U.S.-British Pact On Missile Bases Signed in Secrecy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—The United States and Britain have finally signed—under conditions of secrecy—an agreement for establishing intermediate range missile bases in the British Isles. The missiles and nuclear warheads are to be supplied by the United States. A mysterious silence maintained by the state department and British embassy to the conclusion of the historic agreement was broken late Saturday by the defense ministry in London. A spokesman there said that official statements on the signing will be issued Monday.

Smylie Urges Scouts to Aid Safety Moves

BOISE, Feb. 22 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho today urged that Saturday that the Boy Scouts of America, which has more than 100,000 members in Idaho, be urged to aid in the state's campaign on safety.

"You, the governor said, 'are already demonstrating leadership in the communities, marked by the merit badges of achievement and recognition. I hope you will be able to do this in the future as well.'

Smylie spoke at a luncheon at the state capitol building, where he presented a plaque to the Boy Scouts' principal project this year throughout the nation, called "The Safety Good Turn," it emphasizes safety. Similar plaques are being given to President Roosevelt and to Governor Smylie.

Smylie described the safety project as "one of the best programs that scouting has ever had. It is thoroughly in accord with our four-year program of 'Service to God and Country.'

"We all welcome you to this crusade for a safer America," Smylie added, "knowing as you do safety anxiety is our own individual responsibility, and that most of us can do a great deal to make all of us consider safety first."

Guard Keeps Eye on Idaho Water Perils

BOISE, Feb. 22 (AP)—Idaho officials viewed predicted warm weather with "alarm Saturday as the state water engineer said that the snow pack in the mountains because of possible flood danger.

Col. George B. Bennett, the state water engineer, said that the snow pack in the mountains is now melting and that the water is running down the mountainside. He said that the water is running down the mountainside and that the water is running down the mountainside.

Bennett said that the water is running down the mountainside and that the water is running down the mountainside.

Freight Rate Boosts Apply Within Idaho

BOISE, Feb. 22 (AP)—Last week's application of 17 per cent railroad freight rate increases on commodities allowed to shipments within Idaho borders.

The Idaho public utility commission granted the general increases, resulting in a 17 per cent increase on commodities — logs, ore, sugar, beet and seed potatoes.

In making the exceptions the commission quoted protests from farmers throughout the state who are engaged in mining, lumber growing and processing.

The rates were Amalgamated and Utah-Idaho Sugar companies; Boise-Cascade corporation, which has mills in southern Idaho; Potlatch Forests, Inc. of northern Idaho; large intrastate shipper; and the Idaho Producers association.

All protested that their operating costs will be increased as the freight rates increase. Through extensive use of rails for shipments within the state, they said they would be forced to use trucks, increasing if rail rates were increased.

Ask for Increase
Six railroads operating in Idaho and the state are asking the Interstate Commerce commission to grant a similar increase in freight rates on shipments of commodities.

Their arguments and those of farmers and shippers are being reviewed by the commission since hearings last December.

Idahoan Honored by Freedom Unit

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., Feb. 22 (AP)—One individual and one high school from Idaho were included among the recipients of the Freedom Unit award by the Freedom Foundation for aiding in providing a better understanding of the American way of life during 1935.

Mr. Robert Hensch, 3005 E. 10th Street, Boise, was given the Freedom Unit award for his editorial, "Who Guarantees Freedom?"

A high school editorial award was given to Moscow high school for the editorial, "Who Guarantees Freedom?"

Nevada Governor Asks Third Term

ELKO, Nev., Feb. 22 (AP)—Gov. Charles Russell announced today he would seek a third consecutive term in office.

Russell's declaration at a meeting of the state Republican central committee today was the only one of its kind to date he had repeated. He had not made a similar statement in the past.

Russell will seek the GOP nomination for a third term in 1937.

No Nevada governor has sought a third term since Democrat L. B. Russell, who was elected in 1874 after serving two terms in 1874.

Twin Falls Lemon Crop Ready to Pick

Six Perish in Copter Crash

RED BLUFF, Calif., Feb. 22 (AP)—Six crewmen were killed Saturday when a four-engine Sikorski helicopter crashed in rugged Sierra foothills about 10 miles southeast of here.

Three other crewmen suffered minor injuries.

A fourth crew member was a crash landing. None of the crew was hurt.

Col. Frank G. Forest, sixth army aviation officer, after a preliminary investigation, said he was confident there was no collision in the air, as reported earlier. He added that the crash was due to the cause of the accident.

Three H-12Cs, part of a flight of 12 headed for Ft. Lewis, Wash., from Ft. Riley, Kans., crashed into extremely inaccessible country.

Two of the "flying bananas" carrying crews of three each were killed.

A third returned but the three crewmen escaped with minor injuries.

The fourth helicopter was involved in a separate mishap.

Severe Penalties—Cut Drug Racket

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—The House today passed legislation imposing severe penalties for drug peddling and cutting down the narcotic traffic and addition in the United States, congress was said Saturday.

Narcotics Commissioner H. J. Anslinger reported that the drug racket in New York remains as bad as ever in an otherwise improving national control.

The bill, introduced by the house appropriations committee, Amending earlier there was a substantial increase in the number of addicts in 1935. He credited this to the narcotic control law passed by congress in 1934.

This law provides mandatory jail sentences of five years for the first offense by drug peddlers, 10 years for the second and 20 years for the third offense. No parole is allowed.

NEWS BULLETINS

PADANG, Sumatra, Feb. 22 (AP)—Indonesian bombers hit three revolutionaries in Central Sumatra and the North Celebes Saturday, knocking out their communications.

LONDON, Feb. 22 (AP)—British-U.S. effort to end the feud between Britain and Russia was said Saturday under the way early.

'Economic Misrule' By Administration Rapped by Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—Harry S. Truman rapped the Eisenhower administration Saturday night, saying that five years of "economic misrule" have produced a Republican recession at home and a "crisis of confidence" abroad. The Republican leadership, said the scrappy former president, is weak, timid, complacent, and has failed to advance with the times. As a result, he said, the American people are fed up, disillusioned and being lambasted by the Republicans.

And he told fellow Democrats just what he wanted to see done that the party is going to rack and sweep victories in 1938 and 1940.

Democratic bigwigs from all over the country congregated here to take a drink with the Republican and (2) a bundle of cash to combat them. Some 3,000 of them, party leaders and 100 speakers for a dinner honoring Truman—the last Democratic occupant of the White House.

Adlai E. Stevenson, the party presidential candidate in 1932 and 1936 and other party stalwarts were on the list for oratorical efforts. But Truman was the main speaker at the dinner.

The turnout was so big that it had to be double-headed, with half the partisans in the ballroom at the Sheraton Park hotel and the other half in the ballroom for the address, televised and broadcast nationally by CBS, NBC, and ABC.

The 70-year-old Truman was a mix of a tired and a new man.

Probation Given for Topsy Driving Count

Bobby E. Rhodes, Buhl, charged with drunken driving, reported offense, was sentenced to five years in state penitentiary Friday in Twin Falls district court, but sentence was withheld by Judge Hugh A. Baker and Rhodes was placed on probation for 18 months.

Rhodes previously had pleaded guilty and the court had sentenced him to five years in state penitentiary. Rhodes was released by State Patrolman Richard Burns Jan. 25 on U.S. highway 50 about three-fourths of a mile west of Buhl. He had been convicted of drunken driving on Jan. 19, 1935.

Rhodes, 41, 189 Carney street, charged with drunken driving, was arrested by State Patrolman Richard Burns Jan. 25 on U.S. highway 50 about three-fourths of a mile west of Buhl. He had been convicted of drunken driving on Jan. 19, 1935.

Senator Says Projects Are Vital for U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—Senator Charles McNary, Ore., declared today that testimony on Soviet Russia's hydroelectric development is a "mandatory" part of the cost of all the financial, municipal, public utility district and federal power projects now being planned in the Northwest.

Dworak said that U.S. army engineers chief Gen. E. G. Snodgrass told the senate interior committee that the Soviet Union was now nearing completion of its hydroelectric capacity with generation of 25-billion kilowatts as compared with 27 billion in the United States.

The army officer, Dworak said, presented figures showing that the cost of the Soviet project is one-third that of the American project.

"I think our projects can stand on their own merits and do not need to be artificially compared with those of the Soviets to justify them," Dworak said.

Dworak said he asked General Snodgrass if he "wasn't surprised at the middle class attitude of the project," and Snodgrass replied: "Yes, very much."

The senator, who is a member of the committee, suggested an annual report be submitted on power projects in the Soviet Union as well as data on all power generation by communist nations.

"Since McNary has declared the Soviets are going to wage industrial war against us," he added, "it is necessary that we know what they are doing in the way of power generation and that we develop all of our own sources of power."

ICC Official Said Slated for Ouster

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 22 (AP)—The first step today to force the resignation of Thomas A. Mack, federal railroad commissioner, was taken by the Minnesota Public Safety act Saturday in a copyrighted article from Washington.

Clare Mollenhoff, Washington correspondent for the Tribune, said today that he was saying Sherman-Adams' presidential assistant had led the word to Mack that he was being ousted as well as usefulness to the administration has ended because of the revelation in the house subcommittee on legislative oversight.

Leaves Hospital 3 Dead as Truck, Automobile Crash

SPOKANE, Feb. 22 (AP)—A Montana state trooper today reported that the unauthorized release of a Montana state prison inmate, walked north about 10 miles from the state hospital where he has been a patient.

Mr. E. Richardson, 26, was in the hospital here for treatment of a "bone infection" when charges of using fraudulent state papers were filed against him at Deer Lodge, Mont., last Thursday.

Summer Home Owners, Forest Service Personnel Hold Meet

More than 100 summer home owners in the Sawtooth national forest met with forest personnel today at Deer Lodge, Mont., to discuss problems involved in the summer home program, according to Maurice Pickett, forest supervisor.

The meeting was scheduled originally at Deer Lodge, Mont., but the addition area west, but the large turnout necessitated moving to the city last night.

"This marked the first general meeting of summer home permittees," Pickett said. "We hope to have annual meetings from now on."

T. F. Library Shelves Have Book Listings

New books making their debut on the shelves of the Twin Falls public library include several well-known authors and range in scope from the biographical to the world of zoology.

Betty Smith, who wrote "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," again has turned toward that city for the background of her new novel, "Magie," a ground of her heart-lunging story now is warm heart-lunging story which will win many interested readers.

Another favorite is Hal Borland's "The Antler," involving a young Alaskan with a quest in turbulent times. "The Black Bird" by Frank Goodwyn is an unusual selection for those who believe in symbolism, and who will compare some of the ideas in this book with those of "Foxy Dick."

Four biographies head the non-fiction list—Christian Dior and I, revealing some of his ideologies in the designing of the city for the first story of Barney Ross, an autobiography, entitled "No Man Knows My Story" in Branch Rickey, American in Action, by Arthur Hays Sulzberger, and "All I Want is Everything," by Marion Prentiss, a woman who from almost to the wilds of Africa.

Three titles covering American progress and problems include "Complete Encyclopedia," which covers us on why we are like we are; "City and Suburban Housing," by Peter, and an argument about the housing squeeze and racketeering; and "The Right of the People," Douglas, and the control of public expression and restraint by custom in society today.

General items include "Complete Book of Chess Openings," "The American Anecdotes," "Why 'Three Plays' by William Douglas; "License Manual for Examiners," Johnson, P.C.C. Training Series; "Save the World," by Edna Belden, from Keystone Kops to Tele-Val, an evaluation; "World of Spices," Elmer, photographs taken from the True Life series; and "Pride Book of Mammals," Palmer, a reference book on mammals.

Teen-Agers Raid School in Kansas

AUBURN, Kan., Feb. 22 (AP)—Ten to 15 teen-agers burst into Auburn high school Friday and searched for minutes before they could be driven out.

Principal Ray Nichols said the raiders came armed with brass knuckles and beer bottles, arrived in an automobile and a truck. They smashed windows, threw things through glass and threatened several persons.

Nichols said he did not know any of the gang. He said he showed one marauder out and the others when he telephoned the sheriff's office.

Before going to the school the day stopped at the home of a neighbor and threatened the operator, Lloyd Cole. Cole said he drove them away by threatening them with his iron.

Authorities did not immediately establish the identities of the invaders.

Auburn has a population of about 10 and is located 14 miles south of Topeka.

Joyce Kail Wins First Place in T.F. Oratory Contest Sponsored by Legion

A pratty, redheaded Twin Falls high school senior, Joyce Kail, first place Friday night in the annual local American Legion oratorical contest. Second and third place winners were a sophomore, Scott Phillips, and a junior, Shilo Daniels. Miss Kail will represent Twin Falls Tuesday night at Rupert at the district contest. The district winner will compete in the state contest.

Each of the three winners Friday night presented engraved cups. They were chosen from a group of 35 finalists who participated in the local contest.

Others who participated were Patsy Butler, senior; Thelma Hansen, junior; and Nancy Hoque, senior. A seventh contestant, Anna Marshall, was unable to participate because of illness.

The annual contest, which has become a goal of honor for ambitious students, is sponsored by the Legion to assist in developing an informed and loyal citizenry, and to develop leadership in students.

The seven finalists were selected from a group of 30 high school students whose essays had been chosen from all those written in the school. Students began preparations by writing a theme for their English classes. From these themes the field was narrowed down until the final announcement of the winner of Friday night's contest.

Mrs. George Warberg, an English teacher at the junior high school, said she had read and corrected 126 student themes and "was amazed at the depth of thought, feeling and understanding of our government as expressed by these young writers."

Indeed the audience she had considered it a privilege to help the young students in their writing.

Robert Stephan, Legion chairman of the contest, stated, "Was in the American Legion feel this is a very good program." He said it is one of the best of the Legion's best Americanism and the Legion feels that by sponsoring such events it is helping to develop a better citizenry.

The Legion also sponsors junior baseball in the summer as part of the local youth program.

4-Cent Stamp Ballots Seen For Senators

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—Senator Monroney, D., Okla., predicted Saturday the senate will vote next week for a four-cent stamp for senators instead of the five cent asked by President Eisenhower on non-mailage.

The house voted last year for a flat-rate cent rate as part of a postal revenue increase bill. Then the senate passed a bill which would vote 7-6 last Thursday to amend the measure to put a five cent stamp on the ballot for a three-year period, July 1, 1958, to June 30, 1962.

Monroney and Chairman Olin Johnson, D., S. C., of the postal committee plan to lead a fight against the postage committee. Senate Republican Leader Knowland, California, said reporters he expects "a fairly close vote" on the issue.

Other survivors are 26 grandchildren and one great-granddaughter; two sisters, Mrs. J. Stokes, Grand Island, and Mrs. M. O'Connell, Ogden; three half-brothers, Evan Jones and Gordon Jones, Brigham City, Utah, and one brother, two half-sisters, Laron Jones and Lucille Jones, both Brigham City.

Expert Warns Twin Falls Residents to Spray Trees Now to Control Elm Scale

Now is the time for Twin Falls trees to be sprayed with the spread of European elm scale and other parasitic insects, according to the Entomologist at the University of Idaho extension entomologist, who met with two separate groups here Friday.

Portman says unusually warm weather soon will break open the scales on the trees, thus allowing another cycle of insect life to begin.

Hailey Man Is Riled up Over Attack on Sen. Frank Church

Editor, Times-News:
In reply to an article in your Public Forum, I must admit that this bird has my blood boiling in regard to our Democratic senator, Frank Church, giving away a few buckets of love. I wonder if that letter writer realizes that just recently Frank Church was voted one of the most outstanding young men of the United States.

He says that a Democratic apoplexy creased in him at the words, "For unions. In quoting his words, "For

Heated Objection Made to Plan for Hunter Insurance

Editor, Times-News:
I think Wayne Mac Gregor's hunter insurance law attack. After reading his article on page 11 of Wednesday's issue, I think it is self to the job. You have to know what you are doing and you have to keep on doing it if you are going to hold down that job. It is no small wonder to me that the firm he worked for folded up and he went on his way.

Abraham Lincoln (by the way, he was a Republican president) stated these words: "A house divided against itself can not stand; if we are divided we stand, divided we fall; and that goes for unions and democracy both."

I am quoting the words of this Alro guy—I have learned the hard way that if you can't whip them, join them. From here on in it is the GOP for us.

I don't know who he calls us. Maybe he ate an apple with a worm in it.

He claims there are two quick ways to get rich—crooked unions and crooked politics. I guess he is coming around politics because he just stated that he can't whip the GOP so he is going to join them. Poor man! I see you would not want him on my side.

He says he does not need a college degree to know what is going on, but is sure as heck would help him to see the light. I have plenty of right left in me and I am not going to turn tail and run to the other side.

Reader Continues Discussion Of 'Purpose and Plan of God'

Editor, Times-News:
I would like to continue on the subject of God's purpose and plan. I believe He made man for a special purpose. I believe He made the earth and the fulfills thereof for I believe He has worked in and through mankind to fulfill His purpose. As we look into His domain down through time, I feel that we can see His plan unfolding.

We will have the scene of the garden for this time and go down to the time before the flood. We see that man had become very wicked and that it was an inner conviction for God says in Genesis 6:5 that every imagination of the thought of his heart was only evil continually.

So the trouble was within—an evil power within that made them wicked. And because of that He says in the earth.

This was an example to those who would come after—that Noah was considered righteous in the sight of God in that he was saved because he obeyed God.

In the Bible we see the value of being righteous. In this we can see a light or shadow of greater things to come.

We will now leave this scene and go on to another—to a great man named Abram, who later was named Abraham. God spoke to Abram and told him to get out of his country and from his people and he would make of him a great nation. And Abram obeyed, and through this man God did raise up a people—a special people to be His people; a favored people if they would keep His commandments. If they did not, they were punished and sometimes destroyed.

And they were continually going away from Him. But if they would report, He would have mercy and pardon them.

I bring out these thoughts to show how God deals with man. He made man, put into him the breath of life and He has power to take away that life. Man ought to fear God. He rewards the righteous and punishes the unrighteous.

God gave Abraham, an heir, a son, in his old age. Those who read the Bible know the story and it is true. God named the son Isaac. Isaac begeth Jacob, who later was named Israel, and through him began the line from whom came the 12 tribes of Israel.

And through them a great family of people was raised up. And through them God fulfilled and brought into being His plan—the plan of Salvation.

Letter Objects to Joining of Water and Garbage Fee

Editor, Times-News:
Having recently noticed an article in the Times-News concerning the garbage and water connection, I was contacted to do an article on this subject.

Since the public is permitted to vote on various objectives planned in the future, could it not be possible to vote on the garbage issue? Since garbage hauling has any connection with water, they pay for one when you pay for the other. This involves principle in city management.

In refusing to submit to this squeeze play, one would most likely be without water. Considering the fee attached to the water service seems of no consequence. It is the refusal of force whereby obtaining fee from the public by attaching or consolidating garbage with a domestic water supply.

Such an act seems unconstitutional and infringes on the rights of a free people.

Hornets Take Win Over Pirates for Southside Crown

DECLO, Feb. 22.—Leaping to an early lead, faltering in the third quarter and then finishing strong, the Declo Hornets wrapped up the Southside conference championship by beating Hagerman 36-34 Friday night.

The Pirates employed a tough zone defense in the third period which threw the Hornets off stride. Declo won seven minutes and 45 seconds in that quarter without scoring a point while Hagerman closed in. Then Darringer, who threw up a field goal that provided a 23-27 third quarter edge for the winners.

Declo's key play was the last quarter when Declo managed to get an extra free throw that gave it the two-point winning margin.

"It was a solid error," said Dr. W. "See anything wrong?" asked Dr. W. Schanen shook his head.

"Now, three, four, five more balls, strike!"

"See anything wrong yet?" Dr. W. inquired, a embarrassed look on his face.

"Wid's strike, strike stretched to 4, 9, 10, 11 and finally 12—every one in the 1-3 pocket for his first 300 game."

Martin to Try Out For Shortstop

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Johnny Peaky, former Detroit Tiger and Boston Red Sox shortstop, has taken on his third pupil—Billy Martin, a key figure in Detroit's hope for a higher finish in the 1936 American league campaign.

Peaky, who is a manager in the Tiger farm system.

Martin, obtained in a trade with the Tigers for pitcher Red Evers, played shortstop on a regular basis. He was a second and third baseman with New York and the Athletics.

Oregon State Crushes UCLA For PCC Win

LONG BEACH, Calif., Feb. 22.—Oregon State dealt UCLA's championship hopes a crushing blow today in a 12-0 victory over the Bruins in a Pacific Coast conference basketball game. The Beavers were pretty much in command of the game from the start.

The victory put State's Bill Cilla's Beavers in second place with a 9-5 record in the conference.

Oregon State's Dave Gimble, who scored in points as OSC beat Southern California 50-50 Friday evening, threw in 30 Sagittarius points for the week ending Feb. 15-15-31 by Washington's Bob Houbergs. The Beavers have four straight wins in the conference.

Science Chief Will Speak at Borah Parley

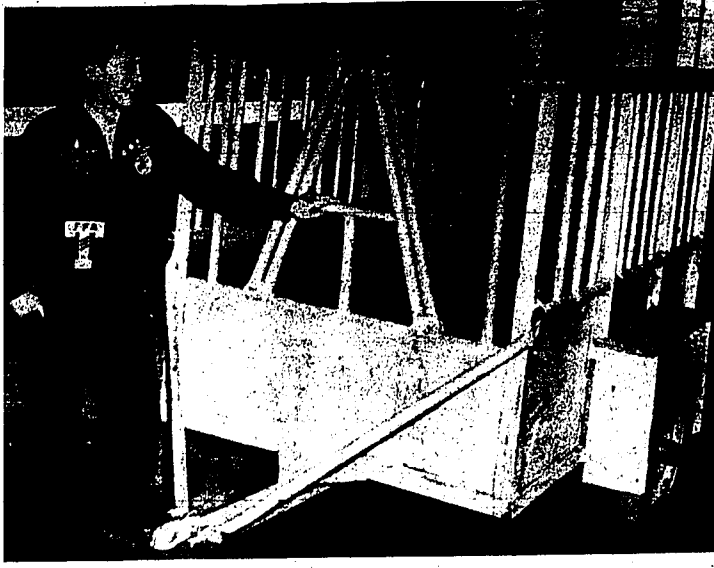

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Feb. 22.—Dr. Borah, chairman of the United States national committee for the international geophysical year, was named today as a speaker at the 11th annual Borah Foundation conference and the cause of war and the conditions of peace, to be held at the University of Idaho March 1 and 2.

Dr. Kessler will cover the scientific position of the conference theme of "Society, Science, Security." Dean John E. Bunker of the school of humanities and social studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology will speak on scientific and political institutions.

The foundation which presents the conference was established at the University of Idaho in 1929 by a grant from Salmon O. Levinson, prominent Chairman of the University of Idaho. Sen. William E. Borah and his efforts on behalf of peace. The 1936 conference is a continuation of postwar activities, which has included similar conferences annually since 1945.

A professor of physics at the University of California has been active on a number of national and international committees of the United States national committee for the IOY, he is responsible for the program of geophysical research which will be conducted during 1957-1958 in cooperation with 55 other nations.

Farmers Meeting Slated in Rupert

RUPERT, Feb. 22.—The Minidoka county Pomona Orange is sponsoring an all-day farmers institute Monday at the Rupert Grange hall, according to William Pritz, county agent.

Thomas Ravencroft, Tullie, will open the meeting at 10 a.m. with a talk on "Soil Conservation, Windbreak and Wood Preservation." A panel on Christian faith and modern life will have the Rev. J. H. Hill as moderator, with Reverend McNeill, Rupert, and the Rev. Paul V. Zahler, Boise. Two other meetings will be held.

Lunch at noon will be served by the Rupert Grange. The afternoon session will be reviewed by Virgil Kennedy, Boise, at 1:30 p.m. Robert Higgins, Boise, will present a paper on "The Old Farm." The afternoon session will be moderated by Rev. J. H. Hill, Rupert, and the Rev. Paul V. Zahler, Boise. Two other meetings will be held.

New Leader for Club Is Installed

Mrs. Sam Caudle was installed as president of the Union Pacific Boosters club Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. M. E. Brown.

Other officers are Mrs. Morris Blackburn, vice president; Mrs. Earl Boatright, secretary; Mrs. Cora Newberry, treasurer; Mrs. M. E. Brown, reporter; Cliff Morgan, assistant reporter; Jerry Carrel, assistant reporter; and Lawrence, adviser.

Hansen says national FFA has 30,000 members with 9,000 chapters in the 48 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Membership in Idaho totals 3,400.

McKay explained that FFA chooses the work of George Washington's birthday each year for observance of FFA week.

McKay explained that while Washington is usually recognized as the first president and a Revolutionary war general, his first love was the farm he called Mount Vernon.

"George Washington was one of the first in the United States to

FFA Members Are Focusing Attention On Work in Nation During This Week

Purpose Farmers of America members throughout the nation are focusing special activities to focus public attention on their work during National FFA week, Feb. 22 to March 1, inclusive.

Locally, members of the Twin Falls FFA chapter plan a television program, radio program and a window display in Idaho Power company windows on Main avenue north.

"Membership in the FFA is made up of farm youths who are students of vocational agriculture in high school. The organization's activities are designed primarily to help develop rural leadership and good citizenship," says John Lawrence, Twin Falls vocational agriculture teacher.

Lawrence added, "FFA is also designed to encourage the youths to better achievement in their study and work, to secure successful establishment of farming."

Twin Falls FFA chapter has 61 members. Officers are Jim Hansen, president; Gale Kleinkopf, vice president; Jim Anderson, secretary; Marvin Taylor, treasurer; Larry McKay, reporter; Cliff Morgan, assistant reporter; Jerry Carrel, assistant reporter; and Lawrence, adviser.

practices contour planting, crop rotation, fertilization, and other soil conservation and improvement methods," McKay explained.

Cliff Morgan said the Twin Falls FFA chapter was the fifth to be organized in the state. It was chartered in 1929 with John S. Feidman as the first adviser. He noted that there are now 57 FFA chapters in Idaho.

President Hansen says the Twin Falls chapter moved into its new building which was designed by Lawrence. "We have a five-acre field in back of our building and every year we have a big display at the county fair," he explained.

Hansen said the high school junior and senior members of the chapter keep the vocational agriculture shop in good order, replacing old equipment and building new. Recently the shop was entirely reconditioned with a new paint job by FFA members.

A stock trailer owned by Gale Kleinkopf and built in the shop will be entered this year in the FFA farm mechanics contest. An A-frame hoist, built by Morgan, Harold McCoy and Ray Crawford, also will be entered in the contest.

Another project of the chapter is darkening of the laboratory so it may be used for visual education by the use of slides and projector. The purchase of a suitable projector is another of the chapter's projects.

"Vocational education in agriculture is a nation-wide, federally aided program of systematic instruction in agriculture and farm mechanics," Lawrence said. "The course is conducted in public schools for persons over 14 years who have entered work connected with the farm or farm home."

Lawrence is employed on a 12-month basis, as are other vocational agriculture teachers. Class instruction is followed throughout the year by supervising the farming operations of the students on their parents' farms. In addition to his study in school each student is required to conduct a supervised farming program where he puts into actual practice the farming knowledge gained in the classroom. Students usually start as freshmen with small projects, such as a few chickens, a pig, a calf and a acre or two of crops.

As students advance they are encouraged to expand their farming programs so that by the time they complete high school they have built up an investment in farming large enough to permit them to farm on a full-time basis.

In addition to study of agricultural production, students receive training in marketing and problems of farm economics. Considerable emphasis is given to farm mechanic training.

The national FFA organization was launched in November, 1928, in Kansas City, Mo. Each state association and each local chapter elects officers annually.

FFA is sponsored by the agricultural education branch of official education, U. S. department of health, education and welfare in cooperation with various state boards for vocational education.

Colors of the FFA are national blue and corn gold. The FFA motto is: "Learning to do, Doing to learn, Earning to live, Living to serve."

Honorary members of the Twin Falls FFA chapter are O. O. Taylor, Cecil Helm, Gene Hull, Fred Wainwright, Col. E. O. Walker, Carl Boyd, Kenneth Hall, Lyons Smith, John Lawrence, Jack Smith, C. W. Dalph, A. W. Morgan, Ivan Skinner, Ernest Ragland, Roy Painter, Howard Rook, Jack Farmer, Lyle Frazier, Dean Broadhead, Bill Friday, John Platt, Albert Mylorie.

Members Ask Bill Support In Area Meet

HEYBURN, Feb. 22.—Congressmen were asked to support the anti-ship bill now before congress and to maintain the support now effective until the new bill is passed in a resolution voted on at the annual district meeting of the Jerome Co-operative Creamery association in Heyburn Friday.

Jack Hiltbrand was elected to replace Elmer Heister in the Heyburn county district. Robert Stevens was named to replace Lamar Hanks for the Cassia district and Don Mackey, Oakley, was reelected for a three-year term for local board of directors.

T. M. Hawkes, Paul, was reelected to the central board.

The all-day meeting was well attended. Mrs. Alce W. Lewis, director of information for the agricultural education of California, was principal speaker. Duward Campbell, state dairy inspector, Boise; Hawkes, Albert Jagen, Buhl, chairman of the central board and president of the board of directors for the Challenge corporation; and Roy D. Smith, Jerome, president of the Jerome Co-operative Creamery, gave financial and production reports.

The Heyburn high school dance band played during the noon luncheon, which was served by the Heyburn Lions Relief societies. In the afternoon the music department from Minico high school, directed by Ned Stock, presented vocal quartets and chorus numbers. A trumpet solo was presented by a Decio high school student.

Peculiar People Used as Subject For Club's Talks

Magic Valley Scouts Work on Safety Program As Part of Year-Long Project of Scouts in U.S.

The Snake River council, Boy Scouts of America, is promoting safety and educating Scouts as well as the general public in proper safety practices as part of a year-long safety program. Executive Harold Gribble reports that Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer Scout units in Magic Valley have already contacted state and local police in a drive to learn what they can about highway safety. The national safety program has been set up by the National Safety Council in cooperation with the Boy Scouts of America and has been endorsed by President Eisenhower. It is expected that all of the four and one-half million youngsters participating in the U. S. will be given some training in safety and that most of the Scouts will be able to pass their training on to others. The program is aimed at adults as well as Boy Scouts, according to Gribble. The program has been separated into three phases. Traffic safety will be stressed in March, April and May, outdoor safety in June, July and August, and home safety will be stressed in September, October and November. Scout units are participating in the program competitively and co-operatively, according to Gribble.

The plan is to have each Cub Scout or Boy Scout sign a safety pledge to cooperate and participate in the program. Each Scout unit will be trying to obtain a plaque from the National Safety Council. Before the program begins they will be awarded paper shields. For each complete successfully they will be given a seal for the shield. For each unit having three seals, they will be given a permanent plaque indicating successful participation in the safety program. Explorer Scout Darwin Chaney, Trolley, post No. 46, briefed Governor Smylie in Boise Saturday, giving the governor the past activities of the Scouts in the state and telling what is planned for the coming year. Then the governor formally opened the program. Boy Scout troop 67, Twin Falls, sponsored by the First Methodist church, has already fulfilled one project in traffic safety. Scout Leader Frank Mogenson, an Idaho state patrolman, has shown traffic safety films at several of troop 67's recent meetings and the Scouts have spent considerable time at the main intersections of Twin Falls recording minor traffic violations. Mogenson points out the value in observing and recording the viola-

Golden Age Club Is Proving Fun Can Begin at Age of 60

Fun begins at 60, according to members of the Twin Falls Golden Age club, whose members are all 60 years old or more. Their latest meeting was held at a gay nineties party, and almost all of the 71 elderly persons attending dressed to fit the part. They danced the Virginia Reel, had a varied program that included singing and dancing and wound up with every-one playing cards. The first Golden Age club meetings were held in the city park and the refreshments and planning were handled by the Soroptomist club in cooperation with the city park and recreation department. But as soon as the officers of the club were elected and members more organized they began to take care of themselves. Members provide their own refreshments and food and organize their own entertainment. At every meeting members pass the hat. With the money they have donated so far, they have purchased utensils to serve and eat with, bought a coffee maker and pay rent at the Disabled American Veterans hall where they hold their meetings. Every meeting is purely social except at a breakfast. Other speakers will include Shuman, Secretary of Agriculture, Dr. David Allman, president of the American Medical Association, Dr. Margaret Mead, noted anthropologist; Dr. James H. Hilton, president of Iowa State University. Shuman agreed, however, that it to award bicycle licenses to those completing the skill tests satisfactorily. Bicycle rides are contemplated in almost all Magic Valley towns, Gribble says, sponsored by local Boy Scout units. Some other projects planned by Boy Scout units include a "driver-ama," a miniature traffic situation where persons try to figure out how to avoid accidents; map making to pinpoint traffic accidents within the city and explain the reasons and hazards, and safety hikes wherein Scouts take a non-stop hike through a town and observe traffic pedestrian violations. President to Keynote Food Conference To Aid Health, Farm Surplus Problem

By OVID A. MARTIN WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower will keynote a one-day food conference Monday. It was called to show Americans how to eat their way to better health and to do so help solve the farm surplus problem. The national conference is being sponsored by 51 farm and food in-

had a very important implication for farmers. "If Americans improve their diets an average of 5 per cent, the farm surplus problem would disappear," he said. "The resulting increased demand for nutritious foods would require the present productive capacity of agriculture to supply." Eisenhower will give the opening address at a breakfast. Other speakers will include Shuman, Secretary of Agriculture; Dr. David Allman, president of the American Medical Association; Dr. Margaret Mead, noted anthropologist; Dr. James H. Hilton, president of Iowa State University. Shuman agreed, however, that it

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Magic Valley friends report Mrs. Rosetta Hunt Bryington, former DEGLA resident, celebrated her 82nd birthday anniversary recently at the home of a daughter in Long Beach, Calif. Mrs. Bryington was born Feb. 7, 1876, in Huntville, Utah, and came to Idaho at an early age. She was married to Joseph Bryington in 1892 at Armo, and was the mother of 13 children, seven of whom are living. Mr. Bryington died in 1952.

Mrs. Bryington will always be remembered by the many families she nursed. During the first World war when the flu epidemic was at its worst, almost every family in Declo was stricken.

Mrs. Bryington traveled by horse and buggy through deep snow to aid them. When her son, Tommy, 17, died of flu, there were hardly enough men on their feet to bid his grave.

Mrs. Bryington was always an active member in the Declo LDS church where she worked in the Relief society and the Sunday school organization.

Mrs. Bryington has a family that numbers over 150 descendants including seven children, 31 grand-children, 73 great-grandchildren and 23 great-great-grandchildren. Her daughters are Mrs. Emily Pearl Thompson, Mrs. Ceila Lau, Mrs. Jewel Saur and Mrs. Bishop Daniels, all of Long Beach and her sons are Lawrence Bryington, Bishop Call, Walter Bryington, Blackfoot, and Joseph Henry Bryington, Jerome.

Two HANSEN women made the regular Friendship club meeting last week but their nerves weren't exactly calm.

E. R. Arment went out to milk on the morning of a recent meeting and discovered Gollath, their little dog, filled with perfume, collared and hat, when they finished they counted 169, all of which were stuck in Gollath's hair.

"He did look like Santa Claus," Mrs. Arment said.

Gollath was named because he is spongy and aggressive although little like large dogs possess. He seems to have no ill effects.

The week before that, Mrs. Carl Hensberg, Hansen, missed the meeting entirely because Kewan, age 2 1/2, drank a small bottle of perfume. All of it. The dog was discovered when Debbie Hensberg, 5, came crying to her mother that Kippy was sure to die.

"The only ill effects—however, seemed to be that Kippy was slier than usual because of the alcohol content. The doctor quieted their fears but no one could stop the way Kippy sneezed. Kippy sneezed so loudly that it was an effort for his family to stay in the house with him.

Kippy has a habit of tasting things, just before Christmas, he

"Man's Greatest Need"
By ROBERT SCHRECKENBERG (Pastor, Twin Falls Southern Baptist Church)

In modern living, man needs much in the way of material things to get along. The necessities of just living are enough to cause many gray hairs to appear on the head of the breadwinner. To satisfy these basic necessities of life sometimes places both the husband and wife in the labor pool.

Man is not always satisfied with just the necessities of material life. The philosophy of our age has colored his thinking to the point where he must keep up with the "Joneses." Many think that life consists only in the abundance of things that one possesses. Some emphasize the opposite. He said, "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he possesseth."

We struggle, plan, save and work to get what we think we ought to have in life, but I can hear the voice of Jesus say, "One thing is needful, and Mary hath chosen that good part." (Luke 10:42) In this Scripture, Jesus, in tender compassion, rebuked Martha for putting the wrong emphasis on things when she said, "Martha, Martha, thou art troubled and art in many things." These "things" that Jesus condemned were not necessarily wrong in themselves.

The emphasis here is that it is more important to pay attention to spiritual needs or to the real issue of life—Jesus Christ. We can get too entangled in the things that get us excited and troubled about Jesus. We can get "too cumbered about much serving" and forget that man's greatest need is Jesus Christ.

"Man does not live by bread alone." This was the statement Jesus used to rebuke the devil when he was tempted to turn the stone into bread. The rest of the verse tells us "but by every word of God." Jesus was saying that there is more to life than making a living. He put the spotlight where it belonged—on the spiritual. In his great discourse on the bread of life, in John's Gospel, chapter 6, verse 50, Jesus said, "This is the bread which cometh down from heaven, that a man may eat thereof and not die." Jesus is reminding us that the soul of man is more important than the physical or material.

In the sermon on the Mount, Jesus emphasized: "Seek ye first the

Scouts Schedule Safety Check of Cars Here Next Saturday

Boy Scouts of troop 183, sponsored by the Twin Falls Elks Lodge, will operate a vehicle checking station next Saturday in connection with the Boy Scout national safety program. The purpose, as explained by Archie Langdon, troop leader, is to help the public have safe cars and teach the Scouts safe operation of a car. Checking will be handled in cooperation with the state and city police. Working here, from left, are Cliff Sharp, city policeman; M. J. Bays, Jr., state patrolman; John Reper, Larry Nye and Fred Otto. Inside the car is Archie Langdon. (Staff photo-enzaving)

 A national safety council booklet on home safety, to be delivered by the Boy Scouts.
 Troop 123 in Twin Falls has planned to distribute home fire safety inspection forms to residents and help in fire safety inspections. Can Scout projects for home safety include safety posters, home safety scrapbooks, safety skills, window displays and safe toy projects.
 Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts will have panel discussions, skits and demonstrations, a safety campaign to fill or cover holes, excavations, abandoned wells, and to remove doors or inches from all discarded refrigerators.

 "The utmost cooperation between parents and youngsters will be the key to the success of the program," Orrible says. "If parents can understand what the Scouts are attempting to accomplish—and it's all a very worthwhile program—the parents can help the Scouts as much as the Scouts can help the adults."
 All of the 164 separate units in Magic Valley will participate in the safety program in one manner or another, Orrible relates. All of the units are not expected to participate in the same projects, but take separate ones so their learning can be absorbed by the public.

 In Twin Falls, there are 54 Scout units with 1,214 boys participating. Orrible hopes that through all of the separate units all of the projects of the safety program can be performed.
 He adds that if the program is as successful as the conservation program conducted by Boy Scouts four years ago, the nation should become quite safety conscious. "But it will take the cooperation of adults, enterprising organizations and the Boy Scouts themselves to accomplish anything for the program," he adds.

Many Antiques are Recovered From Loads of 'Junk' By Local Dealer for Collection of Priceless Articles

A collection of almost 150 odder well and ends. He told me he couldn't have gotten along without it. Mrs. Langdon said she had several washing machines, coffee grinders and cruet sets of machinery have been salvaged from "junk" by Mrs. L. Langdon, Twin Falls.

The branding irons have been taken from loads of scrap brought to the Langdon warehouse. Mrs. Langdon first began collecting the irons with her initials on it. Since then she has saved everyone that has been taken to her warehouse.

Several of the old cattle markers are kept on a rack. Mrs. Langdon said she built especially for them. She exhibits them and some of her other antiques at the Twin Falls county fair and has won several prizes.

Among the brands is the Shoshone brand from the early day ranch which ran cattle over much of what is now Twin Falls county. Another brand is from the Winthrop ranch in Nevada.

The old coffee grinders in Mrs. Langdon's collection range in size from one about four feet high to small grinders which were hung on the kitchen wall of old cook stoves.

One she is quite fond of she describes as "Just throws on top of a load of scrap and brought to my yard. We unloaded it very carefully," she recalls. "It was made of pot metal and could easily be broken."

Three old washing machines, one of them an early electric model, the other two hand operated, are stored at the Langdon warehouse.

One of the hand-operated washers was owned by a farmer who had an electric motor on it during the war when washing machines were hard to get. She recalls the old washer had served the wartime owners well and says, "He told me he couldn't have gotten along without it."

Trivets, or three-legged stands, also have been brought to the warehouse in loads of scrap metal, according to Mrs. Langdon. They were mostly made of brass and iron. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lynn Langdon, who lives in Pullman, where her husband operates a scrap yard, has a collection of pressure irons. Mrs. Langdon has collected include hand-poled, blacksmith force, melting pole, mauling buckets and two old army canteens made prior to World War II.

Mrs. Langdon tells of the modern use for the old machinery. Many people ask the pumps to make decorative ornaments for yards and gardens.

The blacksmith force is in demand by some people for use as a chisel. "When they use it to clean up and the blower works the force make one of the best grills for cooking steaks that I know of," Mrs. Langdon declares.

Other old pieces of machinery and furniture are in demand. The base of old coal stoves are used to make coffee tables. A piece of heavy glass placed over the stove base does the trick, she adds.

The old Leland tie sewing machine is also in demand for tables.

A flower pot arrangement for a garden is made by some people by using a piece of pipe stuck in the ground, then welding the tips of an old hay rake to the pipe and welding heads of the hay rakes into the bottom to spread gravel.

Pot boiled stoves are in great demand for antique ornaments, too, Mrs. Langdon states.

The two old army canteens were as much as $35 apiece, Mrs. Langdon says as memorabilia on a canteen. Mrs. Langdon says she has several hubcaps from vintage cars. She has hubcaps from many of the standard models, plus some from such cars as an Apperson Jack Rabbit, Star, Palzer, Mitchell and a Buick.

She also has a collection of automobile nameplates taken from cars and a collection of radiator caps from an automobile called a Moon. "And it's in perfect shape, too," she adds.

She brought into her scrap yards for junk are saved and given to people who will fix up toys for Christmas. She also saves the steel ball bearings to give to youngsters for "steeles."

Household kitchen utensils are turned in every day. Everything from antique measuring spoons and waffle irons to straining silverware, cups, mugs and coffee pots are turned in as scrap and Mrs. Langdon saves most of them.

Other things picked up of the loads of scrap include trophies, horseshoes and brake shoes for old wagons—the kind that slipped over the wheel and acted as a brake.

The Langdon's salvage scrap from an old shed which was torn down in Shoshone. Among the scrap were several barrels of square headed nails and some tools.

"But we can't save everything," Mrs. Langdon says. "If we did we would need 40 acres."

The scrap metal is cut into small pieces and shipped to the Geneva steel mill in Geneva, Utah, where it is melted and re-used.

"The scrap metal is cut into small pieces and shipped to the Geneva steel mill in Geneva, Utah, where it is melted and re-used."

Mrs. Langdon says she will not sell any of the relics and plans to fix up a room in the basement of her house for the antiques or keep them in her backyard.

Twin Falls Phone Directory Copied in Braille

Blind Local Businessman Transcribes Dial Telephone Directory Into Braille

Disinclined to being dependent on others to look up telephone numbers, J. Hill, who has been blind since birth, has copied the Twin Falls telephone directory into Braille.

Operation of his Twin Falls dial shop business requires considerable use of the telephone. Hill explains, and rather than ask telephone operators for a number or have someone look them up for him, Hill and his wife made a braille directory.

"They used a portable Braille writer and special paper, putting the pages in a loose leaf notebook when they were finished. A braille writer works similar to a typewriter, except it prints braille—raised dots."

"In my business sometimes I have to make over 100 telephone calls a day," Hill says. "The telephone operators are awful, but they have other things to do and I can't keep someone around just to look up telephone numbers."

It took the couple almost a month to do as much as they have of the directory. Their book lacks the listing the cover and Z, but it fills three looseleaf holders.

"They did the work at home during the evenings. Mrs. Hill read the names and numbers from the directory and Hill operated the Braille writer. I printed only the prefix and address because we were only interested in the numbers and we wanted to save space," he says.

Braille is a system of raised dots, each dot or a combination of dots represents a number or letter. Braille can be printed only on one side of a page and takes almost six times as much space as letters written on a typewriter.

"The blind read braille with their fingertips."

Hill dialed a telephone by placing four fingers of his right hand in either the first four or the last four numbers of the dial. Then he can count the notes to the other numbers he wants to use.

In spite of his handicap Hill can dial the telephone as fast or faster than most people, according to Mrs. Hill.

Before the telephone company changed over to the dial system, Hill had memorized most of the telephone numbers he used frequently or had made a list of them.

When he learned of the change, he immediately began making the braille directory.

Hill has three books of telephone numbers are always kept near the telephone in Hill's shop and he can readily find numbers in them. Hill finds no problem in picking up the correct book either, "I just raise the cover and look at the first page," he explains.

Many books are printed in braille and he can readily find numbers. Hill notes, "One With the Wind" was printed in braille, filling 12 Hill borrows most of his books from the public library in Cincinnati, O. He also helps in the shop and blind in Gooding also has several books printed in braille. He attended the school in Gooding when he was young.

Mail orders and special orders make up most of Hill's business. He has customers in all 48 states, Alaska and Hawaii and specializes in personalized gifts, such things as them.

"When I get in a new line of merchandise, I often call maybe 100 people for orders," he says.

All orders he receives by mail Hill acknowledges with a personal letter in return, using a typewriter. His wife goes through all of the orders every day and, using a wire recorder, makes a list of all of the orders by names and address, stating what the customer ordered.

Hill uses the wire recordings to get the information he needs to write letters to his customers.

He has had his shop in Twin Falls for 17 years. During the last 14 years his shop has been located in a basement underneath the sidewalk next to the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company.

"The business is actually a family deal," he emphasizes. His son, Frank, now attending Idaho State college at Pocatello, worked in the business until he went to school. His wife also helps in the shop, making personalized greeting cards.

Mrs. Hill's sister, Mrs. Evelyn Ellis, also helps in the shop.

Hill is a member of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and the Elks lodge and is a former member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was awarded a Juniors for Chamber of Commerce distinguished service award in 1947 for civic achievement.

He plays the piano and organ. He is pianist for a local dance band and sometimes plays the piano at his church on Sunday.

"I started out as a professional musician," he recalls.

Insecticide Use Told at Meeting

SHOSHONE, Feb. 22—The legal use of insecticides, including the approved toxicities, were explained to a group of dentists and farmers here Thursday afternoon.

The meeting was held at the courthouse with Roland Periman, University of Idaho extension county biologist, as speaker.

Representatives from Camas, Gooding, Blaine and Lincoln counties were present.

The information Periman gave included recent Miller amendment rulings, a review of 1957 insect problems, plans for 1958, and a review of systemic insecticides for potato grub control. A discussion period concluded the session.

Explanation

SAN LEANDRO, Calif., Feb. 22 (AP)—Franklin E. Jarvis, a convicted San Francisco murderer who escaped from a prison camp, had an intriguing story for authorities who recaptured him here less than 24 hours later.

Jarvis, 55, said the reason he fled was that officials had refused to give him arch support for his feet, and he said the reason he got as far as San Leandro from the southern prison camp was that he obtained directions from a San Francisco police officer.

Why Soft Water?

"Next to the very air we breathe, water is man's most necessary and priceless possession." Yet, authorities state, HARD WATER costs the average American family over $265.00 every year — a needless waste which can be eliminated by WEBB WATER CONDITIONING EQUIPMENT. HARD WATER has been rightfully called the "household swindler." It is also a Health Robber. It takes away natural sparkle and lustre from otherwise bright and cheerful surfaces. HARD WATER is a WORK MAKER and a Time Waster. It is also... WHY TOL-ERATE IT?

A WEBB WATER SOFTENER AND CONDITIONER gives you all the cooperative advantages of SOFT WATER, and water you will enjoy DRINKING.

What Is AQUA Ammonia?

Aqua ammonia is a liquid solution of ammonia formed by absorbing anhydrous ammonia, which is a gas, in water. The solution weighs 76 pounds per gallon and is guaranteed to contain not less than 20% nitrogen by weight, or 133 pounds of nitrogen per gallon.

WHY AQUA?

1. Aqua ammonia is a liquid. Liquids are the simplest form of any material to handle by gravity or pump. It spreads evenly through hose systems to any number of application plants. There is no need for special pressure fittings nor worry about leaking any of the nitrogen, which is what you are actually paying for.
2. Aqua ammonia is easily applied. The applicator operates with a positive displacement men ground driven pump. Every time a wheel turns, an exactly determined amount of liquid is forced into the application shanks. Acce by acre, or foot by foot, you know you are getting the same amount of nitrogen.
3. Aqua ammonia stays put. Carrying its own liquid, aqua ammonia adheres strongly to the soil. You don't smell escaping ammonia during application—you don't plug up your shanks—you don't have to make a second pass to bury the plant food or wait for water to make it available to plants.
4. Aqua ammonia is available nitrogen. Both plants and the bacteria which are break- ing down your manure react rapidly to aqua ammonia. Yet, if there is no immediate demand for the N, as in fall application, aqua ammonia stays in the root zone. Spreading it just reacts to cover the area between application rows. It strongly retards leaching and tends to move less in downward direction than other forms of fertilizers.

What DOES IT COST?

Aqua ammonia is sold by the gallon because it is a stable liquid most easily and accurately measured by metering. For convenience of comparison with other types of fertilizer, the price of aqua is:

1 gallon aqua	18½¢	AT YOUR FARM	AT PLANT
1 unit (pound) N	12½¢	17½¢	11½¢

Fishermen Catch Steelhead Below Brownlee Dam

All winter long steelhead fishermen stick to the banks of favored steelhead fishing spots such as the stretch of Snake river below Brownlee dam. Reported to be muddy and cold at the moment, the stretch will no doubt improve. The happy anglers shown here are Vito Nicoletti, left, and Clyde Williams, both Huntington, Ore. The two men still fishing are unidentified. (Fish and game department photo—staff courtesy)

Fine Run of Steelhead Lazing Around All Winter in Columbia, Snake Rivers

BY BETH RHODENBAUGH
(Idaho Fish and Game Department)

A fine run of steelhead trout has been lazing around in various parts of the Columbia-Snake river all winter. Fishing has been pretty good at a number of spots most of the winter.

Right now these fish are beginning to make their presence known farther upstream, but mainly as travelers, so far. Fishermen say steelhead don't hunker down while they are traveling; that they move with a rise in water levels, and then settle down again in some suitable deep hole to wait for the next inspiration to move. Fishermen try for the waiting times and places.

A good-sized run is expected in Idaho this year because of the numbers counted through the Columbia river stations last year in their way up. The past week a tremendous sport was reported in the number of fish passing the Lewiston counting station, with more than 300 steelhead being counted through on one day. This is more than twice the usual number for February, and no doubt prompted by the unusually warm weather. No similar increase was reported at Brownlee, however, where biologists say the water is still too cold.

But all this is highly over-simplified. No self-respecting biologist would make such flat statements, but the steelhead story is too complicated to cover in detail and briefly. What is said here is intended to give a general idea of the situation, and to hit a few of the high spots of steelhead geography.

The steelhead trout is a sea-going rainbow. The only way you can tell whether any particular fish is a steelhead or a fresh-water rainbow is to find out whether or not it commutes back and forth to the ocean. If the fish has been down to the ocean you can make a pretty good guess because of its greater size (fish grow faster in the larger "pastures" of the ocean than in chilly mountain streams) and its general color and appearance.

To make sure, you can take a scale from the fish and examine it under a low-power microscope. The scale has annual "growth rings" somewhat similar to those in a tree, and rings formed while the fish is in the ocean are wider than those formed while in fresh water. Typically, a steelhead may loaf around in his home stream for a year or so before drifting on down to the ocean. When mature, he will start back into fresh water and loaf along another year getting upstream to the spawning area in the headwaters.

Of course, if your fish is a young one, there is no way to tell whether it is a migratory steelhead or a stay-at-home rainbow. In waters where both are found, the Idaho fish and game department sets an arbitrary criterion: If your fish is under 30 inches long it is classed as a trout. You count it accordingly in your bag limit, or release it if the trout season is closed where you are fishing.

The identical appearance of the young of these two species (if they appear) is the cause of occasional complaints from sportmen about season closures in certain areas. What appears to them to be "good trout fishing" may actually be good migration of young steelhead on their way to the ocean. Naturally, a 10- or 15-pound steelhead is a better fishery resource than a six- or eight-inch rainbow, and the only way to get the big ones is to let the little ones go by so they can get to the ocean and grow up.

Because of their habit of loafing along the way, steelhead are nearly year-round fish in Idaho, becoming inactive only in very cold water. A few parts of the state sometimes have fair steelhead fishing all winter. Such areas are Snake river below Brownlee dam, and the main Salmon in the vicinity of Riggs, Idaho. However, the maximum run occurs between February and May, though their progress and timing are less regular than with salmon. The steelhead starts and stops according to no known rhyme or reason.

Favorite spots for late winter and early spring steelhead fishing are around the mouth of the Salmon river (traced by boat from Lewiston), the mouth of the south fork of the Salmon (accessible by plane, only except in summer), and the mouth of the middle fork (by road). The main Salmon from Whitebird to Riggs (on U.S. 93), the Snake below Brownlee (by road), the Clearwater below Lewiston dam, and the lower Weiser near the city of Weiser are major spots that are easier to reach.

The south fork of the Salmon (accessible by road) and its major tributaries, and the middle fork of the Salmon (traced only by plane or by pack trip), the Fishmen (accessible by road) and the upper main Salmon and its major tributaries are outstanding for spring steelhead fishing. The Payette river up to Black Canyon dam and Snake river below Weiser and Swan falls have small steelhead runs each spring.

Steelhead take salmon eggs and the heavy spinners, bobbers and wobblers, fished deep. They also take worms readily. Fishermen who intend to stay in the area usually should expect to find accommodations at lodges, hotels or motels as the weather is usually too cold for camping during steelhead season. They should consult the official regulations for detailed seasons and regulations.

Trials Scheduled in Lincoln Court

SHOSHONE, Feb. 23—Two jury trials are scheduled for the fourth district judicial court here next week.

On Tuesday, a 12-man jury will be called in the case of A. H. Johnson versus J. D. Noland on a collection of account suit, and on Thursday a six man jury will be called for the case of Robert Hoodenpye versus Paul Jacobson on an appeal from judgment in justice court.

The cases are set to be heard by District Judge D. H. Stutchen at 10 a.m. The Hoodenpye-Jacobson appeal is being made by Jacobson following decision of W. L. Austin in justice court. The action involved treatment of Hoodenpye's animals by Dr. Jacobson, veterinarian.

Meet Reviewed

WENDELL, Feb. 22—Reports of the annual meeting of IOOP district No. 8 in Jerome were given by Wray Hamilton, noble grand, and Ray Lancaster at the Wednesday evening meeting of Wendell IOOP lodge No. 131.

Plans were made to attend the next IOOP meeting March 4 in Fairfield.

Arnold Runyon and Edwin Bitterli served refreshments.

PAPERS FILED

SHOSHONE, Feb. 22—J. F. Reid Thorpe, Shoshone, filed his honorific separation papers from the U. S. navy at the county auditor's office this week. His release was effective Feb. 5. He will be in the reserve until Nov. 16, 1962. Thorpe entered the navy Nov. 16, 1954.

But Watch Them Foot Troubles Are Not Uncommon in Children

By W. F. JOHNSON, MD
Editor for NEA Service
Foot trouble in children is by no means uncommon. A relaxation of the ligaments frequently brings about flat feet and this is commonly associated with knock-knees. So far as the feet are concerned, treatment should include corrective exercises if the child is old enough to cooperate. Of course, corrective shoes are generally advised. These are designed to have ball-in-foam arch supports, turned in toes and elevation of the inside of the heels. In addition to flat feet the vitamin deficiency disease known as rickets is an important factor in causing this condition in many instances. Rickets leads to softening of the bone.

President to Open Parley On Food Use

State food consultant, Dr. Frederick J. Sliars, school of public health at Harvard university, Dr. Herold DeGraff, food economist of Cornell university, and Dr. William E. Lowenberg, nutritionist of Pennsylvania State university.

While it will have strong backing from farm groups, the conference has come under attack from the National Farmers union.

The union, which rejected a bid to participate, objected because no plans were being made to discuss problems of farm prices, incomes and government programs to aid producers.

Farm groups listed as sponsors include the American Farm Bureau, the National Grange and the National Council of Farmers Cooperation. Other organizations include the American Meat Institute, the Grocery Manufacturers of America, the National Association of Food Chains, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the Association of American Retailers, the American Bakers association, the American Dairy association, the National Livestock and Meat Board, the Soultry and Egg National Board, and the Cereal Institute, Inc.

Another thing which parents can do is to make certain that their youngsters obtain enough vitamin D during the first winter months, when the action of the sunlight on the skin does not manufacture enough. This will certainly prevent some of these disorders, as will care in proper shoeing.

Lincoln Officers Told at Meeting

SHOEHORN, Feb. 22—Lincoln county polo officers were named Thursday by Tom Daniels, Soles. Douglas Hansen will be chairman with Eugene Rawson vice chairman, Ralph Smith, treasurer, and Mrs. Harrell Thome, secretary.

Shoshone Visits

SHOEHORN, Feb. 22—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Whitcomb and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morris are visiting in San Jose, Calif.

Entrance to Moscow State University Based on Solving Advanced Problems

NEW YORK, Feb. 22 (UP)—To get into Russia's Moscow State university you first have to get by problems like this:
"Let X sub 1 and X sub 2 be the roots of the equation X squared minus A times X plus 1 equals zero, where A is real."
"Find the value of A such that the corresponding value of the expression X sub 1 squared plus X sub 2 squared is a minimum."

Entrance to Moscow State University Based on Solving Advanced Problems

monitor of Soviet scientific literature for the National Science Foundation and was the leading U. S. translator at the Geneva conference on atomic energy.

This is offered as an indication of where Soviet high school mathematics leaves off and Soviet college mathematics takes up.

Entrance to Moscow State University Based on Solving Advanced Problems

(13 hours); USSR constitution and history (25 hours); drawing and art (100 hours); technical drawing (100 hours); singing (100 hours); sports (about 500 hours); sports (600 hours).

Whether he wants to or not, he may turn up in a compulsory school. By comparison U. S. high school students have few compulsory courses.

Entrance to Moscow State University Based on Solving Advanced Problems

Usually required are basic English and some rather elementary mathematics.

College preparatory students must follow more stringent requirements including algebra, geometry and calculus, plus work in the sciences.

But because U. S. high school education is so dependent on the grades of the student, it is difficult to compile a U. S. timetable for comparison.

How would you like to test the New FRIGIDAIRE washer that's RATED No. 1

by U. S. TESTING CO., INC.*

right in your own Home—for free!

RATED No. 1

- for CLEANEST CLOTHES
Washes Clothes up to 50% Cleaner
- for LINT REMOVAL
Leaves Less Lint on Clothes Than Washers with Filters That Have to be Cleaned by Hand
- for DRIEST SPIN
Spins More Water Out of Clothes—Cuts Drying Costs

NO COST! NO OBLIGATION!

We will deliver and install the Washer in your home—and pick it up at End of Test Period.
All you do is Wash your Clothes—and fill out a Simple Questionnaire

WANTED: 20 Local Homemakers to Test this Washer

(10-Deluxe-Models-and-10-Imperial-here-being-shipped-for-this-purpose)
Tests by Frigidaire and U. S. Testing Co., Inc. Laboratories report amazing results from Frigidaire 3-Ring Agitator Washing. New Frigidaire would like to get the firsthand reaction of homemakers to this completely different and advanced washing action. After day-by-day use in their own homes. Brand-new, 1938 models are being used. All installations are temporary, so no plumbing or wiring installations are necessary. Washers will be installed on wheels where space limitations make roll-away desirable. If you would like to take part in this Home Test—just fill out the coupon below. Note: Test homes must have hot and cold water taps, electricity and available drain for water hookup.
