Dispute Over Tax Collector Goes on In Senate, House

BOISE, Jan. 22 (AP)—State Tax Collector P. G. Neill was described as "overbearing and arrogant" today on the floor of the Idaho house of representatives. A key Democratic lawmaker said "perhaps the time has come when there is no room for him in our state government." Rep. Gregg Potvin, D., Power, assistant house majority leader, read from an article in a publication of the Third District Bar Association saying Neill had "refused to follow the decisions of the supreme court of Idaho" in two recent tax cases.

Alaska Governor Improved

Alaska's Gov. William A. Egan is shown here as he was lifted from an airplane to an ambulance Monday night. He was reported in "extremely critical" condition then but today, after an emergency operation yesterday, he was reported "improved." Idaho Senate Given Bill on Gambling Act

BOISE, Jan. 22 (AP)—A racing bill giving counties the option of competing pari-mutuel betting receipts approval yesterday of the senate economic development committee. The measure was introduced in the Idaho senate today. A similar bill passed the legislature two years ago but was vetoed by Gov. Robert E. Smylie. The bill allows counties to vote on whether to permit pari-mutuel betting systems after petition of at least 20 percent of registered voters. The state would receive licenses of five per cent of the money in each pari-mutuel pool. It did not limit racing to horses. Brown said the vote by the five-member committee on whether to introduce the bill was not unanimous but he said he couldn't disclose the ratio.

Senate Given Bill Boosting Age of Driver

BOISE, Jan. 22 (AP)—An increase in Idaho's minimum driving age was proposed yesterday in a bill introduced in the senate. It would make 16 the minimum age at which an unrestricted license could be issued. At present unrestricted licenses may be obtained at age 16 and licenses good for daytime driving only are available at age 14. Under provisions of the senate bill introduced by Sen. Vernon Daniel, R., Payette, restricted licenses could be issued to 16-year-olds only in the case of an emergency. Whether an emergency existed would be determined by the sheriff of the county in which the applicant lives. The permits would be for daylight driving only and could remain in force no more than 30 days. The sheriff could specify, too, the type of vehicles which might be driven and the hours and places of operation. Gov. Robert E. Smylie has indicated he will send a special message to the legislature dealing with highway safety, probably recommending a boost in the minimum driving age. Earle E. Koehler, state-law-enforcement commissioner has urged that along with any increase in the minimum driving age, the legislature set up a program of driver training in the public schools. Koehler says that age itself is not a factor in highway safety but that driver training is.

Tough

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 22 (AP)—Doug Harris was bragging today about how tough his son can be. The son—Timmy Ray, aged 16 months—had picked up a carter snake that promptly curled around the boy's arm. Doug stumbled a warning. Timmy Ray gurgled, patted the snake, then bent over and bit it in two.

Ike, GOP Tell Each Other to "Wake up"

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 22 (UPI)—President Eisenhower called on the Republican party today to stop acting like a sleeping elephant between election campaigns. Rep. Richard M. Simpson, R., Pa., immediately snapped back with a demand that the White House do the same. Simpson, chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee, was given a round of applause by Republican national committee members who have long felt that the President was too "indifferent" toward political activity.

State Lawyers Rest Case for Murder Trial

RUPERT, Jan. 22—The state rested its case this morning in the second degree murder trial of James Robert Jacobsen, 23, Pocatello, being heard in district court here before Judge Sherman J. Bellwood. Jacobsen is charged with the death of Earl Dahlstrom, 28, in a Pocatello case parking lot last July 13. Four witnesses were questioned for the defense before the noon recess Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. James Howell, Pocatello, who were parked in the lot next to the eating establishment, gave their version of the alteration in which the state claims Dahlstrom was stomped in the face. Joe Todd, Pocatello, testified that Dahlstrom's head struck the bumper of the car and then the ground and that the defendant did not stop him. Attorneys for the state introduced a statement purported to have been given by Todd to Pocatello police at 3 a. m. the morning of the fight. Also testifying this morning was Mrs. Kay Jacobsen, wife of the defendant, who said she and her sister-in-law had gone to the Washington Hotel in Pocatello.

Charter Given to Bank in Pocatello

POCATELLO, Jan. 22 (AP)—A spokesman for the proposed Pocatello National bank said yesterday it has been granted a charter by the federal comptroller of the currency. The announcement came from George R. Phillips, one of the leaders in organizing the bank, which he said will have a capital structure of $400,000. President of the bank will be W. Boyd Rolph, present manager of the Buhl branch of Idaho's First National bank, Phillips said. The Pocatello bank planners are still studying possible sites for their institution, the spokesman added. The city already has five banks.

Fire Damages House in T. F.

Investigation continued Thursday into the origin of a fire that caused extensive damage Wednesday night to the attic and garage of the Stanley Phillips home, 223 Larkspur drive. Fire Chief L. Z. Bartlett said the city's fire and electrical inspector began inspection of the house before noon Thursday. Officials were unable to say Wednesday night what caused the blaze. There was also considerable smoke damage throughout the entire house. A sitting room between the garage and the main section of the house was damaged with water and smoke and the ceiling was burned, but firemen prevented any severe damage to the other sections of the home. Bartlett said the fire was confined to the garage and the adjacent room. Two automobiles were in the garage at the time. Fire damaged the paint on the vehicles and apparently cracked the side window of one. Phillips said he did not know how the fire started. It smoldered and discovered the blaze. Two fire engines were at the fire.

Floods in U.S. Mine Trap Men

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 22 (UPI)—Rising waters of the Susquehanna river broke into an anthracite mine of the Knox Coal company, at near-by Port Blanchard today. About 30 men were believed trapped, police said. "The whole river just poured in," police said. "The water is coming up through the shaft. We don't know just how many miners were down there but it appears to be about 30. It looks pretty bad." State Police Sgt. Louis Shupnik said he was informed at the mine that three men definitely drowned and "perhaps 30 to 40 were trapped." Officials said the mine was a "slope operation" one in which the miners entered through a sloping shaft rather than a perpendicular entrance. One report said the water rushed in so swiftly that it collapsed the shaft, cutting off air to the inside. The three men said to have been drowned were trapped in the firm's Knox shaft. They were believed to be the only men working in that section. The water, however, also poured into the main shaft of the adjoining Ewan colliery, leased to the Knox company. The others were believed trapped there. At least one man escaped the tragedy. He said that "chances of getting them (the others) out were slim." The river, located only a short distance from the mine shafts, was swollen by one of the numerous ice jams which clogged streams throughout Pennsylvania, causing floods. Heavy rains and a sharp rise in temperatures contributed to the flooding conditions.

Goldwater Is Given Job of GOP Leader

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Republican senators accepted Sen. Barry Goldwater, R., Ariz., as their 1959-60 campaign chairman yesterday after opposition from self-styled liberals among them had waned. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, Mass., chairman of the conference of all Republican senators, said the group had given unanimous ratification to his appointment of Goldwater to head the campaign committee. Saltonstall also named these other members: Sens. Alexander Wiley, Wis.; Homer E. Capehart, Ind.; Frank Carlson, Kans.; Wallace F. Bennett, Utah; Prescott Bush, Conn.; J. Glenn Beall, Md.; and Norris Cotton, N. H. Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Ky., had the opposition to Goldwater. He had contended publicly that selection of the Arizona might invite Democratic allegations that Republicans are anti-labor. Goldwater says he is not anti-labor at all.

Judge Scores Act to Lower 'Age of Adult'

BOISE, Jan. 22 (AP)—A move to give legal adulthood to Idaho persons 15 years old or older was described yesterday by a probate judge as a form of hysteria. Probate Judge W. E. Smith, Boise, said this revision of the youth rehabilitation act would seriously interfere with handling of juvenile cases in probate courts. He said he learned a couple of Pocatello attorneys whose Christmas decorations were destroyed by vandals had advocated the action in a circular. The circular asks for tougher handling of juvenile offenders through the district courts. Current law defines adults as those 18 years old or older. Younger persons fall under jurisdiction of juvenile courts. Smith said the requested revision would hamstring the fight against delinquency in these ways: "Any child could quit school when 15. There would be no court proceedings dealing with runaways 15 or older from the control of their parents. It would prevent courts from acting to straighten out incorrigibles; curfew laws would not apply to persons 15 or older." Smith said the law would be amended under legislation suggested by the Probate Judges Association of Idaho, which favors "nothing so drastic."

Red Purge Hinted By British Experts

LONDON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Some British experts on the Far East say they think a purge of impatient young men from a red China's new communes is coming up shortly. The informants say the house cleaning is likely to shift over-emphatic young functionaries from administrative jobs to manual chores in fields and factories. The object would be re-education of younger party officials who have ruthlessly pushed development of the communes—vast labor battalions run on military lines—without taking time to adapt them to Chinese family-and-past traditions. British analysts, studying reports from China, feel the young men have driven China's peasants to water, but have been unable to make them drink.

Three Rupert Men Killed In Smash, Woman Hurt; Officers Talk on Inquest

RUPERT, Jan. 22—Mimidoka County Sheriff Theo Johnson, Coroner Robert C. Walk and Prosecuting Attorney William Goodman were meeting this afternoon to determine if an inquest should be called into the traffic fatality Wednesday afternoon which claimed the lives of three Rupert area men. Killed almost instantly about four miles east of Rupert on highway 30 when their car was struck by an oncoming vehicle as they turned across the highway into Murphy's Steak house were Clark Jamison, 58; Lyman Orr, 61, and Loyal C. Randall, 67. Driver of the other vehicle, Mrs. Gloria Berger, 34, Cedarhurst, N. Y., was taken to Mimidoka county hospital where she was reported in fair condition Thursday noon. She was treated for a fractured left knee and multiple fractures of her left arm. Orr was believed driving the 1948 Chevrolet, according to Sheriff Johnson, which made a left turn across the highway toward the steak house into the path of the westbound 1957 Chrysler driven by Mrs. Berger. All three men had been employed in the Rupert area as laborers. Orr and Jamison with sheepmen and

Flash Floods Leave Thousands Homeless in Pennsylvania, Ohio

Flash floods in Pennsylvania and Ohio Thursday left thousands homeless and damage in the millions in the wake of a winter onslaught of floods, snow, sleet, rain, cold and tornadic winds. A United Press International count showed at least 64 fatalities. Fifteen died in Ohio and nine each in Illinois and Indiana. New York and Michigan reported six deaths each; Iowa, Wisconsin and Kentucky reported four; Missouri had three; New Mexico two, and Kansas and Oklahoma reported one each. In northwestern Pennsylvania, rain-swollen rivers surged into scores of communities. States of emergency were declared in Sharon, New Castle, Union City and Meadville, all in Pennsylvania. At Warren, James Setts had to be taken to a hospital by boat after a heart attack. The hospital was surrounded by 16 feet of water. Scores of roads and schools were closed along a 125-mile stretch of the Allegheny river from the New York state line to near Pittsburgh. Hundreds of persons were evacuated by boat in New Castle when tributaries of the Allegheny cascaded into the town. In Ohio, oldtimers said that not in years has there been anything like Wednesday's rains which flooded streams, rivers, sewer-systems and basements from one end of the state to the other. The Ohio death toll was set at a minimum of 15, with police reporting a number of persons missing. Schools, stores and factories closed in many areas. National guards (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

Warrant Issued for Buhl Area Motorist

A felony warrant was issued by Buhl officials Wednesday morning for Garold V. Stanley, Buhl, for his arrest on second offense drunken driving. Buhl Police Chief T. M. Kendrick said Stanley left town after posting a $100 bond Tuesday night with Police Judge Bernard Starr on charges of drunken driving. He was arrested Tuesday night by Policeman Clarence Yingst. Kendrick said he learned Wednesday that Stanley had been arrested three times previously for drunken driving, in Idaho, Oregon and Utah. Leonard R. Norris, 36, route 1, Kimberly, was fined $15 and costs Wednesday in Twin Falls police court for following another vehicle too closely. Norris was involved in an accident on Main avenue east. He told the acting police judge, Mrs. J. Leslie Anderson, he had momentarily glanced at something to his side. Elsie Schorzman, Burley, was fined $15 and costs by Buhl Justice of the Peace C. E. Rudy Tuesday for a stop sign violation. She was cited by State Patrolman Richard Burns. Vern L. France, Gooding, was fined $10 and costs by Gooding Police Judge Joe Baumgartner Wednesday for running a red light.

Hope Is Small For Starting of South Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 22 (AP)—Most Little Rock high school students and their parents apparently are resigned to finishing this year without public schools, despite recent court moves to reopen the facilities immediately. "It's too late to do any good this year," said one mother. "My Billy is settled at a private school, and he'll probably stay there because we couldn't be sure the public schools would stay open if they are reopened." Speaker Is Representative of thousands of parents who first looked on school closing as a temporary measure but who now are prepared to extend emergency education provisions indefinitely, certainly through this school year. Caught in a massive battle between federal and state governments on the school integration question, 2,000 Little Rock students this week finished first semester work in schools in other communities. Some 1,100 more are nearing mid-term at newly organized private schools here. About 700 Miss School Negroes, remain out of classes altogether. Community sentiment is divided on the school issue. Many prefer that the schools remain closed if integration is the only alternative. Students apparently continue to take the situation in good spirits. The majority of attending new schools, even at great inconvenience, has not worn off. Many said they prefer the new schools to the old, mainly on grounds that they are smaller, more friendly.

Pasternak Might Make U.S. Tours

LONDON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Soviet writer Boris Pasternak has agreed to make a lecture tour of the United States and Britain, a distinguished Spanish author said last night. Jose Villalonga, 39, said there were excellent prospects Soviet authorities would permit Pasternak to leave the country. Pasternak was denounced in the Soviet Union after he won the Nobel prize for literature last year. He then renounced the prize. The Spaniard and his British wife have applied for visas to visit Moscow to discuss the project with Pasternak. NEWS BULLETINS

HAVANA, Jan. 22 (UPI)—Cuba and its colorful capital of Havana seethed with excitement today over the start of the "war-crime" trials of more than 600 Batistianos in Havana's Cabana prison fortress across the bay from old Havana. Any doubt the populace was solidly behind the "revolutionary justice" of Fidel-Castro almost vanished yesterday afternoon when a crowd of nearly one million persons screamed their approval and cheered wildly at everything Castro said. BOISE, Jan. 22 (UPI)—Sen. Carl Burt, R., Ads, today urged additional taxation on each bottle of beer. By placing an additional cent tax on each bottle, it would mean additional revenue of 1.3 million dollars and would "pay $4 per head to your cities," Burt told fellow senators. By The Associated Press Snowstorm of the season left much of the Inland empire under a heavy blanket of white Thursday and the weather bureau warned of more blizzards or freezing rain as temperatures edge upward. Randall with a seed company. Mrs. Berger was reported to be on her way from New York to Sun Valley. She was alone in her car. Assisting Johnson in the investigation were State Police Lieut. Clark Hand and State Patrolman Roy Thomas. Lieutenant Hand said the highway was dry and clear and at that point was posted for 60 miles per hour. There were apparently no indications of excessive speed on the part of the woman. Hand said the woman's car caught the right front of the other vehicle as it angled across the highway. He said her car did not move top far after the collision. The officer reported there were no skid marks on the highway, but there were indications that she had tried to slow down and had pulled slightly to the right side. Flash Floods Sweep Across Wide Regions men joined local officials and coast-guardians in rescue operations. Red Cross officials set up emergency housing facilities in schools, churches, lodge halls and private homes.

The worst tragedy was in northern Ohio where five persons drowned when a boat overturned in the Chagrin river near Willoughby Hills. The victims were three members of the family and two of the three persons who tried to rescue them.

In some areas, the flood was compared with the 1913 flood, the worst in Ohio's history.

At Buffalo, N. Y., a grain boat was ripped from its moorings by gale force winds and flood currents and sent crashing into the main span of an important bridge. The bridge was a complete loss.

Three workmen were on the bridge at the time and two were hurt while fighting to safety.

At Sharon, Pa., the Shenango river forced hundreds to flee their homes in the worst flood in the community's history. The river, swollen by two days of rain and a 2,000 foot ice jam below the city, spilled over more than a dozen bridges.

Flash flooding in the Buffalo, N. Y., area was described as one of the worst in the section's history. Combined flood and wind damage around Buffalo was expected to run close to 10 million dollars.

At Madison, Ind., late yesterday a group of school children waded to safety through the rushing waters of a flooded stream when their bus stalled on a bridge. Minutes after the children had reached safety, the bridge buckled.

Flood, wind and rain damage was equalled by the snow and bitter cold which swept the interior in blizzard-like proportions.

Russian Jokes

Way Through Plane Trouble

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 22 (UPI)—Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan wiser-cracked his way through yesterday's forced landing in Newfoundland of the plane taking him back to Europe from his 16-day visit to America, fellow passengers reported today.

A Scandinavian airlines plane bringing Mikoyan to Copenhagen made a forced landing at Argentina, Nfld., when one engine stopped running and a second one caught on fire.

The Mikoyan party arrived here early today without incident.

Swedish Navigator Sven Bergstrom told Mikoyan told him he went by steamer on his last visit to the United States in 1936.

Mikoyan jokes "You know we Russians believe the future belongs to the air," Bergstrom quoted him as saying. "But at times during the first part of my return flight from New York I wondered whether the old-fashioned steamers did have their good sides."

Harry A. Cahill, Fairfax, Va., en route to Oslo to take over a vice consul post in the U.S. embassy, was traveling with his wife and their two children.

"They were sitting in the center of the plane when the first engine went out.

Seats Changed "Then the stewardesses asked us to take places in the rear part of the plane just behind Mikoyan and his party," Cahill said.

"The Russians were very relaxed and they were extremely considerate about our children. They endeavored to comfort my wife who was somewhat nervous.

"Mikoyan insisted on having our children accommodated in his berth but the stewardesses explained that it would be better for the children to stay with their mother in the rear seat.

"Mikoyan then gave our boys a lot of biscuits and sweets, Mikoyan and his companions were all smiles. They evidently were very fond of children."

Another passenger was American Businessman J. M. Murray, New Hyde Park, N. Y. He said all aboard were calm throughout the incident and "Mikoyan seemed to laugh about it."

U.S. May Fire A-Test in '60

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The United States might touch off a peaceful use underground atomic explosion next year, even if it still isn't making atomic weapons tests.

Chairman John McCone, atomic energy commission, told a news conference yesterday the country could be ready for such a test explosion by late summer but would delay it at least until next year.

He said this country is under no injunction to forego underground blasts to see how feasible they would be for such things as carving out harbors and tapping new sources of oil.

McCone indicated this would hold true although, the United States has said it will not conduct weapons tests for a year from last October if the Soviet Union did not test during the same period.

Dispute Over Tax Collector Is Continuing

Neill declined to comment on Potvin's remarks or the Bar association article. The article, which appeared in the November issue of The Advocate, was by Calvin Dworschak, Boise attorney and son of U. S. Sen. Henry Dworschak, R. Ida.

The controversy arose out of decisions in which the court held:

1. That a taxpayer is entitled to an income tax deduction for travel expenses to remote locations where he is working for a short time.

2. That a taxpayer may claim a deduction for medical and hospital expenses, even though they are reimbursed.

Neill said in his memorandum that "apparently the courts confused the provision which excludes from gross income amounts received by the taxpayers from insurance covering personal injury or sickness."

He said his office was left in a "somewhat ridiculous position."

The office of tax collector also figured in senate discussions.

Sen. K. C. Barlow, R. Cassia, defended the appointment of Harold A. Ranquist as general counsel in the tax collector's office and said the appointment was made to "plug loopholes" in the enforcement of tax laws.

He said as much as two million dollars per year may be obtained from such activity.

"It was not the intention," he said, "to usurp any functions of other state officials."

Sen. J. Ray Cox, Jr., D. Kootenai, who first raised the subject of Ranquist's appointment yesterday, said there was no intention of questioning Ranquist's ability.

"The point at issue," he said, "is whether the tax collector has the right to employ general counsel when statutes specify that the attorney general's office shall serve as the collector's counsel."

Sen. Jack M. Murphy, R. Lincoln said that the chief of the title general counsel, for Ranquist apparently caused objection to the appointment. "We have been assured," he said, "that use of that title will be discontinued."

He said Ranquist was chosen for the job because he is "highly skilled in the administration of the inheritance and income tax laws."

Six bills were introduced in the senate, including the measure to transfer to the state auditor duties and powers which, the bill said, were "inadvertently removed from him" and given to the tax collector.

Another controversy brewed over the state department of commerce and development, Rep. Marvin Vandenberg, D., Boundary, chairman of the house state affairs committee, said that group would consider tomorrow a proposal to give the department's functions to the secretary of state.

The department's job, since its creation in 1955, has been to promote industrial and tourist advantages of Idaho, its secretary, appointed by the governor, is Louise Shadquack, former north Idaho newspaperwoman.

The bill would abolish the department.

The bill was seen by others as an effort to gain more patronage for Democrats. Democrats hold all state offices but the governorship. Yet they are able to control only about 150 of the state's 4,000 jobs.

The life and accomplishments of Benjamin Franklin were sketched for Twin Falls Kiwanis club members Thursday during the weekly luncheon meeting at Legion hall.

One of Franklin's achievements, DeVolder noted, was arranging for treaty with France in 1778, the only agreement of its type between the United States and another country until the North Atlantic Treaty organization pact in 1949.

DeVolder was introduced by Program Chairman John Rahn.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The list of 1960 presidential candidates, Republican and Democratic, has now been screened and narrowed down by respected and influential spokesmen for both major parties—namely President Eisenhower, Eleanor Roosevelt, Dean Acheson, and less specifically by former President Truman.

There is no assurance, of course, that the two national conventions will accept their sideline coaching. Mrs. Roosevelt and Acheson lose whatever influence they once possessed with each passing year. In fact, the former secretary of state was never regarded as realistic in his political thinking, largely because of his aristocratic attitude toward such a mass activity.

Eisenhower's "lame duck" position will diminish his power over the delegates and the back-room dealers. Nevertheless, regardless of his administration's record and his party's chances two years hence, his personal popularity and the technical need for his benediction will offset to a certain extent the fact that he is outward and Gettysburg-bound.

ACHESON STRONG FOR JOHNSON—Acheson, in a remarkably frank analysis, has eliminated Sen. John F. Kennedy, Massachusetts. Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota, Sen. J. William Fulbright, Missouri, Adlai E. Stevenson, Illinois, Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Michigan, and Gov. W. Averell Harriman, New York, Robert J. Meyer, New Jersey, and Edmund G. Brown, California, as in the race.

His choice is Sen. Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas, as "the ablest man in public life today." If he could cast a single and controlling ballot, Acheson says that the Texas would be his choice. However, despite Senator Johnson's driving ability, few politicians give him a chance because of his geographical origin. Moreover, his handling of the rules liberalization problem has antagonized Democratic liberals and the racial minorities of the North whom they represent on Capitol Hill.

SENATOR HUMPHREY IS MRS. ROOSEVELT'S FAVORITE—Like Acheson, "Mrs. R." turns thumbs down on Kennedy. She reiterates her personal opposition to him with the regularity of a chorus in a Greek tragedy.

She believes that Stevenson is barred by his two defeats. She has never shown any sympathy toward Byrdington, Meyer or Williams. In her opinion, only Senator Humphrey exhibits the "spark of greatness" required of a president.

Here again, despite his Kremlin-born publicity, the Minnesotan is not considered of presidential caliber by his colleagues. They agree with Acheson's understatement that "he talks a lot," and that, "although he has enormous vitality, vitality may not be everything." Former President Truman has not named names, being more carry than nonprofessionals, although he expects to speak his piece at the proper moment. He is known to be anti-Kennedy and anti-Stevenson. He is not sympathetic toward Meyer or Williams, believing that neither has had sufficient national experience or background.

TRUMAN SILENT—But Truman realizes that he cannot affect the decision unless he has a candidate with a bloc of 100 delegates to use in back-room bargaining. So, although he originally opposed Byrdington at the primary in which the latter first sought a senate seat, the senator will probably be Truman's ace in the hole.

Although Acheson does not rate the Missouri senator "high on ability," and it is a fact that he has not fulfilled earlier expectations, Byrdington could be the "dark horse."

Although under severe GOP attack for his performance as former secretary of the air force, he is riding the national defense issue for all it is worth. He has steered a polite course that antagonizes neither the northern liberals nor southern conservatives. Speculative as this may be, it appears that both the presidential and vice presidential nominees will be chosen from this lot.

EISENHOWER'S GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF HIS MAN—Like Truman, Eisenhower has named no names. But he has defined in rather general terms the kind of man he would and would not support.

On domestic and economic issues, he must be fundamentally conservative. On foreign problems, and Eisenhower seemed to think this to be the more important qualification, he must be a thoroughgoing internationalist.

Although the President said he could name "a dozen who would fill the bill," hard-bitten GOP politicians cannot count that many. They figure that only a few can qualify, to wit:

Vice President Nixon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Harold E. Stassen, Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson and Thomas E. Dewey.

The political rule out Lodge because he could not carry his own state, Anderson because he is a Texas Democrat, Stassen because he is discredited with the organization, and Dewey because he flubbed his two chances.

VIEW OF OTHERS

YOUTH ASKS NO ODDS

An Inspector of the federal bureau of identification, John F. Malone, put his finger squarely on the source of a major cause of teen-age trouble when he addressed the National Association of County and District Attorneys in convention at Sun Valley last week-end. His testimony was that "it is a mockery of justice to indiscriminately hold an umbrella of privilege and protection over the heads of young offenders." He said that teen-agers guilty of vicious crimes should not be accorded special consideration which many delinquents have come to expect.

Along the same line, Philadelphia's district attorney, Victor H. Blane, told the convention that there is value in "adult punishment for adult crime."

Both are statements that accord precisely with the solid thinking of a great many responsible authorities who are experienced in dealing with these matters.

Most likely it is, too, that both statements will be received with enthusiastic approval by the great majority of the youngsters themselves. This is an assumption based on the strong probability that most youngsters want nothing more than they do to be recognized as responsible individuals, ready and willing to accept the penalties for their wrongdoings as well as the rewards for good conduct.

It isn't youth who demand any "umbrella of privilege and protection."

What youth wants and needs is firm assurance that there'll be no impartial discrimination, in the strict enforcement of conduct that explains and clear and not open to any nebulous vacillations of authority. If the law says, for instance, that any driver, regardless of age, is to pay a certain penalty for a certain offense, then assuredly youth is ready and willing to accept that rule.

If, on the contrary, the law says the penalty for an adult crime may be something different when it's committed by one who has not attained adult years, then an atmosphere of uncertainty prevails, and we may be quite certain that any smart youngster will be quick to learn how far he can go, and to take advantage of that situation.

The advice of these authorities in this matter is well deserving of respectful attention—Idaho Daily Statesman.

POT SHOTS

Dear Pot Shots: That old 1907 Sells-Floto circus poster in the T-N Dec. 28 issue does bring back old memories. The cowboy mentioned by Mr. Pettis for shooting the tiger was Mr. Bell, blacksmith at Buhl for many years.

Also, my father's cousin, E. D. Calvin, was manager of different circuses, including Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, July 3, 1907. I married a relative of Buffalo Bill's Cody, Phila Lorraine Cody, at Salt Lake City.

When I was a boy in Joliet, Ill., in the 1890's, my father's family always got free tickets to all the shows that came along. The last time my wife and I saw Buffalo Bill Cody was at the Sells-Floto circus at Ogden in 1913.

Pots, it's been quite sometime since I sent you a poem. I think all the dogs in your column, if they could read, would get quite a kick out of this one I wrote, entitled, "A Bit of Doggeral."

A dog is man's best friend. With that I will agree. But a man is not a dog's best friend; A dog's best friend's a tree. So if your doggie friend you'd like to please, Go out on Arbor day and plant some trees.

R. L. Gillett (Wirkswm 36) (Scappoose, Ore.)

P.S. I read your column every day. Some friends here take the T-N and save them all for me. I lived at Buhl 39 years.

Dear Pot Shots: I have a three-legged pured border-collie pup that I have to give away. I would like for someone on a farm to get him as he loves to run and in town I have to keep him chained up. He loves children and would make a good stock dog. Please call for him after 4 p.m. at 244 Quincy street. Also have a 4-month-old white pappy I would like to give away. Same address as above. This puppy will be small.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Dwight D. Eisenhower and United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther agree on one thing, any way, even if they are poles apart politically.

Both think there should be a new citizens' committee to study social trends for the future.

President Eisenhower made his proposal in his state of the union message to congress. Two days previously, President Reuther had made the same proposal in a talk before an AFL-CIO Industrial unions conference on labor and science, here in Washington.

No conclusion should be drawn that Eisenhower took his idea from Reuther. The President cited a previous committee on recent social trends, appointed by President Herbert Hoover in 1929, as his inspiration.

But when Walter Reuther came up with the idea, Herbert Hoover had 30 years ago—and Dwight Eisenhower can endorse it, there's more than mere coincidence involved.

The problems of 1929 are the problems of today. By name: Technical advances, unemployment, recreation, rural migration to the cities, slums, housing, longer life, more old people, more leisure.

Three hundred experts worked three years to prepare three volumes in the Hoover report. One conclusion was that U.S. population—then 120 million, would advance to 145 million and stabilize. It missed that one a mile.

Population today is 175 million and President Eisenhower is worrying about growth to 190 million by 1965. So he calls for the establishment of new "national goals" which he did not specify, but which match Reuther's ideas, in part.

Reuther called the President's balanced budget "a flight from reality" because, "you can't have a balanced economy without full employment." To achieve that, Reuther called for

Nation's Agriculture Industry Also Has Manpower Shortage

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—"Help wanted—American agriculture." America may be desperately short of missile engineers, but the nation's No. 1 industry—agriculture—also is facing a manpower shortage, perhaps the worst in its history. It has a farm let a dars frankly worried.

They fear that the industry is losing the cream of the younger generation to the glamor of the jet age, the nuclear age, the electronic age, the space age. They have coined a new term—"the agridynamics age"—to emphasize that agriculture has romance, adventure, and glamor, too.

CONGRESS AND THE BUDGET

One of the persistent problems of government is the proper relation between congress and the executive branch in the matter of preparing the federal budget.

As so often before, lawmakers now are complaining that the administration is trying to "gag" its personnel and prevent congress from learning what it needs to know to appropriate funds intelligently.

The administration, like a good many of its predecessors, insists that once its budget decisions have been hammered out—with all the give and take that implies—then team play requires that everyone concerned support them fully and not make either individual or group protest to the legislators.

On the surface this seems to make pretty good sense. If the process of executive decision is pursued fairly, all viewpoints are presumably aired along the way. A president's discretionary authority would be considerably handicapped if on most major decisions he had to face a possible undercutting from staff people whose protests already had been given an airing.

Unfortunately the problem is not that simple, at least not as applied to the U.S. budget.

First off, the budget is a massive affair of incredible detail. Congress does not have and never has had the staff and facilities to study it down to the last digit. It is compelled to accept a great deal of it as it reaches Capitol Hill.

The lawmakers tend to deal with the budget, necessarily, on a kind of "spot check" basis. And, understandably, they make these checks in the areas they consider most vital to the country and most susceptible to intelligent review.

Chief among these, obviously, is defense. Nothing is more crucial, yet nothing is more difficult for the layman lawmaker to appraise wisely. He needs expert help. Where can he get it except from the Pentagon? Congress certainly has no true military experts of its own.

Naturally, top officers whose views may have been modified or squelched by their superiors in the budget making process may lean pretty hard for their own ideas. But responsible lawmakers surely must have some capacity for discounting, while weighing the real merit of these claims.

Team play is fine. But the country isn't being run just by the executive team. The government team includes congress. And congress cannot do its fair share of playing without the very fullest briefing.

SCORE TWO FOR DULLES

Ever since he took office Secretary of State Dulles has been a controversial figure, with a good many boosters and plenty of detractors.

But whatever may be said of his stewardship, now and later on by the historians, two things must be conceded about this man.

He has earned the enmity of Soviet Premier Khrushchev, as reported by Sen. Hubert Humphrey in Life magazine. And this must be a badge of honor for any free world leader.

The Russians are dedicated to our defeat, by one means or another. We must always hold the way open for a change of heart in Moscow. But so long as our conquest is their purpose, they are not our friends. Dulles has made no pretense that they were, and Khrushchev properly appreciates his stiff attitude.

The second thing to be said of Dulles is that he works like a dog. No matter what you may think of his policies, you must grant that this 18-hour-a-day toiler in the diplomatic vineyards gives his all for his country.

Illness, operations, fatigue, none of these has halted him so far. At 70 he still grinds out the work as if his country's life were at stake every hour. Perhaps it is.

It wouldn't be surprising to learn that, on the threshold of his big operation, Dulles mistook the ether mask for a dictaphone and slipped into painless unconsciousness in the middle of an important sentence.

VETERANS-IN-CONGRESS

The Nov. 4 election, according to tentative but fairly accurate figures, has given veterans of our last three wars a majority of the members of the house and senate. And the larger number consist of men who served in World War II and Korea.

However, it is doubtful if they will vote as a bloc on questions affecting veterans. They may make it difficult for the administration to apply severe budget cuts to the veterans' establishment. And they undoubtedly will demand more money for national defense than President Eisenhower plans to ask.

The veteran, so political experience and records indicate, tends to assume the philosophy of past associations, his environment and hereditary influences.

Thus, the Ray-Wilson group replaced "Joe" Martin because he was not sufficiently aggressive for conservative causes, while the Douglas-Thompson faction follow the liberal line of the Butler-Truman-Roosevelt outsiders.

In view of their aggressiveness, their independence and their ambitions, the leaders on both sides of the aisle may have difficulty in making them hold ranks. It can be a confusing and exciting session of old soldiers.

Stores Lower Prices of Leg Of Lamb Cuts

By The Associated Press

Buying lamb chops and leg of lamb at reduced prices in many of the nation's food stores this week-end.

Lamb chops and a combination of chops and leg of lamb were also being offered. Prices were also lower in the New York metropolitan area, ranging from 39 cents a pound for the combination deal to 49 cents for loin chops. Legs are quoted at 59 cents a pound.

Lamb supplies of lamb are increasing and prices are falling behind the lower prices of beef. Fresh and smoked hams are featured in a number of stores. Specials on beef are few and far between. Chickens also are scarce, with prices marked up two to four cents a pound.

Eggs cost two to six cents a dozen more than last week.

Snap beans, peppers, eggplant and yellow or green squash were marked up this week.

Other Buys Told

Best buys are endive, escarole, potatoes, mushrooms, Danish cabbage and such "root" crops as beets, carrots, parsnips and purple top turnips. Lettuce is a good buy.

Other good buys include onions, pascal celery, spinach, new cabbage and broccoli.

Florida oranges, grapefruit and tangerines should not be too high.

The most popular apple varieties are excellent buys, along with lemons. Rated as good buys are California's navel oranges, lemons and grapes. So are Oregon pears.

U.S. Wonders Why Mikoyan Came for Visit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (UPI)—What does Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan hope to gain by coming to the United States? What did he get?

As to any hopes of easing cold war tensions, he failed on two major points—peace on communist terms and increased U. S.-Russian trade.

He announced purpose was a holiday. It was in the sense of being a trip which apparently he enjoyed. But the pace he maintained for 17 days in this country made it anything but a restful holiday.

U. S. Temperature Taken

He also wanted to take this nation's temperature and find out what progress it had made in the 22 years since his previous visit. He was impressed with its economic progress, its prosperity, the productivity of its factories, the amount of construction underway and the variety, quality and quantity of consumer goods.

President Expresses Hope

One thing President Eisenhower hoped Mikoyan had gained was "an understanding of the attitudes of our people—their desire for peace and their unswerving belief, irrespective of their political party, in the right of people to determine their form of government."

The President hoped Mikoyan would so report to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The Administration Expects

The administration expressed the hope in a farewell telegram from Dulles to Mikoyan. It sweetened somewhat the sour note of the acid exchange Monday between the 63-year-old Soviet official and the state department over trade.

Visit Hoped Useful

The President and Dulles hoped it had been useful to Mikoyan to see this nation's progress under capitalism. They were sure the Soviet official had found the experience interesting. They hoped the visit overall had been of value.

More Research Is Being Done

The big step-up in research and development outlays by industry are reflected by research worker behind figures.

Research Revolution Hopes To Halt Serious Recessions

WASHINGTON (NEA)—These theories are now being discussed by some top economists.

That there won't be another recession—even a mild one—for at least five years.

That the next recessions, when they do come, will be milder and shorter.

That maybe there won't ever be another great depression.

Why the change? A research revolution is expected to bloom in 1959 and 1960 and flower out in the 1960s. It is expected to be strong enough—with other new forces—to put a damper on the ups and downs of business cycles and flatten out recessions.

As a by-product, this research revolution could hold back the deflation that some experts fear for 1960 or 1961.

It could force American companies to keep spending for new capital goods at a fast pace—even in a recession—by making industrial equipment quickly obsolete.

Industry would have to keep modernizing at a rapid rate to meet competition, much as chemical companies do today. The decline in new machinery and equipment buying by industry from time to time is considered one major cause of recessions.

It could ease the recurrent periods of slackened spending by consumers. A research-bolstered heavy flow of new products, and major improvements in old products, would constantly lure consumers to buy.

In this era of higher unemployment payments, consumers have the money to spend even in recessions.

It could create so many new industries—as atomic energy, electronics, missiles and plastics have been created in the recent past—that the up and down cycles of one industry would be balanced out by the down and ups of another, thus leveling off industrial booms and recessions.

There affect in the 1957-58 recession. Though industry cut back expansion programs sharply, buying of machinery and equipment for modernization held at a high level.

Buying of automation equipment, electrical machinery, computers, and materials handling equipment slipped only eight per cent in the recession.

Consumer buying held up well despite the slide in automobile purchases.

Research and development spending by private industry moved up another billion dollars in the year.

There are even more signs of the change in the works for 1959, 1960 and 1961.

The nation's steel mills have considerably more capacity than they will need for some time. But steel is already starting the installation of new super oxygen furnaces for steel making, calculated to cut operating costs by a quarter.

They're working on money-saving methods for the direct reduction of iron ore. They're developing a method of continuous casting for carbon steel expected to save $5 a ton.

The nation's banks are starting on a mammoth program of automation in handling checks.

Chemical makers are branching out in a revolutionary new field of plastics for building and construction. Paper companies are going in to the output of disposable sheets and clothing. Aluminum makers aim at cutting into the steel market with all-aluminum auto engines.

The billions in research on military electronics are resulting in the development of startling new elec-

Changes Point To Chance for New Labor Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Changes made in the labor committee of the new congress are pointing to increased chances for passage of a labor-management control legislation and possibly other labor measures as well.

Democrats increased their margin in the house labor committee from 27-13 to 20-10 and on the senate labor committee from 7-6 to 9-6.

GOP Side More Liberal

Moreover the Republican side of the senate group look on a less conservative tone. Sens. Winston L. Prouty, Vt., Jacob K. Javits, N. Y., Clifford P. Case, N. J., and John Sherman Cooper, Ky., will be serving for the GOP with Sens. Barry M. Goldwater, Ariz., and Everett M. Dirksen, Ill.

Coupled with the committee re-amping are indications from the labor department that the administration is not too unhappy with the anticorruption bill introduced Tuesday by Sen. John F. Kennedy, D., Mass.

Changes Expected

Some additions and changes for Kennedy's bill are expected to be included, however, in the administration program which will go to congress soon.

The advance word is that the present recommendations and the administration bill will closely resemble what was proposed last year.

If so, they will parallel much of Kennedy's bill. Points in common will for secret ballot union elections, strict accounting of union funds, criminal penalties for labor-management corruption, and a sprinkling of changes in the Taft-Hartley law.

Ke's Cabinet Said Split on Rights Issues

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (UPI)—President Eisenhower's cabinet was reported split today over a proposal to include a school integration plan in the administration's forthcoming civil rights bill.

Informed sources said Attorney General William F. Rogers was pressing the proposal with the help of cabinet "liberals" while "conservative" elements lined up against him.

Lawuits Involved

Rogers' plan was said to permit the justice department to bring lawsuits to end school segregation in areas where a wholesale flouting of the rights of Negro students was shown.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson introduced a four-point civil rights bill in the senate. But Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D., Minn., said today he and Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D., Ill., would propose a more far-reaching civil rights measure next week.

The Republican version is expected shortly.

Congress Battle Feared

Opponents of Rogers' plan argue that the rest of the administration's overall legislative program might founder if congress became embroiled in a bitter battle over civil rights legislation, but it was considered probable they would accept Johnson's relatively moderate approach with only token resistance.

Rod, Gun Club at Richfield Elects

RICHFIELD, Jan. 22 — Everett Ward was reelected chairman of the Richfield Rod and Gun club Monday night at the elementary school.

LeRoy Magoffin was reelected treasurer and Leslie Bushby is secretary, replacing Sterling King, who is in California this winter.

Carl Piper and L. T. Sanders were named team captains for the membership drive. Twenty dollars was donated to the Boy Scout drive.

Speaker was Stanley Larsen, local conservation officer, Shoshone, who said of big game kills in the surrounding areas, and showed wildlife films. Darel Haycock, refuge manager of the Star lake wildlife management area, was a special guest.

Loop Meet Set

JEROME, Jan. 22—There will be a loop meeting in Jerome next Thursday for the Northside IOOF lodges of Shoshone, Twin Falls, Pomeroy, Wendell, Gooding and Jerome.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. and all members are urged to attend.

Helwege Granted "Pencil" for Talk

"How to get away with murder," was the title of the blue-pencil speech by Arnold Helwege at the Tuesday night meeting of the Twin Falls Toastmasters club.

Helwege stated that in most countries throughout the United States, coroners are not required to have medical training, knowledge of the mechanics of death resulting from injuries or experience in scientific crime detection. He said an estimated 5,000 persons get away with murder each year because an unqualified coroner does not recognize homicide when he sees it.

Other speakers were Harold Gerber, Ben Eldredge and Jerro Cover. Lloyd Walker presented table topics based around methods employed for selections of competent officials. Chief evaluator for the meeting was James Cunningham. A guest was D. Henslee.

TWO MEN FINED

JEROME, Jan. 22—Two Jerome men were fined by Police Judge Roberta Kehr Tuesday for being drunk in a public place. They were Eugene Arion Jones, 38, $25, and Joseph Rusnak, 69, $35.

Hearings Are Set for Demo Housing Bills

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Hearings have been arranged on housing bills which their Democratic sponsors are pushing through as the first major legislative action of the new congress.

The senate banking committee started abbreviated hearings today. The house banking committee set Jan. 28 for the start of equally short hearings.

The sponsors were aiming at final congressional passage of a housing bill next month.

3 Billion Dollars Asked

Both senate and house measures call for around three billion dollars in new federal grants and authorizations for such diverse programs as slum elimination, housing for college students and elderly persons, and support at par for government-backed mortgages.

They also would provide for easier down-payment requirements for FHA home financing, lower interest rates and additional public housing construction.

The Democratic program goes far beyond President Eisenhower's budget proposals. Already it has generated speculation over the possibility of a presidential veto.

Deliberate Veto Charged

Some house Republicans are calling the Democratic drive a political maneuver deliberately calculated to invite a veto.

Republican leaders said after meeting with Eisenhower here that the Democratic housing legislation would substantially upset Eisenhower's precariously balanced budget.

But Rep. Albert Rains, D., Ala., author of the house measure and chairman of the housing subcommittee, contended Democratic election gains last November showed a public demand for comprehensive housing legislation.

Benson Slates Coast Talk for Beet Growers

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22—Top figures in Idaho's big beet sugar industry have been invited to attend an industry meeting here Jan. 30 at which Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson is scheduled to deliver what is described as a "major farm policy address."

The meeting is the annual gathering of the California Beet Growers association, which has invited heads of 23 out-of-state sugar beet grower associations and executives of 14 beet sugar processing companies throughout the West and Mid-West. Sessions are scheduled at the Sheraton-Palace hotel with more than 600 delegates expected to attend.

Idaho industry leaders invited include Jack Claiborn, Kimberly, president of the Idaho Beet Growers association; William Beck Burley, president of the Lower Snake River Beet Growers; William A. Carson, Welter, president of the Nysa-Nampa Beet Growers; A. E. Benning, vice president and general manager of the Amalgamated Sugar Company, Ogden; J. Arthur Wood, president and general manager, Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, Salt Lake City; and Thomas Heath, Preston, vice president and general manager of the Franklin County Sugar company.

In addition to hearing Secretary Benson's address, the convention will note the 80th anniversary of the founding of the United States beet sugar industry at Alvarado in 1870.

Bear Facts

MONTREAL, Jan. 22 (AP)—Modern technologists working on Arctic defense construction at Churchill, Man., admit they are stumped by the polar bear problem.

Building company President R. G. Johnson said work on plane refueling facilities is confined to the six hours of daily winter daylight because the bears take over at night on the prowl. Only Eskimos may get bear-hunting permits, he pointed out, and the bears are unperturbed by helicopter attempts to buzz them off.

Rice Advertising Scored by Solon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth, R., Colo., said yesterday he has protested to the federal trade commission against television advertising which urges people to eat rice instead of potatoes on grounds that rice is less nutritious.

"I feel that the commission should stop this type of advertising, which is clearly prejudicial to the potato industry," Chenoweth said.

He said protests also were filed by Rep. Clifford G. McIntire, R.,

"Repeal Rule" Limiting Term, Says U.S. Chief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—This nation has tinkered with its 170-year-old constitution so rarely you'd think any repair job it tried would be a good one.

Yet there was President Eisenhower saying yesterday the 22nd amendment should be repealed. Ironically or maybe appropriately, Eisenhower has a special right to speak.

He Is First Victim
He is its first victim. For the 22nd, or newest, amendment says no person shall be elected president more than twice. And Dwight D. Eisenhower became the first to whom it applies.

Now Eisenhower, who will be 70 by the time our next president is elected, never has shown any hankering for a third term. But he has said several times he thinks a president should be allowed to stay on as long as the people want him. Yesterday, in reply to a question, he said he still feels that way.

Free Choice Said Best
Probably he put it best at another news conference, on Oct. 5, 1952, when he said, "By and large, the United States ought to be able to choose for its president anybody it wants, regardless of the number of terms he has served. Some people have said, 'You let him get enough power, and this will lead to a one-party government.'"

"That I don't believe. I have got the utmost faith in the long-term common sense of the American people."

Most of Us Don't Worry
Most of us, struggling with our daily chores, trying to pay our bills, doubtless will find No. 22 the most unburning issue of our times. Who cares, for heaven's sake?

Well, aside from Eisenhower, a number of historians and political scientists care. They think that when the amendment was adopted—

Nevada became the 36th state to ratify it, on Feb. 20, 1951—a real blow was delivered at a president's powers.

Oregon Court Says Hatfield Is State Chief

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 22 (AP)—The Oregon supreme court yesterday ruled that Mark Hatfield is legally governor and that Howell Appling, Jr., is secretary of state.

The decision ended a tangle that had tied up some state business for 10 days.

The court unanimously gave Appling, 39-year-old political unknown appointed by Hatfield, the office over 71-year-old David O'Hara.

O'Hara Appointed
O'Hara, retired head of the state elections division, was appointed by former Gov. Robert Holmes, a Democrat.

At the same time, the court said Hatfield had succeeded Holmes legally, and did not have to resign as secretary of state before becoming governor.

It was a stunning blow to Democratic Attorney General Robert Thornton, representing O'Hara. Hatfield's lawyers had asked the court to rule on Hatfield's legality as governor.

Thornton Contented Told
Thornton maintained that Hatfield had to vacate the office of secretary of state before Jan. 12, inauguration day. This would have left the way open for O'Hara to take office.

Instead, Hatfield kept his office until he took the oath as governor. Seconds after taking office, he appointed Appling.

The court, in a decision written by Justice Hall Lusk, said Hatfield's resignation was implied when he became governor.

Thornton filed the case last Friday.

Youth Sentenced
BOISE, Jan. 22 (AP)—An 18-year-old ex-convict was given an indefinite term under the federal youth correction act yesterday on charges of stealing government property.

Kenneth Levell Mhoon, 18, Chicago, appeared in U. S. district court before Judge Fred M. Taylor. Mhoon previously pleaded guilty.

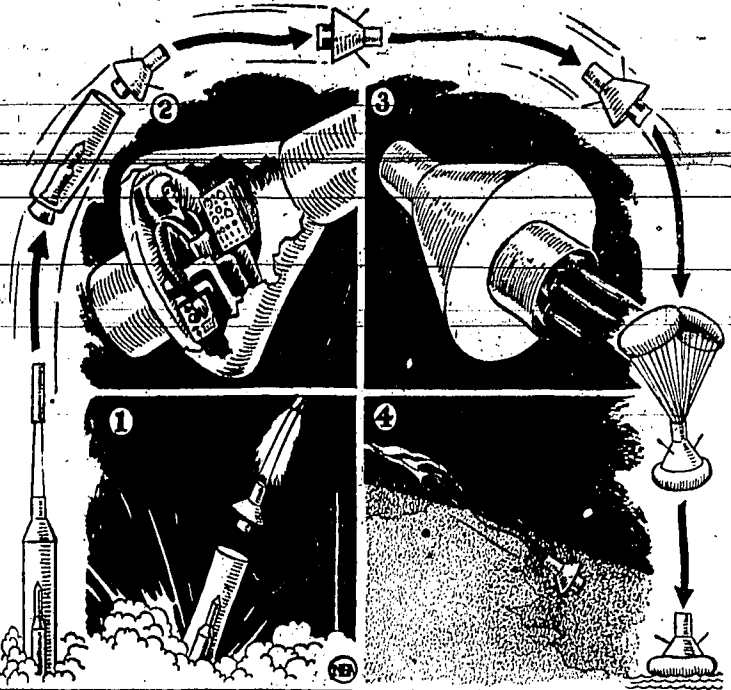

He was accused of stealing a radio and other merchandise from the post exchange at Mountain Home air force base and of attempting to cash a stolen cashier's check, taken from a car parked at the base.

Science Discovers New Liquid Bleach
Science has discovered a new liquid bleach that gets out the dirt that suds leave in.

Women who do all or part of our family wash . . . and that's most women in America today . . . have found, to our dismay, that there's some dirt that suds alone simply can't remove.

The oily stains on the collar and cuffs of a man's shirt are typical of this kind of stubborn soil. No matter which detergent we use, this dirt tends to build up in the fabrics, graying or yellowing white things and dulling the brightness of colors, too.

Firing of Manned Satellite Enacted

Drawings above enact the firing of America's first manned satellite, "Project Mercury"—as it will happen within two years. Border sketches, linked by arrows, trace its path from start to finish. Numbered drawings illustrate safety features: (1) At launching, "escape" rocket is attached to capsule's nose. If anything goes wrong, it hurls capsule up and away from pad and a parachute opens. Otherwise, escape rocket is dropped in flight. (2) Inside his heat-shielded cabin, pilot is forced against fitted couch under nine times the force of gravity during blast-off. (3) Ready to descend from its 100 to 150-mile-high orbit, small rocket flips capsule around so that pilot is facing backward. Reverse-firing rockets brake its speed. (4) Parachutes lower capsule gently to ocean, where inflatable rubber pad cushions and floats it. All these devices are designed to be operated by pilot or by radio from ground.

Big Government Payroll Helps Keep Budgets At High Levels

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (UPI)—One of every six employed persons in America is on a government payroll.

This statistic is one big reason why federal, state and local budgets—now so much in the news—are so high.

The latest official figures show that nearly 11 million men and women are currently engaged in defending the country, passing laws, teaching schools, delivering mail, collecting garbage or performing other tasks for which they are paid with tax dollars.

The total include 2,600,000 in the armed forces, 2,400,000 civilian employees of federal agencies and 6,000,000 state and local employees.

What does it cost to maintain this large force of public servants? The U. S. department of commerce says that payrolls at all levels of government totaled $40,119,000,000 in 1957. The 1958 figure hasn't been computed yet, but it will be somewhat higher because of pay raises granted during the past year.

What do they all do? National defense is the biggest activity of government, requiring the services of about 33 per cent of all employees (including, of course, all of those in uniform).

Education is second, nearly 25 per cent of the composite federal state and local government payroll consists of persons who are hired to teach, administer, clean and otherwise service public schools from kindergarten through college.

Hospitals and health services account for about seven per cent of the payroll, postal services six per cent, highway construction and maintenance, five per cent.

The rest are scattered among hundreds of different kinds of jobs, from providing police and fire protection to embalming bodies, blowing glass, classifying cotton and burning worn-out dollar bills.

Although the government payroll has had its ups and downs, reflecting the temporary impact of such things as wars and economy drives, the long range trend has been steadily upward.

Stock tickers were first put into use in New York stock exchange in 1867. Telephones were installed in 1879.

Mikoyan Seems to Have Lost Idea Capitalism Must Be Flop

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
Anatol I. Mikoyan seems to have suffered a loss of faith in one of the chief tenets of the communist movement.

For years the communists have preached that the Western nations are nursing in capitalism, the fox which will eventually eat out their vitals and make them easy prey for communist expansion.

In that belief, the sons-of-Lenin have always put their faith in civil wars at the time of critical unrest ahead-of-actual wars-of-conquest. They have held the latter in reserve in case the primary estimate proves incorrect.

Mikoyan, among other interesting impressions expressed at the conclusion of his visit to the United States, said:

"We must admit that capitalism in the United States is still strong. Capitalists cannot approve communism. Communists cannot approve capitalism."

"But we must proceed from the facts. And that means one has to live peacefully with one's neighbor and tolerate him. Otherwise each will annihilate the other. This means war. There is no other alternative."

Is that a denial of the Khrushchev thesis that annihilation will come through nonshooting competition? It sounds like it, although Mikoyan certainly did not intend to contradict his current boss. He has lived too long among the Soviet political cannibals for anything like that.

Presumably it was merely a plug for the Soviet policy of co-existence, by which the Kremlin hopes to gain time in which to match the United States in the ability to make either economic or military war, however the chips may fall.

The statement reveals, however, that the dynamic American economy, manifest in the life of the people, has made a strong impression.

If spread among Mikoyan's associates in Moscow, most of whom have only hearsay evidence which they are inclined to doubt, this reaction could have an important bearing on the possibilities of avoiding war in the near future.

There is even a possibility that a seed will be planted, from which might develop a flowering belief that, in the long run, capitalism with such modifications as have been growing in the last 50 to 100 years may yet prove more attractive to have-not peoples than communism.

Under capitalism, the people pool their resources to hire management—both political in the form of government and administrative for business—over which they retain control.

The money is paid back in wages to the people and in services performed by government, and the wages buy the products of business to create a dynamic cycle.

Under communism government owns everything, including control of the people. It distributes among them what it thinks they need, or what it must to keep them cooperating. The state becomes and end in itself rather than a vehicle on which people may ride toward a better life.

GARWOOD, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP)—Mrs. Alice Conway is going to lose down a pint of sherry at the bar of justice.

Then, if she flunks a drunkometer test, Magistrate James T. Leonard says he will find her guilty of drunken-driving.

Mrs. Conway, 63, is a registered nurse from Plainfield.

She was arrested Nov. 13 by a patrolman who found her slumped over the wheel and a half gallon jug of sherry in the back seat. A pint was missing.

She said she had taken a nip but was not intoxicated. Leonard agreed to let Mrs. Conway down a pint of sherry in court tomorrow night to prove she can hold her wine.

Judge Pondering Suit Over Estate
District Judge Theron W. Ward took under advisement Wednesday an action involving a dispute over the estate of A. B. Anderson. He directed attorneys to prepare briefs.

Judge Ward is considering an appeal by Ruth Moore from a Twin Falls probate court decision that denied increased widow allotments to her mother, Mrs. Anderson—Mrs. Anderson died in the fall of 1952.

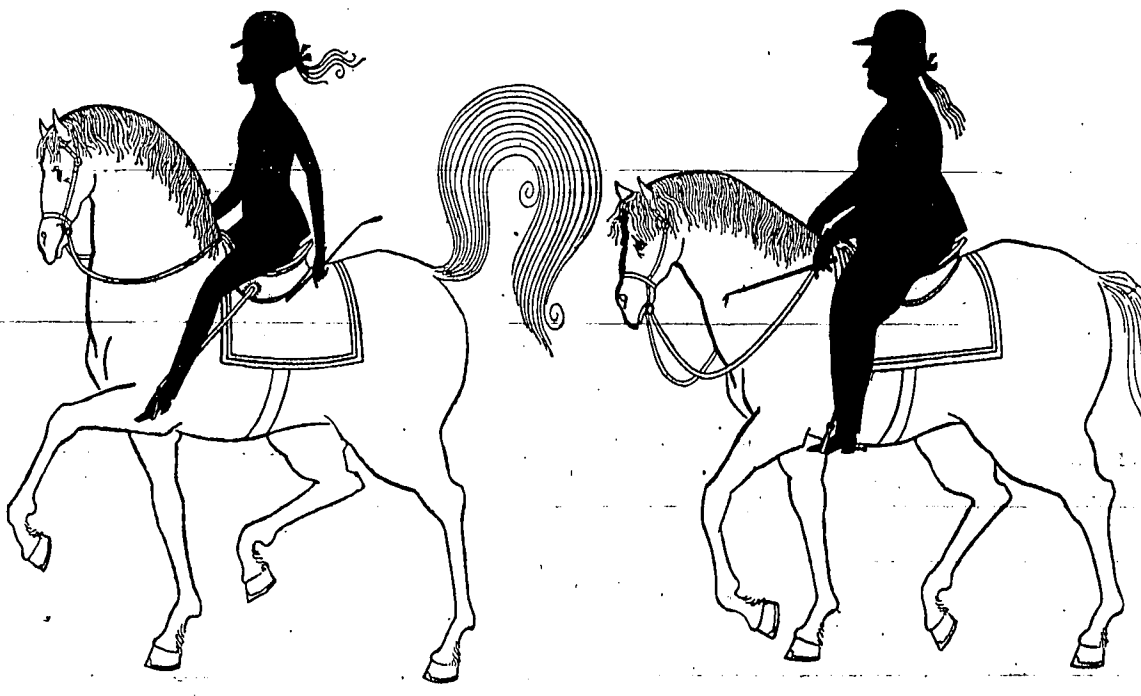

Named executor of the estate is Harold P. Anderson, Anderson's son by a previous marriage.

Attorneys for Mrs. Moore are Rayborn and Rayborn. Anderson is represented by Kramer and Walker.

Lincoln Farm Bureau Slates Parley Friday

SHOSHONE, Jan. 22 — A special meeting for the Lincoln County Farm Bureau is set for Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Braun.

Activities for the coming year will be outlined and the annual membership drive planned.

Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Larsen, members decided to have a scrapbook kept this year on the organization's activities. Mrs. Earl Vinsant and Mrs. Ross Boyd will be in charge of the project.

Ward Mills, president, was in charge of the meeting. Mills, Earl Vinsant and Cal Bateman are attending a meeting in Pocatello this week to plan the program for 1959. The group approved renewing membership in the Chamber of Commerce at Shoshone again for the year and retained R. E. Powell as representative.

Several films have been offered by other organizations or groups for programs at Farm Bureau, officers announced. Two copies of the book "Your Farm Bureau," have been given to the Shoshone city library. Alice Sturgis is the authoress. Refreshments were served.

Grange Votes Approval for Potatoes Plan

HAZELTON, Jan. 22 — Frontier Grange voted to support the proposed legislation to change the present Idaho potato marketing code at the bi-monthly meeting in the Grange hall, reports Dale Budd, master.

The proposal provides for marking and labeling of containers of Idaho potatoes, including all processed or canned potatoes as well as fresh potatoes.

Another section of the bill would make it unlawful to improperly label Idaho potatoes. It would include additional certified inspection at the plant of any processor before the potatoes enter the plant, including a penalty for violation.

The Frontier Grange is backing this bill as a step in the right direction, but members still prefer a more strict regulation limiting the sale of Idaho potatoes in any form to No. 1's and 2's, Budd said.

No oults would be allowed to be used by the processor except for starch or other un-edible products.

Following this discussion, a short program was presented by the lecturer, Mrs. Robert Brucke, who read John Wesley's "Rule for Good Living." Dale Budd and Robert Brucke read readings. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Estep and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stelmets served refreshments.

Aide Reports Collection for Blaine Taxes

HAILEY, Jan. 22 — Mrs. Fred Povey, Blaine county treasurer, reports $263,607.88 has been collected for the first half of 1958 real property taxes.

The total charge was $467,948.88 and the collection is 56 per cent of that charge. This is the same percentage as was collected for the first one-half of 1957 real property taxes.

Of this amount, the largest turnover will be to school district No. 61 in the amount of $117,065.10.

Floyd Wilson, personal property tax collector, states his office collected $32,628 as current tax and to date has collected $476.87 delinquent tax. Total charge on the personal-roll was $35,663.69, leaving a balance of $588.82 yet to be collected.

If personal property taxes are not paid by Jan. 22, the assessor must issue distraint warrants against owners for their collection.

Pie Social Set

CASTLEFORD, Jan. 22 — Castleford Grange will hold its annual March of Dimes pie social at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Grange hall.

Pinocle will be played and persons attending are asked to bring a pie, white elephant, and card playing equipment. Guests are invited.

Last Generator Goes on Line at Brownlee Dam

Brownlee dam in the Hells canyon reach of Snake river is virtually complete now with the fourth generator going "on the line" Thursday to bring its entire initial capacity of 360,000 kilowatts into full production. Except for finishing touches, the dam, second highest rockfill embankment in the world, is complete now. It is the first project of the three-dam development in which the Idaho Power company has already invested more than 110 million dollars. The second dam, Oxbow, will be completed next year and the third dam, Hells Canyon, will be built afterward. Spillway is at right, powerhouse at left. (Staff engraving)

Power-Producing Facilities Completed At Brownlee Dam as Last Unit Started

BROWNLEE, Jan. 22 — Giant Brownlee dam's power-producing facilities were completed today as the fourth generator went "on the line" at Idaho Power company's multimillion-dollar project in the nationally famous Hells canyon reach of Snake river.

Start-up of the fourth unit brings Brownlee's entire initial capacity of 360,000 kilowatts into full production. It also moves the project now finished except for routine cleanup into place among the Pacific Northwest's major power-generating installations.

Brownlee is the first project in a broad new three-dam development in which Idaho Power has already invested over one hundred and ten million dollars. The entire development is licensed by the federal power commission.

Electricity started streaming into the Northwest last August from the first unit at Brownlee, the world's second-highest rockfill dam. The mammoth project, which required more concrete for its powerhouse and spillway alone than many masonry dams, also includes a unique and experimental downstream-migrant fish facility.

Other projects in the utility's multi-purpose development are 190,000-kilowatt Oxbow dam and 275,000-kilowatt Hells canyon dam. Oxbow, scheduled for completion next year, is well under construction 12 miles downstream from Brownlee. Preliminary work has started at Hells canyon dam, which will be built following Oxbow's completion.

Entire cost of the three-project development will be about one hundred and sixty-four million dollars, including new transmission lines and other related facilities. Harnessing the full power potential of the Hells canyon reach, it also will provide public benefits of flood control, downstream navigation, fish conservation, recreation and tax revenues totaling some 10 million dollars annually to local, state and federal governments.

T. E. Roach, Idaho Power president, pointed out that completion of Brownlee's power-producing facilities today "is of tremendous economic importance to the Pacific Northwest."

"Power from Brownlee, and from Oxbow next year, assures the Northwest of dependable new sources of low-cost electricity to continue its growth," Roach said. "In conformity with our federal license, we are working vigorously and with taxpaying venture capital—to develop the full resources of the Hells canyon reach."

Brownlee's fourth unit was placed in production by M. C. Welsh, the utility's operating supervisor at the project. Only a small group of Idaho Power and construction company supervisors looked on as he closed a switch to start the giant generator spinning into action in the block-long powerhouse.

Cassia Solon Sees No Need Of Sales Tax

BURLEY, Jan. 22—Cassia county State Senator K. C. Barlow said here today that in his opinion there would be no need for the legislature to enact a state sales tax.

In Burley to attend the funeral of a former state legislator, Charles C. Haight, Barlow said he based his statement on the assumption that seven million dollars additional tax be derived from existing taxes in the next biennium. He added that it is certain there will be no increase in the present state income tax.

The question of public school finances was the only one not comprehensively covered in Gov. Robert Smylie's message to the legislature. On that question the state senator said the governor "left the door wide open."

Senator Barlow said he was offered the senate minority leadership during the legislature's reorganization.

He turned it down, he said, because of his belief his constituents would prefer that he maintain membership on the powerful joint committee of finance, of which he is the ranking member.

The Cassia senator is also a member of the new seven-member confidence committee set up to serve as liaison between the senate and house on taxation and revenue matters.

Three actions were filed in Twin Falls probate court Tuesday by the Idaho Credit Service company, Inc. The corporation says Mrs. Fay Perkins purchased merchandise on April 11, 1956, from F. E. Compton and company, paying $28 but leaving a balance plus interest of $127.52. The corporation seeks full payment and six per cent interest.

In another action, the firm alleges Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Neyman obtained medical services between March 20, 1952, and Oct. 14, 1955, from Dr. H. H. Snook, Falmdale, Calif., amounting to $231.20. The couple paid $56 on the bill, leaving a balance plus interest of $188.63. The corporation also seeks to recover $65.88 plus six per cent interest from Mr. and Mrs. Donald Craner. It is alleged that the Craners are indebted to Dr. Fen H. Covington.

Attorney for the corporation is Robert N. W. Balleisen.

Henry "Catches" Stevenson; Describing Him as Fat, Dumb

BY HENRY McLEMORE

What I thought was an outside peeping over my window all the other day wasn't that at all.

It was the top of Adlai Stevenson's head. Or I suppose it was, according to what I have been reading.

If it weren't Adlai I saw, then I was able to describe me so perfectly in a speech in Lake Forest, Ill.?

"Americans are fat and dumb and happy," Adlai told students.

That description fits me like my Sunday shoes, and is proof positive to me that Stevenson has been taking a gander at me on the sly.

Now whoever would have thought that a man had to start pulling down his blinds because a twice-defeated presidential candidate was loose in the neighborhood?

Wonder what I was wearing when

Adlai saw me? I must not have had that heavy tweed sports coat, else he would have had to place "very" in front of "fat." Beautiful material, that coat, but it makes me look like a bear seeking a hive to rob.

I must have had on my dinner jacket, the one with the extra long roll collar, a track the tailor thought of to disguise my front. If it was then I know what night Adlai peeped in the window. It would be Thursday when we had chicken cooked in red wine, which is a dish I always dress up for.

happy. It's a wonderful dish, the way Mary cooks it. She puts it on early in the afternoon and just lets it simmer in the wine and juices until it is falling apart.

A man couldn't help but be happy when eating it, especially if he has turnip greens, mashed turnips and french fries—with hollandaise sauce along with it, and mock crepes served for dessert.

It's eating like that which put on the fat that Adlai saw. It could be that he is envious of my shape. He travels so much like the rest of the world what is wrong with us. That he probably doesn't get to sit down very often and tuck in a real

American meal.

As for his calling me dumb, he is dead right, of course, but I wonder how he could tell by a quick peek in a window. My forehead, while not classic, is only a touch lower than average, and my ears are within a centimeter of being the standard distance apart.

Could it have been something I was reading that showed him I was dumb? I hardly think so, because as I recall it, I was reading what I have been reading almost exclusively since Megan was born six months ago—Common Stamps and How to Remove Them From Men's Clothes.

You see, Megan always saves a little of everything she eats for my left shoulder. I am sure I could go to a costume party as an unlabelled can of strained baby food and walk away with a prize.

All right, so I am fat, dumb and happy? There are worse ways to be. What about smart, smug, and satisfied?

Monument Leads to Death

The story of highway travelers can be told in the form of a pyramid. It runs from a broad base of innumerable shooies, (where did that car come from?) and all too frequent mishaps (didn't look, didn't signal, didn't yield, etc.) up through real accidents to the final one-death.

Johnson's Action in Starting Latest Bill Shows His Tactics

By JAMES MARLOW — for his bill. It became a yardstick of the best year in the nation. By better, and with the steam out of the leader of the senate Democrats, Johnson did the same kind of thing on the opening day of this new congress. He did it in Washington, and he did it in a tough fight to change a promise. He did it in the liberal camp, and he did it in the conservative camp. He did it in the liberal camp, and he did it in the conservative camp.

Big Seven Conference Race Features 20-Game Week-End Schedule for Magic Valley

The championship race in the Big Seven conference continues to highlight play this week-end as the front-running Minico Spartans invade the den of the second place Tigers of Jerome Friday night. However, all the conferences will see action again this week-end as 12 games are slated for Friday night with eight more to be run off Saturday. However, the Minico-Jerome meeting, ever, the spotlight returns to the Minico-Jerome meeting.

Minico Player Is Top Scorer in Big 7 Loop

Pat O'Donnell of the Minico Spartans is the Big Seven conference individual scoring leader as the loop nears the halfway point of the 1959 basketball season. O'Donnell, who scored sparingly during the pre-conference slate, has hit in double scoring figures in every league game to date and has surpassed the 20-point mark twice. Averagewise, however, he holds only a fractional lead over Jerome's Bill Block.

Oklahoma Man Has Top Times In Two Events

DENVER, Jan. 22 (AP)—Tom Nesmith of Bethel, Okla., posted the best times in two events Wednesday at the National Western Stock show rodeo.

Nesmith bulldozed a steer in 6.3 seconds and was clocked in 17.0 seconds in the calf roping contest.

Veteran Guy Weeks of Abilene, Tex., placed first in bareback riding and Bill Peddersen of El Reno, Tex., as tops in saddle-bronc riding.

Jim Charles of Oakdale, Calif., made the best ride on a halima bull. A total of $57,500 prizes are being competed for $52,000 prize money in this rodeo event which winds up Saturday.

First go-round money in bareback bronc riding and in bull riding was divided.

Jack Buschboom of Cassville, Wis., earned $98.37, Jack Wood of Dalrymple, Oke., $82.24 and Duane Henning of Laverne, Okla., $49.98 in the bronc competition. The champion of Sterling, Colo., was fourth and won $309.84.

In bull riding, top winner was Bob Wegner of Ponca City, Okla., with $888.37, Harry Tompkins of Dublin, Tex., won $802.24 and Wayne Lewis of Del City, Tex., won $635.10.

Johansson to Sign for Title Bout Friday

GOTEBORG, Sweden, Jan. 22 (AP)—Sweden's Ingemar Johansson Wednesday said he will arrive in New York Friday where he is expected to sign for a title fight with world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in the United States this June.

Johansson, 26, a handsome 6-foot-er, was told to come to New York by Edwin Ahlquist, Swedish promoter and the European champion's adviser.

Ahlquist conferred Tuesday with promoter Bill Rosenzohn and Gus D'Amato, Patterson's manager. After the round of conferences, Rosenzohn said the fight was 90 per cent made. He named New York, Los Angeles and Colorado Springs as possible sites.

"I have been in contact with Ahlquist today and he urged me to come over," said Johansson. "I have been prepared to leave on short notice for several days. My bags are packed."

The No. 1 challenger said he could not only confirm reports from New York that negotiations for the title fight have been completed and the contract needs only his signature.

His fiancée, Birgit Lundgren, however, said "We had agreed that Ingemar wouldn't go if the fight wasn't on the point of being made."

Significantly, Johansson, who had conferred with D'Amato and Patterson in New York last November, said then he wouldn't return unless the fight was made.

West's Top Derby Hope Is Beaten

ARGADIA, Calif., Jan. 22 (AP)—Tommy Lee, the West's leading derby hope of 1959, launched his 3-year-old career on a disappointing note Wednesday as he fell second to another English-bred colt, Ole Fols, in the $22,800 San Vicente handicap.

The Texas-owned, California-bred Tommy Lee finished two and a quarter lengths behind Neil S. McCarthy's Finnegan third.

The time for the seven furlongs was 1:22 2-5.

Ole Fols, coupled with Finnegan, in the betting, returned $530-$210 and $210.

Tommy Lee, with Willie Shoemaker aboard, paid the odds-on price of $2.10 and $2.10. Finnegan, of course, paid $2.10.

New Bill Offers Sports Exemptions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Sen. Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., D., Mo., introduced a bill Wednesday to give organized professional sports a variety of exemptions from anti-trust laws.

Hennings told the senate the bill would exempt professional baseball's reserve clause, football's reserve clause, football's player selection system, league territorial agreements and owners' vetoed in league committee decisions to enforce practices he described as designed to preserve the honesty and integrity of sporting contests.

He said the bill also would grant professional sports a limited right to control television broadcasting.

Moscow Man to Head State Wildlife Group

BOISE, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Idaho fish and game commission Wednesday chose Tom Felton of Moscow as its chairman to succeed Arie Johnson of Boise. The commission began its quarterly session one day earlier than originally planned. It set for Thursday afternoon the public hearings which are a part of each session. They are expected to be concerned primarily with proposals on fishing since principal business before the commission at the current meeting is approval of 1959 fishing seasons and regulations.

Alex Olmedo Drops Out of Tennis Meet

ADELAIDE, Jan. 22 (AP)—Alex Olmedo, the alling U. S. Davis Cup star, defaulted in the Australian doubles tennis Wednesday and is likely to withdraw from the singles Thursday.

The 22-year-old Peruvian is expected to take the court against Ulf Schmidt of Sweden in their singles quarter-finals Thursday, but he has been ordered to walk off at the slightest twinge of pain from his strained stomach muscle.

The commission voted to abolish the Latah county game sanctuary. The sanctuary had been established by the commission in Polatch Creek canyon north of Moscow as an experimental move to study migratory waterfowl. The commission said the study was complete and there was no further need for the sanctuary.

Cowboys Argue Over "Right To Ride" Law

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 22 (AP)—Representatives of two rival cowboy organizations aired their views on Wyoming's controversial "right to ride" bill at a meeting of the house livestock committee Wednesday.

The bill would extend indefinitely the law passed two years ago to require that the state fair rodeo at Douglas be open to all Wyoming residents, regardless of affiliation with a rodeo association. That bill will expire in March unless renewed.

State fair director Floyd Tetreault said he would like to see members of both the Rodeo Cowboy Association and the Northwest Ranch Cowboys association be eligible to compete in state fair rodeos, but he said he didn't think that legislation was needed.

Tetreault suggested that instead of passing a law requiring an open show, the legislature request the state board of agriculture try to work out a regulation whereby both rodeo cowboy groups could compete.

Bill Brown, Jr., of Gillette, president of the NRCA, said his group had tried for seven years to get an open show, but wasn't able to do anything until they got legislation.

Concealed Weapon Charge Is Lodged Against Grid Star

VANCOUVER, Wash., Jan. 22 (AP)—Jimmy Jones, the former University of Washington football back who now plays for the Los Angeles Rams, apparently slipped out of town last night after posting $50 bond for his freedom from jail.

Jones and his father, L. C. Jones, 43, Tacoma, had been arrested the night before on highway 99 freeway here. Sheriff's deputy Bud Carr signed a complaint accusing them of carrying a concealed weapon.

It was a .38 caliber revolver that was in the glove compartment of the Jones' automobile, Carr said.

The deputy said the car had been signalled to the side of the road because it had attracted attention by its slowness. When Jones opened the glove compartment for his driver's license, the gun was seen, Carr said.

"They were just on a trip and just carelessly put a gun in there like you might be going to shoot rabbits. That's all that they were carrying it for as far as I know," said sheriff Clarence McKay.

T.F. Hopes to End Win Drought in Week-End Tilts With Tiger Teams

In the throes of a mid-season slump, the Twin Falls Bruins will be out to snap a four-game losing streak this week-end when they meet the highly-touted Idaho Falls Tigers and the equally potent Tigers of Jerome. The Bruins will host the Idaho Falls team in a Southern Idaho conference game Friday night and then will journey across the river Saturday to renew their rivalry with Jerome. The Hansen Huskies will meet the undefeated Twin Falls junior varsity in the preliminary Friday.

Two Redleg Rookies Tabbed Best in Loop

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs boast two of the prize rookies in the National League. They are Jimmy O'Toole, 20-year-old southpaw, and Vada Pinson, fleet-footed outfielder of the same age. Experts who have watched these two youngsters predict that both will be playing regular for the Redlegs in 1959 despite the fact that O'Toole has had only one year of pro ball experience and Pinson two.

With Nashville last year, O'Toole won 20 and lost only eight, completing 21 games. His ERA for 280 innings was 2.44 and his 189 strikeouts tied him for the Southern association lead.

The Irish youngster from Chicago was signed in December of 1957 while attending the University of Wisconsin. He received a $50,000 bonus and experts say he is worth every cent of it.

Pinson took the Redlegs training camp by storm last spring and wound up in right field in the opening-day lineup.

One swing around the loop, however, convinced the front office he wasn't ready and he was farmed out to Seattle.

During his year in the Pacific Coast league, Pinson batted .343 to finish second to Andre Rogers of Phoenix. He drove in 78 runs, scored 92 and his 37 stolen bases topped the league.

Pitchers Orlando Pena, Miguel Cuellar and Claude Osteen are rated very highly, too.

The left-handed Osteen, promoted from the class B Northwest league at Wenatchee to Seattle in August, won five and dropped four while compiling a 3.08 ERA.

Cuellar had a 13-12 record and a 2.77 earned run average at Havana last year. Pena averaged 120 in 154 innings at Havana where he was 11-10.

Jim Fridley will get a shot at an outfield post. His .348 average with Nashville led the Southern association. Chuck Coles, a first baseman, batted .307 and knocked in 107 runs at Nashville. Ello Chacon, a shortstop, comes up from Havana where he batted .280 and fielded spectacularly.

Jesse Gonder, a third baseman, was purchased from San Antonio where he batted .328 in 51 games. Catcher Haven Schmidt, outfielder Drew Gilbert and infielders Bob Henrich and Don Pavellitch are other newcomers.

Jerry West, West Virginia's best pitcher, averaged 17.3 per game during the 1957-58 season.

Notre Dame Player Is First Man Tabbed as Pro Football Loop Finishes Annual Draft

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22 (AP)—National Football league clubs Wednesday tapped a Notre Dame end and a lad who reportedly can throw 50 yards with either hand as the first choice of the day as the 12 pro clubs began plodding through the annual college player draft. Bob Wetoska, 238-pound end, was the first choice of the day as the Washington Redskins, using 26 rounds of selections for a total 312 players.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY
The current basketball season has five big week-ends to go already and "must be records" have been registered for the draft. The first of course, is the 43 who threw the Burley Bobcats color while drubbing the Twin Falls Bruins 67-10 and the other the most notable score scored up by them and Carlin in their week-end meeting.

In case some of you didn't see the game, Hansen hit by a fabulous score of 87-84. Probably about the time Carey was doing to wondering what he has to do to beat the Bruins in recent years we remember of only one other team that ranks in that class. That was the 55 points Twin Falls racked up in beating Burley in the district tournament in 1954.

Mate students at Twin Falls high school came in for some stern criticism last week over some instances of unsportsmanlike conduct at local basketball games. But they showed today they are willing to show their efforts channeled into a more constructive form of support for the team.

A meeting of the school student council hatched the idea of forming the boys' Pep club. To see how the boys felt about the proposal, a special meeting was called for approximately 400 boys showed up.

As was expected earlier this week, the state legislature has gone on record almost unanimously seeking the renewal of athletic competition between Idaho State and Idaho. Only four of the legislators voted against the measure, those four being in the house.

Such action was anticipated after 50 announced its athletic budget as $200,000 in the hole.

Pitching Is Big Item in Red Sox Attack

By MIKE HIGGINS
Manager, Boston Red Sox
DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 22 (UPI)—Pitching, just like last year, holds the key to the Red Sox' fate in 1959. Our pitching didn't come up to expectations last season, what with 16-81 and possibly from Dave Sister and Bill Mott.

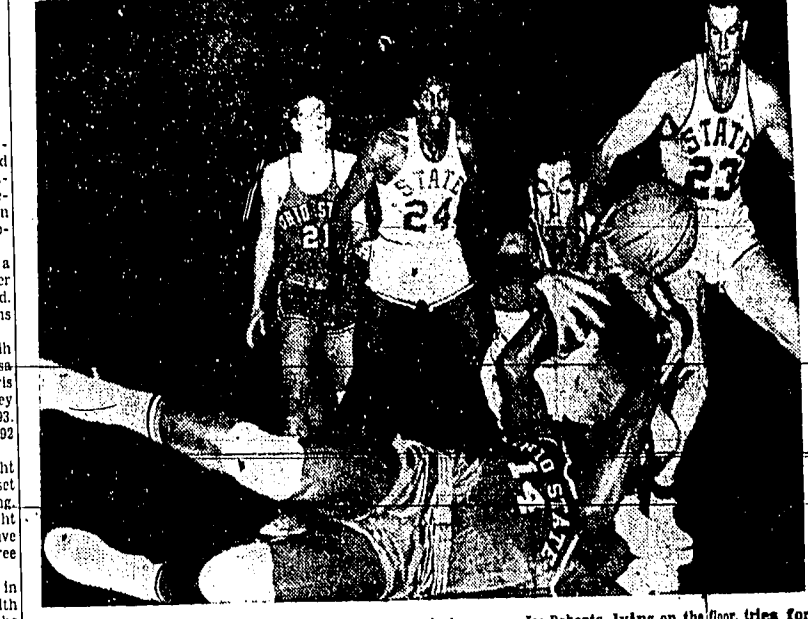

He was 10-0 as a reliever, then slumped as a starter. Nixon still remains a big question mark but we should get better performances from Brewer (12-12), Frank Sullivan (13-9), Dave Sister (12-12) and possibly from Dave Sister and Bill Mott.

And Herb Moford, whom we obtained from Detroit, is a better pitcher than his 4-9 record with the Tigers would indicate. He had six complete games among his 11 starts and had a 3.60 earned-run average.

The reason should be Vic Wertz, for whom we gave up Jim Piersall in trade, and maybe Jim Busby, for whom we traded Billy Klumpp. Wertz has had some fabulous days against us in Boston, now, maybe we can get that help for our side. He broke his leg in spring training last year, but he's a good hitter, is only 33 and should be good for a lot of games.

"Just Taking It Easy"

Those Ohio State hoopsters really make the game look easy as Joe Roberts, lying on the floor, tries for a pass from a completely relaxed position. Actually, Joe had been knocked down in the scramble, but even from the floor he was still pitching. Picture was taken during the game between Michigan State and Ohio State at East Lansing, Mich. Michigan won 92 to 77. (NEA telephoto)

Williams and Jackie Jensen, the RBI king with 123 and 35 homers in helping his 288 average, are fixtures in left and right field. And Busby, a fine base runner, might return to the form of two or three years ago with the change of scenery and improve on that. 233 he had with the Orioles. He or Gene Stephens will be in center.

Nine Teams Reported Entered in 32nd Annual Gooding Outlaw Meet

GOODING, Jan. 22—Defending champion Mountain Home air force base leads a field of nine top outlaw teams in southern Idaho into the 32nd annual Gooding Outlaw tournament Feb. 11 through 14. Cecil Stewart, publicity chairman, notes the Gooding tournament, sponsored by the Gooding Lions club, will be limited to a field of 16 teams. While seven entries still are required to fill the schedule, Stewart urged local team managers to get their entries in immediately. He said the last seven spots will be given to the first seven entries received.

Ex-Coach Dies of Heart Ailment

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Jan. 22 (AP)—Dr. J. Norman Elliott, 64, father of two collegiate football coaches and a coach himself in earlier years, died Wednesday of a heart ailment.

So far the entered field represents most of Southern Idaho and includes an Oregon team. In addition to the air force team, the list includes Glenns Ferry; Shoshone; Aberdeen; Big; Circle Bar; Bliss; Kendrick Drug; Gooding; Linfield; Dallas; McMinnville, Ore.; Serpa's, Twin Falls, and Self Manufacturing company, Twin Falls.

General Tells Story That Isn't Joke; It Describes New Secret Nerve Gases

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Festively behind locked doors on Capitol Hill, the general told a little joke. The story was about a man who went to visit a friend in the hospital and found him all bandaged up, with a broken arm and one leg in a plaster cast. Patient: "What in the world happened?" Visitor: "You remember the party Saturday night? Well, you got up on top of the dresser and said you could fly to the other side of the room. You jumped off and didn't make it." "Why didn't you stop me?" "Stop you? I was betting you could do it!" The lawmakers gathered around the table at a house committee hearing didn't laugh—a few of them silvered—as Maj. Gen. William M. Cressy, then chief of the U.S. army chemical corps, related the joke. For Cressy used the story to illustrate how secret new types of nerve gas—or "nerve discombinators," as he called them—might be used to subdue the enemy in a conflict involving germ or chemical warfare. "The point is," said Cressy, "that it (the gas) will do these things to you. You will be acting very irrationally and the other people who have also been subjected to it will not know it, either. Everybody will be on the bandwagon." Cressy's heavily censored testimony, when published, did not elaborate on the weird effects of certain nerve gases beyond saying they could upset your behavior pattern. But in citing "gases that affect the minds of men . . . and break down a people's will to fight," the general seemed to be hinting at a new type of warfare—without guns, bombs or bayonets—in which victory would be achieved without killing or maiming on either side. While the Pentagon shies away from almost all discussion of germ warfare, further enlightenment about these "psycho-chemical" weapons has come from Dr. E. L. Kropa, Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, O., which engages in numerous defense research projects. In a report Dr. Kropa described laboratory experiments by a scientist named Hoffman involving a chemical which produces temporary madness. The chemical is known as LSD-25 or lysergic acid. "To give you a little insight as to how active this material is, it has been estimated that less than a pound would cause all the inhabitants in New York City to take on a Schizoid reaction" (an emotional disturbance marked by such things as delusions and hallucinations). Describing the effects from a self-dosage of 25 milligram of LSD-25—less than one-thousandth of a gram—Hoffman wrote: "I had great difficulty in speaking coherently, my field of vision swayed before me . . . objects appeared distorted like images in a curved mirror . . . the faces of those around me appeared as grotesque colored masks . . . I shqued half in-

Diapers Exempt

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 22 (AP)—Nova Scotia's Premier Stanfield has made it official. There will be no hospital tax on diapers. The question came up last week when Dr. C. H. Reardon, a Liberal legislator, said it was ridiculous to tax diapers in the three per cent retail sales program which finances the province's share of the national hospital plan. sanely—or babbled incoherent words. Six hours later the siege of temporary madness began to taper off. In six hours, with the opposition temporarily and harmlessly reduced to so many babbling idiots, enemy invaders could march in without firing a shot.

Ride in New "Little Devil" Jet

'Chopper' Demonstrates Yo-yo

By WILLIAM TERRY

MOFFETT NAVAL AIR STATION, Calif., Jan. 22 (UPI)—If you would like to be a human yo-yo, come along for a ride on a little devil jet helicopter. The newest in "choppers" can shoot upward at 100 feet a second and perform a saint vitus dance in the sky. One moment you are on the ground nodding to the mechanic at takeoff. The next, second you are peering down at his tiny figure on the runway. Your stomach catches up several seconds later. I boarded the "Djinn" (French for little devil) at the National Helicopter Association of America as Crosthwait cut in the power—then went straight backward. A minute later, he swung around the tail in a lightning motion, darted down to grass-top level, dropped around again and settled on the ground gently as a falling leaf. The principle that makes the little devil fly is simple. Hot air from the jet pipe is blown through the hollow blades and out or slits in the ends, causing them to rotate. It's similar to the idea behind garden sprinklers. The craft was designed by Sikorsky Aviation, France. It is in production for the French army, the country Republic Aviation market the two-passenger birds for a variety of uses. Eventually, perhaps, for businessmen in more of a hurry than most commuters. Waste in wood manufacturing has been cut to a large extent by thinner saws. There is less waste sawdust.
