Try South Pole Push

New Zealanders Start Dash

Across Wastes of Antarctica

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Dec. 25 (AP)—A radio message crackling out of snowy wastes of Antarctica today announced Sir Edmund Hillary has set off on another epic dash—this time to beat a rival British team in an overland race to the south pole.

Heading trail-bent for the pole, God willing and crevasse permitting, the conqueror of Mt. Everest, messaged in Morse code to New Zealand's Coast base this morning.

Barring ill fortune, it appeared Hillary's New Zealand team would win the race. Hillary's message indicated he had some 325 miles to go. The British team was 500 miles away from its goal at dawn yesterday.

Hillary, assigned a relatively minor support role in the British Commonwealth's international geophysical year program in Antarctica, apparently was unable to resist the temptation of no-holds-barred race across the unknown continent.

Hillary's original mission was to establish an inland supply base for a British trans-Antarctic expedition headed by Dr. Vilas Fuchs.

The Fuchs team left the British Shackleton base on the other side of the continent last November in the first attempt to trek across Antarctica from coast to coast. He was due to leave from his advance base at "south ice" yesterday en route to the pole.

Hillary's wife, who lives in Auckland, cheered him on.

Winter Training For Guard OK'd

The national guard bureau, Washington, D.C., has approved field training in California in February for the third battalion, 116th armored cavalry regiment, Idaho national guard, and elements of medical detachment at Ft. Anthony and service company at Jerome.

The units will train at Camp Irwin, Calif., Feb. 1-15.

Communities which have units of the third battalion and 90 per cent of the men involved, approved of the February training, which was decided upon because of the fall in agricultural, business and construction activities. Previously, these units have joined other guard units for two weeks field training during June.

The third battalion is composed of units located at Twin Falls, Bluff, Burley, Gooding, Idaho and Rupert.

"Go Ahead, I Can Talk While I Work!"

Barefoot Scholar of 'Glades Finds Contentment in Swamps

EVERGLADES, Fla., Dec. 26 (AP)—Some men find life by trying to run away from it.

That is true of Bud Kirk, the barefoot scholar of the Everglades. Bud is a big, brawny 44-year-old commercial fisherman who goes around without shoes and has feet so tough he can strike a match on them or walk across broken glass without injury.

"I like the feel of the ground," said Bud. "I bought a new pair of shoes when I got married, and when I gave them away 10 years later they were still as good as new."

He doesn't mind that strangers consider it a bit odd for a man of his age to go around shoeless. All his life Bud has worried little about the opinions of others.

Bud went only to the eighth grade in school. In 1930, when he was 19, he started trying to find factory work. He left his native Rochester, N. Y., and came here to one of America's last wildernesses.

"I was a little sour on things," said Bud. "I was tired of conformity, and wanted a breath of fresh air in my life."

Like Thoreau, he wanted to get away from civilization. But he did a far better job of it than the sage of Walden pond.

Bud plunged alone into the heart of the Everglades, and lived there alone for more than four years.

"I learned to live off the land—a thing any man can do if he is put to it," he said.

Bud emerged from time to time only to sell the skins of coon and alligators he trapped. As the months and years passed, Bud's anger against civilization ebbed, but his fascination with the world of nature around him grew stronger.

"I am curious about everything. I see people, plants, animals, marine life," said Bud.

In 1930 Bud met and married Kappy Stephens, a local school teacher. Six years ago at the age of 40 he decided he could do with a bit more schooling, so he spent a year as a special student at the University of Miami. He supported his wife and two children, meanwhile, by the sale of wild orchids he gathered from the swamps.

Bud now is at a second crossroads in his life. He is recognized as one of the best fishermen in the area, but it is today a poor-paying business. He averages under $75 a week.

When I asked him what was the greatest thing he had learned from his solitary sojourn in this watery wilderness, he said without hesitating, "a degree of tolerance."

Integration Is Seen as Long Process For Plantation Country of Deep South

By BELMAN MORIN

ISSAQUENA, COUNTY, Miss., Dec. 26 (AP)—This is the Deep South.

This is the Delta, flat and fertile, formed by the mighty Mississippi, draining a continent.

Drooping willows fringe the bayous. Pintail ducks and beaver forage in the reeds. Deep in the plantation, you hear the dogs baying on the acres of a fox. The water snake watches his nemesis, man and animal, with eyes of frozen interest.

"This is the land of cotton and sharecroppers.

Here, in some counties, the Negro outnumbered the white man by three to one, and even more.

The tickety, weather-worn shacks lining sandy country roads often house Negro families of 10 and 12 in two rooms.

Their children often pick cotton until December, then go to school and try to learn in six months what the white child learns in nine.

So here, in the Delta, the great social struggle over integrating the schools stands out, stripped to its raw.

The supreme court ruling: "Little Rock... Nashville... The bombings and beatings... It all takes on a new and special meaning in the Delta.

The immense complexity of the South's problem, so difficult for the North grasp, emerges here in sharper colors, with more jagged outlines, than anywhere else.

Here you feel the full force of the words of a southern educator, Prof. A. D. Abright, of Kentucky:

"Integration is more important to the Negro than the white man realizes, and segregation is more important to whites than the Negro realizes."

Integration will be a long time coming to the Delta.

People, white and Negro alike, guess 10 years, 20 years, 30 years. Some whites say "never."

They also agree on an important point—that the groping first efforts of inter-racial groups to find solutions to the many-sided school problem are now at a standstill.

They say the supreme court ruling of 1954 first slowed these moves, and that the use of federal troops at Little Rock brought them to a total stop.

"There is less liaison now than at any time since I've lived in Mississippi—22 years," says Hodding

Carter, publisher and historian who is widely known for his writings on the South—"religious and educational groups had made some beginnings, but were back at arm's length now."

Since Little Rock, they say, sentiment has hardened as never before. You hear "this everywhere in the South."

What about the feeling of the Negro communities in the Delta?

A Negro professional man in Louisiana, who asked not to be identified, said this:

"Not even a Negro can say he knows what a Negro feels today. In my judgment, though, our people are split into three groups."

"First, there are those who feel this thing should be fought out, bit by bit, right now."

"A second group feels that movement, progress, is the important thing. As long as the ball is rolling, they say, it should be kept rolling, but they want to make it as painless as possible."

"Finally, there are those who have not allowed themselves to think about it. They are concerned with keeping their jobs and maintaining peaceful relations with their employers."

players."

His personal feeling, he said, is that the prime necessity is to re-establish good relations between the races.

"You don't establish good will with legislation. I'm not saying you shouldn't legislate. But after you've done that, you have to have people of good will who will all day long together and talk it out. Otherwise, it just won't work."

Whatever the results of the past few years have done, there is a big movement in Mississippi today to equalize the school facilities of the whites and Negroes.

Recently, Oliver Emmerich, editor of the McComb Daily Enterprise wrote in his paper:

"We must be honest with ourselves and admit to ourselves that good Negro schools have been postponed far too long—and that other racial injustices within the South have contributed to our current debacle."

"When the time comes for integration all fortifications built on negative thinking will crumble. Not with arms but with a new vision, not emotional outbursts, not economic pressure can Mississippi hope to find a satisfactory solution to the school integration problem."

Southern editors have been brutal, cursed, and harassed for much longer.

However Emmerich told this reporter the reaction to his statement has been "50 per cent favorable." He said it was widely printed in the South.

Yet Emmerich is not an integrationist.

"I'm opposed to integration," he said, "where you have a hundred per cent of the school facilities to mix the races in the schools, but to really give them equal facilities."

Sentiment along these lines probably was reflected in the $100 million dollar school building program authorized by the Mississippi legislature in 1933. In succeeding years, the actual outlay allocated more than doubled.

David Brown, of the Greenville, S. C., Delta Democrat, who made a special study of the program, said "more than 75 per cent of the money spent so far has been for Negro schools."

You want to avoid buying where sleight-of-hand pricing tricks, bait you with bargains priced below the merchant's out-of-pocket cost in the hope of catching you off-guard to sell you other items that are overpriced:

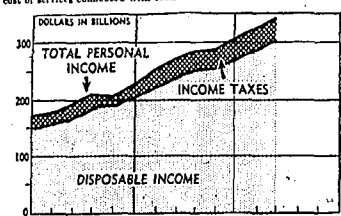

Charting Growth of United States Economy

Leveling off to '56—High capital expenditures by business, increasing during the past three years, leveled off toward the end of 1957, with indications of a reduction in 1958. Business spending for expansion of plant and equipment and for inventories was a major factor in the pre-'58 boom which now appears slowing down.

Spending rises in '57—The lines showing disposable income and expenditures ran almost parallel during 1957, indicating the rate of spending was just about kept pace with the rate of income increase. Americans spent about a fourth of their income for food, much of it for higher cost of services connected with food.

Still plenty to spend—As 1957 ends, Americans have some 300 billion dollars to spend after deducting taxes from their nearly 400-billion dollar income. This disposable income is about 5 per cent above 1956 level—bearing a serious economic setback in 1958—the outlook is for a continued high level of income.

East Germans Still Fleeing by Hundreds Into Western Zone

BONN, Germany, Dec. 26 (AP)—changed. First the farmers, driven every day about 400 East Germans—the population of a good-sized village—cross into West Germany, fleeing from communism.

They risk armed guards, minefields and barbed wire to get away from the "people's paradise" where essential food items are still rationed 12 years after the war.

For this month on they will also be risking a jail sentence of up to three years. In an effort to stem the flow of refugees the East German parliament has now made it a punishable offense to seek freedom in the federal republic.

But it is doubtful whether the new measure will have much effect, except to make the refugees more cautious.

West German officials estimate that by the end of this year the number of refugees who have fled to the west since 1949 will top the 2,000,000 mark. That is more than 11 per cent of the zone's 18,000,000 population.

There is little doubt that the constant flight of refugees, including a high percentage of skilled workers, constitutes a severe drain on the manpower resources of the east zone communist state, and has contributed in no small way to its failure to match the economic progress of West Germany.

For a long time the communists look on about a third of the refugees. Declaring that their departure was "good riddance."

From the communist viewpoint this was partially justified because a high percentage in the early days was elderly, weak, and dissatisfied people who had seen enough of totalitarian methods.

"They were of little use industrially to the communists, and a burden to the West which had to support them in their declining years."

But gradually the picture has

Flight from the farm—The steady decline in the number of farm workers perished through 1957, with the number of family farmers dropping sharply and a much smaller rate of decline by hired hands. Substitution of machinery for labor accounts for much of the manpower loss.

Farm output rises—Despite a steady drop in the number of farm workers, the output per farm has maintained a steady rise since 1950. The 1957 rate was 133 against the 1947-49 index of 100. Better farming machinery and methods are responsible for the increase, which probably will continue in the coming year.

Farmers have record costs—Farm production costs averaged 4 per cent higher in 1957 than in 1956. The farmer paid more in taxes, wages, interest and for machinery, equipment, and about everything except fertilizer. The farmer received about 3 per cent more for his products, so cost-price gap remained about the same.

gun-chaining automation, can zone youth is still unconvinced. They show it by taking to heels, crossing the heavily-guarded east zone border where armed "people's police" patrol with dogs behind a "forbidden zone."

After years of communist state control, where you can get a job by joining the party line, complete economic freedom in a country devoted to unrestricted free enterprise is not always to their liking. Statistics show that about four percent of the young men, disillusioned when they cannot find a job or angry because they are not treated as heroes, return to the Soviet zone.

A taste of freedom, however, is hard to forget, even when the "golden West" does not live up to the expectations.

Of the four per cent who return, mostly half escape to the federal republic for a second time, usually after a six-week spell of sampling communism anew.

Israel's Arms Mission Gets Replacement

JERUSALEM, Israel, Dec. 26.—Premier David Ben-Gurion told a news conference yesterday his decision to send a mission to West Germany to acquire military equipment was unchanged.

He said the only thing that is changed is the embassy, but he did not disclose the name of the new one.

Ben-Gurion's statement came as the latest development in a political situation which threatens the life of his cabinet. The left-wing party Abud Avoda, a member of his coalition, has protested the move.

Ben-Gurion hinted to parliament Tuesday that Israel may seek submarines from West Germany. And he failed to deny such a charge by Communist-party leader Moshe Sarti.

Ben-Gurion told newsmen the establishment of diplomatic relations with Bonn is not imminent because that "requires agreement from two sides." But he said no member of the cabinet has opposed such relations.

Ben-Gurion, who is also the defense minister, refused to answer questions about the cabinet crisis. But he said: "I don't wish any future minister of defense such difficulties in sending a mission as I have had."

It's Merry Christmas for Rescued Boy

It was a merry Christmas for Benjamin Hooper, Jr., Betty Hooper and their daughter, Wendy, 7, to have Benny with them. While his father says Benny "had his biggest Christmas last May," Benny, like any other boy, excitedly looked forward to another visit from Santa Claus. (AP wirephoto)

Convicts Fail On Yule Bids For Freedom

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 26.—A Christmas day bid for freedom by between 10 and 12 convicts of the state prison here was thwarted yesterday by five prison officers.

The officers were making a routine check when they discovered the prisoners tunneling under the south wall of the prison. They had dug a 25 to 30 foot tunnel under wing 17 of the educational building.

One of the officers was clubbed by a convict and the others were held at bay with home-made knives wielded by the convicts. The convicts then retreated to a cell block area.

Seven of the prisoners involved have been identified by dirt under their fingernails and other markings made during the digging operations.

Prison officials declined to identify either the prisoners or the guards involved until the would-be escapees have been before the prison disciplinary board.

Warden Bob Hays said it was not known exactly how many prisoners were involved due to the confusion created when they were discovered by the officers.

"Between 10 and 12 were involved," he said.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Christmas brings gifts to the children of the family from relatives and friends. That is what makes the day so exciting and so wonderful for them. They go to sleep Christmas Eve, when at last they get to see the presents. Christmas morning is just one of the best days of the year. "Look what I got," echoes through the house and breakfast is forgotten in the hubbub.

The day is one joyous shout with the great dinner sandwiched between telephone calls and guests. Of course this is no day for duty chores but surely there will be time the next day to write those thank-you notes the children owe to those who thought of them and tried to please them. The children will not think of this until they are married. Tell them that it must be done and the sooner the better. "Ah," said a young man of 7 years. "I know I like it. She picked it out for me, didn't she? She knows I like white letters."

A long letter is not expected from the little ones. He can write a few lines, tell his grandmother of his gift, and his aunt and uncle that he liked what they sent him. If he cannot write, let him dictate to his mother. It is difficult, their mothers can tell them what to say, even write it and let them copy it. But the note must be in the child's own handwriting. That is what his affectionate relatives like best.

Often the older boys and girls, by the time they are high-school students, neglect this duty. They are too busy to be ordered to "sit right down now and write those notes." What if they could be given points for work done for F.H.A. regardless of whether done in or out of school?

Martha Jean Holt urged members to bring clothes for 2- and 3-year-olds to the children's hospital in Gooding.

Committees were appointed for coming events. They include: Beth McKay, cooked food; Elmer Bollinger, understanding our neighbors; Linda Martin, promoting gift table; and Yvonne Gabriel, budgie dance.

Shows honoring the bride were given by women of the West-Pomona Baptist church, Pomona, and the YWCA of the United Brethren church. She also was honored by the Virna girl dormitory and the First National bank, Upland.

Frank Leahy Comes Out of Retirement to Take Coach Position at Texas A and M

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Dec. 26 (UP)—Frank Leahy, once one of modern football's greatest coaches at Notre Dame, returned to the gridiron today with an agreement to become head coach and athletic director at Texas A and M. Appointment of the one-time "old master" of the gridiron to succeed the departing Paul (Bear) Bryant was announced last night by Dr. M. T. Harrington, president of Texas A and M. Dr. Harrington said Leahy agreed to contract terms by telephone and that the formal signing of a contract was expected by the end of the week. Leahy is scheduled to arrive in College Station on Saturday at the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla., where the Aggies meet Tennessee in their final game under Bryant, who is going to Alabama.

However, Leahy was in a hospital in Michigan City, Ind., today. He slipped and broke his ankle Tuesday while carrying Christmas packages into his home in Lake Forest, Ill. He was taken to the hospital for X-rays and treatment for treatment.

Dr. Harrington said Leahy, 40, would be given a salary of $100,000 a year plus a first year bonus of $10,000 and a five-year contract. The contract is for three years.

Bryant reportedly was drawing down money on the side. He had business interests besides football and made regular television appearances. Presumably, Leahy will have the same opportunity to supplement his income.

The Notre Dame graduate, noted for his peacemaking attitude despite having winning teams, will be the 22nd coach since A and M fielded its first football team in 1894.

He will take over the same job that has been held by such great coaches as Dana X. Bible, Matty Bell and Homer H. Norton. Leahy has completed a 11-11-2 mark with the Gator Bowl to go. Leahy's overall record, including two years at Boston College, is 107-13-3.

Leahy said from his hospital bed last night, after Dr. Harrington's announcement, that he was anxious to return to coaching after a career in business.

"When I visited Texas A and M," Leahy told the United Press, "I was impressed with the honesty and integrity of its players. I think it's a wonderful school."

He added, "Final negotiations probably will be discussed when I talk to Dr. Harrington tomorrow. Of course, we will have to arrange a time for the formal signing of the contract."

Leahy was expected to report to College Station soon after the first of the year, Harrington said.

Leahy quit Notre Dame after the 1953 season because of poor health. He completed an 11-year record of 47 victories, 11 losses and 11 ties and had six undefeated seasons.

He said yesterday he had completely recovered his health. "The doctors got me over the hump. I think I had my last doctor visit and told me that I am healthier than I've been in 10 years."

He said he had found that business life lacked the contact with youth that he had found in coaching. "I had mixed it since he quit."

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 26 (UP)—Santa Anita today will begin its 21st season of racing with the opening of the $200,000 added Palm Verde handicap at six furlongs.

The meeting will be the 32nd major stakes scheduled and $250,000 in opening day of 28,000 fans was expected to watch the running of the Palm Verde, which is the year's attraction for the Santa Anita. The race will be run at 1:30 p.m. and will carry top weight of 110.

Nashville drew post position 13 in the opening day of the Golden Gate fields winner, on the rail. Glen Holt will break from the outside.

Dodgers Hope New Home and New Faces Will Help Them Bring Pennant to West

By WALTER ALSTON
DARTMOUTH, O., Dec. 26 (UP)—We have a new home and surroundings and with the addition of some new faces to the team, I expect the Los Angeles Dodgers will be in the thick of the National league pennant race right down to the wire in 1958.

Several of our youngsters have shown promise all year. Paul and I took a good look at them in spring training. Two boys, infielders, Gray and Bob Willis, were particularly outstanding and may give us a lot more punch.

The winter work will get the team off on the right foot and hitting early.

For the past two or three years we have fallen off on our long ball hitting. I don't know for sure but I think the warmer California weather early in the year will help some of our power hitters. It certainly won't hurt them.

Most of our success depends on the improvement of our young pitchers. The staff, especially with our veteran team.

Our pitchers, especially the left-handers, have great potential. Don Newcombe should have a better year than last and I believe—Don Newcombe will show us a new way to throw a ball.

These two, combined with Koussios, Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres and Carl Erskine, give us the nucleus of a great pitching staff.

Drysdale was the most improved player on the squad last season. He should be even better. He's come up with a good change of pace and a curve that will make him tough.

Squawks, Not Slapstick

What seems to be a good comedy pose by Richie Gurnin of the New York Knickerbockers and Mandy Randolph, referee, was merely the beginning of a good argument at Madison Square garden.

Kaiser's Field Goal Lets North Beat South 23-20

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 26 (UP)—Dick Christy and Jim Ninow, two of the All-Stars wrapped up the thrills of a whole season in one night for 28,303 fans in the Orange bowl. Ninowski, the slender Michigan State quarterback who was named the North's most valuable player, completed 13 of 21 passes for a record 285 yards in leading the "Yanks" to a 23-20 victory, their third in the 10-game season sponsored for Shrine charities.

His throws, most to teammate Bob Jewett at end, produced one touchdown and set up another. They also put Michigan State's other senior end, Dave Kaiser, in position to boot a 36-yard field goal for what wound up being the winning point. Kaiser's field goal carried Michigan State to victory over UCLA in the 1955 Rose bowl game.

Christy, the 160-pound speedball from North Carolina State who was named the South's MVP went on a second-half rampage. He broke through the line for 64 yards and a touchdown in the third period and carried 23 yards in the same final quarter for another score.

As if that were not enough, the sturdy 225-pounder from Chester, Pa., nearly pulled off an upset for the South, a four-point underdog, by 150-yard Jim Taylor. Christy ran back a North punt 47 yards; then with 15 seconds left, he caught a 23-yard pass from Arkansas quarterback George Walker on the North two. There was time for only one play, and a dive at the goal line by Jim Taylor.

Christy, in all, picked up 70 yards from scrimmage and 90 yards on punt returns.

The South's other touchdown was scored early in the first period by Florida halfback Jim Rountree, who ran 25 yards with a pitchout. Taylor made two of his three conversion tries good.

Minnesota's 62-yard pass to Jewett set up the North's first score which Michigan quarterback James Van Pelt scored on a 10-yard throw to Kaiser.

The North went in front 13-7 at halftime on a 23-yard pass from Ninowski to Illinois halfback Dale Smith.

A 72-yard kickoff return by Notre Dame halfback Dick Lynch set up the North's third touchdown. Four plays later, Syracuse fullback Ed Coffin scored and Van Pelt converted.

The victory was the second in a row for Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty as coach of the North team.

Coach E. Shelton of Wyoming also is planning his pennant hopes on the addition of newcomers John Rocco and center Don Hattala. Rocco, a forward, is 6-foot, 3-inches and hails from South Dakota.

Minnesota, off to a fast start in the game, can credit the showing of newcomer Dan Balke for much of its early success. Balke, a halfback, is the deadliest end at his position on coach Proby Cox's squad. He is a 6-foot, 11-inch guard.

Celtics Ride Winning Skein To Loop Lead

The Boston Celtics have such a "hot" streak in the eastern division of the National Basketball Association that even when they lose a game, the victory doesn't seem to matter.

The Philadelphia Warriors, coming up, who were paced by the 21-point lead of the Celtics in the third period, lost 104-100 in their holiday action.

Lions Will Seek Revenge, Money In Meeting Browns for Pro Crown

DETROIT, Dec. 26 (AP)—If the Detroit Lions need more than the lure of the winner's purse to make them want to win the Cleveland Browns in the National Football League championship playoff here Sunday, history will give it to them. "Cleveland always in tough against us," said coach George Wilson. He couldn't possibly have intended reference to a won-lost record in the series between the two teams. The Lions have won five of the six regular season or playoff games the two teams have played.

But that other game, the one that Detroit lost, and what followed the defeat was a disaster. They were routed by Wilson to fans on the last day of bleacher seats shudder and call Cleveland "rough against us."

It was 1954 and the Lions went into the championship playoff for the third straight year. They were downed, a team they had whipped 14-10 in the regular season. And the Browns smashed the Lions 49-16.

The next season the Lions stumbled to a 3-8 record and finished in the western division cellar for the first time since 1948. Last year they closed in second place and this year, here are the Cleveland Browns again.

Target for the 1954 massacre, Detroit-Cleveland games 17-6 and 17-1 in 1952, 17-16 in 1953.

The Lions defeated Cleveland 20-7 earlier this season in a game that was a preview of the playoff battle. The veteran Layne broke an ankle when he was trying to punt.

In Layne's absence Tobin Roark moved fulltime into the quarterback position and the Lions won the first three games of the season. They were then defeated by the Browns in the championship playoff. The Lions, going into the final game of the regular season in a three-way tie for the western division title, rallied from a 10-0 halftime deficit to win Chicago 14-13 and move into a two-way tie with San Francisco, Baltimore, and the other team in the last-day tie game. It was a critical last game. Then, in a playoff, the Lions recovered from the shock of a 17-0 halftime deficit to whip San Francisco 20-14.

A sellout crowd of almost 50,000 is expected for the title game at the stadium, home of the Detroit Tigers in baseball season and the Lions in the fall.

The game will be televised and broadcast nationally but following radio rules television will be blacked out for 15 minutes in Detroit. The kickoff will be at 11:30 a.m. (MST).

Game Brito May Reconsider Pro Grid Retirement After Stellar Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—If Brito has few if any peers as a tackle, Washington could elect a player to the edge-on-center who would be a black-haired but not a black defensive end for the Washington Redskins.

That would be Gene Herman Brito, who has just finished his third and most brilliant season in the National Football League.

The fans carried Brito off the field in Washington's final game against the Pittsburgh Steelers. That he inspired only one before his "kick" history. The player received a Sam Bough.

Very back January, Brito announced that the 1957 season would be his last. Now he is not so certain.

"Just haven't made up my mind," he said today. "Coach (George) Shinn has been talking to me about it. I'll do just what he says."

Marshall, who called Brito "one of the greatest defensive ends of all time," not only urged Brito to stay but promised to line him up with off-season pay with a Washington business firm. Brito received a business and social studies education and social studies at Los Angeles junior high school. The writer and sportsman.
