Road Death Toll Is Said Climbing At Record Speed

Traffic deaths across the country over the four-day New Year's holiday were occurring today at a rate which could exceed the record for a similar New Year's week-end. More than 40 hours after the start of the 102-hour holiday period, the death rate from highway accidents was slightly more than four an hour. If the pace continues throughout the period, the record of 409 deaths set in the four-day New Year's week-end of 1956-57 would be topped. The National Safety Council has estimated the New Year traffic toll this year will reach 390.

But the slaughter on the highways since the start of the New Year holiday count at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday topped the daily traffic toll in 1958. The count continues until midnight Sunday.

Higher Social Security Rate 'Meets Needs'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP)—A special advisory council has completed a year-long study of the nation's social security program and found it in good financial shape.

A new schedule of taxes voted by Congress last year "makes adequate provision for meeting both short-range and long-range costs," the 13-member group said in a report made public yesterday.

The tax on both employers and employees provides insurance benefits for elderly persons, survivors of workers and disabled employees. Effective yesterday, both the tax rate and the amount of salary on which it is paid were increased.

Other increases already in the law provide for further tax increases in 1960, 1963, 1966 and 1969. The council said that under present conditions, the scheduled 1969 increase may not be needed.

The advisory group was composed of business and union leaders and experts in the fields of finance, insurance and economics.

Cassia's Solon Outlines Bills At Club Meet

BURLEY, Jan. 2—Sharing the program with Lee Scott, Burley student attending the University of Idaho, Sen. K. C. Barlow, veteran Cassia county legislator and member of the senate appropriations committee, gave Burley Rotarians a preview Tuesday of financial matters that will come before the 1959 legislature.

Speaking at this week's meeting, the state legislator told of demands for a medical school at the university and a pre-medical course at Idaho State college. These would require several million dollars, he said, so "obviously will not be secured during this session of the legislature."

Commenting on financial needs of the state's penal institutions, Senator Barlow directed attention to the dilemma presented by the penitentiary and mental hospital at Blackfoot.

"At Blackfoot, we have fine psychiatric personnel without incarceration facilities, while at Boise we find just the opposite situation—the penitentiary is without psychiatric personnel but has incarcerated criminals as prisoners."

Senator Barlow said he will introduce a bill in the senate to suppress and control lobbying by industrial blocs. The bill would require lobbyists to give such information as to whom lobby money is paid and the amount.

An attempt will be made, according to Senator Barlow, by the appropriations committee to introduce legislation to amend the state constitution to allow the senate to originate tax bills.

Another bill the committee is contemplating on introducing would give the state legislature control of special funds, the senator said.

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP)—British commuters, normally a docile, uncomplaining lot, staged their first revolt last night and won.

Some passengers moved out obediently. Then one bolder-headed commuter gripped his umbrella defiantly.

"No," he cried. "It says on the front of the train Dagenham East and there's where we're going."

"There was a little cheer and the revolt spread rapidly. Those who had got out in again. Subway officials pleaded. The commuters sat tight.

But there are many practical reasons why he can't really do this. For example, if he has a profit he would have to pay a capital gain when he prefers to string along for the income and a chance of more capital gain in years to come...

Why should he have to abandon a good investment, perhaps after riding out anxious days and nights of "depression," with an alternative of paying tribute to people who hold themselves above the spirit of the income tax?

The union worker cannot quit his union because he just can't. Aside from the closed shop, which is a practical reality, the union worker is up against terrorism or personal coercion. This is no myth.

More and More Minds Turn To Overpopulation Problem

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK, Jan. 2 (UPI)—Sidelwalkers of a Pavement Plato...

From a domestic angle the situation seems to be that we don't have the appetite to eat what we produce.

Both the rich and the poor countries are having the same problem: No matter what they eat, or don't eat, they produce more children.

The globe is being inundated by a tidal wave of posterity. It is as if people, everywhere, confused by the responsibility of the moment, pass on through their genes the payment of tomorrow.

It is, economically speaking, as if a generation that created inflation in its time also inflated its posterity to water down the individual bill.

Who can win the race to see who has the weakest money and the most poor mouths? Scientists, like a pack of hounds, ball-tongue in cry after the elusive fox, truth.

They will catch him, too. But not today—tomorrow.

McLemore's Resolution Is to Violate Don't Do It Warnings

BY HENRY McLEMORE I have made but one New Year's resolution. From a simple beginning—do not walk on the grass and no smoking—signs of command in this land of the free and the home of the brave...

The more timid among us are in danger of losing our initiative and becoming regimented by the pointing finger and the word "no." We watch out for deer, eat vegetables we dislike because the menu says so, substitutions, drive blocks out of our way because a man's driveway bears a no-turning-round warning...

I am going to launch my rebellion against signs of command this afternoon with a visit to the zoo. I am going to leave the car at home, go by bus so as to get a lick in against the have-chance-ready-order. When the driver sticks out his hand he is going to get a big round, hard silver dollar, a souvenir of my trip to the West. And if it weren't so close after Christmas he'd get a five-dollar bill, but alas, the last one is gone.

Once at the zoo, I aim to make my way straight to the nearest do not feed the animals board and feed whatever is behind bars a slice of fruit cake, a stick of hard candy, a tangerine and a slice of turkey.

I plan to walk back from the zoo in the hope of being able to step over some do not walk on the grass warnings, and pluck myself one small flower, preferably one growing near a do not pick the flowers admonition.

If there are any rocks on the road I am not going to watch for them but I am going to wander right past private—keep out signs as fast as I come to them.

Also, I am going to defy the weather and go in shirt sleeves and without a tie, just in case I pass a hotel that has a sign saying men will wear coats and ties after six. And if I didn't think I'd catch pneumonia, I'd wear shorts so as to defy any men in shorts not allowed in dining room.

As I stroll along I am going to make a point not to look out for stray cattle, to boldly knock on all front doors where use service entrance signs are out, and do my resting on corners and lots where loitering is prohibited.

I am going to be on the look-out for buildings where use other door is ordered, and if I stop in at a movie I am going to make my exit on the dead run.

If I stop for refreshments on my way home I might even be so rebellious as to disobey the no tipping sign, if there happens to be one.

No, on second thought, that would be too rebellious! A man has to call a halt somewhere! (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Some Life Can Live on Mars, Expert Claims

JOE DILWORTH, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marold J. Dilworth, Carey, who will leave Monday for the LDS mission home in Salt Lake City to prepare for a two-year mission in the central states. He was honored at a farewell party in the Carey ward recreation hall. (Staff engraving)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (UPI)—Some simple forms of Earth life can live and grow on Mars, an air force scientist has reported.

Now the question is: Can some useful forms of life be grown in Martian-like soil, perhaps to provide food for visiting Earthmen?

That, at any rate, is one direction for future research, said Lieut. Col. John D. Fulton, School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph air force base, Tex.

Soil Bacteria Grown
Some forms of soil bacteria have been shown to live under conditions similar to those on Mars, Fulton told a meeting at the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

These soil bacteria are the kind that help convert basic soils chemicals into plant food.

In Fulton's laboratory, these bacteria were introduced to a different sort of world.

Mars Atmosphere Made
To create his Mars-on-Earth, Fulton created an atmosphere of pure nitrogen with just about a twelfth the pressure we know on Earth.

For soil, he tried two types: red sandstone rich in iron oxide, from Texas, and some lava type soil from Arizona's Painted Desert.

Temperatures were made to vary from 25 degrees below zero at night to 70 degrees above zero at the daytime.

Dry Climate Simulated
Simulating the dry Martian climate, he provided only about one per cent moisture.

Into this strange world, Fulton introduced two kinds of bacteria: Those which could live with or without oxygen, and those which could not tolerate oxygen.

He found that both kinds not only survived for the length of the experiment—10 months—but they also grew and reproduced, although at a slower rate than under normal Earth conditions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (UPI)—Rep. Hamer Budge, R., Ida., said today that the department of defense committee of the house appropriations committee would explore disestablishment of the Pocatello naval ordnance plant.

Budge said that subcommittee chairman George Maestri, D., Tex., told him that the entire subject will be explored at hearings on the navy's appropriation request for the coming year. Budge is the third ranking Republican on the 17-member subcommittee.

Closing Said Ridiculous
The Idaho congressman said the navy's proposed date of June 30, 1964, for disestablishment of the plant was "ridiculous."

Budge said he wrote Rear Adm. Paul D. Stroop, chief, navy bureau of ordnance, requesting further information on the proposal. In a reply, the admiral said the navy would make a survey of the facilities of Pocatello to determine whether there are any unused facilities which are "severable" at this time.

Recapture Clause Included
The survey, according to Stroop, could result in the unused facilities being made available by the navy for leasing to private industry. However, such leasing would be subject to a "recapture clause."

"Under the circumstances," Budge said, "it would appear to me that the recapture clause is just as ridiculous as the target date of 1964. Both could have an entirely unwarranted adverse effect on the economy of the greater Pocatello area."

Colorado Man Opposes Move For New Dam

DENVER, Jan. 2 (AP)—Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D., Colo., has voiced opposition to an announced plan by Sen.-elect Frank E. Moss, D., Utah, to seek authorization for Echo Park dam at "the earliest possible time."

Moss said in Salt Lake City Wednesday he could see no need to sit around and wait for 25 or 40 years as he said Utah's Republican Gov. George D. Clyde had suggested.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R., Utah, said in Washington he would be willing to introduce a bill to authorize federal construction of the controversial dam near the confluence of the Green and Yampa rivers in western Colorado.

Echo Park dam, which had been considered a key unit, was dropped from the Upper Colorado River project because of strong opposition by wildlife interests.

Aspinall, chairman of the House Interior and Insular Affairs committee, said Moss' proposal won't receive any attention from the house committee.

"We've got an agreement with the conservationists to complete what we've got authorized," Aspinall said. "If we don't go through with the agreement, we'll lose our appropriations."

Fire Is Put Out

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2 (AP)—Firemen working 19 hours finally extinguished a blaze yesterday on one of two oil barges ignited in a collision with a Japanese freighter in the Mississippi river two miles downstream from New Orleans.

Both the ship and the barges burst into flames after the collision Wednesday night.

Parity Price for Corn to Go Down

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP)—The parity price of corn, the nation's biggest single crop, will be adjusted downward, probably three cents a bushel, this month. The present parity price is $1.76 a bushel.

Farm law requires that the parity price for this crop be determined under a transitional formula—that is, one gradually changing from an old and higher formula to a new and lower one.

Couple Married In Temple Rites Honored in T. F.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. King, who were married Dec. 11 in the Idaho Falls LDS temple, were honored at an open house reception Monday evening at the home of his parents. Mr. and Mrs. William J. King, the bride's father, former Diane Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan E. Jones, Pocatello.

President Francis Davis performed the nuptial rites. Following the ceremony, the couple was feasted by a luncheon at the White Elephant by the bridegroom's parents. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jay G. Jensen, Dr. and Mrs. Richard G. Crandall, Lieut. and Mrs. Dan E. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. King and son, Salt Lake City.

Two hundred and fifty guests greeted the newlyweds at a reception that evening in the LDS institute. The bride was groomed in a Pandora original bridal gown of traditional satin. It was fashioned with a nylon tulle yoke surrounded with Chantilly lace and laced with pearl and sequin design. The fitted bodice had long, pointed sleeves and the full skirt swirled into a court train. She wore a single strand of pearls and her white veil trimmed with Chantilly lace flowed from an orange blossom crest. Her bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by white rosebuds and stephanotis highlighted with silver detail.

In identical gowns of royal blue and mistletoe green brocade satin, featuring bell bottom skirts, were her attendants. Matron of honor was Mrs. Dan E. Jones, and bridesmaids were Mrs. William N. Harwood and Mrs. Ray Burns. They carried matching brocade muffs decorated with white elfin roses and silver ornaments. Each wore a crystal pendant and matching crystal earrings.

Best man for the bridegroom was Dan E. Jones, twin brother of the bride, and ushers were Gay Henry and Julian King.

For her daughter's reception, Mrs. Jones chose an original Adele Simpson black lace and imported silk sheath dress. Mrs. King was attired in a blue and gold sheath dress. Both wore corsages of gardenias.

The reception table carried out the Christmas motif of mistletoe green, white and silver. A three-tiered cake decorated with ribbons and flowers of spun sugar centered the table and was surrounded by a garland of silver and green satin ornaments. A silver candelabra holding satin ornaments stood on either side of the cake. A wall cascade of white mist bouquets, silver detail and green satin balls provided the background for the bride's table. Throughout the hall were white chrysanthemums and Christmas greens.

Cutting the cake were Mrs. Perry Nelson, Mrs. D. M. Dalton and Mrs. Wallace Hardy. Edith Williams and Mrs. Julian King were in charge of the gifts. Caring for the guest book and serving throughout the evening were members of Gamma Phi Beta. Assisting also were Mrs. Jay G. Jensen, Mrs. Richard G. Crandall, David and Richard Jones, twin brothers of the bride.

Throughout the evening organ music was furnished by Mrs. Lois Schless. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Welser, Jeanette Ashton and Mrs. Dan Jones sang wedding numbers, and Michael Holmes gave piano selections.

For her going away suit, Mrs. King donned a brown suit with brown and white accessories. A white orchid completed her costume.

The bride is a member of the faculty at Pocatello high school where she teaches English and literature. King is attending Idaho State college where he will complete his studies in pharmacy this June. He has been active in campus affairs as student body president. After June 1 he will be associated with his father at the Professional Pharmacy here as a pharmacist.

Women All Over World Have Own Tricks of Beauty

PARIS (UPI)—Women in France, rouse their knees a bit. Ladies in Turkey have a "harem way" with perfume. The women of India make their complexions glow with pearls. Japanese women have the secret of dieting. South Americans know all about "siestas."

"These are some of the beauty facts picked up by Princess Gourliel, better known as beauty expert Helena Rubinstein, who spends six months a year traveling around the world. She has found that women all over the world want to be beautiful. Here are some of the tricks she has learned they use.

"The latest in France," Madame Rubinstein said, "is to rouge your knees. Actually, this beauty trick is very old, goes back to antique Rome. But with the short skirts, girls in France use it again to give a racy shimmer and 'dimpled' to showing kneecaps.

"The height of sophistication is to put a touch of rouge on the upper lips when going barefoot on the beach or wearing evening sandals."

In England, she says, women have become more conscious of fashions, "royal" beauty and hairstyles.

Women all over the world can take the fair, lovely complexions of English females as an example," Madame Rubinstein said. "For them it is a 'natural' due to the damp climate. But today hydrating beauty products, supplying moisture to the skin, bring the famed English complexion within reach of women all over the world."

This beauty expert found that Italian women know best how to look beautiful in the bright Southern sunshine. They have devised the "pale look"—a natural, pale complexion and light lipstick to contrast with their dark eyes and hair.

"Turkish women hold the beauty secret with perfume," Madame Rubinstein continued. "They massage the skin with it after a Turkish bath while the pores are still open. For hours after, the epidermis exhales the scent.

"Another harem secret is to apply perfume to the feet, the palms of the hands, the back of the neck and the nape of the neck. You don't have to ladle it on. Good perfume rises and surrounds you from the toes up."

In India, women have a natural, serene and dignified temperament. She softens their contours, make movements feminine and graceful.

"Dark-haired but because of the tropical heat often sallow skinned, Indian women use jewelry to give their complexion the glow of beauty. There is nothing better than a pearl necklace to lend an iridescent and delicate shimmer to your face. Diamonds will add sparkle to your eyes and colored stones will give you a touch of Oriental splendor.

"Japanese women," Madame Rubinstein continued her tour of beauty, "have extraordinary figures. You know why? "First their normal food is as good as a diet. They eat much fish which gives iodine, much vegetables for vitamins. And they always eat rice. "The second reason for the trim Japanese figures is exercise. By sitting on the floor they take a marvelous physical exercise every time they get up. Sitting on the haunches also tightens the muscles.

"In South America, beautiful women do like anybody else in hot climates. They take a 'siesta.' This period of rest in the middle of the day is a precious beauty aid. Lay down, stretch out and relax, even if it's only for 15 minutes in the middle of the day. It will double your energy.

"There is one way to beauty," Madame Rubinstein concluded, "which works always, everywhere and any time: Be in love. "Women look their youngest, most beautiful and feminine when they're in love."

GLENN'S FERRY, Jan. 2—Our Lady of the Rosary Catholic church, Boise, was the scene of the marriage vows taken by Fern Schwager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Schwager, and John J. Broderick, Atlington, Va., son of Mrs. John B. Broderick, Crystal Lake, Ill.

The bride's cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Otto Neuer, Hammett, was three-tiered, topped with wedding bells and decorated with white roses and lily-of-the-valley with silver leaves. Vary Shoes for Comfort of Feet

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor If you wear high heels all day long, switch to perfectly-fitted slippers when you reach home at night. This gives your leg muscles a chance to stretch and adjust.

But it does something else. It helps to strengthen weak arches and thus may be of aid in eliminating those unpleasant cramps in the feet that many women have at night when they're trying to sleep. Changing heel heights often is a good idea, anyway. If you wear high heels one day, try to wear a medium or low heel the next.

And always make sure that your shoes are fresh. Never wear the same shoes two days in a row. Give both your feet and the shoes a rest. The shoes will last far longer and you'll feel better as a result.

We, the Women

BY RUTH MILLETT, NEA Service When you get a letter from a teenage girl defending "going steady," that's not news. But her's a defense of steady dating that comes from a grandmother. She writes: "I believe that if today's parents really understood why their teen-agers want to 'go steady' there wouldn't be all this opposition to the idea.

"These young people are searching for security and steadfastness. If they find it in going steady, what is so terrible about that? "Isn't it just possible that they will carry this need for security into their marriages and so make better husbands and wives than many of their parents' generation?"

"Besides, aren't parents actually trying to keep their children from growing up when they tell them they ought to 'play the field' instead of dating just one person?"

"Not too far back in our country's past a teen-ager was considered an adult, capable of making decisions and starting to live his own life. "Now parents want to keep their children dependent as long as possible—so they keep telling them how much fun they could be having while they are young if they wouldn't let themselves get serious about any one member of the opposite sex.

"Yet, it seems to me, that the young person who has the most difficult time settling down to marriage is the one who has been the local belle or the young man who has given all the girls a rush. Marriage too often seems dull and confining to those who have had a big whirl before settling down."

These, of course, are the very arguments the teen-agers use in defense of steady dating. Funny how much more convincing they sound when coming from a grandmother!

Care of Your Children By ANGELO PATRI

Should a mind who sees a crime committed tell about it or should he keep still? This question arose when I wrote an article about tattling. Tattling is an annoyance that often makes itself felt in the busy classrooms of the elementary school. There is likely to be the child who minds everybody's business and who takes delight in telling the teacher what he usually knows.

"Teacher, Sam is eating his apples behind his book." "Teacher, Susie is copying." "Oo-oo, Tommy split the ink." That's tattling and it can just about drive a teacher crazy. She has to do something drastic to keep peace in the room.

Telling about a crime is a far different matter. It is the duty of a good citizen to bring such information to the police; to help the regime of law and order. But this duty is not laid on the shoulders of children. Should they be so unfortunate as to witness a crime it is their duty to tell their parents about it and they decide what to do. This, because it can be dangerous for the person who informs the police about crime and criminals. That makes this a matter for the adults; they assume the duty and it is their matter of conscience.

It seems to me as I read the papers, that the adult citizens are more and more evading their rightful share in the government, local and central. Somehow as the nation grows in numbers and strength they, the people, let their civic duties to others. The local governments are in the hands of a few elderly people who go about their business almost without attention from those whose interests they control. If they call a meeting only the very few, and usually those directly interested, attend. In consequence, few are acquainted with the state of affairs in their own locality.

One day there is a crisis of some sort. No room in the jail for the criminal and he escapes; no room for the children in school; a road laid in the wrong place; a school much needed in one district is built in another where a politician wanted it for his own ends.

Citizens have a duty to their community. If they have information about a crime they should offer it to the officials concerned and lend their support to them. They should know what is going on in their community and stand for its betterment. They should give a bit of time, a bit of their experience, their ability, their knowledge, to the support of what is right and good for their local communities and not leave it to the few.

Parents should start training obedience at a very early age then the child will be happier and pleasanter for both the parent and child in future years. Dr. Peter's book No. 81 "Obedience" explains how to start this training, and the benefit achieved. It contains a copy and 25 cents in coins. Falcons and Texas Christian Battle to Scoreless Tie in Cotton Bowl

Jeter Breaks Long Run and Total Rushing Records in Pacing Big 10 Team to Win

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 2 (AP)—Iowa, with a devastating set of running backs, struck with the fury of a Midwestern cyclone Thursday and all but swept California out of the Rose Bowl with a 38-12 victory. Performing before a packed stadium of 98,297, the champions from the Big Ten led 20-0 at the half, scored in every quarter and featured a Rose Bowl record run by jet-like Bob Jeter. Jeter, an electrifying halfback from Weirton, W. Va., cut loose in the third quarter with an 81-yard touchdown run. It broke a 71-yard record run from scrimmage made by Frank Aschenbrenner of Northwestern against California in 1949.

Blocking by the Baltimore Colts in the championship victory over the New York Giants at New York's Yankee stadium is shown in these two pictures. At top, quarterback Johnny Unitas is well protected as he sets to pass. Bottom, Alan Ameche (35) finds a wide hole on a running play. The Colts won 23-17. (AP wirephoto)

"Cooper was very disappointed at losing to Alex Almedo in the singles," Kramer said. "He came to us and said he expected we were no longer interested because of his showing."

LSU Turns Third-Quarter Fumble by Clemson Into 7-0 Sugar Bowl Victory

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2 (AP)—All America Billy Cannon led Louisiana State to a 7-0 victory Thursday over surprisingly tough Clemson in the Sugar bowl. The turning point of the game came in the third period when a fourth down play misfired for Clemson and Duane Leonard recovered for LSU on the Clemson 11. Cannon passed 10 yards to Mickey Mangham in the end zone for the touchdown. Cannon then kicked the conversion. Clemson thrilled the crowd of 82,000 with a superb line play and hard running attack which carried to the LSU 20 just before LSU scored in the third period. At this point George Ustry fumbled and Charles Strange recovered for LSU.

Oklahoma Strikes Early to Down Syracuse by 21-6 in Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2 (AP)—Oklahoma's Sooners shocked Syracuse with three explosive, long-gaining touchdown plays Thursday to win the Orange Bowl silver anniversary football game as expected, 21-6. A 42-yard scoring run by Prentice Gault, first Negro ever to play for Oklahoma, and a 79-yard pass play from Brewster Hobby to Ross Coyle—the longest aerial gainer in Orange bowl history—gave the Sooners a 14-0 lead in the first period. Although Syracuse was a two-touchdown underdog, it was the third quarter before Oklahoma scored again, on a 40-yard punt return by Hobby.

It was the second scoreless tie in 23 years in the Cotton bowl—the first one was in 1947 when Arkansas played Louisiana State. It snowed during the game in 1947, it snowed Tuesday and there were evidences of it around the field Thursday. But the gizzard was dry. The temperature was 44 degrees.

More Farm Exports Now Come From Privately Owned Supply

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP)—Great ports of grains and cotton moved progress has been made during the past year in shifting exports of farm products from government-owned surplus stocks to privately owned supplies.

This has been accomplished through changes in agriculture department programs that put emphasis on shipment of commercial rather than government supplies.

At one time, the bulk of the exporters at prices which enabled them to compete in foreign markets. This constituted an indirect export subsidy.

In the fall of 1956, the department altered its wheat export program by paying subsidies in wheat to exporters who bought and shipped commercial supplies of the bread grain abroad. Thus the only government wheat shipped was the amount that represented the subsidy on the much larger commercial exports.

In 1958, the department extended this program to corn, barley, oats, rye, grain sorghums and rice. In addition it has been offered as an alternative program for cotton exports.
