WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 7 (AP)—An air force satellite was put into polar orbit today. Early tonight the air force announced that the satellite, a V-1 satellite, had been placed in orbit at 3:25 p.m. (EST) at an altitude of 100 miles.

The satellite, from which the air force hopes to recover a capsule in the near future, was launched from the launching station in Alaska at 3:25 p.m. (EST) at its first circuit of the earth.

For completion of one orbit it will take 100 minutes.

The 75-foot projectile's secret is in its capsule design. It is ejected from the orbiting stage on its 15th orbit around the earth's poles—twice.

For the sixth time, air force men will watch the satellite as it parachutes to earth from the sky near Hawaii.

The 200-pound instrument capsule contains no animal life, but a duplicate of it is expected to carry insects into orbit later in the winter series.

The air force says it believes it can recover the capsule in November 7 and 8.

Supreme Court Upholds Taft-Hartley Injunction; Steelworkers Start Back

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—By a vote of eight to one, the supreme court today upheld the back-to-work injunction in the 116-day steel strike. As a result, the 500,000 steelworkers who quit work on July 15 must return to the mills for 80 days under emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley act. "The supreme court has spoken," said David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers union. "As law-abiding citizens, the Steelworkers union, of course, will comply with the court's ruling."

McDonald dispatched telegrams instructing the strikers to return to work immediately. At the end of the 80-day cooling-off period in late January, the union may call another strike. But before the union can do so, it must be approved by the major steel companies, will vote by secret ballot in other cases except those of management's latest offer.

Hay Shortage Data Is Said Misconstrued

State Commissioner of Agriculture Stanley Trenthale said Saturday that the data reported in the United Press story indicating there is a hay shortage in Idaho this year were not based on his office.

The commissioner said the figures were shown him by an Associated Press reporter and he was asked to comment upon them. His comments, he stated, pertained to the hay situation in the particular area. He said he was not "backing down" on his comments but he would like the ranchers and farmers in Magic Valley to understand the commission's position.

Trenthale commented again that the statewide hay picture is not as bleak as the United Press report. In fact, the valley has been shipping hay to Montana since the picture of the hay situation and not the situation in any particular area.

Although the court's order is effective immediately, there was no prospect of an early outpouring of steel. And it may be two weeks or so before new contracts are negotiated. The steel workers agreed $3.11 hourly under the old contract. They are now being paid $3.11 during the 80 days of the injunction, unless a new contract is negotiated during the period.

Both management and union will be busy for some time now involved in reopening the long-negotiated contract.

Kennedy Says Crop Surplus Asset For U.S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (UPI)—The Eisenhower administration has a bumper crop surplus means a much crop land and too much food, but this is both a liability and an asset, Sen. John Kennedy said today.

Mr. Kennedy said in a speech before the Senate that the surplus of food is a liability because it is a drain on the world's capacity to produce food.

But a surplus of food is an asset because it is a source of income for the farmer and a source of food for the people.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (UPI)—The real estate syndicate is growing in popularity as an investment opportunity for people of average or better income.

One confined to "big operators" who could afford to put up $10,000 at a clip, some syndicates are now being organized to attract people with as little as $500 to invest.

Originally concentrated in the New York city area, real estate syndicates are popping up now and more in other parts of the country.

Basically, a syndicate is a combination of people who individually lack sufficient funds for a real estate purchase or loan but who collectively can finance a venture.

Real estate syndicates are organized by an investor, sometimes by a real estate investment company.

Such a company acquires potential loan or purchase ventures, locates investors and has experts handle the technical problems of forming the syndicate.

Protests Are Made Against

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (UPI)—A hearing has ended on protests against a bonus of land management reduction in the eastern Oregon.

The hearing ended here last night after four days of testimony.

The appeal of the proposed reduction was made by 18 eastern Oregon settlers.

Earl Davis, manager of the BLM office here, had proposed that the number of cattle authorized to graze on the Slayey creek range be reduced to 80, from 150.

In all, 25 persons testified at the hearing, and most of them were critical of the proposed range cut.

After the transcript of the hearing is available, stockmen will have 30 days to file recommendations, said hearing examiner Don D. Dally, Salt Lake City.

Promotion Listed

Promotion of Kenneth D. Burt, 2nd lieutenant, 2nd Infantry, to first sergeant, E-8, was announced by the U.S. Army reserve unit at Fort Benning, Ga.

Mr. Burt is one of the new sergeants established by the army to compensate the individuals holding key positions in troop preparation units.

Burt is married and has one child. He has been first sergeant of the Combat Support company, 2nd Battle Group, 2nd Infantry, in Twin Falls, for nine years.

He was in the Jerome Coopera-cremery.

Tough Winter Is Seen; Snows Or Cold Due

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (UPI)—The snow has spoken, and so have the weather men. It is predicted that a "cold, tough" winter will be a lot of snow. "The degree of the winter," says the weather bureau, "will depend on the amount of snow that falls. It is predicted that at least 150 feet of snow will fall in the Great Lakes region. They've got some kind of a prediction."

Cold-Cold Predicted
Kyrilas, a restaurant-owner and father-in-law at Walker, Ill., says he predicted a "cold, tough" winter last year. "It was a cold, cold, cold winter," he added. "I predicted a 'cold, cold' winter last year—and it was. The degree of the winter," Kyrilas said, "will depend on the amount of snow that falls. It is predicted that at least 150 feet of snow will fall in the Great Lakes region. They've got some kind of a prediction."

30 Snowfalls Forecast
The third generation weather forecaster at Brookfield, Wis., saw a "cold" winter when he predicted his dog through fresh snow Oct. 26. He predicted 30 snowfalls before winter sets in. The prediction is based on the forecast of an old Indian formula handed down by his grandfather. "I predict a cat in fresh snow," he said, "and the dog will be fresh. It is predicted that at least 150 feet of snow will fall in the Great Lakes region. They've got some kind of a prediction."

Trade Worm Turus; Bars Are Lowered
NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (UPI)—The world trade worm-American style is beginning to turn. "The trade worm," says the weather bureau, "will depend on the amount of snow that falls. It is predicted that at least 150 feet of snow will fall in the Great Lakes region. They've got some kind of a prediction."

New Sun Valley Hospital Plans Open House

Dr. John Morris, left, and staff will greet guests next Sunday when Sun Valley's new $300,000 hospital will hold an open house. All interested visitors may tour the new installation during the hours from 1 to 4 p.m. Members of the staff shown above are Mrs. Ida Brodhurst, administrator; Mrs. Jewel Goltlandia, head nurse, and Dr. George Saviers, right. Two other staff members shown below are Dr. A. Scott Earle and Dr. James Ball. (Sun Valley photo—staff engraving)

New $300,000 Sun Valley Hospital Is Finished; Open House Scheduled Soon

SUN VALLEY—Sun Valley's new $300,000 hospital will hold an open house on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 15, from 1 to 4 p.m. to give residents of Blaine county and the vicinity a special opportunity to preview the new institution designed to serve their needs.

Dr. John Morris and his staff have already moved their patients into the new building and except for a few minor details it is complete in every way.

The 18-bed hospital, directly across from the Challenger Inn, has the latest equipment for medical and surgical care. One example is the oxygen that has been piped like water to each bed. This installation by the National Cylinder Gas company makes oxygen immediately available in case of emergency, eliminating the need for nurses to move the heavy and bulky cylinders of oxygen into patients' rooms.

Although, according to architect Nat Adams, Boise, frills have been eliminated to allow the greatest possible amount of funds to be spent for scientific apparatus, much thought has been given to the comfort of patients. Unusually wide corridors and the use of acoustical tile gives an air of quiet restfulness.

Rooms are equipped with beds raised and lowered by electricity and comfortable bedside chairs are provided. Many of these rooms have been planned and furnished by Sun Valley residents and donated as memorials.

The Challenger Inn kitchen will serve patients the same meals that are served to Sun Valley guests.

The outside of the building has overhanging eaves and heavy, paneled columns, practical in snow country and in keeping with the Tyrolean architecture of Sun Valley. Doors are decorated with colorful designs by Ketchum artist, Florian Hammerer to take away any individual appearance.

Joining the well-known physicians, Dr. John Morris and Dr. George Saviers, to the staff are Dr. A. Scott Earle and anesthesiologist Dr. James Ball.

Dr. Earle is a graduate of Harvard college and Harvard medical school. He took his internship and residency in surgery at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital, Boston, Mass. He was associated with the Harvard medical school as a teaching and research fellow and in 1926 he was qualified as a diplomate of the American board of surgery.

Dr. Ball is a graduate of Washington medical college and held a fellowship in anesthesiology at Dartmouth medical school for two years. He is a Fellow of the American college of anesthesiology.

Mrs. Ida Brodhurst will serve as hospital administrator and Mrs. Jewel Goltlandia as head nurse. Both of these well-known nurses are local residents who have been associated with the former hospital.

Larry Wright, of Wright Brothers, General Contractors, Rupert, was the builder.

Funds were raised by a village fund drive. The emcee is the gift of all birds next to the ostrich.

Cottage Leases To Lay on Desk

BOISE, Nov. 7 (UPI)—Thirty-five cottage-lease leases were on Gov. Robert Smyth's desk today and there was indication they would stay there at least until the Idaho land board meets.

After being sent to Land Commissioner John W. Little and promptly returned, the governor indicated yesterday he wouldn't do anything about them until the board's action in approving them.

The chief executive said after the motion on minimum charges is acted on, he would sign the leases although he disagrees with the board's action in approving them.

The governor voted against approving the leases at his last cabinet meeting last Tuesday, saying he thought there was some improper dealing in handling them.

The leases are for four months ending Oct. 31. The collector P. O. Nell announced yesterday.

Increases were reported in income tax and cigarette taxes, plus several other small items. The total increase for income tax was $684,804.1 to a total of $2,345,299.2. Cigarette revenue went up $270,894.24 to $1,150,719.05 for the period.

Price Tag on Steel Strike Is High; It Hits Much of U.S.

Cheryl Vitale was awarded second place. Certificates of honor and mention were presented to Carl Dutter, Jacqueline Picard, JoAnn Davidson, Maxine Robinson, Donald Jones and John Tomlinson.

Mrs. Glenn Wright, instructor of the class, made the awards. The judging committee consisted of Mrs. Jay Pavia, home economics instructor; Mrs. William Calligan, English instructor; and Jean Miller, guidance director.

The contest was a culmination of class activities carried on by art instructor, Fred Picard, who served as volunteer art lecturer during the recent absence of Mrs. Wright.

The whole idea was started by Mrs. Grant Hawkins, president of the Hailey PTA, asked me to serve as chairman of the "Lights On for Education" committee," Picard declared.

During the year further contests will be staged in table decoration, home decorating, personal grooming and window display. The contests will serve as a stimulant to...

Auto Makers Don't Plan to Up Activities

DETROIT, Nov. 7 (AP)—The auto industry says it plans no immediate production increase or recall of its 250,000 idle workers, despite a supreme court decision today which will send striking steelworkers back to their jobs.

Ford Chrysler and General Motors said they would await developments.

67,105 Cars Made

The industry, crippled by a shortage of steel, suffered its worst production setback this week since the start of the 1960 model run. The industry produced 67,105 passenger cars this week compared to 123,430 units last week, and 125,279 units in the corresponding week last year.

GM, hardest hit of the big three in the 116-day steel strike, has 200,000 of its 300,000 hourly rated work force idle and only three assembly lines operating.

A spokesman for the corporation's Chevrolet division said production will be resumed there as soon as sufficient steel has been delivered to its manufacturing plants.

Hay Shortage Data Is Said Misconstrued

Statistics show that in past years, there has not been such a cropover of hay as there has been in the past few years.

The commission said that although the Magic Valley area was above average for the state in hay production, there is less hay in the valley than in past years.

In the Magic Valley, with the prospect of a severe left in hay last spring and the wet September, the amount of hay is significantly less than a year ago," he declared.

Commissioner Trembaithe concluded that the Magic Valley situation was not serious enough to become alarmed, he said the statewide picture is a matter of distribution.

He concluded that he "can't see where anybody should be getting milk or meat this late in the season for hay."

Stripes Planned

Writer Asks Why GOP Blast About Hospital Appointments

Editor, Times-News: Why the GOP blast, as high headlined in Sunday Times-News, Nov. 7?

First, it was a nice start for the month, however when one considers that one of the five GOP leaders who sponsored the article is a veterinarian who treats various types of animals, none of which are treated by the Twin Falls county hospital, as we understand it, causes one to wonder if those bright boys of the GOP squad knew what they are talking about?

Do they realize that some five years ago the then administrator or manager of the hospital was arrested, tried and sentenced to the penitentiary for his misdeeds, which happened under the then board of control of the Twin Falls county hospital, and that a great many of the Twin Falls taxpayers insisted and desired that the hospital board be discharged by the county commissioners who at that time were members of the GOP, but could get no action?

Later these taxpayers and voters assailed in relieving the

Group's Officers Give Thanks for Successful Year

Editor, Times-News: The retiring officers of the Maggie Valley Memorial Hospital would like to thank the many people of the valley who have helped make our past year so successful.

We are so appreciative to the Times-News for their cooperation, coverage and publicity of our various projects and functions. Also to KLLX for the "public service" spots.

Our president is invited to all in on the hospital board meetings, since all of our projects and volunteer work done at the hospital are first approved by the hospital board and administration. We say "thanks" to you, too.

Through this association, we feel that the hospital board of the past year has been an outstanding group, and feel fortunate indeed to have such a fine and able administrator as Mrs. Irene Olfert. We are proud to be a part of it.

Senator Says Idahoans Eye Inflation Cost

 Sen. Last week he pointed out that $500,000 was allotted to the re-education program and $500,000 more was to be used for such "inflation" costs.
 This year an allotment of $175,000 was made for the program. Senator said he has been advised by the Bureau of Land Management that a re-education program this year will cost about $200,000.
 "This constitutes about one-third of the original program and will have a serious effect on the side of the pest control program which is beneficial to the state," he said. He pointed out that much of the work is federally owned and which makes an ideal situation.
 Senator, who is a member of the national outdoor recreation re-education commission, said he will be at a field hearing for Idaho in the near future.
 He pointed out that the commission consists of nine members appointed by the president, plus senators and eight representatives will be in the near future. He said a field hearing in Idaho would be "important" because of the unlimited possibilities available for recreation facilities.
 "The senator said he is looking forward to a strenuous and interesting session of congress when he returns to his home in January. He said they probably will get through much earlier this year than anticipated."

U.S. Has Sold Big Chunk of Stock in Gold

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (UPI)—A stack of gold bars 10 miles high is no dream.
 It could be made from the more than 300,000 gold bars the United States has been forced to sell other countries in the last 10 years.
 Each bar is seven inches long, 1 1/2 inches thick and worth $14,000.
 Other countries have bought $5,127,000,000 of them since 1949 with a surplus of dollars. They got the surplus by shipping and jettisoning fewer dollars than they got from U.S. imports, foreign aid and overseas investments.
 More Dollars Leave
 From the U.S. point of view, we have been sending more dollars out of the country than have been coming back. Some of them have been used to buy our gold.
 The treasury now has about $10,500,000,000 of gold compared with a post-war high of $24,000,000,000 in 1949.
 The treasury's dwindling gold stock is something like the average man's bank account. It is safe to dip it for temporary needs. But to depend on it continuously is to court bankruptcy.
 The United States is nowhere near bankruptcy. Officials do not

REA Unit Picks Site and Officers

LEWISTON, Nov. 7 (UPI)—Election of state officers and adoption of 34 resolutions concluded the western regional convention of the Rural Electric Cooperative association here yesterday.
 Some 30 delegates also named Silt Lake City as the 1960 meeting site and selected Sacramento to the place for the 1961 convention.
 Named as state directors were: L. F. Joy, Fallbank, for Alaska;

Carl B. Duerig, Fort Bidwell, Calif.; John George, Lewiston; George Lockman, Billings, Mont.; John Neill, Astoria, Ore.; Reed Burr, Richfield, Utah; and Robert B. Smith, Spokane, Wash.
 Among the resolutions approved was one opposing administration efforts to get REA loan rates raised and one supporting a five-year moratorium on dam construction in the Middle Snake river.
 Rhode Island was named by the 16th century explorer Giovanni Verrazano because it reminded him of the island of Rhodes in the Mediterranean.

Murtaugh Methodists Remodel Church

Dedication services for this remodelled Methodist church at Murtaugh were slated for today but were postponed because of the illness of Bishop A. Raymond Grant, of the Portland area. A potluck dinner will be held as scheduled after the 11 a.m. worship service. The congregation purchased the building from the US church and had constructed a new chapel. Groundbreaking for the new foundation was held in October, 1936. First services were held last Easter. (Staff photo-engraving)

Date of Gem PTA Meeting Is Reported

BURLEY, Nov. 7.—Cassia county superintendent schools E. J. Moore, announced the 1938 state PTA convention would be held in Burley Oct. 26-27 at the Hotel High School PTA Thursday evening.

He stated that approximately 700 PTA officers are expected to attend this convention.

Mrs. Johnny Hurrell, of the projects committee, announced the annual PTA carnival will be Nov. 20. The program opens with an evening singing led by Mrs. Ota Williams, who introduced an original song pertaining to the current election. Mrs. Wayne May gave the invocation.

The program consisted of a panel composed of Superintendent Moore, Glenn Anderson of the citizens school building advisory committee, and E. R. Blauer of the school board, who discussed the school board election Nov. 26.

Moore explained figures to show how greatly the enrollment had increased in the school district since 1924.

"Our schools are loaded and overcrowded," he said.

The Oakley school has shown a decrease in enrollment. The new elementary school in Cassia county is the Springdale building and it was erected between 1926 and 1928. The Bonanza school was built in 1920, making it 38 years old. Moore pointed out that at the life expectancy of a building is 40 years.

Moore stated, "This bond has to pass for the new school. If added that higher enrollment was expected next year and there was just no more place to put more desks."

"If more space isn't made available," he said, "We might have to have two sessions of school a day, with the first session starting earlier in the morning and later in the evenings."

Moore stated that two of the present school bonds would be retired within the next 13 months and this would fill part of the gap for the new bond. He stated that the taxpayer who is now paying a school tax would save $3 if this million dollar bond issue passed.

Glenn Anderson told about the visit made by this committee to all of the Cassia county schools and presented a complete picture with facts and figures, the conditions found.

He stated the need of repair to the present buildings. The committee has recommended additional money be added to the present bond and that a new 18-room elementary school be built. The projected figures for these proposed buildings, additions, and repairs are in the neighborhood of a million dollars, he added.

The proposed new Burley elementary school would be located on the school property from Overland avenue between 10th and 22nd streets, he added.

A report from the state convention compiled by Mrs. Don Chisholm was read by Mrs. Paul Zimmler. Her remarks were read at the close of the meeting with Mrs. Glen Bailey as chairman.

Report of Grand Lodge Is Given

WENDELL, Nov. 7.—John D. Quiry, past noble grand of IOOF lodge No. 131 and grand lodge delegate, gave the report of the state sessions at the Thursday evening meeting of the lodge.

Nominations for lodge officers were closed and the election will be held at the Nov. 19 meeting.

Final plans were made for the special meeting to be held jointly with the Idaho Rebekah lodge No. 16, Nov. 14. The meeting will be held at a potluck dinner, followed by the ceremony of burning the building mortgage.

Ray Lancaster, Nelson King and Arnold Ruyton are the candidates for the Rebekah committee to arrange the program for the evening. Assembly and Rebekah lodge officers are expected to be in attendance for the ceremonies at dinner.

M. A. McClelland and J. D. Quiry served an oyster new luncheon.

Issues Noted By Leader of Gop Women

GOODING, Nov. 7.—Three main concerns of the voting public are government economy, labor racketeering and international affairs, Mrs. Peter Gibson, president of the National Federation of Republican Women, told a luncheon meeting here Friday.

She was guest speaker at the event held at the IOOF hall, sponsored by the Gooding county Republican Women's club.

GOP candidates are often in conflict with candidates having larger labor funds to draw on for expenses which Republicans "cannot hope to match," she declared.

Women workers must offer dedicated service. Party members are working for "a better world in which their children may grow up," Mrs. William Detweiler, Hazelton, national committee woman from Idaho, introduced the national president.

Mrs. H. E. Revington, Boise, president of the state Republican Women's club, was also a guest.

Invocation was given by Mrs. Lauren McCreynolds, Gooding. Luncheon was served by members of the "Magnificent Tenth" lodge No. 88, with approximately 100 persons attending.

Concert Set for Chorus at Buhl

BUIH, Nov. 7.—The Buhl high school chorus conducted by Dale Shultz, head of the high school music department, will present a concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the high school auditorium.

Featured vocalist of the evening will be Roger Vincent, 19er, who will sing several selections from Carousal including "In a Persian Garden," "Myself when Young" and "Sullivany." A trio composed of Diane Roskelley, Connie Kars and Beth Christoffersen will sing several selections.

The various numbers to be presented by the chorus include "Madam Jeannette," "Friendly Reunion," "America—Our Heritage," "There Were No Rain in Gilead," "Hi, Lili Lu Lo" and others.

A nominal admission will be charged and the public is invited.

Heifer Killed

GOODING, Nov. 7.—A Holstein heifer, valued at $175, was killed early today when it was struck by a 1937 Dodge driven by Bonnie E. Gooding, a half mile east of the state tuberculosis hospital.

The heifer ran in front of the vehicle and was killed instantly, according to Sheriff Keith Anderson. Damage to the car was set at $100.

Cauliflower has been known and grown since the sixth century B.C.

Mishap Noted

Autos driven by Esther L. Hansen, 16, Lee, Nev., and Mrs. E. A. Yaden, 30, Kimberly, collided in the 200 block of Main avenue east Saturday afternoon. Neither driver was injured.

The Plymouth driven by Mrs. Hansen and the Hudson driven by Mrs. Yaden were damaged slightly.

Special Cooking Techniques Add Interest

Mrs. Eugene Walker, 624 Pierce street, is preparing a marinade for a venison roast for her family. If the marinade will be combined later with other ingredients for a sauce to accompany the venison-or pheasant becomes a star catcher for gourmet dinners when special seasoning, special cooking techniques, and spiced flavors. (Left photo—photo-technique.)

Hunting Season Is Good Excuse for Gourmet Fare

Whether you bag your game or go to the store, hunting season is always a good excuse for a gourmet dinner party. If your husband isn't lucky with a gun, prevail on the generosity of a friendly hunter. Plan well in advance of partying—then young, properly hung, birds need only three days of hanging for tenderness according to some connoisseurs. The sweet-tartness of Cumberland sauce complements the game flavor of venison, and a plait of wheat made with buttermilk or rye is a perfect accompaniment. If the hunter has captured pheasant, the behaviour plait goes exactly right. A green bean and asparagus rounds out the entrée or main menu with fruit and nuts to make a perfect dessert. Plan a martini for frosty venison, combine one cup water, two-thirds onion, two sliced carrots, one teaspoon whole pepper, one and one-half cups of wine for 15 minutes. Add one and one-half cups of wine for cooking the wine which can now be purchased in most grocery stores and pour over one meat. Let stand in refrigerator overnight or up to three days, turning meat occasionally. Do not use metal other than stainless steel when marinating. Glass and plastic dishes are fine. Remove meat from marinade, pat dry and broil on a rack over top. Roast in a preheated oven one and one-half hours at 350 degrees F. Wash vegetables from marinade and place in pan along with meat. Bake next with marinade, except to oven and roast about one hour longer, basting occasionally with marinade. Venison steaks are served with Cumberland sauce. Cumberland sauce is made by combining one-fourth teaspoon strained marinade, one cup currant jelly, one tablespoon lemon juice and one-fourth teaspoon sugar. Heat until smooth, stirring occasionally. Ingredients needed for the venison are one cup softened butter, two tablespoons lemon juice, one cup bread crumbs, six table-

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI. Once again, at the risk of boring my readers, I want to remind parents about the need for thinking about college education for their children. College education is certain to become, as secondary school has become, essential to the future happiness and success of young. Unless a child is plainly gifted he never can be known as a scholar. It is the parent's duty to make every effort to provide for his education. There was a time when college education was possible only for well-to-do people's children but that is no longer true. Any boy or girl of whatever economic group, can if he has the ability to learn, have a college education. There are scholarships for about every sort of learning available to all sorts of students. The thing that should be searched for. The high school guidance teacher, or the principal, or the teachers who know about the scholarships that are available. A consultation with the teachers will help you to help him candidate for college entry. Don't wait until graduation day to select the college. In college selection, the student should be given the first choice. The student should be given the first choice. The student should be given the first choice. The student should be given the first choice.

Victors Stop LSU Attempt At Two-Point Conversion One Yard Short of Stripe

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 7 (AP)—Fired-up Tennessee topped Louisiana State's defending national champions 14-13 today when unbeaten Tigers dined a possible-to-lose-and-gamble-for-victory in the last quarter. Trailing 14-7 midway in the last quarter, the nation's No. 1 team scored a touchdown after recovering Bill Majors' fumble on his own two-yard line. Duret Mathernie plunged over the touchdown. Coach Paul Dietzel's crew decided to go for broke and lost. All-American Billy Cannon, who had won for LSU last week with a dramatic 60-yard run, made at right last play was stopped one yard short of the goal on his try for the outstanding play.

Tennessee's upset triumph snapped the country's longest major college winning streak, 19 straight. The alert Vols turned a pass interception and an LSU fumble into a 14-7 lead in the first period to score their game-winning touchdowns. It was the first time in 10 games LSU's goal line had been crossed.

An overflow blooming crowd of 47,000 howled themselves hoarse as Jim Cartwright punted quarterback Warren Tabb's pass into the end zone and set up a touchdown to touch off the upset. Cotton Lester kicked the first of two field goals, 22 and 20 yards, to bring the margin of victory.

The fans were hardly back to their seats when the game was over. Tabb's punt was blocked by fullback Neely Sloss exploding off tackle 14 yards for the touchdown.

All-American Billy Cannon, a brilliant player in defeat, ranked 20 yards for his first big game. Louisiana State is ranked as the nation's No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll.

LSU marched 74 yards in 11 plays in the second period for its first touchdown. The team drove off 122 yards to set a new rushing record of 378 yards for the game. The team carried the ball 56 on five carries in the march.

LSU's Wendell Harris failed to kick a field goal attempt. The goal from the 37-yard line in the first period was short, the second from the 20-yard line.

A blocked kick late in the fourth period gave LSU a chance for a 27-point lead. The Bruins' punt was blocked by Neely Sloss. The Bruins' punt was blocked by Neely Sloss.

With a little less than two minutes left in the game, the Bruins had the ball on about Utah's 20-yard line with fourth down and two to go. The Bruins were pulling for the touchdown, Idaho's goal line was 10 yards away.

Idaho strictly also drew a groan from the 500 attending the game late in the first half.

Syracuse Topples Quakers

STATE-COLLEGE, Pa. Nov. 7 (AP)—Syracuse virtually clinched the Eastern football title and a likely bowl bid today by edging Penn State 20-18 in a savage battle of unbeaten clubs despite a dazzling 100-yard touchdown by sophomore Roger Kochman of Penn State.

The tense struggle was in doubt until the final minutes as Penn State charged back to score two touchdowns in the final period. After Kochman's 100-yard gallop on a kickoff return made the lead 20-13, State's tackle Andy Slynchuk blocked Bob Yates' punt. Penn State took over on the Syracuse end and Sam Folsom plunged into the end zone with 1:18 to go.

Following a 20-18, quarterback Richie Lucas sent Kochman into the middle of the line, trying for a touchdown. The play failed to end a tie. Kochman was stopped about two yards short.

Kochman's first touchdown was running off for a touchdown in the first period as underdog Penn State took a 14-7 lead. Syracuse took charge in the second as Ger Schwedes swept six yards and then ran for a touchdown. Setette kicked the first of two field goals, 22 and 20 yards, to bring the margin of victory.

ISC Spots Colorado State Early Lead, Rallies for 32-13 Victory

GREELEY, Colo., Nov. 7 (AP)—After Colorado State took a one-point lead at its interim game, Idaho State's Bengals completely dominated second-half play to tally the Bears 32-13 in a Rocky Mountain-conference football game today. Chuck Fertall put the visitors ahead with a 27-yard touchdown run early in the third quarter. End Neil Henderson scored in the same period for Idaho State by grabbing a Colorado fumble in the air and another Idaho State end, Jim Koetter, opened the scoring by stealing a pichout from Bruce Peck, Bear quarterback, and going 30 yards.

Boyd Holt wrestled fullback made the Bengals second touchdown and Tommy Carlyle wound up their score with a six-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Colorado State got rolling for its fourth touchdown in the first period with Dick Leaver going the final five yards. Two 15-yard penalties against Idaho State were a big help.

Following Hall's score in Idaho State the Bears moved 40-32 on a 75-yard drive in which Peck runs sparked. He tipped the ball to forward Mike Johnson. Although Peck, Leaver and Johnson did some good running, the Bears were in the game after the rest period.

Idaho State had two touchdowns called back for penalties, those of which nullified its 60-yard jaunt to the goal line.

The teams played almost as though the forward pass never had been invented. Idaho State tried only five passes and completed one for 15 yards. The Bears missed on four throws.

The loss knocked the Indians out of contention for their new league title as Idaho State, a 32-13 victory over Colorado State, completed its 1934 campaign with a 3-3 record. Adams 5-3 in the league and 17 overall.

That kept Oregon in the running for the Rose bowl.

Quarterback Dave Gross led the desperation pass for Oregon, and Jones and California quarterback Wayne Crow will be up for the ball on the goal line.

They wrestled until they hit the ground, but the Bears' 40-30-4-inch, 140-pound Jones had the ball securely in his arms. Just inches into the end zone.

There were five minutes to play and California managed to move to the Oregon 12-yard line. There was less than a minute to go when California had to yield the ball and Oregon ran the line out.

Oregon had jumped into an early 40-0 lead by intercepting two California passes.

California got back into the game with a 72-yard scoring drive before halftime, and then snatched up two Oregon fumbles in the third quarter, covering each of them into a touchdown and went ahead 18-14.

Hen Pheasant Limit Killed

BOISE, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Idaho fish and game department today canceled a "one-day" pheasant hunt scheduled for 17 southern Idaho counties Nov. 19-20.

Director Ross Leonard said the regulation was authorized for the first time in many years last July when it appeared that there would be an ample production of pheasant.

But he said that a credit ratio spring led to a generally poor chick production. In addition checks show that hunters access a down about 10 per cent from the long term average on a statewide basis.

Steelworkers In Utah Are Starting Back

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 7 (AP)—Steelworkers in Utah started back to work today as the U.S. supreme court upheld the National Labor Relations board's order for the steelworkers to return to work.

The injunction directs the mills to resume operation at least 90 days—the so-called "cooling-off" period.

One United Steelworkers union leader in Utah, George Haycock, said he doubted the cooling-off period would contribute much to resolution of the strike deadlock.

Pickets taken off the line in the Provo area were taken off at 2:30 p.m. Today after the local pickets were freed, the headquarters in Pittsburgh.

U.S. Steel officials in Salt Lake City said the 6,000 or so workers led by the strike would be called back to work gradually.

It takes several days to get the coke ovens, blast furnaces and open hearths back in operation.

The president of the Columbia-Geneva Steel Division, L. B. Worthington, said he will be several days before all the steelworkers are called back to work.

3 to 4 Weeks Needed

He estimated it would take from three to four weeks before operations are back into full swing.

The company said it would contact employees and advise each one when he should return to work.

The company also had mines near Draper and Iron mines near Cedar City.

Aluminum in Long Supply, Copper Short

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Remember the bitter wartime phrase, "too little and too late"?

It had something of a counterpart this week in nonferrous metal markets, where there is plenty of copper and too much aluminum.

Strikes ending 75 to 80 per cent of U.S. production and still refusing capably since mid-August make for 100 little copper. Aluminum workers, however, are on strike this summer and they have been turning out so much metal, producers are cutting back the operating rate.

Users of both inventories overbuilt their inventories during the first half of the year, fearing strikes. This strategy worked well for copper consumers, but aluminum supplies are reported to be running out now, and it came as no surprise this week when aluminum producers still in business hike their price 15 cents to 33 cents a pound.

This was only the second hike since the warlock. Aug. 10, however, and the first since a similar 14-cent boost in September.

All producers were down 27 cents a pound when the strikes hit and Kennecott Copper Corporation still quoted the same price for the small amount of metal being shipped to old customers under long-term contracts.

Church Praises Labor in Idaho

POCAHELLO, Nov. 7 (AP)—Sen. Frank Church, D. Id., said today there was no need for the labor union reform bill in Idaho.

"Congress would never have needed to pass a labor reform bill," he said, "if the honesty in union-management relations in the country at large were as high as that practiced by organized labor in Idaho."

Church, who spoke at a state meeting of Young Democrats here, was a member of the senate McClellan committee which investigated labor union activity.

"During the two years I served on the committee," he said, "we didn't receive a single report of misdoings in Idaho serious enough to warrant re-examination. I have heard no words of praise for Idaho unions. They deserve to be commended, not condemned."

U.S., Soviet Union to Lock Horns at Agricultural Fair

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union soon will lock horns with the propaganda battle—in a show case being set up in the Orient.

Each will be trying to convince millions in Asia that its respective way of life is superior as far as food and agriculture are concerned.

The setting will be the first World Agricultural Exposition in New Delhi, India, Dec. 11 to Feb. 14. With 16 countries participating, the fair will be the biggest ever held in Asia.

President Eisenhower announced on Wednesday he will be on hand in New Delhi to help open the American exhibit, thereby focusing special attention on it.

U.S. officials are confident that this country's exhibit, which will cost two million dollars, will be hit. But they acknowledge that the Soviets have an advantage. The Soviets know what the American exhibit will be like. Conversely, nothing is known in this country about the Soviet exhibit.

Consequently, the Soviets are in a position—if they see fit—to put on a more dazzling exhibit than that being prepared by this country.

Great importance is being attached by officials to the New Delhi fair. The event is being held at a time when communism is marching in the Far East, and when influence of the democracies is being threatened in many areas.

It is being staged at a time when the peoples of the Orient are rising to demand better living and economic standards. The attraction of these peoples is being attracted by promises and progress being made by communist rulers of both the Soviet Union and Red China.

The American exhibit is being put together by the agriculture and commerce departments, the atomic energy commission and the U.S. information agency.

It will attempt to mirror U.S. agricultural efficiency through these steps: Land and resources, research and technology, information and education, applied technology on the farm, marketing of farm products at home and abroad, life in a community farm and look at the future elements of farming. The exhibit itself will cover five acres.

But the feature of the American exhibit will be not things, but people—what the fair managers call "live exhibits." These are the wives and children, they will help show visitors how a typical family operates, how the family lives and what it gets out of life.

Pleased

FILER, Nov. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Roy Zimwood, Filer, has always taken special pride in her apple orchard but now that a Hollywood celebrity likes it also, she's doubly pleased.

She sent some cobbler to her nephew, Ronald Jasper, a college student in California, when he went present hunting in the Weiser area with two companions.

Ronald stopped Friday to see his aunt and had a picture of himself and his companions. Written on the corner of the picture was this note:

"Dear Auntie: My apple cobbler was a wonderful success. It was signed, 'Bing Crosby'." The other companions were Paul Harris, band leader and comedian.

Ronald met them in California and has gone hunting with them before but this is the first time they had eaten the Zimwood cobbler.

Powerful New Labor Court Proposed by Florida Solon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—A powerful new court to settle nationwide labor disputes before they can lead to costly strikes like the steel walkout was proposed today by Gen. George A. Smathers, D., Fla.

Smathers suggested five members for this court, which he would designate the U.S. court of labor-management relations.

Such a court, he said in a statement, would be established by and for all national industries and would be used when collective bargaining reached an impasse. The president, subject, to approval by the senate, Cases would be exclusively labor-management.

Smathers said hardships from the prolonged steel strike showed a need for a better way to handle such disputes, the spike out at the supreme court upheld a Taft-Hartley act injunction—ordering the strikers back to work for a 90-day cooling-off period.

What is needed, Smathers' statement said, is a court with powers as great as the supreme court's to step in and settle labor-management disputes before a strike develops.

He said either side should have the right to call in the court to end the deadlock. The five judges then would hear the testimony and hand down a decision from which there would be no appeal.

Smathers' "plan" proposals have been advanced before, and have run into heated criticism. Opponents contended the issue are too complex in a free economy.

Some T.F. Firms Feel Strike Effects

Bill Ketchum, co-owner of the Self Manufacturing company, stands by some of the newly employing racks of steel used by the company in its construction work. Self Manufacturing company is one of the many businesses in Twin Falls that uses a great amount of steel. Some of the businesses felt the effect of the strike immediately and some of them won't feel the effects until next fall. (Staff photo-ensgraving)

Effects of Steel Strike Being Felt at Twin Falls

Some of the effects of the long strike were felt immediately in Twin Falls, hundreds of miles from the steel mills. The ways in which such a strike and the resultant shortage of steel affect local businesses are varied in Twin Falls, the Self Manufacturing company is one of the local users of bulk steel. The company manufactures storage tanks, construction steel beams and does a considerable amount of farm machinery repair and custom work. Co-owners of the business are William Koch and LeRoy Thornock. According to Thornock, the strike has curtailed the firm's operation about 30 percent in the period between the time the strike began and middle October. Most of the lapses they make in the petroleum business and the metal used in 3/16 and 1/4-inch steel. (Continued on Page 21, Column 1)

Bird Biologist Explains Pheasant Disappearance

The "Where are the birds?" question, asked frequently among pheasants has been answered by a biologist who has been studying the pheasant population in the Magic Valley. He says that the disappearance of pheasants is due to a combination of factors, including a bumper crop of pheasants last year, a smaller hatch this year, and a smaller brood of pheasants and an above average brood-stocking-producing, a smaller hatch. Each year's nesting success

Table with 5 columns: Year, Hunters Checked, Birds recovered, Avg. Birds per hunter, and Average per bird killed. Data points for years 1933, 1934, 1935, 1936, and 1937.

Blake points out that if a hen's nest is destroyed by snowing operations she will probably re-nest, but re-nesting is never as good as the first nesting period. It simply adds to the problem of production. Another factor that determines the year's hatch is the percentage of hens successful in raising a brood. Brood survival, Blake says, is "fairly stable throughout the years, but the number of hens that successfully raise the broods varies. The type of crop grown in an area is another factor that helps determine the year's hatch. For instance, dry crops and mixed grain fields are more conducive to nesting than well-tilled and after-worked row crops. Something else that had a role in determining the hatch this year was the great amount of farm cleanup work in preparation for the 1936 season. Blake says farmers were able to do a little more cleanup of their marginal lands, more burning, because of the dry season. Ditches and field corners were cleaned up, leaving less cover for the nesting birds. Blake says all these factors, when summed, contributed to a smaller brood hatch than in former years. "Farmers can't compare the previous year with the present year, but the 1936 production and following hatch that I have seen in the Valley," Blake points out, although the 1935 hatch was

Preparations Begin for New Dilettante Production

Two directors of the opening Dilettante production of "Annie Get Your Gun" sign-down a barrel in preparation for the tryouts for the cast, which will be held at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 17 and 18, in the Twin Falls Junior high school auditorium. They are, left, Mrs. Vernon Hedger, co-dramatic director, and Mrs. J. G. Hackney, dance director. (Staff photo-ensgraving)

Magic Valley Talent to Prepare For Annual Production Tryouts

Residents of Magic Valley who act, sing and dance are preparing for tryouts for the second annual production of the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley, which last year produced the successful six-day run of "Carousel." This year, the group will present "Annie Get Your Gun," the story of Annie Oakley as she changed from country child into world champion sharpshooter. A Broadway success with Ethel Merrett, the show has music and lyrics by Irving Berlin. It will be given in late February or early March, according to David Mead, Dilettante president. But the beginnings of a show pre-date its production by many months, so tryouts for this musical have been scheduled by the Dilettante Group for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 17 and 18, in the Junior high school auditorium. "Magic Valley singers and actors are being urged to display their talents for a panel of three judges. Judges for the tryouts will be John Lister, Sun-Valley musician; Mrs. George Warberg, Twin Falls high school teacher, and Earl J. Wilson, Kimberly. Gene Hedger has been named production manager of this year's production, with Mrs. Tom Alkran and Mrs. Vernon Hedger as dramatic directors. Three tryouts will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 17, 18 and 19. Applicants for roles in the show are advised by Mead that "no parts have been cast and everyone of them, musical and dramatic, is open to tryout." Popular songs from the show to be used for the tryouts include "Doin' What Comes Naturally," "They Say That Falling in Love is Wonderful," and "The Girl That I Marry." Any persons who want to study a score for the show may call Mead to borrow one before next week. Mrs. Donald Youls will play piano for the tryouts. In addition to on-stage personnel, many men and women are needed for the production and of "Annie," Mead said, Earl Peck has been named stage manager and Fred Van-Gravelen and Mrs. W. B. Wilkinson will head the costume department. In addition many are needed for make-up, scenery, properties, lights and the business end of the production, including ticket sales, ushering and preparation of programs. "Anyone interested in any of these aspects of the production should also come to the tryouts, to leave their names and addresses with us," Mead urges. "We will need all the help we can get. We can get." The leading roles in the musical are Annie Oakley and Frank Butler, the sharpshooter whom Annie defeats on the range and "gets" into the show. "They are demanding roles, technically and dramatically," Hedger explains. "The scores of the show are those of the best of the best parts of Wm. and Mrs. T. W. Higginson's 'Annie Get Your Gun' and 'Annie Oakley' is the part of the show." (Continued on Page 21, Column 2)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

What does it feel like to learn to walk again? Kenneth Reinhold, 15, son of Edwin Reinhold, MILLER, can give first hand information to anyone that is interested. At this point, two minutes standing with the aid of a cane is all that he can do. He was involved in a one-vehicle accident at the Idaho ranch at Miller. He was driving a truck loaded with sheep and horses. The truck tipped over in a borrow pit and the metal on the corner of the truck bed struck him in the back, pinning his legs to the loaded truck for an hour and a half.

Recovering

He was admitted to the Cottage hospital-BURLEY in a critical condition with a severely fractured broken leg, broken collar bone and in deep shock. After the first week when he was taken to his home, he hung heavy on his hands. Because he was in traction and unable to move, more than a month went by and also because of his collar bone, he was unable to eat or entertain himself. He had a television set with a television set and a small radio. His mother started a scrapbook for him and he read the papers during his long hours. After 48 days in traction he was put in a bed and he was able to sit up. On Aug. 17, the ambulance brought Kenneth home to spend the remainder of his recuperation in bed in his cast.

At regular intervals the ambulance arrived at the Reinhold home to transport him to the hospital for medical attention and for X-rays. When the school bus went by the family door, he was unable to go, but he could see the children from the front window where his bed had been placed. From the rear yard he could see the children and see all traffic going by and also the activities at the Bear Crows and the school.

Carl Carlson, principal of the Bear Crows school, has made necessary arrangements for him to have his lessons brought home. School studies are being made and the papers are sent to school to the ninth grade teachers, who are cooperating with his father's efforts to keep up his studies. There they are graded and sent home. No definite time has been set for his entry into school; it will depend upon his recovery. However, the school has his books and papers in the class by studying at home helps to pass the long hours. On Oct. 12, X-rays were taken

Government to Tower Like Giant When Nation's New Labor Reform Law Starts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The nation's new labor reform law swings into high gear this week as the government begins to enforce it like a giant watching over labor-management field.

The congressional statute, which has already widespread repercussions in the 1936 elections, affects literally millions of workers and thousands of employers.

Designed to blast hoodlums, crooks and racketeers out of the labor-management field, the new law in effect sounds this warning: "Uncle Sam is watching you as to the total of two and two, and he answers with four loud bangs and when asked by Reynolds what is one and one he barks twice. When Reynolds extends two fingers, and says, 'Chief, count two,' the dog barks three times for three and four fingers, with the correct amount of barks each time."

Chief of the American Kennel club under the name of Silver Chief. His father is the dog named Silver Chief. He was purchased when a month old from the kennel of a national clearing guardian of Reynolds's daughter, Chief.

Chief will perform for Reynolds such tricks as shaking hands, rolling over, playing dead, catching a tossed newspaper in his mouth and playing with his owners in a kitchen chair and jumping four feet through a hula hoop.

Chief is trained with his owners at his side as he makes his rounds at 12 p.m. until 7 a.m. He is trained to bark at the dog loves children and is not vicious unless instructed to be so.

Reynolds estimates that Chief is worth $25,000. He was a gift to Reynolds in addition to two egg wags for a more shiny coat. He caught a mouse in his paws and he is not complicated ones such as arithmetic problems.

Chief is loved by the family for his life of another pet, Tony, a tiny Pekinese and half brother and his first mate at the beach, far into the beach when the family was vacationing near the ocean.

Are You Flabby? Healthy People Advised To Work Their Muscles

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M.D. (Written for N.Y. Herald Tribune) Healthy people ought to use their muscles if they want to treat their bodies in the way intended by nature. The circulation is better, the digestion and bowel elimination work better, and probably all of the other various functions of the human system are frequently undisturbed.

Grazing Unit At Shoshone Retains Aides

SHOSHONE, Nov. 7.—At the advisory board election held by the bureau of land management this week all three members whose terms expired were reelected.

They are Ralph Paulsen, Gooding; Donald Sarty, Shoshone; and Frank McLaughlin, Pocatello, all re-elected.

The board will meet in January for reorganization and other business. Fred Martin, Shoshone, is the present chairman. There are 364 cattle and 143 sheep permits in the district.

The Shoshone district includes approximately two and one-fourth million acres of federal range with boundaries on the Snake river on the south, from American Falls to King Hill; Sawtooth national forest on the north from King Hill to Cresters of the Moon.

Duties of advisory board members consists of making recommendations to the district manager of the BLM on practically all phases of surface resource management.

Effects of Long Steel Strike Being Felt by Twin Falls Business, People

(From Page 19) The need for steel as compared to normal years. The supply of such material is being cut off by the strike, but it is not getting to the point where it is a serious problem.

A business of this type stores steel in large quantities on hand, and since a terrific amount of steel is used in some of the most important industries, the steel men generally buy steel in large quantities from the steel mills in Pueblo, Colo.

As soon as the strike began the steel men started to run out of certain types of steel. This doesn't mean it will have any effect on the steel industry, but it will affect the steel users in search of needed materials. This is because the steel industry is running out of certain types of steel. # Threats of retaliation at the polls in the nationwide 1936 election have already been fired by some of the nation's labor leaders.

The bill was jointly sponsored by Rep. Philip M. Landrum, D. Ga., and Rep. Robert M. Griffin, R. Mich. Sen. John P. Kennedy, R. Mass., currently a floor manager for the Democratic presidential nomination, co-sponsored a somewhat milder senate version.

Unquestionably it will take years of court battles to determine exactly what the law means. And it will require the services of unpeopled courts to settle the many questions which will arise.

One thing is certain. The new statute will touch off one of the most bitter legal battles in the history of the labor department estimates that detailed annual reports will require the services of 50,000 labor organizations, 500,000 union officials, and more than 100,000 employers or employees.

On the other side of the fence, the law requires employers to report any money paid to union officials and to their own employees, and to file annual reports.

This is designed to expose so-called "sweetheart" contracts involving a company's hiring of officials to accept substandard working conditions. It is further aimed at discouraging attempts by employers to set up "no union" committees, hire labor spies, and otherwise influence workers against exercising the right of collective bargaining.

The new law is specifically framed to wipe out the much-vaunted "no man's land" which has long existed between individual union members without any remedy in cases which were deemed too small to justify a labor relations board to handle.

Effective next Friday, Nov. 13—60 days after passage of the law—signed the new law on Sept. 13.

Some of the act's most highly controversial features include tight curbs on secondary boycotts, "hot cargo" agreements, and recognition of an organizational picketing.

Secondary boycotts, long a thorn in the side of industry, will be outlawed if they are found to be the effect of dragging an employer who has no direct contact with a union into the union's dispute with another company.

The law sets an outright ban against "hot cargo" pacts in which

Business leaders, while grumbling over some aspects of the new law, are nevertheless pleased with the trade union movement's hard-won gains.

The first major challenge to the new law—probably the first of many—was raised by Harry Bridges, letting San Francisco labor leader, who rejected Secretary of Labor James F. Mitchell's request for a removal of his name and co-convict in Bridges International Longshoremen's union.

Bridges said the law violates the First Amendment of the constitution and the right of free speech and self-protection against self-censorship amendments to the constitution.

Soil Chiseling Is Being Used More in Magic Valley to Treat Compacted Soil

Soil chiseling, the practice of ripping deep into the plow pan with heavy shanks of different shapes, is increasing in Magic Valley. These tools go by the names of subsoilers, sub-busters, and chisels. They are pulled by heavy tractors, the size depending on the depth of the tool in the ground.

On older farms on the irrigated areas the practice is more widespread than on the newer plantations, because of the additional years of water-compaction, cropping and tramping by livestock and machinery.

Some farmers are even beginning to consider chiseling the plow plan as part of their normal rotation for the soil, claiming that crop yields have jumped in those fields where they ripped into the soil.

Occasionally one hears about a field that has refused to produce a good crop even though it has been manured, fertilized, commercially, and handled well by the farmer.

Such a field had been reported recently on a 200-acre farm six miles south of Twin Falls on the Salmon tract. The farm, owned by Helen Caudle and Gladys Caudle, Arabian horse breeders, is characterized by a good deep soil type.

Harry Miller, manager and part owner of the nearby Caudle farm on the farm, said about 20 acres of alfalfa refused to grow more than eight inches this season, perhaps only a little taller the last year. The field had been watered enough to produce a good crop of alfalfa, as well as having 200 pounds of phosphate applied per acre last spring.

The alfalfa field hadn't been bothered by insects this season. Since Miller had seen similar fields through the subsoil, but little of the subsoil refuted the top. Deep plowing will often bring subsoil to the top surface and is discouraged often for this reason, but when subsoil tillers are there is little of this undesirable interchange.

Miller's next problem, of which he is very aware, is in working down the clods. Since alfalfa roots are holding many of the clods together, after an initial bumping disk he may not have as much trouble as another farmer might have on bare soil.

He also expects some difficulty with his first irrigations next spring with the soil that breaks up. He intends to seed the field down next spring with an additional 10 pounds of alfalfa seed, to add a stand to that which still remains. But he had experience with this type of deep chiseling before. Miller said perhaps the water will not go all the way through the corrugates to the bottom of the field. The first irrigation will cut down much of the water going further the second time over, and then after that he doesn't expect any trouble. He expects more alfalfa.

When the construction company tractor came out and ripped down into the compacted "hay" field, the operator ran a chisel over 36 inches, and about the same depth into the ground.

The equipment used was an International TD 21 crawler tractor and a Lottman road roofer, implements which are used for road ripping. The roofer and chisel pulled by the heavy tractor weigh about seven tons.

Lots of Families Here Expecting to Eat Venison This Fall

Martin Resa, plant engineer at the Twin Falls Feed and Ice company, looks over a small portion of the nearly 200,000 pounds of big game meat being processed in Twin Falls food locker plants. In this one room there were about 600 animals waiting to be cut, wrapped, and frozen. In the background, Pete Sande, president of the Twin Falls Feed and Ice company, looks over the mass of big game animals. Most of them are deer and most processors say the deer averaged, dressed, about 80 pounds. Verland Rountree, of Rountree's Foodliner, believes hunters did a particularly good job of taking care of their meat this year. (Staff photo-entangling)

The hunter care for the meat once it was shot. The bulk of the deer has been processed here from the south hills. Most of the elk came from the Soldier mountain and Stanley basin areas. John Seefried, proprietor of the North Main Lockers and Meats, says his busy season started at 9 a.m. the opening day of the south hills hunting season. From that time on hunters have been pouring in with game. So far he has taken in about 300 deer and elk and about 25 antelope. Seefried says this is the peak of the season as far as the processors are concerned. The business will begin to slacken in mid-November.

Some 200,000 Pounds of Big Game Are Being Processed for Hunters of City

An informal survey of locker plants processing wild game in Twin Falls showed on Oct. 23 that nearly 200,000 pounds of big game animals have been brought in for processing, wrapping and freezing. This is a big figure, but it will get bigger as the season progresses. Some hunt areas are open into December. According to A. E. Williams, vice manager of the Twin Falls Feed and Ice company, by the middle of the week about 100 big game animals had been brought in for processing. This includes most of the big game animals in Idaho—deer, elk, moose, antelope and bear. The bulk of the game consists of deer and elk. Williams believes this is a heavier year than last year and deer are running about the same size. The average deer weighs about 60 pounds dressed, the firm got one big buck that weighed 220 pounds, hog-dressed. He estimates the firm has taken in nearly 100,000 pounds of big game. It is keeping a three-man crew busy cutting, wrapping and freezing. They process about 20 to 25 animals each day. Rountree's Foodliner is another busy place. Verland Rountree had processed an estimated 30,000 pounds of deer, 17,000 pounds of elk, 1,000 pounds of moose and a few hundred pounds of antelope. Rountree believes this is a heavy

Hospital Guild Buys Heated Bassinets

The bassinets are thermostatically controlled and can be set to maintain a certain temperature. The bassinets are placed in the bassinet immediately after birth and then wheeled to the bassinet room. The new bassinets bring the total owned by the hospital to six. Mrs. Ellen Alwood, director of nursing services, says, "The heated bassinets stabilize the baby's temperature during the first few hours of life, which are so important. When a baby is born its temperature is about the same as its mother's, but it is a little higher, but it drops during the first 24 hours."

Shooting of Power Insulators Can Cause Death, Destruction

BOISE, Nov. 7 (Special)—A thoughtless squeeze of the trigger of a high-powered bullet in a night... a powerline insulator shattering into fragments. These can be the ingredients of a tragedy, says a veteran Idaho Power company supervisor who has seen such seemingly innocent acts take their toll in death and destruction. A. I. Sawyer, the utility's operating engineer, warns that these incidents take on special significance with the Idaho hunting season in full swing. "Tragedy can result, as it did only recently near Horseshoe Bend, when a packing thousand of volts drops toward the ground from an insulator that has been broken by a rifle bullet. "A person touching the line, either because he fails to see it or fails to recognize the danger, can be killed or seriously injured. The least that can happen when a mistake is made is that a person accidentally or deliberately shoots out insulators as interrupt service to persons who get electricity from the damaged section of line, according to Sawyer. "The interruption may come when housewives are trying to cook meals or when their clothes are drying, and this can be very serious. It may come when a delicate operation is being performed in a hospital. "Pointing out bullets cause more damage to the company's insulators and poles during the hunting season than at any other time of the year, Sawyer issued this plea to riflemen: "Remember that your thoughtless or willful shots may kill or inconvenience others. "Don't shoot at, or in the vicinity of, power lines. "A measure of the bullet-inflicted damage to the company's facilities comes from Alex Bremner, general manager of power transmission specialist whose responsibility includes line poles. "Hundreds of insulators are destroyed every year—and every one destroyed is a potential source of fatal accidents or interrupted service," says Bremner. An Idaho Power company employee of 23 years, he recalls when 35 insulators were deliberately damaged by rifle fire at a single location on the utility's Jordan valley transmission line near Marsing. Another time someone shot at a haystack near the Perkins store of Twin Falls district court about 100 times at some of our insulators. We found the place where he hit the haystack and his empty cartridges. Bremner points out that persons who shoot at power lines should not stop to realize the hardship they can bring to other people by the interruption of household service. "One riflemen with no purpose whatever, can make hundreds suffer with a single bullet."

Cruelty Charged In Divorce Suit

Mrs. Ruth M. Broughton filed her divorce suit in district court Friday for a divorce from George S. Broughton, charging cruelty. Mrs. Broughton asks the court to award her a 1958 Chevrolet and furniture and appliances, a 1949 Ford pickup truck and $150 temporary attorney's fees. The plaintiff also asked that a restraining warrant be issued to prevent Broughton from molesting her in any way. FUNDS DISTRIBUTED BOISE, Nov. 7.—State Auditor Joe R. # Clean Water Needed for Both Fish and Game

Water's accelerated rate of progress requires the availability of water for use by all interested groups, says Fish and Game Director. Clean water in water projects with the fish and wildlife resources are many and complex, include those involving the over-appropriation of stream flows, dam construction and pollution. It is not enough to have water in order to live—it must be of such quality that the living organisms may carry on life functions, including that of reproduction, in a natural manner. Water quality helps determine food quality and thereby, in turn, primary importance in producing optimum living conditions for fish and game resources. (Fish and game department photo—staff)

Fish and Game Director Gives Report On Necessity of Clean Water in Idaho

There is of primary importance in producing optimum living conditions for our fish and game resources. In 1938 the congress authorized certain biological and engineering investigations of problems affecting the fishery resources of the Columbia river which were undergoing a steady decline. In 1949 the U. S. senate for recognition of the Columbia river fishery development program became a reality. This action program, confined then to the Columbia river and its tributaries below McNary dam, was designed to halt the decline of the salmon and steelhead resources of this great river system.

In 1958 the congress authorized certain biological and engineering investigations of problems affecting the fishery resources of the Columbia river which were undergoing a steady decline. In 1949 the U. S. senate for recognition of the Columbia river fishery development program became a reality. This action program, confined then to the Columbia river and its tributaries below McNary dam, was designed to halt the decline of the salmon and steelhead resources of this great river system.

Called Obstructions. On numerous occasions when the Idaho department of fish and game has objected to certain features of water projects or other obstructions, the department has recommended methods of mitigation or replacement of losses to fish and wildlife resources caused by certain projects. It has been contended as an obstructionist. In attempting to carry out statutory obligations, the department has never opposed the orderly development of water use projects in the Columbia basin. It will continue, to the best of its ability, to make recommendations of benefit to the public interest and thereby carry out legally recognized duties and responsibilities.

At today's accelerated rate of progress, the availability of water for use by all interested groups is becoming critical and conflicts in water projects are many and complex. A partial listing of these conflicting interests which affect both the public interest and resources are (1) over-appropriation of stream flows, (2) dam construction, and (3) pollution. The Idaho constitution provides the right to divers and appropriate their unappropriated waters of any natural stream to beneficial uses, shall never be denied. (limitation and regulation for power purposes excepted). In some Idaho rivers this has permitted the appropriation of all stream flows without regard to the needs of fish and game resources. With this constitutional provision, and it seems to be quite common in the western states, there can be no multiple use, comprehensive development of water resources which would give consideration to all beneficial uses. The more recent actions of legislative bodies indicate it was not the intent of the framers of the constitution to have streams dried up by over-appropriation.

The federal laws which dams are being proposed, authorized, planned and constructed points to the need for planned, orderly, multiple use water resource development. The construction of a dam may have many and serious effects upon the fish and wildlife resource. The dam causes a migration block to fish and the reservoir to be small and game.

Headed in the reservoir area flooding in the reservoir area causes loss of spawning area, fish stream habitat for fish, rearing and resting habitat for game birds and fur, and browse and critical winter range areas for big game. An area of decreased food productivity in the water function zone is created and abnormally increased populations of undesirable fish species are a product of the impoundment.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT Librarian Arthur DeVolder Ricochets Around City as Worker and Volunteer

Arthur DeVolder, 42, is a librarian and volunteer worker in Twin Falls. He has been active in Idaho and Northwest Librarians Association and in civic and fraternal groups. Since he has been here the library has added a new building, the building has been completely redecorated, new steel shelving has been constructed, and the library expanded by several thousand volumes, a record library stated and DeVolder is conducting a planning survey to expand the library. It has never been expanded since it was constructed in 1939.

DeVolder says, "Without the cooperation of many of the organizations in town, many of the important improvements to the library could not have been made."

Director for Board Talks At Luncheon

Peter Prouse, Executive Director of the National School Boards Association, completed his visit to the state of Idaho, spoke to board members of the Twin Falls Chapter of the National School Boards Association on the evening of November 7.

Prouse said his organization has been active in school integration and federal aid to education. He told the group that schools are the best place where political thinking is stimulated, and that emphasis must be put on them by dictators.

"We need a new pattern of thinking regarding our school programs and the state of Idaho," Prouse said, adding that a community's economy is in direct proportion to the quality of its education.

The only way federal aid programs should be considered is when a simple accounting of total expenditures is made, Prouse said. He was introduced to the group by William Lantieri, board member.

Prouse is a political science graduate of Princeton and received his master's degree in secondary education at the University of New Mexico. He is now completing a doctorate at Northwestern University.

Secretary-manager William Lantieri announced that the National School Boards Association will be holding a luncheon at the Boise hotel on 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Nov. 15.

William Lantieri, executive director of the National School Boards Association, will be speaking at the luncheon. He will discuss the state of education in Idaho and the role of the school board.

The luncheon will be held at the Boise hotel on 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Nov. 15. It is a free affair and open to all interested parties.

Monument Marks Site of Old Stricker Store

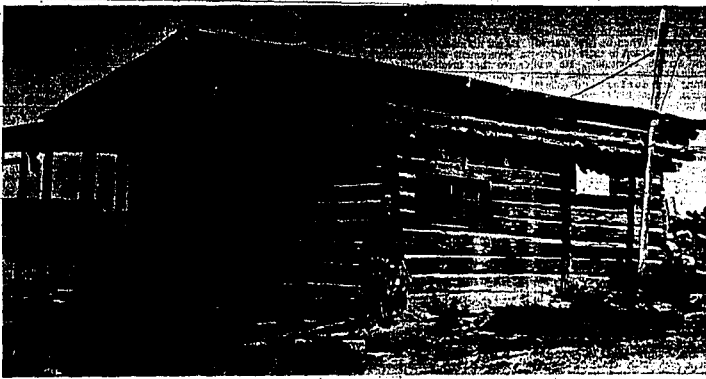

Gladys Stricker, Hansen, stands by a monument erected at the old Stricker store operated by her father, Herman Stricker. The place, erected in 1942, reads, "The original building was erected by James Hanson in 1863. It was sold to Herman Stricker in 1876. The first trading post west of Fort Hall, Station for pony express." The monument is located on the site of the old Stricker store.

By Today's Standards, Most Prices at Pioneer Magic Valley Store Startling

By today's standards, prices were startling in one of Magic Valley's first supermarkets — or general stores. A browse through the books of Herman Stricker, the man who owned the Stricker store on Rock Creek, is enlightening. Some of the prices are high, some are low and a few are about the same price as today's goods. But on the whole, it seems Cradock's dollar would stretch the length of the valley. In those days visitors to the store could spend as little as $1.00 for a pair of women's shoes, pay the same what modern-day prices of 50 cents for a dozen eggs, or plunk down the astronomical price of 50 cents for a spool of thread. The store was little but the stock was complete, so far as necessities were concerned. The store still stands on the Stricker ranch south of Rock Creek in and Ben Hilliday stage line. The largest artery of wagon travel in the United States passed here on the old Oregon Trail in 1844. This building was donated by Mrs. Lucy W. Stricker on her 83rd birthday. Miss Stricker still has the records of her father's business. (Staff photo-engraving)

just a few cents to four or five dollars. The biggest sales were to individuals who had obviously just arrived in the country and were outfitting themselves with everything one needed to exist and make a living in frontier times. Some of the prices in those days were as a comment on changing times — and prices. You could buy five pounds of pork for 25 cents. If you were dry, you could get a shot of brandy for 13 cents, and if you had an unquenchable thirst you could haul away 42 gallons of whisky for only $15.75. For the average frontiersman, according to the books, a first-class whisky was enough and that sold for $1.00 or $1.50, depending on whether you wanted the best or not. A count of 50 sales picked at random from the sales book in 1876 showed 16 of 50 sales were whisky. But the majority of the sales

Gladys Stricker, daughter of Herman Stricker, stands by the building that once housed the Stricker store at Rock Creek. The store was one of the first in central Idaho and small as it was, it supplied most of the goods needed to live comfortably. Sons of the prices that were charged for goods in those days, according to Stricker's business ledger, would make the present-day price comparable to the prices of today. In those days you could get a pair of boots for $7.50 or brandy for 13 cents. (Staff photo-engraving)

Manila's Mayor Is Two-Fisted Drinker, Uses Rich Words

MANILA, Nov. 7 (AP)—The mayor of Manila is a two-fisted drinker with a rich vocabulary of four-letter words, is vain, earthy, and sometimes affected. He is also intelligent, witty, honest and outgoing. Mayor Arsenio H. Lacson says he is the best mayor Manila ever had and he may be right. Lacson, who has been in office since 1954, is a police officer's son. He wears dark glasses day and night, indoors and out. He wears sports shirts in official functions, fabric stretched to the bursting point by his muscle frame. He once stood off a group of men who chased away a company of armed soldiers, equipped with four tanks and three armored cars, who had come to arrest him in a midtown hotel. He is one of the few original phrase makers in Philippine politics, where many office seekers go to string a series of eight-syllable words into a neckless of platitudes. "I not only call a spade a spade," Lacson says, "if necessary, I call it a dirty, stinking shovel." That is an exaggerated version of his statements. Lacson, 46, has been an able, hard-fighting, wartime guerrilla fighter and low-term convict. He wants to be president of the Philippines. Before he can think about the presidency, however, Lacson must

"Just a pathological fear of communism." A frequent flyer to the United States and elsewhere, he feels Americans live in fear, and are "threatened daily by a hallucinogenic pink tooth brush or unpopularity." Lacson, who is married and has four children, has a low boiling point, and the guts of a burglar. He demonstrated both in the famous July 12, 1953, riot at the Midtown hotel. Lacson's version: "The then secretary of justice said I was planning to kill him. I was elected mayor in 1951 and the opposition was still in power at the national level and things were pretty warm around town. "I was listening to the radio at home, and heard the announcer say that a company of troops with armored cars, had surrounded the hotel where they thought I was. I figured I had better get down to the hotel to see what was up. "When I arrived, the commander of the troops came up to me and said I was under arrest for sedition and rebellion. I took his gun away from him and pointed it at him and called to the troops to go home or I'd blow him apart. They went home. I kept the gun." ### Seven-State Area Is Business Center For Magic Valley Concession Operator

Anyone who longs for the open road should try the kind of business Bob Baker, Twin Falls, Idaho, is doing. Baker operates a novelty food concession at many fairs, rodeos and other carnivals in a seven-state area. He has served thousands of miles and earned many things about the fair and carnival business and how to follow them.

He finds the life demanding but interesting. Their season lasts from June to October. During this few months' work they average about four hours of sleep each night. The operating life helps make up for the demanding schedule they follow. (Staff photo engraving) plucked up plenty of information about the business by talking with the other concession operators and soon was on the way to making fair and carnival concession work his full-time job.
