Treaty to Freeze Antarctic Claims Proposed by U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower called on Russia and 10 other nations today to join in a pact to neutralize the vast frozen continent of Antarctica and dedicate it to peaceful scientific research. A major aim of the proposed treaty would be to lock territorial claims in Antarctica where they now stand and thus prevent bitter international disputes from arising. Politically the region, where Soviet and American scientists have competed in recent months, would be insulated from the Soviet-Western conflict raging in most other parts of the world.

The U. S. proposal, announced at the White House, is expected to result in a 12-nation conference next fall to work out details among the nations concerned, in addition to the United States and Russia. The nations named are Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Chile, France, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, South Africa, and Britain.

The presentation of the proposal to the Soviet government was handled differently from the presentation of other government proposals in 10 countries the case of the U. S. ambassador's office in Moscow.

The message to Moscow was hand-carried by Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Mikoyin, U. S. ambassador to the United States, and U. S. Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy.

The U. S. suggested continuation beyond this year of the international scientific cooperation now being carried on in connection with the International Geophysical Year, which ends in 1957.

It suggested conclusion of a treaty at the 12-nation conference which would freeze territorial claims and which would be open to scientific investigation of all territories.

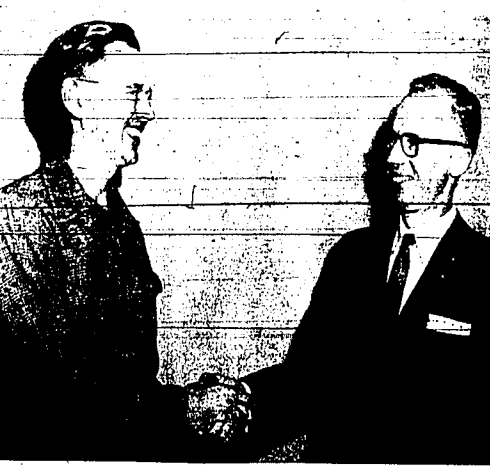

"We do not want Antarctica to be a source of political conflict," Eisenhower said in a statement.

Department officials, while declining to predict Russia's reaction, said preliminary discussions had begun in March, were encouraging enough to prompt the U. S. to make a formal proposal for an international conference.

The U. S. said it had seven countries who had advanced claims to portions of Antarctica and that some of these had been making scientific claims since 1911.

Mr. Jones was born Jan. 27, 1915, in Alton, Va. He graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1937, and from the University of Kentucky in 1940. He was in the U. S. Army from 1941 to 1945, and in the U. S. Air Force from 1946 to 1950. He was a member of the construction company from 1951 to 1957.

Hanson Blasts Smylie in Talk To Democrats

PARFIELD, May 3 (AP)—State Senator Max Hanson, a candidate for governor, said tonight that Republican Gov. Robert E. Smylie is clearly seeking reelection, even though he is not an announced candidate.

"I do not propose to permit him a privileged sanctuary from criticism of his fitness for office just because he has not publicly revealed his objectives," Hanson said in a speech to the Gamas county Democratic central committee in his hometown of Parfield.

Hanson is one of four candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. The others are John Olney, Mountain Home; State Senator A. M. Derr, Clark Fork; and William H. Bowers, Parma.

Hanson pictures Smylie as "a lawyer who never had a client of his own but who would still be a member of the law firm until he became an assistant attorney general."

He said Smylie came from a law background.

Miss Rupert Chosen From Group of Ten

RUPERT, May 3—Marlene Greer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Greer, was selected Miss Rupert of 1958 from a field of 10 contestants Saturday night at the school auditorium.

A hastily crowd in the school auditorium saw Miss Greer crowned by Carolyn Payne, Miss Rupert of 1957. Runners-up were Carmen Hyman, second, and Daugherty, third.

Miss Greer is a member of the Girl Scouts and is a member of the church. She is a member of the church and is a member of the church.

Mexican Laborer Hit by Auto, Dies

MARGENO, May 3 (AP)—Alberto Perez, a Mexican laborer, was killed last night when he was struck by a car two miles west of here on Highway 77.

He was the fifth victim of Idaho's highways so far this year. The highway has 43 on the same date of 1957.

White county Sheriff Jim Tucker said a companion of the victim, Carlos Barrios, said the driver apparently did not notice the oncoming car when he started to cross the highway.

Tucker identified the driver of the car as Ervin E. Millburn, Caldwell.

Perez and Barrios arrived in Nampa Thursday from Sacramento, Calif., and were looking for work in the area of the accident. Barrios said he and Perez were walking to a farm west of Margeno to look for a job.

No inquest was planned.

Ratios for Fourth District's Music Festivals Are Reported

KEMMERLY, May 3—Ratios for the Idaho fourth district music festival at Junior High Music festival at the school were announced Saturday by the judges.

Neil Block, judge for chorus, solo and ensemble singing gave Malika's first entry a grade of 4.5. The second entry was given a grade of 4.0. The third entry was given a grade of 3.5. The fourth entry was given a grade of 3.0.

The judges also reported that the festival was a success and that the students showed a great interest in the music.

Russia Wins Issue Of Separate Talks On Summit Parley

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France finally gave in today to Russia's demand that they negotiate separately in Moscow for a summit conference—but the concession failed to brighten the gloomy summit outlook. The concession means that ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France stand ready to negotiate one by one with Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko or his representative.

The U. S. and the other nations had been insisting that the summit conference be held in Geneva, Switzerland, and that all four nations negotiate as equals.

The concession was seen as a sign of weakness by some observers, but it was also seen as a necessary step to bring the summit conference to a conclusion.

Man Given Probation On Topsy Count Here

Delbert LeRoy Shaffer, Friday, was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary for drunken driving, repeated offense, but District Judge Hugh A. Baker placed the man on probation.

Shaffer was arrested in January about six and one-half miles southwest of Twin Falls while driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He previously had been convicted of drunken driving in the county and had served a term in the state penitentiary for the same offense on Aug. 15, 1954.

Shaffer is a 37-year-old farmer who lives on the 207th Avenue road, east of town.

T. F. Attorney Denies Bid to State's Office

Douglas Kramer, Twin Falls attorney, was one of several lawyers named Friday as a candidate for the office of Idaho state attorney general. Mr. Kramer is a partner in the law firm of Kramer and Walker.

Mr. Kramer is a member of the Twin Falls County Bar Association and is a member of the Idaho State Bar Association. He has been practicing law in Twin Falls for several years.

Other candidates named for the office include: Earl E. Eastland, Nampa; Robert Roberts, Twin Falls; and Clifford Ball, Pocatello.

3-Day Shetland Pony Sale Is Ended at Filer

FILER, May 3—An auctioneer's hammer banged down at 1:30 p. m. Saturday bringing to a close the second annual Central Northwest Shetland Pony sale at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds.

The sale, sponsored by L. G. Prescott, route 3, Twin Falls, began Thursday with one registered pony selling for $5,000. Late Saturday, Prescott said he had made no final accounting. Shetlands and two colts had sold for a total of $54,335.

Grade Shetlands entered the sale on Friday and again Saturday.

The top seller was a registered silver chestnut stallion sold by R. D. Peterson, Tropic, Idaho, for $12,000. It was sold by R. W. Bradford, Pleasant Grove, Utah.

The average price for 22 registered stallions was $2,722. The top 10 stallions averaged $1,811. Over 100 grade ponies were sold Friday with an equal number going into the ring Saturday.

One grade mare sold for $225 and another for $100. Prescott said a total of 74 registered stallions and mares were sold.

Crowds filled the stands around the ring and the stable area during the sale.

Prescott said he planned to hold a similar sale in the future.

Girl's Abduction Admitted by Boy

ST. LOUIS, May 3 (AP)—It is admitted that a 15-year-old boy admitted to the abduction of a 12-year-old girl in St. Louis.

The boy, who is named as a suspect in the case, admitted that he had taken the girl to a nearby area and that he had had sexual intercourse with her.

The girl was found in a nearby area and is now recovering from her injuries. The boy is being held in custody and will be charged with the abduction.

Plan to Drill New Well in Wilder Ok'd

WILDER, May 3 (AP)—Wilder residents last night voted to authorize a $100,000 bond issue to go ahead and get engineering advice on how to build a new water system.

Mayor John Bati, Jr., said the residents present unanimously approved a proposal to drill a new well. During the past week the town has been hit by a drought which was traced to contaminated water.

The people, however, said "they don't want to contaminate their water supply and help it." Bati reported.

He said they also favored revenue bonds in which the cost of the improvements would be paid for from water proceeds, rather than debt bonds to finance the new system. A bond election is to be called later.

Man Held for Check Count in T. F. Court

Red Rudolph, 23, Burley, was bound over to district court Saturday after appearing in Twin Falls jail on a preliminary hearing on a charge of issuing a check without funds in the bank.

Rudolph appeared before Justice J. O. Pumphrey Friday and requested a preliminary hearing. Judge Pumphrey set the hearing for Saturday.

Prosecuting Attorney James Cunningham, representing the state, called two witnesses. They were Richard E. Morris, a clerk in the bank department store, where Rudolph allegedly cashed an $18 check for purchasing a jacket and Frank Black, assistant cashier of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company, who testified Rudolph did not maintain an account at that bank and that the check was "no account."

Rudolph appeared without an attorney and stated he did not want one. He did not cross-examine either witness and produced none on his own behalf.

The Burley man was returned to the custody of Sheriff James H. Behan in lieu of the bond which was continued by Judge Pumphrey. He has been held in the county jail for some time on a charge of attempting to cash a check without funds in the bank.

The first charge stems from an attempt to cash an insufficient fund check at George Roebuck and company, Twin Falls.

Saturday's hearing was on a separate charge.

Brothers Meet After Long Absence

Oscar Critch, 63, Gold Beach, Ore., left, greets his brother, Harrison Critch, 62, 429 Sixth street north, right, after a separation of almost 40 years. The younger Critch says the last time he saw his brother, the latter was sitting beneath an oak tree in France as the junior brother marched past. Earlier that year they had made contact with each other before moving to a front line battle position. (Staff photo-engraving)

Brothers Meet Here Nearly 40 Years After Brief Glimpse Going to Battle

Almost 40 years ago Oscar Critch was marching into battle position in France and passed another brother, Harrison Critch, sitting beneath an oak tree talking to another soldier.

That was the last time either brother had a glimpse of the other until Saturday afternoon when the two met at Harrison's home at 429 Sixth street north, Twin Falls.

Oscar, now 63, has been living at Gold Beach, Ore., where he has a sister who lives in Missouri.

Harrison, 62, has been living at Twin Falls since 1931, where he has worked for Brice Metal works most of the time. They have kept in contact with each other through a sister who lives in Missouri.

Speaking of the last time he saw his brother, Oscar says, "I saw him that night but he didn't see me. He had to march right on by him. That was Sept. 15, 1918, and we were moving up into battle position."

The two brothers had made contact with each other earlier that year in France. Oscar says he was with the second battalion and Harrison was with the third battalion. They visited each other just before the division formed for the front. Both were members of the 350th Infantry regiment of the 9th division.

The two brothers disagree on the exact time they last saw each other. Harrison says he thought it was July 4, 1918, but Oscar, who has the ability to recall some very minute details of World War I, says he knows the last meeting was in August.

"I know," he recalls, "because our division went into battle formation on Aug. 4."

The boys were trained near Marlborough, Mo., and entered the military service at different times. After being sent to the division, which was made up mostly of men from Missouri and Kansas, the two brothers first saw each other while standing in line for alcohol at Camp Puncheon, Kan.

The two men have four other brothers and two sisters, all alive and living in the East. It has been with their sister, Mrs. Anna Pierce, Broseley, Mo., that the two have kept in contact. "I guess I had wrote to my brother about 20 years ago," Oscar says.

Not the type to run around visiting relatives, Oscar saw his father and younger brother, Robert Critch, in 1934, when they were out to Oregon to visit him. Before that he had saw his family when he left for the West in 1924.

May Day Fete Is Given for School

A May day party was held Thursday afternoon at Lincoln school for children who will attend the first grade this fall. Approximately 120 children and their mothers attended.

Children were conducted on a tour of the first grade rooms by Mrs. Helen Taylor, Mrs. LaVern Hardman, Mrs. Huchette Wainwright and Mrs. Helen Covey, all first grade teachers. Each child received a punch and a May basket.

Principal Clayton Ockert spoke to mothers. Coffee and cookies were served.

Miss Billie Russell was in charge of the party. She was assisted by Mrs. Tom Oliver, Mrs. Clark Kirkpatrick and Mrs. E. A. Jackson.

family, except Oscar, when he returned for a family reunion in 1947.

The two brothers almost missed each other Saturday. Oscar drove a pickup truck into Twin Falls and went to a hotel. From there he started searching for his brother's address. The name was not in the telephone book. After several other attempts, he finally decided to go to the police station and see if someone there could help him.

"There he met Wesley Doble, assistant juvenile officer, who gave the Oregonian locate his brother's address. Doble then drove him out to the Sixth street address."

The brother from Oregon says he is "just on a trip." He does not know where he is going, or when he will be back. He plans to go East and see all of his brothers and sisters if they could agree to meet in one place for another reunion because he doesn't want to travel all over the country looking for them.

"I just decided to do some traveling if I quit working for the forest service. I sold my home at Gold Beach and worked for a short time on a little ranch." One day he decided to quit, so wanted until the end of the month and quit the ranch job.

"All you call say now is that I'm just on the move," he added. "Twin Falls was on my way to wherever I'm going. I thought I'd stop and see Harrison."

After two hours, the two men had covered a lifetime and planned to continue their experience for the next couple of days while Oscar is in town.

MORE ABOUT 'SQUARES'
Not so long ago in an editorial on education, we commented on a local minister's observation that too much emphasis is being placed on extra-curricular activities in our public school system and too little recognition is being given to the academic side.

As much as he employed the very same words as that given by the local minister, Samuel Lenthner, vice president and director of the Du Pont company, had to say about education even higher up, in an address at the tenth annual management conference at Cornell University recently.

THESE EXCISE TAXES - Why, inquires G. H. of Richmond, Va., are Eisenhower, Anderson, Weeks, etc., so unwilling to cut these annoying and costly taxes, when they are so generally agreed to be a waste of money? Most of them were emergency and wartime levies, anyway.

WHY DO YOU FEEL THAT IT IS SO DIFFICULT TO GET A GOOD EDUCATION IN THIS COUNTRY?
There can be no argument that if we are to have a better education, we must have a better teacher. We must have a better method of living in the face of population growth.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WHIRLIGIG - "Can you give me," asks Mr. T. J. of Bridgeport, Conn. "a plain and simple answer on why prices have not gone down as fast as you would expect?"

Answer: It is a popular fallacy to think that retail prices always go down during a slump in business activity.

Moreover, wages have remained at a peak during the depression. They have not fallen as fast as the price level.

BUYING OF FOOD, CLOTHING HAS HELD UP
The depression has not been so deep in such lines as food, clothing and other necessities.

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON - An agency of little more than a coordinating and planning body, in other words, the ancient quiver over "states" rights of the New Deal movement was left with little power.

As a consequence, there have been no more of the "states' rights" systems. In many instances, none to speak of.

After a hurried search, Wendell Chamberlain is about to recommend a long-deferred step—the merger of the civil defense administration and the office of defense mobilization.

Labor Leader Rebukes Talk Of GE Chiefs

POCAHELLO, May 3 (AP)—An address by a General Electric executive at a department of commerce and development meeting here Friday drew a sharp rebuke from the president of the Idaho Federation of Labor.

B. J. Levine, general manager of GE's Atomic facility in eastern Idaho, said the rate of unemployment compensation paid in a state is a factor weighed by industry in determining whether to locate there.

Robert Linsagren, Pocahello, president of the labor group, told newsmen: "GE may prefer low unemployment compensation, but there are many Idaho businessmen who would be in real trouble today if it were not for the buying power made possible by our unemployment compensation."

Indications of Soviet Planes Seen in Arctic

WASHINGTON, May 3 (UP)—United States weather planes see occasional indications that Soviet aircraft are operating in the North Pole area. Crews of weather survey planes of the U. S. air force report that the sole major aircraft spotted from time to time, indicating the presence of aircraft. The sighting of engine exhaust trails have been noted for several years, but the fact is given new impetus by a report in the United States National Friday of the American proposal for an active inspection plan in the United States. It was backed by the great majority of U. S. members, offered the proposal in a message reducing the danger of surprise attack across the Arctic region. Secretary of State Dulles called the plan "most important."

Most Improve Radar

The Soviet rejection of the inspection plan leaves the United States with no choice except to continue improvement of its radar warning and bomber patrol system. However, officials said that this does not mean that the strategic air command will make any change in the policy of keeping all armed aircraft south of the 80th parallel. This extends across the northern rim of the continent and Soviet territory is removed 2,000 miles on the transpolar route.

The distant early warning line (DEWline), now extends between two and three hours of warning for getting American bombers into action if Russia's jets cross the border over the Arctic toward United States and Canadian cities.

Developing Radar

Air force officials said that "we have tested this Dewline on many tests flights at various altitudes and at a single one of the penetrations went undetected."

Nevertheless, improvements in Soviet aircraft and anti-radar equipment are confronting the air force with the need for improvement of radar warning system. The plan to start this in the new budget, they said, will be to obtain "very advanced" radar equipment. With such equipment several bands of frequencies of radar beams will be used, to reduce the chance of enemy aircraft jamming a warning system with electronic countermeasures.

Plaque Awarded to Hollister School for Contest First

A bronze plaque honoring Hollister grade school with first place in a conservation model farm contest is presented to Principal Leta Wright by Hollister Grange Master Howard Mills. Looking on is A. Longmiller, chairman of the board of supervisors of the Twin Falls soil conservation district. The model farm contest was sponsored by the district and the Hollister Grange. The award was presented Friday night.

59 Area School Youngsters Are Given Honor by Grange for Work on Contests

HOLLISTER, May 3—Fifty-nine of the program and banquet arrangements, introduced Byron Wright, representing the Twin Falls Grange here Friday night at the Grange hall for their work in two contests dealing with conservation.

Fifty-nine students from the Hollister, Cherry creek, Roseworth, Clover, Trinity Lutheran and Shannock schools were awarded prizes in a poster contest sponsored by the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Twin Falls soil conservation district. A total of 225 students submitted entries.

The posters depicted advantages of modern conservation practices on the farm.

"The Hollister school won first place in a model conservation farm contest sponsored by the district and the Hollister grange."

The awards were made at a special political banquet arranged by the home economics committee of the Hollister grange to honor the students and their teachers and parents.

Students from five divisions in each school were given first, second and third place awards in the poster contest. The divisions classed together students from the first, second, third in one group, fourth, fifth and sixth in another, and seventh and eighth grades.

First and second prizes were also given to students entered in the five divisions from each school.

Wendell Graduate Wins Scholarship

WENDELL, May 3—Larlene Newberry, student at the University of Idaho, Moscow, has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship.

Miss Newberry is one of 800 students who will go abroad this year for advanced study.

Scholarship students are selected by the board of foreign scholarships appointed by President Eisenhower as part of the international student exchange program. Miss Newberry, French major, will be graduated June 8 from the university. She plans to remain at the university for the summer school session where she will teach a class in French.

Miss Newberry will leave New York Sept. 30 for Paris. She will remain in Paris for one month's period before leaving for other parts of France, about 250 miles south of Paris. She will receive $2,000 francs, approximately $150 per month.

During the orientation, there will be a state trip in the world to Brussels, Belgium. Miss Newberry attended Wendell schools, and was the valedictorian of the class of 1954. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Newberry.

California contains four national parks, eight national monuments and 18 national forests.

DOES SCIENCE PROVE THE BIBLE WRONG?

Some people are convinced that it does.

They read in the Bible, for example, that the stars are fixed in the "roof" of the world like luminous ornaments, which is the way they appeared to the unscientific eyes of the authors of Genesis. Later scientific knowledge proves that stars are incandescent bodies moving in space.

Although willing to acknowledge that God created the universe, these scientific-minded folks refuse to believe the Biblical account in which apparently it all took place in six days. Also, they contend that the scientific evidence of evolution appear to contradict the Bible in this instance.

As far as Catholics are concerned, there can be no real conflict between scientific truth and religious truth. From the time of Moses down to the present day, science has opened the doors to many of the earth's physical secrets—including in our own time, the fantastic secret of atomic energy. There will undoubtedly occur, in the foreseeable future, even more revolutionary discoveries. But the fact remains that science has yet to produce any evidence that discredits the basic truths of Holy Scripture.

The Bible, or Book with, is a book of religion—not a scientific textbook. The Book of Genesis should be regarded, therefore, not as a scientific explanation of the heavens and the earth, but as an exposition of certain divine truths. These include such matters as the creation of all things, the creation of man as the object of God's special providence, the unity of the human race, the fact of man's original state of blessedness through original sin, . . . God's Airmail and departure times for airmail have changed at the Twin Falls post office because of daylight saving time in other areas. It was reported Friday by Postmaster W. W. Franke.

Incoming airmail from nearly all points arrives at 8:20 a.m. Mail from Boise and the Pacific Northwest arrives at 1:20 p.m. Mail from California, Salt Lake City, Denver and Omaha arrives at 1:20 p.m. and the East arrives at 1:20 p.m. and the West at 1:20 p.m. Mail from Boise and the Pacific Northwest arrives at 8:45 p.m.

Outgoing airmail has to be in the office by 5 p.m. for Boise, Pacific Northwest, Oregon, California, Arizona, Nevada, North Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Closing time is 7:15 p.m. for airmail going to Salt Lake City. Evening mail going to California and the Southwest.

Coup Fails to Stop Election For Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 3 (AP)—Prepared to elect its first constitutional president in a decade after failure of an attempted military coup, Colombia today announced that it would hold elections for the leading candidate in tomorrow's election and four members of the five-man ruling junta. But the fifth junta member called for a referendum and forced the rebels to back down.

Raymond Ruben Pedraza, the seven-hour uprising on persons who resist the impending reemergence of a constitutional government in the South American nation. The political beliefs of the rebels were not immediately known.

The uprising followed a futile attempt Wednesday to disrupt the election. That attempt was thwarted by supporters of Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, former dictator who was ousted a year ago.

Pinilla has been in Spain but Friday night he flew from Bermuda to Bogota, a Caribbean island 1,500 miles northeast of Bogota. He had a reporter the "know nothing" of the uprising. He said he had returned to the United States after a five-day visit in Bogota.

The attempted coup was called an "overthrow" by former president Alberto Lleras Camargo, the odds-on favorite to be elected tomorrow.

The presidential election is being held under a 16-year truce between the conservatives and liberals. The truce is to be destroyed if the nation backs to the track of peaceful government after eight years of fighting that cost an estimated 100,000 lives.

Wendell Exercises Held for May Day

WENDELL, May 3—Union May Day fellowship services were held Friday afternoon at the Methodist church.

Mrs. Keith McClellan gave the welcome and announced the program. The devotions were led by Mrs. Hugh Caldwell. She told of her visit to the Upper Room, spiritual life conference held recently at Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. Fred Esten led the singing and sang a solo. She was accompanied by Mrs. H. J. Barton.

"Discernment between the church and the school" was the discussion topic led by the Rev. Chad Bolick, of the Presbyterian-Baptist church, and Garry Crutcher, Wendell high school principal. The Rev. A. O. Oliver was the minister.

Mrs. Ray Trent and Mrs. Orlando Jacobson presided at the tea and coffee service for the silver tea conference held recently at Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. H. W. McArthur were in charge of the tea arrangements.

City Chief Pays Notice of Week

Official notice of National Music week observance in Twin Falls has been made by J. Ted Davis, chairman of the city board of commissioners.

A proclamation approved by the commissioners proclaims the week beginning Sunday as Music week in Twin Falls.

In his proclamation, Davis sends best wishes to all who are engaged in stimulating the musical interests and activities of our citizens during Music week.

"It is proper," the proclamation points out, "to observe a special week in honor of music because music has as the power to enrich the lives of young and old... adds strength to the common bond and traditions of mankind... has been an important factor in every age and to every people; but never as important as today for in a world of tension and uncertainty it affords an outlet for everyone's stress."

Former T. F. Resident Writes Book Set for Release Shortly

"None so Small" a book written by Mrs. Garth O. Reid, former Twin Falls resident, will be released by the publishers shortly before Mothers' day.

Her first book, "None so Small" has been ordered by City Book store. Reid writes from Boise where she now lives. It has been published by Broadman Press, Nashville, Tenn.

The jacket of the book points out that "mothers who are somehow aware of an unexpressed desire in the midst of their routines will find themselves on every page of the book... In simple yet almost poetic language, Mrs. Reid recalls briefly dozens of commonplace events or situations in her own life to lead the reader into them... These are pages to be read on or two at a time by mothers who marvel at God's shift of life and rejoice in their share in the growth of the little people in their care."

Mrs. Reid's husband, now finance officer for the state department of education, is a former Twin Falls school teacher. Mrs. Reid often substituted in junior high school and high school classes. She is a member of the A.W.W., Idaho Writer's League and the Baptist church in Boise.

The couple has two sons, Garth, Jr., 14, and James Allison Reid, 9, both born in Twin Falls.

BOISE, May 3 (AP)—The state highway department today lifted speed restrictions on U. S. 93A between Arco and Mackay in Butte and Quarter counties.

Civil Defense Orders to Be Seen Tuesday

BOISE, May 3 (AP)—National guard officers will deliver sealed envelopes to sheriffs throughout Idaho Tuesday morning to launch Idaho's participation in a test of the national defense.

The envelopes to be used in Operation Alert were mailed from here Saturday. Lieut. Col. James S. Reed, Jr., of Idaho's survival plan project, said a guard officer had been designated to deliver one to each county sheriff.

Envelopes will not be opened until a signal is flashed from federal civil defense headquarters marking the beginning of the two-day test.

When the signal is received, sheriffs will be notified to open the envelopes. They will contain information on the place, time and size of any simulated nuclear bomb drops within the state and other disaster data.

Gov. Robert F. Smylie will proclaim a mock state of extreme emergency upon receipt of the simulated warning in Boise. Reed said much of the success of the alert will depend upon communications.

Ranch Purchased

HATLEY, May 3—Wayne O. and Don D. Baldwin, operating as co-partners under the name of Baldwin Brothers, have purchased approximately 240 acres of land formerly owned by D. B. Thomas and sold by E. P. Thomas, administrator of his estate. Price of the purchase was $2,100.

The Baldwin Brothers, who operated a herd of 100 dairy cows in the Silver Creek area, will use most of the land, which adjoins their ranch, for pasture purposes.

Human Rocket to Soar 150 Miles Into Space

Rocket expert Wernher Von Braun says the United States could send a man 150 miles into space and bring him back safely "one year from the word go." Von Braun, who helped launch the U. S. satellite, said that if the project is approved the attempt would be made in an army Redstone rocket, left. Artist's drawing, right, by NEA's John Lane, shows the plan of action as outlined by Von Braun. The space man would be seated in a one-ton capsule in the middle nose. At the height of the flight, the nose would separate and air brakes and other equipment would land the passenger safely. He said the rocket capsule would come down in the ocean near a ship so the passenger could be lifted from the water. This would be safer than trying to bring it down on Earth. The space man probably will be strapped in a reclining position to overcome weightlessness during the "roll over five minutes" he would spend far above the Earth's atmosphere.

L.A. Dodgers' Screen Found to Be No. 1 Topic of Conversation

By HENRY McKEON
Once a week, time and weather permitting, I sit on the telephone and call five or six numbers in each of the 48 states, as well as a couple of possessions.
I ask the same question of whomever answers: "What topic occupies most of your thought and conversation these days?"
If I hang just a moment at the end of this week's call to a Mr. Thomas Ripper at 757 N. 1147 in Red Wing, Minn., I thought you might be interested in knowing the No. 1 topic on the nation's mind.
It is the 350-foot field screen in the home grounds of the Los Angeles Dodgers.
Once the baseball season started that left-field screen took over the No. 1 spot, ousting such perennial topics of conversation as the nuclear bomb, summit talks, a business slump, the high cost of living, children, and where to spend a vacation.
The screen also has wrested first place from Lincoln and the Civil War as the subject on which the most words are being written. Everyone with a newspaper spends on the average of an hour per day either smacking the short left field boundary or defending it.
Thomas Costello, Dr. Frank Slaughter and Frank Yerby are reported to be doing historical novels on the Dodgers' screen. Mickey Spillane is said to be turning out a new mystery thriller with the screen as a locale.
I don't know how much truth there is to it, but I have heard that Twentieth-Century Fox and Columbia Pictures are shooting movies behind it right now, with Marlon Brando in the role of a fan who was hit by a pop fly that went for a homerun playing in the Columbia film.
There is some talk of holding the proposed summit talks behind the screen, with Khrushchev's chair occupying a spot of honor. Old ladies, who have never heard

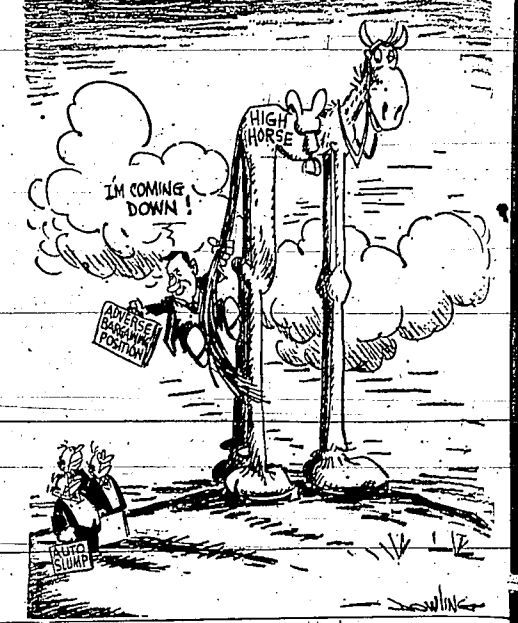

Rupert Resident Dies at Hospital

RUPERT, May 3—Walter Owens, 65, a printer by trade, died Friday at a Twin Falls hospital on his birthday. He was born May 3, 1892, at Burley, Idaho.
Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Agnes Owens, Rupert; two sons, Harold Owens, Coquille, Ore., and Leoband Owens, Hermiston, Ore.; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Karella, Rupert and Mrs. Doris Nicholson, Fremont, Neb.; his mother, Mrs. Rose C. Owens, Linden, Neb.; three brothers, Joe Owens, Lincoln, Neb.; Frank Owens, Eastover, Calif.; and Jake Owens, Kansas City, Mo., and two sisters, Mrs. Leland Ellis, Wayne, Neb., and Mrs. Grace Wynen, Denver.
Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Monday in the Baptist Memorial church with the Rev. Wendell Cole officiating. The body will be sent to Columbus, Neb., for final rites. The family requests no flowers. Friends may call at the Goodman mortuary, Rupert, from noon Sunday until time of services Monday.

Divorces Are Granted Four Couples Here

Four divorces were granted Friday in Twin Falls district court by Judge Hugh A. Baker.
Mrs. Doris J. Laffer was granted a decree from Donald Gene Laffer on grounds of extreme cruelty. They were married July 24, 1954, at Twin Falls. Laffer is 37 and Laffer is 35. They have two minor children.
Elis was awarded custody of the children and a previous property agreement was approved by the court. He was ordered to pay $15 monthly support for each child. He was represented by William H. Baker, Twin Falls attorney.
Boyd Chamberlain was divorced from Mrs. Ruth Chamberlain on grounds of mental cruelty. A previous property settlement was approved. Her former name, Ruth Murray, was restored. They were married May 1, 1954, at Twin Falls. He was represented by Rayburn and Baker, Twin Falls law firm.
Rayburn and Baker also were the attorneys for Mrs. Margaret Mansbury who obtained a divorce from James H. Mansbury on grounds of desertion. They were married July 17, 1925, at Twin Falls. There were no children or community property. Her former name, Margaret Lee, was restored.
A decree was granted Donald Deon Alger who changed his wife, Mrs. Mary M. Alger, with extreme cruelty. There was no community property involved. They were married Oct. 26, 1957. He was represented by Baker and May, Twin Falls law firm.

Cherry Blossoms Were Never So Thick, Orchard Man Says

"The trees have never had a bloom as big as this before," comments A. A. Timm of his 16-acre cherry orchard located just outside of the Twin Falls city limits on Washington street north. "It doesn't look like there is room for another blossom," he adds. Timm expects to get 100 tons of cherries from the 2000 trees in the orchard, the biggest harvest the orchard has yielded since it was planted in 1928.

AEC Aide Not Alarmed Over Carbon Perils

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Dr. William Libby, atomic energy commission chairman, has indicated his belief that radioactive carbon from nuclear bomb tests presents no major hazard to humans. However, Libby indicated there is some hazard, primarily in terms of damage to a few individuals in each generation.

Oscar W. Hamby Taken by Death

SUITE, May 3—Oscar W. Hamby, retired forest service employee and a former resident of Buhl, died Thursday at his home in Milwaukee. Born in Sparta, Tenn., Jan. 14, 1876, he came to Buhl in 1913 and moved to Milwaukee in 1921. He returned in 1946 after limping employment with the forest service. He married Nan Spakman in Ohio. She preceded him in death Jan. 8, 1914.

But he carbon would be 'diluted' by various processes, including mixing with the ocean, so that during the following 500 years, the increase in man and other living matter would be reduced to 3 per cent.

And, at about the 500-year mark, he added, the bomb-generated increase in man would be equalized and reduced to one-third of 1 per cent.

Law on Dentures Faces Challenges

BOISE, May 3 (AP)—A suit challenging the legality of a law on dental repair today was in the legal news press.

Thomas L. Berry of Quality Repair Dental lab, Boise, and George S. Snyder of the Boise Denture Materials of Twin Falls brought the suit.

They called unconstitutional a law prohibiting repair of dentures except by authorization of a licensed dentist. District Judge Meritt E. Young said he didn't know when a ruling would be ready.

Senator Seeks Marshall Plan For Near East

DURHAM, N. H., May 3 (AP)—Sen. Ralph Flanders, R., today proposed a "new Marshall plan" to raise the living standards and "with friendship the Middle East."

To combat "the decay of our influence in the Arab world," Flanders said, "we must assist the people of this vast area to meet and better food, better clothing and shelter and better education."

"This large-scale project for the Middle East will require expenditures comparable to those of the Marshall plan," Flanders said in an address at a atomic power institute at University of New Hampshire.

The 76-year-old Vermontor, who has announced he will retire from the senate this year after serving two six-year terms, added:

"If we are successful in this new Marshall plan, we can, I am confident, decrease by billions the appropriations we have been pouring into foreign military and economic aid."

T. F. Chamber Backing Move

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce directors Friday voted to support efforts to place the so-called "right to work" question on the general election ballot in November.

The directors noted a similar stand by the Boise Chamber of Commerce resulted in widespread criticism. Local directors felt inferior backing efforts to place the question on the ballot had no connection with personal opinions regarding labor unions.

The directors said the vote merely underscored their belief that anyone "the people" can be allowed to vote on a question is when democracy in this country has ceased to exist.

The directors said they were not taking a stand on the question of whether employment should be conditioned on union membership. Most of those voting merely said "the people should have a right to vote on this matter."

Big Sturgeon; Second Biggest Recorded for Area, Is Caught

HAAGERMAN, May 3—A 200-pound sturgeon—the second largest sturgeon ever taken from Snake river—is being kept alive in a tank at the Snake River Trout farm near here for study.

Gene Leach, Harpman, who caught the fish April 27 using a Calcutta pole with a 60 pound test line and a J. A. Cox net, says the fish measures 82 1/2 inches in length.

Leach caught the fish from the bank and says the largest sturgeon of record ever taken in the area was a 310-pounder caught last year in Clear Lake.

Charger ones have probably been taken with get lines, he commented.

Leach says he was using the meat of a quaker cut into thin slices for bait. A 20 to 30-minute effort to bring the fish in to where his father, Fred Leach, Harpman, could get a gaff in it began about 2:15 a.m.

Leach said the landing was "quite a chore." He said it had 200 yards of line out two different times.

Leach believes the fish is a female.

Girl Is Clawed to Death by Lions

NANAIMO, B. C., April 3—An African lioness clawed an 8-year-old girl to death today after camping from a private zoo six miles north of here, mounted police reported.

The girl was identified as Margaret Maston, daughter of Dr. Francis Maston, of the Pacific biological station at Departure Bay, near this coastal Vancouver city.

Police armed with rifles were organized by the Nanaimo Fish and Game association under leadership of the mounted police to track down the beast. Two planes also were pressed into the hunt.

About seven hours after the attack the animal was cornered and shot to death in a thicket near the zoo.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

The younger children often trouble their mothers and grandmothers by acquiring an unpleasant habit. Usually it is unpleasant only to the observer. The child prancing it is quite happy in it. It is unpleasant to the adult watching it, because it adds nothing to the permanent characteristics of the child and does detract from his personality. A child with his finger in his mouth is not attractive. His finger does not belong there. His mouth ought to be in repose to add a touch to his face. Into the bargain, the finger-in-mouth always makes the onlooker feel uneasy about the strength of the person's intellect. No wonder mothers are annoyed by this childish habit.

Nail biting, thumb sucking, hair twisting, cheek sucking, are undesirable tricks of the unconscious mind of the victim. The thing to do is to bring action into the conscious mind of the child either by giving him something to do that makes him think away from himself and toward what is happening around him, or, if he is not attractive, gently removing the hand and placing something interesting in it.

One thing not to do is punish. These actions are not willful. They are indications that the child is not present in the world about him. To punish him is to give him greater reason for leaving the world of people and things and retreat to the pleasant land of nuptial where a thumb in a mouth is his great comfort.

A small child begins one of the unpleasant practices pick him up, hug him, talk to him about the things he finds outside the window, sing to him, do anything that will tell him he is not alone, that he is loved and tended, and then he is cured.

Scottish historian Dr. Annie Dunlop said "If Scotland can learn this from the English—and it has—there's no reason why the rest of the world can't get along too."

Two hands must not be tied, sufficed with bandages or cranked in metal mittens (an awful thing to do to a child). Human beings are of the flesh. It is not to be bound except by the love that binds.

Bibles and Related Books Take Precedence

Mrs. L. K. Wright is teaching for one of the Bibles in the library of her home in Kimberly. An interest in Bible and Biblical history led Mrs. Wright to start collecting them and related books. (Staff photo-courtesy)

Collection of Bibles Swells Kimberly Woman's Library

Mrs. L. K. Wright, Kimberly, has the latest in collecting Bibles and related books in her home library. The Bibles were found in the attic of an old California home purchased by Mrs. Wright's mother, Mrs. Sarah E. Robert Mason, who lived in Pomona, Calif. The house, which she completely furnished, was purchased by her mother for her son, when she was a young girl. When on a Christmas vacation with her husband and son, Jack, Jr., Mrs. Wright found the Bibles as she was browsing through the house. Along with pictures and scriptures Mrs. Wright says she has been able to follow the life of the Bibles and thus became especially interested in these particular Bibles. Mrs. Wright's collection includes a Martin Luther translation, an International Luther Bible containing the five books of Moses, John Alvin's Bible—a small, leather-bound book with a lock. It is a King James version and contains a "key" of flowers from the hills of Judea and a note, apparently in his handwriting, stating that the Bible had been purchased in Barrie, a town near the shores of Lake Simcoe, 35 miles from Georgian Bay in 1871. The print is extremely fine with the initials of David in meter more like the original. One unusual aspect of the book is that each page is dated twice with the year concerning that page. The third Bible belonged to Emily's father, Charles Neuman, it was Mrs. Wright's father-in-law. This Bible also is in German. These Bibles are undated as to year of publication. Mrs. Wright stated she has found it interesting to delve into their life of thinking by comparing the verses they are undated with an English translation and by noting the verses they have marked as their favorites. As a reference and for enjoyment she likes "The Popular and Critical Bible" translated and illustrated in three volumes, which was presented to Emily Neuman, "for many years ago" by her father, who was related to the Bethel Baptist church choir in Buffalo, N. Y. One of her most cherished is an

CAWOYBOYS TAKE SECOND STRAIGHT WIN FROM GREAT FALLS

Wilson Homers, Jim Powers Goes Route in 7-4 Win

The Magic Valley Cowboys made it two in a row over Great Falls Saturday night, tapping the Electric 7-4 with a 1-0 win. Jim Powers singled to get his first win against one loss. Cowboy first baseman Dick Wilson got into the homer of the game, a line shot over the left field wall to lead off the seventh. Leo Demm started and was the losing pitcher for Great Falls.

The Cowboys started off like they meant business, the first five men down in the first inning. Before the flurry was over, Magic Valley had a three-run cushion on four hits and two bases on balls.

Ken Fisher led off with a double down the left-field line. Harry Bonczan walked and then Wilson singled to left, scoring Fisher. Powers then singled into center field. Bonczan advanced to second on Fisher's hit.

After Jerry Pabel struck out, Fisher singled to score Wilson. Powers then singled to center field. Wilson advanced to second on Fisher's hit.

The Cowboys got three more runs in the last of the fourth. Charlie Pagliarini walked. Powers bunted into center field. Fisher then singled to center field. Wilson advanced to second on Fisher's hit.

Great Falls picked up two runs in the third inning on hits and a walk and a wild pitch. Then in the fourth, the Electric tied the score when George Miller singled to center field. Powers then singled to center field. Wilson advanced to second on Powers' hit.

Tim Tam Wins Derby; Silky Sulks

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (AP)—The fabulous Calumet farm did it again Saturday, winning the 116th Kentucky Derby as Tim Tam charged victoriously through the muddy nose, said Silky Sulks, the sensational Silky Sullivan gave his best—but not enough.

Silky trained the crowd of some 100,000 with his usual late rush, but tired and staggered home 12th in the field of 14.

With a substitute jockey, James Valenzuela, in the saddle Tim Tam overhauled the pace-setting Lincoln Road in the final sixteenth. The Grabrava stable's Nouruddin was third, another half length away.

Lincoln Road, who almost stole the Florida Derby from Tim Tam at odds of 75 to 1 last October, trailed on the inside in the 116th Kentucky Derby.

With a substitute jockey, James Valenzuela, in the saddle Tim Tam overhauled the pace-setting Lincoln Road in the final sixteenth. The Grabrava stable's Nouruddin was third, another half length away.

Lincoln Road, who almost stole the Florida Derby from Tim Tam at odds of 75 to 1 last October, trailed on the inside in the 116th Kentucky Derby.

Silky trained the crowd of some 100,000 with his usual late rush, but tired and staggered home 12th in the field of 14.

He was 3 1/2 lengths back after a half mile, but began moving after the mile and a half. He was eventually priced at 10 to 1.

The crowd cheered wildly as Silky stepped up on the farm. BRUINS' COP DISTRICT TRACK CROWN; MINICO PLACES SECOND

Double-Winner Stevens Leads Declo To District Class B Track Title Twin Falls' Stowe Breaks Watson Shines as Hornet Star Wins Shotput, Discus Crowns; Ken Morris Takes Two Kimberly Firsts

Twin Falls Bruins, led by double event winner and record-breaker Mike Stone, took first place in the fourth district class A track meet Friday, scoring in all but one event. The Bruins racked up 47 points in taking the team trophy with Minico's Spartans in second place with 39. Buhl, although it notched five points, didn't have the depth and took third with 32 points. Other scoring included Filer 16, Jerome 14, Burley 13, Oakley 10 and

Using a last inning score by Ron Watson in the first game and a game-long scoring parade in the second, the Twin Falls Bruins emerged the only undefeated team in a four-team baseball tournament here Saturday. Watson's single drove in Lane Staples

Defending state shotput champion Dick Stevens ducked off with two firsts to lead the field-event conscious Declo Hornets to the fourth district track championship here Friday afternoon. Stevens successfully defended his shotput and discus district titles and led the Hornets to a near sweep in the discus. Declo took the first three places in that event. Although their scoring trailed off as the running events started, the Hornets

Two records fell during the meet with Stowe stepping through the 100 hurdles in 2:13.8 for the first and eighth place. The discus was held by Hunter, who ran 1:15.1 for the 100-yard race. The 100-yard race was won by Hunter, who ran 1:15.1 for the 100-yard race. The 100-yard race was won by Hunter, who ran 1:15.1 for the 100-yard race.

Against Pocatello, the Bruins lashed out with four runs in the second and third and the third and fourth in the fourth to ice the win. Handolph led off in the second with a single and Stowe walked. Hoffman singled to score Handolph and Bill Warner got an RBI on a sacrifice fly to center field.

They took the crown with 311 points. Ken Morris, who set 10 points from Ken Morris, was runner-up with 24. Bill River, ranked 207 four firsts and little else for third with 24; and Wendell followed with 24. Other scores were Gary 18, Glenn Perry 13, Valley 11, Shoshone 8, Murrumbidgee 5, Bellemead 4 and Gooding State 3 and Hamlet 2.

Primary Telescope Ready for New Observatory Here

The 122-inch telescope with a 102-inch long barrel will be the primary telescope used in the observatory being constructed at 1229 Elmley road in Twin Falls. Norman Herrett, shown with the telescope, made the tube for the scope, but the big mirror in it was purchased by Floyd Huller, Twin Falls. The scope is mounted to move vertically and horizontally and is motor driven to move equatorially. A ladder is used to look through the scope at the sky on the end. (Staff photo-enshring)

Man Builds New Road Into Canyon For Stock Using 100-Acre Pasture

Search for a way to get cattle in and out of Snake river canyon to 100 acres of pasture land prompted C. A. Scott, who owns a cattle ranch near Arco, to build a road into the canyon.

The road is located on the north side of the river six miles west of Perrine bridge and leads down the sheer cliff of the canyon, across a flat plateau which Scott has planted to sodium, and down to the river's edge.

The road generally follows the "Elbow trail" into the canyon and ends at an old wooden house built at the river's edge at least 30 years ago. Scott purchased the land from Roy Donner, Twin Falls, in October, 1956.

Before Scott began the road, he consulted engineers. They said, the road would be impossible to build, but he was determined to build one even if it had to be done with a pick and shovel, Scott says.

A new road which C. A. Scott constructed down the north wall of Snake river canyon ends at this old house at the edge of Snake river. The house was built at least 30 years ago and is surrounded by poplar and fruit trees. It cannot be seen from the top of the canyon. The canyon wall looms behind the house in the background and the road leading out of the canyon is about one-half mile to the right. (Staff photo-enshring)

Interest in Astronomy Brings Man To Build Observatory-Planetarium

An interest in astronomy, which has been in the mind for years, is bearing fruit for a Twin Falls man. He is building a combination observatory-planetarium, "the only one of its kind in the West."

Almost all of the framework for the building came from Junk Iron. The dirt covering was partially-iron, but was the cement used for the floor and much of the labor has been done free or at little cost, he says.

Contributions to the observatory-planetarium are being made because the facilities are to be used as public property and because Herrett says he intends to turn the facilities over to either the city of Twin Falls, Twin Falls county, or the school.

School Guidance Program In T.F. Is Model for Idaho

A new guidance program that has equal in Idaho is being operated in Twin Falls schools under Elwyn DeLaurier. Services to teachers and pupils are proving extremely valuable, according to the principal.

In simpler language, his job is to operate a program which will help each pupil in the schools do better schoolwork and realize the goals of life, reaching those goals through cooperation of the entire school system, DeLaurier says.

One of the biggest advantages of having one full-time man as guidance director is that he works only during a vast testing program and has more continuous work in vocational guidance.

But it will take several years before the individual students will realize lasting benefits of the program, says V. L. LeFebvre, Twin Falls high school principal. He adds it will take some time before the students get acquainted with services of the program and learn to use them properly.

The school has had a guidance program for several years. LeFebvre explains, but not one which offers such broad services and never with one man working as a full-time job. Actually, he says, this program is a pilot program for the whole state because there is no other school in the state which offers guidance services to the entire school system of grade one through 12.

Viewed from the south rim of Snake river canyon, the new road constructed by C. A. Scott fits the canyon winds down the steep cliff and makes four hairpin curves before leveling out on a plateau. Scott is using the road to gain access to nearly 100 acres of pastureland. He also is considering making a resort in the area. (Staff photo-enshring)

Tree Farms Hold Promise of Plenty of Wood for Future

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Thousands of new signs are being set up each year on farms from one end of the land to the other, reading "Member American Tree Farm System."

By the products of the nation's big tree farms industries, these signs—and thousands upon thousands—have now been expected to be erected in the years immediately ahead—the hope and the promise of plentiful supplies of wood for future generations.

These farms and the movement back of them are offered by these industries as an answer to some who warn of possible shortages by the year 2000.

Recently the U. S. forest service's report, saying a better job of forestry on forest lands must be done if the nation's needs 40 years from now are to be met. The service predicted that approximately twice as large trees as now.

The report carried a tone of urgency and the implication that perhaps there was need for greater effort by government to speed adoption and use of good forestry practices—millions of privately-owned woodland farms.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Members of the Order of Eastern Star in HAILY, who travel to meetings from PAIRFIELD, are going to feel considerably relieved when the section of Highway 93 is finally paved this summer. On a recent Monday night, for the third time in the past 10 years, the members sat in their bogged-down car wondering which husband would wake up first and realize that they "picked up" had been home by now.

When Barbara St. Clair took the women at 7 p.m. and started for Haily the road was dry. During the chapter meeting about two inches of rain fell. As the carload returned home, the car slid into the ditch about a mile east of HAILY SPRINGS LANDING.

After discussing the situation for about a half-an-hour, Clara Lee Perkins and Veronica Barnes decided to sacrifice their shoes and wade through the three inches of gumbo to the back of the car and push.

With plenty of advice from Mary Bell, ORRALL, and Adelle Traylor, HAILY CITY, Mrs. St. Clair managed to slide to a stop. From there on, the pace was slow, but the travelers got home without further mishaps. Although the car was stuck for two hours, the mud from their shoes...

Grand Daugh, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bensch, Boise, former BURLEY, IDAHO, was taken to the hospital here last Sunday when he was injured by Ray Smith, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Smith, who shot a rabbit hunting at MINIDOKA.

They had shot several rabbits and were just about to leave, when they spotted another one and took aim, hitting her through the stomach. Upon examination they found that the rabbit was just about to become a mother, whereupon they performed a "Caesarian section" and found 10 babies. The rabbit skinned the rabbit and wrapped the six babies they were able to save in her skin and brought them to town to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobson, where Grant's parents were waiting, and asked Mrs. Jacobson to save the little rabbits for them.

Mrs. Jacobson says they were about the size of a full grown mouse but she didn't know what to do with more than ten. However, it wasn't long until the news had spread around the neighborhood and homes were found for all of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Vera Hoffschlager and four of their children and one went to the Jack Nantz residence, where they have two small children. The five Bensch family asked for one and Vicki Olesneser, daughter of...

SCHOOLS TO OPEN
ST. AMABLE, Que., May 3 (U)—The last of the six Roman Catholic schools here that were closed March 10 by a teachers strike will reopen Monday. Five reopened April 30. Teachers who were laid off during the strike had been paid for months, were promised pay from a bank fund and increased school levies.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

BY W. A. McARTHUR
Pastor, First Methodist Church
Dr. Robert Lurock has reminded us of a dramatic story written by Arthur Train. It is called "The Lost Gospel" and has to do with two men, the American and a German, who found an ancient manuscript which had been buried under the sands of a desert in an ancient city.

It was the "Lost Gospel" written in Latin and the name of the discoverer was... But there is a lost gospel and it is not lost under any Egyptian desert, or any other far off place.

Junior Music Events Given By Shoshone

SHOSHONE, May 3.—The Junior high school presented its spring music festival at 8 p.m. Thursday at Shoshone high school gymnasium.

The music numbers entered in the district contest at Wendell were presented along with other numbers from the grade and high schools.

Howard Knowles and Mrs. Velma Allen were directors. Accompanists were Mrs. Allen, the Rev. Paul Winkler, Allen Thorne, Mrs. Howard Adams and Thelma Innes.

The junior high band played three numbers and the junior high chorus sang. Dancing in a tarantella dance number were Cheryl Lawson, Sylvia Barston, Kathy Miller, Jill Thorne, Karen Hansen and Mary Kay Alexander.

Featured in a clarinet quartet were Fred Oyer, Conrad Thorne, Karen Webb and John Gehrig. Piano solos were played by Karen Dillig and Joyce Hamaker.

A boys group presented a sword dance and soprano solos were sung by Carol Bond and Darlene Anderson. Alice Reid played an accordion solo.

A group of grade school students gave a Mexican dance, and the seventh and eighth grade sextet sang. To conclude the music department program, the fifth and sixth grade choruses sang.

The Spanish class presented numbers. Patricia Smith and Nicanora Gallardo sang a duet; Linda Martin and Lovell Johnson participated in Spanish conversation; John played his guitar and sang; and Patricia Smith and Janet Crockett danced a Spanish dance.

Dr. Lurock said that the attitude that will bring defeat to Christianity as it matches wits with communism in our world today. What is true in the realm of love is true in the arena of the spirit — "Faith heart never won fair lady!"

There was a sense of urgency in Jesus' invitation — "Come, Follow Me!" There yet remains, indeed, the urgency in our day to be aware of the opportunity to become aware. Aware not alone of the needs of the world, but of the needs of the plenty to answer those needs.

God, let me be aware. Just, giving something away, safety through the days. Let me not stumble blindly down the ways. Not even wondering why it all was planned. Eyes to the ground — unseeing for the light. Soul never aching for a wild-winged flight. Please, keep me eager just to do my share. God, let me be aware.

God, let me be aware. Let my hands grope, find other hands. Give me the heart that divines, understands. Give me the courage, wounded to fight. Flood me with knowledge, stretch me in light. Please, keep me eager just to do my share. God, let me be aware!

Now such a story is pure fiction! No one has ever found a "Lost Gospel." The only record we have of the life of Jesus is that which is in the New Testament in the four books, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. But there is a lost gospel and it is not lost under any Egyptian desert, or any other far off place.

Candidates File For School Vote

SHOSHONE, May 3.—Nominations for trustee candidates in the May 12 school election must be filed by Tuesday.

As of Friday evening, two candidates had filed, one for each trustee district. Ellwood R. Werry has filed for trustee district No. 2, which includes the southwest part of Shoshone, and Mrs. Edna Wilson has filed for trustee district No. 6, north Shoshone.

W. A. Hall, who has been serving the unexpired term of William Dickerson, who moved from the community, declined to run for district number 2, and Ross Boyd is the retiring member from North Shoshone.

The election is scheduled from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the high school. An estimated $500,000 worth of goods is taken from stores every year by shoppers.

Observatory Only One of Kind in West

The building housing the combination observatory-planetarium is the only one of its kind in the West. It is being constructed by Norman Herrett in his backyard at 1320 Kimberly road. When completed and equipped with the necessary instruments it will be valued at approximately $35,000. A dome covering the telescope will be built on top of the building. (Staff photo-enslaving)

Interest in Astronomy Prompts Local Man to Build Observatory-Planetarium

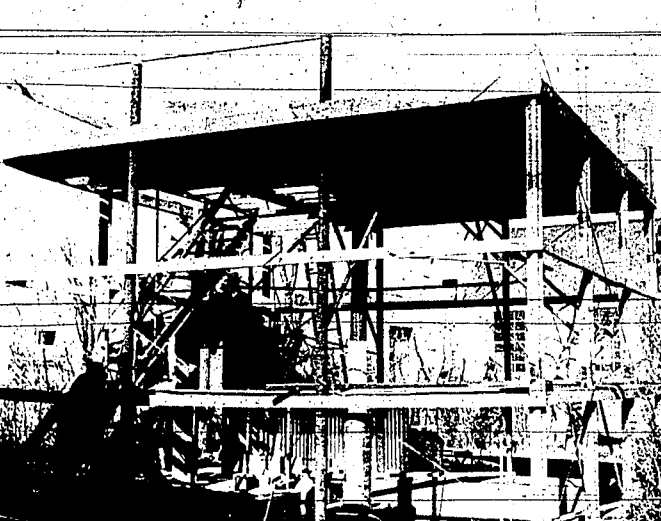

Norman Herrett, a local astronomer, has decided to build an observatory-planetarium in his backyard at 1320 Kimberly road. Herrett, who has been interested in astronomy for many years, even before he came to Twin Falls and when he was teaching school in Billings, Mont. Herrett taught classes in science, art and mathematics in Twin Falls high school from 1933 to 1944.

In 1945, Herrett stopped teaching school and began a jewelry business. His interest in astronomy then only in the bud stage, which consisted of studying the planets and stars by reading books.

Three years ago, he and a friend, Dick Young, began making telescopes in Herrett's basement. The first scope the two men made had a six-inch mirror which they ground and polished.

Herrett made the tube for the telescope out of spun glass, but pur-

$2,339 Asked for Payment of Debt

A complaint seeking $2,339 judgment in debt was filed in Twin Falls district court Friday by M. D. Kingston against Eldon L. Robb and Lorraine Bout, doing business as Hoult's Shoe store.

The complaint states that Kingston, Murray, Utah, is a wholesale distributor and consignee of goods, particularly footwear and other apparel. He consigned to the shoe store—merchandise—totaling the amount sought. He further seeks judgment and $475 attorney fees. He is represented by Robert M. Kerr, Jr. blackfoot attorney.

chased the sighting instruments through a mail order.

The first telescope was so successful that Herrett continued making scopes and has made it thus far, using some of them himself, whereas he has sold to amateur astronomers in Magic Valley.

He invents ground and polished mirrors for the scopes since the first one. "It was just too much work and too tedious to now have professional men grind and polish the mirrors. They make the mirrors perfect," Herrett says.

Herrett's telescopes range in size from ones equipped with six-inch mirrors to 12-inch mirrors and with barrels from 30 inches up to 102 inches long.

He explains that the power of the telescope is not in the mirror but in the construction. Observers also are interested in the field of vision, and as the power of a telescope increases the field of vision decreases. Most of the scopes are made with a compromise of power and field of vision, but even so, they are powerful enough for an observer to study the stars and planets, he says.

One of the scopes to be mounted in the observatory has a 12-inch mirror and the barrel is 102 inches long.

The second telescope to be used in the observatory is a relatively low magnification Herrett says. "I plan to construct most of it, although he plans to buy the mirrors. The barrel of the new type telescope is only 35 inches long and the main mirror is 10 inches in diameter. Herrett says the scope will be nearly equal in power to the big telescope.

The principal of the new scope, according to Herrett, is refracted light bounces back and forth inside the scope between three mirrors. It is called a catadioptric and costs $17,000.

Both telescopes will be mounted on an independent beam in the observatory which will prevent users from jiggling the scopes while walking around them. The scopes also are mounted so as to move equatorially by electric motors so as to follow the movement of the stars, Herrett explains.

The big telescope to be used in the observatory has been used by Herrett and members of the SIAA to study the stars and planets in the open air observatory in Herrett's basement.

The evidence of the observatory was what prompted us to build this in Herrett's basement. The first scope the two men made had a six-inch mirror which they ground and polished.

Herrett made the tube for the telescope out of spun glass, but pur-

"Sky" to Be Constructed on Planetarium Ceiling

The location of stars and planets and their movements through the sky can be studied in the planetarium, Herrett adds.

Adrian Allen, Jerome, will be the main teacher in the planetarium. Herrett says the planetarium is open to the public. Herrett notes.

The planetarium on the ground floor of the building will be used as a teaching and studying area for astronomy. Herrett says the planetarium near the ceiling as an artificial sky and when completed, it will be covered to keep out unwanted light, he adds.

mony to the public.

"My job seems to be building and maintenance of the instruments and trays with time and energy to do the best possible job in teaching astronomy," Herrett says.

"We need more help in conducting classes and encouraging beginners," he adds.

"Right now, the people who want to learn astronomy are not getting the operation of the new observatory," he says. "If a good teacher could be found, possibly a course in astronomy could be taught here," Herrett concludes.

New Guidance Director Assists Students

Assisting Judy Jewell, sophomore in Twin Falls high school, with a guidance test, is the school system's new guidance director, Elvyn DeLaurier. He operates a broad guidance program in the schools which offers guidance services to pupils in all grades. (Staff photo-engraving) standard tests proved by use and purchased by the school.

Basically the tests are devised for instructional purposes and for administrative purposes. Under each category are several additional purposes. Some of the instructional purposes are to assist in identifying students who need special diagnostic study and remedial instruction; to help determine the present status of students and whether they are performing adequately with their abilities; help motivate students in the classroom situation and serve as a basis for grouping pupils for instruction within a class.

Tests to determine the status of students in reading were given students of Lincoln elementary school last fall prior to starting a new reading program now in operation.

The purpose of guidance tests is to enable the student to attain a better understanding of himself by gaining a realistic picture of his abilities, aptitudes, interests, needs and problems; assist the student in making wise decisions concerning educational and vocational goals; obtain data to assist in guiding discussions with parents concerning their children; help improve counselor, teacher and parent understanding of educational, personal and social adjustment problems; and help identify students who need special counseling and/or referral services.

Guidance tests have been given to seniors in high school to help them decide what they want to study in college or to help them decide what kind of an occupation they want to follow.

DeLaurier explains that quite often students want to go to college but cannot decide just what course they want to pursue. From tests and interviews administered by the guidance director, the students can find what their ability indicates them able to do best. The same is true for students who want to decide upon a vocation.

But tests are only indicators, he cautions, and in some cases the results of a test are contrary to the desires of students. It is left up to the student to decide in such cases.

One guidance tool supervised by DeLaurier, called a sociogram and usually administered to elementary school classes by teachers is used to determine the social structure of a class.

Through the sociogram, it is possible to find which students in a class lack social companions and why. Then the teacher can help them correct the situation, DeLaurier says.

The guidance director assists the state employment-security agency in administering a general aptitude test to seniors not planning to attend college.

One result of the test, the employment agency can help students find jobs suited to their abilities if they apply through the agency after graduation or for part-time work while in school.

Not all tests are administered to seniors through the school system. Individual students can take tests to determine the aptitudes or preferences and have the results interpreted for them.

Scholarship testing programs are offered for individual high school students seeking scholarships to colleges and universities and a navy college aptitude test is administered for boys seeking to go to college through a naval reserve officers training program.

A college board test is administered three times during the school year to students who want to go to college. The purpose is to see if the students meet college entrance requirements or qualify for scholarships.

Purposes of administrative tests are to assist the administration in assigning students to classroom groups; assist in evaluation of school curriculum, courses or classes; and multiply help determine eligibility for special groups or studies for which prerequisites have been set.

and provide information for outside agencies.

An achievement test for administrative purposes will be given to students of both Bickel and Lincoln elementary schools during the first of this school year to determine if the new reading program at Lincoln is successful.

Similar tests will be given students of both schools and the results compared to show the results of the new program, DeLaurier relates.

Considerable information is offered by the guidance director for students seeking data about colleges. He conducts a "college day" at the high school each year with representatives of several colleges present to give information about their schools.

DeLaurier keeps college catalogs for most of the colleges in the United States. They are available to students for their information.

He also helps students decide which college they should go to through personal counseling.

Handicapped students are helped, too, and arrangements are made through the guidance director for meeting and talking with the counselor from the state rehabilitation service.

Group guidance is offered to the Girls League and Boys Club at the high school in the form of an orientation to the school, vocational information, plus personal and social adjustment and character development for the girls and juniors and highway safety and an armed forces program for the boys.

In addition to the guidance director-conducted occupational course in the ninth grade with emphasis on educational planning and investigation and study of occupations. Purpose of the course is to help students decide what curriculum they want to follow in high school and to begin their thinking about their future vocation.

In-service training is offered teachers by DeLaurier. It consists of meetings held with the teachers at all levels to discuss administration of tests, scoring procedure, interpretation of results and use of results.

But the biggest aid to the teachers offered by the guidance service is the background material prepared by the service on each student.

A system of records is being compiled on each student which contains personal data sheets, an interview summary record, a three-year course of study plan sheet, other teacher comments and an observation sheet and student autobiography.

From such records, a teacher can find reasons for student actions and adjust to the situation, which will mean better learning and teaching situations, DeLaurier relates.

The work of the guidance service with the employment security agency is typical of the cooperative help given to community agencies. The guidance service also is working with the public health service, probation officer and other agencies.

DeLaurier describes the program as working satisfactorily now, although it is in the "start-up" stage. Considerable service is offered now and he says even more service will be forthcoming as the program begins to take form. It will be beneficial for students, teachers, administration and the public.

Irrigation Water Supplies Shangri-La Falls

Wash irrigation water results in this spectacular falls in Snake river canyon near where a new road has been built by C. A. Scott. Photo was taken from the road which twists and turns down the north east of the canyon. Scott named the falls "Shangri-La falls." (Staff photo-engraving)

Man Builds Road Into Canyon as Route For Stock Using 100 Acres of Pasture

(From Page 1)

At one spot on the road, Scott says he has found a gravel pit which yields good road gravel. Scott says for the road, which cost him approximately $10,000.

The pasture, land next to the river has been used for cattle for several years. Cattle entered and grazed on the pasture. Scott intends to irrigate the land from one of the springs.

"I had about 50 head of cattle there last winter, but I had to slide them down; and to get them out, I had to drive them up the steep grade which took half a day. Now I can get the cattle out without trouble," he says.

He believes the area will pasture about 55 head now, but he plans to build it up for 150 head of cattle by planting grass and sorghum. About 15 acres of land on the plateau has been plowed, cultivated and planted to sorghum. Scott intends to irrigate the land from one of the springs.

teach any classes. He works cooperatively with all school principals and staff of both high and high school. He is organizing and supervising the guidance program for each unit. He has an office in the high school building.

One of the most important jobs of the guidance director is counseling students. The counseling involves assisting students in trying to solve problems ranging from "what should I study?" to "where shall I go to college?" or "What kind of work am I best suited for when I get out of school?"

DeLaurier explains that only a small percentage of the individual counseling is to help students correct habits or problems which lead to disciplinary action.

The counseling services consist of talking with the students as individuals or groups, or with individual parents or teachers, to discuss whatever problem the student may have and try to evolve a satisfactory answer.

Students receive counseling at request of their teachers, upon notice of failure in a class or at their own request.

"The counseling students receive, though, is not to tell them what to do but only to point out and to assist in solving the problem," DeLaurier emphasizes.

He adds that no service of the guidance program is forced on students and only through their cooperation does the guidance program work.

Cooperation of students this far has been excellent, he says.

An example of the kind of service the counseling program offers is illustrated by a case DeLaurier handled recently. The student voluntarily turned over to DeLaurier's office an explanation that he felt none of the other students were friendly toward him.

A discussion of the student's problem and his habits brought out the reason for his unpopularity. DeLaurier explained to him how to explain it to him and he has since made new friends and a better adjustment.

More often, though, the problems of students evolve from poor home life, which to be solved properly need to be discussed by the parents, the student and the counselor.

Only a small percentage of the students in the school system have problems or habits which lead them to disciplinary action, but DeLaurier maintains if answers to their problems can be given through counseling, it may save students from dropping out of school or falling classes, or even losing a grip on a good future.

He adds that personal counseling to solve disciplinary problems is not the biggest job of the guidance director and explains that he can't solve all students' problems because, for one thing, he is not a psychiatrist.

One of the biggest chores of the guidance service is handling the testing program. Tests are given to determine vocational aptitudes, mental maturity, basic skills and abilities, achievement and scholastic ability.

Tests are administered to students throughout the school system from grades one through 12 and are planned and supervised by the guidance director, but administered by the teachers.

Practically all of the tests are

Special Hunts Rewarding; but "Red Tape" and Delays Can Be Confusing

Joe Peterson, Twin Falls, was all smiles when he checked this buck out of a special hunt in the Cascade south of Twin Falls a few years ago. But hunters participating in special hunts must be ready to get up with the necessary "red tape" and waiting for permit drawings and announcement of the winners. (State fish and game department photo—staff engraving)

Gov. Robert E. Smylie, left, helps draw names from the "control cage" during controlled hunt drawing at Boise. Ross Leonard, director of the state fish and game department, supervises the drawing. A larger, automatic "cage" is used for larger hunts such as the Cascade Three Creek hunt this year which will offer 2,000 permits. Compared with former years, Idaho now has only a few special hunts with most of them designed to prevent eradication of animals either by species or in a particular area. (State fish and game department photo—staff engraving)

Idaho's Special Big Game Hunt Used To Be Department's Annual Headache

By RUTH RHOENENGAICH
Idaho Fish and Game Department had a few weeks ago, the prospect of controlled hunt applications, drawings and permits was a major operation. Thousands of extra copies of work sheets and newspapers bogged down the desk of printers, thousands of copies of successful applications in state files. At the same time, at least half the people concerned seemed to be on the phone asking either the Idaho fish and game department or the newspaper or both, whether or not their names had been drawn.

Twenty years ago in a period of relative ease, permits for controlled hunts were issued rather casually. However, as game stocks increased and some ranges became overpopulated, the permit allotment was increased—gradually at first and then more sharply, as it became clear that the harvest in most areas was not keeping up with the increase in the herd. In 1915 the number of controlled hunt permits hit the peak, with 2,000 permits being issued. After that the number dropped off sharply, and in several of the areas were opened to general hunting. The low point of the controlled hunt permit issue was hit in 1927, when only 100 permits were issued. In 1937 the number of controlled hunt permits issued was 1,000.

Controlled hunts have been conducted in Idaho for three general purposes. First in point of time, the hunt areas are opened to general hunting. In the second place, the hunt areas are opened to general hunting. In the third place, the hunt areas are opened to general hunting.

Hank Doubts if Infantrymen Would Like Change in Duties

By HENRY McLEMORE
I write this with full knowledge of the possible consequences. As a former Infantryman, I object to the Infantryman's post and present, feel the same just being an Infantryman is tough enough without being on call to fly a plane, fire a torpedo, build a bridge, or land with a box of records upon one arm and a volley ball in the other.

It could be that Mr. McElroy will even order me to stop practicing on my old bugle—the neighbors already have—and to stay out of Fourth of July parades. But there is one part of the reorganization plan—and I hope I have it straight—that forces me to speak my mind. That is the part which gives the secretary the right to switch a man, or men, from one service to another. As I get it, he is over hot water until ready to boil. I am sure that the reorganization plan will be a success. I am sure that the reorganization plan will be a success.

Police Officer Has No Uniform or Gun

Mrs. Edyth Koonits, the only woman working in the Twin Falls police department, is a full-timed police officer. She has duties of stenography, filing clerks, matron and works on special assignments involving women and juveniles. Although she doesn't wear a uniform she does carry a badge. She maintains the identification and records bureau in the police department, which operates records at various in Twin Falls since 1926 and of persons wanted all over the United States. (Staff photo-entrapment)

No Beat to Pound but Plenty of Work Is Faced by T.F. Woman Police Officer

The lone woman police officer of the Twin Falls police department maintains she likes her job so well that even if she had no reason for working she wouldn't quit.

"The work is interesting, almost exciting," she says enthusiastically. "Every day something new happens. As a policeman she doesn't patrol a beat. She works in the office with the detectives, the desk sergeant and with the police chief.

"Actually I do a number of things," she says. My work ranges from filling criminal records to searching women prisoners and controlling women, although the latter is not one of my duties.

Occasionally she acts as desk sergeant for short intervals, taking and sending messages on the police radio and she goes out on assignments as an investigator, she explains.

"But I don't carry a gun or do a job of undercover work," Koonits states. She does carry a badge and although she doesn't wear a uniform, she could.

Her day-to-day work is usually accomplished in the office she shares with two detectives apart where she identifies and records (I and B) bureau is located. She is charged with maintaining the I and B bureau, a tremendous job in itself and a job she does well, according to her boss, Police Chief Howard Gilllette.

"Mrs. Koonits knows the bureau by heart," the chief says.

One of Mrs. Koonits' most important jobs is that of stenographer and secretary for members of the force. She takes shorthand and types letters, often taking prisoners' confessions in shorthand which she later types.

"Mrs. Koonits is so good at taking shorthand she can keep up with three people in a conversation," Gilllette notes.

The work she does with women prisoners is in connection with her role as matron. Mrs. Koonits has to care for all females apprehended by the police during the day and is in charge of them when confined in the city jail.

She recalls one incident in which she had to stay in a cell all day with a hysterical woman. The woman was screaming "I'm not guilty," Mrs. Koonits explains.

Special assignments call for Mrs. Koonits' attention too, says the chief. She often has to go out of the office to help investigate cases involving women or care for juveniles, he says.

Mrs. Koonits began working for the city police department in 1954, when she lived in near Twin Falls almost all her life and worked as programs. They are operated through cooperative committees of foresters employed by industrial units, government agencies and by private foresters.

These foresters help farmers get started on sound programs and inspect the farms from time to time to give advice and check the progress. No charges are made.

James C. McClellan, chief forester for Forest Products Industries, said in a recent statement that since start of the tree farm movement 17 years ago, "we have seen this country rapidly overcome a timber deficit."

"Now that we are growing timber faster than it is being removed from the forest—by harvest, fire, insect and disease—this steadily-expanding program gives us reasonable assurance that we can meet all future needs for wood."

"This program," McClellan said, "contains no net government subsidies nor does it involve membership dues."

It is a voluntary private enterprise program in which 1,600 trained foresters serve as inspectors and maintain the statistics she takes from prisoners.

Taking statements or confessions from prisoners is exciting, she explains. "The statements must be correct or the prisoner will refuse to sign."

Also—when a prisoner makes a confession, it must be typed as fast as possible and taken back to the prisoner to sign. Mrs. Koonits explains that prisoners sometimes change their minds about confessions after they give one and will not sign it.

"We don't use coercion to get statements. No force or threats are made to the prisoners," she says. If the prisoners refuse to sign a statement or ever refuse to give us one, that is their privilege."

All women arrested by the police department are cared for by Mrs. Koonits. She explains that she often has to go out of town or even out of the state to get "wanted" prisoners wanted in Twin Falls or to take them elsewhere.

"And a lot of women find it embarrassing to talk to men, so I interrogate them," she says.

Most women are arrested for drunkenness or for vagrancy, she adds.

The identification and records bureau Mrs. Koonits maintains consists of photo identification files, arrest file, case record file, photo file, federal bureau of investigation file of wanted criminals, and most important, and most difficult to keep, fingerprint file of every person arrested in the city and of persons wanted by the FBI or other police departments.

and protecting his timber from fire, insects, disease and destruction. He is awarded a certificate of membership in the American Tree Farm system and given a green and white tree farm sign to place on his lands.

Some forest industries have set up their own tree farm "families." Under the family plan, the industry—such as a sawmill or pulp plant—provides tree farm management services to a large number of small landowners in return for which the landowners may give the company first shot at buying the timber when it matures.

"These companies report they are finding the family plan helps stabilize their future timber supplies without the necessity of heavy land-owning programs. At the same time it assures the landowner of a steady market for his wood crop."

McClellan reports that the nation's wood-using industries are spending $6 million dollars a year in the management of commercial timberlands owned by themselves and their neighbors.

In addition, he said, many of the leading lumber concerns have set up research establishments that have been able to show how better trees can be grown, how insects and diseases may be controlled and how waste in the harvesting of trees can be reduced to a minimum.

"Fiddling Is Fun," Declare Local Violinists

Jana Meyer, right, and Mrs. Frances Ruth Deagle, TWIN FALLS, have won first place in the Northwest Oldtime Fiddlers Contest in Wilder, Miss. Mrs. Hopper won sixth place in the contest held last week and at the contest last year.

Accomplished Local Violinists Agree Fiddling Is Fun; Prizes Won by Both

Fiddling is fun, agree two Twin Falls violinists who have won awards in the Northwest Oldtime Fiddlers Contest at Wilder.

Lates of the winners is Jana Meyer, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Hopper, 21 Elm street, who placed sixth last week in the event with such tunes as "Orange Blossom," "Sweet Home," "The Cabbage Patch," "Up Jumped Trouble" and "Red Bird Pops."

In 1955, Mrs. Herbert Deagle, 343 Jefferson street, won first place in the women's division of the contest with such tunes as "Ten and Chickens" and "Washer Bitches."

Deagle being top-notch fiddlers, both are accomplished violinists. Mrs. Meyer has been playing the violin since she was six years old and Mrs. Deagle played in the Twin Falls high school senior concert from the time she was in the seventh grade until she was graduated from Twin Falls high school and played first violin in the Brigham Young university orchestra where she studied music from 1953 to 1955.

During her last two years in high school here, Mrs. Deagle, whose maiden name was Francis Kahl, played first violin. In 1952 she won first place in the state music festival.

Mrs. Meyer says she would rather play fiddlers music than concert music because "it is more fun and doesn't take so much concentration."

Mrs. Meyer won a one-eighth state title in New York City when she started to play. She credits her mother with teaching her to play a violin and her grandfather and step-father for teaching fiddler music.

Mrs. Hopper's violin talent was developed by her father and in music schools in Denver and New York City. When Jana was in the first grade, she won first place in a regional music contest in Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., sponsored by the "Mac" amateur hour.

Two years later, Mrs. Hopper's father began teaching Jana to play fiddle music and by the time Jana was in the fourth grade and had moved with her mother to Idaho, she could play "Home on the Range."

Jana describes fiddlers' music as polkas, hoe-downs or old time waltzes played by ear, with an extra touch added by the individual fiddler.

Every fiddler plays a song a little different, Jana says. This is generally because fiddlers learn the songs by listening to someone else play and then adding their own twist to the tune.

"My step-father taught me to play some of the snappier fiddle tunes," Jana adds. "He also arranges all of my music."

Hopper is a talented musician Mrs. Hopper explains. He can play several instruments.

Actually the whole family is talented musically. Mrs. Hopper adds, "It was while she was at BYU in the spring of 1955 that she first heard about the fiddlers contest and decided to enter. "I thought it would be a lot of fun and perhaps I might win a prize," she says.

In the 1955 contest, she won first place in the women's division and placed second in the over-all contest.

In 1956 she entered again and won third place in the over-all contest at Wilder. "There was no separate women's division that year," she explains.

Her prize for first place was a gold cup plus $75 and for second place she was awarded $50 and a gold cup.

For placing third in the 1956 contest she was awarded $50 and a gold cup.

The violin she uses was made in 1846 by her brother-in-law's father, A. C. Bryson, Gooding, formerly of Portland. Bryson made violins as a hobby.

"The violin is valued now between $400 and $500," Mrs. Deagle says, and it has as good or better tone than any she has ever used.

Most of Mrs. Deagle's experience as a fiddler has been from playing violin duets with her father at local gatherings such as Grange meetings or for service clubs.

"We used to play for many such affairs," she relates. "It was lots of fun and we were invited to play for gatherings all over Magic Valley."

The difference between fiddlers' music and concert music or popular music is that fiddlers' music is usually played very fast and at a higher scale, Mrs. Deagle explains. However, some fiddlers' music is slow, she says, but is definitely different from popular or concert music.

She seldom plays her violin much now, she says, because she has a baby 11 months old which monopolizes quite a bit of her time and she works part time. But when she does play, her husband joins in on the piano.

"I taught Herb to play chords on the piano and we play duets," she explains.

Guthrie was formerly the capital of Oklahoma. The capital was changed to Oklahoma City in 1906.

Come on to WASHINGTON STATE

May 30, 31, June 1... Colorama celebrating new color of lighting on Grand Coulee Dam.

A totally different... and delightful... vacation Only 11 hours from Twin Falls

This is the year to get away from bumper-to-bumper driving. This is the year for a vacation in wonderful Washington State... the air-conditioned vacation vacationland of America. For here in Washington there's often more a plenty for you and every member of your family.

Come and visit our state of contrast where scenic freeways and highways make everything only hours apart... from sandy, salt-water beaches to snow-capped, inspiring mountain peaks and primeval forests in a couple of hours; from metropolitan cities to rural charm in an even shorter time.

Contrast, too, between the eastern and western halves of the state. Western Washington is lushly green with the principal attraction the inland sea of Puget Sound; eastern Washington is warm, gold and green; with the mighty Columbia River just one of its many features. Both areas abound in fine resorts, hotels and motels to suit every purse and purpose. You'll find unusual dining-out places all over the state—also fine shops and stores to serve your every need or desire.

Come see our mountains: Rainier, Baker, St. Helens, Adams, Olympus. Play in the surf and sand at Long Beach, behold unbroken stretch of beach in the world; stand in awe at the Dry Falls of the Grand Coulee, bed of a pre-historic Columbia River. Doesn't all that sound like fun for every member of your family? Come on along this summer to Washington State—the friendly, welcoming, west western state in all the hospitable west!

Only hours apart...

That's the name of our new folder which contains a full-color map marked off a square that approximates the driving time of one hour. Our new map makes it easy for you to plan to see everything in wonderful Washington State this season. Loaded with pictures and information, it's yours for the asking. Just clip and mail the coupon below.

What Ever Became of 'Boy Wonders'? Here's What Some of Them Are Doing

(Three, four, five years ago and more) ... some months ago of a few more in ... years, who seemed to be on the rise ... (Their names — some referred to them as "boy wonders" — got to be almost household words, certainly names to know ... most still are deserving of the term ... as regularly as they once were ... here's a roundup of some of these so-called "boy wonders" ...)

By United Press
