Retired Farmer Killed in Auto Crash Near Rupert; Investigation Underway

RUPERT, Feb. 5—Investigation was still under way Thursday into the traffic accident Wednesday evening which claimed the life of Jacob J. Maier, 69, retired Rupert farmer. Officers said decision on whether or not to hold an inquest into the death, which is Magic Valley's sixth traffic fatality for the year, will be made Friday. Mr. Maier was killed instantly in a two-car collision about three-fourths of a mile west of Rupert on highway 25 at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. Driver of the other vehicle, Edward Hell, 32, Hazelton, was taken to Minidoka County hospital where he was treated for head and leg injuries. He was released this afternoon.

State Patrolman Ray Thomas reported that Maier was driving east on a 1954 Buick and Hell was traveling west in a 1957 Buick. The patrolman said the Hell car apparently

The death raises Minidoka's traffic fatality count to four for the year. Last year at this time there had been only one traffic fatality in the valley, and the sixth highway death did not occur until April. During the latter part of January, three men were killed in Minidoka county in an accident which occurred four miles west of Rupert. Officers afterwards said Lyman Orr, 47, one of the three killed, failed to yield the right of way to an oncoming vehicle before making a

John Scott, Warm Springs, was injured in the accident which occurred on a steep one-half mile west of Ketchum.

A Chevrolet driven by Colpron skidded on ice while coming up the hill and struck Mrs. Scott's Chevrolet. Mrs. Scott is being held for concussion at Sun Valley hospital.

Damage to the Scott car was $600 and to Colpron's vehicle $500. Colpron, Nelson, Jerome, was cited for reckless driving, and the Peace C. E. Rudy Justice for failure to yield the right of way. He is cited by State Patrolman Richard Burns.

Donald E. Eudy, Jerome, was cited by Jerome Police Judge for reckless driving Wednesday for failure to stop at a red light. He is cited for no contendere.

Americans Still in Mexican Jails

TIJUANA, Mexico, Feb. 5 (UPI)—Five of the 44 Americans arrested in the Jan. 25 gambling raid on a Tijuana beach casino, remained in jail today. They hoped to raise bail

Friday. Relatives, friends and business associates chipped in to raise bail ranging from $100 to $800 for nine Americans released yesterday after Mexican judge reduced the $1,600 bail originally set for each of the nine.

Remaining in jail were Joe Woods, a Del Rio, Calif.; Jack Russell, Los Angeles; and Nick Podar, Santa Ana, Calif. Podar is accused of operating the raided gambling game and is held in lieu of $2,200 bail for the other two men is $500 each.

Army Maneuvers To Absorb Order

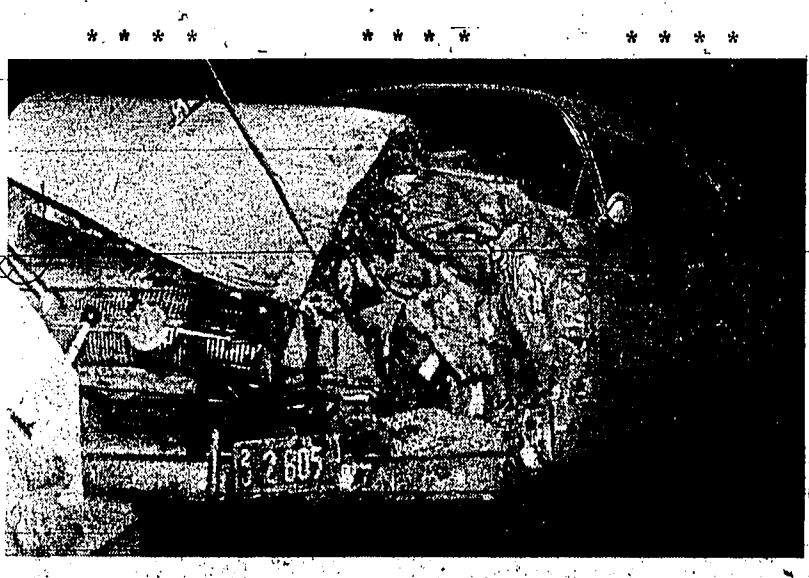

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UPI)—The army, under defense department prodding, is trying to see whether it can absorb an administration-ordered 30,000-man cut without chopping off a combat division.

Officials still favor a reduction from 45 to 41 divisions, officials said today, and the most likely candidate for cancellation is the ninth infantry division at Fort Carson, Colo. But no decision has been made.

A new look is under way as a result of pressures from both the defense department and congress.

Some sources said that any cut would be temporary and that the army would go back up to 45 divisions through better use of available manpower.

Two Wrecked Cars Almost Identical

Almost identical are these two wrecked cars involved in the fatal crash west of Rupert Wednesday evening. The point of impact was the left front of both cars, resulting in nearly identical wrecks. Note how hoods of two cars were bent in same manner. Auto at top, with Minidoka county license plate, was driven by Jacob J. Maier, 69, who was killed. Car at bottom, with Jerome county plates, was driven by Edward Hell, Hazelton, who incurred head and chest injuries. (Staff photo-engravings)

U. S. Says Red Fighters Down American Ship

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UPI)—The United States charged today that Russian fighters deliberately shot down an unarmed American transport last September. It added, in effect, that Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan lied about the incident during his recent visit here. The state department released a batch of transcripts, photostats and documents to back up its charge that the plane, which crashed in flames over Soviet Armenia on Sept. 2, was shot down deliberately.

They included what the department described as the transcript of an intercepted radio conversation among the Soviet fighter pilots as they shot down the four-engine plane and watched it crash in flames.

Also released were photostats and translations of two articles from "Soviet Aviation," the official Russian air force newspaper, describing the "attack" on the "enemy" and identifying four Russian fighter pilots who took part.

One of the articles reported that an unidentified Soviet general met the pilot after the attack and "shook their hands warmly and thanked them for their successful execution of the mission."

Previous reports had said the unarmed American plane, with 17 men aboard, had crashed after it was intercepted by Soviet fighters near the Turkish-Soviet border and escorted into Soviet Armenia.

The Russians had acknowledged finding the wreckage, but had denied that the plane was shot down. Later, the Russians turned over six bodies to American authorities and said they had no information about the other 11 men, who were aboard.

Only four of the six dead could be identified.

The state department disclosed that Mikoyan, when asked about the incident by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles during a visit here on Jan. 16, "denied that the plane had been shot down, asserting that it had crashed."

Bill Raising Idaho Minimum Wage Is Called 'Anti-Labor'

BOISE, Feb. 5 (AP)—A bill to raise Idaho's minimum wage from 75 cents to $1 per hour was attacked on the floor of the senate today as "anti-labor" because of one of its provisions. Sen. Jack M. Murphy, R., Lincoln, noted that the bill would repeal the enforcement section of the present minimum wage law. "This bill," he said, "is anti-labor. I do not want to force the working man to enforce the criminal statutes of the state." The assertion resulted in a parliamentary tangle that stalled consideration of the bill and the senate recessed until afternoon.

In rapid order came motions to commit the bill to committee of the whole for amendment and to have it retain its place on the calendar until the next legislative day.

The motion for it to retain its place was beaten but final action on the motion to commit was prevented by the motion to recess.

The bill previously was passed by the house.

The senate refused to reconsider a bill it killed yesterday. It would have prohibited write-in candidates in school trustee elections.

But the senate voted to reconsider two bills dealing with emergency school levies in the districts where population has increased.

Both bills were passed yesterday. Reconsideration was voted and the bills were placed on procedure for amendment. Sponsors explained a limit would be put on the emergency school levy.

The house took up three proposed amendments to a bill to raise from 14 to 16 the age for obtaining a driver's license. The bill passed the house earlier, but the vote was revoked so that amendments could be considered.

Rep. Jenkin L. Palmer, R., Oneida, proposed an amendment under which the department of law enforcement could issue a temporary restricted license to 14 and 15-year-old drivers "for occupational need or agricultural purposes" during daylight hours.

Rep. G. H. Higer, D., Gem, proposed an amendment under which the department of law enforcement could issue a temporary restricted license to 14 and 15-year-old drivers "for occupational need or agricultural purposes" during daylight hours.

Russ Leader Invites Ike to Visit Moscow

MOSCOW, Feb. 5 (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev today invited President Eisenhower to Moscow as a step toward bringing the two nations together and ending the threat of nuclear war. Khrushchev extended the invitation in a speech in which he also denounced Eisenhower and the U. S. administration for ignoring the "chaw" in the East-West cold war. This, he said, was the policy of "dealers in blood." He said the tour of the United States by Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan "in particular," helped along this thaw, and added, "Should the President decide to come to our country he would be met with sincere hospitality by our government and the Soviet people."

"A visit of this kind would undoubtedly be useful to both countries and would meet with the approval of the peoples of the U. S. and the Soviet Union," Khrushchev said in the speech before the 21st congress of the Soviet Communist party.

"Let the President take the map of the Soviet Union and choose the areas of our country he would like to visit."

Khrushchev was the final speaker at the congress which he had opened with the claim that economic competition is now enough to win the world to communism and war is no longer inevitable.

Khrushchev spoke with considerable feeling. His theme was that mass-produced Soviet missiles can now hit anywhere in the United States so the two major powers must reach an understanding.

The delegates cheered Khrushchev and his policies—in particular the new seven-year plan, designed to carry the USSR ahead of the United States industrially.

"We want only one thing," Khrushchev said, "the speediest end to the cold war."

"And Mr. (John Foster) Dulles, if you desire then for the sake of ending the cold war, we are even prepared to admit your victory in this war that is unwanted by the peoples."

"Regard yourselves, gentlemen, as the victors in this war—but end it quickly."

Senate Defeats New Republican Attempt to Cut Bill on Housing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The senate today defeated another Republican attempt to cut the omnibus housing bill. By a 53-39 vote, it rejected an amendment of Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R., Ind., to cut in half the 35,000 new public housing units the bill would authorize for the year starting July 1. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, D., Tex., announced he would move later in the day to cut 100 million dollars out of the 400 million the bill would authorize for college dormitory loans. President Eisenhower had asked 200 million.

He said he would be joined by Sens. J. William Fulbright, D., Ark., chairman of the banking committee, and Sen. John Sparkman, D., Ala., floor manager for the bill. This virtually assured the cut would be made.

Johnson said his proposed cut would be a Democratic compromise move in an effort to meet the administration half way.

The omnibus bill survived two major Republican efforts to cut it yesterday.

The only change made in the bill yesterday cut 150 million dollars off the program of direct government home loans for veterans, halving the 300 millions the senate banking committee had voted.

The house meantime voted 310-88 on a separate bill to provide the full 500 million for direct GI loans despite a protest from Rep. Charles Halleck, R., Ind., GOP leader, that "budget hawks are on the move." The house bill limited to veterans the maximum interest rate from 4 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent on home loans guaranteed by the veterans administration.

Angus Show, Sales Are Set in Filer Ring

FLER, Feb. 5 — Idaho Angus Breeders' association will hold its third annual futurity show and sale at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds here Feb. 20 and 21, says S. F. Tews, Filer, state president.

Annual meeting and election of officers of the association will be held at the Rogerson hotel in Twin Falls at 3 p.m. Friday, Feb. 20, with the annual banquet slated for 7 p.m. at the Town Tavern in Kimberly.

The sale will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday at the fairgrounds with 81 Williams, Pendleton, Ore., as auctioneer. Twenty bulls and 14 females have been consigned, Tews said. This number includes service age bulls, a select group of senior and junior bull calves, and some excellent, open and bred heifers and replacement females.

Judging of the futurity show cattle will be held Friday, beginning at 10 a.m. with J. D. Mankin, general manager of the Dwight D. Vedder ranch, Paradise Valley, Nev., as judge.

Tews said all cattle entered in the futurity show are Idaho owned and each animal exhibited is nominated one year in advance of the event. The futurity show gives breeders an opportunity to compare the tremendous strides being made in Angus breeding in Idaho.

Drop Is Forecast in Farm Income

REXBURG, Feb. 5 (UPI)—A University of Idaho economist says that net farm income will be lower in 1959.

Dr. W. Wayne Robinson, extension economist of the University of Idaho, made the prediction in a talk at the first general session of an upper Snake river valley agriculture and home economics short course which opened yesterday.

Dr. Robinson predicted slightly lower prices for both crops and livestock. The livestock decline, he said, will be due principally to lower hog prices.

Macmillan to Make Visit in Soviet Union

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has accepted an invitation to visit the Soviet Union beginning Feb. 21.

Macmillan will be accompanied by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and will stay up to 10 days.

Moscow radio broadcast acceptance of the invitation simultaneous with an official announcement in London.

Dulles Goes to Paris

The announcements came only minutes after the departure from the British capital of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for Paris after two days of talks with Macmillan and other British leaders on Western policy including West Berlin's future and German unification.

Dulles met Macmillan at noon after an hour-long session with Lloyd.

It was the concluding round in a series of talks on international issues that Dulles had held in London since he flew in from Washington yesterday.

More Talks Planned

Dulles has scheduled further discussions on the German questions with French leaders.

He will fly to Bonn at the end of the week for conferences with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and other officials.

Dulles and British leaders agree the West is opposed to the Soviet proposal in West Berlin and Germany but a final policy awaits Macmillan's scouting mission to Moscow.

Federal Grand Jury Hearing GM Probes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—A federal grand jury in New York is now hearing the results of an extended justice department inquiry into affairs of General Motors corporation, the department said today. A spokesman, responding to inquiries, declined to pinpoint the direction action may take. He denied that the grand jury study signifies that decisions on that point have been made. The spokesman said the grand jury is getting "evidence that has been obtained by the antitrust division in the course of an investigation that has been under way for some time."

The grand jury phase recalled frequent expressions of concern by justice department officials in recent years over possible "undue concentration" in the automobile manufacturing field. The latest such expression came yesterday.

General Motors, called the world's largest single manufacturing enterprise, produces five makes of automobiles—Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac; operates its own auto-financing company, General Motors Acceptance corporation, and has a wide variety of other products including diesel railroad locomotives, earth moving machinery and household appliances.

In confirming the grand jury investigation last night, a government source said the subpoenaed records would be presented to the jury. The source said a team of nine justice department lawyers has been presenting evidence to the jury for several weeks.

Assistant Attorney General Victor R. Hansen, chief of the justice department's antitrust division, told the senate-house economic committee yesterday the problem of "undue concentration" "plagues autos and steel." He did not name any firms.

In Detroit, GM. Board Chairman Frederick G. Donner said the subpoena called for a "tremendous amount of information, records and reports."

Snake River's Snow Pack Is Claimed Light

BOISE, Feb. 5 (UPI)—The soil conservation service yesterday reported a slight increase in soil moisture and snow cover conditions over the Columbia basin high watersheds but a light snow pack and low water supply continues as the outlook for the Snake river and its tributaries in Idaho and Oregon, Morlan W. Nelson, snow surveyor, said.

Wyoming Snake Low

The Snake in Wyoming is slightly below normal. The main stem of the Columbia river, the Kootenai and the Flathead river in Montana were reported near normal.

The snow pack is above normal in northern Idaho, Montana and British Columbia.

Big Lost River Snow Less

Lowest measurement of snow water was at the Big Lost river of south central Idaho, where it was 40 per cent of a 14-year average, and Owyhee and Malheur rivers where it was 43 per cent.

"The top was the 110 per cent measured along the Columbia and Kootenai of Canada."

Possibility of a critical water shortage is indicated along the rivers in eastern Oregon and southern Idaho, Nelson said. Snow fall for the next six weeks will be the critical factor in changing the situation significantly.

Selection Starts for Migrant Workers Act Is Introduced

BOISE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Bills aimed at clearing slums and educating the children of migrant farm workers were introduced in the Idaho house yesterday.

Under the slum clearance bill, a community could create an urban renewal agency with power to levy taxes if the governing body of the community felt it had a slum problem.

The migrant farm workers bill would permit school districts to levy an additional five mills for the education of migrants' children. The levy would have to be approved at the polls.

REMINDER ISSUED

BOISE, Feb. 5 (AP)—George N. Carter, state reclamation engineer, reminded water user districts throughout the state law requires them to hold their annual meetings on the first Monday of March.

Interstate Highway Construction Hits High Gear Most Places; Funds Needed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UPI)—Construction of the 41,000-mile interstate system of superhighways, off to a slow start in 1958, is in high gear in most states today.

But it is lagging badly in a few. And it is threatened with a nationwide slowdown in 1961 unless congress provides more money this year.

As of last Nov. 30, 2,768 miles had been completed. Another 3,710 miles were under construction. The states have either spent or obligated nearly all of the 7.4 billion dollars in federal funds apportioned to them so far.

Federal Highway Administrator Bertram D. Tallamy considers this progress satisfactory on an overall national basis. An aide said the end of "the tooling up period" has just about been reached.

But Chairman Albert Gore, D., Tenn., senate highways subcommittee, expressed concern at the lag in some states. The subcommittee is investigating the matter.

"Some states have made satisfactory progress," he told United Press International. "But the tardiness of some others is quite disturbing."

Five states—Delaware, Georgia, Massachusetts, Tennessee and West Virginia—have banks in the mile completed column of the latest report. So has the District of Columbia.

Seventeen other states had completed less than 20 miles. They and their completed mileage were: Arkansas, 0.8; Connecticut, 18.3; Florida, 4.1; Indiana, 4.8; Kentucky, 3.8; Louisiana, 5.6; Maine, 8.3; Maryland, 11.3; Nebraska, 0.5; Nevada, 11.3; New Hampshire, 16.3; Rhode Island, 8.7; South Carolina, 12.7; Utah, 17.4; and Vermont, 5.3.

However, most of these states showed up much better on the basis of funds obligated or construction underway.

Upon completion, the network of trunk-line, multi-lane highways will link together 90 per cent of the nation's cities with populations of 50,000 or more as well as many smaller cities and towns. It also will serve about half the rural population.

Although it will comprise only 1.3 per cent of the nation's total mileage of roads and streets, it is expected to carry 20 per cent of all highway traffic.

But it will be several years before motorists will be able to drive over any long stretches of the superhighways marked by special red.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The antitrust laws are now undergoing a "thorough re-examination" by congress and the justice department in a joint effort to make them a more effective weapon against the persistent and alarming increase in the cost of living.

As of today, it is generally admitted that these statutes have failed completely in their basic purpose. They were enacted originally in order to prevent monopolies from becoming so strong that they could rig prices without regard to cost factors or the laws of supply and demand.

They were designed to prevent "vast concentrations of power" that threatened to overshadow the government itself. In the days of romantic liberalism at the turn of the century, the antimonopoly movement was expected to save small, independent factories and business ventures from destructive competition by titanic "trusts."

OBJECTIVES NOT REALIZED—As numerous congressional studies have shown, none of these idealistic or bread-and-butter objectives has been realized.

Three great and efficiently managed companies control the automobile market, selling about 90 per cent of the cars on the road. Although they do not conspire illegally to fix prices at a certain level, the lack of an effective competition enables them to achieve the same effect.

The same situation obtains in almost every key industry—steel, coal, machinery, railroads, aircraft, clothing, food, household goods, glass, etc. With only a few firms dominating each market, they can and do prevent the public from enjoying the benefits of rivalry and competition.

Former Attorney General Herbert Brownell once toyed with the thought of breaking up these economic monopolies, even though they had attained their semi-monopolistic status by legal means. He referred specifically to the automobile industry, but his theory was applicable to other fields. Political-economic pressure forced him to abandon the idea.

PRICES CONTINUE TO RISE—The supreme court forced the Du Pont interests to dispose of their holdings in General Motors more than a year ago. It was a classic and dramatic use of the antitrust weapon against two industrial giants, and was so recognized. But the prices of the two companies' products have continued to rise. The government's legal victory in the courtroom did not save a nickel for the consumers in the market.

Victor R. Hansen appears to recognize the inadequacy of the antitrust laws, as interpreted and enforced in the past, to have a helpful, pocketbook effect on consumers.

TO USE CLAYTON AMENDMENT—As head of the federal antitrust division, he plans to invade and attack "those areas of the economy which most significantly affect the cost of living." He will investigate operations from the manufacturing to the retailing of many everyday products.

"Our objectives," he says, "is to insure price flexibility and avoid rigid price rises. The antitrust laws should be another weapon in the administration's overall effort to control inflation and to insure reasonable price stability."

Hansen says that he will have a good chance of success, if congress approves a 10 per cent increase in his appropriations. It will enable him to add 20 lawyers to his undermanned antitrust division.

He plans other enforcement innovations. He will utilize the Antitrust Act to prosecute racketeers, whose shakedown and sabotage contribute to prices that make it possible for merchants to pay this illegal tribute.

He will resort to the Clayton rather than to the Sherman act to break up or block price gouging "concentrations of power" and so-called "administered prices." Under the Clayton amendment, he can prevent a merger in advance, even though there is no substantial proof that it would stifle competition and raise prices.

Sir: Maybe you can tell me what motivates drivers in their parking habits.

If there isn't a car parked in a whole block, and just one driver comes along, he'll park in the one space in the block guarded by a "loading zone" sign. With all those empty spaces, why does he pick the one loading zone?

ANENT BOWLING

Dear Pots: I'd like to answer the letter written by the ex-football player. He asks if we can't have something besides basketball on the sports page.

It seems the T-N isn't interested in what we want to read, but what they want to print. A committee representing the bowlers of Twin Falls asks for more complete coverage on league bowling. We were informed that it would take too much room. Actually, it wouldn't take near the room as some of the other sports do.

I truly believe with the ever-growing interest in bowling it would be space well used and read. But it's unimportant what the subscribers want to read. The important thing is what the publishers want to print.

I. Bowl
(Twin Falls)

Pot Shots note: One of the flattering aspects of working for a newspaper is that all the readers are so interested they all feel they could do a better job of running it!

If you were to start measuring right now, and measure for one year, you would discover the T-N is devoting more space to bowling than any other local sport. That half column a day for about 10 months mounts up. Baseball lasts about five months, basketball about three, football about two and a half and so on.

If the T-N were to follow the example of metropolitan papers and most dailies, there wouldn't be a line on bowling except for special tournaments.

Somewhere there may be a magic formula to please all the bowlers, hunters, fishermen, basketball fans, etc., among the T-N's 20,000 subscribers. If you should happen to stumble across it, please holler loud and clear. The sports department would be interested.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

WASHINGTON

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The business answer to COPE—the AFL-CIO-Committee-on-Political Education—is PPP. It stands for Political Party.

As unveiled—by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce here, it is an eight-week study course that will cost you $6. This tops labor's "give a buck to COPE" campaign 600 per cent.

But Arthur H. Motley, president of Parade publications and chairman of the USCO committee that planned PPP says:

"Our program is not a reaction to organized labor. We don't want labor and business to meet head-on over politics. That would be disastrous."

"We've had a well organized labor movement in this country for years. It has been promoting progress in its own interests, which is perfectly legitimate. Business has no right to call 'foul,' because there's been no foul."

"The essential difference," says Motley, "is that COPE is designed to sell issues and candidates who stand for the issues COPE is promoting."

"In contrast to this, PPP is strictly nonpartisan. It can be taken up by any labor organization, business group, church, lodge or women's auxiliary without anyone having to change his views."

"We're not going to issue 'wrong' or 'right' voting lists on legislators, the way COPE does. We're not omniscient on who's right and who's wrong."

Some people are disappointed that PPP isn't more partisan—more anti-COPE, Motley admits. They point to the 300,000 union organizers throughout the country who can do political work on the side. They want something to match this.

Motley in turn points out that there are four million businessmen in the country. "If just 10 per cent of them became active in politics," says Motley, "we'd have 400,000 more people working for good government."

To promote PPP, U.S. Chamber of Commerce field men will visit all

Excuses

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UPI)—Not many people could forget an invitation to breakfast with the President at the White House.

But Rep. Robert R. Barry, R., N. Y., did.

"I just completely forgot all about it," Barry confessed. "I hope the President will forgive me."

Barry was one of those invited to the White House breakfast this week for freshmen GOP congressmen. At the time he was supposed to be breaking bread with the President, Barry was blissfully hauling trunks into the attic of his new home, buying mats for new carpets, and driving his son to school.

The New York Republican wasn't the only house member to flub protocol. Rep. Elmer J. Hoffman, R., Ill., arrived at the eggs and bacon breakfast 10 minutes late.

The 315-pound former Illinois state treasurer said "you won't believe it, but I couldn't find a cab."

Hailey Scouts Receive 'Life' Award at Pete

HAILEY, Feb. 5—In a "friendship circle of the square-knot" ceremony Sunday evening, Forest-Dent and Scout life awards.

Presentation was made by Russell Kelley, Shoshone, advancement chairman of the Wood River district. While the minimum requirement to receive this award is 10 merit badges, Dent holds 11, with merit badges in first aid, citizenship in the community and national, public speaking and soil and water conservation being awarded him at the meeting.

Merit badges for first aid, citizenship in the community and water and soil conservation were awarded Billy Lynn Knorrp at the meeting to bring his to 12.

Billy Knorrp, Scoutmaster, awarded tenderfoot badges to Robert Grace, Darryl Byington, David Byington, Edward Ivie, David Peterson and Stephen Patterson.

Thomas Griffin, Picabo, an Explorer Scout, was the principal speaker. He told of a trip he took last summer in a rubber boat down the Colorado river. Griffin was one of 50 who took the trip in eight boats.

Theme of the meeting was "Onward for God and my country." Knorrp was in charge and Scouts, in addition to those who received awards, who participated in the program were John Powell who gave the invocation, Vernon Sliam, Neise Sliam, Jerry Allred, David Byington and D. V. McWilliams in the flag ceremony.

Larry Allred, star Scout, spoke and Dennis Byington spoke on "God's plan for America." Neise and Vernon Sliam played an accord duet.

NOT TO BE MINIMIZED

In Soviet Premier Khrushchev's marathon speech to the 21st-congress of the Soviet Communist party, there was plenty of food for thought and enough for dozens of counter-arguments.

Among his more extravagant claims, he asserted that under the present seven-year plan and its successors the Soviet union expects to make such strides that by 1970 it will have a "decisive edge" economically over the United States and all other major competitors.

It is neither safe nor wise to ridicule Russia's economic boasts as we once did. The Kremlin already has accomplished too much for us to go on nursing our complacencies.

But we can still be honestly skeptical that Russia will achieve the mighty goals Khrushchev has set. To begin with, they demand annual production increases in the range of 8.5 per cent. And the Russians assume, erroneously, that the United States will advance its output no more than 2 per cent a year in the decade or so ahead.

We have actually been running somewhat below that average the past few years, but most consider our "normal" rate of growth as around 3 per cent. In the 1947-53 period it averaged better than 5 per cent, and the Rockefeller report on U.S. potentials said we should hit this regularly.

Furthermore, there is inevitably some doubt that Russia will hit the strenuous pace the Kremlin has decreed.

None of this lessens the danger that at some point in the future, if not 1970, Russia may indeed surpass America's total economic output.

With its customary totalitarian intensity, it is concentrating on developing new sources of power, including nuclear, and devising new industrial techniques. Not the least of these is automation.

Russian economic supremacy would spell peril because our present industrial superiority, overall, is the foundation of our security. Should we lose our edge, we would thereby lose our safety.

No, we don't have to believe that in 1970 the Soviet union will be the world's greatest economic power. But we do have to face the fact that the time has long since passed when we can coast along in that eminent place ourselves.

TO USE CLAYTON AMENDMENT—As head of the federal antitrust division, he plans to invade and attack "those areas of the economy which most significantly affect the cost of living." He will investigate operations from the manufacturing to the retailing of many everyday products.

"Our objectives," he says, "is to insure price flexibility and avoid rigid price rises. The antitrust laws should be another weapon in the administration's overall effort to control inflation and to insure reasonable price stability."

Report Shows Water Content Nearly Normal

Average water content in watersheds of the upper Snake river is about 85 per cent of normal, according to snow reports released at the end of January by soil conservation service, bureau of reclamation and forest service officials.

On Henry's fork and Salt river the water content is 70 per cent of normal, the report shows. Snow courses show substantially more snow than on the same date in 1955, when about 800,000 acre-feet of water spilled past Milner dam.

Present unfilled reservoir space above Milner is about 600,000 acre-feet greater than at the same time in 1955, the report says.

Snow depth at Salt river summit is 29.6 inches with 7.4 water content, compared to 9.9 water content a year ago; 1955 content was 5.2 and the normal content is 11.1 with present content 67 per cent of normal.

Only two stations showed water content percentage above normal. At Blackrock in the Buffalo river drainage, water content is 121 per cent of normal and at Twogwote pass 112 per cent above normal.

Lowest water content was reported at Aton ranger station where water content is only 55 per cent of normal.

Scouters Put on Church Program

VIEW, Feb. 5—"Onward for God and my country" was the title of a Boy Scout program given at the LDS ward chapel Sunday night with Explorer leader, James Knowland, in charge.

Colors were presented by Rodney Anderson; Karl Bronson and Dennis Marchant. Prayers were offered by Lynn Merrill and Max Howard. A reading was given by Grant Asher and Leop Hebard spoke on "How the Priesthood Helps me be a better Boy Scout."

Ray Bronson sang, accompanied by his sister, Del Jean. Lee Merrill spoke, and Loren Blauer sang, accompanied by De Ann Crane, Larry Christensen, Scott Mastner, also spoke.

TOP ISSUES FOR 1960

Correctly or not, many prominent Democratic strategists believe the 1960 presidential and congressional elections will be fought on two issues—namely, the need for rebuilding and expanding the domestic plant and for guarding against a Russian victory in a possible war.

In their opinion, all other questions will be secondary to these two great problems. In their opinion, the Nov. 4 outcome showed that the people are insistent on advances on these two fronts, and without regard for the costs.

Nikita Khrushchev constantly gives indirect support to this program. His boasts of Russia's planned economic progress by 1965 and 1970, as well as the regular reference to their outer-space triumphs, have apparently had an effect on the American people. Capitol Hill mall runs heavily in favor of greater efforts and expenditures in the scientific field.

By the accident of seniority, four of the ablest Democrats in congress head committees now inquiring into the sufficiency of Eisenhower budget allowances for domestic and military expansion.

The veteran Carl Vinson of Georgia will conduct an overall study as chairman of the house armed services committee. He is a big navy man. F. Edward Hebert of Louisiana heads the investigation by the special armed services investigating committee. A hard-bolled Texan, George H. Mahon, will cross-examine the military experts in private session as chairman of the house appropriations subcommittee handling Pentagon appropriations.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, liberal economic professor from Illinois, will head up the survey of domestic conditions and needs for the future. He has already commended the Eisenhower budget.

WHY NOT A STATE SALES TAX?

The reluctance of both Republicans and Democrats, as political parties in Idaho, to accept the idea of a state sales tax as at least a partial solution to the state's financial problems, is hard to understand.

First, we think most of Idaho voters would be favorable to a sales tax that lifted some of the burden on property and income. Second, we think that most of Idaho voters recognize that the efforts to avoid a sales tax are based upon increases in some sales taxes and possible increase in income tax, plus a heavier burden on property, achieved by an ever-rising assessed valuation.

There are three—and only three—mass taxes available. This works out neatly with one apiece for the federal government, the state, and local government. These are taxes on incomes, sales and property.

The federal government has raised the income tax structure to the point where any additional tax on incomes is self-defeating and unjust. Let the federal government run on federal income taxes.

The sales tax seems well-designed to provide the bulk of income for the state government. Let it run on that.

Let local government operate on local property taxes.

This system would tie revenue and expenditure together directly so that the people could evaluate what their money is buying and decide whether they want to pay more taxes for more services or less taxes for less services. It would be equitable and it would be flexible, with rates being adjusted to provide the required revenues.

If the rates became too high, the people would know exactly where they would have to look for relief, and they probably would find that there are some expensive governmental services that they could do without nicely.

Thirty-seven states now have sales taxes, indicating that experience with it has been good.

Idahoans, who leave their own state, help pay the sales taxes almost everywhere they go. They pay a federal sales tax on their tickets and on their gasoline. Visitors to Idaho, on the other hand, escape any share in the tax burden. Tourists alone would pay an estimated $2,000,000 annually to the state of Idaho on the basis of a two per cent levy on an estimated $100,000,000 spent.

Intrusion of the federal government into the sales tax field should be stopped.—Idaho State Journal.

OH NO, MISS HO!

Our agent in charge of listening posts reports an interesting offer has been made, via the Peiping radio, to the "overseas" Chinese by a Miss Ho Hsiangling.

Miss Ho, chairman of Overseas Chinese Affairs, said to the Chinese who live outside the areas under direct control of the Red China government: Just return to the motherland with your possessions and bank accounts, join a people's commune, and your property rights will be respected.

Only a few "surplus" items might be "borrowed" for use by the commune, she said.

Unfortunately, she didn't say, but other officials of her government have, that in the communes every kind of private property is considered "surplus," including a man's thoughts.—Denver Post.

Minidoka County Fire Unit Ready

RUPERT, Feb. 5—The newly formed Minidoka County Fire Protection district was ready for business this week following the delivery of a fire truck being furnished by the Snake River Mutual Fire Insurance company.

The truck will be housed at Paul with the West End district's truck and will be manned by members of the West End company, according to Vern Montgomery, chairman for the new district.

Joe Shelton, local representative of the Snake River Mutual company, explained that the new fire truck will be completely under the direction of the fire district and will not be run by the company as in the case with the truck in Burley.

He said the contract for the use of the truck provides only that it must answer all fires in the county if called, and also to fires in fringe areas of adjoining counties if the need arises.

234 Teachers, 74 Businessmen Take Part in Chamber's Event

Two hundred and thirty-four teachers, 74 businessmen, school board members and Chamber of Commerce officials participated in the third annual Business-Education day sponsored by the chamber Wednesday.

School personnel were guests at a luncheon at the American Legion hall, then small groups of four to six accompanied their hosts back to their places of business.

The afternoon was spent in tours of the businesses, with explanatory remarks by the owner or manager. Principles and problems of the free enterprise system were explained and questions of the teachers answered by officials of the hosting firms.

Purpose of the Business-Education day is to promote better understanding between the two groups. The program will be advanced further when the teachers reverse the plan next year. Business people will be guests of the teachers and will hear of the goals and problems of the schools.

Firms taking part in the project Wednesday were Saylor Drug, United Airlines, United Automobile, Idaho Department Store, Northwest Mutual, Fidelity bank, Fox Floral, Twin Falls Business college, Bean-brothers, Browning's, Coca Cola, Consolidated, C. Danes to Pay

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 5 (UPI)—The Danish government will foot the entire bill for the loss of the passenger-freighter Hans Hedtoft and will pay compensation to relatives of the 93 passengers and crew—most—who apparently went down with the ship off Greenland last week.

The Royal Trading company, a government company which hinged the two-million-dollar ship, said it was not covered by outside insurance.

Alaska Senators Eye House Seats

JUNEAU, Alaska, Feb. 5 (UPI)—Alaska's state senators have seen the bright new seafoam-green desks and red upholstered swivel chairs in the lower house chambers and apparently liked what they saw.

A bill introduced in the senate yesterday would appropriate $3,000 to purchase similar desks and chairs for the upper house.

The twenty members of the senate have been squeezed in their chamber behind 20 old wooden desks and plain wood swivel chairs. There has been little room for members to move around and it's even difficult for them to raise a point of order without elbowing a neighbor.

DISCUSS ASSESSMENTS

KING HILL, Feb. 5—King Hill irrigation directors discussed water assessments for the coming year when they met Tuesday afternoon. Karl Carahan, chairman, conducted the meeting.

Like Mountain Climbers, Most State Budgets, Taxes Going up

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UPI)—State budgets are going up like robust mountain climbers and so are state taxes.

In more than half of the 45 states whose legislatures meet this year, new taxes or increase in present levies are possible or probable and in some cases certain.

In almost all states where governors have submitted budgets for the coming fiscal year or biennium, their budgets are higher than the last ones and many are at all-time highs. The same upward trend is expected in those still to come. An exception is Kansas.

Nelson A. Rockefeller, New York, and Edmund G. Brown, California—the new governors of the two biggest states—each has given his legislature a record budget in excess of two billion dollars for the next fiscal year. Rockefeller's included a fat tax package to raise 277 million dollars and Brown asked for tax increases totaling 256 million dol-

States where new or revised sales taxes in some form are getting attention—include Arizona, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Vermont and Washington. Some Minnesota legislators want to levy a sales tax, but Gov. Orville L. Freeman wants to raise income taxes and excises on liquor and tobacco.

States in which changes in income taxes are being considered include Alabama, Colorado, Idaho, South Carolina and Wisconsin.

Gov. Albert D. Rosellini, Washington, which also depends now on a sales tax, wants a constitutional amendment to authorize an income tax.

For the short run, however, Rosellini is asking for a sales tax and other revenue changes to yield about 135 million dollars over two years. His 835 million dollar general fund budget for the next biennium is up about 150 million dollars.

States considering higher liquor or tobacco taxes include Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, New York, Ohio, South Carolina and Vermont.

In Utah, Gov. George D. Clyde has asked for a state property tax

In Nebraska, Gov. Ralph Brooks' budget would require a property tax increase, but the legislature is looking for more revenue from tighter enforcement of present laws.

Some states are considering gasoline tax increases but in most cases the situation has not yet jelled. The states raised gasoline taxes in the past two years.

In Kansas—an exception—Gov. George Docking's budget for the next fiscal year is about seven million dollars lower than this year. He is asking for a new truck tax and for a reduction of the two and one-half per cent sales tax to two per cent. The legislature has not reacted favorably to either proposal.

T.F. Library Board Elects 1959 Leaders

Officers for the Twin Falls library board installed at the Wednesday meeting are Frank Slack, president; Glen Trull, vice president; Mrs. Burthart, treasurer; H. Frank DeLuca, secretary; and Mrs. John W. Graham is another board member.

In connection with the 50th anniversary of the library, and the 20th anniversary of the present building, several summaries were reported.

Improvements were made in the new building in 1942 through the Wallace Bannister bequest, including tile on the basement floor, clothing in the juvenile department and purchase of a magazine rack and seven steel bookstacks.

The juvenile department was opened as a separate unit in 1952 with new desk, chair, catalog case and book truck purchased. Air conditioning also was installed.

The mill levy for support of the library was raised to the maximum of three mills.

The Gaylord charging system was inaugurated in December, 1953, necessitating registration of all borrowers and changing of many book cards.

A new service made possible through the efforts of the Twin Falls Music Club was completion of cataloging and classifying of an adult record collection. The organization also built record storage cases and in 1957 purchased 10 long-playing records as well as a record player for use in the juvenile room for story hours.

The Twentieth Century Club, Scrim Foundation, Soroptimist Club and others have made significant contributions to the library. Several projects in the planning stage are expansion of the present circulation building of a balcony in the non-fictional section to allow room for expansion, added shelving in the youth room, microfilm reader to supplement the reference collection, and additional of several new services. The latter include slide projectors, film projectors and films which have been performed are library orientation talks to school groups, weekly story hours, book discussions and speeches by library staff members.

The board reports show that operational expenses of the library have risen rapidly because of inflated costs of books, supplies and related items, including staff salaries.

Arthur L. DeVolder, librarian, pointed out that just as schools are in need of better teachers, higher salaries, building and maintenance needs, the library, also serving educational and recreational needs of the community, has had greatly increased costs.

Early Morning Study on TV Becoming Popular in Nation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Promptly at 6:30 a.m., a pleasant, bespectacled 31-year-old teacher named Vladimir Tolstoy stepped in front of a television camera and said, "Zdrastvuyti!"

And all over Washington area sleepy students belatedly said, "Zdrastvuyti!"—or a somewhat butchered facsimile.

With this greeting—freely translated, it means "Hi there!"—George Washington University, in cooperation with station WJLA-TV, started its first full-time TV lesson in beginning Russian.

Tolstoy, a distant relative of the great novelist, turned out to be a personable, but no nonsense, type. He plunged right into the mysterious Russian alphabet, the double-dealing Russian vowels and such necessities as how to say "I love you" in Russian.

And when he asked members of his class to repeat something after him, he would pause expectantly for the answer. A pleased expression would cross his face, as if he could hear the multitude of earnest voices.

"Fine, fine," he would say, and would plunge deeper into the Russian wilderness.

Possibly late sleepers don't realize it, but this sort of thing has been going on all over the country.

Dr. Ralph Steele, joint committee on educational TV, who keeps tracks of such things, says commercial stations often can't afford to use other time. And the early TV class has become so popular, he said, it has reached the place where it's known as the "learning hour."

Even so, the reaction here seems a bit startling.

Anyone wishing college credit pays a $75 fee. This also pays for a textbook, "Essentials of Russian," and a special workbook, "TV study guide for beginning Russian."

Around 50 want college credit.

Those who merely want to learn Russian can enroll for the course and get the two books for $15.

The surprise comes here.

Early hopes were that 1,000 might come in. Yesterday Tolstoy said enrollment had hit 2,500 and letters were still rolling in. No one knows, of course, how many others are sharing books and not bothering to enroll.

Taxi Fare Is Found to Be Driver's Kin

SOLVESBORG, Sweden, Feb. 5 (AP)—Taxi driver Ernst Peterson, 50, picked up a passenger at the late night train as he had done for more than 20 years.

The passenger explained in broken Swedish that he wanted a hotel. He was a pleasant man and they chatted on the way.

Trip Enjoyed
The passenger joked about his age. He was 72 and had enjoyed the trip from Chicago to Sweden.

He ran a plumber's business in Chicago. He was born in Sweden but hadn't been home for more than 50 years. But now he had come back to see his native home before he died.

"Where were you born," Peterson asked.

More Questions Asked
"In Rydal near here."
"And what's your name?"
"Adolf Peterson."
"Then you must be my brother," Peterson exclaimed.

Adolf Peterson never arrived at the hotel.

More Employers Are Paying Employees During Jury Duty

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Most men and women at some time have heard a call to jury duty. Many have wondered how their bosses would take their absence, and how much pay they'd lose.

The answer seems to be that today more and more employers are paying, at least in part, for the time off. More are urging their employees to forego any attempt to shirk the civic duty. This has spread to supervisors now as well as to the rank and file.

The change is shown today in surveys taken two years apart by the National Industrial Conference Board. Some companies pay in full, others in part. Some deduct the jury pay from this sum, others don't.

There are several reasons so many companies now keep the regular pay going.

One has been union pressure. New contracts in the auto industry, for example, call for $5 a day for jury duty of up to 14 days a year.

Another has been a growing sense of civic responsibility by businessmen.

A third reason suggested is that businessmen would like to see the jury system improved and think their people can help.

Management has been slower to include supervisors in the trend than it has rank and file workers.

The board's latest survey of 363 companies on how they handle the

Adm. Hayward did not claim the baby moon transmitter would last 20 centuries too, but did note its sun-powered battery will have a long life, the extent of which is not yet known.

Solon Asks to Teach Answer To Russ Talks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UPI)—A house member has claimed broad backing for his plan to set up a Freedom academy to teach how to counteract communist propaganda in foreign countries.

Rep. A. Sydney Herlong, Jr., D., Fla., said his proposal was supported by educators, labor leaders and business, professional and religious groups.

The Florida lawmaker, who has introduced a bill to create a Freedom academy, said it would "fill a vacuum" in the nation's cold war effort.

He said the United States now is "fighting the cold war with one hand" because it isn't organized to answer communist propaganda effectively.

Herlong envisioned the proposed academy as a training center for government employees and private citizens going abroad to work and for students, labor leaders and representatives of other groups in free world countries.

They would be taught how communists operate and how to tell the story of Democracy.

Rep. Walter H. Judd, R., Minn., is sponsoring an identical measure.

Demos Told to Jump Taxes if Expenses Rise

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UPI)—President Eisenhower challenged Democratic congressional leaders yesterday to raise taxes if they pass costly housing and airport bills.

The President told a news conference that raising taxes would be the only straight forward thing to do if the Democratic leaders insist on what he called reckless spending programs such as their pending housing and airport construction bills.

He emphasized that he does not believe the United States wants higher taxes unless there is some emergency which demands them.

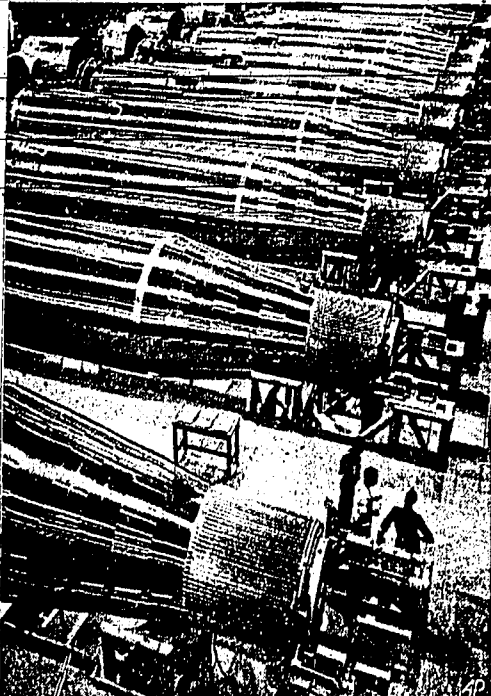

Ke Volunteers Attack

The President opened his meeting with reporters by volunteering an attack on the Democratic housing and airport bills. Both call for much larger spending than his own programs.

In other highlights of his news conference the President:

- Said Russia's detention of five U. S. servicemen and four trucks on a check point west of Berlin is a violation of implied and explicit four-power agreements. He said this country is lodging a vigorous protest with the Soviet Union.
- Made clear that he strongly opposes any extreme civil rights legislation. He said it would be wicker to set up a federal police force to see that citizens carry out their responsibilities as to school integration and other civil rights.
- Virginia Praised
- Praised Virginia officials, parents and white students for the orderly manner in which school integration was started Monday in Arlington and Norfolk.
- With an over-all reference to U. S. and Russian relative military strength, he said this country has a much more balanced defense organization than the Russians.
- The President held his news conference shortly before leaving for a weekend vacation at the Thomasville, Ga., estate of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.
- The President emphasized that the main purpose of the administration's airport legislation was to improve flying safety.
- Airport Spending Criticized
- Eisenhower pointed out that the increased spending in the Democratic airport bill would be for terminal and other such facilities. He said they were not necessary, no matter how desirable, and should be a local responsibility. He also noted that the government had not built terminals for the railroads and buses.
- He also said the federal government's share in costs of alum clearance and urban renewal should be only 35 per cent instead of 65 per cent.
- He promised to do everything he possibly could to help keep federal spending within the limits of the balanced budget he sent to congress.

Atlas Missiles Produced

This is an overhead view of air force Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles assembled and checked out in a section of Convair plant at San Diego, Calif. The stainless steel missiles—10 feet in diameter and 75 feet long—are nested in elevated docks. Area underneath is filled with equipment bins and electronic equipment required for checkout of missile subsystems. At upper left, the booster sections of the missile have been pulled back to permit simultaneous installation of the Atlas' two booster engines and sustainer engine. (AP wirephoto)

Couple Offers Twin Sons for Sale; Arrested

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 5 (AP)—A British bride and her 24-year-old unemployed husband admitted yesterday to reporters trying to sell their 2-year-old twin sons for $500.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Dean Stillion were arrested by a detective and a policeman who had posed as a man and wife. The Stillions were charged with selling a minor child, a felony.

"We don't feel like we've done anything wrong," said Mrs. Rosemarie Stillion, 24. "We thought it was a legitimate adoption procedure."

"I was desperate," Stillion, also 24, told reporters.

The boys, Thomas and George, said they opposed the plan.

"We never wanted to leave our Mommy," Thomas said, "but Mommy and daddy said we had to, that we would have a better life."

Mrs. Stillion said the twins were by a previous marriage. Stillion said their two daughters, Nancy, 4, and Tina, 3, were not offered.

Detective R. E. Brumley and Policewoman Lanny Dixon said they made the arrests after they made a $300 down payment with marked money and a bill of sale had been signed.

Stillion said he first settled in his home town of Brighton, Mich., and came to Texas only two months ago to take a pipeline job in south Texas.

He said the job was no longer open when he reached Texas and he brought his wife and the four children to Houston.

Stillion said he intended to use the money to repair his automobile and finance a return trip to Brighton.

Negroes Start Virginia Integration

As white students stay in the background, newsmen interview two of the five Negro students assigned to Norwile high school, Norfolk, Va. Norwile was one of six Norfolk schools which opened this week on an integrated basis. It was the first time in the history of the state that schools became integrated. Yesterday another Virginia city was ordered to integrate. (AP wirephoto)

Tax Stand Taken

BOISE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Representatives of Idaho's county commissioners and clerks urged yesterday that if a sales tax is enacted there be an accompanying adjustment in income and property tax rates.

They expressed themselves at a meeting of members of the executive and legislative committees of the State Association of Commissioners and Clerks.

No Sightings Made of Red Subs Off U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The navy said last night it has made no verified sightings of Soviet submarines off our coast that would be in, say, about 500 miles.

This report was given to reporters after President Eisenhower's avoided answering a news conference question on the matter.

No Big Activity Seen

The navy also said, in a carefully phrased statement, that "in the south Atlantic there have been indications of extensive Soviet marine activity."

It added, "However, the scope of Soviet submarine operations is a question on which the navy has no information."

The reason given is not only increased size of the Soviet marine force but also "that individual submarines are operating more often and at greater distances from home bases."

Kennan Believes Containment Idea of Soviets Is Out of Date

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—A sign of the changing times: George F. Kennan, the "Mr. X" of yesterday, is now credited with being the author of the American policy toward the Soviet Union followed for a decade by both the Truman and Eisenhower administrations.

This is the policy of containment, of ring the Soviet Union with military bases to prevent Soviet expansion. It's worked fairly well.

But now Kennan has other ideas. He's talking of a pullback of American forces in Europe.

Long employed by the state department, Kennan got out after differences with Secretary of State Dulles. But his new ideas have brought him into sharp conflict with his old boss there, former Secretary of State Acheson.

In 1947, while Kennan was director of the state department's policy planning staff, he outlined his containment policy in the Foreign Affairs Quarterly magazine. He wrote under the name of Mr. X.

He said then, "It is clear the main element of any United States policy toward the Soviet Union must be that of a long-term, patient but firm and vigilant containment of Russian expansive tendencies. . . . Russia, as opposed to the western world in general, is still by far the weaker party. . . . Soviet society may well contain deficiencies which will eventually weaken its own total potential."

While the Soviet Union hasn't expanded—in the sense of acquiring new territory—since 1947, she has become stronger, not weaker as Kennan hopefully seemed to think she might.

Kennan, who later served as ambassador to Moscow before his exit after his troubles with Dulles, yesterday gave to a senate disarmament subcommittee views which would indicate he thinks his 1947 policy is obsolete.

He talked of the idea of making a deal with the Russians so that both American and Soviet troops could be pulled back from Central Europe, or at least from Germany. The man who once talked of containing the Soviet Union, yesterday said he hopes it would not be necessary to pull American troops entirely off the continent of Europe.

He was thinking in terms of a neutralized Germany and seemed to envision it, while neutralized, as both democratic and free from the communist political threat.

This is not the first time Kennan has talked this way. It's pretty much a repetition of broadcasts he made in Britain last March.

Those broadcasts made Acheson so furious that he replied to Kennan with an article of his own in the Foreign Affairs magazine.

Acheson, who supports President Eisenhower's continued use of the containment policy which he himself used under the Truman administration, predicted that withdrawal of U. S. forces from Europe would lead ultimately to a linkup between Germany and the Soviet Union, confronting the world with a new war threat.

Acheson called the disengagement idea the "new isolationism" and stated the pullback of Soviet troops wouldn't mean much.

Yet withdrawal of Allied forces from West Berlin is what the Russians are insisting upon right now. The world is watching to see what Secretary Dulles, now in Europe, can come up with in making concessions to Moscow or standing firm.

Atlas Flight 20 Said Successful

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP)—Atlas No. 20 logged a highly successful flight yesterday in the air force's stepped up campaign to develop the mighty intercontinental range ballistic missile.

The 80-foot Atlas, present mainstay of the U. S. missile arsenal, thundered aloft in the morning darkness. It hung in the sky as a white disk of light for more than three minutes before fading.

The air force announced later that the missile had a successful flight at a distance less than intercontinental range, but officials did not elaborate.

Nasser, U.S. and British Nose Puncher, Twists Tail of Reds

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Editor

The Communist party in Syria started working against our unity and against Arab nationalism... Khrushchev Jan. 27, 1959, in Moscow. A warning to UAR "officials" to stop persecuting "progressives" in Arab countries, because Soviet leaders cannot remain silent in the face of a reactionary campaign under the false slogan of anti-communism.

Nasser followed up immediately with a roundup of several hundred Syrian communists and about 200 suspected Egyptian communists. He also closed two Cairo printing plants which printed Soviet and communist Chinese pamphlets in Arabic.

Communism long had been outlawed in Egypt but it was his first crackdown on the reds in Syria. Meanwhile, both Syria and Egypt (collectively, the UAR) were heavily indebted to the Soviet Union for previous military aid and both were leaning heavily on the Soviet Union for anticipated economic aid in developing their backward economies.

For example, the USSR had pledged Egypt economic and technical aid in building the Aswan dam key to Nasser's dream of opening millions of acres of Sahara desert lands to agriculture.

At the official rate of exchange, the Soviet pledge for the Aswan dam came to 100 million dollars. At the free rate, it is closer to 25 million dollars.

Syria, too, had a 100 million dollar deal with the Soviets. This one, signed in late 1957 before the Syrian-Egyptian merger, provided for vast projects which included the building of a railroad, dams, power stations and irrigation facilities and gave Russia practically a free hand in oil explorations. Both nations had promises of other loans and technical assistance from other Iron Curtain countries, including Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

But what now?

For Russia, the future may hold a test of its own imperialistic policy. In recent years, both the USSR and red China have paid lip service to the precepts laid down by the Bandung conference, namely, no interference by large nations in the affairs of smaller ones.

Both have pledged support to nationalism, regardless of its relationship to communism. That attitude now may change.

And what of the UAR? It is noteworthy that Nasser's public crackdown on communism came at a time of improving relations with Britain and the United States. Nasser has played West against East before, and successfully. It may be he plans to do it again.

BEEF and LAMB for your Freezer—Side or Quarter, U.S. CHOICE — Cut and Wrapped FREE!

Special Buys Reflect Good Lamb Supply

By The Associated Press
Lamb supplies of lamb are being reflected this week in the nation's grocery stores by special bargains. With the lamb season starting next Wednesday, some stores also are increasing supplies of fish.

The lamb bargains are about evenly divided between leg roasts and chops.

Beef Prices Steady
Prices are off four cents a pound in scattered areas, while beef prices are steady and pork shows a slight leaning to the downside. Chickens are marked down two to 10 cents a point over a wide area. Eggs are cheaper, by two to four cents a dozen.

Potatoes are an outstanding bargain at vegetable counters. A big spinach crop in Texas makes the leafy vegetable a bargain. So are root crops such as topped beets, parsnips and carrots.

Cabbage Is Still Buy
Storage cabbage prices are up but still rated a pretty good buy. So are kale, collard and the like.

Western iceberg lettuce is available for reasonably priced salads and onion prices are somewhat weaker. Tomatoes, sweet potatoes and cauliflower are moderately priced.

Apples are plentiful and cheap. California citrus and pears also are on the good buy list. Florida grapefruit, Temple oranges and tangerines are moderately priced.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Because children change as they grow, develop powers as the days pass and their experiences multiply, there are times when they are quick and ready to learn certain skills, the very right times. This fact is of the greatest importance to the teachers.

Reading is not the only subject for which readiness is essential. We hear a great deal about it because reading is so important a subject, but there is a readiness time for arithmetic, history, science, too. This must be ascertained by testing the pupils, not once just by an intelligence, but two and three times by various tests, AND the experienced teacher's judgement.

Children, even those in secondary school, are likely to be under tension in a test. They can be misjudged. It is only by repeated tests by professionally-trained teachers who know what they are doing, how to do it and how to judge the results that we can have a fairly accurate picture of the child's state of development in the area under question.

At a first grade class was tested for reading readiness and one little girl was marked, "Unready." The teacher said that this child was the best prepared one in the room and that she could read there and then. The teacher was a stranger, the room was strange, the test was a new experience for this child and she was frightened blank.

Readiness cannot be created in a child always. We expect children of 4 years of age to be ready to read and most of them are but some are not and among these are a few odd ones who do not respond to readiness instruction. For these children we must wait—keep offering the helpful experiences, stories, conversation, play experiences with songs when possible. Normal children will, in time respond. One child did not until he was in his teens.

One must be patient with all children in this field of learning. They do not develop all their powers on scheduled time but in the fashion peculiar to each. Offer the experiences—try to teach the skill; wait; stop for a time if the child does not respond and then try again—with faith, hope and much patience and all the skill at command. Children develop individually.

There is a reason when a child tells a lie, but lying can become a harmful habit. Parents should search for the cause and stop lying at the beginning. Dr. Patri explains in "Lies, Lies, Lying." Interstate Road Construction In High Gear in Most Places while and blue shield-shaped signs. Most of the mileage completed so far has been in disconnected stretches of between five and ten miles each. Construction got off to a slow start. But this wasn't unexpected because it takes from 18 to 24 months of preliminary work before a contract can be awarded. And most states didn't have much of a head start on planning work.

During the first year of the program, which got underway July 1, 1956, only 58 miles were completed out of 1,987 contracted for.

In the second year, construction began to pick up momentum. At year's end, 792 miles had been completed and 3,102 miles were under construction. Projects totalling 974 additional miles had reached the contract stage.

The pickup quickened last summer after congress provided for a temporary speedup as an anti-recession measure. Congress increased authorizations for federal aid for the interstate network by 800 million dollars for fiscal years 1959, 1960 and 1961.

The apportionments for 1960 and 1961 were made promptly. But those for 1961 are being delayed until congress backs them up with money. The federal government is bearing nine-tenths of the cost of construction of the system. But, nevertheless, some states have had difficulty in raising their shares.

Other factors slowing down the program in some states have been inadequate laws on acquisition of right-of-ways and a shortage of engineers.

It is too early to determine to what extent the states will comply with the new federal regulations for control of billboard advertising along the superhighways. States will receive of one-half of one per cent bonus on projects on which the regulations are followed. Four states—Ohio, Pennsylvania, Vermont and Virginia—already have enacted necessary legislation or have signified an intention of doing so. Extent of observance of the regulations is entirely up to the states. The federal law is such that the result could be patchwork with some stretches with controlled billboards running into others with billboards as thick as ever, even within an individual state.

Under present law, the federal government's 90 per cent share of construction costs is financed by a special trust fund of gasoline and other highway-use taxes. This fund will be depleted by July 1, 1960.

Unless more money is provided, there can be no federal allotments for fiscal 1961 and only about 600 million dollars—as against the 2.3 billion dollars scheduled—for the following year.

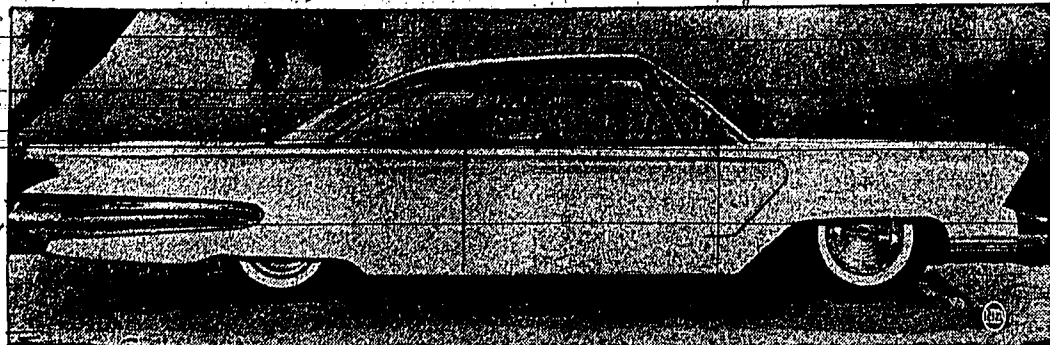

This wouldn't suspend the program because part of the federal allotments already made wouldn't have been spent and could be used to keep construction going at a reduced rate. But it would be allowed down appreciably.

Congress has three main alternatives: (1) increase gasoline taxes, (2) have the treasury advance the trust fund about one billion dollars a year which would be repaid later, or (3) supplement the trust fund with an outright appropriation.

Congress could compromise and couple a small increase in the gasoline tax with a loan or appropriation of treasury general funds.

Each of the proposals has strong opposition from various quarters. Some of President Eisenhower's fiscal aides have recommended in-

Aluminum Autos Planned

Sleek new design for an all-aluminum car of say, 1960, is embodied in the Felo (Fay-Lay), named for the goddess of volcanoes. Body panels are of stamped aluminum sheet with enameled finish. Side trim is brushed and gold-color anodized aluminum while the bumpers, roof rails and roof are made of the same metal, utilized for lightness and strength. Shown above is a three-eighths-scale model of the car which would have a 126-inch wheelbase, an overall length of 223 inches and a height of 52 1/4 inches. Frame, wheels and engine would also be aluminum. Production line changes would be minimal, according to the designer, Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Sales, Inc.

creasing the present federal tax on gasoline of three cents a gallon by one or one-and-one-half cents. Each cent of the tax brings in about 500 million dollars a year.

But highway leaders in congress are cool to the idea. The petroleum industry and the American Automobile association have promised an all-out fight against it.

Gore said that "the motorist is already carrying a very heavy tax load."

Frederick T. McQuire, Jr., president of the AAA, said such an increase in the federal tax would "impose a double jeopardy" on motorists. He said many states probably would have to hike their gasoline taxes to help raise their part—10 per cent—of the cost of the interstate system.

He proposed that defense funds be used instead because of the importance of the network to national defense.

On the other side, Eisenhower is making his greatest effort yet to hold down federal spending. He is not likely to favor any highway appropriations that would increase the government's budget.

The highway trust fund is separate from the regular federal budget. But any general treasury funds put into it, even if repayable, would increase the federal budget.

Another factor threatening a stretchout is a sharp increase in estimated total cost—from 27.5 to upwards of 40 billion dollars. The original estimate covered only about 38,500 miles.

Construction costs have gone up 12 per cent already and chances are that they will increase even more before the system is completed. Plans also have had to be revised to include cost-adding improvements such as more interchanges. Right-of-way costs have gone up as well.

Under the present program, federal allotments would be 2.5 billion dollars for fiscal 1961, then 2.2 billion dollars a year through fiscal 1967, 1.5 billion dollars for 1968 and 1,025 billion dollars in 1969.

These federal allotments must be increased overall by at least 10 billion dollars or so to take care of increased costs if the system is to be completed in 16 years.

The AAA figures that the federal share must be increased to 2.8 billion dollars annually for fiscal 1961 through 1969 and 3.1 billion dollars in 1970.

Vote Amendment Finally Given OK

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 5 (UPI)—The Oregon state senate has finally ratified the 15th amendment to the U. S. constitution—89 years after it was voted into law by three-fourths of the states.

The amendment guarantees the right of every American citizen to vote, regardless of race, color or former condition of servitude.

State Sen. William Grenfell, Jr., Portland, pointed out that Oregon voted against the amendment in 1870 because there was a large Indian population and great numbers of Chinese were working on the state's railroads.

Grenfell said it seemed fitting in Oregon's centennial year to tell the world the state is strongly in favor of civil rights.

Doctors Can't Agree on How Middle-Aged Should Exercise

By HENRY MELEMORE
One of the disturbing factors about middle age is the inability of doctors to come to any sort of agreement on how much, or how little, exercise is good for a man who has blown out 45 or more birthday candles.

Ever since I became a member of this age group I have sought a pastime or sport which would keep me in the pink and yet out of the shrouds. Yet no sooner do I adopt a recommended one than I read some where else that to pursue it is to risk never hearing "Happy Birthday To You" sung again.

It is incredible that as long as doctors have been studying middle-aged men, including themselves, they have not come to a unanimous agreement on one physical activity that would keep the blood bubbling along at just the right temperature, and the muscles creaking in the proper key.

Instead, they appear to be poles apart. One group says it's perfectly all right for us to do anything we want to, up to joining the Baltimore Colts and trying out for a tackle position.

The other group throws up its well-scrubbed hands in horror at this, and warns that even watching a parade from a sunny balcony could well be a bit too taxing.

Is there a middle ground? If there is, the doctors seem to have disappeared around a corridor and left it up to us to find it.

This would be well and good if a man could be reasonably sure of knowing middle ground when he found it.

For a while tennis was my middle ground. I was feeling fine until I read that singles, which I was playing, was nothing more than Russian roulette in sneakers, and that doubles wasn't much better unless I always had the shady side of the court, and an 18-year-old partner with long legs, the longer the better!

Those kind of games are hard to get up unless you are fortunate enough to have an angular 18-year-old son, and own a tennis court situated in a forest.

Scared of what I was doing to myself with tennis, I went to the other extreme, and swung to the side of the doctors who frown on strenuous exercise.

I took up mental badminton. That is, badminton in which there is no net, no racquet and no bird. To play it, you simply sit out on the lawn in a comfortable chair and imagine a spirited game between yourself and a capable opponent.

This is fun for a while, but you get tired of winning all the games after a while. I even brought in the world's champion—an Indonesian, I believe—as my opponent, but no matter how many games I played

$800 Damages

BURLEY, Feb. 5—Damages estimated at $800 resulted from a two-car collision on the Cassia county side of the Heyburn bridge Saturday, State Patrolman Marvin Snyder reported Wednesday.

A 1955 Plymouth sedan, driven by Paul W. Wilcox, 66, Heyburn, had damages of $550 after it collided with a 1949 Ford operated by Lewis Carter, 22, Burley. Patrolman Snyder said the Ford skidded on the icy road and sideswiped the Wilcox car, sliding into the bridge abutment. No injuries were reported.

When they do come to an agreement, I hope it is something I enjoy. Mixed jackstraws, say, tug-of-war, or polo.

Mrs. Shirley Morabito Tastes 700 Medicines; It's Her Job

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Shirley Morabito has tasted 700 medicines in the last three years and "never felt better in her life." In fact, she hasn't missed work a single day because of illness.

Trying out pills and potions destined for other people is the unusual career of Mrs. Morabito, a medical gourmet with one of the most educated palates in the wonderful world of drugs.

She is chief medicine taster for the Charles Pfizer Pharmaceutical company.

"It is endlessly fascinating," said Mrs. Morabito. "The taste test is the last step in research. No matter how beneficial a new medicine may be, it has to taste right today to win public acceptance. If people won't take it because they dislike the taste, it can't do them any good."

There are only four basic tastes—salt, sweet, sour and bitter. But they can be masked with thousands of different blended flavors.

Unfortunately for mankind, most medicines, new or old, have a bitter taste.

The average person can detect a bitter taste in one fifth of an ounce of water. Mrs. Morabito can detect the same amount of caffeine mixed with 25 quarts of water.

But Mrs. Morabito doesn't depend on her own fine palate. What she does is assemble and train a test panel of 40 expert coworkers to help her.

The problem of taste in new children's medicines is even more critical. To assist her in field testing these she has a juvenile jury of some 600 children of company employees.

Both color and taste play a big role in the psychology of medicine. "Most everyone seems to dislike a brown-colored medicine," said Mrs. Morabito.

"Older people often like a mint-flavored medicine... Children prefer fruit flavors. They like red and orange colors, and they like medi-

Despite rebel leader Fidel Castro's avowed intention of nationalizing foreign industries in Cuba, American investors seem optimistic regarding the security of their island properties. Map shows some investments of American companies. Total U.S. stake in Cuba is estimated at about 774 million dollars, including 285 million in agriculture—largely sugar—$1 million in petroleum and 316 million in public utilities.

Summer Seen Time for Huge Steel Walkout

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Government officials say privately it looks nip and tuck whether the nation will face a crippling steel strike this summer.

They say steel users are building inventory, anticipating the possibility of a walkout that could retard the nation's economic recovery.

Three-year contracts between the United Steel Workers union and basic steel producers expire June 30. The union, headed by David J. McDonald, is expected to demand wage and other increases amounting to about 50 cents an hour. Steelworkers earnings now average $3 an hour, according to the labor department.

Union demands have not yet been formulated, but a 50-cent package demand would not be out of line with the past.

Steel companies figured the increase to 50 to 55 cents when the present contract was reached in August 1956 after a month-long strike. Actually cost of living allowances have raised that figure.

This year McDonald, who has faced some dissension in the ranks of the union, may feel under pressure to win sizeable new gains for the members.

Comet Is Seen by 2 Men in Arizona

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Feb. 5 (UPI)—The Lowell observatory, which discovered the planet Pluto in 1930, has announced the discovery of a "very faint" comet.

C. R. Slaughter, and Robert Burnham, Jr., scientists attached to the observatory, spotted the comet which now is about 200 million miles away from Earth on photographs made last Dec. 27.

Henry L. Giclas, supervisor of the Lowell program devoted to study of the Milky Way, has predicted the comet probably would be named the Slaughter-Burnham comet, 1958-F.

The same two scientists last Sept. 7 discovered another comet, since named the Burnham-Slaughter comet.

Giclas said preliminary calculations indicated the comet would circle the sun in a "close elliptic orbit with a period of about 11 years."

Graham Gets Many Offers

MONOLULU, Feb. 5 (AP)—One offer came from a 65-year-old woman in Kentucky.

Another came from a Jewish businessman in New York City.

They were offering their eyes to evangelist Billy Graham, afflicted with an ailment in his left eye.

The 40-year-old Protestant crusader received thousands of letters and telegrams expressing concern.

They came from Catholics, Muslims and persons of many faiths.

They came from prominent people and little people in many countries around the world.

Graham, who is nearing a three-week rest in Hawaii, says he is overwhelmed and humbled.

Many persons, he says, write that they are praying for him.

Bureau Raps Law On Fertilizer Lien

FILER, Feb. 5.—Filer Farm Bureau adopted a resolution opposing the proposed fertilizer lien law at a meeting Monday night at the Grange hall, Howard Annis, chairman, announced.

Consolidation of the Twin Falls county highway districts was discussed and a fact-finding committee was recommended. Elwood McCauley made the directors' report in the absence of Lyman Engle.

Mrs. Don Hine, reporting for the women's chairman in the absence of Mrs. Albert Bharal, announced a county-wide potluck dinner at the Twin Falls Grange hall Feb. 28.

It was reported that John Sanborn is in Boise representing the Farm Bureau at the state legislature. Members were urged to contact him on their views on farm policies.

The safety council meeting was reported by Annis and Harold Huston spoke on progress of the school building fact-finding committee. James Catterton, farm placement manager at the Twin Falls employment service, spoke on processing and placement of farm labor.

Oh, for Cow's Life

EAST LANSING, Mich., Feb. 5 (AP)—The cow never had it so soft.

A top attraction at the Michigan State university Farmers-week is a pair of cows taking it easy on foam-rubber mattresses.

An Ohio firm displayed the modern bedding under the name "Dairy Queen Cow Mattress."

The firm claims the mattress is a time saver, eliminates the need for straw bedding and keeps cows cleaner and more contented to increase milk production.

Four Seniors Here Praised On U.S. Exam

Four seniors at Twin Falls high school have been commended by the National Merit Scholarship corporation for their outstanding performance on a nationwide examination, according to V. L. Lefebvre, high school principal.

The seniors are James Whitcomb, David Spivey, Diana Peters and Shirley Daniel.

The students were Idaho runners-up in the 1958-59 Merit Scholarship competition. Each has been given a letter of commendation by National Merit Scholarship corporation. John M. Stalnaker, president of NMSC, believes that the four students who received the commendation rank in the top two or three percent in ability of the senior class in their respective states and should be given every encouragement to continue their education.

"Write the students receiving this commendation did not quite reach the finish of the 1958-59 Merit Scholarship competition, each of them has demonstrated highly superior ability and outstanding promise to benefit from college training," declared Stalnaker.

SO CRISP AND CRACKLY

Only the ideal combination of soil, sun and temperature found in the famed Yakima-Wenatchee Valley of Washington State can produce apples like this. And only SNOBOYS are picked for flavor from the finest trees of the finest orchards there.

SO "SUN-DRENCHED"

SNOBOY apples are picked only from the top and outside of the trees. No under-colored, under-flavored "runts"—ever!

SO SWEET

Some apples are still not "matured" when they reach the store—but not SNOBOYS! It takes SNOBOY'S "flavor maturing" at a precise 31 degrees for an apple to reach its sweetest, most delicious best!

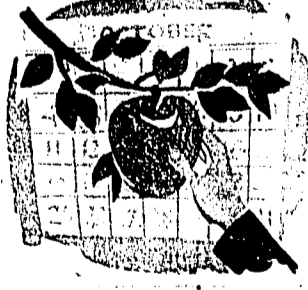

In bags and boxes at your grocery store.

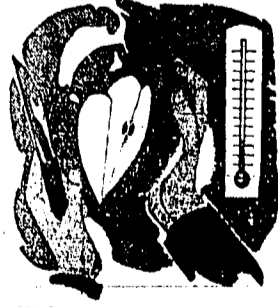

Why there is no apple like a SNOBOY®

Soil, sun and temperature work in unique combination in the famed Yakima-Wenatchee Valley of Washington State to produce SNOBOY'S vivid coloring, extra juiciness, and superb flavor! There SNOBOYS are selected from the finest orchards.

Every apple has its day—the day when its flavor peak is reached. On that exact day, SNOBOY field inspectors order the apples picked—and they specify the sun-drenched apples from the top and outside of the finest trees!

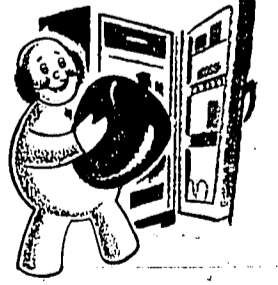

Within the hour after picking, SNOBOY apples are rushed to cool storage rooms. There, at a constant 31 degrees, the flavor "matures" . . . starches change to natural fruit sugars . . . and SNOBOY inspectors say "Ship!"

Once they're fully matured and ready to ship, SNOBOY apples are showered, sorted, wrapped and packed by hand to protect against bruising during shipment . . . to guard SNOBOY'S brilliant flavor!

SNOBOY'S tree-to-grocer control continues as the apples are rushed in cool, cool trucks to your grocer's. There you get famous SNOBOY quality . . . true picked for flavor quality!

To enjoy all the eating pleasure SNOBOY has worked so hard to protect, do your share: Always keep your SNOBOYS in the refrigerator until you eat them. They'll be full-flavored and crisp!
