Satellites Are to Be Launched at California Base

WASHINGTON, June 23 (UPI)—The magazine Aviation Week says the air force hopes to launch its first "pied Piper" reconnaissance satellite from California in December or early January.

Previously, it said, 20 or more big Pied Pipers may be hurled into orbit.

The magazine said in an article published yesterday that the first camera-carrying satellite would be a test vehicle weighing perhaps as much as 1,200 pounds. Later versions may be even heavier. Russia's Sputnik II weighed about 1,000 pounds; its Sputnik III about 2,000.

The magazine said Lockheed Aircraft corporation hopes to have the first Pied Piper "ready and waiting" when the launching pads for the air force thorn are available at Cape Air Force base in December or January.

Adventist Says World Living on Borrowed Time

CLEVELAND, June 23 (AP)—"If there ever was a people who lived on borrowed time, we are that people," Dr. Francis D. Nichol of Washington today told Seventh-Day Adventists here for the denomination's 48th quadrennial world conference.

Nichol, editor of the "Review and Herald," the denomination's official paper, told delegates at a morning devotional study that "by the very logic of our interpretation of scripture, we are right now borrowing time from eternity."

He spoke on the nearness of the end of the world and reviewed some of the predictions which he said were publicly bandied as nonsense until a few decades ago.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG POT SHOTS

WASHINGTON—Despite their discreet silence, Vice President Nixon, almost 200 House members and scores of senators on Capitol Hill are deeply and personally concerned over Sherman Adams' acceptance of a $100,000 loan from a manufacturer in difficulty with Uncle Sam.

Believed to be a virtual mortgage on the 1960 presidential nomination, his friends fear that the loan will make it not worth the having. "The vice president," they realize, "will be completely out of the picture on his attitude toward Adams' action. Should he be the GOP candidate in 1960, he would be a two years hence, House and Senate members forced to face the voters in November have already been challenged to condone or condemn."

REPERCUSSION DUE TO GOLDFINE INCIDENT—In fact, the Goldfine incident has had an immediate and unfavorable repercussion with respect to the discussion of a "White House fund," a matter which seemed to have disappeared from the public mind.

It was in connection with this episode that President Eisenhower insisted that his running-mate be paid to be as open and candid as possible to the public, especially those up for reelection this year, have made the same demand on the White House chief of staff.

KNOWLAND'S LABOR ATTITUDE—Another Nixon handicap is the labor attitude attributed to Sen. William P. Knowland by union leaders and publications. Nixon has endorsed the Knowland candidate for governor of California, and the labor union makes it mandatory for him to campaign actively for his colleague.

Knowland has done his utmost for the senator, even though it necessitated a reversal of his position on the Kennedy-labor bill and financial aid to the unions. But the labor union does not like such an example, Nixon will undoubtedly feel compelled to campaign for the senator.

EDITORIAL IN LEWIS PUBLICATION—Just as the Adams-Goldfine relationship has recalled the "White House fund" and the "White House fund," it has also recalled the "White House fund" and the "White House fund."

Meanwhile, it says, "In California, Attorney General Knowland is being attacked by the press for his attitude toward the labor union. It is a pity that in that state, Nixon may be tarred with an anti-labor brush."

"That, we confess, was something of a shock to us. Because, on the strength of Mr. Nixon's past record, we cannot conceive how anyone could consider him anything else but anti-labor. He is and always has been."

In fact, if the government wants to get at the truth of the reception given Mr. Nixon on his recent tour of South America, we suggest it might find illumination in his anti-labor record in California.

POLITICIAN'S DILEMMA—The Lewis publication, nevertheless, is prejudicial against the administration. It is a pity that in that state, Nixon may be tarred with an anti-labor brush.

It is a pity that in that state, Nixon may be tarred with an anti-labor brush. It is a pity that in that state, Nixon may be tarred with an anti-labor brush.

THEY PLAY IT BY EAR—If there's this country's central committee does not lack, it's confidence. They'll dip into anything, including music, and make like experts.

For example, in Stalin's day, the committee biased three Russian composers: Prokofiev (now dead), Khachaturian and Shostakovich, for "formalistic perversions and anti-democratic tendencies in music."

How a bunch of stiff-necked, blinkered politicians had the nerve to pretend they knew anything about music, alone was weird. It showed political inflexibility, is beyond grasp. Most of them probably didn't know a treble clef from a clarinet.

Now, suddenly, the present-day central committee has "cleared" these Russian musical stars of the charge that they were striking political sour notes in their work.

It seems that the 1948 committee under Stalin was "negatively influenced" by the late secret police boss, Lavrenti Beria. Maybe he had a tin ear, because the composers' stuff was okay all along, now they tell you.

And if Ivan can't prove he's been listening to these fellows regularly, he may be in trouble. Or is it treble? Ask the committee.

TWO TUNES AT ONCE—On the record, retiring President John F. Kennedy is just about the humblest little boaster who ever ran a union.

Any time he gets up to talk, you'll find him one minute, tossing his weight around, and the next acting as if he were barely able to get in the door at the union hall.

No union czar ever advertised his power so fully and forcibly as Jimmy Pettilio. If the boss of the automobile workers played it the same way, every car out of Detroit would bear a stamped legend:

"This automobile produced through courtesy of Walter Reuther."

In his half-hour monologues, Jimmy as usual played both tunes on the trumpet. And when he's humble, he's humble. In fact, it was a two-handkerchief performance. He himself said he could have used any one minute, tossing his weight around, and the next acting as if he were barely able to get in the door at the union hall.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Jimmy Pettilio is more responsible than any individual for the disappearance of the bands that are commemorated with longing in Mendocino with a beautiful musical day.

The "Music Man," The American Federation of Musicians made it impossible for bands of the type recalled by the Mendocino people.

Presumably, the disappearance of the bands of the type recalled by the Mendocino people.

Through the influence of the musicians' union, the bands of the type recalled by the Mendocino people.

Even the bands of the armed forces are not allowed to play public dates unless the musicians' local has a steady money flow in its own right. High school authorities and kid musicians have run into this problem. It has been said that there have been no bands in the city since the war.

Jimmy Pettilio has been known to be a miser. He has been known to be a miser. He has been known to be a miser.
