Improved Crop Methods Boomerang as Five Million Growers Abandon Farms

(NEA notes) This is the first of three articles in the "farm problem" which affect every American who raises food or fiber. The first article, "The Farm Problem," tells how the United States remains a rich nation with the agricultural products it produces. It shows how the average income of the farmer has fallen to less than half that of non-farm families.

BY GAYLOR F. GODWIN
WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—The government is spending about $1 billion a year to help farmers. In spite of this massive transfer of money from the federal treasury, agriculture remains a chronically sick industry. The average income of the farmer is less than half that of non-farm families.

The "farm problem" boils down to the fact that agricultural production continues to increase, but the population of consumers is rapidly increasing and the farm population is steadily decreasing.

The reason is simple: A technological revolution has been going on in farming. The tractor has taken the place of the mule. Many farm operations once laboriously performed by hand-like picking cotton—now be done with fast-picking machines. Farmers use better seeds, better fertilizers, better methods to combat plant insects and diseases. They have greatly improved methods of raising livestock.

This has led to a sharp increase in farm productivity. In 1949, an average yield of an acre of cotton was 252 pounds of fiber; last year it was 300 pounds. The average steer today produces one-third more beef, the average cow gives almost more milk, and the average hen lays two-thirds more eggs than did their pre-war counterparts.

The technological revolution has frustrated the government's efforts to curb farm production by cutting back the number of acres under cultivation. And the end is not yet in sight.

Where do we go from here? The Eisenhower administration has a more flexible system of farm price supports for basic crops—cotton, corn, wheat, rice, peanuts, tobacco and dairy products. Farm law now requires that the government support the prices of these crops—mainly by taking surplus supplies off the market. It will do this by buying up to 10 percent of the surplus and also by storing the surplus in government storage. It also wants authority to give farmers more liberal acreage allotments than are provided under the current price support formula. The idea is that farmers might get less to buy, but they could sell more to the government.

Farm state congressmen are pushing several alternative solutions. Some want high price supports and strict planting restrictions. Others favor a "two-price" plan under which commodities sold on the domestic market would be supported at a higher price than those sold for export to the world market. Others believe farmers should be allowed to sell their produce on the open market, and that the government should pay direct subsidies to farmers to make up the difference between the market price and a "fair price."

One prediction can be made about whatever new "farm program" emerges from this controversy: It will be costly to the taxpayers.

Since the end of World War II, the government has sustained a net loss of $4,507,500,000 on farm price support operations. At present, it has an additional $1,200,000,000 tied up in surplus farm commodities which the government has warehouses or is holding under loan in warehouses.

These totals do not include the $1,783,000,000 which has been paid to farmers during the past three years under the "soil bank" plan of taking land out of cultivation. Nor do they include the billions that have been spent to aid farmers in soil conservation practices, agricultural research, marketing studies, and export subsidy operations.

Who are the beneficiaries of this government aid?

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson says the lion's share goes to big commercial farms, and that small "family" farms get little if any benefit from price support programs.

While some may dispute this, it is a fact that the technological revolution has brought a sharp trend toward large commercial farms, many of which specialize in a single price-supported crop.

Of the 4,738,000 farms in this country, 55 per cent qualify as "small" operations—they have market sales of less than $25,000 a year. The remaining 44 per cent are classed as "commercial" farms.

More than 90 per cent of the farm products put on the market last year came from the commercial farms.

Some agricultural experts believe that, no matter what temporary relief the government may provide, small farmers eventually face the choice of joining the trend toward big mechanized farms or getting off the land.

Many of them have already left the land. The farm population in 1950 was 25 million. In 1957, it was 20 million, a drop of 20 per cent in seven years. Farm workers in 1947 numbered 10,400,000. Ten years later their number was 7,000,000, a drop of 20 per cent. Most of the farmers who left the land went to town where small or part-time farmers.

This drop in farm population makes per capita farm income look good, after a fashion. The agriculture department recently announced that the 1957 per capita income of farmers was a record, 4993, up 10 per cent from 1956. This was possible because of a sharp drop in farm population—leaving fewer farmers to participate in the total activity.

Even at the record 1957 level, however, per capita income of farmers doesn't compare well with the $7,000 per capita income of the non-farm population.

From 1956—received by farmers for crops and livestock have edged up during the last two years. But the 7.5 per cent rise from December, 1955, to December, 1957, was matched exactly by the rise in farm production costs.

The farm income in 1957 was $11,500,000,000, down 1 per cent from 1956. With the exception of 1956, farm income has been going down rapidly since 1951 when it was $14,800,000,000.

Texans Given Controversial Dinner Funds

AUSTIN, Tex., March 4 (AP)—The $100,000 that nobody wanted has dropped into the open hands of the Texas Republican committee.

The committee voted yesterday to keep the publicized proceeds from last month's dinner for the house minority leader, Joseph W. Martin, R., Mass.

Defend Dinner
The executive committee defended the Houston dinner, made a controversy by GOP committee in J. (Jack) Potter's letter to Texas oil and gas men. They said it represented "a legitimate market well-established fund-raising approach for which no apology is needed."

The National GOP committee rejected the $100,000 after a Washington newspaper publicized Potter's letter, which lauded Martin as a friend of the Texas oil and gas industry.

"Third-Hutchinson-Houston" state GOP chairman, said the executive committee voted to divide the money between its operating budget and a more than $100,000 deficit remaining from the 1956 presidential campaign.

Adopt Resolution
The executive committee also adopted a resolution reaffirming its confidence in Potter and praising his efforts to advance the cause of the Republican party in the state and nation.

However, L. Lee Porter, special assistant to National GOP Chairman Maude Auld, told the Republicans "they cannot afford to have their unfortunate incident such as Little Rock and the one we are just getting over"—the Martin dinner.

It all starts with Ford's new dream of a drive called Cruise-O-Matic... the newest, most versatile, most automatic of them all! Two new driving ranges let you choose your starts for the road conditions that exist. For example, in most of the driving you'll do, you can take off lively as a spring lamb if you wish. And on snow, ice or any slippery road surface, with the extra, extra range you can get rolling sure, steady and silky-smooth.

Now, team this all-new automatic with Ford's new Thunderbird-powered V-8 (with up to 300 hp) and you get as much as 15% better gas mileage, too! That's because a special gas-saving rear axle ratio is used to give you "built-in" overdrive economy.

And based on factory suggested retail delivered prices, a Cruise-O-Matic Ford is priced lowest of the low-price three with comparable equipment.

So, with Thunderbird go... down-to-earth gas savings... plus Ford's traditionally low prices and high resale return... you have the best reasons in the world to make yourself a deal on a new Cruise-O-Matic Ford! Why not see your Ford Dealer tomorrow?

WILDCATS ARE CLASS AAA DISTRICT BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS

Pierce, Thurman Lead Filer Past Minico 48-43 to Cop First Crown Since 1926

BUHL, March 4.—Coach Paul Ostyn and the 1927-28 edition of the Filer-Wildcats led a 32-year drought here Monday night, turning back Minico's Spartans 48-43 and won the class AAA basketball championship. Dimitrie Tom, leading home the fourth district class AAA basketball championship, Pierce led the Wildcats to the crown with a pair of free throws with 27 seconds remaining to give the new champions a three-point lead and two more charity tosses by Steve Thurman at the five-second mark only iced the game.

Filer Captain Accepts District Trophy

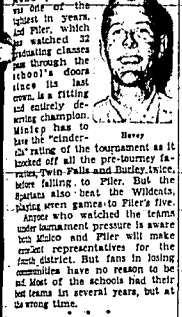

Steve Thurman, Filer captain, receives the class AAA fourth district championship trophy from Howard (left) Gledhill, tournament manager and Buhl high school basketball coach, after Filer won the title game 48-43 over Minico. The Wildcats, co-champions in the Big Seven conference, went through the meet with four wins and one loss. Both teams will represent the district at the regional playoffs in Pocatello. State Bowling Group Names Crom President

Stan Crom, Twin Falls, was named president of the Idaho State Bowling Association over the weekend at an association meeting in Nampa. John Birrell and John Williams, also of Twin Falls, were selected secretary and treasurer, respectively. Election of local officers falls in with naming of State Bowl as the site for the 1939 state bowling tournament. The association estimates at least 200 teams will be entered in the meet here next year with a total of $12,000 to be offered in prize money.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY
Night tournament time is over. The local champions having already come time with their first before being selected to represent the class AAA, which will play in a do-or-die second playoff at Minico.

What can anyone say about Wendell Trojans, double A champion, who has not been seen since his brilliant 20-point record by which they must be rated one of the best centers in the top team in the regional meet. Wendell's absence from this area is the cause of a great deal of speculation. It is thought that each Gordon Brown has taken a trip to the state meet at least twice.

What can anyone say about Wendell Trojans, double A champion, who has not been seen since his brilliant 20-point record by which they must be rated one of the best centers in the top team in the regional meet. Wendell's absence from this area is the cause of a great deal of speculation. It is thought that each Gordon Brown has taken a trip to the state meet at least twice.

Fullmer Mauls Way To Unanimous Win Over Milo Savage

SALT LAKE CITY, March 4.—Gene Fullmer, No. 2 ranking former middleweight champion, pulled his way to a 10-round unanimous decision, Monday night over cautious Milo Savage. There were no official knockdowns but Fullmer slipped one knee in the second round as Savage fought him off the ropes. Savage fell on his back in the seventh round after Fullmer landed a hard right to the body. But it was not counted as an official knockdown. Fullmer, from heavy West Jordan, repeatedly built Savage into the ropes but the cautious Salt Lake City fighter escaped the attack to him afterwards. The fight drew a crowd of 4,000 at the Salt Lake coliseum when the action slowed in the late rounds. It was not broadcast on television. Neither fighter could land an effective blow consistently. Judge Ben Yukam scored it 49-42 for Fullmer. Judge Del Markham scored it 50-41 and Referee Ken Shilton scored it 49-44 in favor of Fullmer. Savage was unable to follow up his opportunities after the first time he landed a blow. Fullmer would go into a bull-like charge and fight him up. In the fifth round Savage pressed the fight more aggressively than at any time. He pressed Fullmer into the ropes and landed a left that shook Fullmer's head. Fullmer opened a cut on Savage's left cheek with a flurry of lefts as he pulled Savage into the ropes, also in the fifth. In the fourth round, Savage, dancing skillfully about, watching for an opening, charged Fullmer a glancing blow to the shoulder and bounced him around. Fullmer charged Savage into the ropes but Savage swung his left trying for a knockout. In a later round at the end of the round Savage opened a small cut on Fullmer's right cheek.

Uniform Green Fees Set for Golf Course
A resolution calling for 15 cents on week days and 150 on weekends regardless of number of hours played was ordered by the city commissioners Monday night. Final decision on the measure will be given next week. Several Green, superintendent of parks and recreation, had the proposal as recommended by the parks and recreation committee. Under the recommendation, the initial fee would cover play for the first day. Greater enjoyment of new systems would eliminate some bookkeeping and be able to start. Play would be able to start on No. 1, 10 and 15 holes. It is important factor was control of traffic on business days. The system has been adopted by Jerome, Idaho Falls and Boise counties. The latter two reporting good success.

Labine Is Happy With Relief Pitcher Role

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 4.—Clem Labine has been on relief since 1919, and he thinks it's just fine. "I'd rather than start now," the bullpen ace of the Los Angeles Dodgers says, adding philosophically: "The hours are good and the pay is good." Labine started relieving at St. Paul when Walter Alston, current Dodger manager, was managing there. Now a personable, handsome and affable 32-year-old pitcher, Labine has been in the bullpen since 1919, and he thinks it's just fine. Schools Talk

Given at Meet of T. F. Club

Education in the United Kingdom was described for Exchange Club members Tuesday at their regular luncheon meeting by Margaret Macdonald, principal of the teacher exchange program.

Macdonald, who has spent several years in England, said that the British school system is much older and more advanced than that of the United States. She noted that in England, school buildings are being constructed in a more modern style.

Macdonald also discussed the differences in the school systems of the two countries, noting that in England, the school year is longer and the curriculum is more rigorous.

White Animal Seen

BURLEY, March 4.—(Times-News Special.)—A white animal, possibly a bear, was seen near the mouth of the Snake River on Monday night, according to reports from the area.

The animal, which was described as being about the size of a dog, was seen by a group of hunters who were out for a night hunt. The animal was seen near the mouth of the Snake River, about 10 miles from Burley.

The hunters, who were from the area, said that the animal was seen in a clearing near the river. They said that the animal was seen to be walking towards them.

PTA Reports Plan to Drop Hot Lunches

Morningside PTA will not sponsor a hot lunch program after this year, Mrs. George Taylor, president of the PTA, announced today.

Taylor, who is also the PTA's financial chairman, reported at the PTA's March 4th meeting that the PTA's budget for the coming year would not include a hot lunch program.

The PTA's budget for the coming year was approved by the members at the meeting. The budget shows a decrease in the PTA's income and an increase in its expenses.

Taylor said that the PTA's income for the coming year is expected to be about $1,000. This is a decrease from the $1,200 that the PTA received last year.

The PTA's expenses for the coming year are expected to be about $1,200. This is an increase from the $1,000 that the PTA spent last year.

Taylor said that the PTA's budget for the coming year is based on the assumption that the PTA will not sponsor a hot lunch program. If the PTA were to sponsor a hot lunch program, the budget would be different.

State's Shorn Wool Output Dips for 1935

The U. S. department of agriculture reported today that the 1935 wool production in Idaho was 10,145,000 pounds, a decrease from the 10,800,000 pounds produced in 1934.

The department said that the decrease in wool production was due to a number of factors, including a decrease in the number of sheep and a decrease in the amount of wool produced per sheep.

The department also reported that the 1935 wool production in Idaho was valued at $1,200,000, a decrease from the $1,300,000 that the 1934 production was valued at.

The department said that the 1935 wool production in Idaho was the lowest since 1931.

Smylie Points To Safety Job Facing Nation

Gathering that the job of safety is never done.

He added that "there is no final or absolute success of completion in safety work. Success is relative to what has been done in the past."

Smylie's talk was devoted mainly to the promotion of labor-management cooperation in reducing occupational injuries and deaths.

"Without cooperation, the labor effort is bound to be ineffective," Smylie said. "The job of promoting safety in the shop should be a joint effort of the labor and management."

He said that the job of promoting safety in the shop should be a joint effort of the labor and management.

The car, which was carrying Dewey, was traveling northbound. The truck struck the car from behind, causing it to flip over.

Dewey was killed instantly. The driver of the truck, who was also injured, was hospitalized today.

The cause of the accident is still under investigation.

Successful Farmers Agree

44 1/2

It takes 1/2 men

Jess Moses raises potatoes, barley, oats and wheat on his farm near Paul, Idaho. Just a few years ago, the 45 acres he has planted in potatoes was desert land, growing little but sagebrush. He cleared the land, and last year used U.S. Nitrogen Fertilizers. Let him tell you the results:

"Nitrogen increased my yield from 150 sacks of potatoes per acre. The year before to 294 sacks per acre last year. The land is also newly cleared desert land and is low in humus. Nitrogen is essential on my farm. I used U.S. Ammonium Nitrate last spring, 126 pounds of available 'N' to the acre, spread on and disked one way. It did the job."

Modern farming demands modern methods—and modern fertilizer. Use U.S. Nitrogen Fertilizers by United States Steel. Join the farmers who know U.S. Nitrogen Fertilizers mean higher profits.

Many Hours Spent on 4-H Clubs' Work

When the accomplishments of 109 4-H leaders and 21 junior leaders are added together, it amounts to countless hours of community service in guiding the activities of the 700 Twin Falls county 4-H members who are enrolled in 67 clubs, says Donald Youst, assistant Twin Falls county agent.

National 4-H Club week began Sunday and lasts until Saturday. It is being observed in Twin Falls county with window displays and stories in newspapers and on radio and television.

Under the guidance of these community-minded volunteer leaders, Youst says, the 4-H boys and girls completed 600 projects and displays of the results of their work to the public at community achievement days at Kimberly, Filer and Buhl and the county fair.

Youst says 250 clothing projects were enrolled by girls at the demonstration conducted by the volunteer extension and mail planning projects. "Livestock projects are popular with both boys and girls," he notes. He says 40 members of 4-H clubs had livestock projects, with 137 beef swine, 618 turkey, 27 sheep, 15 hives, 3 poultry, 3 horses and 4 rabbits.

Other projects and their enrollment were health, 76; electrical, 37; citizenship, 37; tractor maintenance, 34; forestry, 22; food preservation, 19; chrysanthemum, 13; and cross bed garden, 12.

"Additional projects are automobile, beautification of home grounds, sewing, safety, room furnishing, woods and handicraft. New projects to be added this year are woodwork and pebble pump, a rock collection project, Youst says.

"In spite of the many leaders now working with boys and girls, Youst points out, more men and women are needed to assist present leaders and organize new clubs. To organize a club at least five members are needed, and to qualify as a 4-H leader, a person should enjoy working with boys and girls and be willing to devote the necessary time to club meetings and other activities, Youst notes.

Boys and girls should be 10 years old to join a club. If they are unable to find a club in their community, they can call the county agent's office in the old hospital building, Youst says. "If enough boys and girls desire to organize a new club, and a leader is found, the county agent or the home demonstration agent will assist in starting a new club," he explains.

Students Entered For Bake Contest

Home economics students in four Magic Valley schools will participate in the 10th national "bake-off" program sponsored by Pillsbury Mills, Inc.

Students are participating at Buhl high school under direction of Mrs. Janet Latham; Glenns Ferry high school, Mrs. Zelma Croner; Twin Falls high school, Mrs. A. W. Morgan; and Wendell high school, Mrs. Leahy Lawson.

The school events will be held prior to March 18. School winners will participate in state competition. Each of the state winners, to be announced May 1, will receive two General Electric toasters, one for the student and one for the school she represents.

Plea Denied

Cheesman-author Carl Cheesman sits impassively as several faces behind him reveal the drama in Los Angeles superior court as Judge Walter R. Lewis rendered decision rejecting Cheesman's claim that the transcript of his 1948 trial was faulty. The ruling all but seals the fate of Cheesman who has stated off his execution date during his 10-year fight for a new trial. (NEA telephone)

Unhappy Lovers Jailed for Want Of Lowly Nickel

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 4 (AP)—A 17-year-old runaway and his girl friend were in jail here today because they didn't have a nickel to park their shiny sports car.

A policeman said he saw Donald T. Hughes, Jr., and Julie Van Gallow, both Orrose Point, Mich., wheel into a parking space on Main street.

When the boy started walking away the officer asked him to put a coin in the meter.

"Heaven's got a nickel to my name," Donald answered. "Come to think about it, what are you being so nosy about?"

At headquarters the young couple explained that Donald had taken the father's car without permission for a tip to Palm Beach, Fla., to visit the girl's godmother. Donald said he had planned to pawn a bowling ball to raise money for the remainder of the trip.

The boy said his father owns a tool and die plant in Orrose Point. And the girl couldn't understand why all the fuss about the car. "He (the boy's father) won't miss it anyway," she commented. "He has 10."

Business 'Slump' Plan Is Reported

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—A state department official raised the possibility today that some foreign aid purchases being made overseas may be diverted to the home front to ease the business recession.

Deputy Undersecretary G. Douglas Dillon told the senate foreign relations committee the administration was "earnestly studying" the matter. Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, Calif., said Saturday that he had asked President Eisenhower to consider whether such a plan was feasible.
