

Idaho House Kills Driving Age Measure

 "From Lincoln, I feel he will work for the rights of our working people."
 He conceded that no committee could produce a bill that is personally acceptable to the legislature, but we of the industry and labor committee do feel this is outstanding legislation," he continued. "And I would like to say that I personally resent the slur made against the members of my committee."
 "The only reason that the bill submitted by industry was not introduced was that after three weeks of urging they finally brought it to the committee to late for preparation of the deadline."
 "They themselves have conceded this. The committee is studying possible amendments and is going ahead in a completely bipartisan manner."
 The roll call on the driver licensing bill showed that one Republican, Rep. H. Grant Gardner, Payette, joined 28 Democrats against the measure. Five Democrats lined up with 23 Republicans for the bill.
 House Democratic Floor Leader Don Pieper, Bonneville, actually led the fight for the measure.
 "I still insist it is a good bill," he said. "I would have preferred to see it in its original form, but I don't think the amendment is going to affect the intent of this bill."
 He mentioned that he had heard other bills to deal with the traffic and driving problem were being prepared "but this is the only bill before us."
 Rep. C. Robert Yost, R., Canyon, said he would vote for the measure if only for the purpose of "keeping this matter before the house."
 "But I think this bill in its present form has been butchered to a point where essentially it is headed for oblivion," said Yost.
 "The 270 deaths on the highway certainly is not a matter we can take lightly. I don't think the legislature has given this problem all the study it should. I don't blame the 14 and 15 year olds for what's happening on the highways. I place the blame on all of us."
 He referred to a story in the morning newspapers which quoted House Democratic Caucus Chairman J. W. Morrow, D., Nez Perce, as forecasting the defeat of the bill.
 "I hope this question of driver training and education hasn't fallen to the depths of political chicanery," he added. "I hope this will remain non-political."
 Rep. Allan Shepard, R., Ada, sponsor of the bill in its original form, said he would rather have the bill as it was first introduced.
 "But if we can't have it, this is the next best thing," Shepard said.
 Rep. C. A. Higer, D., Gem, who urged defeat of the measure, told the house that the state affairs committee had voted to introduce his bill which would permit continuation of licensing for 14 to 15 year olds, but setting stiff penalties for moving traffic violations by this group.
 Rep. Joseph Garry, D., Benewah, Rep. A. M. Rich, D., Bear Lake, and Alvin Benson, D., Owyhee, also spoke against the bill in its present form.
 The house was slated to take-up the pari-mutuel race betting bill today, but action was postponed until tomorrow because the sponsors indicated they were not ready.
 A compromise amendment, which may save the judiciary salary increase bill was ready to be offered in the house.
 Chairman Rich, house judiciary committee, confirmed that an amendment has been drafted to provide for a flat $2,000 increase for supreme court justices and a $1,000 boost for the district judges.
 The bill, as it originally was drawn, would provide that the present salaries of $10,500 a year for the supreme court justices and $9,500 for the district judges be fixed as base pay to which annual incremental increases of three per cent would be added over a 15-year period.
 Under the amendment, the annual increase provision would be eliminated and the pay fixed at $12,500 a year for the high court justices and $10,500 a year for the district judges.
 The bill was first passed by the house Monday by a vote of 35 to 24 after a heated debate. Later in the day the house revoked its action.
 It was understood that the amendment met with the approval of members of the bar and the governor.
 The senate had a relatively light agenda, including a bill aimed at boosting the maximum of unemployment compensation to $50 a week.
 Late yesterday, the house passed memorial asking congress to permit states to gain custody of abandoned and unclaimed property in the hands of the federal government.

 miles and rose again this morning. A crest was reached last night at Findlay, on the Blanchard river, and prospects were brighter today.
 "Statewide, the situation in Ohio appeared less critical than during the earlier flood.
 In Indiana, the worst floods in 48 years drove hundreds of families from their homes in the upper Wash river valley. Roads were closed throughout the area.
 Floodwaters sloshed over a 30-block residential area and an 18-block industrial area in Wabash. Ice jams moving down the Wabash river threatened bridges and waterworks.
 A 10-mile ice gorge stacked up 35 feet high below Georgetown, near Logansport.
 The Red Cross estimated 350 families were forced from their homes along the upper Wabash from Bluffton to Lafayette.
 Another 120 families fled from the Fort Wayne area from separate floods in the St. Mary's and Maumee rivers.
 Some other states had minor flooding from heavy rains.
 The St. Louis twister left an estimated 1,400 persons homeless.
 The tornado, striking early yesterday, killed at least 21 persons. Seven others are missing.
 Of the estimated 300 persons injured, 70 remained in hospitals, one in critical condition. Some 4,000 buildings were reported damaged at a loss of 12 million dollars by the insurance board, St. Louis.

 Present in addition to the supervisors and their wives were personnel from the area and work unit offices of the soil conservation service, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Frazier, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Jones.
 A film, "The Dew Line," was shown.

Discussion on World Policy Held at Parley

A discussion group on foreign policy met Wednesday morning to attempt to aid in stimulating grass roots thinking on foreign policy.
 Mrs. J. B. McCollum was hostess to a group working cooperatively with the Great Decisions organization and the League of Women Voters.
 Introductory facts were brought out under the heading of "Challenges of a changing world" with the main discussions centering on the question, "Will alliances keep the peace?"
 The group was shown how the world is divided into the Western Allies, the communist-dominated world and the 'third world', the Far East, Africa and the Mid-East.
 The problem of re-unification of Germany, with the varied factors involved, the complex facets of a world disarmament program and political unrest in the Far East were considered.
 A second group will take up the same problems at a meeting Thursday night at the home of Mrs. James Brock. It is anticipated that a large number of men will attend the discussion and also one scheduled for Monday night at the home of Margaret and Laura Knepper, 806 Sparks avenue.
 The Monday night meeting is co-sponsored by the American Association of University Women. All interested persons are invited to any of the meetings.

Wheat Board Formation Is Started Here

 new markets, new uses and improved strains for wheat and its by-products, good farming and farm marketing practices and conservation of state natural resources.
 Oregon and Washington growers have developed a fine foreign market program, which is probably one of the answers to the surplus problem, Daigh indicated.
 "Since wheat is one of the most profitable crops in the county, most growers want to raise as much as they are permitted. All growers will want to be a part of the new association," he added.
 The proposed minimum membership fee has been established at $3 per year. For each 1,000 bushels over the first thousand, an increase of one dollar will be charged, with maximum dues of $52. This matter also will be subject to vote Monday.

'Ike' Seems to Think Summit Talk Possible

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently believes that a summit conference late this year is a definite possibility.

Such a meeting would bring him and other Western government leaders face-to-face with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev for a discussion of critical East-West issues. These undoubtedly would include questions of Germany and disarmament.

Whether a conference is actually arranged probably will depend partly on whether East-West negotiations in the meantime ease Soviet pressure to get the United States, Britain and France out of West Berlin.

Subject Brought Up

Eisenhower himself brought up the subject of a summit meeting briefly in his news conference yesterday in discussing a question about the effect of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' illness on prospects for a foreign ministers meeting.

The president said he thought the condition would not prevent a foreign ministers conference. He noted that there has been an agreement with the Soviet yet actually holding such a session. Then he added, "I believe the Russians themselves... more concerned, Mr. Khrushchev is concerned in a heads of government meeting as he calls an informal and without-an-agenda type.

"Well, that would take a great deal of preparation."

Reds Call for Meet

Soviet spokesmen, including Khrushchev and Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan have repeatedly called for a heads of government conference.

Despite the disagreement over the amount of advance preparation needed, informed officials say that a summit conference is indeed a possibility as things now stand.

Diplomats have reported that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is particularly interested in such a meeting. Macmillan faces the prospect of parliamentary elections within a year.

Washington authorities say British political pressures were responsible for bringing about the summit conference at Geneva in 1955.

New State Is Predicted by This Summer

JUNEAU, Alaska, Feb. 11 (UPI)—Alaska's senior senator, E. L. Bartlett, predicted here yesterday that the state would have statehood before summer.

"It's going through a lot faster than I thought," he said.

Bartlett arrived here to discuss transitional problems with acting Governor Hugh J. Wade and his staff.

In a press interview, Bartlett spoke first of his visit with Gov. William A. Egan, recovering from major surgery in a Seattle hospital.

Governor Is Thin

"Bill looked better than I had expected, but he's quite thin," said Bartlett.

Bartlett said his main concern is to coordinate the federal transitional bill for the new state. An omnibus bill to be introduced in congress soon will cover a number of fields in legislative authorization affecting Alaska, he said.

Bartlett said he understood the bill draft of the bill has been completed and is under study by the departments concerned.

$10,500,000-Help Seen

"The bill, I understand," Bartlett said, "will provide Alaska with $10,500,000 in federal funds in fiscal 1960 to assist the new state in the transition from territory to state."

The grants would be available for use as the state saw fit on road maintenance, operation of airports, care of the mentally ill and on health programs of the new state.

Bartlett was enthusiastic over terms of the omnibus bill which would place Alaska on par with the 48 other states whereby federal aid for highways in Alaska would be on 100 per cent area formula. At present, under a federal highway act of 1958, Alaska was allocated money on a one-third of land area basis.

Remarkably High Scholarship Noted

Flight at Edge of Space Is Planned

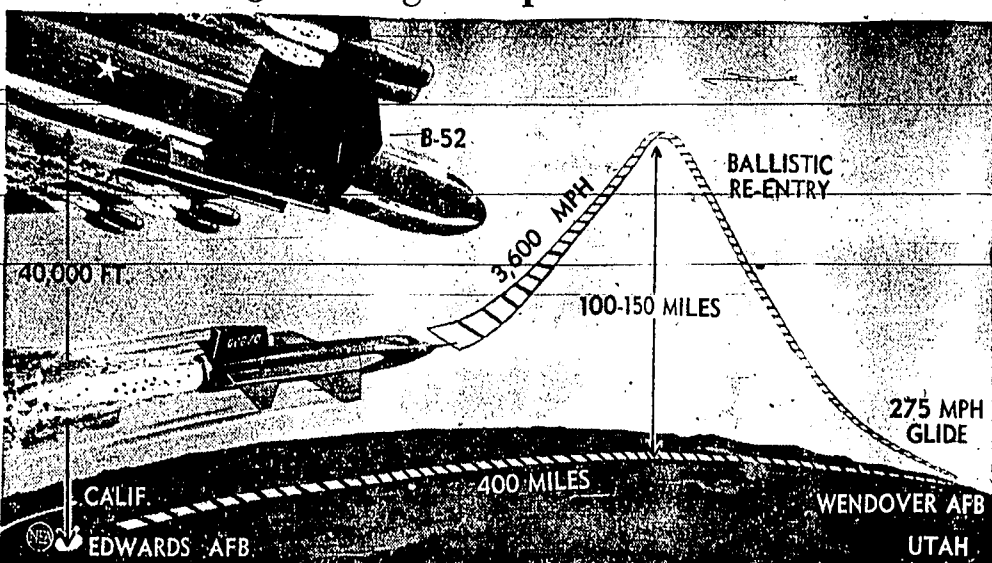

Diagram shows the planned flight of the North American X-15 rocket research ship in the world's first effort to put a man on the edge of outer space and bring him back safely. The 50-foot, stainless steel, man-carrying "bullet" will be dropped from the belly of a modified B52 bomber at a height of some 40,000 feet above Edwards air force base, Calif. Rocket engines, taking over with a 60,000-pound thrust, will develop a speed of 3,600 miles per hour. During 90 seconds of powered flight, the X-15 will zoom to a height of 100-150 miles above the Earth. At this apex of flight, the pilot, aided by a highly advanced Sperry inertial guidance system, will maneuver the plane into the correct re-entry position. From there, it will make a gliding descent to Wendover air force base, Utah, 400 miles from the start.

Army Continues Molding Its 'Ultimate' Weapon, Man, Even in This Atomic Age

FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (UPI)—On a remote chunk of Ozark rock, a spit of South Carolina sand, a stub of California hill, the army quietly goes on—even in this atomic and missile age—molding its ultimate weapon: man.

"Fire all the missiles and rockets you want," a captain said. "In the long run, what will count will be the men who hold the land under their feet."

It starts here at Ft. Leonard Wood, Or. at Ft. Jackson, S. C.; Ft. Ord, Calif.; Ft. Dix, N. J.; Ft. Chaffee, Ark.; Ft. Knox, Ky.; Ft. Carson, Colo.; Ft. Hood, Tex., or a handful of other basic combat training centers.

Every inductee—no matter what his eventual assignment—first completes basic training. It hasn't changed too much since the days of World War II.

"What good is a cook who can't fire a rifle?" a major asked. "What'll he do if the enemy slips through? Give him a bowl of spiked soup?"

Training begins, usually on a Sunday. They line up by roster stakes and march—eternally out of step—for three sets of fatigues, a jacket and some caps.

Nine weeks later, the army hopes they'll be soldiers, capable of fighting a nuclear-age war.

What's it like, this training?

"Basic attempts to accomplish three things: instill military discipline, teach basic combat skills and train men to live within their means." Fifteenth army commander Lieut. Gen. William H. (Hap) Arnold said.

The first days are "zero week," filled with equipment issue, processing and testing.

Between tests are the lectures: Achievements and traditions, military courtesy and customs, and the uniform code of military justice, under whose law the trainee now lives.

"There's nothing strange or terrifying about the code," said Lieut. Col. Roger Currier, staff judge advocate general. "It's quite similar to federal law. We find most trainees in trouble have civilian police records."

Three days into "zero week," the trainee, usually sweating with newly experienced exercise, lugs his filled duffel bag and proceeds into "cycle."

His immediate leader now is a company commander. The army says the leader should be a captain. Due to personnel shortages, it's often a second lieutenant.

The first week of "cycle" is heavy on lectures. There are chaplain-directed character guidance, troop information, drills and ceremonies, first aid and guard duty.

In the field, the trainee gets his first taste of physical training—army calisthenics.

Officers unanimously agreed P.T. is perhaps the most vital part of basic.

"There's not enough of it," a major said. "It should be scheduled daily, not just a few times weekly. A man in top physical shape is in top mental shape, too."

It's rifery, however, which occupies most of the first four weeks.

"There's no such thing in the infantry as a 'gun' trooper." "Drop that rifle, son, and you'll sleep with it."

By the fifth week, emphasis shifts to the field. The company marches out after breakfast, maybe one mile, or two or three—rarely more—and learns about gas, bivouacs, forced marches, atomic blasts and night warfare.

"Night is no more than day without light," a captain said. "We show them there's nothing to fear."

The sixth week is bivouac. They sleep in pup tents and learn about foxholes and buddies. "You got a shovel, your buddy a pick. Swap. That's what buddies are for." In between, there's field sanitation, guerrilla warfare and line infiltration.

Then, too, there's the fabled infiltration course, where they crawl across a barbed-wire field while a machine gun fires overhead. "We haven't lost a man in years, troop-er. Just keep your head down. You hear? Down!" and well-shielded explosion pits shower mud.

Week seven is more field work and some tests but now, somehow, it all seems easier.

"When a soldier is through basic," the army says, "he knows how a battlefield sounds, smells, looks and feels. When he finds himself in actual combat, he should be able to react with a maximum of efficiency and a minimum of shock."

"We get about eight weeks in which to reverse a man's life," a colonel said. "They come to us after 18, 19, 20 years of teaching that in America the group exists mainly to serve the individual. Then we have to tell them that in an army an individual must work primarily for the group."

He said this was a problem unique to a democracy.

"We never fully change them," he said. "It's probably just as well. But I do like to feel we return them better citizens, with more tolerance and understanding of one another."

An infantry colonel—one with the combat badge of merit—said the same thing, only differently.

"We don't train them to die for their country," he said. "We try to teach them how to live—and we want them to think. They may be stuck off somewhere by themselves. They've got to be able to decide on their own what to do."

This is the missile-age army. The one that's supposed to fight the war no one wants or can describe.

Gone is the old "K" (known distance) range, where one learned to shoot by popping bulletgears from 200, 300 and 500 yards out.

They call it "trainfire" now and the recruit learns by walking through a woods, firing at man-shaped targets which suddenly pop up before him. Doesn't even use a sling.

"In combat, how many men took time to get into their slings when the enemy was running down on them?" a captain asked.

The difference, though, is deeper than rifery.

"The soldier no longer is a cog, something to move along in trenches," said General Arnold. "He must learn to be self-sufficient, to think and take care of himself. Why, he may be commanded by no more than a set of earphones in his helmet."

What's it like, this peacetime army, where a recruit's chief worry is whether he'll get stuck with week-end K.P.?

"It's a milk army, that's what

Herter Dillon Have Much in Common; Dulles' Substitutes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The two men who'll run the state department while Secretary John Foster Dulles is on the sick list have a lot in common.

Christian B. Herter and C. Douglas Dillon were born in Europe, both were honor graduates at Harvard, both have long had a deep interest in foreign affairs, and both are tall men. Herter, at six feet, five inches, was too tall for the army in the World War I.

Herter, who will serve as acting secretary of state, was born in Paris almost 64 years ago, the son of struggling young American artists, Albert and Adele Herter.

Herter's failure to get into the army didn't keep him from taking on several difficult jobs, such as serving as secretary of the commission to negotiate a truce for war-torn Germany and, after the war, secretary of the commission to negotiate the peace treaty.

In 1919, he went with Herbert Hoover to help direct the American Relief Council. Later he was to serve with Hoover in the commerce department.

In 1930, Herter was elected to the Massachusetts house, where he spent a dozen years, the last four as speaker. By 1942 he was elected to congress. He also has served as governor of Massachusetts.

Then, late in 1946 he returned to Washington, as undersecretary of state. That same year there was a boom for Herter as president, when it was thought President Eisenhower's health might forbid a second term.

Dance Set

SHOSHONE, Feb. 11—The public is invited to the annual Basque March of Dimes dance to be held Saturday night at the Lincoln school auditorium.

Dancing will begin at 9 p. m. with music by Thorne's Ambassadors and Domingo Ansoetegui.

Proceeds will go to the March of Dimes fund and be the last event of the drive, report Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gablica, chairmen.

Assist Campaign

SHOSHONE, Feb. 11—Future Business Leaders of America club members at Shoshone high school filled envelopes for the Heart Fund drive this month.

At a meeting held at the school this week, tentative plans were made to visit Twin Falls business houses in March.

Luck Detours Winds; Many Almost Killed

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11 (AP)—A lucky tip enabled an airliner with 29 aboard to dodge the deadly funnel.

A big brick smoke stack swayed between a Roman Catholic home for women and a small structure to the rear. It toppled away from the home, where 150 persons were asleep, and fell on the smaller structure, killing two men.

190 Old Men Escape

The twister unroofed and sucked all the windows from the Frederick Ozman Home for Men, but 190 elderly men were spared.

Entire walls were sheered away, finding startled occupants still in bed—unhurt.

Thus the seemingly miraculous escapes outnumbered the dead in the unheralded tornado that smashed sections of this sleeping metropolis at 2:12 a.m. yesterday.

Snapping electrical lines set off scores of burglar alarms, which mingled with the sound of shattering glass in a noisy, hair-raising symphony of death.

Storm Spotted

Minutes after a Trans-World airliner took off from the Municipal airport for Kansas City with 24 passengers and a crew of five the airport control tower spotted the storm on its radar screen. A warning was radioed to the airliner.

The pilot of the four-engine airliner changed course. Had he not detoured, the pilot said, "we probably would have flipped over."

Approval Is Not Given on Budget

SHOSHONE, Feb. 11—Lincoln county commissioners elected not to approve the 1959 budget, as was scheduled for the Monday meeting at the courthouse. At a recessed meeting, the matter will be discussed further.

Claims were approved and officer's reports received. Glen Ross was appointed new member to the board, replacing Ben Haubrich who has served the past several years.

Other members of the board, who were reappointed are Rupert Manning, Mrs. Elden Guthrie, Mrs. Ralph Towne, Murdo Gage, Floyd Silva, Mrs. Edna Akins and J. Howard Manning, as county agent, and Mrs. Raymond Bernard, agent's secretary, who acts as secretary to the fair board.

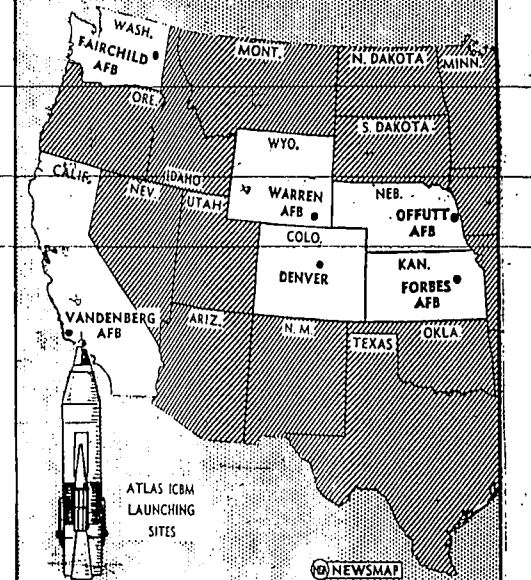

Visitors Leave

WENDELL, Feb. 11—Mrs. Flossie Myers, Gustine, Calif., a house guest for a week at the home of her son, Denton Adams, returned to her home Sunday.

Mrs. M. L. Gates returned to her home in Wendell Saturday following a three-week visit in Seattle with her sister, Mrs. L. W. Dutch, and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Badcon and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Erik Vasley, Grants Pass, Ore., another son-in-law and daughter of Mrs. Gates, visited in Seattle during her visit there.

New Missile Bases Planned

Following up the recent successful 6,300-mile test flight of America's huge Atlas missile, the air force has announced plans for constructing six launching sites at widespread points in the West. Map above locates the scattered installations at five airbases and one site near Denver. With a 6,300-mile reach, the Atlas could blanket almost all of Russia.

Oliver H. Lowry Honored at Rite

SHOSHONE, Feb. 11—Funeral services for Oliver H. Lowry were held at 2 p. m. Monday at the McGoldrick funeral chapel here with the Rev. Ralph A. Lawrence, Methodist pastor, officiating.

Musical services were provided by a women's trio, composed of Mrs. Rupert Manning, Mrs. Florence Gage and Carol Coffman, with Mrs. George Kennison as accompanist.

Honorary pallbearers were John Thomas E. C. Hahn, Jess Nebecker, William Hart, R. W. Robinson and E. W. McRoberts. Active pallbearers were Earl White, Ward Mills, Donald Sandy, Everett Sapt, Ross Boyd and John Stutznecker.

Concluding rites were held at the Shoshone cemetery.

Loop Meet Set

WENDELL, Feb. 11—Wendell IOOF lodge No. 131 will be hosts for the district loop meeting Feb. 19.

Plans for the meeting and other activities were made at the meeting this week at the IOOF hall with Homer Goble, noble grand, presiding.

Guests from the Buhl lodge introduced were Henry Rodig, noble grand, Bert Womack secretary and Guy Ulrich, Francis Goble and Ray Lancaster served refreshments.

Studies Show U.S. Readers Are too Slow

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11 (AP)—By the time you finish reading this sentence your eyes will have stopped about 10 times between 18 and 20 lines.

That's if you're an average reader. If you are a superior reader your eyes may have stopped and started eight to 10 times; if you are a very poor reader as many as 35 to 40 times.

Cameras Make Study

These are some of the things that indicate cameras have been able to learn about America's reading habits. The same sort of research indicates that most American adults are "slow" readers, able to read only 200-250 words and comprehend only 20-25 percent of what they read. That is about half the speed the average person should attain.

Some people—but only a few—can read 1,000 words or more per minute.

Principals Concerned

High school principals meeting in convention here are concerned about the reading capabilities of their students. Before school programs can be beefed up and sped up, they say, it may be necessary to include special reading courses in all grades from seven through 12.

Reading proficiency increases, the experts say, as the student advances through school. In junior high the average is 255 words per minute, in high school 306 and in college 340.

Their drops off.

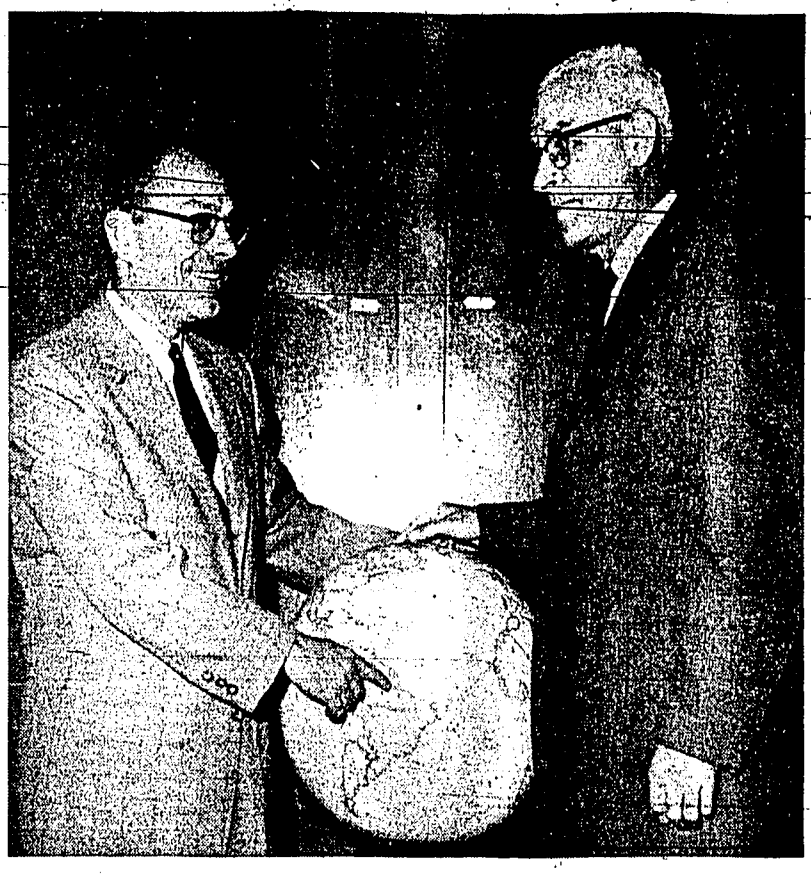

People don't read as much as they used to, for one thing, and their speed drops back now to about the sixth grade level.

Special Courses Suggested

Walter G. Patterson, principal of the Needham, Mass., high school, suggested yesterday that special reading courses might be necessary through the first two years of college for students who are handicapped by poor reading ability.

He told delegates to the convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals that poor reading habits can be the greatest handicap a student can carry with him to college.

T. F. Pastor Recalls Missionary Days

The Rev. R. R. Cronk, left, of the Twin Falls Seventh-day Adventist church recalls his missionary experience with the Rev. R. R. Figuhr, president of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, Washington, D. C., during the 10th quadrennial union session being held in Portland, Ore., last week. The Rev. Mr. Figuhr was president of the South American division when the Rev. Mr. Cronk served as a missionary on the Amazon river in Brazil nine years ago. The Rev. Mr. Cronk was one of 231 official delegates from the 311 Adventist churches of the North Pacific Union conference which comprises the states of Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Montana and Alaska. They met to elect new union conference officials and departmental heads. (Staff engraving)

Think You're Confused? Funds Issue In Congress Mixed up, Writer Claims

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—You think you're confused? Wait till you read this.

President Eisenhower has protested repeatedly against what he calls the spenders and demands that congress stay within the 77-billion-dollar budget he sent up in January.

Just as a starter on how things can get mixed up: Congress cannot ignore his requests for economy and go far more money than he asked. On the other hand, in some cases he doesn't have to spend it even if congress votes it.

And some of what's voted this year may be meant for spending a couple of years from now. There's a big difference between appropriations and expenditures.

The Eisenhower barbs about spenders apparently nettled Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Texas, leader of the senate Democrats. This week he said that over the past six years congress appropriated 22 billion dollars less than Eisenhower's budgets asked.

Whereupon Sen. Everett Dirksen, Illinois, leader of the senate Republicans, announced the Eisenhower administration was getting together the full story, including "everything relating to the budget," and that he'd produce it.

It's a good guess that when the two leaders and all the other Democrats and Republicans get through arguing about the figures, not only the general public but perhaps most members of congress will be more bemused than before.

One expert on government finances told this writer: "When it comes to voting on money problems, congress is a place where the left hand knoweth not what the right hand is doing."

He didn't mean anyone was slipping a fast one over on anyone. He just meant things get mixed up.

The house and senate appropriations committees were created to examine money requests from the executive branch of the government and decide what's needed. But those committees are not the only ones passing on money problems.

Eisenhower's budget, for instance, contains all kinds of requests for money in one form or another. The whole budget is not solely the appropriations committees' baby. Some parts of it go to other committees.

Who gets what depends on the nature of what is asked.

British Build Bombs Stocks For Defenses

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Britain has reported a steady increase in its H-bomb capacity and good progress in building a defense based on guided missiles.

It disclosed increased reliance on mobile forces for limited warfare and on the British Blue Streak, rather than American missiles.

These were the main points of a government white paper reporting on the five-year plan to boost Britain's defenses into the rocket age.

It said Britain has a growing stock of Kiloton bombs—equal to 1,000 tons of TNT—and a steady production of megaton weapons—equal to a million tons of TNT. Megaton weapons are usually H-bombs.

The Blue Streak medium range missile is under development by the De Havilland Aircraft company.

Few details of it have been released, except that it has a Rolls Royce liquid fuel rocket engine and a range of 2,000 to 2,500 miles. It is launched from underground.

Public Apathy Termed Major Crimes Factor

The prime problem of law enforcement in America today is the apathy of the people, stated M/Sgt. Robert E. Richards at a meeting of the Twin Falls Exchange Club Tuesday noon.

Richards went on to say that without motivation of the public, the crime rate will continue to rise, causing greater and greater moral deterioration for the nation.

Other activities of the week, explained by Robert Gillespie include radio and television emphasis, printed bulletins being dispersed through super-markets and 'go-to-church Sunday' emphasis.

Future Nurses at Hailey Sew Their Own Uniforms in Class

HAILEY, Feb. 11—Although sewing isn't one of the requirements in nursing, the ten members of the Future Nurses of America class at Hailey high school have made their own uniforms. Their adviser, Jean Mizer, notes that "it takes quite a while, but now each girl has completed her uniform." The skirt aprons are green and white stripes, and are worn with white blouses. In their nursing course, in addition to studies at school, two girls go each day to the Sun Valley hospital, where, under the direction of Dr. John R. Moritz, and Mrs. Craig Rember, registered nurse, one of the nurses, they observe and assist in a student duty program. Mrs. Heath, a Baker, head-technologist at the hospital, has given them several classes. Thursday, Dr. E. W. Fox will demonstrate the taking and developing of X-ray pictures, making blood tests and other laboratory procedures. Miss Mizer states that all of the girls who signed up for the course still feel they will choose nursing as their vocation.

Sewage Plant Topic at Buhl Council Meet

BUHL, Feb. 11—Harlan G. Formo, Boise, from the Idaho department of health met with the Buhl city council Monday evening at the city hall to speak on the sewage treatment plan and the process for the city obtaining such a sewage plant. The council decided to take no action on the matter. Members voted to invest money from the cemetery perpetual fund in series H bonds. The group also decided to lower the ceiling and do general cleaning in the Buhl fire station. Building permits were issued to Farmers Realty and M. H. King company. Buhl Planning mill was granted a plumber license. Frank Told and Leland Peters with the Planning mill were granted journeyman plumbers licenses. Look Out! MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 11 (AP)—Louise Johnson, whose hobby is calendars, knows why the 1959's are frazzled. "Too many Friday the 13ths, that's why. For superstitious souls who believe Fridays the 13th are unlucky days, Johnson points out that the one coming up is the 13th of the 1959's and there will be two more of them this year."

Political Cuts For U.S. Help Claimed Out

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (UPI)—Two key senate Democrats today rejected any idea that congress might cut President Eisenhower's foreign aid request in a political move to offset increased domestic spending. Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield, Mont., and Sen. John D. Sparkman, D. Ala., a member of the foreign relations committee, commented on the budget issue in the wake of the President's news conference remarks. Eisenhower told reporters yesterday that if there were any intention of increasing expenditures for domestic programs at the expense of foreign aid, he would say that "statesmanship is beginning to get of a very low order." "We don't operate on that basis," Mansfield retorted. Whatever congress does about cutting foreign aid, he told a reporter, "will not be based on political motives." Mansfield said congress "can stand on its record of the past four years" under Democratic leadership and "when the ball game is over, the record of responsibility by this congress will be sustained." Eisenhower is expected to ask about $3,900,000,000 in foreign aid money. Sentiment is strong in both houses for slashing that figure.

Benson Hears U.S. Wants to Dump Surplus

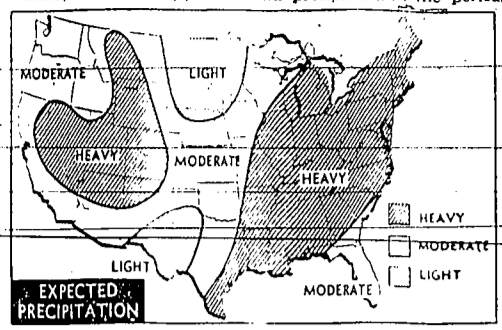

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson knows one thing for sure today — congress wants everything possible done to get rid of farm surpluses by shipping them overseas. "This was the overriding theme which ran through hours of testimony and questions yesterday during Benson's appearance before the house agriculture committee. Benson was told repeatedly that efforts to reduce surpluses in this way should be stepped up immediately. Patience Asked The agriculture secretary and his aides promised to do so but also asked the lawmakers to be "patient" and allow the government time to get the ball really rolling. Democrats and Republicans alike applauded President Eisenhower's request for Benson to vigorously push a "food for peace" plan to ship more farm products abroad. But they criticized the administration for not using all the funds and resources now available to speed exports of surplus foods—whether it be through sales, barter or donation to hungry peoples. Other Interests Considered Benson said this country had been pushing farm exports "almost to the limit." But he said the United States also had to consider the interests of other friendly countries in the world marketplace. Furthermore, he said, such efforts shouldn't disturb dollar sale of U. S. farm products abroad. The explanation, however, did little to satisfy the congressmen. The wheat surplus alone was expected to be at an all-time high of 1,300,000,000 bushels by July 1. If that is to go somewhere, they reasoned, and the best bet appears to be overseas.

Winter's Grip

Weather maps below show the U.S. weather bureau's month-long forecast for February. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an estimate of average temperatures and precipitation for the period.

Precipitation during February is expected to exceed normal over the eastern half of the country and also in the western plateau and Rocky Mountain states. Subnormal amounts are anticipated over the Northern Plains and in west Texas. Elsewhere, near normal precipitation is indicated.

The weather outlook for the month of February calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over most of the nation, except for the northern east of the Appalachian mountains and in West coast states. Coldest weather is predicted for the Northern Plains.

U. S. Planning Light Fighter At Low Prices

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The United States has endorsed designs for a new lightweight all purpose supersonic fighter that could give allied nations modern air defenses at prices they can afford.

The plane would be intended primarily for the air forces of smaller nations.

Contract Talks to Start
The U. S. air force said in a brief announcement yesterday that it shortly will begin contract negotiations with Northrop corporation for a program "to develop a lightweight multipurpose jet fighter for possible utilization by allied countries."

Known as the N155F, it is a twin-engine plane featuring high performance, and economy of operation and maintenance.

Northrop corporation, Hawthorne, Calif., has been developing the single-seat plane capable of flying at more than 1,000 miles an hour.

Gilbert Nettleton, vice president and general manager of Northrop's international division, said the N155F would become "operationally available" in the 1961-65 period.

Size Is Secret

The size of the proposed air force contract was not disclosed.

Nations that have expressed interest in the proposed fighter include Japan, Australia, Canada and several of the North Atlantic treaty nations of Europe.

The Northrop plane would have capability as an all-weather craft or as a day fighter. It would use a variety of guns, missiles or rockets.

Argentines are the biggest red meat eaters in the world. Per capita consumption there was 242 pounds in 1957. The United States produced 28.5 per cent of the world's red meat (beef, veal, pork, mutton, lamb, goat and horse meat) in 1957, but garnered only fifth place in consumption. Of the 43 countries listed by the U.S. agriculture department, Japan ranked lowest, Russia's average per person was believed to be around 83 pounds.

Declo Residents Report Activities

DECLO, Feb. 11 — Mrs. Nellie Kidd has gone to Logan to spend a week visiting friends.

Mrs. May Widdison, Rexburg, visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. Eola Fisher. She was accompanied to Declo by her son, Howard Widdison, Rexburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Welfon Allen and son, David, are in Salt Lake City, where they took David for a medical checkup.

Ronald Osterhout, who has been attending the University of Idaho, Moscow, has returned to his home in Declo.

Mrs. Julia Ballard and Mrs. Mertle Gullis, both Declo, left Monday for Gooding where they stayed overnight with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Parke. Tuesday they left with Parke for Phoenix, Ariz., where they will spend two weeks visiting Mrs. Ballard's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vasco Parke. Elmer Parke and Vasco are brothers.

Ground-Breaking Ceremonies Held

HAZELTON, Feb. 11 — Ground-breaking ceremonies were held Sunday for the new Assembly of God church here with the Rev. Homer Walkup, district official, as the principal speaker.

Land was purchased recently just west of Hazelton adjoining the Frontier Grange property. The Rev. Don Farmer, Rupert, who was assistant pastor here two years ago when the church was organized, also spoke.

Other speakers included the Rev. George Duncan, Kimberly; the Rev. Wesley Johnson, Jerome, and the Rev. Robert Daniels, Twin Falls.

The new building will be 40 by 60 feet and cinderblocks are now being laid for the basement. Excavation was done by volunteer labor the past week.

Rampaging Nature Is Nothing To Fool With; Tornado Worst

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Nature on the rampage is nothing to fool around with.

And that seems especially true of the tornado, which can be tricky, almost whimsical, and incredibly devastating to anything or anybody unfortunate enough to be caught in its path.

The tornado that hit St. Louis seems to be typical.

It didn't cut a very wide path and it didn't go very far, but in a few terrible moments it left behind a trail of death and destruction.

Anyone who ever has been around a tornado can tell you of straws driven with such fury that they pierce an oak fence post, of large objects, maybe an automobile, lifted and moved and then set down again unharmed, of its dipping motion, that spares one but strikes the other, of chickens plucked naked.

No one knows the velocity of a tornado's spiraling winds.

Some say 400, some 600, some go up to 750 miles an hour. Instruments that might settle the argument are likely to be torn to bits, too.

Metereologists are able to spot tornado weather, but they still can't predict where one will hit.

But they hope that eventually the tornado problem will be solved.

Among the interesting suggestions: Fire a guided missile into them, and disperse their energy while they still are far above ground. This hasn't been tried yet, but if it ever, does it's going to be tough on our guided missile supply. Probably due to better spotting services, more tornadoes are turning up each year.

In 1957, the last year for which complete figures are available, 624 were reported. These took 191 lives. The annual toll from tornadoes runs surprisingly high. The statistics go back to 1916. Since then, on the average, 218 persons die each year.

The blackest day in tornado history? That would be March 18, 1925, when a tornado swept through Missouri, Illinois and Indiana.

On that dreadful day 689 were killed and 1,980 were injured.

Persons Said 'More Aware' Over Politics

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Republicans are crediting presidential assistant Wilton B. Persons with bringing about a new White House awareness of political matters in appointments.

Persons, who succeeded Sherman Adams as President Eisenhower's right hand man, apparently is pleasing congressional Republicans with his cooperativeness.

Recommendations Watched

Unlike Adams, who sometimes preferred a Democrat to a Republican, Persons is reported to feel that the road to harmony within the party is through paying attention to the recommendations of party senators and house members when there is a job to fill.

Congressional Republicans have pressed this same view upon GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn, with reports of varying success. There have been some complaints, but most of them think Alcorn's record of consulting with them is improving.

For his own part, Alcorn apparently is finding it a great deal easier under the Persons regime than under Adams to convey his appointment recommendations to Eisenhower.

Responsibilities Assigned

Unlike Adams, Persons has assigned specific responsibilities within his office and has assigned David Kendall as his deputy to pay personal attention to patronage matters.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday that no one, including Alcorn, can veto any selection he may make for an appointment. But his statement that "political considerations come in" was interpreted as indicating more awareness of this factor than some Republicans thought he had shown in the past.

Drawings Found

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—A panel of drawings by famed French artist Paul Gauguin, newly discovered on the back of one of his known works, was revealed yesterday for the first time.

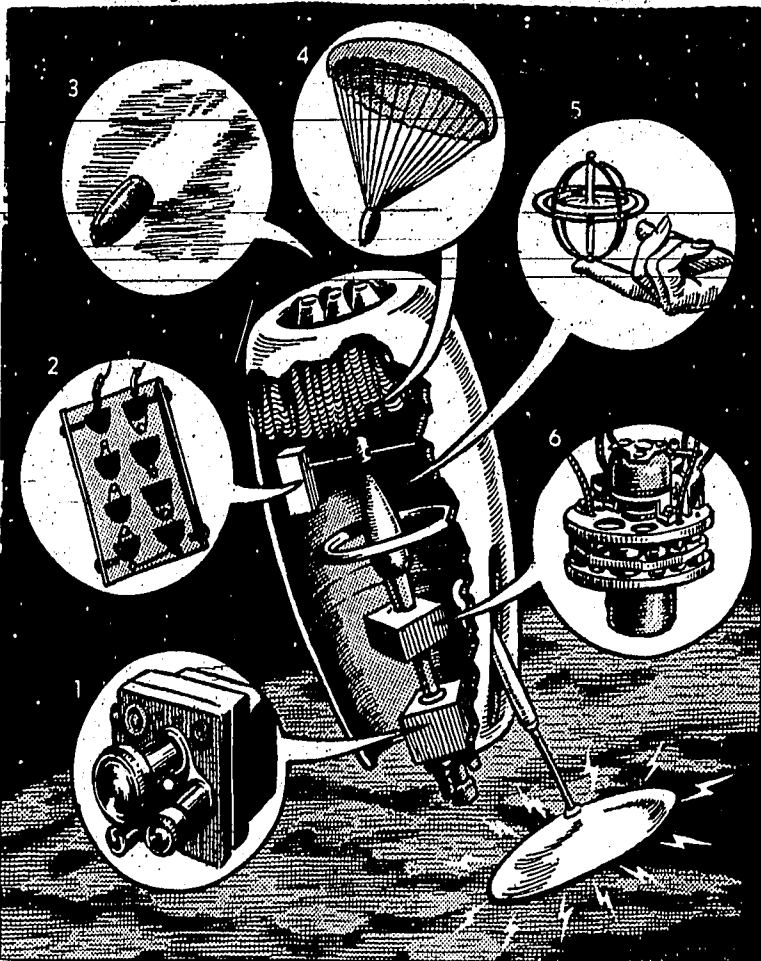

In 1892, Tahiti, the three pencil sketches are of a woman's head, a woman holding her head in her hands and a tattooed hand and wrist. On the reverse side is a pastel drawing of a nude which previously was valued at $50,000 to $60,000.

Serving Time

OASTLEFORD, Feb. 11—Virgil Reeves is serving six days in Twin Falls county jail in lieu of two fines assessed in justice of the peace court here.

He was fined $15 and costs for failure to register a truck and $10 and costs for driving with an expired driver's license.

Eye Satellite to Follow Ear

The United States intends to follow up its highly successful Atlas satellite "ear" in space with an "eye." This will be the "space watch" satellite, shown above. Features could include (1) telescope camera capable of scanning globe for picture transmission; (2) sun-power battery; (3) retro-rockets to propel information-laden satellite back to Earth at radio command; (4) specially designed parachute to slow final descent and prevent burning up in atmosphere; (5) gyro-stabilizers to keep satellite vertical, and (6) tape recorder, housed with transmitter, to record on magnetic tape data on radiation, temperature and other space conditions. Antenna would send impulses to Earth.

Politicians Show Amazement At Treatment of U.S. Indians

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Congressmen reacted with amazement yesterday to a tale of 100 per cent Americans getting an awful shoving-around.

These Americans are Indians, and their impassioned champion was Robert Burnett, head of the Sioux Tribal council, Rosebud, S. D. In the opinion of Rep. John P. Saylor, R., Pa.—and he's a lawyer—Burnett made a clear case for an inquiry by the civil rights commission, which was set up primarily to handle complaints from southern Negroes.

not, but could be enforced. About one-third of the inmates of the South Dakota state penitentiary are Indians, sent there like herds of cattle, as he put it; Only one Indian in South Dakota ever served on a state jury and none has served on state grand juries; Indians in South Dakota get heavier fines and stiffer jail penalties in state courts than non-Indians; They are not permitted to serve as state, county or municipal policemen; Many, unable to speak English, are not given interpreters and do not understand their rights in state courts; Rep. James Haley, D., Fla., subcommittee chairman, termed Bur-

Convict Aids In Test; He's Jailed Again

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 11 (AP)—While serving a 10-year prison term for bank robbery several years ago, Ralph E. Richardson volunteered for a risky medical experiment.

He and two other inmates of the Federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., were given injections of hepatitis virus which produces inflammation of the liver.

Two of the volunteers died. Richardson survived, but he was in a coma for weeks, developing both pneumonia and gangrene. His weight dropped from 210 to 145 pounds.

His story was told in a national magazine article. He was rewarded with a parole in 1957 after serving half of his sentence for a 1952 bank robbery at Brookville, Pa.

Last month Richardson was arrested for passing allegedly worthless checks for $85 near his home in Butler, Pa.

Judge Clyde S. Shumaker, impressed with Richardson's participation in the prison medical experiment, ordered him only to make restitution and pay court costs.

But the charge was a parole violation. Richardson was ordered back to Lewisburg to complete his term.

"I figure I have 1,008 days more to serve now," said Richardson philosophically.

New Pastor

EDEN, Feb. 11—The Rev. Jay L. Howell, Madera, Calif., has accepted the pastorate of the Eden church of God. He preached his first sermon Sunday morning.

The Rev. Harry Snook, who has been pastor here for many years, has resigned because of business activities. The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Howell and their three children moved here from Madera this week.

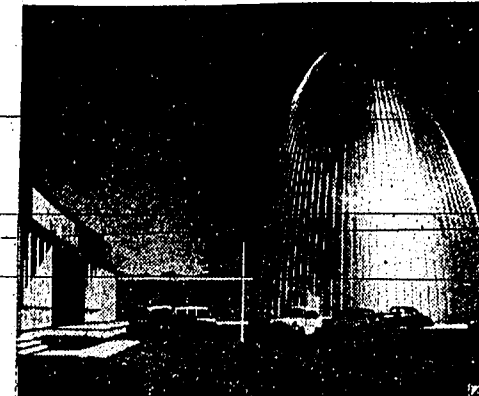

net's testimony revealing. He suggested perhaps the civil rights commission should be asked to investigate.

"I intend to do just that," Saylor said.

Rep. D. S. Saund, D., Calif., a native of India, expressed amazement at Burnett's testimony. He said he couldn't believe there was such discrimination against the American Indians.

Haley said he introduced the bill at the request of the interior department. This does not mean he will support it, he said. More hearings are likely.

New Mushroom-Like Building Is Designed in U. S. Atom Era

NEW YORK (AP)—In the lengthening shadow of the developing atomic age, a new type of American architecture is springing up like a family of mushrooms.

Strange futuristic looking buildings, they are characterized by a high dome, either on the main structure or set apart in a sleek slice of pure geometry.

The new building type houses nuclear reactors. Although the first began operating scarcely 16 years ago, there are now 149 reactors operating in the United States, with 89 more under construction and 67 in the planning stage.

A recent issue of "Progressive Architecture," a national architectural journal, put the spotlight on this new building type. It displayed pictures of nuclear plants completed or under construction and reproduced design suggestions for reactor plants of the future by senior architectural students of Pratt institute.

The total collection adds up to an awesome exhibit of architecture with no historical past.

The purpose of most present-day reactors is experimental. Basically, a nuclear reactor is a device in which nuclear fission occurs dividing a nucleus of uranium or plutonium into two parts and releasing neutrons, gamma rays and heat.

In experimental reactors, the neutrons and gamma rays are used for research. In power reactors, the controlled fission is a substitute for the oil or coal-fired boiler and its heat is used to spin electric generators.

"Progressive Architecture" maintains that distinctive atomic architecture will become a familiar American landmark in this century, pointing out that the atomic energy commission has been authorized 388 million dollars for new facilities.

The magazine predicts private industry will more than match this investment. Another source predicts that 10 billion dollars will be spent in atomic industry during the next 25 years, mostly on atomic power plants.

Atomic Garden's Purpose Is Listed At Jerome Meet

JEROME, Feb. 11—"Weird plants in an atomic garden" was a portion of the cultural program presented at the Jerome Garden Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Volt Hudspeh, Jr. on a 10-acre atomic garden at Jerome.

Brooklyn, N.Y. The garden is a laboratory for the study of plants which are being raised with a radioactive substance for the purpose of determining whether they are healthy, vigorous and resistant to disease, but signs of deterioration, mutation and mutation, survival of the fittest, with a view to improve the species to benefit mankind.

Mrs. Jordan also spoke on formal and informal gardens, flower arrangement and gardens of other lands.

Mrs. Gordon J. Hopson conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. William K. Herd.

Mrs. N. E. Darling, Mrs. Jack Olson, and Mrs. J. Phil Thomas were selected for the nominating committee. They will report on officers' nominees at the first meeting in March.

Mrs. Hopson reported on the spring rushing outline received from International Garden Clubs.

A valentine motif was carried out at the refreshment table by Mrs. Hudspeh. A red tablecloth was decorated with red, heart-shaped ice cream with white fan-shaped napkins and heart-shaped candies completed the decor. Mrs. Hopson assisted the hostess at the punch bowl.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Phil Thomas with Mrs. Gordon J. Hopson presenting the cultural program on "Tools for the art of life-action."

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Whenever the family got into an argument about the deeds of one or another of the relatives, Aunt Rose would say, "Everybody's different, so naturally yet so definitely, as to stop the criticism there and then."

If fathers and mothers could remember that each child born to them comes as a person of rights, feelings, tastes and abilities, and make allowances for their differences, family life would be another and easier for all of them.

Religion and politics can become topics of dissension and hot arguments between parents and their adolescent children. Young people often test such fields of human interest by taking a side opposite to the accepted one. They are likely to make statements with great assurance and emphasis. They have been known to say, "You're dead wrong. And I can prove it," when their parents are firmly convinced that they can prove nothing of the sort and it is they who are dead wrong.

The young people form opinions on matters that engage the best minds in the country. That irritates their elders and drives them to say, "You don't know what you're talking about." That never settles anything. Youth rarely believes that talk settles things. What they are trying to do by their arguments is to get information that will enable them to understand something of what goes on about them. Often their positive assertions of knowledge are but disguised questions.

But sometimes young people talk about their plans. They inform their parents that they are not going to college; or, that they are but they are going to take courses they want to take and not those their parents have set for them. They are likely to say they are going to live by themselves—or that they want to go to work—and usually such statements are widely different from family customs, thought or ambition. What are parents to do?

Pancake Takes Pancake Race; Score Evened

LIBERAL, Kans., Feb. 11 (AP)—A break for one contestant because a lucky one for another as the Liberal regained the individual pancake racing title.

At the annual Shrove Tuesday competition between the Liberal and Olney, England, was Mary Collingswood, a 26-year-old high school physical education instructor.

She scampers around a 418-foot course in one minute 8.8 seconds, carrying a skillet and flipping pancakes into the air three times she made her dash.

She was seven seconds better than the time turned in by Bridget in winning a similar race at Olney.

The Liberal triumph evened the score. Each side now has five victories.

It marked the third year in a row that Miss Collingswood has won the individual leg of the race.

She got a break when Mrs. Mary Barrington, 19, tripped and fell. Barrington was about five feet ahead of the pack with 50 seconds to go and apparently was about to go for the victory when she fell down. She wound up third.

After the race, Mary and Bridget talked by transatlantic telephone. Pancake races have marked Shrove Tuesday observances in Europe for more than 500 years. In 1870, Liberal challenged Olney to an international go of it.

Eaton Meets Khrushchev

Cyrus Eaton, right, and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev exchanged smiles during the industrialist's visit to Russia last fall.

U.S. Man's Campaigns to End Cold War Praised, Criticized

CLEVELAND, (NEA)—The vigorous voice of multi-millionaire Cyrus Eaton, 75, quivers with emotion when he denounces the "insane fanaticism" of politicians and statesmen he accuses of pushing the world towards global war and nuclear annihilation.

For a year, he has devoted more time to his personal crusade for "an accommodation with communism" than to management of the three-billion-dollar coal, iron, railroad and utilities empire he controls.

He proudly displays piles of letters from all over the world commending his courage but is aware that his campaign has also stirred much criticism.

A group of judges, holding an informal discussion in Cleveland, unanimously agreed that only Eaton's wealth and personal prestige permit his course of conduct.

In effect, he seeks to establish a one-man foreign policy. He told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan and Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov that a majority of the American people don't support the "cold war" policies of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

He appealed to Canadian Prime Minister Diefenbaker to adopt an independent policy of "massive trade with communist countries, regardless of Washington.

Eaton knows that congressmen and others have denounced him as a "traitor," and consider him a "communist capitalist."

His retort: "The true patriot speaks out in the best interests of his country."

Here is Eaton's philosophy as he has spelled it out in speeches and interviews:

"I am a sincere capitalist. I believe that our system of free enterprise can provide the best possible standard of living for the average man."

"But the Russians and Chinese are equally convinced of the superiority of their system."

"We must find a way to end the 'cold war' and enter into a peaceful competition with the communists to see which system can do the most for its people."

"I am convinced that our system will triumph in the end."

"But if we don't make peace then both systems will be destroyed in a puff of nuclear annihilation and all modern civilization will be obliterated."

Eaton's conviction is that "we can and must make a deal with the Russians."

He believes that the President of the United States and the premier of Russia should sit down together in an atmosphere of mutual trust to work out a bargain.

"That, Eaton says, is the "sensible solution" that would be adopted by the heads of two corporations that found themselves engaged in ruinous competition. He believes that vast armaments expenditures could eventually bankrupt both countries, and "sanitary" "peace" ultimately destroy free enterprise.

Eaton brushes aside the argument that the Russians can't be trusted with: "We must trust them. The alternative is mutual destruction."

(President Eisenhower has repeatedly pointed out that Russia's record of broken treaties gives the U. S. no alternative to insisting upon agreements with self-enforcing provisions.)

Parading and Dancing End; Lent Starting

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 11 (AP)—Parades rolled, people danced, clamorous excitement rang through the city, brilliant sunshine broke through the clouds, merriment reigned.

On and on it went yesterday. For it was Mardi Gras of 1959.

REX King of Carnival, touched off the festivities when he climbed his mobile throne and proclaimed a day of fun and laughter.

Five carnival krewe staged parades through the day, one toured at night. Multitudes wore masks from sunup to sundown.

Maskers' costumes ranged from the filmiest of dancing gowns to gorilla suits made of spanish moss. Some wore more. Some wore less. And some much less.

Besides the scheduled floats, depicting everything from the adventures of Marco Polo to African natives, were the numerous trucks carrying civic and school groups just having a good time.

The carnival season, which began 12 nights after Christmas, ended officially at midnight, with church bells ringing in the solemn Lenten season, 40 days of sacrifices observed by some faiths until Easter.

Married Couples Live Longer

Statistics show that American husbands and wives enjoy more years on Earth than single, divorced or widowed men and women.

Attention Young, Middle-Aged and Old Men — Reports Show It Pays to Marry

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Young men . . . old men . . . middle-aged men it pays to get married.

At least in France and the United States, that is.

Statisticians at the national office of vital statistics have put together a lot of figures that present a fairly convincing case. They've been corroborated by data from the French Institut National de la Statistique et des Etudes Economiques.

French figures show that a young married man of 36 can expect to live six years longer than his unmarried—or divorced—cousin.

The American figures show that an unmarried or divorced man of 35 to 44 has two-and-a-half times as great a chance of dying this year as does his married brother.

Even an American unmarried 75-year-old has almost a 40 per cent greater chance of dying than if he were married.

There are a lot of theories as to what this means. The Americans have some pretty complicated and stogy ones. The French, however, simply say of the married man: "He is less inclined to yield to all sorts of temptations."

And it may be said, even the American statisticians seem to bear out the French theory.

It should be mentioned in passing that married women live longer, too, than unmarried women, both in France and in the United States.

What then do these married men and women get out of married life? Here are the astounding details.

Strange as it may seem, married men apparently have fewer ulcers than unmarried men. At least fewer married men die of them. And fewer married men die of hypertension.

Furthermore, fewer widowers die of ulcers than men who have never been married. As for women; very few women have ulcers anyway, married or single, divorced or widowed.

Single men have a greater chance of being murdered, or of dying of pneumonia, tuberculosis, cancer and heart disease.

Three times as many widowers commit suicide as their married friends.

Until they reach 50, single men are more likely to die of hernia. After 50, there's no advantage in being married as far as hernia is concerned.

The way it looks from the figures, more married women than single drink themselves to death. With men, it's the other way around.

But before concluding that marriage is bad for a woman's nerves, note that the drinking-to-death rate goes up sharply for women who are widowed or divorced. Except for divorced women over 75.

More divorced men are anemic. Apparently at any age from 20 to 80, a single man has twice as great a chance of being killed in an automobile accident as a married man. Widowers have an even harder time staying alive in autos. And a divorced man of 75 has three times the chance of dying in a car as his married friends of the same age.

For a woman, however, there are times when it's safer for her to be single when in an automobile—un-

Local Tie-in Of Gamblers Is Suggested

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Gamblers must have a tie-in with local officials in order for pinball machine gambling to operate openly in big cities. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said yesterday.

Church made the charge at a senate rackets committee hearing at which five pinball and slot machines were lined up and witnesses demonstrated how four could be used for gambling.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said he has evidence that those sort of machines are used widely in areas where gambling is prohibited. He said operators of the devices pay the federal tax of $250 a machine for gaming devices.

"There must be some arrangement with local officials or state officials," Kennedy commented.

"You mean," Church interrupted, "there must be some sort of a fix."

Rufus King, Washington attorney, told the committee certain bingo type machines bring in a gross annual take of 260 million dollars.

To illustrate they can be fixed, King rigged up a 200 to 1 odds set-up and invited Church to shoot the ball. Church flipped it and lost.

der 20 and between 34 and 69. From then on it's safer for her to be a widow, as far as cars are concerned.

By and large, married women apparently get—statistically—fewer benefits than their married husbands.

There are, apparently some disadvantages to being married. More married women are murdered. More die of diabetes and appendicitis.

Married men have a worse time with golfer.

However, compared with married women, almost two times as many widows die of heart disease, two to three times as many divorcees die in auto accidents, four times as many widows are murdered, four times as many divorcees commit suicide.

Some women researchers have concluded it is better for men to get married and better for women to stay single. But if a woman does marry it is better for her not to become a widow.

Schnoz' Cuts Cake No. 66; Still Working

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11 (AP)—The schnoz cut his 66th birthday anniversary cake yesterday—but he didn't first to make sure it was ripe.

Then the six show girls in his club, act helped Jimmie Durkin blow out the candles.

"I can't do it myself," alighted the schnoz humbly as he surveyed the many humbly cakes. "Besides, I'm getting a little old for this stuff."

He admitted he was a little tired because he stayed up until 4 a.m. playing gin rummy with a couple of pals.

The Variety club, Philadelphia, a show business organization, honored the comedian as "the clown prince of mirth."

"I'm," he belated to more than 400 guests assembled at a surprise luncheon in the Bellevue-Stratford hotel.

Durante, an entertainer for 49 years, says he's going to keep on working as long as he can.

"The minute I don't feel up to it," he said, "you know I won't be there." He said, "you know I won't be there." He said, "you know I won't be there." He said, "you know I won't be there."

Here is Eaton's philosophy as he has spelled it out in speeches and interviews:

Repeat Wanted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Republicans, hoping to borrow a page from their party's first president, announced this theme today for this year's Abraham Lincoln anniversary dinners:

"Emulate Lincoln's example of turning a '58 defeat into a '60 victory."

Republican National Chairman Maida Aboon announced the theme in reporting that GOP speakers have been booked for more than 150 Lincoln sequentennial dinners this month in 29 states.

Lincoln, who was born 150 years ago tomorrow, was defeated in 1858 when he ran for the U. S. senate but was elected in 1860.

Film on Safety Shown Legion Joint Meeting

SHOSHONE, Feb. 11—Films on safety were shown at a meeting of the American Legion and auxiliary Monday at the Memorial hall by State Patrolman Willard Baker. One-streeced courtney in driving as depicted in the chain reaction in crashes, and the other showed advances made in vehicle construction by the automobile industry in helping prevent serious injury in event of accidents. The two groups met together to see the film and refreshments were served by the women during the social hour which followed.

At the auxiliary business meeting, a pancake supper was discussed for April. Funds must be raised to finish paying for blinds for the Memorial hall and for sending delegates to Girls' state.

Approval was given for ordering poppies to be sold the Saturday before Memorial day.

Robert Haddock conducted the Legion business meeting. Plans were made for a social at 8 p.m. Feb. 19 at the Memorial hall and exceptional prizes will be offered. Funds will go to help finance projects of the Legion, such as Boy Scout troop, Boys' state and the baseball program.

Committee in charge of the event includes Clyde Rapp, Hal Ross and Haddock. The public is invited.

Short Course For Dairying Is Set at Paul

RUPERT, Feb. 11—County Agent W. G. Priest announced today that plans are almost completed for the Mindoka county dairy short course to be held Thursday and Friday at the American Legion hall in Paul.

Another short course, one on irrigation, will be held Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Priest said the two-day session on dairying will include such subjects as the production of quality milk, buildings and equipment needed in dairying, maintaining health in the dairy herd and improving and knowing the dairy herd.

The county agent reported that sessions will be held each day from 10 a. m. to noon and from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. A number of specialists will take part in the meetings. G. C. Anderson, extension dairyman from the University of Idaho, will take part in many of the meetings, and Nebe Meldrum of the Utah Supply company, Salt Lake City, will appear.

Others participating in the discussions will be Duard Campbell, state director of dairying; Carleton Tolman, Sego Milk company; Clyde Ross, Jerome Cooperative creamery; Duane Hansen, Lloye Phippen and Mack Kump, all of the Kraft Cheese company; and Dr. C. H. Lehman and Dr. Carl Kelly, both Rupert veterinarians.

The irrigation short course is expected to draw specialists from throughout the area. County Agent Vance Smith reported sessions will be held all day Monday and until noon on Tuesday.

About 50 persons took advantage of the feedlot tour sponsored by the county agent's office last Saturday. The group visited the farms of William Schenk, William Bennett, Arlo Montgomery and Emil Mayer, Luro was served to the group at the Valley Livestock Commission company restaurant, courtesy of Daryl Manning and Darrell Peck.

Otto John Barred From British Isles

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Dr. Otto John, ex-chief of West German security who went to jail for treason with the communists, has been barred from Britain as an undesirable alien.

John was detained at Dover yesterday when he arrived from Belgium aboard a channel ferry. He was to be sent back today on the ferry's return trip.

Friends in Bonn said John wanted to begin a new life as a lawyer in England.

John slipped into East Germany in 1954 and worked for the communists.

Discuss Funds

BURLEY, Feb. 11—Bishops of the twelve wards in Burley stake met with the stake presidency recently to discuss a fund-raising campaign within the several wards to secure funds to present to the Cassia County new hospital, states President Newel P. Baker.

The bishops said they plan to canvass members of their wards for donations to this fund. It is hoped to make it a 10 per cent project.

Man Who Will Listen to New Father Is Best Guy in World

By HENRY McEMORE

Despite such inconveniences as having to try to hang a pair of flig ear trousers on a clothes hanger every night, and being without a power mower for the Garden of Eden's flig front lawn, Adam still was about the luckiest man who ever lived.

A list of advantages for being the only man in the world would run roughly about the same length as the Dnieper.

High among these advantages, I have come to learn since Megan was born six months and 15 days ago, was Adam's privilege to brag about his children all he wanted to.

He could flash pictures of them all day long, talk by the hour of how smart and pretty they were, and recite their accomplishments until he was hoarse, without fear of boring anyone or being interrupted.

Today's father can't do that. People will listen to a father brag about his baby for just so long, and then they'll do one of two things: Walk away with a tired look on their faces, or start talking about their own babies.

Of the two things, the second is far and away the worse. Nothing so infuriates a father, particularly a fairly new one, than to have a listener switch the conversation to another baby.

He will be right in the middle of a long and fascinating description of how his baby drank from a cup all by itself when only four months old, only to be stopped and forced to listen to how a baby he doesn't even know was two months ahead with his first tooth. Maddening is the only word for it.

I don't know whether Dale Carnegie teaches listening to a father brag about his baby as a means of winning friends, but he should.

There's something endearing about a patient listener. Give me a man who'll listen to me talk about Megan, and you can have the sort of man who'll jump in an icy creek to save your life, or give you a push when your car is stalled.

Best of all a man to clasp to your bosom and hold close—the one who not only listens, but who now and then drops in leading questions that enable you to go on and on. And who says, "Let me see those pictures again. They're about the cutest things I ever saw."

At the opposite end of the Pole is the man who not only interrupts your talk of your baby, but tops yours with stories of his own boy or girl.

If your baby crawled at four months, his was scooting all over the place at three months. If yours said "Da-da" at six, his was putting whole sentences together at five. If yours has curls, his has so many curls they keep springing his cap right off his head.

It's amazing how thoroughly you can come to dislike a father of this type. You feel almost like swatting him on the jaw and saying, "Shut up, you braggart. I've heard enough about your wonderful, wonderful baby!"

I wish I had a parrot to talk to about Megan. I'd teach him to say, "Tell me more! Tell me more!"

Even so, I'd be willing to bet that the parrot would reach under his feathers and pull out a picture of a fledgling in a cage and say, "You ain't seen nothin' yet. Said 'crackers' when he was two days old." (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Filer Seizes Big Margin, Outlasts Indians by 43-39

FILER, Feb. 11—Filer Wildcats fashioned a big lead early in the fourth quarter and then staved off a desperation rally by the Buhl Indians to notch a 43-39 victory Tuesday night. The victory carried the Wildcats to within one-half game of second place in the Big Seven conference, a spot currently owned by the Indians. Buhl has a 6-4 mark against a 5-4 record owned by Filer. Gary Mai was the big gun as the Wildcats opened up a 13-point bulge early in the fourth quarter but sophomore Gary Matlock, Buhl, led the Indians back with a ball-hawking full-court press defense. The Indians closed the gap rapidly midway through the period but couldn't get closer than four points. The game began on a deliberate note, Filer seizing the lead on two Mai rebound shots but Buhl caught the Wildcats and went ahead with two minutes and 52 seconds remaining in the period on a jump shot by Gordon Carter.

LeFebvre Will Finish Season For Gonzaga

SPOKANE, Feb. 11 (AP)—Jean LeFebvre, the nation's tallest college basketball player at 7 feet, 6 inches, made a stay at Gonzaga today and decided to play for the university after four of his teammates were dropped from the squad for disciplinary reasons. LeFebvre was ready to board a plane for Paris Tuesday afternoon when informed of the action against his teammates. Upon learning of Gonzaga's plight, with the traditional rivalry against arch-rival Seattle University coming up Sunday and Monday, the big Frenchman reconsidered. He said he would stay for the rest of the season. Gonzaga coach and athletic director, Hank Anderson, suspended LeFebvre's North Traube, Denny Verwilliam and Bob Turner. Gene Vozz, a substitute, also was suspended.

Maroon Coach Is Jubilant After Upset

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Feb. 11 (AP)—Coach James (Babe) McCarthy of Mississippi State said Tuesday "we've got a basketball team as good as any in the country, and may be a better one." McCarthy, jubilant over Monday night's 66-58 upset of top-ranked Kentucky, said he thinks his team deserves more recognition and higher rating. Going into the game with Kentucky, State was ranked 10th in the nation. The Maroons have a 19-1 season record, with the loss to Auburn. Kentucky has an 18-2 record. The coach pointed out that Kentucky and State have tied 3-2 in games since his four years at State. "We can beat anybody in the country on our home court," McCarthy said, noting that State has won 31 straight at home.

Devils Creep Toward Title, Down Musers

DIETRICH, Feb. 11—The Northside conference leading—Dietrich Blue Devils took advantage of a Camas County cold spell in the third quarter and pulled away to a 58-30 victory Tuesday night. The win reduced the Dietrich "magic number" to two games for the league championship while Camas fell to a 5-6 record and held fourth place by only 11 percentage points over Carey. Camas jumped to the lead as the game opened and Dietrich was suffering through a cold spell. Then the tables were reversed, the Musers getting only two points in the third period on a bucket by Spackman. Bob Rinehart shoved Dietrich ahead with six points in the period. Camas County took both the preliminaries, the girls taking a 38-14 decision and the boys winning 31-26. It marked the first defeat for Dietrich's jayvees since the season opener at Castledale.

Golf Clubhouse Is Open Now

Local golfers may begin making arrangements for the approaching golf season at the municipal golf course Wednesday. Course pro Cliff Whittle will be at the clubhouse each day to sell season tickets, rent lockers and other preliminary items. The course opening has been set tentatively for March 1, depending on the weather. Course fees will remain the same as last year.

Rodeo Unit Drops Points in Ratings

DENVER, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Rodeo Cowboys association today dropped the word "points" from its championship standings. From now on figures listed in the rankings of the top cowboys will be in dollars. ROA secretary-treasurer Rex Connolly said the change was made to eliminate confusion. In the past, the champions have been named by the point award system. Each cowboy got a point for every dollar in prize money he won at approved rodeos.

Kentucky Is Nation's No. 1 Team—Barely

By The Associated Press
Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats held a slippery grip Wednesday on the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press college basketball poll. They were named to the position for the fourth straight week by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters, but it was almost a matter of being saved by the bell. The poll was taken, as customary, through Saturday games and thus voters could not be influenced by the Wildcats' second defeat of the campaign—a 66-58 pasting of the hands of Mississippi State Monday night. Previously, Kentucky had been beaten 75-66 by Vanderbilt in the course of stringing 13 victories. Kentucky held an edge over once-beaten North Carolina in the poll with the following teams completing the order: Kansas State, Auburn, Cincinnati, North Carolina State, Bradley, St. Louis, West Virginia, Mississippi State.

Bears Defeat Gooding State By 37-14 Count

GOODING, Feb. 11—The Bliss Bears defeated the Gooding State 37-14 here Tuesday night in a battle of ice-cold teams. Gooding State managed only one point in the first quarter and went scoreless in the third period. The win gives Bliss a 4-6 record in Northside play while Gooding State is 0-9. The Bliss girls won the preliminary.

Lenz to Meet 'World Champ' Here Tuesday

Henry (Strongboy) Lenz earned the right to meet world heavyweight wrestling champion Pat O'Connor of New Zealand here next week when he defeated Tony Borne Tuesday night in the feature event of the VFW's wrestling card. But Borne helped Lenz win the decision by missing a haymaker. The event opened with Borne softening Lenz up with lefts to the stomach and clinching the first fall with a "cannonball." But Lenz rebounded, slamming Borne into the corner turnbuckle, following up with a body block and adding a "caribou stomp" for the clincher.

Reagan Leads Bulldogs Past Murtaugh 60-48

KIMBERLY, Feb. 11—Jumpshooting Gary Reagan set a fast pace as the Kimberly Bulldogs erupted with a 25-point spurge in the fourth quarter and went on to defeat the Murtaugh Red Devils 60-48 in a non-conference game Monday night. The Bulldogs won the game without their head coach John Beitia, who has the flu. Junior varsity coach John Reagan guided the Little Six team to its victory. The teams battled on even terms through the first half, Kimberly holding a 27-25 edge at intermission. But as the third period opened, Reagan, assisted by sophomore Ken Morris, opened up a blistering volley and the Bulldogs quickly pulled away. In the third period, Reagan hit 12 points, 10 from the field, and Morris picked up five. The Bulldogs carried a 16-point bulge into the final eight minutes. Kimberly jayvees made it a clean sweep by taking the preliminary 36-22.

Bauer Claims Yankees Keep League Alive

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 11 (AP)—Hank Bauer, New York Yankee outfielder, said Tuesday if it were not for the Yankees six other clubs in the American league would go broke. Bauer was commenting on a magazine article which quotes Paul Richards, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, as saying the American league will collapse if someone doesn't stop the Yankees. Bauer was guest of honor at a businessmen's luncheon. Asked about Richards' statement, Bauer said: "It's just this. If it were not for the Yankees, six other American league clubs would go broke and Kansas City is one of them." He did not name the other five. "The Yankees drew 1,600,000 on the road last year and accounted for one-third of the Kansas City attendance," Bauer said. "The Yankees should not be condemned; other clubs should build up to them."

To Choose Coach

LOGAN, Utah, Feb. 11 (AP)—Utah State university will name a new football coach this week-end officials said Tuesday. A regular meeting of the school's board of trustees will be held Saturday and the subject is expected to come up for ratification then. "We have done all our screening," said athletic director Hy Husaker. "The selection committee will meet this week and a coach will be named." Utah State is shopping for a coach to replace Everett Francaise, who resigned in January. School officials declined to say how many coaches are under consideration or identify any of the candidates.

Aggies Expected

Brown, of Baton Rouge, La., will enter the ring a 7-5 favorite. He has been champion 2 1/2 years. Busso, of New York, has been fighting better than six years and has a 35-7 record, including 15 knockouts. In Brown's 13 years as a pro, he has kayced 32 foes. Brown, who is 33, will give way nine years.

Identical

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Feb. 11 (AP)—Monday John Van Dyne of Sedalia, Mo., shot a hole-in-one on the 16th hole at the American Golfers club Tuesday he did it again. He was in the same foursome and used the same nine iron and same ball each time on the 103-yard shot.

Brown-Busso Title Match Set Tonight

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 11 (AP)—Joe Brown, the busiest of the boxing champions, puts his world's lightweight title on the line for the sixth time in two years tonight against the brilliant challenge of his erstwhile conqueror, Johnny Busso. Brown took an unexpected licking last November when Busso whipped him in an overweight match. The 15-round fight goes on at 10 p.m. Brown, of Baton Rouge, La., will enter the ring a 7-5 favorite. He has been champion 2 1/2 years. Busso, of New York, has been fighting better than six years and has a 35-7 record, including 15 knockouts. In Brown's 13 years as a pro, he has kayced 32 foes. Brown, who is 33, will give way nine years.

Kimberly Tops Offense For Little Six League

Although eliminated from championship consideration, the Kimberly Bulldogs have taken over as the top offensive team in the Little Six conference and two of their men jumped into the thick of the individual scoring race. Depending almost entirely on underclassmen, coach John Beitia has guided his team to a 4-4 record with an offensive average of 53.4 points per game. The scoring clip is good enough to oust the Wendell Trojans, who led in that department all last year plus the first four weeks this year. Wendell is second at 51.6 in average, but their low defensive average coupled with that point production already has cinched at least a tie for the conference crown. The Trojans have held opponents to 32.6 points a game while second place Halley is far back with 43.9. The conference also had three new men on top the individual scoring standings. Kimberly's Ken Morris, a sophomore, came from far behind on a 33-point week to move into first place tie with Harold Ridgway, Halley. Both have 13.5 averages, just a step behind is Bulldog Dennis Medley with 13.4 while the early pace-setter, Ron Gislser, Wendell, still is very much in contention with 13.3. From those four the scoring tempo drops to an 11.1 average, owned by Rod Hohnhorst, Valley center. Following him are Dave Inchausti, Halley, at 11; John Weaver, Wendell, 10.8; Gary Reagan, Kimberly, 10.5, and Jerry Stevenson, Wendell, 10.

Carey Storms To 58-40 Win Over Bellevue

CAREY, Feb. 11—The rejuvenated Carey Panthers spotted the Bellevue Bulldogs a four-point margin in the first quarter and then stormed back to cop a 58-40 Northside conference decision Tuesday night. The victory, the second straight for Carey and third in his last five outings, boosted the Panthers to a 4-5 league record while Bellevue dropped to the 500 mark at 5-5. Carey jayvees made it a perfect night by taking the preliminary 45-22.

Pitcher Didn't Know He Can Be Removed

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 11 (AP)—Andre Bessette, an 18-year-old French-Canadian trying out with the Philadelphia Phillies, is a "pitcher" more familiar with hockey than with "beeball." In fact, it wasn't until last season that he learned a manager can take a hurler out of the ball game. Bessette, who tried out for the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey league and got to play three games as a right winger, said the Canadiens wanted to send him to a farm team "like treepie A in beeball." But along came Dale Jones of the Phillies scouting staff to hold "beeball" tryouts in Montreal. Bessette said more than 300 players turned out.

The Phillies peck me. Nobody else. I keep on playing hockey. Then the Phillies write me. They tell me to quit. They say hockey too tough. I quit. Hockey is tough. But everybody play hockey in Canada. I start when I am 4 years old. I play beeball too, but not much. Hockey seasons are long. Baseball seasons are short. He broke into organized baseball with the Philadelphia Phillies. He posted a 7-6 record but Clean manager Benny Zientara said the left-hander is really more promising than his record might indicate. Bessette's attitude toward baseball is best summed up in a story Zientara is telling at the Phillies' rookie school here. "The Clean batters stacked Bessette to a nine-run lead in one game. But as the game went on, his control began to slip. Zientara decided it was time for a change of pitchers. He walked out to the mound and said, 'I'm going to take you out.' 'You can't take me out,' Bessette replied. 'Why not?' Zientara asked. 'My high school coach never let me go. I peech nine innings all the time. Go away.'"

GERMANS WIN RACE

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 11 (AP)—West Germany's Franz Schelle and his crew Tuesday won the St. Moritz four-man bobsled championship. The American team headed by Art Tyler of Weston, Mass., finished third.

Council Gets 135 Quota at Scout Parley

The Snake river council has a quota of 135 Scouts for the fifth national American at Colorado Springs in 1960, says Executive Harold Gribble.

Jamboree site will be opposite the Air Force academy about eight miles north of Colorado Springs on the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Johnson.

Gribble urges Scouts who think they will be able to attend to send their $10 registration fee as soon as possible. It will be refunded if the Scout is unable to attend.

Jamboree chairman for the council is Fred Clubb, Jerome. "If enough Scouts register in the near future to warrant it, we will request an additional quota for our council," Gribble said.

The boys will be camping within view of Pike's peak in an area with exciting historic background.

Participants will be allowed to ready their cars in the pit areas from 6:15 until 7:15.

Admission proceeds will be donated to World Brotherhood of Scouting.

Cars to be entered in the derby are on display in the window of the Idaho Department store.

GOP Official Outlines Way For '60 Wins

COEUR D'ALENE, Feb. 11 (AP)—A Republican legislative leader outlined a three-point plan for GOP victory in the 1960 elections during a Lincoln day address here last night.

"These three plans alone will put the Republican party on a par with the many paid workers of the Democratic opposition," State Rep. W. D. Eberle, R., Ada, said in his prepared address.

Eberle, who is minority leader of the state house of representatives, listed these three steps:

"1. Precinct workers come first. These positions must be filled, not with just one person, but more."
"2. Local citizens committees must be formed in all areas to hear and question all candidates whether by public forums, TV, or otherwise, on all issues."

"Republican party officers and party workers who are unwilling to do this job or become responsible to the people have no place in this party of ours," Eberle added.

"The future is too important to slip it to slip away because we wish to either honor some person, or are afraid to ask him to stand up and be counted for the right."

Stock Firm's Case Started; It's Recessed

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11 (AP)—The hearing into security and exchange commission charges against Reynolds and company, one of the nation's largest stock brokerage firms, opened yesterday and then recessed for preparation of stipulations.

The SEC charges the company and also Clegg-Findell company, Inc., Spokane, Wash., brokerage firm, with irregularities in the sale of uranium company shares.

Recess is to Feb. 17. In the opening session before SEC Examiner Robert Hislop, a recess to Feb. 17 was granted by Hislop at the request of Donald J. Stocking, SEC Seattle office.

Stocking said attorneys for the SEC and for Reynolds were nearing the end of preparation of four stipulations which will "put into effect amended practices tightening control of employees."

The SEC complaint said Reynolds showed lack of supervision and internal control during a period between December, 1953, to June 30, 1955, in the sale of stock of U and I Uranium, Inc., properties in Idaho.

Fraud, Deceit Charged. The SEC said investigation tended to show that, during this period, the Reynolds partnership engaged in acts which "operated as a fraud and deceit upon certain persons."

The four stipulations will cover Reynolds' offices at Chicago, Minneapolis, San Francisco and Carmel and Berkeley offices in California.

Supper Held

OAKLEY, Feb. 11.—Two hundred persons attended the chuckwagon supper held by Cassia LDS stake ward Boy Scout troop at the stake recreation hall. Proceeds will be used for the Scout council.

Members of the council are Leland Peterson, finance; Thaddeus Smith and Bishop Merrill Wray. Scout masters are Robert Washburn and Keith Critchfield. Troop members and their leaders held a rabbit drive in the Warm creek area Saturday.

VISIT SON

BROWN KING HILL, Feb. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoagland, Brownlee dam, Ore., visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Hoagland.

Old Glory's Changes Shown

The American flag has been studied with pine trees, carried stars in many patterns, and featured variations of the Union Jack. Some of the milestones in the progress of the banner to its present 48-star design are depicted above. The New England flag, upper left, designed around 1700 and carried at the battle of Bunker Hill, featured a pine tree insignia. Predating the revolution by two years was the Liberty flag, hoisted over the green at Taunton, Mass. The Grand Union flag, featuring 13 red and white stripes, one for each colony, was carried in 1776 by the newly formed Continental army. In 1777, almost a year after the Declaration of Independence, the Continental congress adopted the "Betsy Ross" banner with its 13 stars and stripes. Honoring the admission of Vermont and Kentucky, two more stripes were added in 1795. The practice of adding stripes was soon discontinued, and the flag reverted to 13 bars. A star continued to be added for each new state. The 48-star field came into being with the admission of Arizona in 1912. It remained unchanged until Alaska's formal entry.

Former Car Dealer Managing Las Vegas Convention Center

J. C. (Curley) Ashworth, former Twin Falls new car dealer, has been selected to manage a five and one-half million dollar Las Vegas, Nev., convention center capable of seating 18,756 people.

Ashworth, who managed Ashworth Motor company here until December, was selected from four candidates to oversee the sprawling ultra-modern center located in Paradise Valley on the outskirts of the city, 10 minutes away by car from downtown Las Vegas.

The new convention center provides for large gatherings and small meetings simultaneously, with parking space for 9,500 cars. A total of 17 meeting and committee rooms are designed to accommodate 10,656 delegates.

Poodle Wins

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Ch. Fonclair Festoon, miniature poodle who has been knocking on the door of greatness a long time, won best-in-show at the Westminster Kennel club dog show last night.

Festoon is owned by the Dunwalke Kennels, Far Hills, N. J., and has won his breed in the Westminster four times. Last year, he was third in the non-sporting group, so he was not exactly an unknown.
