

U. S. Objects to Russian Note on Test Ban Parley

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—The United States accused Russia today of concealing some propaganda hooks in its note accepting scientific talks on nuclear test detection. The note says the points must be cleared away before the talks open in Geneva July 1.

Although this threatened a possible delay, Press Officer Joseph Reap said the state department has assumed the conference would begin on schedule. The purpose of the U. S. objections seemed to be to deny the Soviet a propaganda advantage in revealing the extent of its nuclear test suspension. But while challenging the Soviet note, the United States said it was gratified to note the "high technical content" of the Russian note.

Divorces Are Granted Trio In T. F. Court

Three divorce decrees were awarded in Twin Falls district court Friday by Judge Hugh A. Baker.

Mrs. Clara B. McGuire was divorced from Marion J. McGuire on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. No minor children were involved. No previous property settlement was approved by the court. Her former name, Clara B. Glasswell, was restored. They were married Jan. 27, 1954, at Twin Falls. She was represented by James M. Doe as reported by Paul Donnelly, court clerk.

Mrs. Marjorie B. Donnelly received a divorce from Paul Donnelly, she charged he had caused her mental and physical suffering. Represented by Harry Turner.

Mrs. Betty Brownell was awarded custody of two minor children and $30 monthly support for each child. A previous property settlement was approved. Harold Brownell was granted a divorce from Mrs. Betty Brownell. He was charged with causing him severe mental cruelty by associating with other men, using intoxicating liquor and using "ugly and obscene" language in front of their children. The court awarded Brownell custody of three children. They were married Oct. 31, 1947, at Elko. He was represented by Kramer and Walker, Twin Falls law firm.

The college, the Idaho Municipal League, Idaho Peace Officers association and the FBI sponsor the school.

Heaviest Losses Are Reported on Area Bean Crop

WASHINGTON, June 14—Idaho wheat farmers incurred less loss last year than in any year since crop insurance started, but bean farmers had the heaviest loss on record, Sen. Harry Dwinshank reported today.

Dwinshank said the federal crop insurance corporation of the department of agriculture reported losses here light in the newly-insured barley insurance program. Wind damage and white fly infestation contributed to the bean loss. Heaviest in Cassia county, Dwinshank said.

The agency insured 25,677 Idaho acres of wheat, 41,742,222 insured value, 21,263 acres of beans worth $60,506 insured value and 7,238 acres of barley worth $22,828. The barley program will be extended to Nez Perce and Latah counties during 1959.

Funds Asked

displaying new electronic sound equipment which produces music in third dimension in both sound and tape recordings.

Other items in the electronic field include the new electronic amplifier home intercom-radio system which provides complete intercommunication as well as radio in the home.

Another electronic gadget, designed not so much for the home but definitely for the office and certainly for creating interest in any exhibition, is a radar-type electronic beam which can detect the illness of the family car's ignition system within seconds.

Exhibits by appliance manufacturers this year emphasize the built-in look in the family kitchen. One unit shipped to specially built the Magic Valley Home show boasts of the "burlesque double-oven with new drop-top doors. The idea is to permit the housewife to stand closer to her oven without leaning over a protruding oven.

Not all exhibits are displayed under the big roof of the gymnasium. Outside, an electric bicycle on wheels has attracted many viewers during the show. This unit is one of those which the company has tested throughout the country. Local company officials place their order for these monthly services to begin before the scheduled event. The unit on display this year is not the same as the one here at the first home show last year.

Also to be found outside are models of small motor boats and domestic, which have excited the interest of automobile buyers during the past year.

display of fiber-glass boats is attracting hundreds of outdoor enthusiasts who would like to water as well as live better. Alongside the boat display are several home trailers for those interested in camping at home while away from home.

Besides the many exhibits which attract the viewer, there are prizes given away to lucky winners. Friday night 20 such prizes were given out besides the $1000 prize of $100 which went to Herbert May. Five of the $100 prizes were won by Mrs. J. Woodson Greer, Twin Falls.

Other prizes are given by exhibitors as well as samples of new products. Free hot rods and other low-priced refrigerators are added attractions.

Soviet Creeps up Steel Scale

At the rate Russia's steel-making is climbing, she will soon be able to challenge the United States as the world's dominant steel-producing nation. This warning has been issued by Dr. D. L. McBride of the U. S. Steel corporation. He points out, see graph, above, that when we entered World War II, we were making half the world's steel ingots and castings. Western Europe accounted for 39 per cent and Russia only 10 per cent. Today, Western Europe's contribution is about the same, but the United States has slid back to 33 per cent. Russia has climbed to 19 per cent—from 9 million tons in 1943 to 24 million in 1957.

Wheat Poses Prime Worry for Officials Of Nation's Department of Agriculture

WASHINGTON, June 14 (Special)—Wheat, wheat and more wheat. This is perhaps the prime worry of top officials of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Item: The crop for the new marketing year starting July 1 is estimated at 1.5 billion bushels—up 34 per cent from a year ago and 14 per cent above average.

Item: The current carryover is 1.8 billion bushels (equivalent to a year's consumption both at home and for export), thus giving a total available now of 2.2 billion bushels as against 1.9 a year ago.

Item: USDA expects to wind up a year hence with a minimum of 1.2 billion bushels in storage—highest on record. Prospective outlay in price propping operations this year: Perhaps 1 billion dollars as against 600 million dollars in the year ending this June 30.

Biggest headache ahead: Under present law USDA can allow for next year no less than 85 million acres of wheat, must support its price at not less than 70 per cent of parity. In order to bring supplies into line with demand, USDA has asked that congress give it authority to reduce supports to 60 per cent, has made no recommendations for reducing the total allotments.

Under basic terms of the agricultural adjustment act (which congress amended to exempt wheat acreage allotments for the current year—in view of the heavy carryover of surplus—would have been only 20 million acres, less than half the amount required now by law to be sown. Under the AAA the 1958 allotments would be virtually zero.

FULLER'S spectacular new house paint

ADDS AT LEAST 2 EXTRA YEARS OF PAINT BEAUTY TO YOUR HOME

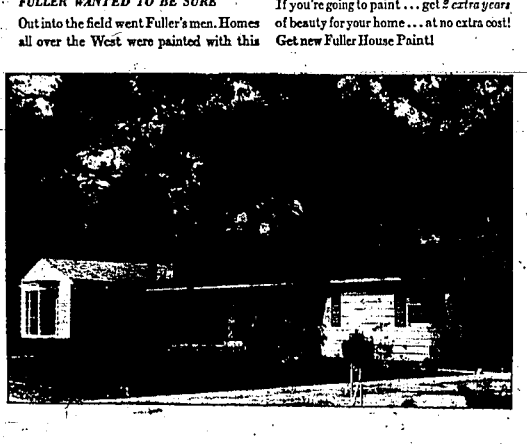

Revolutionary new kind of paint for wood! Gives your home a fresh new-painted look for 2 years longer than the finest paint you've ever used! Holds its colors, keeps its gloss for years! Spreads faster, easier than the best of them! Dries hours sooner! And costs no more than ordinary house paint!

HERE'S NEVER BEEN A PAINT LIKE IT BEFORE... The original formula was developed in 1951. Fuller chemists, through know-how and continuous research, found that by combining certain new "miracle" materials, they could produce an exterior paint so resistant to wear, so amazingly superior in every way that it made even the finest house paint seem old-fashioned by comparison. Two of America's largest chemical laboratories tested and confirmed these findings.

FULLER WANTED TO BE SURE Out into the field went Fuller's men. Homes all over the West were painted with this

BEAR'S HOW NEW FULLER HOUSE PAINT COMPARES WITH THE FINEST PAINT YOU'VE EVER USED

	Paint Traditional House Paint	Fuller Paint
General appearance	Can resist exposure weather only a few years.	Keeps fresh, new appearance at least 2 years longer than the finest house paint.
Class	Starts to lose glossy appearance after first month.	Keeps glossy lustre for years.
Colors	Starts to fade after about 3 months.	Keeps color brighter for years.
Washes	Readily stained with mud from kids, grease, oil, etc.	Cannot be rest stained.
Applications	Goes on fast and easy.	Goes on faster and easier than finest house paint.
Buyings	At least 4 hours' target for dust, larvae, fog, rain.	Dries out free in 2 hours. Fog or rain won't harm it.

RESULTS WERE PHENOMENAL Fuller House Paint met every rigorous test of weather and wear... it outperformed the finest house paints. Today, because of this tremendous 7-year field experience, Fuller can offer you this revolutionary new house paint, without qualification, as THE FINEST HOUSE PAINT YOU CAN BUY. If you're going to paint... get 2 extra years of beauty for your home... at no extra cost! Get new Fuller House Paint!

For stucco surfaces where a flat finish is preferred, use famous Full-Color Exterior Latex Paint. 42 beautiful colors.

Watermelon Harvest Gathered When Truck Overturns

Unidentified people gathered melons when a truck and semi-trailer overturned at 7:30 p.m. Thursday on Highway 23 about 15 miles south of Halley. The driver, George Staple, Anaheim, Calif., was hospitalized at Sun Valley hospital. The melons were grown at El Centro, Calif., and were to be delivered to Alberta, Canada. One woman, residence omitted, later returned her melon to the sheriff's office in Halley. The truck was loaded with 16 tons of melons. (Staff photo-entouring)

Boyle Offers Advice for Girls Who Want to Be June Brides

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—Many a June bride would be wise to take a bride and groom's advice. The reason in many cases will be very simple: really her own fault. She will make a basic and human mistake—she will waste her time building up her status.

1. Take him to the beach and let him get sunburned the color of a lobster.
2. Send to him, stricken, a gift of roses—embowered in poison ivy leaves.
3. Wine him and dine him and keep him out late until he gets cirrhosis under his many little eyes.

Varied Items of Interest Are Found by Magic Valley People Flocking to Second Annual Home Show at T.F. Gymnasium

Not all exhibits at the Magic Valley Home Show and Better Living Exposition are inside the Twin Falls high school gymnasium. Outside the building, visitors find displays of fiber-glass boats, small foreign and domestic cars and a traveling kitchen with built-in ovens and other conveniences designed to make the modern housewife's work easier. Plans to obtain this unit for the show began six months ago. The company has two such units which travel about the country. (Staff photo-enshring)

Magic Valley housewives examined with extreme interest the many exhibits of electrical kitchens on display the past three days at the Home show which will continue through Sunday at the Twin Falls high school gymnasium. Thousands have visited the show which is sponsored and produced by the Snake River Valley Electrical association. This is the second year for the event. (Staff photo-enshring)

Girls Are Learning Basic Cooking

Have Fun With Foods' Is Theme for Project

"Have fun with foods" is the theme for the second and latest year's project this year. Barbara Schultz, county extension agent, suggests the basic recipe to be used as a place in their recipe files, too.

Workshops are being conducted this month to outline the project to the girls and their leaders, telling what they will learn in the course.

Many things are included, how to prepare and cook fresh vegetables; various different kinds of soups; how to cook eggs, fish, and how to plan, prepare and serve meals for their tables.

Planning and writing a menu is included in the project and that is a difficult task for an adult, but they learn.

The girls also are shown how to prepare demonstrations for their in-home groups.

Requirements for the projects are given and are revised in the book, "Have Fun With Foods," by the University of Idaho, Extension agent, Barbara Schultz.

Food to be exhibited at the county fair are demonstrated by Barbara Schultz and also the project to package them for display, in addition to their completed food projects.

At a workshop in the Twin Falls Power company auditorium, Barbara Schultz is showing the girls how to make nut and nut butter. This is a heavier type of nut butter than a muffin spread and is baked in a loaf pan. A good loaf of nut and nut butter is a golden brown, has a thin and tender, it takes the shape of the baking pan and has a slightly rounded top that cracks while baking.

Inside the crumb is moist and tender with no large lumpy areas. It slices better when cold and often improves in flavor the second day after baking. It is excellent for serving with butter or cream cheese, makes wonderful sandwiches and is good for dessert.

For one pint by five by three-inch loaf pan, ingredients used will be demonstrated at Tuesday's workshop, use two cups sifted all-purpose flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one-half cup shortening, one cup sugar, two eggs, one teaspoon lemon juice, one cup applesauce and one cup chopped nuts.

Mix together flour, baking powder and salt; cream together shortening and sugar; beat eggs, add to creamed mixture; add lemon juice, applesauce and blend. Add flour mixture, stirring only until it is blended and mix well. Bake in preheated loaf pan at 375 degrees for one hour and 15 minutes. Remove from pan and cool on rack.

Barbara Schultz told third year girls at a workshop last week that there are two main ways to make bread. One is to make a dough which is kneaded and shaped to develop the dough structure. The second is to make a batter which is mixed and stirred to develop the structure. The batter type is quicker and easier to make.

The prep work is a basic beaten batter which is sufficient for yeast, thin-crust coffee cakes or two one-ounce yeast compressed, one-third dry, one-fourth cup water, one cup milk, one-fourth cup sugar, one teaspoon salt, one-half cup shortening, three and one-fourth cups sifted all-purpose flour, one and one-half teaspoons yeast.

Soften yeast in the water. Scald milk. Put the sugar, salt and shortening in a large mixing bowl. Pour the scalded milk over and mix to combine. Let cool to lukewarm and add two cups flour and beat well. Add softened yeast, egg

Losers Entertain Filer June Unit

FILED, June 14 — Winners of a recent Rebekah lodge contest were honored by the losing side at a potluck dinner Tuesday evening at the IOOF hall. Winners were those who had learned most thoroughly the "unwritten works" of the lodge.

Members of the Hazelton lodge surprised the local group with a visit and presented a friendship brochure and the program, telling of the home on the Hill at Caldwell, and a humorous skit. Boas was represented by two visitors from Purity lodge.

It was decided to contribute $10 towards furnishings for the Caldwell well home. A picnic was planned, the date to be announced later.

A Monday evening Filer will visit the Eden lodge and present the friendship brochure.

The last meeting before recessing for the summer months will be held June 24. The past noble grandeur will provide the dinner.

45 girls attending last week's workshop were Mrs. J. T. Anderson, Mrs. Rebecca Leightenham, Mrs. Walter Eggar, Mrs. Harold Messer, Mrs. R. E. Norris, Mrs. Collins Helms, Mrs. Fay Hollway, Mrs. H. L. Turner and Mrs. F. C. Odell, all Twin Falls; Mrs. Richard Brown and Mrs. Bud Morgan, both Kimberly, and Mrs. Adolph Lehman, Buhl.

Do vitamins stay potent?
"Vitamins come lot of ways—powders, liquids, some in pills, some in capsules. Some must be refrigerated to maintain full strength. Some have limited storage life. Others should not be mixed until just before using. And so on.

"We bring all this to your attention because "vitamin preparations" are being sold all kinds of ways these days. You hear offers on the air. You see offers in print. You even find salesmen ringing your doorbell.

For reasons mentioned above, the proper place to obtain vitamin preparations is your registered pharmacist, where professional knowledge assures your getting full vitamin value.

U.S. OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP IS WON BY 'TEMPETUOUS' BOLT

Champion Puts Down Early Bid by Player, Snuffs Out Late Challenge by Littler

TULSA, Okla., June 14 (AP)—Tommy Bolt, a tough ex-army sergeant and man of alternating peace and violent emotions, won the 58th National Open Golf championship with a remarkable self and shot control Saturday. He shot rounds of 69 and 72 for a 72-hole score of 283. The just-jawed Oklahoma native, 39, crushed the hopes of South Africa's Gary Player with a staggering streak of birdies in the morning and then snuffed out the late challenge of Gene Littler. Player, the 22-year-old professional from Johannesburg, finished four strokes back of the new champion with rounds of 70 and 71 for 281. Player in second place was followed by Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N. C., who had final rounds of 72 and 71 for a total of 283. Walter Burkemo of Franklin Lakes, N. J., and Bob Roberts of San Francisco, tied at 291.

British Snap 28-Year U.S. Hold on Net Cup

WIMBLEDON, England, June 14 (AP)—Christie Trueman, a 17-year-old major amateur, overpowered former Queen Aithen Gibson in a startling upset Saturday as Britain smashed America's 28-year hold on the Wightman Cup, four matches to three. The honor of winning Britain's first cup championship since 1930 went to Ann Haydon, who scored her country's fourth point in the next to last match of the seven-match, two-day competition with a 6-3, 6-2 singles victory over Jimmy Arnold of Redwood City, Calif.

Information for Projects Checked by City Employees

Four T.F. Projects Are Included In $1,600,000 Ballot on June 24

As important part of the job of providing a community with better water and sewer facilities involves collecting facts about the existing sewer and water lines, topography of the area, location of homes to be served by the systems and other problems needing to be solved before the first sewer line can be put down. Information about Twin Falls and the surrounding area which had never been collected and tabulated has been brought together by employees of the city engineering department for more than two years. Checking over information on a city map are from left, Norman M. Crossley, city engineer; George O'Brien, chief draftsman; and Rodney Tesan, assistant draftsman. Although outside engineers were hired for a feasibility report, much data had already been collected. (Staff photo-engraving)

On Tuesday, June 24, Twin Falls voters will decide whether they want city officials to raise up to $1,600,000 worth of revenue bonds to finance four projects of improvement and addition to the city's water and sewerage system. In accordance with state law, at least two-thirds of those voting must approve the issuance of the bonds.

If the issue is approved, final plans will be drawn up for the four projects. They will be received from private contractors, contracts will be awarded and work started. City officials are seeking voter permission to issue revenue bonds to pay for four distinct but interrelated projects. The projects are: (1) Improvement of the present water

Approximately 50 per cent of all Twin Falls sewage flows into Rock creek through the Heyburn avenue outlet, shown here falling into the stream over a low weir. City Manager Joseph H. Latimore and City Commission Chairman D. J. Lattin are standing near spot where sewer opens into pool behind weir. Latimore points to scum collected on pool. Just downstream from the Heyburn avenue outlet, sewage from Magic Valley Memorial hospital, seen on hill in background, empties into the creek. Property Taxes Not Involved in Ballot on Bond

The $1,600,000 worth of improvements and additions to the city's water and sewerage systems would not increase property taxes. This information is being stressed by city officials because of rumors that the bond issue passage would mean higher property taxes.

What the voters will be passing judgment on June 24 are revenue bonds, explains City Manager Joseph H. Latimore. "The improvements and additions to the city's water and sewerage systems will not be paid by property taxes. The users of the facilities are the only ones who will pay. Latimore explained that the bonds will be sold by the city on the local bond market and the money obtained from the sale of the bonds to pay private contractors will be used for interest charges made to users. Everyone in Twin Falls connected to the city sewer system, including those who will get new sewers, will pay a charge of $2 a month to cover the cost of the sewerage treatment plant. Those who get new sewers will pay an additional $2 a month. The $2.25 a month covers a connection fee.

Vote on Bond Issue Not Restricted to Taxpayers

Taxpayers and property owners are not the only people who can vote in the June 24 bond election. About 3,200 voters are still registered from previous elections. If a voter failed to cast a ballot in either of the last two successive municipal elections, he must re-register. If a voter missed just one of the last two elections his name remains on the books. The last two city elections were held in October, 1957, and October, 1955. Voters selected commissioners and also expressed opinion on the dog leash law.

(2) Installation of sewers to 400 properties in the city not served now by sewers; (3) trunk and interceptor sewers to a sewage treatment plant; (4) a private collector sewers for the fast-growing area north of the city, and (5) the existing plant. Total cost of these projects, as estimated by professional engineers hired by the city to prepare preliminary report, amounts to $1,585,000. The remaining $15,000 of the $1,600,000 will be needed for interest costs on the bonds. The city plans to retire the bonds with the obtaining of money from each city resident connected to the sewer. However, as city officials point out, the bond issue is not for any increase in taxes or water rates. Only those using the service will pay for it. It is planned to pay for the bonds over a 20-year period. Pinned on a monthly basis and split among the known and anticipated sewer connections. It is anticipated that each house will be charged $2 a month to cover the cost of the sewer. Business property will pay more in proportion to the waste disposed into its sewer. Residents of those homes in nine areas in the city being connected to the sewer for the first time will be charged an additional $2.25 a month. It is estimated the improvement to the city's water system, the first of the four projects, will cost $250,000. This work will include necessary repairs and improvements to the existing treatment plant southeast of town, installation of additional water treatment facilities and development of a deep well. The deep well is included in the first of the four projects because the city's definite need for an additional and supplementary supply of water. City Manager Joseph H. Latimore states, with the present storage and filter facilities, "No factor of safety exists to protect the city against large, unexpected fire demands." City officials say it cannot be emphasized enough that the bond issue is not an "unbalance" between supply, storage and demand is becoming serious and that it is imperative to correct the situation. City Manager Joseph H. Latimore says he was told by commissioners that he first came to Twin Falls 20 years ago to keep in mind any improvements that would need to be carried out eventually for the city's future development. "During the six-year period I have been city manager, the commission and the city engineer and I have retained numerous improvement projects," Latimore notes. On Feb. 3 of this year, Latimore outlined to the commissioners a list of projects for advanced planning. Projects considered essential for the city's continued expansion and orderly growth. Included in his proposals early in February were a sewerage treatment plant, a sewage treatment plant, improvements and more city water storage capacity. "The city engineer has been levelheaded at the bond issue because of the support given the projects by the Twin Falls League of Women Voters. It is an 20 million dollar project, estimated a week ago Friday at Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce directors meeting that it would cost more than a million dollars to pipe water into the city from a distance of 10 miles. Latimore points out that Blue Lake, water is private property to the north part of the city which

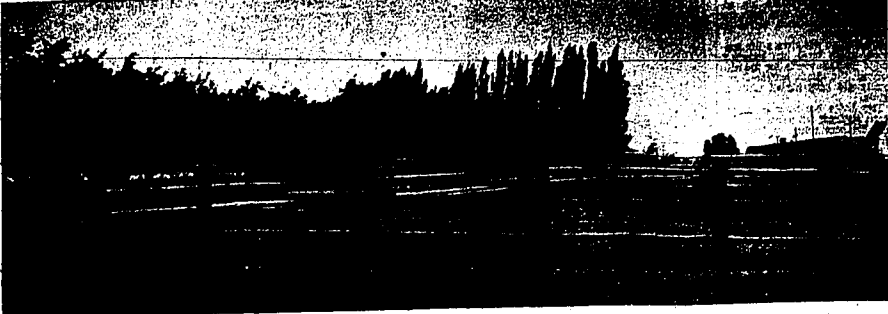

June 24 Vote to Climax Much Work on Project

An education program has been carried on by the league to acquaint Twin Falls voters with information about the use of Rock creek for dumping raw sewage. Asked if the idea for a sewage treatment plant came from the Twin Falls League of Women Voters or from the city engineer, Latimore said the idea for the plant has been talked about for a long time. It was obvious to many people that a plant was needed for years. Mrs. Richard High, past league president, noted in a letter to the commissioners several months ago that the women's group had adopted a resolution to support the project to support. "It has been the policy of the league to investigate thoroughly any proposal for the betterment of our city and after investigation to take a stand either in favor of or opposed to it," she wrote. Two years ago, before Latimore's recommendations early this year, city officials had decided tentatively to seek public support for a sewage-treatment-plant-application. Funds from the federal government and a grant of $10,000 was made available. However, the city manager says, it was subsequently decided that the city was not ready to take the plant. The grant was returned but the city engineering department was directed to start collecting data that would be needed when the water and sewerage improvements and additions were eventually placed on the ballot. In October, 1957, city commissioners directed final studies to be made, looking toward a spring, 1958, election. The engineering firm of Cornell, Rowland, Hays and Merrifield, Corvallis, Ore., and Boise, was hired to prepare a feasibility report. Latimore notes that the independent engineering firm prepared the feasibility report. As Latimore points out, the fact that an independent engineering firm was engaged does not mean that three years of work by the city engineering department was wasted. The firm he hired relied greatly on our work. The main purpose was to use our facts and conclude if the projects were feasible, Latimore says. "The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and the South Central Idaho Medical society have both been concerned with the bond issue. After chamber directors received a report that the sewage treatment plant was not justified unless a clear health hazard could be shown, the doctor's report gave evidence that a "dire need" existed for the plant and the related projects. The greatest deficiency in adequate water pressure exists. If water is found with the first "water officials" report that the sewage treatment plant is not justified unless a clear health hazard could be shown, the doctor's report gave evidence that a "dire need" existed for the plant and the related projects. The second major project in the bond issue is expansion of the city's water supply. The city has no

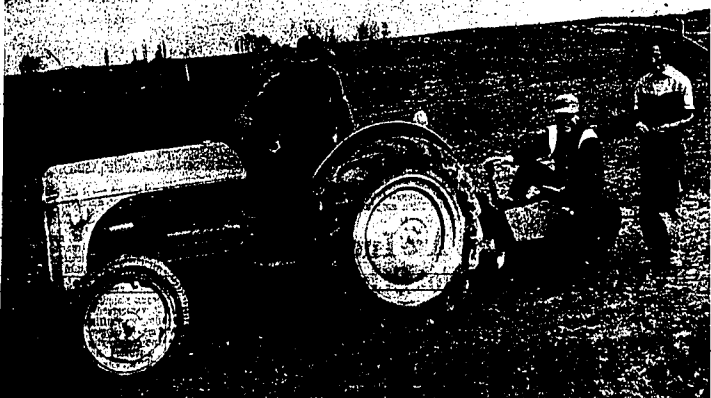

Officials Hope Federal Aid Will Cut Sewage Plant Cost Materially

City Manager Joseph H. Latimore says that the five million dollar cost of the city's $1,600,000 sewage treatment plant could be cut materially if federal aid is available. He says that the federal government has approved the money each year since the act's passage but Latimore points out that the President never included requests for the sewage facilities program in his budget until this year. "That support," the city manager says, "indicates more widespread support" of the city manager says will be approved and that Twin Falls will receive a grant. Under terms of the law, committees can be granted part of the cost of their sewage treatment plants, but no community can be given more than $200,000. Twin Falls' grant would be the full $250,000, Latimore says. "Both Koch, public relations and education official for the state health department, the agency that administers the federal sewage fa-

"Big Trees From Little Seeds Grow" In Area Through Forestry Program

Many of the groves of trees seen throughout Magic Valley around Emmett and feedlots have been started as seedlings obtained from the University of Idaho and distributed either through county agents extension offices, or the state fish and game department.

In either case, the seedlings come from the university's college of forestry nursery department at Moscow, operated by Franklin H. Pitkin, forest nurseryman, and the principal purpose of the program is to provide windbreaks for farmsteads and fields.

A secondary purpose of the fish and game department program, according to Arnold Coleman, Jerome, game biologist assigned to habitat improvement for southern Idaho, is to provide cover and protection to wildlife.

For this reason, most of the trees planted by the department include those which provide fruit or berries as food for birds. Russian olive, a species of bushy hardwood, is the most popular for all types of plantings, officials from both agencies agree.

Coleman has just completed the operation of 67 plantings on Magic Valley farms, most of which are considered utility plantings to provide a windbreak for feedlots.

The department has a memorandum of understanding with the soil conservation district, extending throughout the state, to provide cover and protection to wildlife.

Seedlings are available at a minimum cost through the county agents. Hardwoods are available for $3 in lots of 100 trees and $4 for evergreens. Orders must be made by March 10.

Application blanks are available from any county agent in the state, according to Dalgh who noted the program is not set up to compete with private nurseries but to get more trees on farms.

Ten years ago, 44 farmers in Twin Falls county ordered 19,957 trees and last year 47 ordered 12,675. This was the second largest number of individual orders for the state, with Minidoka county being first. This included many orders for use on the new farms on the northside project, Dalgh said.

The trees which now grace many Magic Valley farms were started from seed and spent their first year in the university greenhouse. The second year they are put in the cold frame and the third year set in rows at the nursery.

The seedlings are 3 years old when they arrive for delivery to farmers. A standard windbreak around a farm building is three rows, the county agent pointed out. The outside row is usually a species of bushy hardwood such as Russian olive, and the middle row is one of the tall hardwoods, as ash or honey locust.

The windbreak is usually evergreens. These rows of trees serve as a windbreak for a distance of eight times their height, Dalgh said.

Evidence of the usefulness of the windbreaks is found at the Steve Bartak farm west of Buhl, where 300 to 400 head of cattle are wintered in the outdoor feedlot.

"We could never keep the cattle here all winter if it were not for the windbreak," Bartak declared. "Trees on the farm are about 15 years old and were planted when the late Frank Zack lived there."

Sugar Beets Proving Again They're Right at Home in Valley; Most Fields Survive Beating in Rupert Storm

Bob Day, district manager for the sugar company, looks over field of sugar beets thinned by machine on the Floyd Lincoln farm near Twin Falls. This field has been planted to the new mono-cross hybrid variety which is having spectacular success in providing good yields and also in cutting farm costs of spring work through its adaptability to mechanical thinning. Machinery handles nearly all phases of the sugar beet operation now. Day, Amalgamated Sugar company district manager at Twin Falls, inspects firm heads on Silver thresher on tractor operated by Marvin Schick on John Breckenridge farm.

Magical Sugar Beet Busy Showing How It Is "Right at Home" in Magic Valley

The magical sugar beet, which mysteriously combines light, air and water to make tiny quantities of pure crystalline sugar, is proving again this year it is right at home in Magic Valley.

Checking around the many sugar farms in the southern section of the state, it has revealed that an outstanding crop of the sugar-filled crop is off and running towards the yield of beets and sugar.

According to reports from the sections of the Gem state, the beet is generally true in Idaho's 24 best producing counties.

Harvesting spring growing conditions, with improving on-farm cultural practices and by planting new beet seed re-

There is a continuing upswing in mechanization of the thinning and blocking work, reducing costs to farmers and minimizing labor problems at the peak of the spring work season.

In the Burley-Rupert factory district area, Manager Ernest Blauer said stands not hit by the Memorial day hailstorm look "marvelously good."

In all, in the two factory districts, the full acreage allotment of approximately 35,000 acres was planted this year, a slight cut under 1955. Nationally, under regulations of the federal sugar act, beet acreage was cut from 50,000 last year to 615,000 acres this year with Idaho's allotment reduced from 62,287 to 48,905 acres.

It was generally forecast, however, that the very promising crop coming on might match the 1,250,000 tons of sugar beets and some 440 million pounds of Idaho sugar produced last fall in the state's five big beet sugar factories.

The Twin Falls and Rupert factories of the Amalgamated Sugar company processed a total of about 700,000 tons of beets last fall and winter and turned out just about 200 million pounds of beet sugar in one of the better years on record.

Other Idaho production areas reporting excellent crop prospects are in the lower Snake river valley in theampa and Nyanza districts of Amalgamated and the eastern side of the state from north of Idaho Falls to south of Pocatello, where the crop is processed by the Utah-Idaho and Franklin County Sugar companies. Franklin county, headquartered at Preston, reports some difficulty with drought, but General Manager Tom Heath said a good crop ultimately will be harvested after the early difficulties have been overcome.

He Caught Fish at Magic Reservoir

Among the happy fishermen on opening day of the general fishing season this year was Ronnie Farr. Farr, by mid-afternoon he and his boat partner had taken an even dozen from Magic reservoir. Fishing was better and heavier in many areas, not quite so good in others. But most fishermen managed to bring home some proof that fishing was better than usual on opening day this year. (Fish and game department photo—staff engraving)

Opening Day of Idaho Fishing Season This Year Was One to Be Remembered

BY BETH RHODENBAUGH
Idaho Fish and Game Department
Opening day of fishing season this year probably will be remembered in most areas for some years to come. It was, in general, a dandy. There were a lot of waters that were too high, or too muddy, or blocked off by unimproved roads—just as usual. The difference was in the other waters—the low drainages, the smaller side streams, the dead reservoirs and lakes. These waters sometimes do fairly well on opening day, and support most of the successful pressure from year to year. This year they averaged "good" and some even a "fortnight" "hot as a firecracker."

This made a lot of fishermen happy, and their comments were sent promptly to the ears of department personnel who had become a little grumpy from many years of ordinary opening days. Then last year's opening day was good, and this year was better. Nevertheless, the department hastens to disclaim most of the credit, and to voice a warning.

James G. Simpson, chief of fisheries management, explains that the mild winter allowed more fish to survive than usual. Keep some waters open that ordinarily dry up, freeze solid or flood out, and even provide for some growth. For example, Paul Jipsson reports good survival in the Cocolalia lake of the cutthroat that were released last fall as inch-long fry. By spring they were four inches long, which is good growth for winter in Idaho.

Repeated tests have failed to find any trash fish survival in this lake since it was treated to remove them, and the good start given the 3-inch fish so far should show up well when fishing opens in the lake next year. As this is a cultural project, the fish are maintained by natural reproduction of the native northern Idaho strain. Its progress is being watched with special interest.

The excellent conditions for fish survival last winter also have un-

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAITS Educator, Farmer and Pioneer Is How Sterling Larson Describes Background

A cross between educator, farmer and pioneer is how Sterling C. Larson, president and owner of Twin Falls Business college, describes himself.

The business college, which will observe its 10th anniversary in September, was started by Larson in 1948 as a night school in three small rooms over Clok Book store. Four years later, after four bookkeeping tables constituted the school's equipment, Mrs. Kay Post, formerly of Twin Falls, taught bookkeeping and business English. During the time that the school met at the store, Larson's real estate during the day. Recalling that he paid $12.50 per month rent, Larson said when he had to vacate the location, he thought it would be the end of Twin Falls Business college. For the only room he could find rented for $80.

STERLING C. LARSON

However, through the efforts of W. H. Gillman, building engineer, who knew the manager of the building, Larson was able to move the school into one large room above Tooling in June, 1948, opening the day school that September.

The school soon grew until it occupied three rooms on the second floor. Larson laughingly recalls how the late Sam Haynes, the custodian who lived there had to keep moving his belongings from room to room as the business college spread.

In 1953, Larson moved the college to its present location in the former district health unit building. He feels it is now a permanent institution in Twin Falls, serving a demonstrated need in Magic Valley. Enrollment varies between 150 and 180 during the fall and winter terms.

Based on a farm in Richmond, Utah, Larson farmed 160 acres there after his graduation from high school. He has farming interests in Salmon and Blue Gulch irrigation companies in east-west irrigation possibilities.

He taught high school in eastern Idaho for 12 years, including St. Anthony, Rigby and Flare, before moving to do graduate work at the University of Idaho and Brigham Young university.

At the conclusion of his graduate work in 1946, Larson expected to teach at a university, but when he was offered a contract by the State university for a salary of $2,800, that ended his teaching career. He had to do something else to do Larson declared.

It was at this time he began the business college here, an enterprise he says he has never regretted, because of the challenge it presents.

Speaking of an education, Larson has great hopes for the education system in America. He feels schools will have to do some of the things parents should do, like making pills more public-minded.

has given much time to efforts to obtain qualified candidates on county, state and local levels.

Larson is chairman of the committee on public business and government affairs in the local Kiwanis club. Other posts he holds include chairman of the education committee of the county unit of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and president of the Utah-Idaho Association of Business College, which is composed of the eight schools in the two states.

One of his most active enterprises in the interests of local education was serving as secretary of the Children's committee which spearheaded public support for a bond issue to build Morrisville and Harrison grade schools.

Larson is well known for his community service with his vocal talent. He sings frequently for church and other events. Singing is a hobby for him, he says.

The blond educator-farmer-pioneer credits his wife as being the "right-hand man." She handles the duties of secretary at the college, keeps house and cares for the Larson's three children.

Their oldest son, Bryant, is a student in the business college; Cecilia was graduated from Twin Falls high school this spring and their daughter, Deanna, will be a sophomore in college.

He feels that teachers can and should instill in their students an appreciation for the free enterprise system in America. He also is interested in governmental affairs and

Better Keep Cool Heat Exhaustion, Stroke Both Result of Hot Sun

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.

There are two principal reactions to too much exposure to the sun. The two conditions are commonly called sunstroke and heat exhaustion. Both are serious and in both prevention is better than treatment.

When sunstroke is most serious, the result is complete loss of consciousness. The face develops a peculiar red flush and the skin is hot and dry.

Heat exhaustion tends to be on much more slowly than sunstroke. Headache, loss of appetite, dizziness and muscular weakness may precede for several days the development of characteristic symptoms.

Rest in a cool place for one long time may be enough to relieve the heat exhaustion, but measures are often desirable.

Fever sometimes up to 100 degrees or more may be present. Both the pulse—heart rate—and breathing are abnormal. It is a highly dangerous condition.

If the victim can be kept alive for two days recovery is probable. However, one attack increases the susceptibility to heat in the future. In sunstroke the normal methods which the body has of maintaining its heat regulation seem to be entirely uprooted. It calls for prompt and even radical treatment.

Heat exhaustion is a less severe reaction to hot sun or excessive heat. It is related to sunstroke and shades gradually into the more serious condition. However, most physicians differentiate between heat exhaustion and sunstroke because the latter is so much more dangerous.

Victims of heat exhaustion do not usually lose consciousness. Sometimes muscles of the abdomen or the limbs develop pain of cramp-like nature. The mouth temperature is likely to be below normal or only
