

Survival of Water Plans 'Up to West'

and widespread support in the other six states for the federal reclamation expansion which has been directly only 17 western states. He said there should be greater educational emphasis on the part of the nation to benefit the national economy and national welfare.

A successful combatting the "falsification argument that the non-reclamation states are paying for exclusively western benefits."

A national committee among the western states that pose a real danger on a program that might have united to get the difference over the limited available supply of water could be settled equitably and amicably without open conflict.

Appah was the luncheon speaker during a day the NRA devoted largely to committee reports.

Western reclamationists were under way to get their house in order to repulse threats to further federal irrigation development in the states. Delegates from the 17 arid and semi-arid states were told by a number of speakers that they should be prepared to meet the problems and with negative action that its resolutions have tended to eliminate any progress on work.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R., Colo., said he would act to protect western water rights by getting congress next year to legislation removing obstacles placed on such rights by supreme court decisions. He expressed the belief that a state could be passed without too great difficulty on a bill to clarify state water rights in regard to water on the ground or under reserved public lands.

Gov. Steve McCall, Colo., said he would support legislation that the importance of reclamation but there is "those who will reach that economy by the present treatment, and that progress lies in stagnation. This philosophy is to be taken into account in the program, when already reclamation is falling behind in the race toward the future."

Crooked Butchers, Traders Take Place of Cattle Rustlers

BOISE, Oct. 29 (UPI)—Back-country butchers and crooked traders are supplanting the cattle rustlers of yesterday, State Brand Inspector Charles McCracken said today.

Rustling in itself is on the wane in Idaho, he said, "about the low as we had in the six years I've been here. I don't imagine we get over two or three cases a month."

"We check all livestock," said the former Caribou county sheriff, "so it makes it a little tougher for rustlers to operate. This setup we have in brand inspection has done more to slowing down losses of livestock than any one thing."

"There are 40 full-time employees who inspect cattle brands," McCracken said, plus an additional six or seven part-time employees.

They scrutinize brands in the sale yards and on the ranges.

"Time was when cattle rustlers would raid the ranges for whole herds of cattle. But not any more. The biggest case investigated by the Idaho brand inspector's office in recent years involved 56 cattle. The cows were stolen from Montana, rebranded and then sold in Idaho. Gem state authorities and inspectors had little chance of catching up with the culprits and the proceeds were turned over to the Montana brand inspector's office. The case, which occurred about two years ago, was his complaint to the ones McCracken's men get today. Now, the thieves prey on one or two cows, butcher them back in the hills and haul the meat to market.

And even there, the law is catching up with them.

The 1957 Idaho legislature, McCracken said, passed a law which requires state meat inspection and inspectors and inspected meat the illegal operator has little chance of selling his illegal gains.

State police and fish and game department officers also are helping to apprehend the rustlers who go after a couple of cows at a time.

During the summer—and particularly during the height of the fishing season—they stop trucks and other vehicles "using back country roads on the week-ends. State police also report suspicious shipments noticed at port of entry stations.

Crooked traders still pose a problem, though, McCracken said. They are the traders who buy cattle with a bim check and sometimes try to "mark the cattle in time to get the money into the bank to cover the check."

"We had a little trouble with this type this summer," McCracken said.

Action!

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 29 (UPI)—Thomas V. McHugh, 37, hit and killed a cow while driving home. Then the real action started. Two bulls charged the car and demolished it.

Highway Patrolman Tom Streetan said one of the angry bulls suffered fatal injuries. McHugh was treated for a scalp cut.

"I had a little trouble with this type this summer," McCracken said.

2 Actions

PORTLAND, Oct. 29 (UPI)—Unlawful killing of game animals is going to bring two court actions against offenders in the future, the state game commission said today.

In addition to the usual criminal prosecution, civil suits to collect damages will be filed. The law has permitted this for some years but the civil suits have not been filed. Commissioners said flagrant violations in recent years had caused them to decide on the new course.

POLITICIANS VISIT SET

BOISE, Oct. 29 (UPI)—About all the prominently mentioned aspirants to the Democratic presidential nomination are expected in Idaho over the next three months, State Chairman John Walters said yesterday. Walters aren't set yet.

SMATTERING EDUCATION
 It's been well remarked that American schools have grown increasingly weak in the teaching of basic subjects, especially of the subject of English grammar and writing. English, one can't help but be credited, therefore, to hear of one school that is getting tough.

Shocking stories are common of college students who reach senior and graduate levels with a pitiful grasp of English grammar and the rules of composition. Fairleigh Dickinson University in New Jersey has acted drastically to correct this sad state of affairs. It recognizes the painful inadequacy in students reaching the end of the school road without mastery of the means of expression.

How are facts and ideas to be understood and conveyed to others unless the art of speaking and writing clearly and properly is conveyed? Fairleigh Dickinson's tough answer: No student whose writing falls below college level standards will be allowed to graduate. Those who do not measure up will have to repeat a freshman English course, receiving composition and they will have to pass it.

If they can't manage that, then they'll have to take a "remedial" writing course and pay $68 for the privilege. They'll need a "C" grade to graduate. One school authority at the university says not one student in four can spell a professor correctly. Obviously, they're all hearing to learn better or they'll all be hearing far more from the professor.

What Fairleigh Dickinson is doing, others might want to copy. It covers not merely the speaking and writing of English, but a command of elementary mathematics, geography, American and general history. There is no excuse, either, for the general student not having at least a working view of the biological and physical sciences.

The Age of the Smattering has lasted far too long. Knowledge is meant to be exact and precise. Until schools and students alike accept that hard fact, we won't even catch up with ourselves, let alone the Russians.

NOTE OF PRIDE
 The other day Leonard Bernstein, musical director of the New York Philharmonic orchestra, charmed the members of Washington Post Press club, as he does just about everybody else.

He only recently returned to this country from a successful tour of the Soviet Union and Middle East. As usual, Bernstein was brimming with ideas, this time with those having to do with the building of a bridge of understanding between peoples. His Washington appearance, like his orchestra's tour, was a hit. This man, who now conducts one of the nation's finest orchestras, is also a brilliant composer and a composer of three Broadway musical smashes in the past 15 years.

On top of all this, on telling the story of music, he has proved himself one of the ablest communicators of ideas in this century. He is a man of high intellect, of taste, of keen wit.

If the time ever comes when this country can't find work for a man like Leonard Bernstein, we'll be on the way downhill.

SALUTE TO SOME OPEN MINDS
 The Socialist party was a major one in post-war West Germany, but it never controlled the government and so never had the opportunity to put its Marxian theories to the test.

Free enterprise was the program of Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats, who controlled the government, and that system enabled the ordinary German workman—usually a Socialist—to almost double his real wages in a decade.

Germany's Socialists watched this system work and watched the slow progress of Europe's socialist nations, and now has issued a new party platform. It eliminates its old plan for government ownership and for attacks on business, and embraces the system that has served the country so well. It takes courage to admit that you've been on the wrong track for years, and to rectify it by a total change of direction. It has shown such courage, and we hope certain American politicians won't be far behind.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Official Washington agencies today see no evidence that Nikita Khrushchev is trying to carry out the "spirit of Camp David" since he refused to let the United States and the Soviet Union communicate as he has the American and Soviet subsequent defiance of the administration as a "re-orientation" according to U.S. State Department monitors.

Reports from our internal security sources indicate that the communists are still conspiring against the United States. The communists are still active in the United States and are still active in the United States. They are still active in the United States and are still active in the United States.

RUSSIAN SPIN ACTIVE—A primary reason for the communists' activities in this country, Stalin gave that piece when FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said that the communists are still active in the United States. He said that the communists are still active in the United States and are still active in the United States.

But only three weeks after the Camp David agreement, the communists are still active in the United States. They are still active in the United States and are still active in the United States.

POT SHOTS

EDUCATED?
 Dear Pot Shots: By spreading the word, you can save farmers in our area quite a bit of trouble for the next two or three weeks. The truth of the matter is that there are awfully few pheasants on farms around Twin Falls. And from what friends elsewhere tell me, there aren't too many pheasants on farms anywhere in the Valley now.

I don't say there aren't lots of pheasants; I only say that most of them are merely potshots. This means they have all moved out into the sagebrush where hunters won't do any damage except to maybe tramp down a few sections of meadow.

Two: Push congress to vote rehabilitation funds to communities hard-hit when a company, in modernizing, abandons its old community. These bills would save need automatic factory in another city or state.

The unions will bring pressure on congress to provide low-cost loans to businessmen who would take over the old factories and start new businesses to keep labor employed and the community thriving.

Three: Push a series of bills in congress aimed at "pump-priming" the economy—keeping spending high and "raising" employment up. These bills would save need automatic factory in another city or state.

Another bill would aim at increased spending by providing minimum federal standard for unemployment compensation. They will be a renewed drive for an increase in the minimum wage required under federal law, and for increased social security benefits for older workers.

This AFL-CIO drive for 1960 is dominated by labor fears over automation. Union men see the automobile industry ready to produce as many cars as in the pre-recession era with several hundred thousand less workers. They see the mining industry operating with a few years back.

They look at new machinery and automation orders now mounting at a rapid pace. They foresee ever-increasing automation and increasing unemployment.

They're not stayed by arguments that machinery—in the long run—creates more jobs than it wipes out. They say their problem is the current short run.

The AFL-CIO men aren't both, either, by the opposition their proposals are sure to stir up.

The union men say that they plan, if defeated, to put the program up again in 1961, and to fight for 10 years, if necessary. "We're not used to getting up early," says one union leader. "We will totally ignore their pleas, and social security. It took a long time, but we got them through."

Investigate the problems created by automation and their impact on the public welfare. Union men are certain this study will lead to the conclusions they favor.

Freight Rates Hike Hearing To Be Nov. 18
 BOISE, Oct. 29 (UPI)—Three dozen freight rates will get their chance to vote their objections at a hearing Nov. 18 at a hearing conducted by the Idaho public utilities commission.

The PUC set the date of hearing objections at the end of a two-day session yesterday at which 13 witnesses appeared on behalf of three applicants.

Asking the hike, the first since 1954, are Idaho, Rocky Mountain and Pacific Inland Motor Tariff bureaus. They contend labor costs and increased equipment overhead make the boost necessary.

About 35 persons and firms have filed protests. Many plan to appear at the hearing here in November.

Eight witnesses appeared yesterday, including Ball Lake City trucker Clifford Browning, who alleged his labor costs had gone up 12 to 20 per cent in five years.

The tariff bureaus are asking for an increase in the minimum charge per shipment from 150 to 200 cents and an increase from 50 cents to 60 cents per 100 pounds on the minimum rate on shipments weighing less than 5,000 pounds besides the general 12 per cent boost.

Costs From Big Steel Strike Starting to Show in Figures

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—The cost of the big steel strike is beginning to show up in the figures. Whether they're earnings or payrolls, the figures are beginning to show up in the figures. Whether they're earnings or payrolls, the figures are beginning to show up in the figures.

Stockholders are being told the net loss in income in the first months of the strike. But these figures have to be read against the background of the year as a whole if they're not to be misleading.

The metalworking companies also are reporting their third quarter and nine month earnings. In most instances these figures are reported for the third quarter of the year as a whole.

Combined, their earnings come to $202,000,000, or an increase of 75 per cent over what the same companies reported for the 1958 period.

Combined, the 15 show a loss for the July-August-September quarter of nearly 40 million dollars. This compares with a net income of 124 million for the same companies in the 1958 third quarter. The second largest steel producer, Bethlehem, isn't included in the list.

But this year's loss must be considered in relation to what went before. In the first six months of the year steel users were ordering a nine-month supply of steel so that they could ride out a three-month strike, which was the longest then expected.

The big earnings that the steel industry piled up in the first half of the year enabled them to turn in a pleasant report for the year to date.

Nine steel companies report their combined nine month earnings are 44 1/2 million dollars, a third higher than the same period last year.

Lower Grain Shipping Rate Gets Backing

SEATTLE, Oct. 29 (AP)—A rail proposal to reduce shipping rates for grain destined for export to north Pacific area ports met with reserved approval from grain producers, shippers, processors and exporters today.

In general, witnesses appearing at a meeting conducted by the Pacific Freight Traffic Bureau backed the proposed rate reduction—if current in-transit services were maintained.

The bureau is an organization of the north Pacific area, embracing Washington, Oregon, Idaho and northern Montana, in rate matters. The railroads proposed reducing shipping rates for export wheat along with elimination of some inland services. The railroads also indicated grain shipped under the proposed rates must be exported within 90 days of rail car loading.

The hearing, presided over by manager William Watson, Freight Traffic Bureau, heard some 50 witnesses representing all sections of the grain industry.

The bureau will use the testimony in drawing up a new rate to be published later.

Nearsighted?

Schoolboys' Firm Is Out Of Business

LOWESTOFT, England, Oct. 29 (AP)—The thriving Middle School Insurance society went out of business yesterday.

Lowestoft grammar school headmaster said the firm of schoolboys insuring themselves against thimbles and staying in after school.

Headmaster William Brooks squashed the enterprise as soon as the profit got into all the British newspapers.

Practiced David Wilkin, 11, who helped to run the three-cent-a-week insurance society, said: "We have now been told that the society was not good for the school. So it is dropped."

David and Geoffrey Small, also 11, charged their schoolmates an initial premium of six pence—about six cents—and three pence a week thereafter for 175 members. They paid out four shillings—56 cents—to boys who got carried away three shillings for those who kept in after school.

Young Wilkin learned the fine points of insurance from his father, a teacher at the school and part-time insurance agent.

Had Boy "I wouldn't have the very bad boys who frequently get punished as members of the society," he said. "They were blacklisted because obviously they would have weakened it."

"On the other hand, good boys who never get into trouble, really would not want to be in it," he said. "They would always be paying in and never get anything out."

But well it was a smashing idea while it lasted.

Vet Rallies

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 29 (UPI)—Walter Williams, 116-year-old lone surviving veteran of the Civil war, was rallying today from a pneumonia attack.

For three days during his most recent illness, the feeble, bedridden soldier was fed with an eyedropper. The tent was removed Monday when the danger of pneumonia was considered past.

Strike, Weather Affect Workers

BOISE, Oct. 29 (AP)—Secondary effects of the steel strike and inclement weather in the north are blamed for an increase in Idaho unemployment.

The employment security agency says total unemployment in insured industry in Idaho amounted to 2,493 last week, compared with 2,268 a week earlier. New claims for benefits gained from 750 to 767.

"Although the secondary effects of the steel strike were not of major importance in the Gem state," the ESEA said, "there was evidence of some unemployment had developed due to it. A gradual upswing in unemployment at this time of year follows a normal seasonal trend."

Official Says U. S. A-Power Leads Soviets

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Chairman John A. McCone, atomic energy commission, just back from the Soviet Union, says that the U. S. program for peaceful use of atomic energy is considerably more advanced than that of the Soviet Union.

McCone said he believes "our position is secure" and said he expects no spectacular Soviet breakthrough that will permit the USSR to overtake this country.

McCone led a party of six U. S. atomic specialists who spent nine days in the Soviet Union looking over present atomic installations. He came back Monday. His optimistic views were in contrast with those of one of his party who returned earlier.

John H. Williams, scientist member of the AEC, said last week that neither country is much ahead—that one may lead in one field and the other in another.

"By comparison," McCone told a news conference, "our civilian program is considerably more advanced than their civilian program at this time."

He spoke of development of nuclear power, controlled thermonuclear fusion and high-energy physics.

Motions Over Suit Judgment Pend in Court

 In a motion for judgment notwithstanding, or a new trial, at the Friday hearing.
 The other motion before Judge Pratt that will be considered Friday is one filed by Kramer and Under Tuesday in district court asking the court to quash a motion by the railroad which was granted by Judge Pratt Tuesday that the money should be held by the court.

The series of legal sessions started after the trial was finished Thursday when the money was awarded by Lloyd Warner from the First Security bank of Idaho at Elkhart. The railroad then contended that the money would be paid by Mrs. Van and further litigation by the railroad would be fruitless, particularly if it was successful in having the judgment reversed.

At that time Judge Ward granted the railroad motion to have the money given to the court to be held until court proceedings were finished and then direct it to the railroad with his motion Tuesday saying that he had obtained the money as a satisfaction of judgment and that it was in his possession and not the possession of Mrs. Van or the law firm.

Mrs. Van was awarded the sum of a jury last week for damages incurred in an accident with the train near the Amalgamated Sugar company plant Sept. 12, 1958.

School Board Aide Resigns

WENDELL, Oct. 22.—The resignation of C. A. Weinberg, trustee of Wendell school district No. 222 board of trustees, was accepted at a special meeting Tuesday evening at the high school building.

Dr. F. F. Hodiger was appointed by the board to fill the vacancy until the next general election, reports B. D. Zollinger, chairman of the board.

The matter of closing school on Veterans day was discussed and it was decided to hold school and present programs appropriate for the occasion at both the high school and grade schools.

Patrol films on the elementary school level and the high school level will be shown, said Supt. Wayne Page. Schools will be dismissed at 2:30 p. m.

Hearing Held On Television Rebroadcasts

 Some might have thought that the hearing for cable television rebroadcasts would be a simple matter to get the permission of a station before furnishing the station's signal to its cable subscribers.

Television broadcasters said they didn't object to the commission's action which in effect charges the rebroadcasting stations for using the signals.

TV spokesmen indicated, however, that there may be some protest to be worked out with the cable TV systems. Some of these, for instance, operate in districts where a broadcasting TV station also exists.

The day's witnesses included spokesmen for television stations in Idaho Falls, Pocatello and Twin Falls, Idaho, and Yakima, Wash. There were spokesmen for cable systems in Pocatello, Soda Springs and Montpelier.

Other witnesses represented community booster antenna systems in Hialeah, Ketchikan, Salmon, Leonard, Falladales, Bancroft, Orofino, Montpelier, Challis, Clayton Jackson, Wyo.

Short Supply Of Idaho Hay Said Serious

 The first cutting this year was skimpy because of drought at the third cutting there was too much rain and some hay rotted in the fields. A fourth cutting also is being anticipated.

Wayne Robinson, economist for the extension service, says hay is selling very slowly. The conclusion, he says, is that farmers are holding what they have either for their own needs or for higher profits later in the feeding season.

In Utah's Cache valley, Robinson says, feeders started importing hay early this year because of their shortages. Much of this comes from central Idaho. Even so, transportation costs of about $7 a ton must be added to the late September prices of $15 to $22 a ton.

"The hay situation is serious," says Robinson, "but the best call the situation may become critical."

Reports indicate 29 per cent more cattle were being fed for beef this month than a year ago. Greatest increases were in beef heifers and steers.

Patners may find themselves in a painful squeeze between high hay prices and an oversupply of cattle, says Robinson, unless the beef herds are moved to market liberally and cannily.

Wendell Trojan Band to Perform At Boise Event

WENDELL, Oct. 22.—The Wendell high school Trojan band under the direction of Frank Webster, music director, will journey to Boise Saturday to participate in Boise Junior college homecoming festivities.

Man Faces Court Of Impersonation

Thomas Rodney Sessions, 46, was arrested at his Twin Falls rooming house about 10:30 p. m. Wednesday by Twin Falls police officers and federal bureau of investigation agents, and was confined in city jail on a charge of impersonating a United States marshal.

The agents said he also was wanted for passing a $50 worthless check in Twin Falls. He was arrested on a federal warrant.

He was scheduled to appear Thursday in Twin Falls police court.

Youth Sentenced On Hunt Violation

Jerry Jones, 17, Buhl, is prohibited from driving a car for 60 days and can ride only with his parents during the period, as punishment for hunting pheasants without a license and shooting from an auto.

Jones appeared Wednesday afternoon before Twin Falls Probate Judge J. Dean Mosher. The court is holding the youth's driver's license for the period and he is prohibited from riding with anyone but his parents, on school business or a job.

Jones was arrested Saturday by Conservation Officer Martin Rhoads. His case was judged under the youth rehabilitation act.

Rate Hike Denied

BOISE, Oct. 20 (UPI)—Idaho's public utilities commission has denied a rate hike sought by Sun-tire Rim Water corporation, Boise, but granted it a temporary and emergency boost.

The PUC also dismissed complaints against the company of sand in the water, poor pressure and water being shut off without notification. Commissioners said the trouble had been reasonably corrected.

AURORA, Ill., Oct. 20 (UPI)—Controversial Mayor Paul Egan has closed the doors to his office and vowed to keep them shut until Gov. William G. Stratton initiates an investigation of what Egan termed the "deplorable situation in Aurora."

Egan said he would be available if needed in his official capacity as mayor but added he would not lift a finger until the Illinois governor comes to his aid.

Egan stated his sldown strike right in his own office, refused to admit callers and wouldn't answer the telephone.

Fires in U.S. Cost 11,500 Lives in '53

BOSTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Nearly two million fires cost the United States some 11,500 lives, 1 1/2 billion dollars in money loss and a new high in the destruction of homes in 1953, the National Fire Protection Association reported today.

The over-all property loss was a little less than that of the year before. The association noted the approximate 1,844,000 fires logged represented a reduction of 21,000 from 1952 and a decline of 11,000 in 1953.

But "with" total losses were checked slightly, the report said, "more American homes went up in smoke than ever before in history."

The record shows fire destroyed or damaged 538,000 dwellings in 1953, causing a loss of about 100 million dollars. These totals which are new highs represent an increase of 23,000 in dwelling fires and nearly 23 million dollars loss to home owners over the previous year.

The main causes of fires in buildings in 1953 were defective heating and cooking equipment, and careless smoking.

His topic will be "How college can be financed." He will point out three major ways a student can finance his higher education and what agencies offer scholarships.

He also will include in his speech how state grants with other states in scholarships various kinds and what parents and teachers can do to help students in their program to obtain a scholarship. A question period will follow his talk. Goodner stresses that information will be of interest to all parents having youngsters in school from the first grade through high school. Points out college planning should be made by parents when their children first start school rather than waiting until the student reaches high school.

"Share Our Surplus" Funds Asked

'Share Our Surplus' Program Benefits Noted by Clergyman

"Dollars which go to 'share our surplus' will cost us less money than in paying storage for surplus," the Rev. Donald Hoffman explains the program to be carried out by 250 youthful church members Saturday night.

"The young people will have a milk carton identified with a 'share our surplus' band for contributions to aid in sending United States surplus foods to people in needy countries."

Since dispersal of surplus commodities will not only save storage costs, but also help stabilize market prices, funds given to the SOG project will be particularly beneficial, points out the Rev. Mr. Hoffman.

Last year 340,623,127 pounds of surplus foods valued at $27,283,905 were sent overseas by the program. More than 200 pounds of food are sent for each dollar contributed and a $10 bill will provide bread for 2,000 needy children. Most of the transportation costs are paid either by the U.S. government or the government where the

Bomb Scare Isn't Bother For Soprano

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 29 (AP)—A bomb scare interrupted a Maria Callas concert for 40 minutes last night but the tempestuous soprano brushed it off as "ridiculous."

Former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman were among the 2,570 persons in Midland theater who stepped on stage after Miss Callas' number and announced, "Ladies and gentlemen, the management has received a call which indicates danger for this audience, so we are asking you to leave this building for a half hour."

The audience calmly walked out, taking 10 minutes to clear the building, while police searched through the downtown theater. Miss Callas remained in her dressing room during the search and joked about the scare. The concert was finished without incident after the audience returned.

Resignations Change U. S. Top Officers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The resignation of Robert D. Murphy as undersecretary of state has almost completed the unexpected shakeup in the state department high command.

Two further developments are in prospect. One resignation must be found to fill Murphy's key job. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, veteran expert on the Soviet Union, next week will assume a new post as Herter's special adviser on Soviet affairs.

No Policy Change Planned The changes involving five policy-making positions could have important impact on the development of U. S. foreign policy toward various parts of the world.

Murphy's resignation was announced by the White House last night. Murphy, 65, wrote President Eisenhower that he was resigning effective Dec. 3 for personal reasons. The President accepted the resignation "with deep regret, but with complete understanding."

More Security Wanted Mr. Murphy told reporters, "It was an awfully tough decision to make." He said he wanted greater financial security and more time with his family than his state department duties had permitted.

The group decided to have the Gooding VFW auxiliary serve the banquet. The next meeting will be Monday at the home of Mrs. Frederickson with Mrs. Robert Frederickson as assistant hostess.

Chamber Eyes Future Plans At Shoshone

SHOSHONE, Oct. 29.—Projects which the Chamber of Commerce here will promote were outlined at a meeting Tuesday noon at the Manhattan cafe, reports Gene Foster, president.

Supt. Ralph Villers reported the "Light on education" meeting is set at 8 p.m. Monday at the high school. All parents are urged to attend as the high school curriculum will be studied. This is a franchise service.

A Halloween carnival will be held-Burley night at the Lincoln school auditorium. The public is invited.

Ozell Cope, Ray E. Oyer and Villers were appointed to a committee to arrange for a football banquet in November to be sponsored by the chamber for members of the high school team and Coach James Wallace.

The chamber voted to pay $30 membership to the North American Highway association. Burton Thorne was appointed to secure a picture of a point of interest in the community for publication in the magazine.

E. L. Gomez and Ralph Smith were asked to conduct a study of Highway routes of the area and to keep the chamber informed.

Smith announced the Boy Scout drive, asking for cooperation from members. He said the chamber council fund year is set at near $45,000 this year. Last year Shoshone exceeded its goal by $1,000.

Action was tabled on a proposal to take a stand opposing installation of self-service, coin-operated gas stations in the community.

Halloween Is Here; Apples Are Plentiful

By The Associated Press
It's Halloween time again and the goblins and witches will find many apples available at stores and roadside food stands.

All types of apples are in plentiful supply, this year. An excellent crop and prices are low.

The other trappings of Halloween—pumpkins, gourds and Indian corn.

Veal, Pork Good Buys
Along more substantial items, best buys appear mainly in veal and pork. Several chains are running week-end specials in leg of veal, pork loin, ham and chops of pork. The low prices reflect large runs of hogs at livestock markets.

On the other hand, a tendency for prices of salmon steak to strengthen is apparent in some sections. More uniformly are gains of two to six cents in egg prices in various all areas.

Other items in which stores are running specials include fish sticks, ground beef, duck, alfalfa, chick roast, steaks and chicken legs.

Lettuce Is Cheap
For the second straight week lettuce is cheap and plentiful as among the best buys in the vegetable section. Potatoes and onions, although plentiful, are priced than last week, are still excellent buys.

Most of the popular vegetables—cabbage, cauliflower, tomatoes, Idaho potatoes, brussels sprouts—are in the good buy list. On the expensive side are apricots and egg plants.

A good buy list in fruits is quite colorful—orange, lemons and limes. Grapefruit, pears and emperor grapes also come cheap.

West Solons To Fight for Water Plans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (UP)—Westerners plan a vigorous fight for a stepped up dam building program when congress meets next year.

It will be led by Sen. James B. Murray and Mike Mansfield, Montana Democrat. Murray is chairman of the senate interior committee, which handles reclamation legislation. Mansfield is assistant Democratic leader of the senate.

Advocates Encouraged
Murray has said in an interview that advocates of continued development of natural resources were encouraged by the strength mustered in congress this year to overturn President Eisenhower's veto of the omnibus public works bill.

Throughout my recent trip in the western states a great many people from all fields of business and professional life expressed an interest in the firm stand taken by congress.

On ahead said Mansfield, "This congressional action on the veto is correctly interpreted as a commitment to proceed in the future and to meet the challenge of growing population and increased production requirements."

The water resources program now is proceeding at a rate that is hardly one-third as much as the department of commerce has shown to be needed for population and economic growth.

Need Brought Out
Murray said recent hearings conducted in the West by a select senate water resources committee "brought out the need for a vigorous program of new projects and to gear us up to current and future requirements."

Mansfield said in a separate interview he was "sure the congress next year will pay more attention to the needs of our own people in the field of natural resources and give priority to its own development."

"It will be well to keep in mind," he said, "that nobody will look after us in this field except ourselves."

Introduction

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (UP)—Amid the controversy over a rigged television quiz show and the use of canned applause and other deceptive practices, the following letter appeared in yesterday's New York Post:

"With the new policy of revealing the behind-the-scenes techniques of preparing TV quiz shows, may we expect the following introduction:

"Ladies and gentlemen, we present the President of the United States, who will read a speech prepared by a group of staff writers. This program is completely unshared and the President has not seen the manuscript he will read prior to this broadcast."

The letter was signed, "G. B. Shaw."

Rockefeller, Ike Discuss CD, Politics

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, New York, discussed politics with President Eisenhower during a 10-minute White House meeting yesterday.

Rockefeller came to Washington to see Eisenhower about a civil defense program requested by the governors committee on civil defense.

Simultaneously questioned by newsmen, he conceded that he had discussed politics with the President. But he said he would not comment on anything except civil defense.

Rockefeller, regarded as the only prospective rival to Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination, was asked why he had included some political meetings on a scheduled trip for a West coast stay last month. He replied that he was the governor of a large state with a strong Republican party which was much interested in the vitality of the GOP.

Asked if he believed the party would have greater vitality with him leading the 1960 ticket, he laughingly remarked that was "a leading question."

Rockefeller reiterated that he is not now a presidential candidate. He said he had told New Hampshire backers who wanted to enter him in that state's presidential primary next March that he could not give them an answer now because of the work schedule he is facing as governor.

Asked if he believed the party would have greater vitality with him leading the 1960 ticket, he laughingly remarked that was "a leading question."

Rockefeller reiterated that he is not now a presidential candidate. He said he had told New Hampshire backers who wanted to enter him in that state's presidential primary next March that he could not give them an answer now because of the work schedule he is facing as governor.

Senate Unit Eyes Needs for Aged

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22 (UPI)—A senate subcommittee was today told that the United States has 14 million persons over the age of 65—and they need more housing, more recreational facilities, more employment opportunities, more medical care and more money.

A parade of expert witnesses appeared at the opening session of a two-day hearing of the U. S. senate subcommittee on problems of the aged. The group is headed by Sen. Tom McNamara, D. Mich.

McNamara, who turned 63 three weeks ago, said he felt there were two basic problems to face.

"The essential need is to make our senior citizens feel they are a part of society," he said, "and secondly we must insure them adequate medical care."

Iceland Red Labor Party Gains Votes

REYKJAVIK, Oct. 22 (UPI)—Final results in Sunday's Icelandic general elections showed an unexpected comeback for the communist-led Labor alliance which was badly defeated in last June's election.

The communist-led party made such a strong showing that it is almost certain to be offered votes in any new government, it could effectively sabotage any government efforts to stabilize the economy without its inclusion.

The Labor alliance won 10 seats in the new 60-member parliament with 18,211 votes or 16 per cent of the vote. In the June election the party won seven seats with 12,225 votes, or 15.2 per cent of the vote.

The ruling Independence party won 24 seats, winning 40.1 per cent of the total vote with 37,759 ballots. The party had won 42.5 per cent of the vote in June.

The Progressive party got 17 seats in the new parliament with 25.1 per cent of the vote—21,284.

The Social Democrats polled 15.2 per cent of the vote, winning nine seats with a vote of 12,810.

Unless Winds Change, Cold Winter Seen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (UPI)—Weather forecasters have got their directions mixed up, and if some of them are right, the winter season could be in for a rough, tough, stormy winter.

Dr. Jerome Mansueti, chief of the weather bureau's extended forecast section, refused to predict whether there will be a winter of unusually high and low or a winter of average winter conditions.

But he did offer this possibly reassuring bit of weather lore gleaned from past experience: "Weather patterns often change between October and November. In 1958, changes in weather patterns occurred more often in that period than on any other, so it doesn't pay to predict what the winter will be until you see what the November pattern is."

As things stand, any change probably would be for the better. The northern half of the country from the Rockies eastward was too hot for comfort during the summer. It also was too hot in California and the southern plateau states. It was comparatively cool only in the Far Pacific Northwest and the southern plateau states such as Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Cold Pushed South

Then the current pattern began to change in the latter part of the month. The westerlies, great rivers of air which normally flow mainly west to east, developed a north-south tendency. Successive shafts of cold polar air began invading the western and southern parts of the continent.

When the high westerlies returned up this way, north-south winds which were common only in the old, cause "stronger injection of polar air southward and strengthening of tropical air northward."

A situation like that, with strong winds and a lot of rain or snow storms, and if nothing happens to correct it, we're going to have a very active winter with a lot of storms and vigorous weather changes, he added.

Industry Use Of Wheat Is Under Study

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Oct. 29—Research has opened the door to possible manifold industrial uses of wheat, particularly in the field of building materials and the paper and textile industries, a scientist said here yesterday.

Dr. F. R. Gentl, director of the U.S. department of agriculture laboratory, Pocatello, III., told a tri-state wheat utilization conference the big drawback facing wheat is the matter of cost.

He said wheat does not hold a favorable cost position among industrial raw materials as research must be devoted to utilizing the "unique characteristics possessed by its components."

The two-day conference ended yesterday. It was sponsored by experiment stations of Washington, State University, Oregon State college and the University of Idaho, in cooperation with wheat committees and grower organizations of the three states.

Dr. Gentl said formed plastic derivatives from wheat are being investigated for such building materials as insulating boards, his said dihydroxy starch, a new chemical developed from wheat at the Peoria laboratory, also may have a wide range of industrial applications including its use as a tanning agent.

New milling processes are being developed, the director said, to produce new fractions of wheat for industrial utilization. One example is chemically modified wheat flour which may find wide usage as a thickener adhesive and coating material in the paper and textile industries.

Steel Strike Delays U. S. Space Plans

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Oct. 29 (AP)—Space Chief T. Keith Glennan claims that the steel strike is delaying a crucial space program—the launching of a rocket capable of putting up a Sputnik-size satellite.

He told the American Bankers association, in a prepared speech, that "this program, unfortunately, is now being set back by the shortage resulting from the steel strike."

Glennan, administrator of the national aeronautics and space administration, gave no indication as to the extent of the delay.

The three-stage Vega was designed to be launched in an orbit 300 miles above the Earth, or 1,000 points into a deep space trajectory to the moon and beyond.

It was scheduled to be ready for flight early in 1961.

"As the situation stands now, it is reasonably certain that in early 1961 the Vega will be the first of our space vehicle systems capable of matching the performance demanded by the Russians during a year ago," Glennan said.

He has no doubts that the Russians will be improving their systems during this same period," he added.

McLemore Defends Britain's Simple Boiled in Water Food

By HENRY McLEMORE

LONDON — Is English food as bad as its reputation?

Put this question to visitors to England and a great many will answer, "No, it isn't—its worse."

I have little or no patience with such an indictment of what comes out of English kitchens, especially when it is made by citizens of countries whose cooking makes the average taste bud roll its eyes in disgust. Greece and Australia, to mention two.

To me—any I have been coming to England of for more than 25 years—the cooking here is not so much bad as it is indifferent.

Simplicity is the weakness of the English cooks. Not just simple simplicity, but stark simplicity. They do not like to tamper with nature's handiwork.

They feel that if nature had meant fish or meat to have different flavors than the ones they do, she would have put in the proper seasonings herself.

"Who are we?" English cooks ask themselves, "to take it upon ourselves to jig tricks with the beautiful gifts of an all-wise mother nature?"

So, in England, most foods taste exactly as they did when the druids prepared them. Naturally, this comes as a shock to any, a Frenchman, who met every three-alarm fire, or a Frenchman who anoints his food with sauces, or to Americans, many of whom consider ketchup as the ultimate in taste.

The only seasoning English cooks like to use is water. To them water, plain old water, has all the properties of a much earlier-age than leaf, marjoram, oregano, thyme, basil and celery seed.

Given plain water, and nothing else is needed.

This makes English recipes the easiest of all to cook either here or in their own countries.

Once a child is old enough to read "place water, bring to a boil and continue boiling for six hours," he or she is ready to take over the cooking of either the family kitchen or a restaurant.

If it is not at all unusual to look in the window of an English home and see a 7-year-old, all spooned up, preparing the evening meal of boiled beef, potatoes, carrots and boiled pudding. The English have not yet mastered the art of boiling beef, but rumor has it that a break-through is near.

Englishmen are proud of their cooking. They are either here in the world, and are very unhappy when away from it. There were quite a few English people in the hotel in Italy where we stayed this summer, and they showed a great deal about the food.

The spaghetti wasn't boiled long enough, and the sauce spoiled its true flavor. There was no sauce pudding on the menu. The broccoli and Brussels sprouts were ruined with cheese sauce. The cabbage was profaned by the presence of peppercorns.

Nothing was just boiled and left alone.

Storage for Big Wagons Is Discussed

HALEY, Oct. 29—Agnes Barry, vice chairman of the Wood River Historical society, told members Monday night it was the wish of her late sister, Mrs. Katherine Lewis, that the huge ore wagons used in freighting over trail creek summit in the early days, should remain here.

Miss Barry, to whom Mrs. Lewis willed the wagons, pointed out suitable housing should be assured to keep the vehicles in good condition for future generations.

She stated that several out-of-state organizations have requested her to sell them with the assurance they would be preserved.

Robert Glenn, a director, reported on committee efforts to find suitable housing for historical items.

A letter from the Kelchum-Bun Valley library directors was read advising the Historical society that future meetings may be held in the library at Kelchum.

Joseph W. Puid spoke concerning early day persons and events in the Wood river area.

A color film on the natural resources of Idaho, sent for the occasion by the Idaho Historical society, was shown by Ray Jefferson.

Report Given By Librarian On Additions

A small but interesting group of new titles of adult fiction and non-fiction has been added to the collection of Twin Falls public library, says Arthur L. Devolter, librarian.

Among the fiction are a historical novel of Napoleon's cavalry entitled "The Proud Captives" by David Johnson; science fiction, "The Space Showdown," an anthology edited by Mary Krombholz, and three mysteries by Arthur J. Sanders by Paul Anderson; "The Deadly Sea," by Jack Webb, and "Violence," by Wood.

Leading non-fiction titles "The Age Next in Line," by Corolla O'Neil, "The Next in Line," by Dr. C. C. Jarvis, which is a doctor's benign life and eye view to young and old; a good story of D-Day in Normandy entitled "In-terview '44," by John Fraw Turner, and "How to Hunt Deer and Small Game," by Luther A. Anderson.

Of the historical story is a modern portrait of the heroic maid of Orleans, "St. Joan of Arc," by Victor Borge, and "Subway to the Hiding of Roman Catholicism," by Frederick Polking, is a picture of the minister's view of Catholic theology.

Farmers, botanists and others interested in plants might like "Weeds of the Pacific Northwest," by Victor M. Gilkey, and "Plants that Changed the World," by Bertha B. Dodge.

Biologically speaking, there are two good titles in "Oh Sir, You've Shot Her," by Benjamin May, a story of a Coopersburg family with an introduction by Victor Borge, and "Subway to the Hiding of Roman Catholicism," by Frederick Polking, is a picture of the minister's view of Catholic theology.

In the young adult department fiction is the appealing age today with a selection of books with varied plots. Nursing and mystery are inherent in "Mysterious Discoveries," by William C. Deming. Aviation steals the scene in "Crash Landing," by Don Stan-

Science fiction takes the limelight in "The Best Master," by Andre Norton, with a good robot that forms the plot in "Palcos to the Planet," by Joe Archibald. A thrilling science fiction completes the selection with "Dag Strip," by William Campbell Gault.

Later Opening Is Planned by Office

The farm section of the employment security agency will start opening at 8 a.m. rather than 9 a.m. on Monday, reports Ronald Cutler, manager.

The earlier hour is maintained during the summer season and through the major part of the harvest work.

Most new claims for unemployment insurance were filed at the Twin Falls office last week for a total of 49. In Burley, only one new claim was filed, making a total of 17. Three new claims were filed at the Rupert office, bringing the total to 11, and in Jerome, 15 new claims were filed, for a total of 40. Closing a total of 2, with six of them filed during the past week.

In the state, 787 initial claims were filed, bringing the state aggregate to 3,535. Average weekly benefit was $33.

Permits to Build Are Sought Here

Wesley Boutas has applied for a building permit to construct a single family dwelling at 1549 Ninth avenue east. Cost is set at $100,000.

Mrs. Eldon Schultz plans a $5,000 single family home at 750 Juniper street in the Miramonte section. A $12,000 home with attached carport is planned at 32 Canyon Villa by General Components, Inc.

Advances Claimed

Dr. Robert E. Smylie said he is making "dramatic advances" in public and mental health programs.

In his weekly column prepared for newspapers and radio stations, the governor said Idaho's "approach to solving the health problems of her citizens is really quite unique." That is because, he said, public health, community or local mental health services and the state mental hospitals all are under a single state board of health.

Hazelton Guests

HAZELTON, Oct. 29—Mr. and Mrs. (Kathleen) Peters, Volcan, Calif., and Phillip Ruckl, both, have left after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Johnson.

Soda Pop Diet Is Poor One

Teen-Age Girls' Diet Habits Said Poor; Babies Affected

WASHINGTON (AP)—A girl's responsibility to develop in her own body is not only a steady but a risky diet. Doctors warn that teenagers who have the worst dietary habits of any group in the U. S. Physicians are alarmed because this poor diet affects pregnancy and more adolescent marriages are occurring.

Dr. Phillip L. White, secretary of the American Medical Association, said that the demands of pregnancy on a woman must be adequately prepared with a long experience of good nutrition. You get your vitamins and minerals from your diet, he said.

Dr. White explains, "The reason for this is that the unborn child, her own vitamin and mineral requirements are greater than usual due to physical changes caused by pregnancy."

More Doctors Needed

The U. S. may be heading for a serious shortage of doctors unless medical schools expand their graduating classes within the next 15 years, the public health service warns. The PHB estimates there will only be about 125 doctors per 100,000 persons in the year 1965, as against an average of 121-125 for the past 20 years. Ratio of dentists may decline even more sharply. Nursing, however, has increased five times since 1940. The ratio, 26 in 1940, is expected to climb to 281 in 1965.
