TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—A Marshall plan of world-wide scope for development that was not merely local but a "barrier" has become the most exciting and constructive project in diplomatic discussion today as a possible solution to the economic and political tensions between the "have and have-not" nations.

The daring idea was undoubtedly presented to the summit level of the world's leaders at the recent Geneva conference, assuming that the current foreign minister talks at Geneva, which took place last week.

At the conference, if President Eisenhower or an American spokesman does not propose the plan, it will probably be voted by Charles de Gaulle, with at least the vocal support of Nikita Khrushchev.

De Gaulle is the latest of a long list of statesmen to outline such a program for eliminating international tensions. He mentioned it in his first major address last year, but it was neglected by the world press and diplomats as an idle dream.

BASIS OF FRENCH ECONOMY POLICY—Only recently, however, Foreign Minister Maurice Couveur de Murville reiterated that it was the basis of French policy. He also stated that when De Gaulle discussed the proposal with Khrushchev, the latter expressed interest and sympathy.

The French loss of Indo-China, as well as their difficulties in Algeria and other African colonies, has impressed on Paris the need for a new and more constructive approach to the problems of present-day colonialism. De Gaulle has been a strong advocate of this approach.

The real author of such a grandiose scheme, however, was an American, the late Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who was also the sponsor of our original atomic legislation. Two years ago, he suggested that the nations cut down military expenditures and devote the savings to form a pool of $50 billion dollars for a 10-year program of peaceful cooperation.

His proposal was dismissed as too utopian. How realistic it was is now seen in the fact that the United States alone has poured $100 million more in military aid to other nations in the last decade, and the end is not yet.

SENATOR FULBRIGHT'S SIMILAR PROGRAM—Now Sen. J. William Fulbright has advanced the same plan in another form. The chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee has suggested that the government invest $5 billion dollars in the development of a "peace dividend" fund. This fund would be made up of savings from annual appropriations.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, Massachusetts, urges large-scale aid to other nations. He has proposed that the U.S. be not attracted to communism by red China's greater economic progress. Eisenhower demurs at the idea, but he has approved the general idea.

The recent Inter-American Economic conference, a subsidiary of the Organization of American States, discussed this plan as it refers to the Latin-American republics. President Juscelino Kubitschek, of Brazil, has been a strong advocate of this plan in recent communications to the White House and state department.

Eisenhower has taken steps to implement the proposal. It has invited the presidents of the 21 republics to meet at Oquayquil next February for formal talks and to examine the "peace dividend" fund.

It is not unlikely that the plan will be represented by Vice President Nixon, Secretary Herter or Undersecretary C. Douglas Dillon, who handles economic affairs.

LONG-TERM LOANS AT LOW INTEREST—Although any world development program would be a governmental matter, it is believed that private sources—corporations with surplus interest funds, international operated banks, etc. Could be persuaded to contribute to the international fund. Emphasis would be placed on long-term, low-interest loans, rather than grants.

It is the prospect of such an unprecedented experiment on behalf of world peace which attracts so much importance to today's Geneva talks and a summit get-together. If the West unveils such a plan, it is not unlikely that the Soviet Union will reciprocate that, although willing to spend billions on armament, Russia will not invest a ruble for humanity.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

DON'T FIGHT IT
Comes now the case of Private James B. Merrill, a soldier in Uncle Sam's army, and also a member of the Church of God of the United Assembly at Maynardville, Tenn. He won't take his polo suit, says he's against his religion, Army says he's not. To date the private has prevailed, but the army says it won't give up. What, asks the army, is to happen when there appears a private who says it against his religion to wear a hat?

This is a pretty sticky problem, as are all such problems involving religious liberty. Apparently Private Merrill belongs to a sect that doesn't object to his being in the army, so long as he doesn't take steps to protect his health. It would be simpler if he belonged to one that objected to his being in the army. Then he could be a conscientious objector and the army would be relieved of a headache.

It seems to us that as long as he is in the army, he must do as other soldiers do—including submission to his apparent indignity of a polo suit. Hardly a day goes by when a soldier wears a polo suit. It is not as if he is a soldier in the military army, however, there is little room for personal objections, including those having their roots in religious belief.

If Private Merrill's faith is strong he can understand that the same God who tells him polo suits are wrong is also an understanding God who knows it is difficult indeed to circumvent military regulations. We trust he will be forgiven if he just rolls up his sleeves and murmurs, "Put 'er there, Doc," Eugene Register-Dispatch.

BY T. T. WILLEY
New York Traffic Commissioner T. T. Willey may or may not be historically correct in ascribing the invention of the one-way street to Julius Caesar. He may have been thinking about the old saying: "All roads lead to Rome."

In any event, the traffic problem facing a modern city may not be fundamentally different from those that ancient Rome had to cope with. Parked cars could cause as much congestion as parked chariots. The problem is the same, says a lawyer.

Commissioner Willey has been criticized for establishing one-way streets in New York. He has defended his position by pointing out that the city is crowded with cars and that for speeding traffic by dragging Caesar into the picture. This is as futile a business as any since Julius Caesar died in the back of a chariot and dumped Caesar into a one-way street to oblivion.

Mr. Willey should come not to bury Caesar but to praise him for leading the way to traffic reform. He should realize that Rome was not built in one day, and that when you are in Rome you should do as the Romans do.

Pay Hike Bill Is Opposed in Chamber Vote

A resolution opposing senate bill No. 1046 was passed unanimously by directors of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Friday noon. The bill would raise the national minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 with virtually no exemption other than the federal government.

The board expressed its opposition to that passage of the bill would serve to spiral the present dangerous inflationary trend, interfere with state's rights, be confiscatory to small business and eliminate students and unskilled persons from the labor market.

Letters will be sent to other chambers of the area requesting action on the issue which is being aired in hearings.

County commission Chairman Russell C. Larsen advised the board of the dilemma commissioners face regarding county zoning. He stated the zoning problem is a matter for voters to determine. Present state laws are sufficiently flexible that some towns in the county may require zoning within a prescribed area, while others may reject it.

The Citizens committee, organized through efforts of the chambers of commerce, is the school paper, a member of the band and the Jayvee basketball team. He had the only blue project on record in Idaho 4-11 club last year. His hobby is making furniture. (Staff engraving)

Young Miss Gains Poise From Correct Posture

Charm Hints Are Given To Canyon Club Women

"No woman can be beautiful until she is well liked," Ruth Tolman, Salt Lake City, who is associated with the John Robert Powers School of Modeling, told women of the Canyon club Thursday night in a lecture on beauty and charm.

A woman is first what she thinks she is and then what she makes herself. A poised woman first be conscious of her beauty first before she can become unconscious of it, according to Miss Tolman. A charming woman doesn't gossip, doesn't moralize, doesn't criticize and isn't domineering.

"What is 'face appeal'?" Miss Tolman defines it as nothing more than an enthusiasm for life. She says "It is something we know every woman should have, the one who has it is very lucky and the one who hasn't might as well drop dead!"

Tired of Cleaning Out Ditches, Two Gooding Farmers Build Machinery

GOODING, May 1.—Two Gooding farmers tired of cleaning out their ditches and of the only way to solve this problem was to invent something that would lessen their labor.

John and Harold Mays, a father and son team, inventors, announced they have designed the "Gooding Ditcher."

Harold Mays, son of John Mays, says, "We shoveler ditches as long as we decided to make something that would really clean out those ditches."

"We wanted something that would pick up the dirt out of the ditch and throw it out in the field."

Primary Purpose

Their primary purpose was to design a machine that would cast the excavated dirt far out into the field, where it would be in danger of falling back into the ditch.

Some inventors have a rather long and dramatic story, but the Mays' story is a simple one. The trials and tribulations of the inventors went through before the final product was created.

Well, it seems the Mays didn't know this is the way inventions are invented. They just built one.

And except for a few minor adjustments, their original model is the model they are currently putting into production.

Father and son combined their lifetime knowledge of farming and mechanics—but no previous experience in inventing—and decided about a year and one-half ago to design a three-paddle ditcher powered by a tractor's power take-off.

Used Spare Time

Work on the pilot model was during their spare time in the winter months. By spring, 1956, they had completed a ditcher to clean out the main ditches. Two months later they built a smaller, better ditcher to clean the feed ditches.

According to Harold Mays, the two ditchers worked almost without fail from the beginning. They built eight more models that worked without mishap on farms throughout Magic Valley during the last crop season. Last winter they had about 15 inquiries about the ditcher.

In the meantime they found out their invention was revolutionary enough to enable them to get a patent on it.

It Was Marketable

They realized they had something that was marketable and decided to go into production. Paul Roberts Welding and Manufacturing, Twin Falls, is currently building the ditchers.

Both the main ditcher and the feed ditcher work on the same principle. The main ditcher is just heavier and digs a deeper and wider ditch.

The ditchers will work on any tractor having a three-point lift. (Continued on Page 18, Column 1)

One of First Students Enrolled for Summer School

This is the first time an elementary school summer session has been held in Twin Falls. Lola Cockrum, right, principal of the Manningside school, instructs Mrs. Drenker in enrollment procedure. T.F. Pioneer Elementary Summer School Brings Parents' Inquiries

A pioneering project in elementary school education here will be launched this summer when an elementary school summer session will be held.

Explaining the purpose, Anderson says, "In every class we have an average of eight to 10 students below grade level in the basic studies. One of our biggest problems is teaching these remedial students."

They create a tremendous teaching problem and anything we can do to bring them up to grade level will benefit both students and schools and make teaching easier and more efficient.

"But the basic need is with the student. We're concerned with the student's progress more than anything else."

Anderson explains that in elementary school work it is important that the student maintain grade level ability. If he drops below grade level ability in any one subject, his attitude and scholarship will suffer.

"If someone can make an effort to help the student succeed, they will adjust to school more readily," he says.

Spreading the need for a summer school, Anderson points out there are more than 80 elementary school classrooms in Twin Falls. In each classroom, Anderson estimates there are four to 10 students who can benefit from additional work in summer school.

"This means that from about 300 to 500 students can benefit from (Continued on Page 18, Column 4)

T.F. Kennel Club Fourth Annual Show May 31 Gives Dog His Day

Many a dog will have his day on May 31 when the Twin Falls Kennel club presents its fourth annual dog show and obedience trial at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds at Piler.

There were 250 entries in the show last year, and according to Mrs. Warren Skinner, member of the bench show committee, there will be that many or more this year.

Members of the club expect dogs from such far-away points as California, Texas, Virginia and Arizona.

Qualifications Listed

Anyone who has a registered or pedigreed dog is eligible to enter the show. Members of the club state that a person doesn't need to be a member of the club to enter the dog, and the dog doesn't need any special training. It must be leashed trained only.

50 Trophies

The show will be held under American Kennel club rules and regulations. Ribbons will be awarded for all classes and about 50 trophies will be given away.

Dogs will be shown in the six different breed group classes—sporting, hound, working, terrier, toy and non-sporting. Dogs also will be shown in the obedience trial classes.

Special Classes

Special classes will be held for local dogs. These classes are open to all dogs whose owner lives in a 50-mile radius of Twin Falls. "This gives a person the chance of getting the prestige of having the best of that breed in this area," says Mrs. Skinner.

The show is the project of the Twin Falls Kennel club and is the result of many months of work on the part of members. A one-day show costs between $1,500 and $1,700.

Members point out that it takes nearly a full year to get such a large show planned. The club meets once a month.

Formed in 1946

The club was formed in the fall of 1946. It was the result of a group action by persons in this general area who were interested in dogs.

The purpose of the club is to promote public interest in good dogs, promote breeding of better dogs, sponsor American Kennel sanctioned shows, and give members a chance to get together and exchange information on dogs and their care.

Membership has grown from about 15 charter members to 100 (Continued on Page 21, Column 2)

These tough-looking hounds aren't looking for trouble, they're simply looking forward to the fourth annual Twin Falls Idaho Kennel club dog show and obedience trial. The show will be held May 31 at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds, Piler. The big tough-looking is an English bulldog named "Eddie." She belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Smith, Buhl. The little tough-looking is "Beito," who belongs to Fannie Bennett, Buhl. (Staff photo-engraving)

Harold Mays points out the mechanism of the main ditcher. The "fan" to which he points is powered by the tractor's power take-off. There is a small blade under the fan that scoops up the dirt as the device is pulled through the ditch. The dirt then falls back on the "fan" which is moving at a high rate of speed. The four paddles on the fan pick up the dirt and fling it into the ditch. (Staff photo-engraving)

Harold Mays, Gooding, storms his main ditcher through a ditch channel. The excess soil is cast over the bank and into the field. (Staff photo-engraving)

Who Pay Telephones Offer Only Place To Spend Money in Millionaires' Town

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif., May 17.—The only thing you can do in Hillsborough is a telephone. You can do that in only two ways.

One from three two rarely used phone booths, you can't do it in this town, according to reports here. A millionaire. Hillsborough remains as close to the 1910 country club ideals of or Burlington.

Hillsborough did not have a "business district" once, but only because state law required it. The town fathers designated the H. E. Casey quarry as a commercial zone. Then they proceeded to get the law changed.

In 1915 the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company got permission to erect a building on the edge of Hillsborough. Henry T. Scott, one of the town's founders, was president of the phone company. Since 1920 that building has been the town hall.

Pre-School PTA Makes Kindergarten History Again With Summer Session

The Twin Falls Pre-School PTA has undertaken another project that will expand kindergarten facilities in Twin Falls.

For 11 years the Pre-School PTA has operated the Twin Falls kindergarten — a tuition-supported, non-profit kindergarten. It was started by a group of parents who believed kindergarten facilities should be available to the community's pre-school children.

The Pre-School PTA will sponsor a six-week summer kindergarten session lasting from June 1 through July 10. This is the first time a kindergarten class has been offered during the summer months. The purpose is to better prepare the children in reading readiness, according to Mrs. Arthur Greener, Twin Falls summer kindergarten chairman.

It also will offer training to children who could not attend the winter sessions. The only requirement is that the children must be 6 years old by Oct. 15.

Mrs. Greener points out that children don't develop physically and mentally at the same rate and that a few weeks in kindergarten, taking reading readiness work, might help them adjust more successfully to first grade work.

Features of Course
The classes will feature oral expression, color recognition, number concepts, correct behavior patterns, group adjustment, printing and manual arts, and the children will learn to follow a daily pattern and follow directions.

The tuition is $15 for the six weeks of half-day classes. Classes will last from 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. An afternoon class lasting from 1 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. will be offered if there is sufficient enrollment. There will be a maximum of 30 students per class. Classes will be held at Bickel school.

Children can be enrolled anytime at the Bickel school office or at Mrs. Greener's home, 444 Sixth avenue east. Deadline for enrollment is May 25.

Mrs. Greener explains that the Pre-School PTA got its start back in 1925 when a group of young mothers formed a mother's study group. They met and discussed pre-school problems.

First Session Held
At first they didn't have a kindergarten in mind, but later they decided their children needed some work in reading readiness before they entered the first grade.

In the spring of 1928 they decided to hold a trial kindergarten during April and May. It was held in the old American Lutheran church.

Mothers got donations of paper, coloring and handicrafts material from local merchants. This, together with a $7 tuition, supported the two-month kindergarten. Twenty-four children enrolled.

The Pre-School PTA was formed at that time, according to Mrs. Greener. Members were encouraged with the results of the spring session.

School PTA. The class is held at Washington school and is open to any child. This summer the Pre-School PTA will sponsor the first summer kindergarten in Twin Falls. It will be held at Bickel school and will stress reading readiness, oral expression, color recognition, number concepts, correct behavior patterns, group adjustment, and following instructions and a daily schedule. (Left photo—Greener.)

school is non-profit, tuition-supported. Funds are poured back into teacher salaries, rent, insurance and supplies. Tuition is $10 per month.

Mrs. Greener stresses that the school is open to any child. "Any child can attend the kindergarten," she says. "It's not just for Washington school students only."

Pre-School PTA
She explains that more children from the Washington school area attend kindergarten because of the accessibility of the class, but that children from as far away as Kimberly and Haines also attend.

The Pre-School PTA is organized just like any other PTA. It meets once a month at the city hall and has a planned program, often featuring talks on problems dealing with pre-school children.

One of the activities of the Twin Falls kindergarten has had an effect on schools throughout south Idaho. For the past 11 years they have had a May day party.

Speaking of Furniture

DUTCH TREAT

The German settlers who began to arrive and settle in Pennsylvania in the late 17th century were people of purpose, bent on freeing themselves from the tyrannies of the old world, and establishing a new life of freedom in the Colonies. Along with being free, they felt that life should also be joyful and pleasant.

—and this attitude is reflected in their furniture, the gay and charming Pennsylvania Dutch which is so popular today.

Pennsylvania Dutch is as varied in style as it is unitarian in purpose. It bears a resemblance to the New England styles, yet has a simple spontaneity all its own. It is comfortably at home with Colonial and French country provincial.

Solid maple has been used to fashion the Pennsylvania Dutch furniture in the cheerful bedroom sketched — maple rubbed to a gleaming golden finish.

The room's color scheme planned around the furniture. Walls are a rich terra cotta, spreads and draperies are in pinkish white, wainscot, a pattern of copper, tans, and blue. Wall-to-wall carpet is a shade lighter than the blue.

Whether you're looking for Pennsylvania Dutch, French Provincial, New England Colonial or country furnishings by the designer, you're sure to find what will please you in our assortment. Every piece is picked and value priced.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT

Mrs. Warberg Believes Life Should Be Lived to Hilt Each Day Without Waste

"Live each day to the hilt. Don't waste energy on things that can't be hoped and bend all effort toward improving those that can." That is the philosophy of Mrs. George Warberg, who has taught in Filer and Twin Falls high schools since 1942. Since mid-career of 1951-1952 Mrs. Warberg has taught English at Twin Falls high school.

MRS. GEORGE WARBERG

Although in the course of her teaching career Mrs. Warberg has taught French, Spanish, Latin, speech, play production, and served as dean of girls and librarian at Filer, her primary interest is teaching English.

"The grammar is pretty well reviewed but the student who has not read this review is far and few between. For some reason the English is expected to go back to the beginning and go over all the old material each year."

Take it from the experts CHEVY GIVES YOU 7 BIG BESTS!

Take it, not from us, but from the published opinions of outside, independent experts and from on-the-record facts and figures: Chevrolet gives you these 7 big bests over any other car in its field!

BEST ENGINE

Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard V-8 the top rating. V-8's untold praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

BEST ECONOMY

No doubt about this: two Chevrolet Sixes won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run. Currently the best mileage of any full-size car.

BEST STYLE

POPULAR SCIENCE magazine sums it up: "The fact is, in its price class the Chevy is a beauty. But Chevy is high in styling. It's the only car of the leading low-price line that's unimpaired in every modern line."

BEST TRADE-IN

Check the figures in any official N.A.D.A. Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy's used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST BRAKES

In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds conducted by N.A.S.A.C., Chevy out-stopped both the other leading low-priced cars—and why not? Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings up to 65% longer life.

BEST ROOM

Official dimensions reported to A.M.A. make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.7 inches wider than competitive cars.

BEST RIDE

You'll be able to tell this year. But MOTOR TRENDS magazine expresses it this way: "...the smoothest, most quietest riding car in its price class."

Crane Falls Lake Trout Examined by Biologists

Biologist Monte Richards, left, and District Conservation Supervisor W. L. Horning, examine trout caught by fishermen during the early Crane Falls lake opening May 1. This year's May day catch included three well-defined age classes of trout—and one that appeared to be a "lost" generation. Biologists determined that the big ones exceeding three pounds were holdovers from plantings made several years ago. The "lost" or virtually missing age class was composed of fingerling rainbow trout released last fall. A possibility is that they became fish food. (Fish and game department photo—staff engraving)

Early Lake Trout Catches Indicative Of Good Season for Idaho Fishermen

BY JIM HUMPHREY

Idaho Fish and Game Department There's good fishing the year around in all six of the major drainage basins in Idaho—a fact which nevertheless did not dampen the enthusiasm of thousands of eager anglers who flocked to boats and banks and the surface of more than 100 lakes in the Panhandle, where trout season opened May 1.

Lakes Named

Among these was Lake Pend Oreille, one of the nation's largest bodies of fresh water, with a shoreline of more than 150 miles and a depth in excess of 1,000 feet. Another was a tiny seepage lake which formed a few years ago behind a low ridge from the Snake river above the C. J. Elfrick dam near Bureau in Elmore county. Located near the point where Crane falls cascaded for centuries before the impounded waters drowned it a half dozen years ago, and taking the same name, the seepage pond of not more than 40 or 50 acres was the only one in southern or eastern Idaho with the May day opening date for the 1936 lake trout season.

Big Production

Northern fishermen made quite a production of the first week-end of the early trout season on lakes of the five Panhandle counties, and Wade and Mann's lakes in Nez Perce. This was true particularly on Pend Oreille and Priest lakes where numerous tackle-busting makinalas and Kamloops trout proved irresistible. Although many other species are available in the big lake, this was because Pend Oreille last year enjoyed the best season it has ever had in a decade, with more 30-pound-better trout landed than ever before.

Noted for Big Ones

Nine of the ten largest rainbow caught in North America during 1936 came from this lake, the greatest being 35 pounds, four ounces. That was next to the biggest ever taken. The king-size record breaker of all time landed recently was a Pend Oreille Kamloops trout which weighed in at a flat 37 pounds back in 1924.

Reason for Date

The reason for the May 1 opening of Crane Falls lake in southern Idaho is that its small size, shallow depth and many bottom add up to a "mud taste" in otherwise fat and sassy rainbow trout as soon as the water temperatures begin to rise with the first warm days of the year. No 30-pound trout were taken from Crane Falls lake on May day, or will be taken there any other season. The only fish in its seepage waters are hatchery rainbows released at carefully planned intervals by the fish and game department.

Twice as Good

Nevertheless angler success early in the season. For example, 415 fishermen harvested 1,245 trout for a total of approximately one-half ton during the early-morning hours of the initial day despite the fact that the opening had fallen on a Friday and had not been published except in a very routine fashion.

Fishing ended abruptly mid-morning when a spring wind of gale proportions literally blew some 60 boats off the little lake (impounders are prohibited), there casting was abandoned almost as quickly not only because of the wind, but also because rain soon came in cloudburst proportions.

Land of Lakes

Because Idaho is a land of lakes, some off-the-beaten track and little known to sportsmen and others just a few miles from roads the fish and game department initiated surveys more than a decade ago to determine which of several thousand could be stocked or otherwise managed. Nearly 1,500 lakes since have been catalogued. Many have been found feasible for planting for the first time or for replenishing native populations. Thus, new fishing waters are added for the ever-mounting number of anglers.

Almo's James T. Taylor Labeled "True Pioneer"

ALMO, May 16.—James T. Taylor, 86, who has served as president of the Almo Water Company and a school trustee, is considered by this community as one of the real pioneers of the West.

Born on the border between Centerville and Bountiful, Utah, Sept. 8, 1867, Taylor moved to Blue Creek, Utah, when he was 5 years old. He recalls "pulling wood and setting out 1,000 posts with an ox team."
