Little Rock Vote Winner Sees End For Faubus Move

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 6 (AP) — Three persons attacked by Gov. Orval F. Faubus as segregationists were elected to the Little Rock school board tonight and one called for the triple victory "the beginning of the end" for the governor. Three others elected to the six-man school board had earlier, with approval of Faubus, Ted Lamb, one of a slate of five candidates the governor had criticized, said after he defeated two other candidates for one of the positions. "Our victory is the beginning of the end for Orval Faubus, a 20th century Machiavelli. This is the first crack in the Faubus edifice and I predict that the entire political empire, founded as it is upon misrepresentation and bigotry, will soon be crumbling at his feet."

Faubus was not available for comment on the election of Lamb's slate. Lamb's reference to Machiavelli meant the Medieval Italian courtier whose name has become a symbol for opportunism.

Pro-Faubus candidates elected to the board were: Ben Rowland, sr., and Ed L. McKinley, who was unopposed.

Later, Rowland announced that he had announced it was behind Faubus in his resistance to school integration.

The defeated members of the slate were Mrs. Pauline Woodson, Mrs. Margaret Morrison and G. J. Taylor. The new school board is under federal court orders for desegregation, but the board does not open schools closed by Faubus.

A recently enacted state school closing law provides that if voters approve segregated schools, as has been done at Little Rock, the schools must stay closed. Presumably the board will stay closed.

Twin Falls county has not been a participating member of the unit, but the Twin Falls county Commissioner Chester Lemen, a member of the executive board of the health unit, was present at the meeting. Local Businessman Is Designated for Secretary-Manager Post of Chamber

William Grange, local businessman, was named secretary-manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce by directors Friday noon.

Earl Pauker, Lee Fillmore and R. S. Tuffenre, the committee members, investigated applicants and the needs of businesses here, would be of much greater service to the chamber than a stranger in the area.

Grange will turn over operation of his appliance store to Ira Hoffman, who has been employed by him for some time, and Grange will devote his entire time to the work of the chamber.

Mrs. Rodney Tegan, who has been serving in the secretary-manager post, will return to her former position as office manager.

Grange expressed himself as pleased at the opportunity to be of a greater service to the community. Grange has been active in a number of civic groups, including the Commercial division of the chamber. He is former sales manager for General Electric company. Grange has also worked in retail stores, appliance and general merchandise.

Grange and his wife "fell in love" with Twin Falls when going through here on business trips and have made their home here since 1932.

Both are hunting and fishing enthusiasts, as well as gardeners. Grange is serving as program chairman for the Kiwanis club, is solicitor with the Presbyterian Men's chorus, and active in community projects.

Steno Larson, a student in the school of the education committee of the Chamber of Commerce, will be in charge of a business education day for schools.

"We are selling our free enterprise system about by falling to emphasize its value," Larson told directors. He has been tentatively planning a series of lectures by businessmen. A reciprocal program will be arranged with teachers meeting in the chamber in effort to better understand the position of each.

Board members voted to send Mrs. Tegan to the Boise meeting Dec. 15 of the Governor's Committee of

Walters Seen As New Land Commissioner

BOISE, Dec. 6—Growing support for Idaho Democratic Chairman John O. Walters for state land commissioner was indicated at a meeting today of Democrats who will take over state offices in January.

They would not be quoted by name, but several officials said they are committed to Walters if he wins the job. The commissioner is named by the state land board.

Members to be Seated First

Walters said appointments of the commissioner will not be announced until after the new members of the land board are seated.

Two of three Democrats who will take seats on the board were present. They were Frank Benson, Focastello, attorney general-elect, and Joe R. Williams, Boise, auditor-elect.

Delmer Engking, Blackfoot, superintendent of public instruction, will be the other Democratic member. He did not attend the meeting.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie will be the only Republican on the board.

Legislation Discussed

The state chairman said the officials talked about proposed legislation to give some of them greater powers, but came to no conclusion.

It has been suggested that the Democratically controlled legislature may seek to transfer to the chamber officials some bureau and department now under the governor.

Walters said the group also discussed patronage and budgets. Mrs. Ruth G. Moon, state treasurer, was present.

Had She Heard?

BOISE, N. D., Dec. 6—Perhaps she never heard of two-way cab radio?

Albert Roy says this happened last night in a heavy storm.

He delivered a passenger to an address about a mile from his taxi stand.

As he started to return he received a radio message to pick up a fare just across the street.

"You send for a cab, lady?"

Report Shows Forest Funds Sent to Idaho

CODDEN, Dec. 6 (Special)—Regional forest receipts from Idaho national forest lands brought $1,019,806.32 into the state treasury, Regional Forester Floyd Irwin announced Friday.

Irwin said the money returned Idaho its share of the national forest receipts for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

Irwin explains 25 percent of national forest receipts are returned by law each year to states containing national forests for use at the discretion of state and county officials. The amounts received by the county are based on the acreage of national forest land they contain.

Sources of the revenue are sales of publicly-owned timber, fees for grazing livestock on the national forest, land-use permits and other national forest uses.

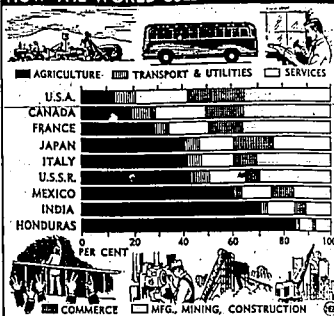

Irwin points out cash receipts are only part of the annual dividend to the public lands pay. "Other public values which can't be measured in dollars and cents are water, wildlife, timber and forage, recreation, forest employment and wildlife."

Three other intermountain states within the forest-service-region—Nevada, Utah and Wyoming—received $1,261,128.66. Idaho's share represented the major portion. Receipts to other states are Utah, $142,899.39; Wyoming, $157,456; and Nevada, $39,769.52.

California leads the U.S. in the number of acres served by commercial timber. Texas comes next and New Mexico.

Safety Rating For School Is Told by Chief

MURLEY, Dec. 6.—The Murley Junior High School building is in good condition relative to fire safety, Fire Chief William Williams told PTA members Wednesday night. He also made several recommendations for safety.

Williams said there have been three major fires at the school in the past five years. One occurred in the soft in the machine; another under the main floor and the latest which damaged the floor and the flag pole. All were extinguished with minimum damage.

The building had been evacuated in two minutes.

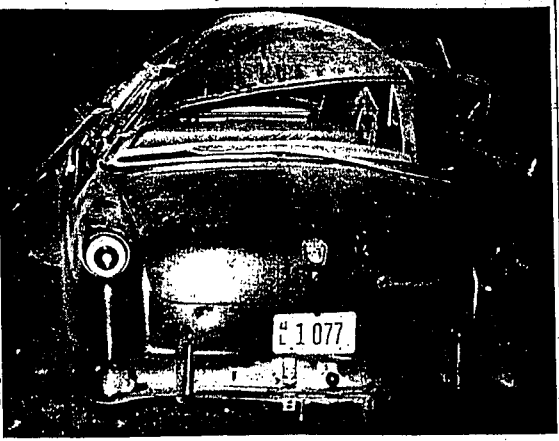

Williams explained that the floor was made of wood. The fireproofing used on the wooden floor was not a fire-proof chemical but a flammable oil that was used for form.

He suggested that the school purchase a canvas type slide which could be anchored to the walls and in case of fire pushed out to someone on the ground below who could hold the ground below.

Williams emphasized that the school should have a fire alarm system installed in the "long run" is the protection in such a case as in the case of the fire in the machine.

Shory, dressed today in the custody of Sheriff James H. Bennham, is scheduled to appear before Brown Monday afternoon for a preliminary hearing.

Shory was arrested by State Patrolman R. E. Young following an investigation at the scene of the accident 15 miles south of Rogerson. Shory drove a 1959 Ford which veered off the pavement for 300 feet and overturned shortly before 4:30 a.m. Saturday. Damages were set at $300.

Young reported the accident occurred on a dry and straight uphill portion of the highway. Assisting in the investigation were Deputy Sheriffs Wayne Hankins and John Wilkerson.

Two men involved in another accident are reported in "good" condition at Magic Valley Memorial hospital. Thomas Sollock, 38, Kimberly, and Ray Arnold, 40, were released to the hospital with Mrs. Sollock, 40, and Beale Breckenridge, 41, after Sollock's Ford went out of control and overturned five miles north of Hollister at 2:15 a.m. Saturday. The women were released from the hospital following emergency treatment.

No Praise!

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (UPI)—The armed forces have undertaken to save the taxpayers some money by buying only 10 types of erasers.

They used to buy 88.

But military standardization experts who reported this accomplishment to congress want no immediate praise.

"If you people didn't make so many mistakes," said Rep. Porter Hardy, Jr., D. Va., "you wouldn't have to have even that many."

Senator Says Strong GOP Needed Here

UTAH VALLEY, Calif., Dec. 6.—"America needs a strong Republican Party today even more than it did in Lincoln's time," Sen. Wm. F. Bennett, R., Utah, told caucus Republicans tonight.

Senator Bennett outlined a four-phase program for strengthening the party in an address prepared by the California Republican Assembly state board. He said the Republicans have been the weaker of two American parties during most of the past 30 years.

Political parties are made up of individuals — people, clubs, leagues, organizations and programs," he said. "We're truly effective a party must be stronger than its opposition in all four areas."

Senator Bennett said America needs a strong Republican party today more than it did in Lincoln's time because "then the crisis of our liberty was inside our own country. Now it is worldwide."

"Our liberty is to be a living force, it needs a party of men and women dedicated to its principles. Our is the only party that can best that need."

Phase Plan Told

The four-phase plan to strengthen the party would try to build up active party membership and "solve the problem of identification," Senator Bennett said. The party's strength should come not only from active Republicans but independent members of former splinter parties who register Democratic but vote as Republicans.

Other phases of the senator's program would develop a year-round program of community work, establish an adequately staffed permanent organization to use all the resources available to the party, and adequate financing.

An official survey determined that there are 3,761 hotels in New Eng-

Too Old

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 6.—The Swedish army has ruled out the bow and arrow in its search for a soundless weapon to be carried on frontier patrols.

Replying to a published report that the ancient crossbow was being considered, a spokesman said "We can do better than that, I think."

Prediction Made

RALEIGH, N.C., Dec. 6 (UPI)—Former President Truman predicts that the Democratic party will come up with another strong civil rights plank in its 1960 platform.

Defiantly fielding reporters' questions on the subject at a news conference here yesterday, Truman conceded the party needs southern votes and made it clear he is not reading anyone out of the party.

Construction Is Preceding Road Project

Two construction projects on Kimberly road are foreseen as preliminary plans are being prepared for the road to be constructed along the route as soon as preliminary work has been completed and the right of way has been obtained.

The John Deere Equipment company, which has purchased the former Western Equipment property from the state highway department, will remodel the front of the building to allow the additional 12 feet of space required by the highway right of way.

Intermountain Gas company is laying 10,000 feet of main line, which will bring natural gas to businesses and residences on the north side of Kimberly road. The Blue Lakes boulevard to Eastland drive, and on the south side of Kimberly road from Locust street to Eastland drive. The remaining section between Blue Lakes and Locust on the south side will be completed when the highway right of way is cleared of buildings.

Jean Dondanville, manager of D and W sales, reports rearranging of the front of the equipment building will not be undertaken until the firm has completed its move and held a grand opening Jan. 18, 19 and 20.

Despite the cost and inconvenience involved in removal of 12 feet of the front of the building, Dondanville is pleased with the move.

"We will be able to overhaul six or eight combines at a time, with 1500 square feet of floor space in our shop, and with the railroad spur adjacent to us, we will be able to provide a much more efficient service," he said.

The additional space will allow for more complete parts department, larger warehouse space, and an additional lot for used equipment.

To prevent the expense of moving the present office, the company is auctioning all used equipment. The firm has occupied its present location for the past six years.

Reindeer Are En Route for White House

SPokane, Dec. 6 (UP)—A packload of wild reindeer from Alaska's frozen wastelands, stopped here briefly this morning en route to the first leg of a 3,100-mile cross-country trip to Washington, D. C.

The animals are Alaska's Christmas present to President Eisenhower. Making the trip are four reindeer, one of which was imported here in the 49th state years ago, and one which is an American equivalent of the European reindeer.

Four to six weeks

The animals will make their home at the National Park zoo in Washington, later to be exhibited as a feature attraction at the traditional Pageant of Peace, Dec. 23 in President's park, south of the White House.

Both sexes have horns, with the bulls supporting huge racks, palinated at the ends.

Special Truck Used

A freight-hauling firm is transporting the animals in a specially designed truck-trailer with extra large stalls, air conditioning and a carefully prepared menu.

The animals arrived in Seattle by steamship yesterday, and are here at 8 a. m. today for a breakfast.

Drivers Al Lund and Douglas McCall will go as far as Billings, Mont., the eastern terminus of their freight run, with the animals. There, the driving chores will be turned over to another team.

14 County Home Demonstration Clubs Represented at Twin Falls Meeting

Fourteen home demonstration clubs were represented Saturday at a meeting of the Twin Falls county home demonstration council, Donald Fouts, assistant county agent, reported to the group on 4-H club work and showed pictures of local youths attending the national 4-H congress in Chicago.

Mrs. H. W. Ronk reported on a special food survey that many people would like instruction in ways of cooking less expensive cuts of meat. She also said housewives need better knowledge of the winter content of foods, as well as lessons on better shopping methods.

Since most people shop at the William A and C. Mrs. Ronk lacked the funds for use of more dairy products in meal plans.

A seven-county convalesce with home demonstration clubs from all of the south-central Idaho district will be held at the Piler Grange hall, Jan. 24. Mrs. Julius Gosper will lead the arrangements committee, with Mrs. Gene Blackham, Castleford, in charge of decorations and Mrs. Victor Miller, Buhl, program chairman.

The council voted to change the fiscal year to end May 31 rather than Dec. 31.

Mrs. John E. Hayes, international relations chairman, asked members to contribute again to the CARE program, where $1 will purchase 20 pounds of food for the world's needy.

The health and safety chairman, Mrs. Clifford Thomas, Piler, submitted her resignation.

The council made plans to sponsor a workshop, "To make or not to make," relating to food preparation the first week in January.

Officers of the council are Mrs. Robert Brown, Twin Falls, president, Mrs. Alfred Dales, Buhl, vice president, and Mrs. Charles Chambers, Piler, secretary-treasurer.

Florence Schultz, extension house agent, commended the four special committee chairmen for their contributions, and reported their work had been publicized in the state university publication, Agriculture Science.

Report Given On Accidents

Twin Falls police investigated three minor accidents Friday and Saturday. No injuries were reported and no citations were issued.

Reverend damage to two vehicles resulted at 1:15 p. m. Saturday in the 100 block of Second avenue north when a 1935 Chrysler driven by Ralph Tulloch, 537 Fourth avenue north, collided with a 1934 Dodge owned by Rocco D. Brown, Kimberly, as Tulloch drove his car from a parking place.

A 1935 Chevrolet driven by Abraham R. Summers, 60, Blackfoot, and a car driven by Henry L. Marsh, 72, Murrah, collided at 10:05 a. m. Saturday at the intersection of Main avenue north and Second street when Summers swung his car into another lane to avoid striking a car that had stopped ahead of him.

Damages were estimated at under $50 to both cars.

A collision at the intersection of Main avenue east and Second street at 8:20 p. m. Friday resulted in damages of $10 to a car driven by Kenneth McDermund, 17, Kimberly, and a 1934 Mercury driven by Edward Broadhead, 18, Rupert.

Peron Backers' Move Said Flop

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 6 (UP)—Reports reaching Buenos Aires Saturday said a small group of self-identified supporters of Juan Peron tried unsuccessfully to take over a cavalry regiment in Entre Rios province.

The incident was said to have occurred early yesterday and to have been put down by sentries at the regiment's station.

The leader of the group was reported seized and identified as a former soldier, who took part in an abortive uprising in support of ousted dictator Peron in 1935.

Bernardo Larrode, undersecretary of the national defense, told reporters here he had no further information on the reported incident.

A person is considered legally blind if his vision is 20/200 or less. This means a person who can see at 20 feet what a person with normal vision can see at 20.

Blast Kills Baby And Levels Home

MADISON, Ind., Dec. 6 (UP)—An explosion heard for miles collapsed an old, 15-room brick two-family dwelling in this Ohio river port today, killing a year-old baby.

Police and firemen reported hearing the baby whimper as they dug toward her in the ruins, but when they reached her four hours after the explosion, she was dead.

However, Governor Mark Lyle said the little girl had crumpled inside to the head and chest and probably died shortly after the explosion.

The coroner said he had not determined the cause of the explosion. Firemen said it probably came from the area of a natural gas furnace.

Mailing Goes To High Gear

Reading directly into the Christmas-mail rush, Postmaster W. W. Francis has put the "Early for Christmas" campaign into high gear.

The postmaster said, "We're ready for an all time record Christmas mail this year. Every facility of the postoffice is being expanded for maximum service. Extra trucks and personnel will be added, and special mailing schedules will be set up to insure prompt handling of the tremendous flood of both incoming and outgoing mail."

"However," the postmaster continues, "the vast volume of Christmas mail is only part of our problem. Names and addresses are often written carelessly, many packages are wrapped poorly or have insufficient postage on them. These oversights result in delays and disappointments, most of which can be avoided."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (UPI)—The senate subcommittee on constitutional rights, printing the views of 65 law professors, said today that it is in favor of curbing the state department's powers to refuse passports.

The subcommittee made public a 337-page booklet containing the legal views of law deans and professors. Their comments were solicited on April 1937, by Chairman Thomas H. Hennings, Jr., D. Mo.

Mediator Trying To Stop Strikes

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (UP)—A federal mediator sought today to avert off a strike which could deprive millions of their daily New York newspapers.

The walkout has been threatened for midnight tomorrow by truck drivers and other distribution workers who are members of the Independent Newspaper and Mail Deliveries union. They work for nine major daily papers published in Manhattan and Queens.

A spokesman for the Publishers association, New York City, representing the newspapers, said all would seek to continue publication and sell the papers at their respective offices in the event of a strike.

Council Asks Enforcement Of Park Limit

OUTDATED
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 6 (AP) — Mrs. John E. Sargent is a dog-gain hunter.
Early last January, she found some Christmas cards "from the three of us" at reduced rates. She snapped them up.
She sold them the other day at further reduced rates.
Pam, who is 7 days old, sort of outdated their sentiment.
The action was taken after the council's committee of the Robert Chamber of Commerce had requested a resolution to alleviate the parking problem in downtown Rupert. It felt that this action will force employers and employees who have been using the park side of the street to seek space elsewhere, making this area available for the use of customers.
The possibility was discussed of extending the one-hour area to include 7 street and Fifth street for one block off the square.
Members of the committee reported to the council that they had voted in favor of the mayor's suggestion to reduce the size of the city park to 200 by 200 feet, using the outside 50 feet for additional parking space.
This would accommodate another 300 cars, and it was felt by the merchants would solve the problem permanently. Strong opposition was expressed to parking meters.

Senator Feels No Regret for Election Loss

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Sen. William C. Culliff left the capital today saying he has no regrets over his only election defeat in years of public life.

"In this same two things can happen to you," the retiring senator said in an interview. "You either win or lose. This time I lost for the first time. It's not the American system. It keeps both parties on their toes."

New Faces Said Good

"It's a good thing to have new faces in government if we get out a representative view of the people to do it."

Looking ahead to 1960 when the Presidency will be at stake, Culliff said, "There is no reason for a party to throw in the sponge just because you take a defeat," as the GOP did in last month's congressional elections.

"I don't believe we have to take a defeatist attitude for 1960," he continued.

"It's a real challenge to Republican party leaders and members everywhere."

Appears Relaxed

Appearing relaxed despite his strenuous and unrelenting campaign for governor of California, Knowland came back to Washington on a flight yesterday by way of the Panama Canal to New York City.

"I took 15 days and was just what I needed," he said with a grin. "No body can reach you on a flight. I had a little rest, but not real rest, think and get some sunshine."

Has No Regrets

"I know I have no regrets over my decision to retire from the senate and campaign for governor of California," Culliff said. "I proved myself to the voters."

Knowland attributed some of the Democratic gains to the efforts of organized labor. He said that some of the Democratic name-union leaders control the Democratic party rather than being part of it.

List of Books Reported for Library Here

An outstanding new selection of non-fiction books is ready for circulation, says Arthur L. DeVoide, city librarian.

Of particular interest to this region is "Land of Giants," David Lavender's latest. It is a guide to the Pacific Northwest from 1850-1950. Two other timely offerings are "Foreign Policy: The Next Phase," Thomas H. Finletter, former special assistant to Cordell Hull, and "The Memories of Albert Montgomery," an autobiography.

Two religious offerings are "Life of Christ," by Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, and "The New Testament," a treasury of the great prayers of all time and all faiths.

For the gourmet there is the new "Cook Book" offered by the House and Garden magazine.

Three general titles are "Living With Stress," by Nancy E. Gross; "This is Astronomy," by Lloyd Motz; and "The World of Science," by Thomas Costain, one hundred years of English history.

Two adult non-fiction offerings are "And A Bright Good Evening," Emily Klinebaugh tells the story of England and Wales, and "And Promenade Home," autobiography of Agnes DeMille.

General books of fiction are "Rope the Wind," Norman A. Fox's tale about Madison Valley; "The Next Morning," "Sinner Saint," Leo Chatteria's crime club selection; "The Land Behind Old Back," Den Doolittle tells about himself; "Underside City," Pohn and Williamson, a science fiction story; and "The Dharma Burns," by Jack Kerouac, a member of the "beatnik" tribe.

Several titles recommended for teenagers are "The Warren Span Story" and "The Boy Campagna Story," by Milton J. Shapiro; "Omibus of Speed" an introduction to the world of motor sport by Beaumont Nolan; and "The Religions of Man," by Fulton Smith, who interprets how the great religious traditions answer the spiritual aspirations of the peoples of the world.

Poisonous

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (UPI)—Public health officers throughout the nation were on alert today for children's bedroom slippers decorated with Haitianoodoo dolls containing a poison that can kill babies.

The Haitian embassy had already promised to ask its government to ban further imports of the dolls, which were also used to decorate beverage party favors.

But the communists have spared no effort to persuade West Berliners that their life will be better if the Western allies get out.

The East German press is depicting the allied soldiers, especially the Americans, as drunken bums enjoying high living—at the expense of the West Berliners.

New Machinery Is Tracking Rocket

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Dec. 6 (AP)—Tracking the nation's first space probing rocket was accomplished by a new down-range facility located at Mayaguez, Puerto Rico.

The facility, capable of tracking space vehicles more than 10,000 miles, was used today to follow the initial trajectory of Juno II as it successfully sought to gain the far reaches of space.

Collins Radio company, Cedar Rapids, designed and constructed the Mayaguez installation for the California Institute of Technology's propulsion laboratory.

The tracking station followed Juno until it flew over the station at Puerto Rico. This was accomplished by the use of a low-powered transmitter in the missile, which emitted telemetry signals picked up by highly sensitive receivers.

World to Watch West Berlin City Elections Held in Crisis

BERLIN, Dec. 6 (AP)—West Berliners hold a city election tomorrow, watched intently by the world. For the real issue is the Soviet plan to convert West Berlin into an unarmored, "free city."

Communist East Germans and West Germans, too, call the voting for municipal offices a public test of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's scheme to get U. S., British, and French troops out of the old German capital.

Mayor Willy Brandt has called on the voters to send a thundering "no" to the Kremlin, by defeating every communist candidate for office. He calls the Soviet plan a device to suck West Berlin into the communist orbit.

Khrushchev himself has said his plan has no chance "unless the people want it."

Ranged against former Mayor Brandt, 44, and other pro-Western candidates are the communists, led by the East German Communist Party, and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer were warring up their election campaign.

Brandt's Socialists traditionally win elections in West Berlin. But because of the communist threat, they have joined hands with Adenauer's Christian Democrats in the East and ruled the city with a coalition government.

The current campaign has been so hot that friendly relations between the local branches of the two parties have been strained.

Brandt was conspicuously absent today when Adenauer boarded a U.S. air force plane at Tempelhof airport for the trip back to West Germany.

Local political issues have been completely overshadowed by the communist threat to the city.

Both Brandt and Adenauer have been depicted in the communist press as U. S. stooges. Fake photos show them wearing U. S. army helmets.

51 New Claims for Aid Are Reported

Fifty-one new claims for unemployment compensation were filed for the week ending Friday, reports Ronald Cutler, manager of the employment security office. New claims filed the previous week totaled 53.

Thirty new job openings were listed the past week, as compared with 58 the previous week, Cutler reports.

The total number of persons filing claims for unemployment compensation for the year has reached 571. Because of good weather conditions, much of the fall work was completed earlier than usual, accounting for some of the present increase in unemployment for the area, he said.

Harvard's defense was so disappointing in the third game of the 1960 football season that coach Bill Reid ordered the varsity to play the freshmen immediately after the same end. The Crimson went through the rest of the season undefeated.

Sneaky!

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6 (AP)—Marshall Wyatt Earg entertained about 400 children today with his lightning fast draw.

The show was so good that employees of the Plantation Inn left their posts momentarily to watch the television star.

As the crash of 45-caliber blank cartridges filled the air, someone punched the 20 sale sign on the inn's cash register and stole $150.

After the show, Earg—known off camera as Hugh O'Brien—disclosed that his gold from Hollywood, his gold marshall's star was stolen.

Negro Boy, 14, Loses Life in Saving Girl, 2

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—A 14-year-old Negro boy was crushed to death tonight as he tossed a 2-year-old girl to safety from a defective elevator.

The boy, Stanley Guinn, lived on the seventh floor of a crowded apartment building at 380 Riverside drive. When he got on the elevator at that floor, Mrs. Ollie Abram and her daughter, Lydia, 2, and two male tenants were aboard.

The descending car paused at the sixth floor, possibly summoned by someone, and the door slid back. Then, with the door still open, the elevator began to sink down.

Apparently thinking the car was going to crash down six flights to the bottom of the shaft, young Guinn snatched the child, leaped part way out of the elevator, and shoved her out onto the sixth floor. He was caught by the roof of the still-descending car and crushed. The elevator, jammed by his body, slowed and came to a stop just above the floor below.

The child was unharmed and the other passengers in the elevator were helped out unharmed.

Police said the boy's body may have saved the others in the elevator from the six-floor drop.

Theme Listed For Parley by Talking Club

"It Might Have Been" was the theme of the Twin Falls Community Club meeting Friday morning at the Rogerson hotel dining room.

A lighted kitchen match was the timer for table talk. Members talked up as long as they could hold the match without burning their fingers. Subjects were current events, great personalities, parking problems and free and paid television.

Mrs. Gordon Tobin, parliamentarian, gave a lecture on election technique. Mrs. Hugh Call, membership chairman, reported the number of new members for this term and will conduct anyone interested in Toastmasters clubs. Other final reports were given by Mrs. Ellen Wilson, education chairman, and Mrs. Hugh Boone, textologist.

Two blue pencils were given instead of the traditional one, as Mrs. Hugh Call spoke on "It might be you," and Mrs. Gordon Tobin spoke on "A matter of decision." Held for first place, Mrs. Theodore Sturgill spoke on "It might have been a dream" and Mrs. Robert Watson gave her jobbreaker speech.

Toastmistress was Mrs. H. H. Burkhardt and she introduced the chief evaluator, Mrs. James Mills. Assisting were the general evaluator, Mrs. Ella Williams, Mrs. LeVenne Wilson, Mrs. Hugh Boone, Mrs. H. H. Burkhardt and the timer, Mrs. Peter Lanting.

Rockefeller Talks With Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—John A. Rockefeller conferred with President Eisenhower in the White House residential quarters late today for the first time since the election to the New York Governor.

The meeting was assumed to have dealt largely with the future of the government operations committee which Rockefeller has headed since his nonaligned basis since his creation of the Eisenhower administration.

At least that was the announced purpose of the meeting. The two other committee members, Secretary Milton S. Eisenhower, Johns Hopkins university president and the President's brother, were present.

The election slide was read by Mrs. Hugh Call.

The Christmas meeting will be held Dec. 19 and will be completely impromptu. Guests are welcome.

Ike Arranges GOP Session To Get Views

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower is arranging a 1968-1969 congressional session in an attempt to get views on the legislative program.

The president's managers of both houses are expected to set an agenda at this session to make any suggestions they may have for program changes before Eisenhower wraps up his state of the union, budget and economic messages in final form.

Meets to differ

Major conferences will differ in this respect from a scheduled Jan. 5 meeting at which Eisenhower will meet with both parties on the budget and decisions made on the defense and foreign aid program.

With the Republican representation in the senate and house sharply reduced by widespread hopes for defeat, Eisenhower obviously hopes for more solid GOP backing for his programs than he has had at times in past congresses.

The White House conference apparently will give Nixon an opportunity to voice any ideas he may have about the program. His expected bid for the 1969 GOP presidential nomination will be affected significantly by the administration's record during the next two years.

Eisenhower and Nixon apparently are agreed on what they regard as the necessity for holding down overall federal spending to combat inflation. At the same time both want to keep federal aid assistance at a high level.

Some Ideas Tossed

During the political campaign period, however, Nixon tossed out some ideas indicating he would like to see the administration move into fields where Eisenhower is not expected to venture.

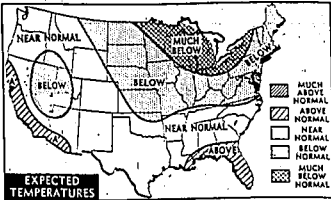

Among other things, Nixon said he expected 15-billion-dollar deficit in the current fiscal year ought not to rule out some drastic tax revisions aimed at stimulating business and a general substitution of a general manufacturers' sales tax for the present series of selective excise taxes.

Condemning "stand pat thinking," the vice president called for expansion of research and development work, and a new covered, under the unemployment compensation act.

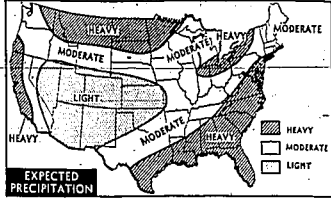

The aid expanded research could produce "explosive progress" in the fields of science, industry and medicine.

Winter's Here

Weather maps show the U. S. weather bureau's 30-day forecast for December. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an estimate of average temperatures and precipitation for the period.

The temperature outlook for December calls for below seasonal normals over the northern half of the nation from the continental divide eastward to the Atlantic seaboard. Above normal temperatures are indicated for the California coast and Florida. In other areas near normal temperatures for the season are in prospect.

Precipitation in December is expected to exceed normal along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts, over the northern plains and along the West coast. Much of this precipitation will be in the form of snow over the northern half of the nation. Subnormal amounts are expected in the Rocky Mountain states and Central Plains. Otherwise, near normal precipitation is indicated.

'59 Livestock Show's Prices Below Record

CHICAGO, Dec. 6 (UPI)—Prize-winning exhibitors at the 1958 International Livestock exposition packed up for the homeward trip today—richer, but not much richer, from yesterday's slow-moving sales.

Auctioneers knocked down the championship barrows, wethers and steers for prices generally below the record sales of recent years.

College Takes Prize

Iowa State collected the top prize, $150 a pound or $44,250, for its 95-pound southdown grand champion wether of the sheep show.

Armour and company, which bought the champ "Haywey," for the Quaker City meat company, Philadelphia, paid considerably less than the $6 record set in 1954.

Clay Anderson, 16, of Joliet, Ill., the only two-time winning exhibitor of grand champion barrow, a Poland China named "Porkmaster," for $213 a pound or $65,000.

The price was $10,500 below the record $10,233 a pound paid for the grand champion Hampshire barrow in 1955.

Chicago Firm Buys Hog

"Porkmaster" was purchased by the Reliable Packing company, Chicago.

Armour and company also paid 50 cents a pound for the reserve grand champion barrow, a Poland China named "Bull A," by William Nash and Sons, Sharpville, Ind., and bought Purdue University's grand champion pen of three Berkshire barrows, weighing 670 pounds, for $3,500 a pound.

The grand champion truckload of 10 Berkshires, entered by Milo Wolrab, Mt. Vernon, Ia., sold for $11,500 a hundredweight.

City Club Is Top

The Valentine club, Chicago, topped their country cousins by selling their grand champion steer of their special class for $1,011 a pound, or about $1,010.

The champion shorthorn steer of last Saturday's junior show for farm youths, shown by Tom Woods, Frankfort, Ind., brought 40 cents a pound.

Jack Anderson, Marion, N.D., won the annual national sheep contest yesterday, edging out Paul Taylor, Marysville, O. Harold Harper, Ligonia, Ind., won the national pig-sheep-shearing contest for youths.

More Victims Of Chicago's Blaze Buried

CHICAGO, Dec. 6 (UPI)—Chicago—A city which has had more than 100 days of grief this week—performed another mournful duty today.

Fourteen victims from last Monday's tragic fire at the Chicago's Angela parochial grade school were buried today at Resurrection cemetery in a dense Roman Catholic burial.

Total 311

Eighty-eight children and three nuns, the majority of the Blessed Virgin Mary religious order were victims of Chicago's worst blaze in 50 years.

Today's burden of grief was heaviest of all for the Burns family, parochial families. Both lost two children in Monday's holocaust.

The victims were Kenneth Thompson, 14, and his brother, Richard, 10, and William Sarno, 13, and his sister, Jo Anne, 14.

Buried Side by Side

The Barnes were buried side by side in their windowless, Catholic cemetery after mass in Our Lady Help of Christians church.

The Thompsons were buried in St. Adalbert's cemetery as the temperature hovered around the 10-degree mark. They were buried after mass in St. Helen's church.

Funeral rites for the 10 other children were held in various Catholic churches and cemeteries.

325,000 Pray

With the children, went the prayers of 325,000 pupils in parochial schools in the archdiocese, who have been attending special masses for several days to pray for the young victims and the nuns.

The 8th child to die was Victor Jacobellis, 9, who succumbed last night in "Anna's" hospital.

The chestnut-haired, brown-eyed youngster never regained consciousness after firemen carried him from the blazing building. He had suffered fractures and deep burns.

Idahoan Gets Beet Group's Leading Post

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 6 (UPI)—William M. Carson, Welder, has been elected chairman of the National Beet Growers' federation.

Carson, president of the Nye-Nampa Beet Growers association, was elected at the federation's 10th annual meeting here. He succeeded Melvin Bennett, Oering, Neb. W. J. Sanford, Pueblo, Colo., was elected vice chairman.

Idaho beet growers threw their full support behind the American beet sugar industry's move to win unchanged extension of the federal sugar act in the next congress.

Jack Claiborn, Kimberly, president of the Idaho Beet Growers association, said his directors gave unanimous support to the resolution passed here yesterday at the federation's annual meet.

"Our board of directors believes that it is absolutely essential the sugar act be extended by congressional action as early as possible next year," said Claiborn. "We also strongly endorse the principle that the act should not be jeopardized by attempt of self-interest groups to amend it for their individual benefit."

Officials of the Idaho association who attended the meeting in addition to Claiborn, included directors Kent Ward, Idaho Falls; Arvil Miller, Shelley; S. Albert Johnson, Pocatello; Roger Dean and Jake Keris, Rupert; Ted Scott, Twin Falls, and S. L. Pickett, Murtagh.

Sun Is Gone

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (UPI)—The sun force is long since resigned to its fate. Now comes Palm Springs, Calif., with a new complaint—that jet trails overhead are so thick they are beginning to blot out the sun.

Jimmy Cooper, manager of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, outlined this "most serious and urgent problem" in a telegram to Rep. D. B. (Dudley) Bland, D. Calif. Bland has asked the air force what can be done.

"As you know," Cooper pointed out, "our entire economy is dependent upon the tourist trade, which is predicated on our beautiful sunshine and warm climate. Recently our sky has resembled a mob of embittered riders performing an aerial circus."

A recent government survey determined that jet trails have become more popular than peanuts at ball parks and other amusement areas.

Man Reaches 150 Graduate Speaks To Student Meet

LONDON, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Soviet Union's oldest citizen celebrated his 150th birthday today.

A Moscow radio broadcast did not name the old man, describing him only as an Azerbaijan collective farmer.

It said his 107-year-old wife and 200 members of his family were on hand for the celebration.

Betty Davis, a graduate of Twin Falls high school, spoke on how Future Teachers of America organization inspired her to become a teacher, to the Future Teacher girls Thursday at the home of Bonnie France.

A girls' quartet was composed of Kathy Hardisty, Marcia Meenan, Miss Daniel and Jessie Kinchloe.

The chapter's current project is tutoring failing students, Christmas projects and caring at Magic Valley Memorial hospital and the old folks home, providing a needy family with clothes and food, and a candy sale to be held Dec. 18 and 17.

New officers of the National Sugar Beet Growers federation, elected Friday afternoon in Denver, boast of the near-record sugar production from this year's crop—more than four billion pounds of beet sugar. William M. Carson, left, Welder, Ida., new chairman, pointed out this is nearly 35 per cent of total U. S. sugar needs for a full year. At right is W. J. North Dakota Man Is Given Life Sentence

Storberg, whose cross-examination of crime attorney and evidence court here, pleaded guilty to a second-degree murder charge in third degree murder case. Judge Martin Carter, justice of the peace, recently justified maximum sentence.

The murder charge arose from the rock-slaying of John William McHilton near Ely, Nev., in October, 1942, a Pitkin Indian from the McHilton near Ely, Nev., in October, 1942, about 35 miles northeast of Alameda, Idaho.

Under Idaho law, Storberg will be eligible for parole after serving 10 years.

Rupert States Opposition to 2 Senate Bills

RUPERT, Dec. 6—The Rupert Chamber of Commerce this week expressed opposition to the Wilderness bill and to the one proposing a Columbia river development corporation.

Copies of the resolutions will be mailed to members of Idaho's congressional delegation.

The resolution opposed the Columbia basin proposal on the grounds that it "would not adequately protect Idaho's water rights" and that it is virtually the same as the presently proposed Columbia basin authority bill. The resolution stated that both place too much power in the hands of a few men who are more interested in power for Washington and Oregon than in irrigation in Idaho.

The wilderness bill, which would place Idaho's wilderness area under supervision of a federal agency, would place even more stringent curbs on the use of the wilderness area by stockmen, lumbermen and sportsmen.

The local group opposed it on grounds that the state and the forest service have adequate controls and that the proposal would greatly

Pacifists Are Routed From U.S. Airbase

SWAFFHAM, England, Dec. 6 (AP)—A band of pacifists arranged into a secret missile base today but were driven out by British police in a battle around a concrete mixer.

Women were seized by the hair and shoved into a ditch, the men were pushed from the site by squads of civil and Royal Air Force police.

Start Was Non-Violent

The incident started as a so-called non-violent demonstration at the base at nearby North Pickenham. The RAF is setting up a base there to install American missiles.

The demonstration was organized by a body known as the Direct Action Committee Against Nuclear War. It came a few hours after the communist Daily Worker carried a story pinpointing a number of missile bases being built along the east coast of England.

Rode in Buses

The demonstrators rode up from London in buses and marched off to the North Pickenham base.

An advance guard of about 50 men and women loosed planks over a barbed wire barricade and tramped across.

They made for a cement mixer 300 yards inside the wire with the intention of staging a pacifist demonstration to hold up construction work.

Trouble began when they squatted down in front of a truck moving away from the cement mixer. The drivers inched forward until the wheels were touching some of the demonstrators.

Then a group of laborers rushed up and pitched into the demonstrators.

They seized the intruders, men and women, and tossed them into the nearby ditch with mud and cement. As the battle stepped up, RAF police dashed across to help. When the demonstrators appeared to be gaining the upper hand a bunch of civilian police moved in to join the battle.

One by one the demonstrators were ejected over the wire fence.

Second Blizzard Hits Quebec City

QUEBEC CITY, Quebec, Dec. 6 (AP)—A second blizzard hit Quebec City today struck this city crippling transportation and causing repeated power failures.

Quebec Power company officials said that heavy overnight snow had started causing power failure about 4 a.m. and two hours later almost the entire city was without power.

Power was partially restored by noon, but the new snow plagued repair crews and touched off new line breaks.

Weather officials reported the storm had left 10 to 12 inches of snow and drifts up to 25 inches in places. They had predicted the snow would stop shortly before noon but the storm hit again an hour later and was expected to continue until late tonight.

Brown urged other youngsters in one of these three grades to turn out next week if they would like to learn the game, as several additional teams can be handled in each group.

"The boys must use the west entrance to the gymnasium and leave their bicycles in the playground across the street, or facilities of the school will not be available," Brown said.

Speaker Notes Farm Changes In Production

BURLEY, Dec. 6—A century ago 10 per cent of farms and it took 100 days to produce enough food to feed and clothe the nation's population. J. Grant Bickel, executive vice president of the Idaho Bank and Trust Co., said at the annual dinner here Thursday night.

By contrast, the present 10 per cent of the nation's population produces enough to feed 100 million and 30 other people.

In 1940 a farmer provided for himself and only five or six others, though improved farm machinery had been introduced.

The change has been made through improved farm machinery and the use of fertilizers, insecticides, and herbicides, however to two or three acres of land, the farmer produces enough to feed 100 million and 30 other people.

Officials at Investment Bankers Meet Give Some Advice to Average Citizen

REAL HARBOUR, Fla., Dec. 6—Two investment tycoons emerged from the ocean during their convention here this week and one said: "Boy, that water's great."

"Almost as good as the Washington fund," was the cherry reply.

The 47th annual convention of the Investment Bankers Association of America produced, of course, many speeches and committee reports. A lot of work was done. Deals were made and unmade.

Golf was played too. And beneath a towering palms and at the gray poolside cabanas there were occasional moments of relaxation.

The IBA showed a new color movie called "The Rich Man in Baby's" whose message was: "In part of all you earn you're yours to keep"—or save at least 10 per cent of your income and invest it wisely; that is the secret of achieving wealth.

This was the official advice of the IBA to the average American in these days of rising prices, a bull market in stocks, a depressed bond market and high taxes.

But what did these well-heeled investment men have to say unofficially? "Don't quote me directly, but..." to the middle-class American with a few thousand bucks to salt away? Here is what some of the 1,200 delegates said when they were buttoned at the luxurious Americana and Balmora hotels:

"Save 10 per cent of your income," exclaimed one criticized veteran. "Why, just keeping up a decent standard of living, no matter what your income bracket, takes about every cent you make."

"The amount of taxes is overwhelming. Something's got to give in this tax situation."

"People aren't going much for the income-type investments—they're looking for a capital gain. It's getting so that even Tom, Dick and Harry is in the stock market. They sell good stocks like American Telephone and Electric Co. and hope it will double in value."

"Oh, I suppose mutual funds are good for the average widow—or put something in a good safe company stock."

A partner in a steaks brokerage house on the Eastern seaboard is talking:

"Frankly, I'm trying to avoid selling my customers to buy anything. I'm not overtly bullish."

"I'm not convinced the stock market is going to be the hedge against inflation in the next 10 years that it's been in the past 10 or 15."

"I think the average man would be better off buying a house or a small business than any security."

The aggressive, youthful boss of Midwest investment firm spoke positively.

"Anybody with just a few thousand bucks should just sit on it in cash—he can't afford to lose any of it."

"If you have $50,000 to share after providing usual protection like insurance for your family—then put two thirds in stock and one third in bonds."

The solid partner in a conservative bond house is talking:

"I don't see much check to the inflationary trend. And there is no real security against inflation. But the average investor will make out better with stocks than with bonds."

"I'm a bond man myself and hate to say that. But I'm not buying any bonds myself right now unless they're of short-term maturity."

Idaho Solons Attack Plan for Columbia River 'Corporation'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (Special)—Idaho congressional representatives this week attacked proposals for creation of a Columbia river development corporation and charged that hearings on the plan were being withheld—unfairly—to attract Idaho opposition.

A spokesman for Sen. Henry C. Dworshak, R., Ida., said backers of the bill had made it as hard as possible for people from southern Idaho to appear in opposition by scheduling hearings in Oquirrh, Ala. Dec. 10 and Kattagell, Mont., Dec. 11.

"They're presenting a shifting target," Dworshak's office charged, "by bringing a new version to the hearings."

The measure, introduced in the 85th congress, is scheduled to be presented to the new congress early in 1959. It would create an authority similar to the Tennessee valley authority with wide powers over the Columbia river and its tributaries, as a first step in settling up federal authority over the entire U. S. Electric power would be the corporation's chief concern. Opponents have charged that reclamation and irrigation would be subordinated in its favor of power for Washington and Oregon.

The revised bill, which has been drawn up since hearings were announced as described here as "only a sideshow," designed to continue the opposition.

Proponents of the bill describe it as necessary to properly and efficiently coordinate development of the Columbia river system.

Road Violations Total Is $12,406

BOISE, Dec. 6 (UPI)—Law violations detected at Idaho ports of entry during November resulted in 9,621 arrests and fines amounting to $12,406.

State Police Sgt. A. E. Perkins said today total money intake from ports of entry during the month was $43,000. This included money received for 96 hour permits, truck licenses, trailer licenses, caravan permits and registration increases along with fines.

A breakdown of arrests showed 233 for overloads, 40 for no registration, 11 for faulty equipment, 88 for no driver's licenses, five for driver intoxication, 81 miscellaneous and 51 other causes.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI. But it is a serious mistake to delude yourself that a good, well-planned program of instruction in the home is sufficient. Many of the things that are essential to the sound character of the child are not things that teachers and parents can teach. It is the responsibility of the parent to provide the child with a sound moral and religious background. This is the only way to ensure that the child will be a well-adjusted and successful member of society. The parent should be the primary teacher of the child, and should use every opportunity to instill in the child the values and principles that are essential to a good life. Widespread Facilities of Packing Plant Owned by Man Who Started With Firm as Laborer

Otto Florence, Sr., worked his way up from an all-around worker in a small, five-employee meat packing plant to the owner of the Independent Meat company, a modern plant that employs 50 men and women and has a two million dollar gross yearly take. Florence stands near the packing plant on the edge of Back Creek canyon southeast of Twin Falls. The stockyard in the background can accommodate a maximum of 900 head of cattle. Florence says the plant processes about 8,000 head of cattle and 12,000 hogs yearly. Florence, born the son of a coal miner in Westphalia, Germany, in 1885, came to this country when he was 4 years old. He had to quit school when he was 10 years old, and he has worked in the meat packing business since then, except for a short interruption when he farmed. He came in 1910. (Staff photo-engraving)

Owner of Local Packing Plant Started As General Laborer, Built Large Firm

According to Florence, one of the major problems faced by young businessmen undertaking a new business today is the high cost of starting a business, especially in a physical plant. Florence says there is a lack of risk capital in Magic Valley which a man can start a business; too many people are hesitant to back new businesses. But Florence adds a young man can still start with nothing and create a good business if he is willing to work. He stressed that a man can't work the regular eight-hour day and expect to accomplish business miracles. "He's going to have to work harder and longer, if he ever expects to get ahead," Florence says. "You can't

A miner's job was an unsteady proposition then, sometimes his father worked only two or three days a week for $2.50 a day. When Florence was 10, he quit school to take a job on a meat delivery wagon. He delivered meat to the coal mines in Frontier, Wyo. He worked in meat packing plants until 1913, when he homesteaded in Brogan, Ore. For three years he worked on the homestead in the summer months and in meat packing plants during the winter. In 1918 he joined the army and in 1919 he came to Twin Falls and worked for the old Independent Meat company as a general laborer. Florence left the company in 1920, but in 1925 he was called back by the owners and made foreman of the plant. "There were five employees then, including me," Florence says. "We worked 10 to 14 hours a day in the plant then. I was also buying livestock for the company." During this period Florence and his wife were saving what money they could and in 1929 they purchased some stock in the company. Florence, who believed in the future of the company, worked hard and in 1945 he purchased the remaining stock from his partner, Carl Jungst.

Now Florence is in business with his four sons, Otto, Jr., Ted, Frank and Joseph. The business grosses over two million dollars a year. The physical plant has had three additions in the past 12 years. The plant has its own stockyards, with stockyard facilities for a maximum of 900 head of cattle. Florence is an avid fisherman and hunter. This fall he bagged his elk and deer. According to Otto, Jr., in the field he can keep up with

Hard Work Credited for Owning Firm

Otto Florence, Sr., impresses some of the products of the Independent Meat company. Florence started working for the original company in 1910 as a general worker. In 1946 he became owner of the business. Florence believes a young man can still start at the bottom and eventually own a business. But he says it can't be done by working the average eight-hour day. They Handle Variety of Services in Public Assistance

M. W. Moore, Twin Falls county director of the Idaho department of public assistance, talks with two of the department's stenographers, old age assistance, and vocational and instructional services to the Shannon Swan, standing, and Erna Tyler. The department offers blind (staff photo-engraving)

Public Assistance Office Is Among Most Active, Least Understood of Agencies

Probably one of the least understood, but most active offices in Twin Falls is part of the Idaho department of public assistance. Within Twin Falls county alone, this office allocates thousands of dollars each month for a variety of purposes, ranging from old age assistance to vocational rehabilitation of the blind.

According to Robert Fiedler, district supervisor of the Idaho department of public assistance, and M. W. Moore, county supervisor, the department's services fall into two general categories, financial and social.

The financial program includes old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind and aid to the permanently and totally disabled.

Explaining the old age assistance, Moore says, "This includes that group of people, past 65, who don't have sufficient financial income or other sources — to meet their needs."

In the month of October, the most recent figures available, there were 919 persons in Twin Falls county on the old age assistance program, drawing a total of $40,071.

"One thing that people who use our services have in common," Moore said, "is that they must all be in financial need." The only exception is the instructional service offered to the blind. In all other cases, clients must be in financial need.

Although the department can't help clients until they are in financial need, Moore stressed that too often persons wait too long before they seek the aid of the department.

Speaking of old age assistance, Moore notes an individual budget is worked out with each client based on individual needs. Allowances such as food or clothing are made, but allowances for housing and utilities are variable.

Most of the people who seek the department's aid for old age assistance do so for two primary reasons, sickness and depleted savings. Moore points out that older people are more prone to hospitalization than younger persons. The increased life-span has caused many people to accumulate funds they would need in their old age, and many people come to the department for aid only after they have reached their 70's or 80's and their savings have been used.

Moore added that inflationary prices also have made it difficult for people on fixed retirement incomes to pay their bills.

Noting the difference between the department's old age assistance program and social security, Moore explains, "This program is not based on contributions that the individual has made directly to an old age insurance program."

He explains funds are appropriated by the state legislature and then matched by federal funds. In October, 145 families with a total of 399 children received $22,272 in financial aid to dependent children.

Moore explains three conditions must be met before the department can allocate money to that family. There must be minor children involved, the family wage-earner must be incapacitated or absent, and there must be a definite financial need.

By the department's definition, a minor child is any youngster up to 16 years. If the child remains in school, he qualifies as a minor until he is 18 years old. In most cases the absence of the wage earner means a broken family.

Moore explains the financial aid allocated to a family is "shaped to fit the requirements of the individual family."

He adds that the check is a non-past-due check and that the department doesn't outline the use of the funds. However, the client can receive help in planning a budget if she desires.

Commenting on the budget aid offered by the department, Moore said, "A person has to want a service before he can benefit from it."

In terms of dollars, aid to the blind is one of the department's smallest services. In October, 1936, persons in Twin Falls county were allocated $224 in living expenses. Moore notes the department's definition of blindness is "a person who has less than 20/70 vision in the best eye with glasses on."

He adds that most of the blind persons aided by the department are older people who have been blinded by accidents or diseases accompanying old age.

The last category in the department's financial program is aid to the permanently and totally disabled. Persons applying for aid in this category represent, at present, 44,830 in financial aid.

According to Moore, the reason for a person's disablement varies with each case, but he adds that heart trouble and crippling diseases, such as arthritis, are the major causes.

In addition to its financial program, the department also has extensive social service responsibilities. These responsibilities fall into four major areas, vocational rehabilitation of the blind, instructional services for the blind, medical eye care, and child welfare service.

The department's vocational rehabilitation of the blind program is undertaken with the aid of a specialist from the state office at Boise who visits the Twin Falls office every six weeks and works with the blind. When the counselor is here, he works out a program for the blinded person. Moore notes, "His main object is to try and train the blinded person for a certain job."

Moore explained the counselor takes persons who can no longer perform their former job and places

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT J. H. Silbaugh Tops Busy Jerome Area Life by Winning Probate Judge Post

JEROME, Dec. 6.—Preparing to fill the office of probate judge being vacated by Theodore J. Silbaugh, who won the primary election from a field of seven candidates, he retired from farming a few days ago and moved into Jerome. He decided he just couldn't give up all his activities, the became secretary to the Chamber of Commerce. A job he has filled for two years.

Silbaugh and his wife were early settlers arriving in 1910 on the Idaho Southern via Gooding from Pittsburgh, Pa. At that time he engaged in farming with his brother in the Appleton area.

Some of the activities that have kept him busy are being president of the North Side Canal company, president of the Central Idaho Lumber company, and member of the Committee of Nine, an organization formed by R. W. Sheppard in the early days of the war. He was also president of the Snake river valley.

He is a director of the State Reclamation association, charter member of the Appleton Grange formed in 1913, board member of Appleton school for 17 years, member of the Methodist church and has operated a labor camp for the sugar company.

Silbaugh was born in Uniontown, Pa., and as a boy his family moved to Bruceton Mill, W. Va., where they farmed. At the age of 18 he went to Pacific Beach, where he worked in a grocery store for 10 years. It was here that he met a French girl, Suzanne, who he married in 1908. After reading a booklet his brother sent him that described the purchase of a plot of land, he knew that with all the country had to offer he could return when he was 20.

The one-way fare listed in the pamphlet was $25.00, so with his wife and two small children he came West. They arrived without farm equipment or horses. They had only $25, not even enough for a ticket back East.

They were met by his brother who arranged to have the child and equipment on line and farm land belonging to Earl Walker.

The boys worked hard and managed to clear a sugar bush, proving up for others. In four years they were able to move and get $1500 of the country and become residents of the community known as Appleton.

The little community needed a name. A gathering was held one night and Theodore Tweed suggested the name Appleton. Most of the farmers were interested in fruit orchards. However, the orchards that were planted weren't successful because of the climate.

At that time Gooding and Jerome counties didn't exist. The area was in Lincoln county. Gooding was formed in 1913 and Jerome in 1917. The one-room Appleton school house was situated on a one-acre plot. Later, four rooms were added and in 1920 at a cost of $25,000, a five-room brick building and auditorium were completed.

People created their own amusement then. It was during a Appleton neighbors place that an incident occurred that Silbaugh will never forget.

It was a cold night and the Silbaughs and three children were in their horse and buggy going to visit a neighbor. It was necessary to cross a rather steep but empty ditch. Mrs. Silbaugh sat on the front seat holding their 2-month-old baby. Their two other children were in the back. Suddenly, Mrs. Silbaugh and the baby were thrown over the footboard and under the wheels of the wagon, the children screamed and the horse became excited.

Silbaugh felt the front and back wheels pass over her, when they got

Injured Boy Has Received Hundreds of Get Well Cards

Gary Randall and his mother, Mrs. Clarence Randall, Murtaugh, thumb through a scrapbook containing hundreds of "get well" cards he has received since he was hospitalized in September. Gary was injured when he contacted an electrical high tension line. He received a 7,200-volt charge when a hay derrick on which he was playing came in contact with the power line. Since then, Gary has had severe operations including amputation of seven toes. He hopes to be home by Christmas. (Staff photo- engraving)

Murtaugh Boy Recovering From Power Burns After Weeks Spent in Hospital

Last Sept. 16, Gary Randall, 15, Murtaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Randall, was injured when he came in contact with a high tension power line and was severely burned by 7,200 volts. The fact that Gary is alive seems a miracle enough, but even more impressive is the manner in which he has adjusted to the accident and the intervening months of hospitalization. During the time he has been in the hospital he has had five operations and numerous skin grafts. He was burned severely on his feet, legs and right hand. The electrical burns were so severe that it was necessary to amputate seven of his toes. At the time of the accident, Gary and a companion, "Mickey" Morgan, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Morgan, were playing on a farm on the edge of Murtaugh. They began playing on a wooden hay derrick, swinging on it. The boom tipped up and touched the power line that passed overhead. Gary was holding the metal end of the boom and when the boom touched the power line the current passed through Gary to ground. When the Morgan boy realized what had happened, he let go of the boom, and it swung upward again, breaking the contact with the power line. But Gary was already severely burned.

Mrs. Randall says the ground where Gary had been standing was scorched as if a fire had burned the grass away. "Mickey," dubbed by the accident, didn't know what to do for a few minutes. Then he ran into Murtaugh, a distance of about two city blocks, to get aid. He got John Savage, Jr., Wallace Savage and Charles Mahberg, Charles Sees and Luther Baker. Some of the men were working at a nearby potato warehouse. Meanwhile, Gary had regained consciousness and was trying to start. "When I came to I was on the ground trying to get up," Gary says. He added that he felt no particular pain at the time. He says the only effect he noted was that he was extremely dizzy and that he couldn't regain his feet. "The next thing I remember was all the people standing around me," he says. "By then, Gary's mother had arrived. She says Gary, not thinking of himself, first said, 'Mom, please don't cry. I'll be up in a little while.' The next thing he remembers is a 120 miles per hour ride from Murtaugh to Magic Valley Memorial hospital with Deputy Sheriff Paul Ross and his father. Since then Gary has had his operations, had hundreds of visitors, and adjusted remarkably well for a 10-year-old active boy who was always interested in baseball.

His interest in baseball led to receiving a personal letter from the public relations director of the Los Angeles Dodgers, A. E. Patterson. Patterson, head of Gary's accident who lives in Los Angeles. She told him of Gary's love of baseball. Patterson's letter said in part, "We, of the Dodgers, were sorry to learn of your unfortunate accident and we all are rooting for you to come out of this terrible thing okay. Keep this in mind, Gary. Several noted ball-players have been able to make good even after suffering injuries similar to yours. Perhaps you are not old enough to remember Red Ruffing, of the Boston Red Sox and the Yankees, but he was one of the all-time great pitchers and one of the best hitting pitchers I ever knew. He suffered an accident as a boy and they had to operate on him, just as they did you. So, Gary, keep your courage up and before you know it you'll be up and around and playing baseball with the boys again." Gary would have been a freshman at Murtaugh high school this fall. Because of his accident, he will be forced to miss this school year and enter his freshman year in 1969. But this hasn't discouraged him. He currently passes his time by reading, watching television, listening to the radio, and traveling mile-upon-mile in his wheelchair.

At one time Gary and another patient who was confined to a light metal wheeled cart had an unique contact with the power line. Since then, Gary has had severe operations including amputation of seven toes. He hopes to be home by Christmas. (Staff photo- engraving)

Process Noted in Sale of GI Homes

The sale of GI homes acquired by the veterans administration are handled in the same way as houses sold by individuals, through local real estate brokers, explains Arnold Hargett, local VA representative. Obtained from lenders in connection with claims paid on GI loans, the houses are sold by the VA to recover as much of the government's guaranty payment as possible, he said. Since the GI loan program began in 1944, VA has sold 34 homes throughout Idaho. Only one of these was in Twin Falls county, Helweg said.
