Eisenhower Says Cuts in Aid Would Boost Cost of Defense

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (UPI)—President Eisenhower warned today that any cut in the foreign aid budget will force "far greater" military spending. The President spoke to a meeting on international exchange of persons, sponsored by the institute of international education. Most of his brief, prepared speech was devoted to the need for greater "people-to-people diplomacy" in the cause of mutual world understanding. But his speech carried a plain warning to the heavily Democratic congress not to cut foreign aid. He said that those who advocated cutting his mutual aid and loan programs did not fully understand what these mean to national safety and world peace. "Any cut-back of present budgetary levels for our mutual security program," the President said, "would require additional outlays for our own security forces far greater than any amount that could be so saved." Foreign aid spending for this fiscal year is estimated at $3,900,000,000. In his budget message to congress last week he asked $3,500,000,000 for mutual aid for fiscal 1960. Anticipating a congressional effort to trim his recommendation, Eisenhower told the meeting at a downtown hotel that foreign aid cuts not only would boost military spending, but "in the long run dilute the faith of our allies in America's determination and ability to exercise leadership in the world."

'58 Traffic Deaths Lowest Since 1954

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP)—Traffic accidents in the United States took a heavy toll in 1958, but the number of persons killed, 37,000, was the lowest since 1954. The National Safety Council, reporting today on motor vehicle accidents said it estimates that 1,300,000 persons incurred crippling traffic injuries. The cost, including property destruction, wage loss, medical expense and overhead cost of insurance, was put at 5.4 billion dollars. "When you think of the price we are still paying for highway accidents in life and limb and money," the council commented, "there is little cause for complacency or satisfaction over the reduction of the death toll."

Pair Is Facing Neglect Count In T. F. Court

A Kimberly mother and father were free on $500 bonds Friday after being charged with neglect of their minor children. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilmer were arrested late Wednesday and charged with neglecting the children and endangering their health by "abuse, neglect and injury." Two of the children were taken to the Magic Valley Memorial hospital for treatment. One child named in the complaint was 3 1/2 years old and the other four months old. Another child was placed in a foster home by authorities, an official said Thursday night. An officer of the Twin Falls sheriff's department was called to investigate the family. After investigation by the county nurse, the county doctor was called to the scene. The doctor took two of the children to the hospital. One is said to have a rash on its body and the other was bruised. The investigating officer said he did not know how the child received the bruises. Judge J. Dean Mosher set bond at $500 each and the pair spent Wednesday night in the Twin Falls county jail. The bonds were posted at 10 a. m. Thursday, sheriff's records disclose. A trial date has been set for 10 a. m. next Wednesday.

NEWS BULLETINS

HELENA, Ark., Jan. 30 (AP)—The boiler of a work barge on the Mississippi river exploded today, killing seven persons and injuring three others. A store operator near the scene reported. The explosion occurred at Old Landing in a remote area 18 miles south of here and about 85 miles south of Memphis, Tenn. Ben McGrew, store operator at the landing, said the boiler exploded about noon when workers were loading logs on the barge. MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30 (AP)—Hostility toward neighboring Guatemala mounted in Mexico today, fired by a report that Guatemalan demonstrators had destroyed a border bridge and Guatemalan planes had flown over a Mexican city in the southern area. Guatemalan police in turn charged that 20 armed Mexicans had crossed the border Thursday and plundered the village of Santa Ana. NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—A Danish ship with 99 passengers and crew aboard struck an iceberg off Greenland today. The vessel radiated a distress signal, saying the engine room was flooding. The 2,844-ton ship, stricken 37 miles from Greenland's leeward coast, called for help. Coast guard cutter on weather station month hours away, far to the southwest, sped to the rescue. MOSCOW, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Soviet Communist party congress went into its fourth day today with two more Kremlin veterans added to the anti-party group. Mikhail Perukhin, former ambassador to Communist Germany, and Maxim Saburov, former high-ranking economic planner, were the latest under fire.

Space Chief Notes Plans To Test Rocket 10 Times Stronger Than at Present

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (UPI)—The defense department's space chief said today the United States hopes to test fire a rocket next year that will be 10 times as powerful as any this country now has. Roy W. Johnson, director of the Pentagon's advanced research projects agency, also predicted the United States eventually will be able to put a 25,000-pound manned space station into orbit. Johnson did not say when such a large station might be orbited. But he said that within the next three or four years "we shall be able to plan seriously for manned space platforms and interplanetary flight." In a speech prepared for delivery to the New York State Bar association Johnson said that the army was developing a booster with 1,500,000 pounds of thrust by clustering a number of present rocket engines. "We hope to have this booster available for flight test in 1960," he said. With an Atlas missile for a second stage and a third stage using high energy fuel, he said the new booster not only could put a 25,000-pound space station in orbit but could send a manned vehicle to circumnavigate the moon. Johnson said that "when Earth and space are married into a common environment, the United States will not arrive too late at the church." He outlined these defense department projects: Project Midas, designed to use satellites in an early warning system against surprise missile attack; Use of 2,500-pound satellites in stationary orbits 23,000 miles above the Earth for global communications. Devising means to maneuver a space ship rather than just orbiting the Earth or following a pre-set trajectory.

Women's Council for Civil Defense Formed

Under the direction of Mrs. Luther Douglas, Boise, a Women's Council for Civil Defense was organized for Twin Falls county Thursday night. Purposes of the organization will be to serve as an advisory unit to civil defense officials and provide a warden service, bringing homes in their neighborhoods up to a state of preparedness. Mrs. Douglas, staff planner for disaster relief and civil defense for Idaho, stated that the steps outlined would be useful whether or not an atomic war should ever develop. She suggested each family should have a member trained in first aid and one in home nursing. Emergency food, water and sanitation provisions should be made, and each family should be equipped with complete first aid equipment, Mrs. Douglas stated.

Plan of Solons About Schools Near Collapse

Richmond, Va., Jan. 30 (AP)—A plan by ardent segregationists in the Virginia legislature to ram through some drastic last-minute law that would block integration in Norfolk and Arlington schools Monday appeared on the verge of collapse today. Leaders of the group conceded they didn't see any hope of success with Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., firmly opposed to their moves. The group has declined to accept admission of a successor, but it was a foregone conclusion that Fulbright would be named. Green disclosed his decision in a "Dear Lyndon" letter to senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson dated yesterday. He made it clear he was resigning only as chairman and intends to stay on as a senator and to retain his membership—and his seniority—in the committee.

Senate Kills Move To Hike Minimum Idaho Driver Age

BOISE, Jan. 30 (UPI)—The Idaho senate today killed a bill which would increase the minimum age for licensing drivers from 14 to 16. It was defeated by a roll call vote of 27 to 16. Earlier, the controversial pari-mutuel race-betting bill, which also was scheduled for a vote, was withdrawn because of a recent attorney general's ruling that it should originate in the house instead of the senate because it was a revenue measure. Meanwhile, the house was dealing with about a dozen bills, mostly non-controversial.

Two Candidates for Jaunt Into Space Are Proud and Bewildered About It

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Jan. 30 (AP)—Bewildered but proud, two veteran air force test pilots were trying to digest today the news that they might soon swap their supersonic jet planes for a space ship. Capt. Tom Bogan, 35, and Capt. William Brabury, 33, were informed Thursday that they had been chosen with 108 other men as candidates for man's first venture to outer space. Their names were the first to be released after the spacemen program was announced Tuesday by Keith Glennan, U. S. space chief. "It was pretty hard to believe," Bogan said. Brabury nodded in agreement. The two pilots were interviewed by news director Ken Conner of KFRB, who had learned of the men's selection from an undisclosed news source. Air force officials confirmed it. Bogan and Brabury are on temporary duty at Elson air force base near here, from Wright Patterson air force base, Dayton, O. Bogan flies a F106 in subzero temperature tests. Brabury speed tests a F101B. Bogan, of Goodland, Ind., and Brabury, who hails from Houston, Tex., told Conner they have had no special training as yet for the space venture. But both have more than double the required 1,500 flying hours and are within the maximum height of 5 feet, 11 inches. The two pilots are married but their wives do not yet know of their husband's candidacy as spacemen. Bogan said he has been trying to reach his wife, who is visiting in London, Ont. Both women live at Dayton. Will Bogan and Brabury accept the chance to view the Earth as a tiny globe? "I would have to know more about the project," Brabury said. He pointed out that the 12 finalists would have a chance to decline. Both said they don't know too much about the project. Neither pilot had an idea of what training program might lie ahead. Glennan's announcement Tuesday said the 12 final space candidates are expected to have been selected by late March.

Women Start Defense Unit At T. F. Meet

World War II. Riddle warned. Tests have shown that in the event of atomic attack, people are so far safer in a basement than on the main floor of a home. Mrs. Douglas stated in the event of emergency, the women's unit would be asked to work on welfare, security, registration and housing, but their duties at present will be mainly educational.

Since the state has no funds to aid in expenses of county-wide organizations, Mrs. Douglas suggested that the organizations represented at the meeting contribute to a general expense fund.

Selected to head the organization were Mrs. Bert Morris, chairman, Mrs. Victor Miller, Buhl, and Mrs. Heber Loughmiller, Berger, vice chairmen and Mrs. LaVerne Strong, secretary-treasurer.

Chairmen to be named include progress speakers, publicity, training and materials. These committees have been set up on a state level; and will be able to give some help to the county chairmen, Mrs. Douglas reported.

All areas of the county were represented at the meeting, Mrs. Lester noted.

Senate Kills Bill to Boost Driving Age

permitted in cases of emergency, such as harvesting, to the 14-16 age group. The car-bomb lawmaker said he felt that the sheriff would be placed in a difficult spot because it would be under his jurisdiction to say if they could drive.

Sen. Lester C. Palmer, D., Adams, said he agreed with Cooper, and also added that he felt it was the "parental responsibility that the child be educated to his responsibilities."

"I feel the measure shifts the parental responsibility to the legislature," Sen. Nellie Oline Steenson, D., Bannock, said she was "not entirely pleased" with the measure, but "we have to have protection for our children."

"We must do something to stop this highway slaughter," she said, in noting that it was not the best measure, but would do until something better came along.

Sen. J. H. Hoggan, D., Franklin, said one of the reasons that he was opposed to the measure was that he felt that "we are passing the buck" wrongfully. He said children between 14 and 18 are not responsible for the many accidents on highways "so it would be folly to pass this measure."

Sen. R. M. Wetherell, D., Elmore, served notice that he may move tomorrow for reconsideration of the vote.

Idaho Raiser Of Cull Spud Isn't Wanted

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 30 (AP)—This New England state wants no part of Idahoans banished from their home state for growing cull potatoes.

The Maine house of representatives had a tongue in cheek reply to reports the Idaho legislature is considering a bill to ban the marketing of cull or off-grade spuds.

The Idahoans are thinking about banishing violators to Siberia of the "cull potato fields of Maine," legislators here were told.

Rep. E. Perrin Edmunds, R., Fort Fairfield, president of the Maine potato council and the National potato council, commented:

"We in Maine have known for some time that the popularity of the 'cull' variety was increasing in Idaho. Evidently legislation is necessary to protect the Idaho producer from his own mistakes.

"Fortunately Maine's superior marketing program has long since ruled out profitable production of this variety and its cultivation was discontinued here many years ago."

Edmunds suggested the legislature should provide banished Idahoans with travel expenses back home.

He said they couldn't earn such expenses here since there are no cull spud fields in which to work.

Rep. Carl R. Smith, R., Exeter, a former Maine commissioner of agriculture, added:

"We want to get them (banished Idahoans) out fast. It might be catching."

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Vice President Richard M. Nixon does not intend to forfeit his current lead in the 1960 presidential race to Gov. Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller without a fight. His office on Capitol Hill has become an active political headquarters since his only serious rival swept New York by more than 500,000 votes last November, while California was going Democratic by more than 600,000 to a million votes.

Both throughout the nation and in California, the vice president has already begun to mend fences that were weakened or leveled by the opposition's off-year landslide. He has consulted personally or by correspondence, with the responsible party leaders throughout the country. He has had the advantage of reports flowing into the Republican National committee.

As of today, Nixon has a strong lead over the untried and-to-most grass-roots politicians—the unknown man at Albany. The members of the National committee who recently met at Des Moines favored the vice president almost unanimously.

As the Goldwater-Simpson outburst demonstrated, the organization leaders do not hold him responsible for the GOP 1954-56-58 reverses in the congressional contests. They blame those losses on the President himself.

Nevertheless, many committeemen cast sidelong glances at the man who carried the Empire state by 500,000 votes. If he does not turn out to be too liberal, and if the impression grows that "Dick can't win," the struggle between the two could be a neck-and-neck affair.

ROCKEFELLER CAN WAIT—The Californian and the New Yorker are confronted with two entirely different problems, however. And their nature obviously gives Nixon a certain advantage for 1960.

The vice president faces the necessity of winning the nomination in that year. Should he fail of the prize, he becomes only a has-been.

Governor Rockefeller, however, need be in no hurry in pressing his luck. Should 1960 shape up as a Democratic year, he would win friends among the Nixon faction by stepping aside gracefully and gracefully.

Only 50 years old now, especially if he wins re-election in 1959, and the GOP goes down to defeat two years hence. In fact, he would have no competitor and could be nominated by acclamation under such circumstances.

Rockefeller's closest friends believe that he will pace himself in accord with this timetable. Having waited until he was 50 to engage in politics, he may show the same patience, the same caution, with respect to the presidency. Time is on his side.

NIXON REBUILDING—Meanwhile, Nixon has begun to prepare for 1960 by rebuilding the Republican organization in California. He realizes that persistence of the party's low estate in his home bailiwick will be a distinct liability to his presidential ambitions.

As a result of the stunning defeats of former Senator Knowland and Governor Knight, Nixon has a free hand as undisputed boss. The era of disastrous personal and factional feuding has ended. Both Knowland and Knight have declared for him as "California's favorite son."

In conference with California visitors on Capitol Hill, Nixon has advanced a program of more fund raising, year-around activity, recruitment of younger people as precinct workers and candidates, and a drive to recapture the Democratic legislature.

WOULD SHED "BIG BUSINESS" LABEL—Like National Chairman Meade ALCORN, Nixon demands action to shed the "big business and anti-labor image" that has bedeviled the GOP. He urges fewer $100-a-plate dinners and more door-to-door collections. He will not support the right-to-work movement, locally or nationally. In short, he is in one of his fighting moods.

CIRCUS RING JUSTICE

Many things were on exhibit in the Havana sports arena where Fidel Castro held his "war criminal" trials, but real justice was not among them.

It is perhaps one of the most pitifully tragic misjudgements of these times that Castro should imagine these public fiestas of vengeance would serve as a ringing answer to those who have assailed his summary executions.

Castro wanted the world, and particularly Americans, to see and hear what rebel justice was like. So what did he show the world?

He showed it a circus atmosphere with 30,000 Cubans, thirsty for pop and for death-sentence convictions, sitting as a kind of massive "jury behind the jury."

Never in history has true justice been dealt out while the mob looked on. How could it have been different in explosive Cuba?

Castro also showed his eagerly summoned observers television and news cameras which served only to enlarge the proportions of the spectacle.

To this gaudy, clamorous setting he brought Batista men to be tried for their lives.

Unquestionably many may deserve to die for unspeakable crimes against the rebels. But the world will never know the actual measure of their guilt.

For Castro marshaled mere handfuls of men who could testify to solid evidence of these crimes. They were lost in a shabby parade of witnesses who "knew" only by hearsay what the defendants had or had not done. Many obviously were rated "guilty" the moment they stepped onstage.

There is no justice in hearsay, in the blatant, unsupported branding of a man, in the noise of a crowd, in the whirling news camera.

Justice is found in the quiet room, in the books of law, in the sometimes irritatingly slow unfolding of orderly process, in the painstaking buildup of real evidence, and in its careful weighing by men who know this process stands at the very core of liberty.

If Castro does not learn this, he will fail a great test of responsibility. If he knows and does not care, how is he better than the thing of which he seeks to rid Cuba?

YAKITY-YAK

The federal communications commission reports that the number of telephones in the United States is approaching the 70 million mark—more than half the world total.

This shouldn't surprise many Americans, accustomed as we are to our high standard of living.

The further information that some 250 million calls are made daily over these phones won't shake up many of us, hardened as we are by astronomical figures in federal budgets and whatnot.

But what may give us a little shock is the news that we take third place in the number of calls per person per year, with 460. Canada leads with 497; Sweden comes second with 491.

Maybe now we can counter the old reputation of Yankee taciturnity with the charges of Canadian loquacity and Swedish volubility.

THE TENTH LITTLE INDIAN

Latest official records show that one out of every six working Americans is employed by government. Eleven million men and women are being paid by federal, state or local governments with tax dollars.

As the percentage of employed people who work for government grows, the percentage of people who don't diminishes. Like the old nursery rhyme about the ten little Indian boys. Brought up to date, it goes like this:

"Ten little taxpayers standing in line,
One goes to Washington, so there are nine.
"Nine little taxpayers for the state,
One switches jobs, so there are eight."
"Eight little taxpayers taxed high as Heaven,
The town hires one, so there are seven."
And so on and on. Now there's no question that the trend is up in government employment; once we suppose, the percentage was as low as one out of every 1,000 workers, and we can remember how astounded we were when we first learned some years back that government jobs had increased so that one out of every 10 people worked for Uncle Sam, the state capital or city hall, or their various subsidiaries.

The ratio now—one to five—means that 11 million people are employed by government that whatever else they may be, are certainly non-productive and thus unable to contribute to their own existence except by taxing producers.

Maybe somebody had better start counting the Indians that still work off the government reservation. Or who'll be left to pay the taxes to keep up the governments that support all the rest?—Wall Street Journal.

THE REALISTIC BRITISH

Fire-purchase (termed "installment buying" in the United States) is growing popular in Britain. The average Briton is now reported to be in debt $24 for things he is buying for a dollar down and a dollar a week—no pardon, a tanner down and a half-crown a week.

The average Briton is a piker, however. The average American is reported to be in hock $200.

But give the British time. Fire-purchase is a fairly new habit and until recently was under strict government control.

"Fire-purchase" seems an awkward term at first. Then it shines forth as an excellent example of British realism. How better to describe buying something which one never actually owns?—Salt Lake Tribune.

It's funny how some women, after trying on a shoe that just fits, ask for a smaller one.

POT SHOTS

FAST HILL

Skiers might be interested in knowing that the ski runs on Baldy Sun Valley way are lightning-fast. Or else there has been at least one real swift skier using those slopes.

Occasionally a skier will lose his hat and/or goggles and a skier has been known to lose a ski, or even both of them. But it was none of these items that turned up on the ski slope to attest to someone's speed.

Johnny Kelker, Twin Falls, made the find. He promptly turned the item over to the ski patrol. But we never heard who went so fast they skied right out from under their upper plates!

MAY BE YOUR CHANCE

By the purest accident, we have stumbled across something that someone might be able to work into a profitable venture. Anyway, it's worth a little thought.

Not long ago, Roy Painter was driving his "country car" from a south road onto U. S. highway 93 south of the Nevada-Idaho line. While he was waiting for traffic to pass, a man, sauntered over and asked, "Is this the bus to the Horse-Shu club?"

"Unfortunately," the source of the information failed to report Mr. Painter's reply or how much he charged.

OUR BULLETIN BOARD

Big Deal, Gooding—Thanks for your note, but we never print anything without knowing what we're getting into. If you care to explain what you have in mind, we might consider it. Thanks, anyway.

Want One, Twin Falls—Seems like every so often we have to explain to all over again, so we might just as well explain it for you. Sorry, but we can't ask for anything for anyone except in rare cases with extenuating circumstances. But if you have anything at all to give away, we can help you get rid of it.

HE DESERVED IT

Pots:

One of the fellows at the plant came to work not so long ago with a long scratch down the side of his face. He explained that he had been working on something at home and raised up quickly, scratching his face on a nail sticking out of a wall.

But it didn't look like that kind of a scratch, so everyone kept working on the guy until he finally broke down and admitted his wife scratched his face.

Then a puzzled look came and he admitted he couldn't understand why she had done it, or rather how she'd found out enough so that she knew what he had been up to.

"It wasn't as though I hadn't told her I'd be late getting home," he explained. "Why I even phoned her from the bar and told her I had to work late."

Ever hear the background noise in a bar over the telephone?

THOUGHTS ON THOUGHTS

Dear Pot Shots:

I do not know if a person can think better after smoking a cigarette or not. But I do think everyone should think for themselves and decide whether they want to smoke cigarettes or not.

And no matter how they decide, I do not think it will make any difference about thinking for themselves.

Now I think if you will think this over it may help you to think for yourself.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—The New York Times used to have a great reporter who often raised his hand when attorneys offered self-serving stuff about her on any, for gossip."

On inquiry, I learn from the Times that Mike Haggerty is living in retirement on Staten Island.

I salute an elder who uses a fine example to greenhorns lately in from the sticks.

This bears on the melodramatic episode in which Marie Torre, a gossip columnist, told the New York Herald Tribune, served by Westwood Pegler days in a quiet, comfortable jail as a federal prisoner for refusing to name the source of confidential "information" consisting of an abusive personal opinion of one individual about another.

The offended individual wants to sue the "informant" for damages.

The federal jurisprudence has eagerly made itself over into an agency to serve a system that subjects decent citizens to degrading indignities; put in the form of questions, by lawyers of notorious reputation under license of judicial subpoena.

Congress never passed any law permitting this persecution of good citizens, but it passed into court procedure. Thus Judge Sylvester Ryan gave Miss Torre 10 days in jail and could do it over and over for years. In fact, Ryan could give her life for "contempt," just for flouting a law whose evil quality many judges frankly admit.

Winners Told

JEROME, Jan. 30—Mrs. Sue Williams won first place, with her speech "Beware of price tag bargains" at the meeting of the Jer-Ida Toastmistress club Tuesday evening at the Gingham Inn.

Other giving speeches were Mrs. Guy Kennedy, Mrs. Lloyd Overmon, and Mrs. Norman Hinz.

Mrs. Agnes Hurst was toastmistress; Timers were Mrs. Raymond Sulter and Mrs. Dwight McGill; Judges were Mrs. Jack Russell, Mrs. Russell Howell, Mrs. Gene Jepson and Mrs. Jewell Depew. Tellers for the final count were Mrs. Carl Harper, Edith Nancolas and Mary Marshall.

Tobacco up

Twin Falls wholesale tobacco dealers began charging higher prices for smoking and chewing tobaccos this week.

Dealers explain that a majority of the major tobacco companies increased their prices on smoking and chewing tobaccos effective with invoices dated Monday.

Producer Criticizes Goldwyn Charge Stars Make too Much

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—Is any film star worth a half-a-million to a million dollars a picture, plus a share in its profits?

In a rare bit of public breast-beating, producer Sam Goldwyn last week declared exorbitant salary demands by actors were "the chief danger" facing the movie industry.

There came a rebuttal from Otto Preminger, one of the most successful and independent producers of the last decade.

"It's the wrong Hal Boyle thing to cry in public about stars asking for too much money," Preminger said.

"In a free competitive society anyone is privileged to ask anything he wants for his services. But if you don't want to pay them, you don't have to.

"If I find an actor asks too much, I simply don't employ him. I find somebody else.

"Is any actor worth a million dollars a picture? You can't generalize. He might be worth more than a million dollars—if his services are truly unique—or he might be worth less than nothing. The public really decides that question at the box office."

Preminger said producers themselves were largely to blame for the present high salary demands of actors.

"This all started by bribery," he declared crisply. "It resulted from producers persuading actors to play parts in movies that they really didn't want any part of. The only way the producers could get them to do it was to pay them more and more money."

As a producer, Preminger sometimes is a bit on the daring side when it comes to casting. One gamble he feels sure will pay off is the hiring of Boston lawyer Joseph N. Welch, star of the Army-McCarthy hearings in 1954, to play the judge in his latest film.

Preminger feels the motion picture industry is undergoing a long-range change that will ultimately improve it.

"I don't think television has hurt motion pictures," he said. "We have had only a temporary setback. Television will face the problem of becoming a second-rate advertising medium rather than a first-rate entertainment medium."

"Pay television will come, and when it comes it will be a good thing. Meanwhile the showing of old pictures on TV has made it necessary for us to compete against what we did before. This merely forces us to be better than we were, and growth is good for anybody."

Three Guests Talk for Meet Of T. F. Girls

Education in Other Countries was the topic of a panel discussion which featured three guest speakers at the general Girls' league meeting this week at Twin Falls high school.

Virginia Dillon, junior unit program chairman, introduced Mrs. Joan E. Hayes, past president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, who told about her trip to Japan.

Mrs. Hayes said many teen-agers in Japan are learning American activities. Girls never see boys while going to school after the fourth grade. Lately, girls and boys have been going to the same school, which is disliked by the boys because the girls are more intelligent.

Kurt Moss, native of France, stressed the importance of today's teen-agers and their duty to take advantage of school system and to aid their growing country. He said in France 14-year-olds take trigonometry and at 15, foreign languages.

Mrs. Higgs, born and raised in England, told how teen-agers of England are like those of the United States. There is little delinquency because homes of England are still strong. English girls now wear lipstick and women are often without gloves or a hat.

Mrs. Hayes, Moss and Mrs. Higgs stressed the importance of democracy and how Americans can maintain it in schools and country.

Newly appointed standing chairman were introduced by Nancy Davis, president of the league, with recognition given last semester's chairman.

Public Domain Study Meet for Area Complete

SHOSHONE, Jan. 30—A four-day session on public domain studies and measures was completed this week at the local bureau of land management office by advisory board members.

Matters included the review of approximately 600 applications for spring grazing use, transfer of grazing privileges, range improvements and management plans.

Of primary importance was a review concerning revisions of the code of federal regulations pertaining to use of the public lands. J. Russell Perry, state supervisor for Idaho, and William Mathews, state range and forestry officer, presented the review.

The code of federal regulations covers all subjects relating to permitted use of the surface resources on all vacant and unappropriated public lands within and without organized districts.

Policy, concerning seasons of use, proper salting and bedding, and other matters relevant to good range practices were discussed, resulting in adjustments in opening dates on all spring ranges and specified methods for salting all livestock and the bedding of sheep.

Other items receiving attention were proper control of trespass, reservation of feed for game, reseeding specified areas of range, better distribution of water, contributions by private individuals for range improvements, and protective measures, which would contribute to better land use.

Bureau personnel attending were Dale H. Kinnaman, district manager; Hapley M. Handy, assistant district range manager, and Morgan Jensen, Thomas Heller and James Gabettas, range managers. Also present were Carson Wallace, range aid for the district; Eugene Wundlerich, range conservationist, and Norwood Borsvold, administrative assistant.

New Anderson Store Manager Certain He'll Like This Area

A. J. Puckett, who took over as managing director Wednesday of the Twin Falls C. C. Anderson store, is certain he and his family will like Magic Valley.

A. J. PUCKETT

Born in Minnesota, the 39-year-old merchandiser moved to the West in 1947, working in Tacoma and Yakima, Wash., for Allied Stores, Inc., parent company of the Anderson chain. He was transferred to Twin Falls from a position as merchandising manager of the Bon Marche store in Yakima.

Hunting and fishing are two of Puckett's favorite pastimes. "I'd like to see Magic Valley offer abundant opportunities to pursue both hobbies. Puckett said, "I'm real happy for that. I like desert and mountain country and apparently this area combines both."

Puckett began his career with the Allied firm in 1947, working first as a display man in Yakima. Later he directed advertising and sales promotions.

During 1950 and 1951 Puckett worked at the firm's Tacoma store and then returned to Yakima in 1952, working through practically every department again as a manager's assistant.

His move West in 1947 followed a visit to relatives in Portland. "I told them to keep an eye on job opportunities for me. Not long after I returned to Minnesota they sent me a newspaper clipping which told about the display opening in Yakima."

Puckett is the father of three sons and a daughter, ranging in age from 7 to 16. His family will join him as soon as the school term ends in Yakima.

At the moment, Puckett is keeping busy meeting the store's 42 employees and getting acquainted with its operation. "As near as I can tell," he says, "the store is as good an organization as you can find anywhere."

As soon as he feels more acquainted with the store's operations Puckett expects to meet local businessmen and look for a house.

Puckett, a veteran of three years in the army during World War II, belonged to the Elks Lodge in Yakima.

He replaces M. W. Edson, currently awaiting reassignment by the Allied firm.

Leaves are really "the lungs" of a tree, reports the National Geographic society. Leaves have tiny pores which intake and exhale oxygen and carbon dioxide.

Some of GOP Want Curb of Union Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (UPI)—Some Senate Republicans expressed hope today that President Eisenhower would follow up his legislative proposals by encouraging a move later this year to curb union political activities.

Congressional sources reported that Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell talked Eisenhower out of including any political restrictions in his labor proposals which went to congress yesterday.

Sen. Hartley Act Included The President's 20-point bill would subject unions to the harsh spotlight of public scrutiny. It also would amend the Taft-Hartley law to tighten curbs on secondary boycotts and outlaw coercive picketing.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, D., Mass., the author of a more moderate labor reform measure, said Eisenhower's proposal went too far. This, he said, would lessen the chances of congress passing any labor clean-up bill this year.

Sen. Charles McNary, D., Ore., said the political curb on labor would confuse the issue and jeopardize approval of the President's other proposals.

Sen. James H. Doolittle, R., Mo., said Eisenhower personally favored legislation to reduce the political power of the labor movement.

The GOP strategy meeting at Des Moines, Ia., last week gave no attention to proposals for curbing labor's political power. It stressed instead, the need to strengthen the Republican organization to offset labor support given to Democrats.

The Taft-Hartley Act, which forbids unions to make political expenditures or contributions from dues collections, has not interfered seriously with political action by labor. Any attempt to tighten the present rule might be judged by the courts to be an infringement of constitutional rights.

Sen. James Eastland, D., Miss., said the Taft-Hartley law is "one of the worst pieces of legislation ever enacted by congress."

Sen. William Jenner, R., Ind., said the Taft-Hartley law is "one of the worst pieces of legislation ever enacted by congress."

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP)—All this driver for Mayor Richard J. Daley happened in a downtown Chicago Thursday, not on the late-late movie.

A youth in a Madison street radiator snatched $200 from the driver's wife, Mrs. Jeanette Rosenbloom, and dashed out the door.

"Thief, police, robbery," screamed Mrs. Rosenbloom. Two employees, James Neal, 24, and Willie Freney, 35, jumped to her aid.

But Neal and Freney got caught in the revolving door. When they freed themselves, the fugitive had a comfortable lead.

Neal began yelling, "Stop thief!" Passersby obliged by grabbing Freney. The thief gained more yardage while Neal talked them into releasing Freney.

At Madison and La Salle streets Traffic Officer Francis O'Connor joined the pursuit. A block south at Monroe and La Salle Officer Joseph Smith rushed to O'Connor's aid.

In the financial district several La Salle street businessmen, carrying brief cases, moved into action.

Between Monroe and Adams streets Robert Huckle, 25, a Wall Street Journal sales representative, brought the thief down with a hard tackle. Policeman Eugene Cassidy, driver for Mayor Richard J. Daley jumped from the parked official car and caught the quarry.

The two traffic officers returned to their curbs to untangle the knots of cars, cabs and trucks that had become tied in their absence.

"At the detective bureau the object of all the ado identified himself as Ralph Gayles, 19, Negro, and explained: "I saw all that money and just got excited."

Gem Plant Safety Measures Lauded

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Sen. Henry C. Dworshak, R., Ida., described Thursday as "reassuring" testimony regarding safety factors which are being employed at the atomic energy commission's station in Eastern Idaho.

J. R. Horan of the AEC and R. I. Doan of the Phillips Petroleum company, Idaho Falls, appeared before the special radiation subcommittee of the joint committee on atomic energy.

"Their testimony revealed," Dworshak said, "that only 10 per cent of the allowable safety margin of radioactive wastes, liquid and gaseous, are released per year from the plant."

"This precludes any danger of radioactive contamination to people working at the plant, or to residents of surrounding areas from waste products from the 17 reactor experiments now going on."

Woolgrower Group Urges Tariff Props

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 30 (AP)—The National Wool Growers association renewed its annual plea Thursday for increased tariff protection, spoke out sharply against what it sees as a new threat from Uruguay, and elected a Wyoming sheepman as president.

Delegates wound up their 94th annual convention after approving more than 60 resolutions, none of them causing debate.

A report that the secretary of the treasury was planning to lift the special tariff on Uruguayan wool brought a quick protest and a request for delay until the American wool industry has a chance to be heard.

The tariff, it is intended, to equal the amount Uruguay pays as an export subsidy to its growers a few dollar credits in this country.

Production of light, lean lambs-favored by housewives in their regular buying—is hampered by federal grading regulations, the association said.

It called on Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to discontinue federal grading immediately.

As in past years, the delegates said tariff protection is vital to survival of their industry, troubled with heavy foreign competition and weakened prices.

Harold Joesdal, Casper, Wyo., one of the association's five vice presidents, was advanced to the presidency.

George Nilop, Yakima, Wash., was elected a vice president in his place and the other vice presidents were re-elected.

They are Angus McIntosh, Las Animas, Colo.; Penrose B. Metcalfe, San Angelo, Tex.; David Little, Emmett, Ida.; and W. Hugh Babbitt, Chico, Calif.

Edwin E. Marsh, Salt Lake City, was continued as secretary-treasurer.

In the convention's only major surprise, the executive committee turned down Las Vegas, Nev., for next year's meeting.

It gave no reason for upsetting its site-committee's recommendation, but it was known that some women opposed Las Vegas, widely known for its gambling, because many teenage girls attend the convention as competitors in the Make It Yourself With Wool contest.

The 1960 site will be picked later. Denver and San Antonio, Texas, were believed in the running.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Children, being intelligent human beings, have likes and dislikes as have their parents. Some of these are characteristic of their stage of growth. Some are passing moods. Some are deep-rooted and have experience to nourish them.

To be wise in meeting these dislikes one must have some idea of their cause. Not an easy learning, for often, if asked, the child does not know. Often emotion clouds the idea, maybe sets it in the first place and emotions are difficult elements of personality to deal with at any time.

David, 5, disliked one of his grandmothers and adored the other. No body, his grandmothers no exception, could know why this was so, but so it was. David refused to kiss this grandmother, refused to go to her. He would not accept a toy which he longed to have from her hand. No amount of coaxing, scolding, threatening moved David. He shut his mouth in a hard line and balked.

When this happens and there seems to be no reason for it, one ignores the whole thing, looks it other way, says nothing about it. Usually, if grandmother smiles on another child, shows affection for him, and ignores the bawky one he comes around gradually, especially if she shows no desire to bring him closer.

It is fatal for a grownup person like grandmother unless or while to show jealousy. There are some children, and young ones at that, who will use this demonstration to their selfish advantage and that is a bad situation to create in any family. Jealousy, competition for a
