Ceramic Tiles Among Displays at Hobby Show

Mrs. Wright Earle, right, Duhl, and Mrs. Charles B. Heymer, Twin Falls, director of the Eighth Annual Episcopal Youth Hobby Show, discuss two ceramic tiles made by Mrs. Earle. More than 50 exhibitors arranged displays in the show held in the Bishop Suter auditorium of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension here Saturday. (Staff photo-Engraving)

Eighth Annual Hobby Show Attracts Large Crowd to See Varied Displays

A large crowd attended the eighth annual Episcopal Youth Hobby Show Saturday in the Bishop Suter auditorium of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension.

Mrs. Charles B. Heymer, organizer and director, pointed out it was the first time the show had been held in the auditorium and everyone was impressed by displays.

Exhibitors in the art section were Mrs. Miles Brownline, Mrs. Fay Holmes, Mrs. V. J. Crismon, Lee Logan, Mickey Marshall, Mrs. Oscar Klau, Evanel Hinkleman, Mrs. Betty Evans, Mrs. Don Stief, Mrs. Harwood L. Stowe, Mrs. Mark Young, Mrs. Wright Earle, Mrs. Paul Talley, Carl Grinn and Leonard Parkins.

More than 50 exhibitors from all over Magic Valley had displays. General exhibitors and displays were Mrs. L. L. Langdon, "What I Do in a Junkyard"; Mrs. Elwood Rees, gem collection; Mrs. Ralph Dean, Piler, old picture frames; Mrs. Alex Zolson, Kimberly, mynah birds; Mrs. Howard Parsh, Buhl, doll clothes; Mrs. M. Campaign Aimed at Beaming Truth Behind 'Iron Curtain'

Editor, Times-News:
What would it be like to not only have the support and endorsement of numerous prominent Americans, including President Eisenhower, but also the support of national organizations including the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and their auxiliaries, Kiwanis, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, APL-CIO, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and religious groups of every denomination support the annual drive?

Next Monday and Tuesday, March 16 and 17, through the cooperation of my newspaper and its carrier, there will be distributed with the evening paper a mail-in type entry form where you may record a "truth" broadcast in 25 words or less why you, as an American, support Radio Free Europe. The entry blank will explain in more detail the operation of Radio Free Europe and how to broadcast their message in person. Here is an opportunity for the people of Twin Falls to make their contribution to "help share the truth" and "help lift the truth" behind the iron curtain.

Hailey Area Starts Push For Concert

KETCHUM, March 14.—Kick-off dinner for the Civic Music Association for Wood River valley was held Friday night at Wagon Springs Ranch Inn with 75 officers, board members and volunteer workers attending. The dinner marked the first community effort to bring first rate artists here.

Guest speaker was Robert Mischenheimer, western division manager of the Civic Concerts Service, Inc., who will remain here to address in Civic Music week, March 15-17. A. W. Ewman, Hailey, president of the local association, stressed that applications for membership in the association cannot be accepted after Saturday. Membership is restricted to 500 persons.

It has been decided to hold three concerts within the next year, two in the summer and one during the winter season.

Other officers of the association are John Lister, Ketchum, vice president; Mrs. Phyllis Koons, Sun Valley, secretary; R. G. Pritchard, Ketchum, treasurer; Mrs. Leva Wilcher, Ketchum, campaign manager; Mrs. Gerald Sunwell, Ketchum, publicity chairman.

Area vice presidents are Mrs. L. F. Healey, Jewell; Mrs. Rene LaFleur, Ketchum; Loffner, Lewiston; Patricia Thorsberg, Sun Valley; and Mrs. Everett Twombly, Carey-Picabo.

Directors are—Verna McOlellan, Mrs. Sidwell, Mrs. Ben Combs; Mrs. James Terra, Mrs. Ben Goldberg, Mrs. Winton Oray, Mrs. Blanche Rosenthal, Louis Star, Mrs. Alex. Gordon, Mrs. Thomas Murray, Mrs. Jane Child, Mrs. Florian Haemette, Mrs. Clifford Bentley, Mrs. Wilcher, Mrs. Herman Marjelic, Mrs. Nelson Bennett, Mrs. Don Bennett, Mrs. E. P. Scobie, Mrs. Adolph Rosen, Charles Helm, Harold Miller, Mrs. Theodore Gruener and Mrs. Arno Schlenker.

Mrs. Wilcher states that artists will be selected by the local committee, which will be guided in its choice by members who indicate the type of concert they would like to attend. Only artists of national and international reputation are engaged.

Headquarters for the association are at the Spur theater in Ketchum and the offices of Ewman, Davies and Ewman, Hailey.

SWEET'S

National Honor Award Winner

A FIRST FOR TWIN FALLS! A FIRST FOR IDAHO

Reprinted here is the news release from New York to newspapers, radio and television announcing Sweet's great national honors.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—From thousands of entries in the national Brand Name Retailer-of-the-Year Competition, including 26 retailing categories, Sweet's House of Furniture, 251-253 Main Avenue E., Twin Falls, has been selected to receive the Certificate of Distinction in the furniture stores category of the 11th Annual Competition, sponsored by Brand Names Foundation, Inc.

Notice of the award was telegraphed to Mr. Bert A. Sweet, Jr., of Sweet's House of Furniture by Henry E. Abt, president of the Foundation, who congratulated the Twin Falls firm upon receiving this award for outstanding presentation of manufacturers' brands during 1958. Mr. Sweet will receive the award during a dinner honoring the nation's leading merchants to be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria on April 15th. Attending this banquet will be more than 1,500 business and civic leaders, and the dinner will climax the nation-wide celebration of Brand Names Week, April 12-19.

To select the winners, the panel carefully examined comprehensive presentations of their 1958 activities submitted by more than 550 retailers who had been selected as "Finalists" and given an opportunity to compete for the awards. "Finalists" were screened from entries from 49 states, District of Columbia, Hawaii and Canada.

In judging, the panel's decisions were made primarily on the firm's 1958 brand advertising and promotional campaigns, as well as their education of customers and personnel about the basic policy of featuring manufacturers' advertised brands.

Commenting on the trends reflected in the presentations of 1958 brand promotions and sales training submitted by the retailers to the judges, Foundation president Henry E. Abt said:

"The viewer of these always interesting presentations by retailers in widely diverse categories cannot fail to be struck by the continued improvement of the caliber of advertising, promotion, and employee preparation that is reflected in each year's presentations.

"The retailers who reach the finals of the Annual Competition of course are all tops in distributing the brands of the industries they serve. During 1958, in most categories, they were confronted with sharply competitive conditions; challenged by some large enterprises that heightened emphasis of private or "controlled" labels; and their margins pressed by the continued advance of operating costs.

"As it does in so many kinds of activities, adversity seems to have produced progress. Harder-hitting, more effective advertisements, tightening of inventory controls, and greater thoroughness in all phases of store management were reflected in all this year's entries. There can be little doubt that the kind of leadership exemplified by this imaginative pace-setting group played a major role in the recovery which our economy enjoyed late last year.

"All the winners deserve to be congratulated for jobs well done."

The winning merchants, their families and business associates will be honored during a three-day celebration in New York City, April 13, 14 and 15, by civic officials, brand manufacturers, publications and trade associations.

Home-Owned Business Good For Community, He Asserts

Editor, Times-News:
What this town needs are more locally-owned businesses. I am not saying I hope I notice that the people from Oden and Sun Valley are coming into Twin Falls with a bank. I am all for another locally owned bank. Competition is good.

you think happened? I contacted all three firms the minute I discovered that I was going to be short-of-money. The chain I owed the $30 to hounded me almost every two weeks. The other chain forced me to sign a note. I assured them I was good for the $75, but their policies were made elsewhere.

Now hear this. The independent firm carried me for the $1,100 and in eight months they were all paid off. If it hadn't been for the North Side Lumber and Mercantile I couldn't have built two new buildings and bought an old home and another business building.

Locally-owned firms believe in people and are interested in creating new wealth in the community.

Twin Falls needs some good drinking water. This water smells like...

Return to Freedom, Limited Government Asked by Board

A resolution deploring the present trend in political thinking and urging a return to individual freedom, a free market and limited government was adopted unanimously Friday night by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce directors.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to other civic groups in the city and to representatives in Washington, D. C.

William Lansing, member of the board who just returned from the session of the legislature, briefly reviewed some of the bills in which the chamber had expressed an interest. He expressed appreciation for help given legislators by the chamber and by the Citizens for Good Government group, which met weekly during the session.

Answering a question on the home rule bill, which was defeated, Lansing pointed out that the bill was too loosely drawn. It would have allowed municipalities to float bonds without a vote of the taxpayers and contained no bond limit, among other deficiencies.

Lansing also stated that although most of the legislators did not particularly like the tax bill, it was the only one which they passed. It was the only one which had a chance to vote on March 19 in Twin Falls.

Martin claims Vance caused a collision Jan. 19 in Twin Falls. Martin seeks damages totaling $250.41. If the state tax bill had been presented, it would have had a chance of passage.

Report Given on Club Leadership

Mrs. Louis Svelek gave an account of her accomplishments during the past five years as leader of the Twin Falls Agricultural Club at a meeting of the club at the Hoegerson hotel.

She thanked the Grants for sponsoring the club. Brainerd, president, announced that the club will have a picnic at the Hoegerson hotel Monday.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Svelek gave a report on the club's activities during the past year. She mentioned the club's participation in the Idaho State Fair and the Idaho State Fair.

District Meet Planned for Cancer Unit

SUN VALLEY, March 14—Miss Susan H. Seagle, sixth district commander of the Idaho division of the American Cancer society, has announced a district training camp season to be held here March 16-17.

Registration will start at 10 a.m. and all cancer workers from the district, which includes Lincoln, Blaine, Camas and Gooding counties, are urged to attend. The camps are open to the public and anyone wishing to attend is welcome. Mrs. Seagle's district training camp will start immediately after registration in the Opera House and will be conducted by Arthur Jacobson, Boise, executive director of the division. Derwyn Burke, editor of the Idaho Times, will speak on the responsibilities of the small town newspaper toward medical care. A luncheon will be held at 12:30 p.m. at Trill Creek cabin for all cancer workers and those wishing to attend this should make their arrangements with their county commander by Monday.

Mrs. Oscar Cline, Blaine, is Blaine county commander. A future speaker will be introduced at the luncheon. At the afternoon session, which will start at 2 p.m. in the Opera House, a medical panel will be held with Dr. Harold Holsinger, Westport, as moderator. Speakers will include Dr. Vaughn Spack, Twin Falls, who will talk on the nature of cancer; Dr. L. E. Meaman, Twin Falls, gynecologist, who talks will be "The Big Job of the Cancer Society"; and Dr. J. Woodson Creed, Twin Falls, pathologist, who will speak on "The pathologist's role in the diagnosis of female cancer." Following the panel there will be a question period, with either oral or written questions to be answered.

Other Blaine county women who are serving in the cancer society are Mrs. Maryanne Wilson, Blaine, secretary; Mrs. Oliver Adams, Halley, treasurer; Lorette Landrum, Blaine, president; Mrs. Richard Stephens, Halley, education chairman; Mrs. W. M. McSweeney, Blaine, public relations chairman. Community chairman are Mrs. James Murray, Blaine; Mrs. Stanley Atkinson, Kelchum; Mrs. Leon Jewell, Halley; Mrs. Betty Griffin, Blaine; Mrs. Jean Patterson and Mrs. Earl Johnson, Blaine. Chairman for the Blaine Cancer Society are Jack Hildebrandt, Picabo. A committee has not yet been named for the camp.

Junior Music Festival Set By T. F. Club

This year's annual junior music festival, sponsored by the Twin Falls Music club, will be held at the Junior High school building on Saturday, March 14, from 5:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Approximately 400 students will participate in the festival which is open to the public.

Mrs. Owen Boone, festival chairman, said the contest is open to students through the age of 18, and points out that each participant will be judged on their own merits and does not compete against other participants. The rating categories used by the judges are fair, good, excellent and superior. This year each entrant will be a member of an organized group. In addition to the Junior Music club, which has been a federated organization for several years, three new groups have federated, which means that they are now a part of the Idaho Federation of Music Clubs.

Each student will receive a certificate and, depending on the festival, be given to those who have had superior ratings for three or more consecutive years.

The entries this year include one accordion solo, six solo dances, seven vocal solos, one piano solo, one cello solo, four clarinet solos, three organ solos, 11 piano solos, two dance solo groups, including ball, tap, and waltz; one double string quartet, one double violin quartet, one double violin trio, one elementary chorus, one accordion ensemble, one elementary orchestra, one two-piano number, and one miscellaneous piece to be given by Mrs. L. E. Meaman. The judges will be Mrs. W. M. Christiansen and Irving Wasserman, Logan, Utah; Mrs. Ernest Reed, Cassiopolis; Mrs. Gerald French, Buhl; Carl Wilson, Kimberly; Ray Blatter, Burley; Mrs. Glen Bledsoe, Burley; Mrs. Ray Bates, Boise; and Mrs. Pat Haney, Gooding.

Morning events include the accordion ensemble, the elementary string groups will play at 11:35 a.m. Advanced piano will be in the afternoon. At the close of the festival Saturday those receiving superior ratings will be given a certificate and a nomination for the Temple scholarship summer camp at Temple. This award consists of room, board, five private lessons and an all-expense trip to the camp during the week period. The local winners will go to Rexburg, May 16 through June 3. The state winners throughout Idaho. One winner from the state will be selected. Mrs. Boone said: Solo dances and voice solos will be held at 8 and 9 p.m. Friday in the Junior High school auditorium.

Parents Invited

SIOSHONE, March 14—Parents of pre-school children who will be in the local school next fall for the first grade, are especially invited to the PTA meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the Lincoln school. The high school home economics class will present a style show of items made this year.

Dodgers Dump Yanks In 7-Run Last Frame

A seven-run rally in the ninth inning, highlighted by Don Demeter's base-stealing triple, carried the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 9-7 victory over the New York Yankees in their first meeting of the exhibition season. The Yankees, who collected 20 hits off five Los Angeles pitchers, appeared on the way to an 11-7 victory when Norm Siebern hit a two-run homer in the seventh to give the world champions a 5-2 lead. But Bobby Shantz, who relieved starter Johnny Kuck in the sixth inning, fired the ninth and was replaced by Murry Dickson with the bases loaded. Demeter hit Dickson's first pitch, a deep center, clearing the bases.

Top Two Coaches in Nation Will Speak at Idaho Coaches' Clinic

The two top coaches in the country will be the featured speakers at the annual Idaho Coaches' association clinic at Sun Valley this summer, announces Jerry Dellinger, Jerome-high school athletic director and clinic director. Paul Dietzel, who coached his Louisiana State Tigers to the No. 1 rating in both national wire service polls and later was named "coach of the year," will conduct the football sessions, Dellinger reported.

Score Claims He's Lucky Despite Hurts

Winter was voted coach of the year last season and his current team, after compiling a 23-1 record, is participating in the NCAA playoffs. Dellinger said he spent a couple of years under the tutelage of Cincinnati and coach of the Los Angeles Rams, Paul "Bear" Bryant. Dellinger said he is an offensive coach for a couple of years under Earl "Red" Blaikie at Army. With that background, he has come out on his own and done a marvelous job.

Robertson Cinches Hoop Score Title

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson finished the regular season of basketball scoring with 822 points and an average of 32.2 a game in 25 regular season games. He is the only player to average 30 points a game in the regular season. Robertson also led the league in field goals made and attempted, and in free throws.

Brokers Hurt Livestock On December Grain Pricing

CHICAGO, March 14 (AP)—Grain futures brokers on the board of trade reported this week to have priced themselves out of some competitive commercial advantage on broad advances for December contracts.

The wheat market—significant—has the steep climb were made almost entirely on so-called technical and speculative trading. Domestic commercial demand was not more than moderate at any time and export business was small although a large volume of potential export sales developed for which some buying was known to have taken place in the wheat pit.

The military uprising in Iraq set off a mild flurry in the wheat pit, but it was canceled out the following day as prices settled back in about the same range as the advance that was attributed to it. Thereafter, the market reacted primarily to alternate short-covering and profit-taking as evening up of commitments increased in volume on March contracts. Trading in March will expire next Thursday.

Wheat futures were 1/4 cent higher, March $2.08; corn 1/4 cent higher, March 11 1/2; soybeans 1/4 cent higher, March 11 1/2; and soybean oil 1/4 cent higher, March 11 1/2.

Stock Market Makes Record Despite Loss

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—The stock market churned through the record record high this week despite losses among some leading stocks and others.

Volume for the week soared to 21,710,000 shares compared with 19,100,000 in the previous week. Total volume was the biggest for any week since the week ended last Oct. 18 when 21,910,000 shares were traded.

While the pressure of funds for interior construction institutions, sources such as mutual funds, pension funds, insurance companies and the like remained constant, brokers also reported a stepped-up volume of orders from the general public.

The market background included such items as these: A record production at a record high for a single week; February at a record total; President Roosevelt's indication that any war over the Berlin crisis would be a nuclear war; the President's proclamation of a mandatory import curbs for petroleum and his order for oil price policy; turmoil in oil-rich areas; higher copper prices; increasing interest rates.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1/2 point to 220.50. This averages his new records on four straight days.

The U. S. government and corporate bond markets declined this week in reaction to credit curbs by the Federal Reserve.

Volume for the week totaled only $7,684,700 per value on the New York stock exchange. This was down from $40,032,000 the previous week but up from $28,811,000 for the corresponding week in 1936.

U.P. Is Sued For Accident

Two suits were filed in Twin Falls district court Friday against the Union Pacific Railroad company for damages allegedly resulting from a truck-train collision near Murtaugh nearly two years ago.

Hacked Reese, driver of the truck, seeks $7,500 in damages and medical expenses, charging that the engineer, Guy Hill, was negligent in his operation of the train. The collision took place north of Murtaugh on May 1, 1937. Reese claims serious body injuries.

Darwin F. Perkins, owner of the truck, filed a separate suit, seeking $8,159.97 for damages to the truck. He reiterates Reese's claim that negligent operation of the train caused the collision.

Representing Reese and Perkins are J. Dean Mosher, Twin Falls attorney, and the Dolso law firm of Elan and Burke.

Officers Slate Kept by Vote Of 4-H Group

Members of the Twin Falls county 4-H council selected present officers to serve another term when the annual meeting is held on Friday afternoon at the county agent's office.

Re-elected were Jay Cobb, Piler, president; Robert Dandridge, Elberly, vice president; and Mrs. Louise Suchak, Twin Falls, secretary.

Since the Pacific International Livestock Exposition is being held this fall, ways were discussed of financing county 4-H judging team. Lyons Smith and Mrs. Walter Egan, both of Twin Falls, and Mrs. Robert Norris, Kimberly, were appointed to investigate a dairy and soft drink concession at the county fair.

Planned to look into purchase of used spaces for the new 4-H building at fair time, were Ruth Standt, Mrs. Egar and Mrs. Gottschalk.

Mrs. Heber Loughmiller, Mrs. Guiney Walters and Ivan Garrard will serve as an advisory committee on waiting lists relating to 4-H existing clubs, or new ones. Persons willing to accept leadership positions were urged to contact Stella O'Leary and business firms who support the 4-H program were commended.

Extension Home Ages Florence Schmitt reported on a new girls' club which had been organized recently.

A new member of the council introduced was Mrs. Walter Malt, thresher, Piler, former 4-H club leader, and mother of Teresa Maltman, the 1937-1938 state and national 4-H winner.

Work Picture Improves for Valley Areas

The local job situation is improving rapidly, reports Harold Carter, local director of the employment security agency.

While farm job openings are the greatest single element in the picture, he also announced a number of other openings.

The number of claims for unemployment was down about a third the lowest in two years for corresponding weeks.

Throughout the state, 722 new claims were filed for the week ending March 6, making a total of 9,482 claims. There had been 620 the preceding week and 1,058, 11,650 for the corresponding week.

Twenty-four new claims were filed for the week in Twin Falls, bringing the total to 343. This includes the Bull-Castellone area transferred from the Twin Falls office.

Geoming reported seven new claims, bringing the total to 143. This includes the Bull-Castellone area transferred from the Twin Falls office.

Average weekly benefits are $12.16 and the average 32nd day is $35.11.

Legislature Put "Sting" in Laws for Drivers Under 16

BOISE, March 14.—Boys and girls under 16 will not be able to drive in Idaho if they get into trouble. The legislature has put a "sting" in its laws for drivers under 16.

The Idaho Youth Authority board has approved a bill which requires that a member of the highway board attend all public hearings on highway rulings. At present, such hearings are conducted by the board secretary.

Four proposed constitutional amendments were approved and will be submitted to voters at the 1960 election. In addition to the proposal reducing the legal voting age from 21 to 19, the amendments would:

- Increase the state's bonded debt limit from 2 million dollars to 3 percent of the total assessed valuation. At present the limit is $10 million dollars.
- Eliminate the county surveyor as an elective office.
- Provide for continuity in government in case of an atomic attack by specifying a line of succession from the government down to the citizen.

Under present law an unrestricted driver's license is obtainable at age 16. A license good in days and hours can be obtained at age 15.

The emphasis during the 1959 session was on laws and regulations that would help the state's major accomplishments in the field of agriculture. They included a state wheat competition which will promote the wheat industry in Idaho.

Other legislative actions included the creation of a state marketing act and a law to provide for the sale of certain products. A law was passed which provides for the sale of certain products.

New Scouting Program Will Be Meet Topic

BURLEY, March 14.—The Scout Executive Ralph Hale announces a meeting to explain the new Explorer program will be held at the Burley high school at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Invitations have been sent to religious groups, service clubs, civic groups and those interested in the Boy Scout program.

The Explorer program is designed to meet the needs and desires of the high school age boys and can help them become more mature and responsible citizens through adult help. Hale said. It is based on methods found in a half century of dealing with youths through the Boy Scouts of America.

A great deal of information about high school boys was revealed in a survey conducted throughout the entire county by the University of Michigan. This is the first time that a survey on such a large scale has been conducted dealing specifically with

Use of Credit on Stock Market to Be Tightened up

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The federal reserve board has tightened up the use of credit in the stock market.

It made public proposed changes in regulations which would affect investors who bought stock using credit when margin requirements were lower than the present 50 percent.

Their general effect would be to restrict the amount of credit available to investors who wish to use the stock bought on lower margins for use as collateral for loans.

A board spokesman said he would not say when the proposed changes might go into effect.

A board statement said the move was planned to cut more effectively to prevent the excessive use of credit for the purchasing or carrying of securities.

Mr. Hayscock is the district leadership training chairman.

Fenton Quits Post on U.S. Labor Board

WASHINGTON, March 14—Jerome D. Fenton quit today as general counsel of the national labor relations board, saying he has to earn more money than the $20,000-a-year the job pays.

Fenton in recent months had been reported inclined in a feud with the five-man board, but he said Saturday no such factors entered into his decision to resign. He said this month marks the end of the two years he had planned to serve when he took the job.

President Roosevelt, accepting the resignation, thanked Fenton for a "difficult job well done."

Fenton, 50, a Republican will stay on until a successor takes over. His duties include the prosecution of charges under the Taft-Hartley labor-management act. The board decides the cases.

He told a reporter that while the Taft-Hartley law makes the general counsel independent of the board and responsible for all investigations and filing of complaints, it does not spell out his authority too clearly.

His advice, "in any situation where authority is not too clearly defined, you get conflicts."

Reported among those under consideration as successors to Fenton are two of the present board members, Philip H. Rodgers and Joseph A. Brickley.

Burkson, a graduate of the University of Idaho, has been here the past several weeks assisting at the Halley Times office.

Pollution for Coulee Topic Of City Meet

Pollution of Perrine coulee by the Idaho Hides and Tallow company plant southeast of Twin Falls is slated for discussion by city commissioners Monday during their regular weekly meeting at city hall.

A suit against the company brought by Sunset Memorial park officials and 12 residents in the vicinity of the plant is currently pending in Twin Falls district court.

City Commission Chairman J. Fred Davis and city attorney William J. Langley met Tuesday with directors of the Twin Falls Capital company to discuss the pollution problem and explore the possibility of joining the suit against the firm.

Capital company directors apparently are against becoming a party to the suit, particularly because the hide and tallow firm, the district court has issued a decree which "perpetually enjoined" the firm from "permitting waste matter, effluent or water from said plant and from the grounds and land, immediately adjoining said plant, to be washed, carried into the water of Perrine coulee."

Officials of the canal company believe the 1927 decree is still in force. Any legal action they may take regarding the reported pollution will be under the terms of the 1927 decree, not a new suit, they state.

During the meeting Tuesday at the canal company office, a report was read regarding the actual pollution of the coulee. Professor Keith Harvey and J. R. Ingalls, district health department sanitarians, in the report stated that "The Perrine coulee is being used as a receiving stream for the liquid and suspended solids from the pumping operation of the seepage pit, and to receive the excess disposal system waste at times of overflow of the seepage pit."

In addition, the report noted, "A lava crevice seepage pit is used to dispose of liquid waste, thus entering a pollutant into underground water."

The largest single source of odor from the plant's cooking vats, Harvey and Ingalls found "however," the report adds, "at the time of inspection the fume collection system was being installed and a water wash was being set up to remove this odor."

The current suit against the hide and tallow firm charges operations "stink" and "emit" "a most wholesome and offensive smoke, odors and stenches" which are emitted in such a manner that "the air surrounding, entering and covering the premises of those operating the business in such a way as to allow offensive odors to be released into the air."

Perrine coulee flows into the city from the southeast, runs exposed through residential areas, and drains the city west of the city.

Equipment in Modern Dairy Plant Takes Milk From Cows, Transports It Directly to Bulk Tank With No Handling

J. C. Williams, Twin Falls, works in the pit of his ultra-modern milking parlor. The cows on the right are being milked and the milk is transported through overhead flyer pipes and conveyed into a 1,000-gallon bulk milk tank in the next room. While the six cows on the right are being milked, Williams washes and prepares the six cows on the left. When he finishes with them they will move on through the parlor and another 12 cows will enter from the back of the parlor. (Staff photo-engraving)

This is where the milk is stored. It is Williams' 1,000-gallon bulk milk tank. The milk is literally piped from the cows in the next room into this tank where it is stored until it is picked up by a milk truck. Williams is washing out the milking machine lines. The milking parlor is located through the door at the left. His office is at the right. (Staff photo-engraving)

Dairyman Finds Modern Plant Helps Cut Work, Yet Permits Expansion of His Herd

One year ago J. C. Williams, which took about eight hours using conventional milking equipment, was running annual rapid milking for a herd of 100 cows and operating his normal farming program and cared for the cows.

Each day he carried a ton of milk from the milking machine buckets to the milk cans. It was fatiguing and discouraging work. Then one day he read of a new method of milking and caring for milk cows that was developed in New Zealand. Disgusted with the way things were going he plunged anyway you look at it, and that is efficient dairymen. Now he cares for 75 cows in half the time and the work is easier. At times he can run 50 cows through his milking parlor in 60 minutes. That's a cow a minute

AA Members Available Night and Day

One of the greatest services offered by Alcoholics Anonymous is the day and night telephone answering service. A member is always willing to call on an alcoholic who needs help and attempt to tell him how the program worked out by Alcoholics Anonymous can guide him away from a life of alcoholism. If he will enter it seriously, a member, back to camera, talks with a man who has called and asked aid. (Staff photo-engraving)

Picnics Can Be Fun Any Time of Year

Picnics, basically eating out in the open, can be fun any time during the year, with one of the requirements being to dress for the day when the Pilgrims came to Plymouth Rock. There have been times when picnics were held in the open air, but the present definition of the picnic is a group of people eating food, furnished by members of the group, in the open air. It does not mean eating food or being in the open air. If you can accept this definition without any reservation, you can have a picnic any time. There is no reason why we are indeed a great

AA Members Available Night and Day

Perhaps two fires might be needed for a winter picnic, one for cooking and one for warmth. However, winter picnics do have advantages over those held in warmer weather because there is no dust, no insects and no great danger of forest or range fires. (Staff photo-engraving)

Picnicking Has Been Popular in Land Since Arrival of Pilgrims

BY CHARLES J. DAUGHTERY (Hornet National Forest) Americans have been picnicking since the days when the Pilgrims came to Plymouth Rock. There have been times when picnics were held in the open air, but the present definition of the picnic is a group of people eating food, furnished by members of the group, in the open air. It does not mean eating food or being in the open air. If you can accept this definition without any reservation, you can have a picnic any time. There is no reason why we are indeed a great planting people. Why do we engage in this great outdoor pleasure to such a great extent? There must be many reasons, especially when we consider the many and varied circumstances under which we do it. It appears that much picnicking is done as something which is entirely incidental to some other activity, as hunting, fishing, hiking, just getting away from home for awhile, giving the children a treat or at times giving the youngsters some training in outdoor living. Sometimes it may be said we picnic simply because we are hungry, and this isn't a bad reason either. In addition to all of these there must be some basic reason, some human desire to be fulfilled, something which will find in the great outdoors which we cannot find elsewhere. If we look deep within ourselves, we can perhaps find our own reason. One of the latest phases of this pleasant recreation of picnicking is called "sit-in" picnicking. The picnic is defined as given by Webster. This is "sitting" on the patio attached to the home. Some people accuse the women of promoting this particular activity because this is the one time when Dad likes to put on his apron and his cap and demonstrate how he uses to do it or just to show how good a cook a man really can be. Even though he burns the meat, boils the coffee over and strings the salad all the way across the patio floor he still roosters the plaudits of his wife and any guests and everyone remembers it as the most enjoyable time, even Dad. We see families going out to the hills with a box full of food just to get away from home for awhile to relax and to give the children a chance to play in the open air of a grassy meadow where wild flowers grow. They all live with and for each other for a little while and make a nice break in a busy life. There are organizations of men and women which hold annual picnics so they can be out to enjoy the company of one another for an evening. There are those in charge of youth groups who take the young people out on picnics and some of these are religious groups. Maybe they think that at times it is a little easier for young people to look up from the soft crest of a grassy ridge top and know that God is still there than to do that in the turmoil of a busy city. We are inclined to think of picnics as a box full of food just to

Alcoholics Anonymous Battle Drink Problems

"A man stops being a drunkard and becomes an alcoholic when he stops bragging about how much he can drink and starts trying to stop it." That is the way a member of the Twin Falls Alcoholics Anonymous group describes an alcoholic. Defining an alcoholic can be a tedious process, for every case varies with the individual. But a good working definition is that an alcoholic is a man or woman whose drinking has interfered with a normal life, so that it has become a problem with them. Since 1948, an Alcoholics Anonymous group has worked with such persons in Twin Falls. Today alcoholism presents one of America's most serious social problems. It has been estimated there are five million alcoholics in the U.S. In addition, there are an estimated three million problem drinkers on the brink of alcoholism. The total number of alcoholics outnumber both cancer and tuberculosis patients. Until Alcoholics Anonymous was started in 1935 by two alcoholics who were desperate for a solution to their problem, most drunkards had made on the growing number of alcoholics. After the first four years of sobriety there were 100 members. Today there are more than 200,000 active members in 7,000 groups in 20 countries and U. S. possessions. Alcoholics Anonymous repudiates any formal authority. There are no national officers or rules, and it doesn't even claim the right to determine who are, or are not, members. Operating procedures depend on the size and facilities of the local Alcoholics Anonymous group. The main service offered is the round-the-clock telephone answering service. In Twin Falls the telephone number is always listed in the "Personal" section of the classified ads in the Times-News. Any alcoholic needing help and seriously interested in Alcoholics Anonymous can call and receive aid from local members.

It is the alcoholic's desire, a member of Alcoholics Anonymous will visit him or her, and explain that this is a group point in favor of the problem because they have gone through the same suffering. Alcoholics Anonymous workers. It enables them to bridge the gap between them, and the alcoholic needing help. There is no "sermonizing" when the member calls on the sick alcoholic. He simply explains that Alcoholics Anonymous can provide a way to stop drinking. (Continued on Page 21, Column 1)

Mother of 10 Realizes Dream

Mrs. Clyde Grandall Rupert, is realizing a 34-year dream this winter by furthering her college education at Magic Valley Christian college, Albion. The mother of 10 children, the Rupert woman had a straight "A" average at the end of the first semester. During the 24-year wait she found time for extensive research, and collected books as well as doing considerable writing. (Staff photo-engraving)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Thirty-four years is normally considered a long time to wait for the fulfillment of a dream, but it hasn't been too long for Mrs. Fern Grandall, wife of Clyde Grandall, of Rupert. Ever since she finished high school in 1925 she has had the opportunity to go to college, and has planned for the time when she could. She planned for years to attend the Magic Valley Christian college, Albion. At the end of the first semester, she had a straight "A" average. The 34-year wait wasn't wasted so far as furthering her education was concerned.

Without their help and love, couldn't have done any of these things I wanted so badly to do. She recalls that when they were married, July 2, 1924, they decided that she should go on and finish her last year of school. When she graduated in 1925, she was the While she was raising her 10 children, she found time to do extensive research, collect books, particularly histories, and to take extension courses from Brigham Young University. In addition she has done considerable writing. She is a qualified genealogist, having contributed from time to time to the Genealogical Helper, printed in Ogden.

From her work in genealogy and from teaching social science classes in Relief society, she gathered an interest in American history and so made a hobby of visiting libraries and bookstores, especially second-hand book stores wherever she went.

Among places where she has studied rare and historic books and pictures are the Toledo public library, Toledo, O., which has a fine collection of pictures and histories of the Old Northwest territory; the "Kentucky Room" in the Louisville library; and the library at Mobile, Ala., which has a notable collection of old newspapers of the area.

She is now working on a series of articles on "What's in a Name?" Two of the reasons for her wanting to continue her studies were "a desire to know as much as possible about this interesting old world of ours, and second, to become an effective teacher, and to develop what talents I may have in the field of writing."

"In my research, I come across interesting material that should be passed on in the form of articles and stories and it is my wish to be able to do this some day," she says. "Be sure and not forget to say something nice about my good husband and family," she said.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

By LEE CARNEY (Pastor, Church of God)

Text: "And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, Mark 12:30. Of the many decisions we all must make, one is paramount: God or Mammon; the spiritual versus the material; the eternal versus the temporal. This decision involves whether we shall follow the high road along the face of up and forward or the lower level where we must first out their lives in strife and unhappiness."

Rev. Carney follows with a decision which changes one's life: married woman to receive a diploma from Rupert high school.

Around all the basketball games this winter in the Magic Valley there has been a noticeable empty seat. So many people have taken "Where is Granny?"

"Granny" is Mrs. Bertha Burpoys, 78, who came to Eden in 1917 from Kansas with her family. She had three daughters, Mrs. Edna Hammond, Mrs. Vern, Bill and Lynn Davis, who made their home with her during the school term.

As soon as Bill, the oldest grandchild, started participating in sports, "Granny" was right there cheering for him and his team. This winter "Granny" found it somewhat harder to stay alone, so she decided to go to the home of one of her daughters, Mrs. Pansy Horsley, Malin, Ore. For the winter, she had hoped to be back in time for the basketball tournament here, but just returned this past week.

In 1932 "Granny" was awarded a beautiful plaque from the boys' basketball team for her faithful attendance during the years. She didn't drive a car, but always managed to get to school in time for the games. She never thought they could play it, she wasn't there.

It was raining slightly when they left home. Mrs. Hammond recalls, but before they reached SHOSHONE the rain had turned to snow and the teacher north the pair went, the deeper the snow. "Granny" insisted she never wanted to turn back, although Mrs. Hammond hoped she would just say the word. The women got stuck one block from the Hailley school, but arrived in the gymnasium in time to receive hearty warmings about the boys' basketball team. After 43 years, "Granny" is rooting for her great-grandsons as another generation is participating in school sports. While in Oregon, she rooted for another sports-minded great-grandson, Stan Scooter, Klamath Falls, Ore.

God's purpose, our lives will be completely revolutionized. The battles of evil will prove less and less until they finally become insignificant. On the other hand, light, noble and beautiful things will become increasingly attractive. The desire to do wrong will fade. His grip upon us and behold loss and less temptation; while doing right will seem less a duty and more a joy.

In the beginning of our search we may think of dedicating ourselves to the will of God, for fear it will impose upon us disagreeable duties and require giving up gratifications and activities that we enjoy. Increasing understanding, however, of our purpose of God, which comes from devoting time to spiritual things, causes spiritual things to take on new interest as physical gratifications lose their attractiveness.

life. Thwarted seeking to know and do the will of God becomes one's major preoccupation. To do this that must desert his trade or profession, for we are called upon to share in the process of our own lives. But it changes one's motivation and gives direction and purpose to his life. His ambition and his goals will appear less important, while harmonizing one's life to the will of God will appear more important.

God's purpose, our lives will be completely revolutionized. The battles of evil will prove less and less until they finally become insignificant. On the other hand, light, noble and beautiful things will become increasingly attractive. The desire to do wrong will fade. His grip upon us and behold loss and less temptation; while doing right will seem less a duty and more a joy.

As one sees that the path he is following "shineth more and more unto the perfect day" (Prov. 4:18) the world's jingals of an evil world lose their hold upon him and the joy and satisfactions in life come to surpass the fondest dreams of his youth.

Successful, triumphant, happy, glorious lives are possible for all those who put God at the center of their lives and dedicate themselves resolutely to finding and doing his will for them.

When the men and women of this world choose God happiness will supplant misery and poverty will yield to abundance. In other words, our Lord's promise, "They that keep his commandments shall have the kingdom come . . ." will be realized.

If we really choose God we will use as much time as possible seeking to understand and to do his will. If we devote as little as half an hour each day to reading the scriptures and quietly, meditatively seeking to understand

Picnicking Has Been Popular in This Land Since Arrival of First Pilgrims

(Continued from Page 11) which has "died" under it and other dry material under it. They will then be interested to be sure to teach the young people how to put it out and make sure they know it is out, completely, and making a pot of coffee or chocolate as may be desired. This can be done by properly placing a few large rocks, if available, or a couple of pieces of a small log so that a fire can be built between them and they will support the cooking utensils. This can be extremely interesting to those who have never done it and it is good training for young people.

Such a picnic can be most educational to young people and is very refreshing and pleasant before they have enjoyed them. You'll be glad you did. One should pick a nice, sunny afternoon, of which we have so many, when the snow is on the ground up in the hills and take the family out there. Find a place to park where there is plenty of room off the road to build a fire without being in dense timber.

Teach the youngsters how to escape away from the camp fire and with room enough to stand around up in the hills and take them how to find dry fire and pine needles with which to start the fire by getting at the base of a tree which has been protected by the overhanging branches. There are always a few dry needles and twigs there which make good kindling for a fire.

Teach them to dig around at the base of trees for added fuel; such as larger dry limbs. You may also find a dead tree on the ground there that will burn in a safe place and not possibly spread to other material under it.

Problem of Woman Alcoholic Is Serious

A woman member of Alcoholics Anonymous offers coffee to a woman alcoholic and attempts to inform her in the program of Alcoholics Anonymous. The problem of the woman alcoholic is reported here. For no logical reason, women are sometimes hesitant to contact Alcoholics Anonymous. Members are any women needing the aid of Alcoholics Anonymous to contact local members. (Staff photo-entouring)

Alcoholics Anonymous in T.F. Aiding Residents Who Have Drink Problems

...wants to stop drinking. The group claims 100 per cent success on individuals who sincerely want to stop drinking. The only condition they make are psychological disorders, persons having mental disabilities that preceded their excessive drinking.

How do they accomplish such feats? The very simplicity of the group's method is startling when compared with the problem.

At meetings, members talk about their problems, "sitting out" their problems and traditionally facing their shortcomings. In addition to regular meetings they arrange up what they term "The Twelve Steps" program of recovery that the organization prescribes.

The Twin Falls group, consisting of about 12 members, both men and women, meets at 8:30 p.m. every Wednesday in the Twin Falls clubhouse.

The meetings are informal and the program varies. But the most appropriate term for the meetings, as one member says, is a "bull session." The members all down around a large table and simply discuss their problems with a manner only found among kindred people with a strong understanding of a common problem. They discuss their problems openly without a trace of embarrassment and are sometimes ...naturally self-critical. This is important. Always they must be realistic about their problems. Once they begin rationalizing they are in danger of losing what progress they have made.

During the meeting they often give short monologues that describe just how they began drinking and how they stopped. This helps them understand their own problem, and it can aid the others, too.

"Together they can assemble a vast fund of knowledge concerning their separate faults, and by stating their problems they serve to purge themselves of their inadequacies. The weekly meetings also serve as an insurance against relapses or forgetfulness. Each week they are reminded they have a problem and they reaffirm their faith in Alcoholics Anonymous.

Twin Falls members of Alcoholics Anonymous, like any group in any city, come from all walks of life and become alcoholics through varied circumstances.

During a recent meeting one man said he began drinking because of feelings of inferiority; another said his problem arose out of a false sense of superiority. One housewife had time on her hands and found herself spending her spare time loafing at home until she began drinking to excess. One man had been a part-time musician and began drinking to excess.

...drinking and become a moderate drinker. This is a never tiring. Sooner or later he will return to excessive drinking.

The second step requires that the alcoholic believe that a Power greater than himself can restore him to sanity. The program has been designed to give specific religious help. The alcoholic's conception of a Higher Power, He can form his own conception of God. It is only a matter of belief. His Power is greater than his own. This Power can manifest itself in many forms. This is up to the alcoholic will. Sooner or later the alcoholic will tap an unsuspected inner resource which he can identify with his own conception of a Power greater than himself.

Although Alcoholics Anonymous is not identified with any specific religion—members—point out that a member can't trace his mind and all spiritual concepts. They can be defeated by any attitude of indifference or skepticism.

In some cases the belief in a Higher Power is a long time in forming, and alcoholics point out that this is a big step for some members.

The third step is related to the foregoing. Here the alcoholic must make a decision to turn his mind and his life over to the care of God as he understands Him. However the alcoholic's conception of God, he must rely on that Power for strength.

In the next step the alcoholic must make a searching and fearless moral inventory of himself. This is often done with the aid of another person, a doctor, member of Alcoholics Anonymous, minister, psychologist, or anyone else who has his trust.

In the fifth step the alcoholic admits to himself and to other human beings, the exact nature of his wrongs. And in the sixth step he must have reached the point where he is entirely ready to have God remove all the defects of character he has discovered.

The seventh step consists of making God, the Higher Power, to remove all these shortcomings.

During the eighth step he makes a list of all the persons he has wronged, and he makes amends to them all. And in the ninth step he must make amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others.

The 10th step is a matter of facing one's faults. The alcoholic continues to take a personal inventory and when he is wrong he promptly admit it.

In the 11th step the alcoholic strives through prayer and meditation to improve his conscious contact with God as he understands Him, praying only for knowledge of His will and the power to carry it out.

In the 12th and final step the alcoholic, who has had a spiritual awakening because of the foregoing steps, carries his message to alcoholics and practices these principles in all his affairs. Members refer to this work as "trethful step work," which consists of working at rehabilitating alcoholics.

Some potential members are cautioned by the requirements of the 12 steps, but the record of rehabilitation stands as a monument to the effectiveness of the steps.

Members claim 100 per cent effectiveness with alcoholics who sincerely desire to help themselves, provided their alcoholism is not based on a psychotic disorder.

Perfect adherence to the 12 steps is difficult and many members have started more than once before they reached the top. The principles that are set down in the 12 steps are a simple guide to progress, that have added more than 200,000 members of Alcoholics Anonymous to their social status and lead normal lives.

Since each case is different, just as individuals are different, these ...steps must be adapted to each case. The hard drinker may drink enough to impair his health, physically or mentally, but he can now quit if faced with a strong reason.

But the alcoholic is another matter. He may start out as a moderate drinker but "administer" taking that time he loses complete control. The alcoholic is seldom mildly drunk. When drunk he is a jekyll and hyde type. While he is sober he is usually a sensible and well-balanced person on every thing except liquor.

Alcoholics Anonymous realizes that many of these excessive drinkers can be reclaimed and allowed to earn their rightful place in society. Since their humble beginning in 1935 they have come a long way. President Woodrow Wilson made his noted "The Fourteen Points" speech before the U. S. congress on Jan. 8, 1918.

Pipeline Carries Milk Direct to Tank

J. C. Williams inspecting a portion of the milk pipeline coming from the milking parlor in the next room. The milk comes to through an overhead glass pipeline, gauges into the basketball-like glass globe, and then passes through the pipe into the bulk tank at the left. Using this system the milk can pass from cow to bulk tank without intermediate handling. It is this feature that makes Williams' operation the most modern milking system in Magic Valley. Dairyman Finds Modern Plant Helps Reduce Work and Permits Expansion

Knowing his new building would be completed in September he selected 30 heifers that were due to freshen in November. This gave him enough time to do his thinking. "I thought, 'I'm doing a better job of milking,'" he says.

Williams says using this system a man could conceivably milk more than 60 cows per hour, but he explains that in each group of 12 cows there is a "slow milker" that prevents such rapid processing.

Using conventional milking machines, which are great labor savers themselves, Williams says a single man can milk about 30 cows an hour. "With this system one can do the milking and feeding of 100 cows without overloading himself."

Williams started constructing his new parlor in May, 1958, and it was finished in September. But he went through a sort of trial before it was completed.

"To meet the requirements of a new contract he was forced to expand his 35-head herd to 75."

Williams says his milk production has increased. He attributes this to the fact that he is able to spend more time caring for his cattle. "And I'm doing a better job of milking," he says.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT New Judge's Sentences for Traffic Violations Have Impact on Drivers

In the last two months, one man has made his name as a traffic judge in the Twin Falls area, an impression that has started spreading into other areas of Magic Valley. The impact on drivers is directly from the increased penalties levied against traffic violators by Justice of the Peace George E. Scott, who took office Jan. 11.

Scott has been a reporter for the Times-News since 1956. In speaking of the traffic situation in this area, he says, "I have lived and worked in several communities in different states, but I have never seen a situation as chaotic here where the police officers were more than willing to break their necks in an attempt to control the traffic situation where the courts, at least most of them, did nothing particularly worthwhile to assist the officers."

Scott has had a good deal of experience in the problem of traffic violations and the result of such violations. As a newspaperman he has covered the courts for many years and has first hand the result of traffic violations and the decisions made by the courts.

Scott first started his newspaper career as a cub reporter on the Bismarck Tribune.

D. When World War II began he enlisted in the U. S. Army. After serving as a tank platoon commander from Normandy into Germany, where he was wounded, he was released from the service in 1916.

The last two years he has been a school teacher in the University of South Dakota and a year of law at the University of Washington.

He moved to Twin Falls in 1951 from George Washington University.

He was graduated in May and in June he returned back to the army for active duty during the Korean War. He served on the military police warfare staff at the United Nations headquarters in Tokyo.

Released from the army in 1955 he worked for several newspapers in the South and East and then returned to Twin Falls in 1951 from George Washington University.

GEORGE E. SCOTT

something more than deathtrap. "Some individuals are spreading the word that if I weren't for the traffic violator I would lose my job as a newsman. All I can say to that is 'Nuts!'"

"I have had ever been any thought in my mind that my bread and butter job would have depended upon what I did as a traffic violator. I certainly would not have stuck my neck into such a noose. I always have been able to study facts and come to my own conclusions, and no individual ever has or ever will, control or pressure me into doing something I don't feel is right," he says.

"I have no quarrel about the necessity of being reasonable. But as far as the courts are concerned, it is the judge's duty to make the law. I see where a judge has fined a person for driving a car without a permit. I have no objection to that. I don't think it is fair to say that I am going to agree with what I am doing. Of the persons and persons who own cars, I don't think it is fair to say that I am going to agree with what I am doing. Of the persons and persons who own cars, I don't think it is fair to say that I am going to agree with what I am doing. Of the persons and persons who own cars, I don't think it is fair to say that I am going to agree with what I am doing."

He adds, "I travel the highways and I feel that as anyone who does not feel some safe when I have my family out for a Sunday drive, I am not a newsman. I don't feel safe now."

For years before I was elected justice of the peace, I saw nearly every major traffic accident that occurred in this area. I still do that as a newsman, not because of any desire to see death and broken bodies scattered about the highway—I saw enough of that during the war—but because it was my job.

Scott says each time he returns from an accident scene he asks himself, "Why?" and each time the answer is the same. In almost every instance if the driver had been more cautious or adhered to the rules the accident wouldn't have happened.

"If all bolts down to the simple fact that traffic violators are dangerous, vicious persons and I let them before I decided to run for justice of the peace that the courts should treat them accordingly."

Scott points out that 270 persons died on Idaho highways last year, 13 in Twin Falls county alone.

"Already this year in the Magic Valley there has been almost three times as many fatalities as last year," he says. "When a person sits down and analyzes the causes of these deaths, there is only one answer. A majority of them were involved in accidents involving cars and trucks. Others have involved moments of extreme carelessness when the driver just permitted his or her mind to be somewhere else for a fatal moment."

Scott says it is obvious that such persons are killers and that the courts should deal with them in the same way they would an individual who slashes through town waving a knife or gun.

"If there had been 270 murders in this state last year with rifles or knives," Scott says, "every citizen in the state would be up in the streets."

Yet, the fact that 270 persons were killed uselessly by highwaymen doesn't seem to upset anyone. Unhappily, other than a few individuals who devote their lives and efforts to making the highways safe, the wheel while intoxicated, he became a killer when he actually caused an accident.

If he doesn't believe that individuals have to actually kill before he can be held responsible, Scott agrees he is in a far from a safe place. "Records show the more severe the punishment is, the faster the public forgets."

"I take all this road into consideration, including the fines and wash the cones around the driver's past record," he says. "The punishment is set accordingly, and a conviction is recorded—no one is easy or convenient."

Scott notes that some persons who have had a conviction are put in the newspaper.

"Like any public record, the justice docket is open for inspection by anyone at any reasonable time. Furthermore, I recall a conviction record in the newspaper."

Scott stresses that no court should be forced to go on under such conditions. He says it is a mockery of the law and reflects that the justice system is out of their traffic courts.

"It is not an important problem to them and they are satisfied to have their traffic law laughed at as if they were so many jokes because they are by a court-appointed judge."

Scott thinks the practice of giving a traffic violator a suspended license to appear in court within three days is wrong.

"When a driver is given a ticket or robs a court's ticket and telling him to go get the money for his own convenience," he says. "The person who steals a $10 bill and writes a $5 check to get out of it is not a criminal. He has not had such courtesies extended to him."

"I feel, like I said, that the man who kills someone with an automobile is a criminal. I don't think it is fair to say that I am going to agree with what I am doing. Of the persons and persons who own cars, I don't think it is fair to say that I am going to agree with what I am doing."

He adds this would impose an inconvenience upon the violator to be cited to appear at a specific time and place with no exceptions and no excuses. Failure to appear would be a separate crime as it is now, but should be enforced more vigorously.

placed in jail. I don't intend to let them walk away from my court with the feeling they put the law and the judge on the spot. There has been the easy path followed by some judges in the past. There is no need for better driver education and I don't feel it hurts the traffic offender to learn a little about more days in a traffic school. It is so easy to see in the new policy has been any effect. Twin Falls county is at the same place as it was last year at this time with our traffic fatality. But Magic Valley is running about three to one over last year's record. It hasn't had one responsible driver record might be parallel with the increased efforts of the courts and law enforcement officers.

"I don't want to say that I am the only traffic judge in the area who is cracking down on violators. Probable Judge J. Dean Moberg has discharged in the few cases that have come before him that he has come to some definite conclusions. He has been very thorough. Justice of the Peace Robert Penz, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Ann Williams of Castleford have shown that they are giving the traffic violator a stern lesson."

"City Judge J. O. Humphrey has increased some of his fines and other judges in the area are taking another look at the traffic violator and some are acting accordingly to their conscience rather than their pocket."

Scott says he is glad to see other judges taking the problem seriously, but he adds there are 10 traffic courts in Twin Falls county and that one or two judges can't conduct a crackdown program unless they feel the force could be effective if only one or two men on the force were ticketed.

"Scott believes there are too many traffic courts in the county. He says there should be one central traffic court."

"That court should be established in the city. Every traffic violator in the county would have to appear in that court. All fines would be paid there on an equal par. The judge would be paid a salary and would not have to receive come from various sources, relatives, employers, ministers, doctors, lawyers and other substantial citizens."

"In almost every instance the conversation ends something like this: 'I agree with you but you don't agree. I would call it and see if there was anything I could do in this one particular case.'"

Not all violators are citizens of their sentence. "One young man, a teen-ager, asked to shake hands as he was being taken to jail. He said he had just had a strict fine, but he was honest when he said, 'I have no more respect for you and traffic laws just because you were wrong.'"

Scott says Judge Scott has been assigning tickets to teen-age violators in lieu of fines or jail.

"I don't think it is fair to say that I am going to agree with what I am doing. Of the persons and persons who own cars, I don't think it is fair to say that I am going to agree with what I am doing."

AGREE TO CHANGE

WASHINGTON, March 14 (U.P.)—Federal Rep. Brooks Hays II, Ark. offers the view that in its Deep South there are many white citizens who will agree that desegregation should be made in the racial picture. These "many moderate" whites, he says, are not free to speak out, but are caught between two groups that entertain strong feelings.

Scott notes that some persons who have had a conviction are put in the newspaper.

Basic Diving Equipment Displayed

Shelley Hindsahn, Wendell junior high school teacher, displays some of the basic equipment needed for skin diving. Hindsahn and a group of area skin divers are forming the Magic Divers club. New members will practice in swimming pools and will need only three pieces of skin diving equipment—mask, fins and a snorkel. To the right are other items for the advanced diver—a rubber wet suit that keeps divers warm in cold water, compressed air tank and underwater breathing apparatus, a weight belt, and a sheath. Skin Divers Are Being Organized to Explore Area's Underwater Frontier

WENDELL, March 14—A new group being organized in Magic Valley apparently will explore one of the last frontiers in Idaho—the underwater frontier. Shelley Hindsahn, Wendell junior high school science teacher, is organizing valley skin divers to form the Magic Divers club. Hindsahn believes there is a potential membership of 50 to 80 persons from Magic Valley. "Just because this state is away from the coast just as interesting as it is to explore the ocean. He adds that in fresh water the water is clear, there are less currents and, in general, there aren't the hazards that face an ocean skin-diver. A graduate of California, Hindsahn has been skin-diving for about two years. He has been a lifeguard, swims instructor, swim on the University of California at Santa Barbara swimming team, worked as a skin diver for a marine sales company, and even dived for treasure in the Gulf of California off Guaymas, Mexico. Hindsahn will teach skin-diving techniques to new club members. He estimates that, within permitting, the club will be organized by the end of the month.

Idaho Students in Limelight as U.S. Opens National Wildlife Week Event

By JIM HUBBARD Idaho Game Department Idaho's junior high school and high school students are in the limelight as the United States observes National Wildlife Week. Conservation means more than just conserving or saving. It means wise use. It is important that our youngsters learn this early. That some young Idahoans are learning such concepts is exemplified by the first prize-winning essay turned out by an 11th grader, Jane Fiohr, Wallace High school, who writes: "Man has made a conquest of the land for over 7,000 years. This record of mankind's struggles through the ages to find a feeling adjustment to the land where he has met numerous failures. History tells of the land of milk and honey, of China's sorrow, and the dry lands of North Africa, and finally gives a record of our own fabulous terrain. After discussing the colonization and expansion of the United States amidst prodigious natural resources, including wildlife, and the subsequent exploitation and waste she continues: "Wildlife is feeling the pinch of our growing cities, industries and human populations. In many places our wild animals have been completely crowded out, and in others they are disappearing at an alarming rate because of the destruction of their natural living places. For instance, of the 127 million acres of marsh or other wetlands formerly used as waterfowl habitat, 55 per cent has been drained, filled-in or polluted by man for his own use. Miss Fiohr continues, "Yes, fish and game laws, instituted by national and local governments, are protecting and conserving our precious wildlife heritage. They will continue to fulfill such a function as long as they are effectively and efficiently administered. Wallace High school distinguished itself not only by inspiring Jane Fiohr and her blue ribbon essay in the senior division but also by numbering Carol Dutton

Students Point up Theme of National Wildlife Week

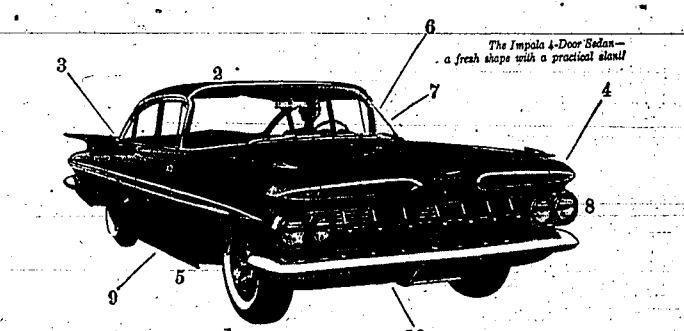

Pointing up the "Conservation in schools" theme of the 22nd annual observance of National Wildlife Week, March 15 to 21, these Borah high school students of Boise exhibit upland game bird and migratory waterfowl specimens they mounted as part of biology course under instruction of Bill Jameson, Barbara Kutter and Linda Berneseo are admiring Hungarian pheasant, newest addition to the collection, held by Men King. The trio is representative of sophomore students engaged in teachers' projects this winter. Another example of the "Conservation in schools" theme in Idaho is statewide essay contest under title, "My wildlife heritage. What shall I do with it?" Sisters Kept Busy Singing as Trio

These are the three Patrick sisters, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Patrick, Castleford. From left to right: Bethene, 13; Rhonda, 17, and Dee, 16. For the last few years the girls have been singing as a trio and entertaining various groups in Magic Valley and southern Idaho. They average from one to two engagements a week for church, school, business and social gatherings. (Staff photo-engraving)

...but sing more popular music than anything else. One of the biggest groups they have sung for is the Idaho Cattlemen's convention in Pocatello last fall.

The girls explain they were encouraged by their father to harmonize when they were younger. Patrick, asked if he had any formal musical training, says, "I own a guitar, but as far as formal training, but make up for it in interest, practice and potential encouragement."

Although they "don't practice enough" they determine to average about half an hour each day. Rhonda, who has never had any piano lessons, checks the piano and accompanies them during the practice sessions. She aims a soprano, sings lead, and Rhonda and Dee sing.

In addition to their various singing engagements throughout the area, Dee and Rhonda both sing for the Castleford Methodist church choir.

When the girls sing in public they are accompanied by Mrs. Leta Senfner.

According to Mrs. Patrick, "Mrs. Senfner has been a great aid to the girls. She'll fill with them any time, any place."

One of the biggest engagements they have is the future in the Lodi banquet at Pull on Thursdays.

After all their experience they confess they still get stage fright occasionally.

Dee says, "On our first engagement we were all scared. One time Rhonda's knees were knocking so badly we had to put her in the middle to keep her from tipping us over."

Mrs. Patrick says sometimes the girls come back home and say, "How did we finish?" But the phone keeps ringing and people keep asking them to come back, so they must be practicing.

But singing isn't the limit of the girls' abilities. Having three daughters and no sons, Rhonda, Dee and Rhonda, Roland Patrick in his cattle ranching operation.

In early December he was tossed off his horse and the results was three broken ribs. This kept him out of commission for six weeks.

During that time the three girls hauled feed and cared for the 300 head of cattle Patrick is wintering on their farm south of Castleford. Each day from 4:30 to 6 p.m. the girls cared for the cows.

It must have been good for them because Mrs. Patrick says, "They had better appetites and fewer colds than."

In the summer months the girls assist their father in his operation. They help with the branding and move the cattle to the summer range. Then, when the girls' cattle work is over, they help their mother cook for the hay crew.

They confess to being interested in their singing and singing interests the girls' school activities. In their schedules they have projects in the 4-H program. This year each has two projects.

For the last three years the girls have won blue ribbons at various state fairs. Rhonda won a blue ribbon 4-H Herring steer at the Twin Falls county fair in 1958.

In 1958 Rhonda was chosen the most outstanding 4-H member in Owyhee county, and she is currently 4-H club secretary for the Castleford-Blue-Pillar area. She will complete in a state contest in Twin Falls on April 4.

Bethene is a cheerleader for Castleford Junior high school. Asked if they want to sing professionally, they replied that they were uncertain at this point. Mrs. Patrick points out that next year Rhonda will be in college. The girls' ages are such that they will never be in college at the same time.

But Mrs. Patrick adds, "They'll always sing whenever they get together."

Youth Recovering From Bullet Wound

James Rose, 16-year-old Twin Falls youth, seriously wounded Jan. 2 when a .22 caliber rifle discharged in his face, recuperates at Magic Valley Memorial hospital. Young Rose, son of Mrs. Ardis Catron, is making plans for returning to school, resuming music lessons and returning to a normal life. The youth was unconscious for 31 days following the accident. Doctors hope that Rose will recover complete sight in his left eye, although the healing process may take some time. (Staff photo-engraving)

Stocks of Spuds Up 12 Per Cent From Last Year

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The actual quantity of potatoes held by growers and local dealers on March 14 totaled 32,200,000 bushels, or 12 per cent more than a year earlier.

The quantity of 1958 fall-crop potatoes moved into Utah from time of harvest to March 1 was reported at 1,200,000 bushels, the largest for that period in nine years.

The March 1 stocks in major producing states included Maine 10,200,000, New York 3,700,000, Michigan 2,500,000, North Dakota 3,400,000, South Dakota 3,000,000, Idaho 14,000,000, Utah 2,500,000, Oregon 2,400,000 and California 1,010,000.

going hunting without knowing how to handle his gun so that nobody gets hurt.

Anxious to return to school, Rose expects to work harder than he ever did before when he is back in a regular school routine. A representative of the first semester at Twin Falls high school, the youth's progress will be required to take the entire year.

Rose was hospitalized because of pneumonia. Realizing that it was unlikely his left eye would be handled because of pneumonia, Rose began questioning his mother and doctors about the full reasons behind his hospitalization. Eventually, the youth was told of the accident, his flight to Salt Lake City and the 31-day period of unconsciousness.

While recuperating, Rose watched his remaining interest in radio and visits with his friends by telephone or during visiting hours at the hospital. He says many of his friends have visited him.

Rose was unconscious for 31 days following the shooting. Doctors hope that Rose will recover complete sight in his left eye, although the healing process may take some time.

Approximately two years ago, while hunting with some friends, Rose was climbing a fence while carrying a .22-caliber rifle. The rifle discharged accidentally, sending a bullet into his right foot.

After his foot healed, Rose recalls he was examining the rifle by the barrel with the butt pointed away from him. Always an avid hunter, Rose says the accident has not made him lose his interest in hunting, though Rose was certain the rifle

Future More Important Than Past to Youth, 16, Wounded by Shot in Face

CASTLEFORD, March 14—The future is more important than the past to James Rose, 16-year-old Twin Falls youth, as he recuperates at Magic Valley Memorial hospital.

Rose, son of Mrs. Ardis Catron, Twin Falls, was seriously wounded Jan. 2 when a .22-caliber rifle discharged in his face.

Instead of brooding over the accident that nearly cost him his life, young Rose is looking ahead, making plans for returning to high school, expressing eagerness to play his trombone again with the school orchestra and hoping to return to a normal, active existence.

Rose was unconscious for 31 days following the shooting. During this anxious period, doctors were certain that the youth would never regain consciousness. In fact, one of the surgeons of the hospital, after examining the seriousness of the wound, the youth's chances of continuing to survive after the accident were believed slim at first.

Rose recalls he was examining the rifle by the barrel with the butt pointed away from him. Always an avid hunter, Rose says the accident has not made him lose his interest in hunting, though Rose was certain the rifle

RESUME UNOBTAINED

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The federal power commission has declined to rule on "proposals" of Seattle and a power district seeking dismissal of their civil applications for power on the Pend Oreille river. Instead, the commission ordered a June 8 hearing in the contested area between Seattle and Pend Oreille county public utility district No. 1.

IS PATTERN PASSE?

Very definitely not! While it is true that today we use pattern more conservatively than did the ancients, the very conservativeness increases its importance.

Selectivity is our watchword. The first thing to consider when choosing a pattern is its appropriateness to the room's style. A select, sophisticated pattern would be entirely out of place in a Provincial room.

Pattern, when used with restraint, adds imagination, provides an excellent means of highlighting and accenting. It may be used advantageously to introduce a feeling of subtle movement and offset the static effect of too many plain areas and it can provide a "pivot" for a color scheme.

In the attractive living room attached pattern provides a touch of clarity and directly. The warmth of the rich gold-rose-and-blue pattern on the "over-wing" chair offsets the cooling effect of the blue walls. Mellow wood tones of pine and maple furniture add warmth to the color of walls (rich, colored draperies and the pinkish beige of the wall-to-wall carpet are all picked up from the pattern on the chairs—a form of coordinated color scheme and a pleasing balance of plain and pattern.

Snow Survey Reports Less Water in '59

HAILEY, March 14—Robert Cook, district engineer for the district, and his assistants for the local Basetooth forest have completed the March snow survey of the Little and Big river valley waterheds. The results are in general as follows:

The Little Wood river area, with an elevation of 8,554 feet, the results showed 73 inches of snow with 73 per cent density. In 1958 at this course the March measurement showed 81.3 inches of snow with 82 inches water content and 79 per cent density.

At the Madison course, which is at an elevation of 8,300 feet, the results showed 73 inches of snow with 73 per cent density. In 1958 the measurement was 81.3 inches of snow with 82 inches water content and 79 per cent density.

The snow depth above the Garfield station and has an elevation of 7,500 feet, was 44 inches with 111 inches water content and 28 per cent density. In 1958 the depth was 48 inches with 113 inches water content and 27 per cent density.

At the Teller ranch, which is located on the meadows of Fish Creek and has an elevation of 6,900 feet, the current snow depth was 20 inches with 59 inches of water content and 28.7 per cent density. In 1958 the measurement was 14.5 inches of snow with 43 inches of water and 31.3 per cent density.

On the Big Wood river drainage, with an elevation of 10,000 feet, the snow measured 110 inches with 152 inches of water content and 27.4 per cent density.

In 1958 snow depth was 21.8 inches water content and 21.8 per cent density.

At the Horner creek course just above Galena store, with an elevation of 7,300 feet, the snow depth was 59 inches with 14.4 inches of water content and 28.8 per cent density. In 1958 the measurement was 59 inches with 14.4 inches of water content and 28.8 per cent density.

At the Mascoi Mine course with an elevation of 7,750 feet this year's measurement is 36 inches of snow with 21 inches water content and 28.7 per cent density. In 1958 the measurement was 70 inches with 25 per cent density.

Spring Gloves Are Cut Short

The open, ventilated look in spring gloves is shown here in designs of easy, casual elegance. Short gloves, left, with neat bow trim are pliered with pin-point perforations. French doekain is used for glove with pliered and embroidered back, right. Both designs are by Kilbax.

Attend Meet

HAILEY, March 14—Members of the local soil conservation district attended the annual meeting and social held at the Grange hall in Hailey Thursday night.

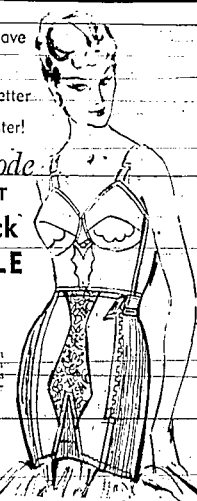

R. N. Irvine, Idaho state conservationist, who retired Friday and Lee Morgan, who will replace him, were honored guests. Morgan is transferring from Utah.

BIG CARS POPPISH

HAVANA, March 14—Prime Minister Fidel Castro says Cuba has more luxury cars per capita than the United States and calls the trend poppish. "We want more small cars to circulate here," he told a reporter, so more Cubans can have cars and the government won't have to waste money on parking space. The government is considering lower tariffs and licenses on small cars.

Read every advertisement in today's paper, shop your favorite Twin Falls stores . . . for unusual values in the smartest of the season's new fashions.

You'll find all the very latest of the season's newest styles, colors and fabrics in famous nationally-known brand names now on display at your Twin Falls stores.

Spring Brings These New Fashions

When spring comes, fashions like these arrive with it. Slim sheath dress, left, in a fabric by Cyné has short jacket with cutaway front fastened with two huge pearl buttons. Flare-sleeved dress in blue, right, has companion sweater in white with print applique and color. This is a Beaumont design.

Hailey School Ski Club Will Sponsor Race

HAILEY, March 14—The Hailey High School Ski Club, with the cooperation of the Sun Valley Ski Club, is again sponsoring a high school ski race to be held Sunday, March 22, on Bald Mountain. The Boise, Twin Falls, Pocatello, Fairfield and Ririe clubs have already signified they will enter. Every other southern Idaho high school has been invited to enter. The race will consist of a Junior giant slalom, which has been sanctioned this year by the Pacific Northwestern Ski association. William Lipscomb, principal of Hailey high school, states that since the date of the race falls between that of the try-outs for the American Legion Junior alpine ski meet being held at Mt. St. Helens this week-end, and the finals of the American Legion races to be held at Sun Valley March 21 through 25, the event should attract the attention of top skiers in this area.

Traditional Blue Denims to Be Sold in Variety of Hues

NEW YORK, March 14 (NEA)—Shades of the old blue denim—old new shades, at that. Levi Strauss and company, who've given their name to the well-known Levi, have brought out a new line of trousers in what they call "vibrant colors." They have changed denim into lime, and these are the brightest shades you'll ever see.

The philosophy here is apparent: The Levi's, as well as other work pants, have become popular for other uses besides work. They make fine looking-around-the-house trousers; they're very popular as school and college. They're good for any kind of mild weather outdoor use.

And so, with such varied uses, why not varied colors? This new line, which falls into their well-established Levi's Spiker, pattern, should find favor particularly with the younger set. The colors are a bit too bright for a conservative dresser, but anybody with a sense of adventure will like them.

They're made from Cone Mills Cone-Fastest Cotton, a wash-and-wear fabric. And they are inexpensive, long lasting and comfortable. Of course, the old established blue is still available, but the new vibrant shades should turn some heads this spring.

Any Woman's Thoughts Turn To Buying New Easter Hat

In the spring a woman's fancy turns to thoughts of Easter hats—hats that show normal, in her mind and between the ages of 1 and 70. There's something about a hat that can do more for the feminine than a whole bottle of vitamins. Some women buy a hat as a social—a quick pickup when it seems blue. Some women buy a hat as a weapon—to wear an adversary. And some merely buy a hat as an impulse, because it looks so nice and frivolous, a harbinger of life like a robin.

Hawaiian Flag Uses British Union Jack as Portion of It

HONOLULU, March 14 (UPI)—The British crown but just because it is brought into the union, a he liked the idea of having a flag that is unique for America. It was said to have been presented to him by the British prior, Captain Manquer. When the war of 1812 came along, some Explanations as to how the Union Jack got into the Hawaiian flag originally adopted by King Kamehameha in the present century after the beginning of the war of 1812. A similar flag also has flown over the short-lived Hawaii Republic and the territories. Hawaii's constitution provides that it be the flag. Other say it was a Captain Alexander Adams, but say he says that the king for years had a regular British flag outside his other admirer. Nobody really began trying to Unveil the mystery until about 1872 when the editors of Phoenix Hawaiian annual tried to ferret it out. After an exhaustive research they came up and advised their readers the facts are just in oblivion. A later Thomas said it was a British trader who was not the designer. Whatever the case, Hawaiians are happy with their flag and it is appropriate since it was covered the islands for the white man. Americans can be satisfied by reminding them the flag right horizontal stripes are alternate. One school says it was red white and blue. King Kamehameha's Hawaiian royalty was a British admiral. There are no estimated 700 in the United States.

New Softness in Paris Designs

From the current Paris collections come these two designs which show the soft and feminine look of new French designs. Slim bodies and puffed-out skirts lend a two-piece look to this dress by Michel Gossu. Left, the bodice is in pale blue and the skirt and double banding in beige. Fabric is daron and cotton. Widened shoulders, without padding, and the rounded look appear in this suit by Jean Despas. It is in a supple massé tulle of orange and wool. Skirts have a slight gathered fullness at each side.

Closer Look Is Reported at Details of New Paris Gowns

PARIS, March 14 (NEA)—Now that the fashions of the Paris collections is ended, it's time to take a closer look at the details of the new fashions. For these details do much to make up the whole picture. There is much discussion about the "widened" shoulder line. Actually, this is a line achieved by expert cutting and seaming rather than padding. And it hasn't the remotest connection with the sharp Joan Crawford look of the 1920s. So don't start reaching for those foam rubber shoulder pads; you won't need them. The waistline, as we all know, is back to normal. But it isn't a dull normal. Belts range from the very narrow "to-the-skin" wide "oil" or the shaped corset belt. They're done in leather as well as self-fabric. Blouses are worn every hour of the day and on to midnight. Many repeat the gay print of a suit jacket lining. Others are done Gibson style but there are sleeveless blouses; too, in tucked chiffon or organdy. Mature women get a break with the flattering new necklines. There are soft, draped necks, draped cowls, collars and pleated berths, all of them flattering and all stressing the wider shoulder lines. Hat and shoes in the same floral print are shown for wear with a simple solid color dress or suit. And necklaces of the bib variety, from three to 10 strands, are shown as well as "neck" necklaces. Some are fake pearls in pink, black or smoked shades and some are mixtures of pearls and crystals.

Reds Protest Ship Buzzing

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The Soviet Union complained today that U.S. planes are buzzing Soviet ships on the high seas but a state department spokesman passed the affair off as normal identification of the vessels. The Soviet Journal Pravda said a U.S. navy plane buzzed the Soviet liner Moskva four times Feb. 18 off Japan. A Soviet skipper said: "Moskva, Soviet flagships by American planes in the Far East have become the rule." State department Press Officer Lincoln White said he was not familiar with any specific incident and was speaking only in general terms. "In the world situation as it is today, I would think it is normal precaution to identify ships that do not otherwise identify themselves," he said. Asked whether the United States would have any objection if the Soviet Union had its aircraft buzz American ships, White said he did not know.

Timber Sale Set

HAILEY, March 14—Sawtooth forest personnel are busy this week in two areas marking timber for sale to be held next summer. Mark Kazy, Hailey ranger, together with Ike Smith, Ed Fountain, Clifford Solberg and Glenn Bradley, jr. are working in the Snake creek district. Art Lavin, Sawtooth Valley ranger, is on his own district marking.

Funds Transfer May Aid Project

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Money the army engineers now say they won't need for construction work may win a $75,000 subsidy for planning an eastern Idaho water project, it was indicated here. The engineers reported to congress that the bureau is recommending a shift of some $1 1/2 million dollars in funds previously set aside for water projects in the next fiscal year. "The corps said benefits of enhanced conditions it will not need the full amounts originally asked for 10 projects, it says that part of the money be re-allocated to other projects, and some of it to planning 22 new water projects. Of the last group, one of the planning items would be the Hicoboberts extension in eastern Idaho."

Master Visits Area Grange

RICHFIELD, March 14—Richfield state Grange master, W. E. Pease, made an official visit to the Richfield Grange Wednesday night. A dinner in his honor preceded the meeting. Odel Chatfield, Richfield Grange master, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Adams. Mr. and Mrs. Perry G. Harland, Nampa, and visitors from Dietrich, Magic and Big Wood River, Grange, guests. Adams talked on benefits of forming a marketing cooperative and the national building program. H. McCarry, Dietrich, also talked on formation of a district cooperative. Larry Jewes, Pomona master, Shoshone, spoke briefly on Grange school of instruction to be conducted this spring. Brief talks were given by other visitors. Mrs. Russell Powell and Glen Hootes gave local Grange reports on needs of the Congressional center and plans for a rural fire department. Mrs. Jerry Davis presented the lecturer's program of musical numbers by Maxine and Elaine Beth; roll-call of Irish jokes; readings by Mrs. Hal Ross, Jr., Mrs. C. O. Chatfield, and Mrs. Eugene Alexander. The dinner was arranged by members of the home economics committee, Mrs. Glen Ross, Mrs. Edgar Stubbs, and Mrs. Rex Plavel. Flag Solution

RICHMOND, Va., March 14 (AP).—A "solution" to the problem of how the Union has created a headache for most flagmakers, but not for Sherrill's Flag company here.

"We have decided to make Continental flags," says President J. J. J. Sherrill.

Two Doctors Find Drug Isn't Any Good for Elderly Women

NEW YORK, March 14 (UPI)—Two physicians with three ad- experiences believe the rate for dangerous complications from the newest family of tranquilizing drugs is one in 100 when given on a long-term basis to elderly women. "Think, they said, was 'prohibitively high'."

Dr. John M. Flore and Francis M. Noonan also complained that drug-makers were making a variety of tranquilizers from the one basic drug that "the physician is often lulled into false sense of security with each drug, and the dreaded complication of blood disorder (disorder is all too often forgotten or minimized."

The basic drug is phenothiazine which was used chiefly by veterinarians to worm animals before it was found to have the power to tranquilize people when its molecule was altered by additional and subtraction of specific atoms. Elderly women probably are tranquilized more frequently than any other class. There are a many of them, and so many untraveled. Flore and Noonan had experiences with three of them in the Calverton, N.Y., mental hospital after they had been taking a phenothiazine derivative for months.

The three were taken to the hospital in grave condition from the blood disorder called agranulocytosis which can be, but rarely is, caused by certain drugs in persons who are individually susceptible in poorly understood ways. Women are known to be more susceptible than men. One of the aged women died. The other two recovered after long "stormy" illnesses.

All this caused the physicians to check up on the medical literature which has given the phenothiazine tranquilizers "wide-spread acceptance" among doctors. Flore and Noonan found that this literature was contradictory. One group of doctors who tested the drugs before they were re-

Girls' Staters Noted at Paul Legion Event

PAUL, March 14— Ida Ann Loecker and Ella Realeff were introduced as delegates to Girls' state at the birthday dinner of the American Legion and auxiliary this week. Miss Loecker is sponsored by the auxiliary, and the Linda Elton and Miss Realeff by the PTA and Chamber of Commerce. Alternates elected were Sharon Groves and Lauren Hansen. They were introduced by Mrs. Ronald Craven. Special guests at the dinner commemorating the 40th anniversary of the Legion, included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brennan, Bush, fifth district commander; Mr. and Mrs. Vern Peterson, Oakley, department vice commander; and Mrs. Robert Cutley, Rupert. Mrs. Cutley is district chaplain.

Arming Former Teacher Seeks Back Pay

BLACKFOOT, March 14 (UP)—former Aberdeen school teacher has filed a district court suit to collect $2,656.28 in back wages. James A. Dodson, now of Ashland, Ore., filed the suit against Aberdeen school district 58 and its trustees. He charged breach of contract. Dodson claims the board dismissed him without cause or hearing in violation of a written agreement.

Slides Shown Paper Says Hall To Guide Nixon

JEROME, March 14 — Frank Daley presented the program at the regular meeting of the Future Homemakers of America Tuesday night at the high school. Colorful New Suits Made for Use on Beaches During 1959

There's a rainbow on the beach these days, and it's due to get brighter by summer. The new swim wear parade, first staged on Southern beaches and scheduled for a return engagement all over the country, is a mix of color. New tropical colors include hot coral, yellow, tangerine, tropic red, deep turquoise and sea blue, in addition to the perennial black and white.

Practically all American swimsuits today have inner bras and built-in hip control as skillfully designed as dry-land foundation garments. So practically all women can get in the swim these days, with figure faults artfully concealed.

Fairman, president of the men's lodge, was in charge of the meeting. Jewell was elected ensign and will serve until Jan. 1, 1960. Mrs. Fairman is junior past president of the auxiliary and Mrs. Larsen is right aid to the president. Mrs. John Burback, Gooding, is chairman of the committee.

Heifer Sale Set For Local Farm

The South Central Idaho Holstein Breeders association will sponsor a sale at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Louis J. Tencknick farm of both grade and registered heifer calves to 4-H and PFA youth interested in purchasing quality animals for their dairy project. Dr. F. J. Sipple, president of the group, pointed out this will not be an auction sale but prices will be placed on the individual animals by their owners and a drawing will be made by the prospective purchasers to select their animal. Because of numerous inquiries to different breeders in Magic Valley as to how quality animals could be purchased by 4-H and PFA members, Dr. Sipple said the association decided to hold the sale. The Tencknick farm is located one mile west of South park, in Twin Falls.

Silly Scheme

LANSING, Mich., March 14 (UP)—The Michigan house killed a bill to raise the cost of a marriage license from 12 to 43. "It's a silly scheme to soak the single," a Republican bachelor said. "I'm against inflation in marriage," chimed in a Democrat.

Dworshak Seeks Competitive Bids In Defense Work

WASHINGTON, March 14 (UPI)—G. S. Ben Henry Dworshak, R., announced today he was co-sponsoring a bill to require the defense department to hold competitive bidding on major defense contracts instead of negotiating contracts with individual firms. Co-sponsor with Dworshak is Sen. John J. Williams, R., Del. In a speech on the Senate floor, Dworshak pointed out that 86 percent of the 25-billion dollar in contracts in the past year were negotiated. He outlined a case in which the navy negotiated a special contract for planes at great loss through failure to have competitive bids. "I believe this bill will go a long way toward giving the American taxpayer full value for the defense dollar and may help forestall drastic increases in the defense budget," said Dworshak. A Vermont, like Texas, was once an independent republic. It came into the United States in 1791.

Silver Creek Ranchers Plan Formation of Drainage Area

HAILEY, March 14—Silver creek ranchers and soil conservation supervisors met at the local SCS office Wednesday to form a Silver creek drainage district in an effort to extend the capabilities of their land. Soil conservation official meeting with the group were Darrell Gallup, head soil scientist for this area; Ralph Arrington, unit engineer for Gooding; Sheehana and Halley area, and Robert Ziehl and Floyd Dorius of the local office. Ranchers included Dean Rogers, W. R. Patterson, Oscar Kerrier and William Sherbine. SCS supervisors attending included William Molyneux and William Castle. Rogers put in a drain ditch two years ago, which has proved successful, he reported. A ditch is planned now on the Rogers and Patterson land which will drain approximately 400 acres and benefit the entire group of ranchers. An arroyo well flowing approximately six second feet is located on the Rogers ranch. In early days the land in the vicinity was considered worthless because of alkali. This has been leached out to a great extent by drainage and proper crops.

Vivid Colors in Textured Leathers Give Open Look for New Spring Shoes

The tapered toe goes on into spring in sleek shoes often cut in a more open fashion. The newest way to an open look is through airy side and instep treatments. The perfect day-time shoe for spring is this pump, upper left, with narrow instep strap. It's done in two tones of turquoise and two leathers, brushed and smooth. Late day into evening shoe, upper center, is in two tones of green and a combination of calf and suede leathers. V-stripe gives the shoe its air look. Far Eastern influence shows in this pump, upper right, with an Oriental air. It has pointed toe although upturned and jeweled in the turquoise color of the shoe. The well-loved American spectator pump appears this spring, lower left, in white brushed leather trimmed with deep brown calf. That new patent leather that won't crack appears in this afternoon pump, lower right, in vivid shades of turquoise, orange and blue. Leather flower picks up colors of the sandal and adds feminine look.

526,000 Aussies Hear Evangelist

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 16 (AP)—Billy Graham announced today that his attendance so far in his month-long Melbourne crusade has been about 526,000. Of these 150,000 came forward to make "decisions for Christ."

More than 100,000 are expected for the last Melbourne meeting.

Graham told a news conference this is the most moral big city he has ever visited.

The evangelist said he plans to spend a two-week vacation on Queensland's Gold coast retreating and writing a book.

Today there is so much literature of despair, he said, "I want to write a book of hope. It has been burning inside me for a long time now."

SON INITIATED

EDEN, March 14—Mr. and Mrs. Larry Martin received word this week that their son, Lonnie Martin, was initiated into Sigma Alpha Epsilon at the University of Idaho. The initiation "took place" at the Deerpark hotel in Spokane.

'59 Polio up 50 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—Paralytic polio cases this year are running more than 50 per cent higher than a year ago.

Last week 18 of the 19 polio cases reported by the states were paralytic, compared with 10 of the 193 cases reported. This compares with 87 paralytic out of 133 listed to the same time last year.

However, a public health service spokesman said today it will be four to six weeks after April before the trend of the 1955 polio season will be indicated.

A nationwide polio vaccination program is being launched Sunday night.

Last year there were 3,140 paralytic cases, compared with 2,440 in 1955, reversing a downward trend which followed introduction of Galk vaccine in 1954-55.

ATTENDS MEET

HATLEY, March 14—Mrs. Gertrude Combs, Blaine County public health nurse, attended staff meeting of public health nurses of the south coast at St. Mary's hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorius have children, and are both from Blaine.

New Aides Move To Blaine Area

HATLEY, March 14—Two officials of the 201 conservation service and the forest service assumed positions here.

Floyd Dorius is the new forest unit conservationist at the forest office and holds a similar position at Malad City.

Richard Stauber will be assistant Sawtooth forest ranger, and line partner with "Timber Boy" Ketchum forest ranger, and the rest of the time with Jack Lamb Sawtooth valley ranger.

Stauber, originally from Pocatello, has just returned from 10 years in the army. Previous to that he worked with the Blaine national forest in Garden Valley.

His wife is the former Mrs. McElmurray, Twin Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorius have children, and are both from Blaine.

Brilliant Colors, Open Shoe Describe Footwear Fashion

NEW YORK, March 14 (REAP)—The new look of shoe fashions for this spring is readily defined in two ways: brilliant color and open shoe. By open shoe is meant, of course, that shoes are more open and airy than they have been.

This open look is achieved in many ways. It's done through perforations and cutouts, also cutouts, the open back coupled with the closed front, and through high and handsome T-straps.

Color is no longer restricted to late day or evening wear. It can start out in the morning and go right through the day. The new shoe colors for spring are grouped roughly into five classes: the pink, brilliant reds, bright blues, the corals to orange.

But there are also welcome and lovely touches of mauve pink and like, deep purple and a whole group of pale beige.

Smooth and shiny leathers are often combined with textured or brushed leathers to produce interesting contrasts. Sometimes this idea is extended to the blending of two colors as well as two leathers in the same shoe.

The shape of the shoe for spring continues to be sleek with a tapered toe.

Nancy Davis Is Feted by Group

Nancy Davis was honored as the girl of the month at the Allura club meeting at the Hoegson hotel Tuesday. Introduced by Mrs. R. O. McCall, Miss Davis was presented a certificate of appreciation by Mrs. Ben Jewell.

Mrs. Ralph Wilson was elected president in the morning and president; Mary Jo Cahill, recording secretary, and Nan Moon, corresponding secretary.

Directors for two years will be Dorothy Aldrich and Mrs. Margaret Harper. Mrs. Fred Duke, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Fred Cole, San Francisco, was a guest.

Smoke in Car Is Tabbed as Crash Hazard

CHICAGO, March 14 (UPI)—The smoke from a potential cause of a crash was tabbed as a "dangerous" hazard by the American Medical Association today.

The association's report, which is the first of its kind, says that the smoke from a "dangerous" hazard is a "dangerous" hazard in the car.

The information was contained in a report issued by the AMA's committee on the medical aspects of automobile accidents and deaths.

The adverse effects of carbon monoxide from a car's exhaust and the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning are well known. The report says that the smoke from a car's exhaust is a "dangerous" hazard in the car.

Oklahoma Hit by Modern Rustlers

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 14 (AP)—Fast transportation and fairly good cattle prices are making rustling a lucrative business in Oklahoma.

George Reid, executive secretary of the Oklahoma Cattlemen's Association, said that from July through December, 1958, 897 cattle and calves were reported stolen, or missing.

Association figures don't extend back into early days of cattle rustling, but the head of the Oklahoma bureau of investigation said he felt it was on the upsurge.

Bureau Chief Forrest Castle said his agency had commissioned eight rangers to investigate cattle thefts.

State Eyes Tougher Courses

POCATION, Okla., March 14 (AP)—The state legislature is expected to pass tougher courses for drivers who are convicted of driving while intoxicated.

The bill would require that a driver who is convicted of driving while intoxicated for the first time be fined $100 to $200 and imprisoned for 30 days to 60 days.

If a driver is convicted of driving while intoxicated for the second time, the fine would be $200 to $500 and imprisonment for 60 days to 120 days.

If a driver is convicted of driving while intoxicated for the third time, the fine would be $500 to $1,000 and imprisonment for 120 days to 180 days.

Hairsto Can Change Girl From Little Tomboy to Young Lady

Men can give her little girl enough hair body with one of these waves to last several months, unlike the ostentatious sections for mother and daughter of long ago, when curls were necessary for dress-up occasions.

It's a good idea to keep a little girl in feminine clothes once she gets interested in her charm quotient. Some mothers encourage the dress-up routine for awhile, and then overwhelmed by the upkeep, may let their little girls fall into the drab dungaree category again.

Wavy hair, when styled in an attractive way, especially designed for her size locks. These will give a manageable curl which may be brushed into a glossy page boy or upturned fluff without kinks. The wavy prettier soft waves tucked back in a cluster of curls, or you may like to trim a feathery top of bangs across her brow.

The little girl who has been using straight-as-a-string mop-top will welcome curls. The information from struggling mothers is a nice change of pace, a reason for her becoming proud owner of a new hat, dress or ribbon to push her femininity further.

It was when permanent waves would have been suitable for little girls, but these days a waving process is speedier, easier and kinder to the hair.

Americans Adopt Continental Style

Men's fashions are showing noticeable change for 1959. The first noticeable changes in men's fashions for a half-dozen years are showing up this spring. Next look is the continental silhouette—shaped jacket with cut-away front, tapered sleeves and side vents; "cuffed" trousers.

In the sports lineup things have changed, too. New sports jackets follow the continental styling, with narrow lapels, more shaping, side vents and a generally trimmer look. Colors in wool sports coats often are brighter this year, featuring such combinations as vivid orange and green or black and yellow in bold plaids. For the conservative there are plenty of dark, restrained checks and shadow plaids in combinations of black and brown or charcoal and gray.

Even Checks and Plaids Are Neat in Spring Suits

The trim, neat, unexaggerated line of spring is aptly demonstrated here in the cut of these suits. Both draw-string jacket suit, left, in French blue is cut from a lightweight wool. Jacket buttons down the front and is shirred at back. This neat navy check appears, center, in this suit with short, double-breasted jacket cut to stand away from the waistline. Suit is belted in black patent and has its own sleeveless Italian silk blouse. Bold check, right, is in green-and-white flannel. Suit is cut wide, notched collar and wide belt with double buckles. All three suits are by Jablow.

Subsidy Plan For Ships Hit By Dworshak

WASHINGTON, March 14 (UPI)—Idaho's senior U. S. senator says it's time to call a subsidy a subsidy.

Sen. Henry Dworshak, R. Ida., issued a statement today saying that the government had contributed $6 million dollars each toward construction of two commercial passenger vessels "in the guise that they represent a military investment as troop carriers."

Dworshak said the ships would be "sitting ducks in today's warfare" and imperil the lives of 16,000 troops aboard.

He said the government should be honest enough to call this a direct grant subsidy instead of trying to "camouflage it under the military budget."

"When the farmer gets price support it is called subsidy. Farm products are just as much war material as ships, yet we don't call our farm programs defense ex-forts," commented Dworshak.

It is a time, this type of subsidy stops hiding behind the skirts of the defense department and that we call it a direct grant to the shipping interests to compensate them for their inability to compete with cheaper foreign ship-builders," Dworshak added.

High Waistline in New Suits Is Handled as "Suggestion"

NEW YORK, March 14 (NEA)—In the 1936 spring suit, the high waistline is handled as a suggestion rather than actually. It is gently indicated by double-belting, by short jackets which swing free of the body and with wide belts which cinch but do not cinch a youthfully high waistline.

The extreme air cone, both in line and fabric, fashion has, this season, come of age. Even checks and plaids, which are nearly always with us in spring, are handled with restraint and elegance. Small checks are clear and concise and bold plaids are well-mannered, never shrieking. And neutral trends take on a totally different look when they're shot through with vivid streaks of gold, turquoise or green.

The suit with its own blouse is important. And there's a hand reason for this. Many women find, once they've bought a suit, that it's difficult to find exactly the right blouse for it. So designers have created blouses that carry

Sentence Given For Brush Fire Like Expected To Sign Bill In Few Days

ELIZONHE, Calif., March 14 (AP)—A judge has sentenced the son of a prominent Lake Elsinore family to six months in jail for starting one of California's "biggest" brush fires with an incendiary bullet.

The fire, which took one life, swept 60,000 acres in three counties in the "Cleveland National Forest" area last Dec. 14-17.

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower is expected to sign into law next week legislation making Hawaii the 50th state.

The presidential signature will set in motion a chain of events climaxed later this year by a White House proclamation bringing the Pacific territory into the union.

Final congressional action was the signal for a two-day celebration in the sunny vacationland.

Quinn told reporters that watching Hawaii go over the top was "the most thrilling, exciting thing I've ever participated in."

Bedrooms Feature Budgetwise Beauty

Luxurious-looking bedroom can be effected with ready-made materials. Gold-and-white-striped wallpaper sets off peacock-blue bedspreads and draperies, which are frosted with sheer, embroidered curtain panels of cotton and dacron. Korax threads add a soft touch of gilt to embroidery.

New Furnishings, Ideas Are Designed to Pretty Bedroom

New furnishings and ideas for prettying up the bedroom are designed to give more pep and life to the room. They are colorful, fancy, girly, and more color. A prim, austere room just isn't in the picture.

Richly canopied beds are to be found in most traditional styles and some modern-Oriental styles. It may be a full canopy or a partial one, with or without curtains; enough, anyhow to make you think you've slipped back into the 18th century.

Other decorative devices are used. Look! One new design has a headboard which must be about seven feet high. It has an open rectangular pattern, inset with a panel that has an airy, butterfly motif.

The panel is removable, in case you'd like to change the picture or let the wallpaper show.

Headboards of more conventional size are decorated with inlays or with carved motifs. Some are upholstered or inset with cane.

In new bedroom settings, rather than curtains have given way to more elaborate treatments, with a correspondingly more expensive appearance.

Beaded window, curtain and drapery treatments are used to frame bedheads, to suggest the canopied effect. In fact, one home-maker tells us she uses straight, tailored panels of sheer dacron, tightly skired to the frame of her daughter's four-poster, as a canopy.

Typical of the new emphasis in bedroom decor is one handsome model room that shows how adaptable to almost any room and any budget.

In this case, gold, white and peacock blue is the color scheme which, in itself, carries a more formal and lavish feeling.

White walls give way in the alcove in which the bed is set to gold-and-white-striped wallpaper. Sheer lute-embroidered panels of fine cotton and dacron are used over brilliant peacock blue fabric to make floor-to-ceiling draperies.

Two more of the same panels, rich with delicate embroidery and scalloped edges, in the manner of fine, hand-made Swiss Imports, frame the brass headboard with its regal fleur-de-lis motif.

Brass sunburst tie-backs hold curtains in soft folds. Peacock blue is repeated in the bedspread. It is frosted by a sheer, inset made of another of the lovely panels.

Panel-used-are-standard-size; each is 90 inches long, 21 inches wide. Elsewhere in the room, gold takes over in the carpeting, the base of a glass-topped table, in a hanging lamp, mirror and many accents.

It's heartening to note that many of the just effects are not as fragile as they look. Most fabrics are hand or machine washable; special finishes or synthetic fibers often eliminate ironing and endow them with wrinkle-and-soil resistance.

Grange Eyes Cost of Plan To Renovate

HALLIE, March 11—Members of the Upper Big Wood River Grange discussed plans for improvement to their hall Wednesday night and voted to obtain more detailed information on costs before accepting them.

The plans were presented by Joseph Wurst and James Eakin, committee on improvements.

In discussing the inter-state youth program, means of travel and fund raising possibilities were discussed in preparation for participating in this project this year.

Under this program high school boys or girls may live for a time in homes with similar environments and relation as their own, in one of the 10 regions of the United States.

In discussing the IPFY program, in which Blaine county has participated for several years, Mrs. Wurst told of a letter they received recently from Edgardo Llera Lopez, exchange student from Chile, who lived at their ranch home for several weeks last summer, in which he states he is anxious to return to this section of the country as soon as he completes the two year term still to serve as an agriculture agent at San Fernando, Chile.

She also read a letter from C. J.

Gopalakrishna from India who resided in homes in Colorado last year, giving his impressions of our country.

Carol Martin, Bellevue high school student, told of his impressions of the tractor plant at Arbo, which his class visited recently.

Theodore Diving, Bellevue; Mrs. Merle Crofts, Hallie; Mrs. Clarence Alfred, Garnett, and Mrs. John McMonigle, Hallie, gave other numbers on the program.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Price, Mrs. Stanley Johnson and Mrs. Sulas Daly.

Semi-Finalists

IDAHO STATE COLLEGE, Pocatello, March 11—Nine Magic Valley students were among the semi-finalists in the eighth annual Paul M. Hill memorial sales speaking contest at Idaho State college this week.

They included Janet Jankowski and Shirley Mason, both Pulli; Sherry Crawford and Frances Meyerhoff, both Eden; Norma Neale, Piler; Alan R. Kendrick and LeRoy Mink, both Gooding; and Rodney J. Ehlers and Patsy Miller, both Twin Falls.
