Stock

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (UP) — Fifteen shares of the Chicago White Sox baseball club stock is owned outside the Comiskey family, it was disclosed in probate court Tuesday.

This was the only new item to come out of the stock tug-of-war between Charles Comiskey and his sister, Mrs. Dorothy Rigney, in a court hearing which continued Wednesday.

Comiskey seeks 1,701 shares so he may vote them in the annual stockholders' meeting scheduled for Thursday. Mrs. Rigney holds the shares willed him by his mother and contends that, as executrix, she is responsible for payment of federal income and state inheritance taxes. The late Mrs. Grace Comiskey was president of the White Sox. Charles and his sister are vice presidents.

It was disclosed in court that Mrs. Rigney's husband, John, owns 10 shares and Ray Eccen, her attorney and long time family counselor, has five shares.

The two small blocks recently were purchased from Mrs. Rigney.

Attorney Robert E. Cantwell, Jr., representing Comiskey, told the court: "In his will, J. Lou Comiskey, Charles' father, requested that all White Sox stock be held by the family. Charles has not sold nor given away any stock. Is this the beginning of stock going outside the family?"

FUTURE UNKNOWN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19 (UP)—All-America lineman Alex Karras of Iowa, here for a luncheon honoring the members of the East and West squads which will meet in the annual Shrine game, said yesterday he still is "undecided" whether to sign with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers or the Detroit Lions. Karras last week signed for a reported $25,000 to wrestle professionally.

3-Year Pact Accepted by Sutherland

PULLMAN, Wash., Dec. 19 (UP)—Jim Sutherland signed a new three-year contract Wednesday as head football coach at Washington State college at an annual salary of $15,500.

Sutherland, who still had a year to go on his original three-year, $12,000 contract, gave WSC one of its best football seasons this year with a 6-4 record.

The new pact replaces that one *and extends through the 1960 sea*son.

"It's wonderful and great to know that people here have confidence in our program," Sutherland said. "We improved last year and we're going to continue to improve."

Sutherland succeeded Alton B. Larcher and had a 3-6-1 record here in 1956, his first year with the Cougars.

Athletic director Stan Bates announced terms of the new contract and said WSC "is very happy to have Jim."

There had been rumors, none of them confirmed, that other West coast schools were interested in hiring Sutherland away from the Cougars.

Musial Honored

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (UP) — Stan *Musial, 37-year-old St. Louis Card*inal star, has been named sportsman of the year by Sports Illustrated.

The magazine pointed out the seven-time National league batting champs performance in 1957 "has seldom been matched for valor, dedication and brilliant achievement in the face of odds."

Musial won the batting title with a .351 average although he was severely injured in August and missed 20 days.

Washington Led PCC Smash With 'Slush Fund' Aid

SEATTLE, Dec. 19 (UP)—The whirlwind of rebellion that tipped over the University of Washington's football counting house two years ago has grown into a cyclone which Wednesday is smashing down the once-sturdy bastions of the Pacific Coast conference, California—the leader in organizing the conference 42 years ago—has announced its intention to withdraw along with its southern branch, UCLA. Southern California followed suit immediately and now Washington says it will depart the sinking ship June 30 if the rest of the crew refuses to scuttle.

Discontent simmered under a facade of conference harmony for several years before Washington's football players lit the fuse. At the close of the 1955 season a group of men rebelled against coach John Cherberg, calling him a tyrant.

The game changed; recrimination*s became the winter's indoor* sport in Seattle. Public disclosure of a secret "slush fund" used to entice and pay athletes forced conference action.

On May 6, 1956, Washington was placed on probation for two years. This meant it could not be considered for championships in any sport and was barred from partici*pation in the Rose bowl game.* Chertberg had been fired; athletic director Harvey Cassill had quit.

Then the public learned of something similar unauthorized payments of athletes at UCLA and the conference mallet came down harder on the Los Angeles school. On May 19, 1956, UCLA drew a three-year probation in all sports.

Ordered to take corrective measures immediately, UCLA declared all its athletes ineligible. Regarding this as too harsh, the conference restored all but one year of eligibility to the athletes.

Next in line was Southern California. Revelation of unauthorized payments to football players got the school a two-year probation July 8, 1956. There again the eligibility *was taken away, then partially re*stored. And at the same time Southern California was fined $25,000 by the conference for unapproved financing of athletes.

Presidents of the nine conference schools got together later that summer and eased the eligibility restriction further, granting seniors at UCLA and Southern California half a year of eligibility for 1956.

The regents of California and UCLA drew up a five-point program during the summer and it was re*garded as an ultimatum to the con*ference. It announced the institutions' intention to scrap the round robin and tighten eligibility requirements for athletes. The regents of Southern California immediately adopted the same program.

The conference at its winter meet*ing early this month met California's* demands—part way.

At that meeting Victor O. Schmidt quit as conference commissioner after holding the job for 13 years.

Dec. 13, the regents of California and UCLA, and those of Southern California decided to leave the conference, the latter June 30 and the California a year later.

Dec. 17, Washington announced it would leave the fold June 30 if the conference did not disband voluntarily.

Simmons Leads Vandals With 73 Point Total

MOSCOW, Dec. 19 (AP) — Gary Simmons, senior from Twin Falls, is a double duty leader for the Idaho basketball team.

Simmons is captain of this season's squad and is also top scorer. The 5-foot-8 speedster has connected for 73 points in Idaho first five games, for a 14.6 average.

Simmons will be at his guard position as usual when Idaho plays Colorado State university here Thursday night. Coach Harlan Hodges said he plans to start John Stevens and Hal Damiano, former Kellogg star, at forwards. Jim Branom of Lewiston at center and Whaylon Coleman at the other guard spot.

The Aggies, who beat Washington State 57-54 Tuesday night, will also play Idaho on Friday night. The Idaho freshmen will meet Lewis-Clark Normal of Lewiston in a pre*liminary to the first game.*

Study Groups Will Evaluate School Aims

EDEN, Dec. 19—Plans for organized study groups to evaluate various phases of the school program have been completed, according to Mark R. Andersen, superintendent of class A school district No. 262 for the Eden-Hazelton area.

Problem areas of study and assignments were organized at the last two principals' meetings for Valley area schools, he said. The study groups will increase correlation and follow-up techniques of academic studies and so eliminate isolated subject areas. Another aim is to seek out balance for extra-curricular activities.

Reports will be discussed at a special teachers' meeting in April and will be presented to the school board.

Committee assignments include, reporting to parents and report cards, Kenneth Crothers, chairman; Hazelton elementary principal; Max Green, Valley junior high; Elnathan Molyneux, Eden elementary; Maxine Watkins, Valley high school and two community representatives.

For elementary activities, curricular and extra-curricular, Charles Hawley, chairman, Eden elementary principal; Helen Atkinson, and Norma Anderson, both Eden elementary; Helen Brown and Virginia Hughes, both Hazelton elementary; Earnest Reed, Valley junior high; Kenneth Berold, valley high school; Mrs. Dean Weatherwax and Mrs. Dan Rogerson, community representatives.

For junior and senior high school activities, Harry Kurtz, chairman, Valley high school principal; Ena Reed, Hazelton elementary; Donna Backhorn, Eden elementary; Alma Johnson, Valley junior high school; Bill Emerson, LaVon Thorne and Ila Murphy, all Valley high school, and two community representatives.

Testing program from grades one through twelve, Kay Hill, chairman, guidance head; Pearl Henry, Eden elementary; Dorothy Reed, Leone Dile and Alice Hamilton, all Hazelton elementary; Carol Wright, Valley high school and Alice Kurtz, Valley junior high.

Youth Rally Set At Council Meet

HAGERMAN, Dec. 19—"Race Relations" will be the theme of the Methodist Youth Fellowship rally slated for Jan. 26 at the Methodist church in Jerome.

Plans were made by the MYF Snake River council at a meeting at the home of Virginia Norwood, president, Sunday afternoon.

Attending were the Rev. Paul Dalton, Gooding, eastern youth director; the Rev. Dwight Wilcher, Jerome; the Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Gilbert, Wendell; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roberts, subdistrict counselors; Dick Hart, Jerome, subdistrict vice president; Mary Miller, Gooding secretary; Judy Seigren, and Jack Fosterson, Fairfield; Julie Simmons, Richfield, and Hazel Hale, Shoshone, sub district representatives.

Louisiana Contemplates Death Penalty For Narcotic Sales to Minor Children

By United Press

The state of Louisiana is contemplating death in the electric chair for an adult convicted of selling narcotics to any boy or girl under 21.

It marks the extreme to which authorities in some areas are ready to go to combat one of the most vicious criminal pursuits in the United States, a traffic which wrecks human lives by the thousands and breeds more crime.

A federal attorney told a recent hearing in New York City, itself branded the nation's capital for the narcotics trade, that outstanding jobs of combatting the narcotic racket had been accomplished in Louisiana and Ohio and in the cities of Baltimore, Seattle and Honolulu.

The United Press queried its bureaus in those places to find out how it was done. Here is the report:

Louisiana already has a law, passed in 1956, providing imprisonment of not less than 30 nor more than 99 years for selling dope to juveniles. And more important—there can be no parole, probation or suspension of sentence!

A legislative committee headed by State Rep. Richard Bertrand is to consider new legislation changing the maximum penalty to death. There already are penalties of up to 50 years for selling narcotics to other adults and Gov. Earl Long has refused to reduce the sentence of any narcotics offender.

Ohio's Gov. C. William O'Neill wrote his state's "get tough" law in 1955 when he was attorney general. Before that legislature Ohio had been plagued by the notorious distribution center of the Midwest. There were an estimated 15,000 addicts in Ohio alone, spending $5 million dollars a year for narcotics and costing the state $25 million when they turned to crime to buy the drugs.

The new laws provide prison terms of 20 years to life for selling narcotics to minors and a minimum of 10 years for any later offense. Second offenders cannot receive probation. Ohio takes into account the record of narcotics convictions in other states.

At the end of the first year, narcotics violations were reduced by about 700 per cent.

In Baltimore, Capt. Joseph Carroll, head of the city's narcotics squad, attributes success to excellent cooperation from the federal narcotics bureau and the state courts which convicted 141 out of 144 arrested last year.

His squad needs no more "war-rant. It is even an offense to be caught with a syringe if there is a past record. Back is very high and carry six bond quickly on defense. Addicts are "up" 30 to 40 on the streets three and four months to get money to defend themselves."

Seattle attributes its success largely to the scientific pressure that is kept on narcotics peddlers and users plus tough state laws.

Sgt. Wendell Paist, head of the police narcotics detail, says one important factor is that the city has no problem obtaining informers about who is selling narcotics. "People hate narcotics peddlers and don't hesitate to inform." There is also excellent cooperation from federal authorities, particularly customs inspectors.

Palm-bedecked Honolulu was once the gateway for the illicit drug traffic from the Orient and there were an estimated 2,000 addicts in the territory of Hawaii in the year 1954. As late as 1952 more than 100 persons were charged with narcotics crimes.

Last year there were exactly two arrests — one an excessive. Has wallet carrying marihuana cigarettes and the other a Chinese carrying heroin strapped to his leg and believed bound for the mainland.

The anti-narcotics campaign really hit stride in 1951 when the territorial legislature slammed through a 20-year jail sentence for selling to minors. Then a stronger congressional law against narcotics in 1954 gave federal judges another weapon and they cracked down harshly.

As Albel S. Fraga, chief of the narcotics division, says:

"Hawaii has shaken the monkey from its back."

Stanford Researchers Reveal New Data in Atom Component

PALO ALTO, Calif., Dec. 19 (UP)—Stanford university research scientists announced today they have uncovered surprising new information about the neutron, one of the small particles which make up the atom.

Working with the university's linear accelerator, they learned the tiny particle which has been considered only a "point" is considerably larger.

Their research shows that in one characteristic at least it is as big as one of the largest atom particles—the proton. They measured the so-called "magnetic cloud" about the neutron, using a beam of electrons aimed at deuterons, which are made up of one proton and one neutron.

The neutron is electrically neutral; a proton has a positive charge.

The announcement came at a conference on the Stanford campus attended by more than 200 of the world's leading physicists.

Dr. I. I. Rabi of Columbia university, a Nobel prize winner in physics who is attending the conference, called the Stanford work "of immense importance."

Rabi suggested the research may lead to an understanding of what holds the nucleus together, which is one of the key mysteries of modern physics. The nucleus is the central part of the atom about which the electrons orbit.

According to nuclear theory, the forces of attraction between the particles in the nucleus are so great they should demolish the particles when they come together. Scientists still need to find out how the particles survive when they come together.

The Stanford research team which made the discovery was led by Robert Hofstadter, professor of physics. working with him were Bernard R. Chambers and Franz Bumiller of Hansen laboratories at Stanford, Mason Yearian, a graduate student and R. W. McCallister.

Concert Features Christmas Music

The girls chorus sang with Rose Weech, Sandra Dopson, Karen Anderson, Sheila Dopson, Beth Bennett and Joyce Wilson as soloists. They were accompanied by Sharon Naylor.

Melva Thaete, who recently moved to Wendell with her parents, came over to sing with the chorus.

Turkey Price Staying Same As Last Yule

By The Associated Press

Turkey prices about the same as last year and higher prices for citrus fruit and some vegetables, due to last week's big Florida freeze, faced housewives today as they shopped for Christmas dinner.

A record crop of 60½ million birds kept turkey prices from advancing higher than the 1956 levels. Although prices naturally vary in different areas, for comparative purposes it might be noted that gobblers are bringing 43 to 45 cents a pound under 16 pounds and 37 cents for larger birds in the New York metropolitan area.

Smoked, and canned, hams also will be featured in many stores this week-end, partly to give variety for the week-end meals and partly because ham is growing more popular as a Christmas day attraction. A few stores near salt water will have flounder, haddock and swordfish steak.

Eggs, which have declined quite sharply in price for two weeks, moved irregularly this week—up 2 to 4 cents in some areas and down 3 to 8 cents in others. Increased consumption around the holiday is expected to drive prices higher for the next few weeks, however.

The inflexible laws of supply and demand already have driven citrus fruit and some vegetables prices upwards. The severe freeze in Florida, plus an embargo on shipments of fruit slapped on as a safety measure, sharply curtailed the available supplies of fruit. Housewives understandably like to buy more fruit than usual because of the holiday. Result of the twin pressures: Higher prices.

Tangerines and temple oranges were the hardest hit of the citrus fruits, although grapefruit and other varieties of oranges also were damaged by the freeze. California oranges also were reported higher in price this week.

Avocados, considered a Christmas delicacy in some quarters, are a good buy, as are limes, which have been plentiful for some time. Apples from nearby fields are about the best buy among the fruits, although some varieties must be checked for over-ripeness.

The leafy greens such as escarole, chicory and Boston and romaine lettuce were hardest hit among the vegetables, while Florida cabbage, potatoes and celery were not as bad off. Good buys among vegetables are onions, potatoes, sweet potatoes and cabbage, particularly where it is still available from late fall crops in nearby fields.

Celery and carrots are not better than moderately priced, while Iceberg lettuce, peppers and cauliflower are on the high side of a good buy.

Thanks!

ATLANTA, Dec. 19 (AP)—Detective C. A. Royal got something of a back-handed compliment when he donned a uniform and took his ailing wife's post at a school crossing here.

"Oh, Mr. Royal," said a lady acquaintance, "You look like a real policeman."

Santa's Reluctant Admirer

A closeup visit with Santa in Chicago is just too much for 2-year-old Elizabeth Joseph as she struggles to get out of his grasp and back to her mother, Mrs. Luther Joseph of Chicago's suburban Mount Prospect. Just a few moments before the youngster was all smiles as she waited her turn to receive a gift from Santa at the annual Christmas party for children of members of the Chicago Press Photographers association. Mrs. Doris Wells Is Toastmistress

BUHL, Dec. 19—Buhl Toastmistress club met Monday at the high school with Mrs. Woodrow Ash as hostess. Mrs. Doris Wells was toastmistress and Mrs. Walter Senften was topic mistress.

Mrs. Wells reported on council business. Program speeches were given by Mrs. J. H. Shields, Jr., Mrs. Ross Prather and Mrs. Vaughn Shriver. Mrs. Everett Husted gave the ice breaker. The blue pencil was awarded Mrs. Shields.

Mrs. J. W. Robertson, Twin Falls, was chief evaluator assisted by Mrs. Elwood Gledhill, Mrs. Bus McNealy and Mrs. Glen Davis. Mrs. Albert Lewis, lexicologist, reported. Mrs. Laverne Strong, club sponsor from Twin Falls, was a guest.

Close to Home

PENSACOLA, Fla., Dec. 19 (AP) — Firemen jumped on their trucks when the alarm sounded yesterday, but the trucks didn't go anywhere.

When instruction came the firemen climbed sheepishly down and used a garden hose to put out a small trash-fire behind the fire house.

"Alice in Wonderland" Quality Noted In Talks on U. S. Missiles Programs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—There is an Alice in Wonderland quality about the missile discussion, at least to the extent that it becomes curiouser and curiouser.

Dr. Werhner Von Braun, for example, revealed under congressional questioning that orders to proceed with a major missile project had not been followed up with an allotment of money with which to get going.

The proceed order came about a fortnight ago and was widely publicized. What purpose the order and the attending publicity might have had is not evident, unless it was intended to quiet the voters' anxiety about the missile program and national security.

Interesting, too, was a sequence of statements made by William M. Holaday, the Pentagon missile chief. A bit more than a week ago Holaday told a New York audience that the United States could put satellites into orbit, like a sputnik, "whenever we want to."

Came last Friday and Holaday appeared before the senate preparedness subcommittee. Under questioning Holaday put his own interpretation on "whenever we want to." The United States couldn't put a satellite in orbit tomorrow, for example. The missile chief said it would take time to assemble the component parts of the launching missile.

It developed that the only substance behind Holaday's brave statement in New York was that there do exist at Cape Canaveral, Fla., rockets capable of putting a satellite into orbit. Holaday's testimony seemed a bit optimistic to the questioning senators.

Like the order to proceed given to Dr. Von Braun, Holaday's New York speech was part sugar pill and there is some congressional clamor now to replace him in the missile job. Whatever may have been the motive behind the foregoing incidents, very few if any persons would believe or suggest that there was anything other than the utmost sincerity in President Eisenhower's best-publicized pronouncement on the missile-satellite issue.

He made it on Oct. 9, five days after the Soviet Union launched sputnik the first. To a news conference question, the President responded that the successful launching of a communist satellite did not raise his apprehensions "one iota" about national security.

That became the administration party line, precisely followed by White House spokesmen thereafter until Oct. 16, when Vice President Richard M. Nixon warned in a San Francisco speech against a brush-off of the importance to the United States of the sputniks.

"A grim and timely reminder" of the great magnitude of the Soviet Union's scientific and industrial capacity, Nixon called the sputniks. Since wars are won or lost now largely on the measure of scientific and industrial capacity, Nixon's warning seemed to possess a grave bearing on national security.

Last week Lieut. Gen. James M. Gavin, chief of army research, gave the senators a professional soldier's judgment. He said the launching of sputnik I was "perhaps the most significant military thing in our time."

The voters will suck no sugar off of that one. They may even be tiring of sweets.

Bulganin's Well-Timed Letter Succeeded in Dividing NATO

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Premier Bulganin's letter to President Eisenhower was a literary sputnik. Of all the Russian's letters to Eisenhower this last one was the best written, the shrewdest and the best timed.

In its way, it had the same effect as the real sputniks! It made the American allies sit up and take notice. Letters similar to the one received by Eisenhower were sent to the other allies at the same time.

They were delivered at a moment when the allies—then about to open their North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Paris—were divided on what to do in the face of Russia's obvious military power.

The letter divided them some more.

The American reaction to Bulganin's note was the same as Eisenhower's first reaction to the sputniks: an attempt to minimize its importance.

The administration hasn't yet answered the letter or issued a formal statement on it. Instead, it let two press officers dismiss it as propaganda before the state department had even released a translation of it.

But this wasn't the reaction of the allies. Some of them arrived at Paris wanting far more serious attention for the letter than a curt dismissal.

Their reaction—even though the letter upon testing may prove to be only propaganda—was: Let's take it more seriously than that and try to find out whether the Russians mean it.

In short, Bulganin said: The arms race gets worse and may end up badly for everybody. Before it does, the nations ought to disarm, or at least get down to talking disarmament, even if it requires another summit meeting.

This letter hit the West Europeans at a time when they were still jittery over the realization—forced on them by the flight of the sputniks—that Russia had missiles and that atomic-tipped missiles could flatten western Europe.

They also realized, more than at any time since World war II, that the once big European powers were now only military pigmies between the two giants, the United States and Russia. The older order was gone.

So for them, the thought of disarmament now has more attraction than ever. Yet the Eisenhower administration brought to the NATO meeting nothing much more than proposals for even greater armaments.

The United States had to yield a little bit to the European desire to explore Bulganin's letter for a possible escape from the arms race. Tuesday NATO moved in two cautious directions, both a reaction to Bulganin's letter:

They talked of:

1. Setting up machinery to try for new disarmament talks with Russia. Such talks have been going on for years. The last one broke up a few months ago.

2. Setting up machinery to examine Bulganin's letter and see whether it might be worthwhile to undertake new talks between foreign ministers. This wouldn't be a summit meeting that would include Eisenhower, Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev.

If Bulganin's letter was propaganda only, the Russians already have obtained a lot of mileage from it. This country has done nothing yet to offset it.

Buffet Dinner Is Enjoyed by Legion

Festivities began with a ham buffet dinner. Ham was furnished by the Legion post and the remainder of the meat was potluck.

A large decorated tree was featured and was the incentive for the annual gift exchange. The remainder of the evening was spent dancing.

The committee on arrangements were Clyde Petersen, Denton Adams, George Benson, Garlan McCulloch, Harry Frith, Grant Zollinger and Norman Miranda. Legionnaires were assisted by their wives.

MAN WINS TWICE

HAILEY, Dec. 19—Pfc. John McGonigal, son of Mr. and Mrs. George McGonigal, has, for the second time, been named "soldier of the week" in both his company and regiment. McGonigal is now in the first battle group, fifth cavalry, somewhere in Korea.
