Hells Canyon Issue Will Get Spotlight for Election Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (Special)—Like an old nostalgic tune being revived on the hit parade, the "Hells Canyon Issue" will again take an election year spotlight.

The house interior committee confirmed Thursday reports that the dam will be considered again. A hearing has been set for Feb. 1.

Many a Pacific Northwest legislator has ridden the high federal dam for political mileage in the past and it is apparently going to be taken around the track one more time before being turned out to graze.

Dinner Date Set By Filer Masons

FILER, Jan. 18—Past masters dinner will be held Thursday evening, Jan. 25, in the Masonic temple dining room.

Mrs. William Rude, worthy warden, and Robert Vincent, worshipful master, are in charge of general arrangements.

Before his death, Donald Mackay arranged to furnish funds for the annual dinner which he had done for about 25 years.

Play Planned

HEVARN, Jan. 18—"Mama's Baby Boy," a three-act comedy is planned by the first ward MPA tentatively for Jan. 27 at the LDS church.

The cast includes Joan Case, David Jenks, Jack Straus, Marie Yeaman, Ann Peterson, Don Wilcox, Elaine Straus, Luana Moyle, Kirk Bruner, Janet Duffee and Lois Helmer. Mr. and Mrs. Leeland Thaxton are directors.

PTA Film Planned

A film, "The Age of Turmoil," concerning early adolescence, will be shown for the Junior high school PTA which meets at 8 p.m. Monday in the school auditorium.

The group went on record as supporting the school, dealing with children from 13 to 15 years of age.

The original turmoil of that age group, including destructive criticism of school, unrealistic ideas of the child's own future and hours spent in seemingly useless activities according to PTA spokesmen.

GRANGE MEETS

WORTHCH, Jan. 18—Plans to add to the polo drive were made Wednesday at a meeting of District One at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mary Edwards, at a social hour following the business session.

Play Planned

During the next few weeks house Democrats, anxious to force Eisenhower to veto the high dam, are making efforts to induce two delinquent Democrats, interior, minority, Rep. James A. Haley, Fla., and Rep. George A. Shuford, N. C.

However, both Haley and Shuford both say they plan to remain on the committee and remain unfriendly to a high dam. The two Democrats, by voting with the solid Republican minority on the committee, prevented a bill authorizing the dam, from getting to the house floor last summer.

Idaho's two representatives, Hammer and Mrs. Grace Flood, still were looking through opposing crystal balls in speculating on the future of Hells canyon dam.

Haley voiced his fears that if either Haley or Shuford chose to

Soviets Agog Over Reports Of 'Snowman'

MOGOW, Jan. 18 (AP)—The astonishing news of a Soviet scientist's claim of a "snowman" has agog Soviet scientists and the Soviet government.

The thing that agoged them was a report that a Soviet scientist, Alexander L. Prokhorov, had discovered a new form of matter, a "snowman," which he said was a "solid body of matter" that could be used as a "super-bomb" or as a "super-weapon" against the "imperialist aggressors."

Prokhorov, who is a member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, said that he had discovered the "snowman" while working on a project to develop a "super-bomb" that would be able to penetrate the "armor" of the "imperialist aggressors."

He said that the "snowman" was a "solid body of matter" that was "invisible" to the "naked eye" and that it was "extremely hard" and "extremely strong."

He said that the "snowman" was "created" by the "action of high-frequency electromagnetic waves" and that it was "able to withstand" the "heat" of a "nuclear explosion."

He said that the "snowman" was "able to penetrate" the "armor" of the "imperialist aggressors" and that it was "able to destroy" them.

He said that the "snowman" was "able to be used" as a "super-bomb" or as a "super-weapon" against the "imperialist aggressors."

Russians Respond

Russians' reaction to a more solid diet of reading material responded quickly. Prokhorov has been hailed by telegrams, letters and telephone calls. He has appeared on television.

Attracted by the furor, state Izvestia assigned its Leningrad correspondent to interview Prokhorov and report on a scientific account of what the scientist saw. Prokhorov said he twice saw the "snowman," but was not allowed down from an airplane, but he refused to call it human. It wore a "hat" and "boots."

"I can only say what I saw," Prokhorov said. "I can make no categorical statement."

Items Disappear

Prokhorov said that inhabitants of the area who believe in the snowman's existence, frequently reported disappearances of items in their homes. Sometimes the laundry disappeared weeks later flapping in the breeze or cliff. He said that he had seen a "snowman" wearing a hat and boots. He said that he had seen a "snowman" wearing a hat and boots.

That would account for its ability to withstand the brutal cold of the high mountains. It was a "snowman" wearing a hat and boots. He said that he had seen a "snowman" wearing a hat and boots.

West's Top Statesmen Foresee Little War Chance, Touring Newsman Says

Editor's note: Joseph W. Glines, European correspondent for United Press, is in London, in company with a media columnist who reports that a summit conference by world leaders at long last will be held in Geneva, Switzerland, in the near future.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—A significant number of the top statesmen of the western world and the so-called "neutral nations" are convinced that there is little likelihood of a major war in 1958.

They believe that the fear of nuclear destruction is so great that neither communist East nor free West will take such risk.

That is one of the outstanding impressions received by a party of newsmen who have just completed a trip around the world sponsored by the Australian airline, Qantas.

But pro-western leaders, particularly in southeast Asia, warned that communist subversion and infiltration are an expanding menace in that key area. Many urged increased American and western economic aid as the only hope of saving it from communism.

Among the world leaders who talked to this correspondent and others of the party on the global trip were Pope Pius XII, the archbishop of Canterbury, the presidents of India and Pakistan—the prime ministers of India, New Zealand and Thailand, the chief minister of Singapore and cabinet ministers of the United States, Great Britain, West Germany, Italy and Australia.

Most of them favored a new East-West cold war conference, but not another summit meeting unless there are good prospects it would achieve something.

None of the statements interviewed predicted that either East or West would intentionally touch off a third world war.

The pope, addressing the newsmen, warned of the "dangers of war" and said "mutual progress alone is not sufficient to maintain peace."

"It must stir its roots deep down in the souls of men," the pontiff said.

Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury and archbishop, outspoken head of the Church of England, declared it would be "a great luxury" for any country to start a war.

His words were echoed by India's Jawaharlal Nehru.

"It's a question of survival or non-survival," he told the newsmen. "The present outlook is as bad as it could be. But nevertheless I think we'll survive."

Australia's handsome, urbane minister for external affairs, Richard J. Casey, one of the architects of the NATO alliance, summed up the general belief in these words: "The basic element that makes for peace is the certainty of mutual deterrence. That's the great deterrent."

There was almost equal unanimity on the question of a new summit conference.

Nehru came nearest to calling for a parity on the highest level.

"I think a meeting of people who can speak with responsibility is most important," he said. "It is only when they can speak with authority that such a conference would be useful."

But Sir Charles Hill, chief minister for British Prime Minister Gen. Truman Kittachorn, also described communist subversion in southeast Asia as a "major menace" and urged western aid in raising living standards in southeast Asia as the best weapon against the Reds.

Casey described the problem as an appreciable one and said it will be one of the main factors for discussion at the next SEATO council meeting in March.

Here is the present setup in the Pentagon, now under heavy fire, but with some earnest defenders. Strong demands have been made for reorganization and President Eisenhower has asked Gen. Omar Bradley and Adm. Arthur W. Radford (below) to dig into the facts behind the criticisms. Chief target of the critics is the joint chiefs of staff system, which many authorities now consider to be outmoded, cumbersome, red-tape-tangled, slow-moving and riddled with inter-service rivalry.

"Nazi" Youths' Bank Robbery Attempt Foiled

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—A nascent organization of "young nazis" dedicated to "purifying" the city and "restoring order" fell apart yesterday when police arrested five of its members on a bank robbery attempt and other charges.

The five members of the United Nazi Youth League were picked up at their homes shortly before they planned to rob $40,000 from the New York City branch of the Chase Manhattan bank.

The four others under arrest were rounded up by police last night.

Two Back Out

The arrests followed the defection of two youths from the organization. The parents of the youths and told their parents about the planned bank holding. The parents notified authorities.

Police said the gang, composed of 15 to 20 members, had been active for some time. The group was formed two months ago to "purify" the city and "restore order" to the "degenerate" people of the world for the great common good of all.

Police in the apartment had assembled an arsenal of two sawed-off shotguns, two pistols, a .38 Smith and Wesson automatic and an assortment of knives and daggers.

One of the leaders was a German army World War II issue complete with medals.

Police identified the leader of the group as George Leggett, 21, who allegedly fired himself "Commander George von Lieber."

Police said that shortly after the confederation was formed it was faced with a lack of funds. When the members balked at paying dues, Leggett allegedly suggested they rob a bank to get $40,000 to open a camp "somewhere."

As state health administrator, Dr. Carver will receive a salary of $17,000 a year.

Job Now Vacant

When he begins his duties Feb. 1, Dr. Carver will leave the post of health administrator nearly a year. L. J. Peterson was ousted last spring from the job of state health director which was abolished by the 1956 legislature.

Carver was picked from three applicants. Dr. Paul Ellis of Wallace, chairman of the board, said he was the unanimous choice.

Native Idahoan, Carver has been medical director of the district health agency here since 1952. He was director of the state division of preventive medicine from June, 1947, to October, 1952.

Carver, a native Idahoan, attended schools in Pocatello and Boise, went to Boise junior college and received his medical degree from the University of Idaho in 1941. He received his medical degree from the University of Oregon in 1942 and a master of health degree from the Tulane university school of public health in 1946.

Military Duty

Carver was born in Preston and is the son of District Judge John Carver of Pocatello.

He served military duty from 1942 to 1948 with the U. S. public health service.

Dr. John L. Butler has been serving as acting director of mental health and Dr. F. O. Gruber has been acting director of public health, both under appointment by Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

Charges Filed

Charges against the members named in the report of the bank robbery attempt were filed in the district court today. The charges include robbery, kidnapping and violation of a state law prohibiting possession of weapons.

Police described Leggett as a hulk of a man, 5 feet 10 inches tall, 200 pounds, with a prominent nose. He was born in Germany and was wearing "Nazis" for the loss of his family during World War II.

Actually, they said, he was born in the Bronx.

Blacklisted From Army

Assistant Queens District Attorney Michael E. Schmitt said Leggett had been discharged in 1946 from the army after three months service because he was named in the "Blacklist." He also said Leggett had undergone psychiatric treatment twice since 1946.

Leggett in composing the three paragraph charter for the group, made 13 errors in spelling and 11 mistakes in grammar, punctuation or capitalization.

Senator Says Dulles Policy Hikes Status

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Senator Montford D. Miller said Dulles' Secretary of State Dulles has increased his stature in world affairs by his "demonstration of flexibility" in the negotiation of negotiations with Russia.

Miller, assistant Democratic floor leader and a member of the senate foreign relations committee, said Dulles "may have smoothed the way for some of his legislative programs."

Says He's Pleased

The Montana Democrat told an interviewer he was pleased that Dulles' aspect to consult here next month with the U. S. ambassador to Moscow on prospects of new talks with Russia.

The state department announced Friday that Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson will leave Moscow about Jan. 23 to return home for general consultation. Although Dulles will be in Moscow for the same period, he will be in Ankara, Turkey, to attend a meeting of the Baghdad pact council, the same time that Thompson will be in London about Feb. 1. He will meet with Thompson shortly afterwards.

Miller applauded Dulles for his speech in Washington in which Dulles said the United States wants to see the end of the cold war and proper conditions. Dulles called on the Soviet to make clear they will not "use force" which will "peace and justice."

Miller pointed out the cause of the cold war is the "unilateral view in congress there should be no summit meeting until there is evidence on the ambassadorial level that something could be accomplished at top-level talks.

The new flexibility, Miller said, may help Dulles with his foreign aid program and reciprocal trade extension legislation.

The number of cattle on feed is the fourth highest figure on record, however, higher than any year before 1955.

Miller said the air force would send study teams to Montana and elsewhere. Decisions on sites, he said, would depend on the results of the surveys, to be sent out without publicity or advance notice.

He tried to slow down and stop but his brakes failed.

Basic Toughness Beneath Ike, Dulles Words Puts Next Move up to Russians

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have said today that they are determined to discover any changes, backtracking or compromises in their thinking. This week both men discussed the idea of a summit conference with the Russians as Prime Minister Bulganin proposed. Dulles spoke in a news conference. "I think Dulles' account letter arrived Jan. 9. It was pretty much the same as the first. This time Dulles, not just a state department spokesman, discussed a Bulganin proposal as 'massive repetition' and 'propaganda.' Still, that first letter of Bulganin's had to be answered. And this country had to show something positive to offset the Soviet propaganda of Bulganin's letter-writing.

Guilty Pleas Are Given to Lesser Count

Ervin Hootar and Tony Lopez, held in Twin Falls county jail since Dec. 27 on first degree burglary charges, pleaded guilty to an amended complaint of petty larceny Friday in district court, and were sentenced to six months in jail.

However, Judge Hugh A. Baker directed that the men be confined for 60 days and released with the provision they do not come in contact with the law or are convicted of any offense during the remainder of the six-month period.

Hootar and Lopez were arrested Dec. 28 by city police and charged with first degree burglary. They admitted entering the Perrine pharmacy, Twin Falls, and stealing a lamp valued at over $50. The pharmacy was not closed at the time one of the men took the lamp while the other held the attention of a clerk.

Tuesday, Hootar and Lopez pleaded innocent of first degree burglary when arraigned in district court. Both requested the services of an attorney.

Judge Baker appointed Edward Babcock, Twin Falls, to represent them. After consulting with Prosecuting Attorney James M. Carrington, Babcock had his clients plead guilty to the amended complaint charging them with petty larceny.

41 Voted Into Cowboy Hall of Fame Includes Two Idahoans

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 18.—Forty-one persons were voted into the National Hall of Fame by trustees at annual meeting here, as contracts were signed on architect's plans and disbursements leading to construction start at autumn for the first $14 million-dollar unit of the western shrine.

Trustees from 16 of the 17 historic western states chose 11 persons at large to be honored in the memorial, with 30 from other states after nominations had been screened in those states. Oregon did not present nominations this year and Colorado deferred to await polls in connection with its fund raising campaign for the shrine.

All persons to be honored this year are dead. All were identified with the livestock industry, had a hand in development of the American West or were prominent in perpetuation of traditions and ideals of the West, which were the basic criteria for selection and approval by a three-fourths majority of trustees.

The list includes territorial and early state governors; trail blazers of western migration and development; empire builders; colonizers; pioneers and national heroes; frontiersmen; a triple world rodeo cowboy; one of the most popular all-time western movie stars; and two of the century's most prominent animal husbandmen.

Previously voted into the Cowboy Hall of Fame were Will Rogers of Oklahoma; Theodore Roosevelt of New York and North Dakota; wood; Eugene Manlove Rhodes of New Mexico and Brigham Young of Utah.

Honorees by states were: Arizona, Hanson Ahumada and George Ruller; California, Henry C. DuPont and Fred H. Blay, Idaho; Frank Gooding and John Hailey; Kansas, Dan C. Cassment and Calvin J. Floyd; Montana, Robert C. Ford and Carson C. Kohrs; Nebraska, Frank Boone and Edward Craigston; Nevada, John Sparks and Dan Whitsett; New Mexico, John Chisum and Vic Guberson.

Austin and Oliver Loving; Utah, Anthony Ivins and Jacob Hamblin; Washington, Andrew J. Blevins and Benjamin E. Snipes; Wyoming, John H. Kendrick and Francis E. Warren.

Frank H. Gooding, 1829-1893, was a British born pioneer of the Wood river country, founder of the town of Gooding, twice governor of Idaho, U. S. senator and stockman.

Born at Thverton, England, Gooding came to Michigan as an 8-year-old child. As a young man he went west to Shasta, Calif. In 1871, four years later joined the gold rush to southern Idaho. First a mail carrier, he built a business of firewood and charcoal.

In 1888 he settled at the site which became a town, named for him. He organized stockmen's associations, one that became national. He was a state senator in 1900, governor of Idaho in 1908 and 1909. In 1921, after losing a U. S. senatorial election several times, he was appointed to fill an unexpired term, was elected to the seat in 1923. In the senate Gooding became a leader of the farm and livestock bloc. He was one of the men who helped build and advance the state of his adoption.

John Hailey, 1825-1921, was an Oregon trail, Indian fighter in the Rogue river war, stage owner, member of congress, member of the territorial council, warlord, livestock industry director, stockman and slaterhood builder.

Hailey was born in Tennessee, went to Missouri as a young man and west to Oregon in 1853. At 20 he was in the Oregon militia, rising to the rank of lieutenant in the Indian war.

In 1862 he went to Idaho at the height of gold fever, helped establish a stage line from Boise basin to the Columbia river, crossing the blue mountains. He became one of the best known men in the territory.

Elected to congress in 1874 and 1884, he served in the territorial council between terms in Washington, was president of the council in 1880. Later he was warden of the state penitentiary. Hailey, Ida., was named for him. He built a large ranch operation, served long and honorably in various public offices.

By the manner in which he lived his life and his career of public service, Hailey helped build from the territory the state of Idaho.

Richfield Man Traps for Fun

Leslie Bushby identifies some of the traps he has trapped for his youthful protege, George Ray Schläder. Bushby is district deputy water master at Richfield, at the age of five. Mice and gophers in Kansas made his first victims and he earned the rare prize of one cent. An animal from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bushby, now residents of Boise. He graduated to squirrels in the cornfields and then the skunk. Since he and his brother, Lloyd Bushby, were promptly shooed out of the house when they proudly brought home a fine specimen, Leslie transferred his ability to catching mice.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Trapping as a career began for Leslie Bushby, district deputy water master at RICHFIELD, at the age of five. Mice and gophers in Kansas made his first victims and he earned the rare prize of one cent. An animal from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bushby, now residents of Boise. He graduated to squirrels in the cornfields and then the skunk. Since he and his brother, Lloyd Bushby, were promptly shooed out of the house when they proudly brought home a fine specimen, Leslie transferred his ability to catching mice.

When he moved to Richfield in 1921, Bushby found a wide field for his knowledge. He had brushed up on routes in the swampy land near Parma, which is now drained for onion, celery and potato fields. Mink, chiseled-bearing animal on the Richfield tract, bobcat, mink, coyote, otter and beaver are all trapped by Bushby. Open areas for beaver and the low value for copes make their trapping unprofitable this year, Bushby notes.

Starting in October, Bushby operates his trap lines approximately five months a year. Mink, bobcat, mink and badgers are in his seven mile trap line in about 15 miles northeast of Richfield. He reaches part of the line by car, but usually follows him on foot. The traps are placed with two traps at each set. Catching two sets at a set is not uncommon unless a porcupine or rabbit sets there first.

A real outdoorsman and a student of nature, Bushby has gained much first hand knowledge of birds and animals. This knowledge is passed on in talks to the Richfield school students and at Rod and Gun club meetings.

Judge Grants Divorces for Trio of Cases

Three divorce decrees were granted Friday by Judge Hugh A. Baker in Twin Falls district court. Mrs. Catherine Joan Robinson was granted divorce from Robert Raymond Robinson on grounds of extreme cruelty. They were married Dec. 22, 1924.

Delbert W. Thompson was divorced from Mrs. Norma Jean Thompson on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married April 2, 1919, at Blaine, Ariz., and have three children.

Mr. E. D. Bauer received a divorce from Floyd Bauer on grounds of extreme cruelty. A previous property settlement was approved. Mrs. Bauer was represented by May and Wyn, Twin Falls.

found it in a limbless near Pisco. Mrs. Pate also remembers the time a small bull snake crawled out of her father's pocket as he sat on the lawn at home. Bushby had picked the snake the day before and forgotten about it until the snake decided to come out on to the grass.

On another trip to the road near the BLAINE-LINCOLN county line, Bushby stopped the car and jumped into the car for a shotgun. George Ray to the car for a shotgun. Before he returned Bushby had killed the cat and had escaped without a scratch.

George Ray will tell you that Bushby's hunting and fishing ability is amazing. He claims that Bushby can get closer to ducks than anyone else.

The trapper's daughter has learned to open his lunchbox with great caution. Last spring when she lifted the lid a woodpecker flew out into her kitchen. Her father had been marshall for the last five years.

Two-Way Radio Has Varied Uses, Including Canal Company, Cement Firm and Usual Police System

Mrs. Margarette Conant, secretary-clerk of the Twin Falls Canal company, operates base station of two-way radio system used by firm. The system is used extensively, particularly during summer months when canal reaming and ditchriders are operating all over the tract. (Staff photo-engraving)

Most powerful of the two-way radios used in Magic Valley are those used by police agencies. The 250-watt transmitter is capable of reaching as far west as Caldwell and as far east as Pocatello. Mountains to the north and south limit range in those directions. Sheriff James H. Benham, using the system, can contact city and county police on one frequency and state police on another. electrical power. It has a range of one and one-half miles.

The most powerful two-way radio system in operation in Magic Valley is the police radio. The base station radios are powered by 250 watts and have a range up to 200 miles. Each county sheriff's office has a base station and will operate on the same frequency. City police use the same frequency.

The state police radio system is on a different frequency from the county and city law enforcement agencies.

The forest service uses a powerful system but the power is generated from relay stations located on top of mountain peaks which pick up radio signals from the 30-watt mobile units and send them great distances.

One Caldwell radio user was able to transmit a message for a cement truck in Malme which had mechanical failure of the truck engine, and was unable to communicate with the truck's base station.

Such a situation can arise because the radio waves follow a straight line. The radio waves from the truck might have been blocked by a mountain; but the waves of the Caldwell operator could have been bouncing off clouds or other atmospheric particles to carry to the station in Malme.

Most two-way radio interference in the Twin Falls area originates from stations on the East coast, users report, through FCC allocations. Most two-way radio users in the East have the same frequency.

When users in Twin Falls and the West Coast, hence the interference right—of which the interference.

Paul's Auto Lee controls the irrigation water by having one of his irrigators at the foot of the crop rows with a portable radio while another is stationed at the head of the row with a mobile radio. Through radio conversation the water is adjusted so little is wasted.

Lee strives to conserve water because he gets his irrigation water from wells, a comparatively expensive source.

The use of two-way radios by taxi companies at the end of World War II sometimes caused considerable consentation to taxi customers, they reported.

Because of the faster arrival of taxis at the customer's location when they had called by telephone for a taxi, customers were often not happy when taxis arrived.

The Twin Falls Canal company, which has had two-way radio since 1953 credits the system with a great saving of money. Employees report that one time they had a break in one of the canals, but through the use of two-way radio, had crew on the spot in such a short time that it caused little damage.

Permission to install two-way radio has to be obtained from the FCC, Cox said. Firms interested in obtaining a permit should file an application either through a radio repair service or direct to the FCC, stipulating the purpose and the frequency desired.

Radio equipment necessary can be purchased only direct from the manufacturer in most cases, Cox said.

Every system of radio is inspected every six months by the FCC, checking for proper operation of the radio and to be sure the bases are working on the right frequency.

Two-way radio popularity continues to grow in Magic Valley with almost 100 per cent increase noted every year.

DINNER PLANNED

PILGRIM, Jan. 18—Progressive Bible class of the Baptist church will meet Tuesday evening for a dinner at the church. Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker are hosts.

Victories Are Reported for Cancer Fight

which protect chickens and laboratory animals against specific kinds of cancer. These are not yet applicable to human cancers.

In a quest for basic facts about immunity, volunteers at the Ohio penitentiary had cancer cells planted beneath the skin of their arms. Their systems soon destroyed the cancer cells. Later when the same kind of cancer cells was planted again, they were destroyed even faster. The men could not throw off cells of a different type of cancer, though not quite so rapidly.

A key to immunity seemingly lies in the rare case of spontaneous disappearance of cancer. This happens, for no known reason, only about once in every 1,000 cancer victims. Through nationwide cooperation, "proved" "cancer" "history" are being collected, to give clues as to how nature produced this apparent miracle.

Many things are known to cause or be involved in the start of cancer—too much X-rays, some kinds of chemicals, repeated irritation or injury—Numerous studies associate heavy cigarette smoking with greater risk of lung cancer, but some researchers dispute this.

Fundamentally, the big question is why happens in living systems to make some cells go haywire in heedless cancerous growth.

It is the culprit, perhaps viruses of some unknown kind? Viruses are akin to the genetic material in living cells, the material that controls what cells do.

Viruses are known to cause some few kinds of animal and chicken cancers. The virus theory of human cancer now is drawing new and revived support.

Meanwhile the best weapons are the proven ones—radiation and surgery. Technicians in both these fields are improving, and they are saving more lives especially when cancers are detected early.
