(From Page One) and Television company, and its president, George O. Hagen, and its vice president, L. K. L. K. V. However, Davis left Monday night, pending the receipt of the bids for the property were received. The property was sold to Irving H. Hagen, who is now in the city. An appraisal board had placed the value of the property at $11,000. Officially the property is defined as lots 14 and 15, block 149. No bids have been received for the other property offered by the city. An appraisal value of $5,000 has been placed on it. The commission cannot act on the property for less than the appraisal board value. The other property offered since a new letter has been installed. He stated "the nuisance seems to be eliminated." A petition by neighbors had asked the board to create a nuisance.

Action was postponed on a request to re-open the historic street between Fourth avenue east and Harmon Park avenue. A record plat had been filed for the street, but the other half has never been dedicated. The previous owner of the property would like it returned for his use.

Several ditches appeared before the board for the purpose of irrigation ditch in an alleyway between Maurice street and Locust street. The city has been closing the ditch to make the alley wider. The commission is further checking the possibility of keeping the ditch open.

Outbacks Slash Demand for June Engineering Graduates

NEW YORK, April 22.—Engineering graduates in the class of '58 are expected to be absorbed by industry, but it may take a little more time than in past years.

A United Press spot check of some major engineering schools reveals that the June crop will not, for the most part, be able to walk off the campus and into a job production outback have lightened up the job situation.

Various authorities report the larger companies no longer are hiring "spare" engineers as they did in recent years.

Walter Kelly, director of placement for New York university's school of engineering, said the number of firms interviewing June graduates is down from 200 to about 150.

"Most of the cancellations came from the aircraft crop, but there are a few suppliers involved, too," said Kelly. "Those that are interviewing appear to have cut their manpower requirements considerably," he added.

"In general, graduate engineers last year averaged three to five offers, some as many as 12. This year, the graduates get three to five offers. The offers start from scratch," said Kelly.

Most of the east coast college interview cancellations came from aircraft firms located in California. "These firms are cutting the circle of their recruiting area. But we are looking forward to welcoming them back next year," Kelly said.

"There is no significant change in salary. Last year's average $465 a month is expected to hold up for this year.

William Cavanaugh, executive secretary of the Engineers Joint Council, said 34,500 bachelor degrees will be awarded in engineering this June. This is 2,500 fewer than last year.

"The mortality rate" — fallout for all reasons — continues to increase each year," Cavanaugh said. "This year's graduates represent 52 per cent of the total in the 1954 freshman class."

On the west coast, Dr. Donald Clark, placement bureau head at Cal Tech, reported: "Job prospects for 1958 graduates will be very slight." He noted there will be 25 fewer companies interviewing graduates this year than last but a late fall pickup is expected, when new government missile contracts begin to be felt.

A more optimistic note was sounded by Florence Wall, director of the placement bureau at the University of Southern California. "They're still looking the same as ever," she said of company interviewers.

At UCLA, Assistant Dean Warren A. Hall said, "The job situation is considerably lighter. Companies are looking for the cream of the crop." Hall added, "These fellows (the graduates) are not going to be treated like potatoes from the east. They will have to use a little shoe leather before they are absorbed."

Parents Join in Future Plans for Lana's Daughter

HOLLYWOOD, April 22.—Actress Lana Turner and Stephen Crane, her second husband, had arrived at a joint plan for the future of their 14-year-old daughter, Cheryl, today but they weren't discussing it.

The blond film star and Crane met with their attorneys yesterday to form a plan to present "Tuesday" a juvenile court hearing for Cheryl's custody.

The hearing in nearby Santa Monica will determine what will be done with the girl, 10-year-old Cheryl, since she was kidnapped by a man named Tompiano to protect Cheryl.

Meanwhile, attorney William Jerome Pollack announced his intention of filing a $750,000 damages suit in superior court today on behalf of Tompiano's son by his first marriage, 10-year-old John.

Pollack said the action was requested by the boy's mother, Mrs. Sarah Ibrahim, who married Tompiano in China and divorced the handsome lover four years ago.

The attorney said the action would seek $500,000 general and $250,000 special damages and name Miss Tompiano, Crane and Cheryl as defendants.

Jordan Moves Troops, Tanks To Holy Land

AMMAN, Jordan, April 22.—The government of Jordan yesterday ordered troops and tanks to the Holy Land, which Israel plans to make a mammoth military parade Thursday to mark the anniversary of the Balfour declaration.

Amman has protested to United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld that the Israeli plan to hold a military parade in the Holy Land is an attempt to force an agreement limiting the size of forces in the divided city.

Hammarskjöld ordered in troops when army intelligence reported the Israelis intended to use heavy equipment such as tanks, armored cars and artillery in the parade.

Hammarskjöld ordered Sunday in New York to confer Sunday with the British representative, and P. M. Crosshale, acting British representative, on the Middle East situation.

Reports reaching Amman said the U. N. had ordered an investigation of the coming war. In the meantime, senior government and army officials canceled their leaves and stood by on an emergency basis.

A government communique said Jordan decided to take action on the "imposing" of the British representative, Sir John G. Gort, and Gen. Keril Von Horn, chief of the U. N. troops.

It said Jordan was told the U. N. was "unable to prevent, remove or halt the imposing" of the British representative.

The communique urged Arabs to avoid incidents with Israelis during the coming week. In the meantime, senior government and army officials canceled their leaves and stood by on an emergency basis.

Mr. Goodman was born Jan. 20, 1875, in Gold Hill, N. C. He was married Sunday, March 7, 1910, in Twin Falls.

Cracks Start To Appear in A-Test Front

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—Some cracks are beginning to appear in the Eisenhower administration's solid front against testing nuclear tests without also ending nuclear weapons production.

The positions have been irreparable in U.S. disarmament policy. So far, the only member of the official family to challenge this policy publicly has been Harold E. Stassen—and then only after he bowed out as the President's disarmament adviser.

Now the senate disarmament subcommittee has turned another dissenting voice: Hans Bethe, Cornell university physicist and member of the group headed by Dr. James Killian Jr., which has been studying the need for testing nuclear weapons to detect cheating on any nuclear test agreement with the Soviet Union.

Bethe appeared before the subcommittee last Thursday behind closed doors. Parts of what he said will be made public within a few days. But it was learned the testified nuclear explosion can be detected at a considerable distance, and that a successful inspection-surveying system could be devised.

This is in contrast to the views of two other experts who appeared. Adm. Louis E. Brehm, chairman of the atomic energy commission, and H-bomb expert Edward Teller.

Industry Has Pressure for Added Study

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—Industry is being prodded today—even in the face of its cost-cutting drive—to put more money into basic research for its own and the nation's needs.

It is already pouring about four billion dollars a year into industrial research, but the lion's share of that is for applied research. That is, its scientists seek to develop new products or new processes that eventually will put billions into the till through increased sales.

The lag here in basic research came to the fore dramatically when the Soviets launched their Sputniks. President Eisenhower has called for more scientific pioneering, which means more basic research.

At a meeting sponsored by the American Association for the Advancement of Science speakers said total research spending by government, universities and industry was growing but basic research was taking an increasingly smaller share.

But industrial leaders say that industry already is stepping up its long-term projects.

Soly said he was traveling east when he came over a rise in the road and saw some sheep about 100 yards ahead. He applied his brakes. The cow and a lamb jumped into the road from behind some rocks into the path of the car. The force of his foot on the brakes broke the brake-line on the left front and the car skidded 40 feet.
