

WASHINGTON—The general expectation that the 1959 profits of the nation will break all records has introduced new and disturbing factors into the political, economic and even the cold war prospects.

Such a showing may result in a social and industrial revolution, in view of the fact that it will coincide with a recession hanger, and most important of all, an unemployment problem of almost five million. It will make the spokesmen for organized labor less willing to settle on terms for new negotiations.

It will provide the setting for a fiercer battle between Capitol Hill liberals and conservatives on legislation providing for federal assistance in wage negotiations, and possibly for government controls.

INDUSTRIES' PROFITS—Ironically, one of the most profitable industries will be the key steel companies which are engaged in a controversy with the administration over future policies in this field. Their current contract with the United Steel Workers expires in June 20.

Other industries, however, whose costs are dependent on steel, also are expected to be affected. These include the automobile industry, the construction industry and the machine tool industry.

They will strengthen congressional demands for federal intervention that will be revolutionary in nature. It may mean the end of the "free market" while House make good its warning that, if the bargaining parties do not show restraint, "it will take an act of Congress to stop the bleeding, however, still have several beneficial effects, even though they may not offset adverse reactions.

BENEFICIAL EFFECTS—They will reiterate the Keynesian contention that the free enterprise system cannot be expected to solve the nation's economic ills. They will also reiterate the contention that the communists have brought about since World War II. They will hearten socialist allies.

Assuming that they force a prompt and peaceful settlement of labor-management-management relations, they will enable Eisenhower to balance the 1959 budget. They will increase the nation's defense budget, as the principal Pentagon experts. They would permit the spending of several more billions on heavy bombers, nuclear weapons and outer space experiments.

EFFECT OF POSTWAR PLAN MODERNIZATION—The expected profit figures will also reveal such a fundamental change in the economic system that it will precipitate even more radical union action. As a result of postwar plan modernization, automation economies and an increased demand for labor will result in a 50 to 75 per cent increase in operating capacity. They are employing fewer men to do the same work. This will result in a surplus of labor which will be applied to numerous key industries—steel, coal, autos, etc.

MAY MEAN START OF INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION—This trend, of course, will reinforce Walter P. Reuther's earlier program for a four-day work week. It will lead McDonald to be more insistent on a three-month vacation every four or five years. It will result in a balance between consumption and employment.

In short, the next few months may witness the beginning of a new industrial revolution. It will be a revolution in proportions and scope. It could also lead to a new social and political era, depending on how the corporation executives and the statesmen at Washington handle the problem.

EVERYBODY'S POCKETBOOK—One of the major automobile companies is joining others in the glass business. Why? Because an earlier strike against its glass supplier hamstringing its car output for a time.

Perhaps the company which suffered the strike will have a trouble making. It's the lost business, but possibly it will. If that should happen, then everybody concerned, including the workers, will be hurt.

The point of all this is that it stresses once again what is the economic, out-dated device the strike really is.

No one is going to advocate that strikes be outlawed, and no one should. Labor feels it must have this "last resort" weapon and it often receives much by the mere threat of its use.

But seldom if ever do the gains outweigh the losses, even for the particular workers affected. And all too frequently the damaging effects which result from the strike have well removed from the dispute. In industry-wide strikes in such fields as steel, the whole country can suffer.

In world affairs we cluck out tongues and shake our heads at the mention of war. We say we are coming to represent a failure of human intelligence.

Strikes are a kind of industrial warfare, though the violence which unhappily accompanies many strikes is usually an unplanned by-product. They stand for the key in negotiation, a failure of discussion.

In world councils we urge that the diplomats "keep talking" to avoid the holocaust of war. It is too much to ask the same of labor-management bargaining. Why? Because the price of a breakdown is taken first from their own pocketbooks and may be extracted finally from us all?

STRIKES AND ACCORDS—Naturally the resignation of Meade Adorn, as Republican national chairman caught a little space in the prints. But the fact is that these days national chairmen don't seem to strike much of a note.

Back in the heyday of Jim Farley, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's party manager, the job seemed to have a lot of glamour. Farley ran the Democratic operation as if he were a kind of czar. He was a big name in DeMille of Hollywood and the president of General Motors.

The postwar crop of national chairmen hasn't been of the same order at all. Mostly they've made the job seem to be a job as exciting as if they were working in a nationwide network of department store billing clerks.

Now when they try to put a little life in the job by tossing off a strongly partisan statement, but generally the reaction to these is that, whichever party is involved, they range from the foolish to the inept.

Party organization politics may be a good deal more efficient than it used to be. It's also a lot less fun.

Notes:

I see by reading the "T-N" that the time for high school class reunions is near again, and I suppose the usual family reunion will follow shortly thereafter.

Some folks may consider these gatherings to be a waste of time and energy, but that isn't so. There are at least three good reasons for attending them:

1. To show off your evidence of prosperity as (a) new cars, (b) new clothing and (c) expensive jewelry.
2. To look with envy at those who have the items in (1) above that you can't afford.
3. To gossip about (a) those who couldn't attend and (b) those who are present.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—Twenty years ago the idea that "contempt" of any court or contempt of congress could bring down a man upon the contemptuous person in sentences which nowadays are ordinarily I would have checked the nation's "contempt" consists of rudeness in the courtroom.

Herbert Hoover, in his memoirs, made the shocking admission that a group of "leaders" of Chicago civic life appealed to him to get Al Capone because they had sunk to civic and moral bankruptcy. Instead of blasting them out of his office for their own failure as civic leaders, instead of admonishing that they had failed an amendment was the real cause of this awful state.

It is years since the treasury department has been able to get the tax amendment.

The rubber house of contempt in the courtroom is a device for punishing those who testify against themselves or against other persons who might retaliate by killing them or their relatives has been recent. It is a very dangerous menace to the freedom of citizenship as a means of stifling criticisms from persons of bad repute, instead of punishing them only of newspaper society, which is not always a true reflection of the subject's character.

There has been an inhuman change in our administration of justice. "Contempt" has legislative authority in some cases but in others judges themselves, at their secret professional convicts, hatch schemes to force in contempt of their power to conceal extremely intimate personal and financial secrets which admittedly are not pertinent to the proceeding.

In one flagrant case, a federal judge ordered a victim to bring into his court all his income tax records for the past ten years. Records for 20 years from a distance of 3,000 miles, even compelling and sure enough, the opposition—no data to demand that be opened in court.

The subpoena was sheer harassment of a litigant who had not even the money to pay the fees.

Expert Warns Certified Spud Seed Protects

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Pocatello, Idaho, April 13—Planting certified seed potatoes for even one year may result in lost money that otherwise you certified seed.

Dr. O. H. Olson, specialist for the University of Idaho, who has been in Idaho for a number of years, has been certified seed potatoes is one of the biggest and most profitable crops grown in the state. The use of the certified seed is the key to the success of the potato grower. It is the only way to get the best of the potato crop.

Certified seed does three things for the potato grower. It is the best seed available for planting. It is the most reliable crop of potatoes to harvest the following fall. It guarantees the future use of his land, and gives him the right to a reduction of the best possible seed. Good seed means good management produces good potatoes.

Bumsted will and reminds us that two of the most dangerous of potato diseases are late blight and late blight. It is there to stay for as long as the potato grower is in the soil. Views of Others

HOW FAST IS SPEEDING?

The state of Idaho should quickly appeal a district court ruling in Minidoka county which has cast a cloud across the state's power to enforce speed limits. The ruling would require the state department of law enforcement to announce that it does not plan to change its policies regardless of the judgment of the courts.

A probate court in Minidoka county had found that a driver was traveling 70 miles an hour in a zone posted for 60 miles. He appealed, and the district court ruling was that the driver was in violation of the law. The court ruled that the "mere operation of a vehicle in excess of posted limits" does not necessarily mean a motorist is endangering life, limb or property. He pointed out that the state's basic statute defines speeding as traveling faster than conditions of roads and weather warrant, and ruled that the driver was proved in the lower court that he was traveling at a speed.

Law Enforcement Director Earl E. Koehler said that the district court decision has prompted no change in the policies of the state police. He said he would like to see the state go to court and let it be the first time that kind of decision has been rendered. "The state police will stand up and fight," he said, "and operate under the usual procedure of enforcing posted speed limits."

If the state goes to court to appeal the ruling, it is in the number of speeding cases dismissed in the lower courts, for whatever the commissioner of law enforcement may think about it, the ruling of a district judge is entitled to the respect of the probate courts.

A speedy appeal to the state supreme court would help bring some order into the situation by determining whether the state needs to be changed in its policy, what the law will be in the meantime—Lexington Tribune.

MAN IN CAR

Automobile insurance costs have increased so rapidly since the end of World War II that any reduction in rates must be put in the category of much-hoped-for news. In California, drivers who had not had any accidents and have not been convicted of any traffic violations for three years will be able to buy automobile insurance at 10 per cent less than the regular rates beginning May 1. Chronic violators of traffic regulations will have to pay more for their insurance. The plan would insure companies will extend it to other states. All careful motorists surely will hope that the new approach is successful.

Many insurance companies already offer lower rates to drivers with accident-free records. Other companies keep their rates down by requiring drivers in certain age groups or occupations. However, in California, the state is the first to base rates in part on traffic violations. Insurance officials point out that persons who violate traffic regulations are largely responsible for the increasing accident rate which keeps making insurance rates upward. It is reasonable therefore to require careful motorists to pay more for their insurance and to reward careful motorists by charging them lower rates—Washington Post.

BREAK FOR SAFE DRIVERS

Motorists in every state will watch with intense interest the action of the state insurance commission just starting in California. Drivers without an accident or an arrest for three years will get special low rates. Other drivers will pay more. The plan is basically equitable and safe drivers everywhere will hope it proves actuarially sound—Los Angeles Post-Dispatch.

Rockefeller's Name Pushed For '60 Vote

WASHINGTON, April 13 (UP)—The name of a candidate campaigning that landed the 1940 Republican presidential nomination for under way for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, New York.

Republican leaders brought to last week's meeting of the GOP National committee a list of names that supporters of Rockefeller are seeking to enlist businessmen, prominent men and other influential figures as Rockefeller backers.

Charles A. Simlar, a GOP national officer who has participated in several presidential campaigns detailed the list as similar to those which helped put Walker over. He said he has personal knowledge of the names, and that he has secured the support of insurance men and others with influence in their communities.

The first outward sign of the Rockefeller name was the formation of "California for Rockefeller," a "self-help" program headed by Charles Lewandorski, Los Angeles.

Other activity reported:

A state chairman who supports Rockefeller is being sought for the nomination said the kind of similar activities elsewhere in the state.

Rockefeller's name was being done the same kind of campaigning.

It was explained that Rockefeller himself is standing aloof from these activities. He is holding to the line that his only ambition is to make a good chief executive for his state.

It was noticeable, however, that the governor last time in moving to the state capital, he was followed by George L. Hinman, into a seat as Republican national committee chairman's Negrially force.

The Rockefeller force applied fully to the list of names to the committee's new chairman, Sen. Thurston B. Morton, Kentucky.

Other names on the list include: Hamilton, N. Y., Rockefeller's political rival.

Morton was chosen unanimously to succeed retiring chairman Wendell Phillips at a week-end session at which the committee also voted solidly to hold its 1960 convention in Chicago, the week beginning July 25.

AFL-CIO Rally Termed Exploit

WASHINGTON, April 13 (UPI)—Rep. John F. Rhodes, R., Ariz., has charged that the AFL-CIO unemployment rally held last week was a clear attempt by "experts of economic gloom" to exploit the misery of the nation's jobless.

Rhodes said the rally featured government statistics issued the day before it opened.

Rhodes said that AFL-CIO president George Meany personally had opposed holding the Washington meeting.

Rhodes said the rally was organized by Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers president, and Vice President of the AFL-CIO.

Fire-Kills Family

ASHLAND, Wis., April 13 (UPI)—A rural Ashland family of four died early today when their home determined to burn through their one and a half story frame home to the ground.

Dead were Walter Mechemone, 30, his wife Marie, 30, and their children, Walter, Jr., 12, and Tony, 5, a daughter.
