

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The supreme court has shown a studied indifference and almost a defiant attitude toward congressional and bar associations' complaints that it has exceeded its constitutional jurisdiction in favor of its communist and criminal elite.

Headed by Chief Justice Warren, who is the principal target of the widespread indignation, the tribunal has also disregarded the congressional challenge of its at-large jurisdiction of law instead of merely interpreting it.

This controversy over the function of the supreme court has split that body into two hostile factions, which some day may make an effort to conceal their bitter feelings. In written opinions and sharp remarks from the bench, they reveal that their differences are irreconcilable. Justice Felix Frankfurter acts as spokesman for the anti-Warren group.

WARREN "LIBERALS" VS. FRANKFURTER "CONSERVATIVES"—Numerous questions during the current session show that the dispute between the Warren "liberals" and the Frankfurter "conservatives" is not merely a matter of differing legal opinions, but a matter of conflicting political philosophies. Final outcome will probably depend on whether the two newest members—Justices William J. Brennan and Charles E. Whittaker—will side with Warren or Frankfurter.

In general, Warren leans the rights of the individual. In general, the Frankfurter jurists believe that the constitution is a set of restraints on the power of the government should be exercised with the "utmost restraint."

The distinction and the distinction—the political and the philosophical—was clearly expressed in a case involving the right of congress to establish conditions under which congress could deprive a person of citizenship.

CHIEF JUSTICE GETS REVENGER FROM CIRCUIT—Warren's narrow congressional jurisdiction in this field, while Frankfurter accepted the boundaries fixed by the lawmakers. When the chief justice, in defense, declared that the supreme court had overruled congress on 8 occasions, Frankfurter retorted that there was no reason to boast about this assertion.

Then, departing from his written opinion and speaking in crisp, critical tones, Frankfurter noted that the court had overruled congress 14 times, but that only one had been reversed by the supreme court itself. He reminded the relatively new member from California that the high tribunal does not regard itself as infallible.

THOSE UNSATISFACTORY 6-4 DECISIONS—With Justice Brennan and Whittaker still unknown, the court's 6-4 majority had subsequently been reversed by the supreme court itself. He reminded the relatively new member from California that the high tribunal does not regard itself as infallible.

Those who favor the ban find themselves terribly impatient with those who say we must go on testing. They talk of the latter's "obsession" with the idea of nuclear defense for the free world.

This implies one of two things. Either they envision some other way in which the West can defend itself, or they believe the Russians can be trusted to leave free nations alone if they lacked an adequate defense.

This is the risk in not testing. We do not yet have an effective nuclear weapon for long-range missiles, nor do we have nuclear anti-missile missiles. Do the Russians? We do not know. But after their recent long series of tests, it is conceivable they may have.

If they do, and can prove it, then they have an advantage they might employ either in a hot war or the blackmail of a cold war.

No matter where they wind up, the fundamental disagreement seems to issue a series of wrangles and squabbles over the rights of congress, the rights of the courts and puzling to practitioners before the bar.

CONGRESS' DISAGREEMENT WITH SUPREME COURT PHILOSOPHY—Meanwhile congress has shown its complete disagreement with the supreme court's philosophy as influenced by the chief justice. It is expected to enact legislation to circumvent decisions which have freed confessed criminals and communists from the death penalty.

Despite this plain evidence of adverse reaction inside and outside congress, Chief Justice Warren has generally been regarded as a leading spokesman for the rulings which congress condemns. In short, the C. J. refuses to be awayed by extrajudicial pressures against his own rulings.

In certain sense, this feud is more serious than the clash between the supreme court and P.D.R. over enforcement of the tribunal's 1954 decision which ordered the courts against the House. Now, a conservative congress opposes the Frankfurter position and denounces the chief justice's "liberalism."

VIEW OF OTHERS

LET'S KEEP THE RECORD ACCURATE—Sen. Richard Neuberger's background as a newspaperman and writer showed through his recent remarks in that position as a long-standing congressional progressive.

The senator, in speaking to his resolution to forbid extensive editing, revising or changing of transcripts of a speech delivered on congressional floor.

"A senator utters some startling or indiscreet remark on the senate floor. The news women and the press seize upon it, flash their words to the newspapers and radio stations of the world. Then, when the Congressional Record is published, the senator or his staff, on second thought, have decided to eliminate it from the transcript. It is either the press or the Congressional Record can be accused of falsely reporting a senate debate, when in fact the senator himself has altered the transcript."

Sen. Neuberger is on sound ground in his complaint. Many are acquainted with the fact that the "back door" has arisen from the fact that a senator or representative can point to the Congressional Record and cry "outrage!" because the printed record doesn't substantiate a reporter's story of a speech he delivered—whereas the reporter's story was completely correct.

The senator also passed on a few kind words to the capital press corps, and kind words are not usual for the men and women who try day after day to untangle the jargon of bureaucracy.

Neuberger said that as a "liberal" he had heard criticisms from persons in politics of the Associated Press, United Press and International News Service prior to his first election to the senate in 1954.

"My own experience has not substantiated this criticism. The only incident which I have been involved can be said to have received coverage by the wire services which measures up to normal standards of accuracy and objectivity."

Neuberger's talk won't change anyone's politics but it will help to prevent his contemporaries from changing their minds and then crying about it a good purpose will have been served.—Salem Statesman.

THE FCC REPORT—After the sensational disclosures of the past few weeks, the report of the house committee investigating the national communications commission seems rather mild.

The committee says that "highly improper" activities have "seriously undermined" public confidence in the FCC. The committee also reports a pattern of "questionable conduct" by some commissioners and by part of the radio-television industry. But the committee apparently was unable to make up its mind whether there were any violations of existing laws.

POT SHOTS

NOTHING TO IT—Our old chuck hole is back in the street again. It happens every few months and after we scream our heads off about it, then it's patched up temporarily for awhile.

What does it mean to have to get something taken care of right around here?

A Reader (Twin Falls)

PO SHOTS!—Dunno who you're screaming at, but there's really not much to it. Probably if you'll just phone the city hall, explain your problem in a nice way, you'll find it will be taken care of. Or you might talk to City Manager Joe Lattimore. But don't blow your top—It's not necessary and just raises your blood pressure.

FUFFS FOR KIDS DEPT.—Don't get trampled in the rush for these pooches. There are eight (8) of them, four male and four female. Their mother is a registered German shorthair, but the father is a traveling pooch—and probably still traveling. The lads of the pups have been docked. You can get them at the Al Dougherty place one and three-fourths miles north of Five Points west on Washington street, north or phone 832-0323.

Pot Shots:—Have a collie dog that is 3 years old and is wonderful with children. She's an awfully good watchdog, but we want to give her away. We live four miles north of town miles east and three-fourths of a mile north of Jerome. Our phone number is EA4-4507.

Roger Fiala

OH BULLITT BOARD—N. O. Lyle, Twin Falls—We agree wholeheartedly with you and would like to print your note. However, we've convinced the Public Forum to place to handle the matter, with letters appearing over the true names of the writers. It encourages us to read a note like yours, although there must be a great many more people feel the way you do. Thanks, anyway.

FAMOUS LAST LINE—J. Dunlop, teacher is going to give him a complex if his class tells him to stop talking in class.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

WASHINGTON

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (ENA)—The presidential but realistic view in Washington is that Cuba's revolutionary situation will probably get a lot worse before it begins to get better. Washington's embargo of arms shipments to Cuba is now being considered.

The fundamental trouble lies much deeper in the graft and corruption which have plagued the island since 1952. It is not until the end of 1959.

Chief of the Cuban Trade Delegation Fidel Castro, the young university man now trying to seize power in Cuba, began with a program to clean up the government of President Fulgencio Batista.

General Batista, when an army sergeant back in the 1930's, began his career with the same program—to end corruption in Cuban government.

The record was probably set by President Grau San Martin, from Castro himself is only 31—four years too young to head the government under the Cuban constitution.

He has put forward Manuel Urrutia, 57, a former Santiago judge, to succeed the rebels at his cabinet for the presidency. But Judge Urrutia is a political unknown and he does not have the backing of other anti-Batista.

Consequently, any overthrow of the Batista government is not considered likely to bring stability to the island so long ridden by corruption. On the contrary, it would probably set factions warring among themselves in a chaos worse than that existing today.

Region Director Announces Jobs—Opportunities are announced for several positions with the federal government available through the regional director of the 11th U. S. Civil Service Region, Seattle.

Applications are being accepted for radiotelegraph operator, paying from $3,415 to $3,670 a year; analytical statistician, $5,440 to $7,570; mechanical draftsman, $2,550 to $2,850; engineering draftsman, $2,560 to $4,225; and medical technician, $2,175 to $4,500 a year.

Information can be obtained by writing the regional director at the federal office building in Seattle or from contacting the Twin Falls civil service representative, Agnes Soren, postoffice building.

Washington barracks, he was caught, tried, found guilty, imprisoned on Isle of Pines.

He was released by President Batista's general amnesty of May 1955. He fled to Mexico and there organized his 20th of July movement—so named to commemorate the date of his first unsuccessful raid in 1953.

He returned back into Cuba, he began his revolutionary operations from the mountains of western Oriente, largest and wealthiest of Cuba's provinces.

Though he is believed to have extensive popular support from university students, well-to-do and common people of Oriente, the odds for success are against him.

Even if he could seize power, it is considered doubtful that his victory would bring peace. For there are at least seven political and revolutionary movements now opposed to the Batista regime.

They were pulled together in a unity movement last November. It fell apart in January. And the other six are now by no means agreed to support Castro's movement.

Castro himself is only 31—four years too young to head the government under the Cuban constitution.

He has put forward Manuel Urrutia, 57, a former Santiago judge, to succeed the rebels at his cabinet for the presidency. But Judge Urrutia is a political unknown and he does not have the backing of other anti-Batista.

Consequently, any overthrow of the Batista government is not considered likely to bring stability to the island so long ridden by corruption. On the contrary, it would probably set factions warring among themselves in a chaos worse than that existing today.

Four Dreams of Man Discussed At Final Meeting for Town Hall

This earth, mostly "second class" because of their birth or the birth of their parents. Different classes of the first and second class people are growing less each day. There are three problems of segregation in the world today—racial, religious and political.

The number one problem of segregation is in India. The people in the caste system are doing it to their own class by birth and they are just taught to obey orders. The second problem is in South Africa and is a color barrier there where white people, black people and colored or Asiatic people.

The third problem is in Russia and the satellite colonies. Two percent of the Russians and the rest of the people are just taught to obey orders and follow their leaders. It is the masses. For he is the elite, not the masses.

Dr. Furby concluded his speech by saying, "The world will be better if we are just taught to obey orders. We can have the best world man ever seen."

Moose Lodge for T.F. Has Election—A new slate of officers were elected by members of the Twin Falls Moose Lodge Tuesday.

Approved for membership were: Pete Brown, Kenneth Hawkins, Ronald Cozwell, E. K. Maynard, H. C. Ulmer, Ronald Scherpp and Herman Alred.

FCC Officials Will Pay Own Way at Meets

WASHINGTON, April 10.—All 44 federal communications commissioners plan to pay their own way at the annual meeting of the radio and television industry at Los Angeles later this month.

The policy, revealed by informed sources, was a reversal of past practice under which the broadcasters paid for hotel rooms and sometimes flowers, liquor and food for some commissioners at similar conventions.

The federal communications commission (FCC) regulates the broadcast industry. Changes in the convention hotel bill policy followed criticism from the industry that the FCC was investigating federal regulatory agencies including the FCC.

The convention of the National Association of Broadcasters will be held in Los Angeles April 27 to May 1.

FCC Commissioner Robert T. Bartley has paid his own way at the convention. "I have to stay at the hotel. I'll do it rather than ask the industry to do it for me," he said.

Other commissioners have insisted there is no impropriety in the FCC commissioners' convention expenses.

Wet Weather, Cold Delaying Farm Activity

BOISE, April 10.—The U. S. agriculture department reported yesterday that cool and wet weather has delayed the start of field work on farms in northern and eastern parts of the country.

However, the report said, in the lower elevations of southwestern and central states, field work proceeded satisfactorily until rains in the past week brought activity to a halt in these latter areas, the department said.

Preparation of seed and sowing has progressed well until last week's rains.

"Soil moisture supplies in dry farmed areas and irrigation water supplies in irrigated areas," the report continued, "are considered to be adequate to plentiful. Reservoirs are in early to full bloom, while other trails are in the bud stage."

The condition of winter grains is generally good with losses to date at a minimum, field mice have caused some damage in northern, southwestern and parts of southeastern Idaho.

"Stock are in good condition generally over the state and losses have been less than average."

Japan's Toys Imperil Tots, Says Official

SYDNEY, Australia, April 10.—Customs officials have alerted hundreds of Japanese toys on sale in Sydney stores and said they were a grave menace to children.

The toys, imported recently from Japan, contain "enough ether to put a child into a deep coma, perhaps even to kill it," Customs Collector Thomas Maher said.

He said the toys bore no brand and he did not know the name of the manufacturer. The toy is a duck on a stand, which appears to be drinking through its curved glass neck.

Maher said the neck was made of glass which contained highly explosive diethyl ether and said this was particularly dangerous because the glass is so easily broken.

Maher said the danger was discovered when the parents of a young child found the ether from a broken toy had put their child into a heavily drugged sleep. He said the ether was highly explosive and was even more dangerous if a toy was broken near an open fire.

Maher estimated 200 of the toys had been sold in Sydney, and warned parents to destroy them immediately.

Farm Agency Says Vehicles' Cost Is Great

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The agriculture department reported yesterday that the sharpest increase in prices paid by farmers since the 1947-48 period have been for automobiles and automobile supplies.

Prices for these items are said to have increased 40 per cent since the 1947-48 base period.

Prices of food and tobacco were said to have gone up 16 per cent. The smallest increase—9 per cent—was reported for household furnishings.

Farm clothing prices were up 14 per cent, building materials 21 per cent and items in household operation 17 per cent.

The department said prices paid by city wage-earner and clerical-worker families for all items and services were up 23 per cent from the 1947-48 average compared with 19 per cent for farm families.

Medical care prices were up 43 per cent, transportation 39 per cent, housing 27 per cent, reading and abilities which he possesses.

Educator Asks if Nation Should Play Russian Roulette With School System

If we examine a cross section of our youth we find, naturally, more than that it represents a cross section of our society. About five per cent of our young people are exceptionally gifted intellectually, about 25 per cent are intellectually slow learners, the remaining 70 per cent fall about evenly on either side of the intellectual average.

If we extend our educational program to suit the gifted five per cent we make education difficult for the average 70 per cent and impossible for the slowest 25 per cent. Furthermore, we take the dangerous gamble that, in this game of Russian roulette, the gifted five per cent—around whom we are to organize our educational pattern and who will eventually become our leaders—will be able to understand the point-of-view of the other 95 per cent, whose education has accord-edly suffered, and that this intellectual elite will act for the best interests of all of us.

We take the chance that the intellectual discipline of their training will not prevent them from seeing the needs of those whose interests and abilities are less intellectual and less logically disciplined.

Many of those currently offering solutions to our educational needs propose, as a panacea, higher standards. Apparently students not able to meet present standards will somehow be able to meet higher standards. The notion is that students do not differ in ability but only that some are more lazy than others.

This notion has its origin in the belief that all people are equally able and is fostered by our inability to admit that our own children may be having difficulty in school not because they are lazy, but because they lack the particular abilities needed to succeed in academic work. Since this lack is usually an inheritance, it takes some degree of courage for us, as parents, to admit it.

The difficulties in our present educational program stem not from a lack of high standards, but from the fact that the standards are so set that the greatest proportion, the middle 70 per cent, can acquire as much education as they are able to acquire. If we can only have an educational program oriented toward one of these three groups, then this is the group we should aim at and the standards are satisfactory as they now exist.

It seems to me, however, that our program can properly be designed for all three of these groups. What we can probably do is to provide, as an integrated part of our present system, special programs designed to suit the needs, on the one hand, of the gifted five per cent and, on the other hand, of the slowest 25 per cent.

On the elementary and high school level this means sectioning of the students by ability and, perhaps, different curricula. On the college level it means honors programs for the gifted student and orientation programs for the slower student.

In the first case the student is examined from certain requirements because he does not need to satisfy them, and he is held to certain other requirements that his slower classmates cannot satisfy. In the second case the student is encouraged to acquire the requirements because he cannot satisfy them, and he is allowed to substitute certain others which he can satisfy. Such a system allows every student to work to the peak of his capabilities.

Where such a three-fold program has been put into effect it has not meant a great increase in either facilities or personnel. To institute it, the chief requirement is an enlightened interest on the part of the public. In the long run, the public gets the educational program it demands.

The educational philosophy we now have is one that we have developed over many years of patient trial and error. It represents the best fruit of the compromise demanded in satisfying the intellectual needs of the greatest number of our people. It ought not to be lightly cast aside.

It is eminently suited to a democratic society and represents on the educational level those ingredients of equal opportunity for all and responsiveness to the needs of each individual as a person which are so vital to our democratic way of life.

We ought to continue to experiment judiciously with it, but in our panic at seeing a Russian satellite in the sky we ought not to institute a revolution in education that we will later regret. Our best effort should be devoted to strengthening our existing program. Too few of our nation's children have school facilities available that enable them to get the highest quality of education possible under our current system.

If we have energies to devote to improving education let us devote them to exploiting to the fullest the advantages of our present program.

Bee Owners Plan To Meet Farmers

Bee owners from all over Magic Valley will be at the Idaho Power auditorium in Twin Falls Tuesday to meet farmers who plant seed crops and want planned pollination, according to George Wilkening, of the Security Seed company, Twin Falls.

Wilkening says the purpose is to get farmers to make arrangements with the bee owners to use the bees to pollinate crops.

Bee owners will be in the auditorium from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and farmers can drop in any time, Wilkening says.

T. F. Students To Take Tests Here April 29

The National Merit Scholarship test will be given to 100 students in the Twin Falls high school library at 9 a. m. April 29. The test has been devised by Research Associates of Chicago, and also will be scored and reported by the testing agency. The test is a three-hour measure of educational growth and aptitude. Emphasis will be on broad intellectual skills and on understanding and ability to use what has been learned.

Ten thousand students, including the highest scorers in each state, will advance to the semi-finals next fall. Semi-finalists will then take a general examination. Evaluation of grades, citizenship, and extra-curricular achievements will be made. The finalists, and the winners will be announced in the spring of 1950.

The site of the examination and the winner with the average scholarship amounting to $500 per year. The program will be 1000 a year and the maximum is $1,500.

About 100 merit scholars, winners of the 1951-52 competition, will be named on May 1. They are winners in the third program which began last October. Nancy Hogue and Neil Washington were examination in Twin Falls. Kenneth Kall, vice principal, will administer the test.

France Facing New Trouble As U. S.-British Mission Fails

PARIS, April 10—Failure of the Anglo-American "good offices" team to end the Franco-Tunisian dispute and a rising tide of labor difficulties brought new threats to the government of Premier Felix Gaillard.

Conservative demagogues put Gaillard on fresh notice they would overthrow him at the first sign of "appeasement" in trying to end the Tunisia stalemate even though the national assembly Easter recess does not end until April 29.

Diplomatic observers and newspapers wrote off the Anglo-American good offices mission as a failure, and most blamed the failure on the Tunisians. The leftist newspaper Liberation said the British and American diplomats would have been scorers if they had succeeded.

Foreign Minister Christian Pineau called the national assembly's foreign affairs committee into session this morning to tell why the mission had broken down. Pineau and Gaillard conferred for six hours yesterday with Robert D. Murphy of the U. S. state department and Lord Bealey of the British foreign office.

The peace mission appeared to have foundered on Tunisian President Habib Bourguia's refusal to accept a French proposal for neutral control of the Algerian-Tunisian border. France charges that Tunisia has sent aid across the border to the Algerian rebels.

Gaillard called a special cabinet meeting for tomorrow to look for new ways out of the stalemate, and the powerful conservatives—who hold the fate of the Gaillard government—were expected to announce any suggestion that France supervise the border alone.

They said such a system could not prevent Algerian rebels slipping across the border from Tunisia and that such an arrangement could bring down the French government.

While Gaillard tried to solve the Tunisian dispute he ran into French troubles at home. The country's 116,000 coal miners called a 24-hour warning strike for Saturday and said they would go out for an indefinite period a few days later if they were and hour demands are not met.

DHIA Reports On Herd Test Of 3 Counties

Forty-five herds averaged over 30 pounds butterfat. High herd belongs to Archie Malone, Jerome, whose 16 registered Holsteins averaged 1,345 pounds of milk and 821 pounds of butterfat. Next was the Harold McCord herd, Wendell, with nine grade Holsteins which averaged 1,197 pounds of milk and 473 pounds of butterfat. In third place were the 23 grade and registered Holsteins belonging to Dr. P. J. Supple, Jerome, averaging 1,213 pounds of milk and 452 pounds of butterfat.

One hundred and two cows in the unit produced over 60 pounds of butter in March. Records of the top 10 cows follow:

Pel, registered Holstein, owned by Gordon Martin, Hunt, produced 2,280 pounds of milk and 86.8 pounds of butterfat.

Benson Claim Is Challenged By Rep. Pfost

WASHINGTON, April 10—Rep. Grace Pfoz, Idaho's Democratic congressman, yesterday challenged Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson's assertion in Preston Monday night that Idaho farmers were losing well under $200 million.

She issued a statement here saying that "Secretary Benson and the Republicans have cost Idaho farmers nearly $300 million in net income in five years and there are increasing losses ahead."

According to Mrs. Pfoz, Idaho farmers had a net income of $184 million in 1952, the last year of Democratic rule. In the succeeding five GOP years the net Idaho farm income was 138 million dollars; 128 million dollars; 108 million dollars; 116 million dollars; and in 1951, approximately 125 million dollars.

"Calculated from the 1952 level, this means that Idaho's total farm income losses aggregate 288 million dollars," she declared.

She asserted that prospects for 1953 "are even gloomier." She said that in what price will cost Idaho wheat growers another $9 million dollars and the drop in milk price supports will reduce farmer income.

Milk Samples for Tests Displayed at Local Session

Sample of milk used in tests to detect mastitis are held by H. A. Hibbs, department of dairy husbandry professor, University of Idaho. Hibbs demonstrated the Whitehead mastitis-detection test Thursday at the spring meeting in Twin Falls of Idaho Valley members of the Idaho Milk Processors association.

Milk Processing Industry Needs New Young Personnel, Area Group Hears

A shortage of younger personnel entering the milk processing industry was described for Magic Valley members of the Idaho Milk Processors association here Thursday morning. Speaking at the Magic Valley group's spring meeting in the city hall, Prof. H. A. Hibbs of the University of Idaho's dairy husbandry department, said 10 openings in the field are available for each section graduating in dairy husbandry. Hibbs pointed out that the Milk Processors association and the Idaho Dairy association are offering four 1200 scholarships a year to encourage high school seniors to enter the dairy husbandry field. Hibbs said the scholarships were set up four months ago. Students are selected on the basis of leadership, character, scholarship and interest in the dairy industry, he added. The professor noted that similar scholarships are now being given by the Idaho Association of Ice Cream Processors and the Challenge Creamery company. Hibbs said the scholarships were available in dairy production or dairy processing.

Hates Housework

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—Winner of the Mrs. California title is a mother who hates housework. Patricia Griffin, 25, loves to cook, however, she conceded yesterday upon assuming the state title. She has two small sons. "My wife is so beautiful and so smart, it wouldn't matter if she couldn't cook at all," commented G. Edward Griffin, a Los Angeles insurance salesman. "But she's an excellent homemaker in every way."

Lincoln Board Names Leaders

SHOSHONE, April 10.—Officers were elected Monday by the Lincoln County Fair board. They are Floyd Silva, chairman; Murdo Osgie, vice chairman; Mrs. Raymond Bernard, secretary-treasurer, and J. Howard Manning, fair manager. Permission was given Carlos Nahn and Don Fress to use one of the fair buildings for meetings and a shooting gallery was given the rifle club. Silva reported on his trip to State Orange last winter and told the need for liability insurance, as recommended by the state. John Bates was re-elected as caretaker for the fairgrounds. Fair board members this year include Rupert Manning, Mrs. Edna Outhrie, Silva, Osgie, Mrs. Ralph Brown, J. Ben Haudrich and Mrs. Burt Alina. They are all bonded along with Mrs. Bernard, the secretary-treasurer. The next meeting is set for May 8.

Area Survey Shows Farm Income Gain

SHOSHONE, April 10.—Farmers' house identification loan details were announced this week by Roy Gipson, local supervisor for the area. A review shows farm income is up. In winter months, Gipson said, a farm family completes their past year's farm plan with the supervisor. Using this record as a guide, a new plan is developed. FIA loans are based, partly, on these plans. A review of 76 sets of farm plans shows the average borrower in 1952 was farming 130 irrigable acres, had an average gross income of $8,700, farm operating expenses of $4,700, family living expenses of $1,045, and a net worth of $1,588, largely in livestock. Debts totaling $3,800 were paid.

A comparison of 52 sets of records for 1952 against the record for the same farms in 1952 shows the income was up 14 per cent, family living and farm operating up 12.5 per cent, net income up 14.6 per cent and eight per cent more crop acres were farmed.

Other meetings are set for Caldwell and Coeur d'Alene. A booklet distributed at the meeting listed a total of 215,000 cows on Idaho farms a year ago. The value of cows and heifers in the state was listed at $7,485,000. Cash farm income for Idaho from milk was given at $47,342,000 for the year.

"Ike" Is Finally Aware Delays Give Soviet Propaganda Edge

WASHINGTON, April 10.—It is one proposing peaceful negotiations while this country tried to think up an asset. Eisenhower finally wrote Dulles in Jan. 12. But by that time Dulgin had sent him another letter. This was Jan. 8. On Jan. 20 Eisenhower answered Dulgin's second letter with a 40-word note. Dulgin sent another letter Feb. 1. It took Eisenhower 14 days to answer that one. On Feb. 28 the Russians sent a note—a letter from Bulganin to a summit get-together. The United States answered this March 6. Bulganin sent another letter Feb. 2. And on March 24 the Soviets answered the American note with a second note of their own. Meanwhile, Bulganin was fading from the picture. Nikita Khrushchev became premier. Very quickly the Russians made another propaganda score. With the whole world agog about nuclear tests, the Russians announced they would stop their nuclear tests. This time the state department was ready and fired off an answer immediately. Then on Friday Khrushchev sent Eisenhower a note on stopping nuclear tests. Eisenhower answered him Monday. Dulles—who he appeared before his news conference yesterday—seemed proud Eisenhower had answered so fast: within four days, which included the Easter holidays. Dulles has publicly acknowledged the Russians have been knocking our propaganda pants off. Even Eisenhower at his news conference last week admitted maybe we could have handled ourselves better. He tossed out the idea of putting a psychological war expert into the state department. But Dulles is boss there. He runs it pretty much as a one-man show. And at his news conference yesterday he brushed aside the Eisenhower idea. He said this country can't include in the kind of propaganda the Russians use, and went on to explain the state department's attitude now on the Russian note. He said: "I think on the whole that it is more important to deal with these things quickly. I think that what we did over the Easter week-in-one demonstration that at least in one respect we are trying to speed up our operations so as not to give the Soviet propaganda line a free field for so long a time as has been the case in the past. "I do believe that as a result of our technique somewhat more terms of trying to get our message more quickly and more effectively. One question comes to mind. Why has it taken the state department so long—and has such experience does it need—so that it is not smart to let the Russians go on propaganda while we have been on what to do?"

This twisted and crumpled debris is all that is left of the Capital Air Lines Viscount plane which crashed near Midland, Mo., at Tri-City airport carrying 47 persons to their deaths. The tail of the plane points toward the runway for which it was headed but never reached. Plane crashed 2,300 feet short of the runway. It was one of Michigan's worst air disasters. (AP wirephoto)

Europeans Who Differ With Him Write McLemore Letters

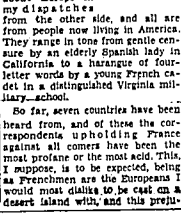

BY HENRY McLEMORE

Since my return from Europe I have had to add another appendix to my filing system.

It is marked "Letters from vengeful Europeans" and is already filled to the brim. If letters from traitor-enthused keep coming I'll either have to buy another pair of shoes, or use the extra room I have in the boxes reserved for "Letters to Platterings"—"Honora Received" and "Cash on Hand."

All the letters upbraid me for things I wrote about Europe in my dispatches from the other side, and all are from people now living in America. They range in tone from gentle censure by an elderly Spanish lady in California, to a harangue of four-letter words by a young French cadet in a distinguished Virginia military school.

So far, seven countries have been heard from, and of these the correspondence is upholding France against all comers. There has been the most profane of the most acid. This I suppose, is to be expected, being as Frenchmen are the Europeans I would most dislike to be cast on a desert island with, and this prejudice undoubtedly showed up when I was traveling in La Belle France. My French pen pals all are hoping mad over my blindness and stupidity in not realizing, the very second I placed my foot in "France," that it is the most cultured country in the world by eight miles, that all other countries are bores, and that this culture makes it quite all right for France to do anything—capitalist in war, collaborate, rob nations blind, bring about what unsuspecting jers victims are, and, in my opinion, be have more rusty than any other European.

Far be it from me to argue if the French correspondents had spoken of France's culture in the past tense, and France's contributions to civilization in the same tense. Call me blind, but I don't see France as the cultural leader of today.

Indeed, I wish my French pen pals would write me follow-up letters pointing out the glories of today's French culture which I was so blind as to overlook.

Aside from the French, my other correspondents were content to chide "me" for not taking some of their native food, exasperating their traffic problems, low-rating their communications systems, or every once in a while for getting mixed up in my historical facts concerning their countries.

Many of them forgave me for what they deemed my errors in writing of their homelands, and seemed pleased that I liked it over there well enough to stay the better part of two years. I must take exception with the Danish gentleman who said I was crazy to write that the Danes ate as many raw eggs as I said they did.

They eat more. They break them over everything. If he doesn't think they do, then I ask him to come to my house and look at the vester part of two years. I must take exception with the Danish gentleman who said I was crazy to write that the Danes ate as many raw eggs as I said they did.
