New Postage Rate Boost Won't Take Effect Until After Christmas Holiday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UPI)—The government decided today to delay implementing an average 17 per cent increase for parcel post and other fourth class mail until after Christmas to avoid inflating holiday budgets. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced the higher rates will go into effect on Feb. 1. The increases, approved yesterday by the interstate commerce commission, will raise costs for mailing packages and cartages by an estimated $8 million dollars a year.

Cassia School Bond Voting Set Tuesday

BURLEY, Nov. 21—"Our most essential and important problem in Cassia county is our children," Ezra Moore, Cassia county superintendent of schools, stated Saturday in pointing out the need for approval by taxpayers Tuesday of a $1 million bond issue to provide modern facilities. A two-thirds majority is necessary for the election. "When classrooms are so crowded the teacher has difficulty in walking down the aisle, it is time for action to be taken," he declared. He noted that since the beginning of school in 1956, enrollment in the county has increased by 583 enough to fill a 19-room building with approximately 31 students per room.

Wind Blamed For Starting 2 Bush Fires

BURLEY, Nov. 21—High winds were blamed Saturday for two small fires that caused only slight damage. A blaze broke out at the home of Kenneth Patterson, seven miles northwest of Burley, on Tuesday night, when winds blew two wires onto the east side of the farm. The wires shorted out, starting a small fire in the side of the house. Patterson summoned Burley firefighters, then called the fire department. A second call came from the Franklin Coates ranch, about 10 miles northwest of Burley. Service station, when winds knocked over an electric fence. The blaze spread to nearby corrals, burning several horses. Firemen extinguished the blaze. Damage was slight.

Cuba Issues New Orders To Oil Firms

HAVANA, Nov. 21 (AP) — The government adopted legislation today requiring oil exploration and exploitation companies to work with Cuban officials or to leave the country.

The measure requires concessions to turn over operational information to the newly created Cuban Petroleum Institute and requests all requests for new exploration and exploitation rights.

The law also imposes a 60 percent royalty on production, based on commercial rates; establishes refinery production quotas; and limits exploration concessions to about 15,000 acres, for below acreage held by some companies.

Death Keeps Mother From Big Reunion

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21 (UPI) — Mrs. Shultz, who lost two sons in World War II, air crashes, headed west from Ohio this month for a reunion with her family.

When Mrs. Shultz, 70, reached her Thursday, she learned that her 15-year-old son had died of cancer the week before.

She also learned that on Monday her remaining son, Milton, 41, died when a Los Angeles-bound airplane plunged into the Gulf of Mexico.

Mrs. Shultz, Spring Valley, O., attended their funeral today in one of a Thanksgiving reunion. Her son is from the old school, and widower Austin G. Durbin of 13 mother-in-law. "She knows better than most of us that in life you must roll with the punches."

Youths Charged In Scooter Theft

Lutes Speaks To Southwest Burley PTA

BURLEY, Nov. 21 — Teaching foreign language in elementary schools is not new, stated Elizabeth Lutes, principal of the Hollister school at the Southwest Burley PTA meeting Thursday evening.

"The world is becoming smaller everyday. The impetus of this is to understand our neighbors throughout the world in regards to language," she said.

Lutes said the most common languages taught in the grades were French and Spanish. He brought out the fact that it was often hard for the high school student to devote two years to a foreign language. Mrs. Lutes assisted him in presenting the program. School children in the program were Susan Fretton, Shirley Joann, Terry Clark, Henry Clark, Raymond Johnson, Sharon Messner, Carol Hoppkins, Bernice Hudson, Fern Ward, Margaret Fullmer, Elbert Lanting, and Bob Hudson.

FAMILY FUN ROOM
In your home feeling the pressure of a growing family's activities? If so, try relieving the stress and strain by converting a little-used area into a family room.

This will provide an excellent spot for informal entertaining, and both yours and your teen-agers. It will give the youngsters in the household freedom to pursue hobbies, engage in indoor games and sports without the worry of ruining the rugs in the living room and marring the furniture. A family room should offer freedom from worry for the whole family.

Sturdy pine and/or cherry furniture can take a lot of good hard use, and mellow with the inevitable scratches. It is an excellent choice for this kind of room. The hard to believe that the family room in the above sketch was once an unused portion of the basement, isn't it? Natural wood walls and the warm organic tones of the brick fireplace form the basis for the room's color scheme. Red tile floor is colorful and easily kept clean. Maple and cherry furniture was chosen for its fitness to the room's style and function, and for its determined resistance to hard wear.

When planning a family room, it is quite often imperative that it serve as a dual purpose room: a combination guest bedroom and family fun room, for instance. For ideas and advice on easy ways to do this, come in and talk over your plans with one of our trained decorators. Anytime.

Secretary Herter's blunder and Chinese aggression have combined to create a "hot" line of crisis and to the need to save India from the grasp of the communists. Herter's blunder was in his handling of the border issue which has caused a conflict between India and China, and it should have been a global war, is the least important problem. Large-scale aggression is the least important problem. Large-scale aggression is the least important problem.

We have been hearing a lot about tainted crabs and the more we hear the more we're inclined to wonder why such things get out of control at the outset.

The cranberry-cancer scare has reached such major proportions throughout the country that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and Secretary of Agriculture Benson, Secretary Benson, obviously under pressure from many angles, now explains it is "possibly" Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming could have protected the public from contaminated cranberries without a general warning that threatened practically all sales.

What seems utterly ridiculous about such things as the last-minute cranberry scare right before the holiday season is that proper precautions were not taken in the use of a few killers which was found to produce cancer rats.

As a result, the cranberry interests will lose millions of dollars irrespective of all efforts to encourage purchase and consumption of berry supplies which have been tested and found safe.

One point raised during all the hullabaloo demonstrates how our sprawling governmental bureaucracy operates. Although this bureaucracy is crawling with personnel stumbling over each other, it is not relating full responsibility for the public welfare. Instead, it holds the manufacturers to account for placing anything on the market, which might be injurious to the public health.

That may be the easy way out for the entrenched bureaucrats who have no qualms about living off the public in every way possible, but when it comes to manufacture and distribution of such things as weed killers and other products which might endanger the public health, more effective controls should be set up right from the start.

Students Hold Thanksgiving Show in Area

Students from Union school presented a special harvest program today in the Knoll community center under the sponsorship of the PTA. About 200 parents and guests were present.

Songs were presented by the various groups. Children in the first and second grades represented people of several foreign lands in "Thanksgiving in America," under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Marjorie Stock.

The "Thanking Turkey" was given by students in the third grade. Fourth grade children presented "The First Thanksgiving with the Pilgrims," directed by Mrs. James Miller.

The fifth and sixth grades presented a number of variety acts, supervised by James Miller, principal. Piano solos were given by Len Williams, Stephen Colner and Nancy Brackett. An accordion solo was given by Vicki Brown.

James Miller announced that Mrs. Stock was leaving Twin Falls to make her home in Oregon. She was presented a gift by Mrs. J. T. Anderson, president, on behalf of the PTA.

Mrs. Horace Turner announced that the Cub Scouts would hold a meeting Monday after school. Refreshments were served, with Mrs. Lee Eldridge, Mrs. Tom Hill and Mrs. Glenn Bossert in charge and members of the PTA assisting.

Mrs. Anderson announced that the next PTA meeting would be on Nov. 23.

Fish Cookery Demonstration Held at Hot Lunch Workshop

RUPERT, Nov. 21—Forty-six hot lunch cooks, representing 10 schools, attended a demonstration on fish cookery at the Minidoka county high school lunch room Thursday afternoon.

Ann Davies, home economist for the fish and wildlife service for the western region, presented six recipes suitable for preparation and serving in the hot lunch program.

Accompanying Miss Davies was Peter Formanus, marketing specialist with the department, who explained to the cooks what fishery products were available locally and where they may be purchased.

Hot lunch personnel were present from schools in Cassia county, and from Valley schools in Hamilton and Eden and from Inlaken, in addition to representatives from all hot lunch programs in Minidoka county.

This is one of a series of eight such training schools being held throughout the state. They already have been held at Weber, Sandpoint, Meridian, Lewiston and Buhl.

Mrs. Leo Handy, Heyburn, head of the Mini-Cassia chapter of the Idaho School Food service, assisted with arrangements.

Ike to Renew Demands That Costly, Old Programs Cease

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UPI)—President Eisenhower will renew his demands next year that costly programs be cut back or eliminated, a budget director said today.

Budget Director Maurice H. Stans indicated today that the president's request to like REA expenditures should be cut back next year. He said that the program should be killed or cut back if they accomplish the purposes for which they were initiated.

The budget bureau gave this run-down on what happened in 1958:

Three were approved in published articles for setting up temporary or emergency programs and then refusing to kill or curtail them when the need is passed.

He noted that Eisenhower had asked the Democratic-controlled Congress last session to eliminate 18 programs with only a minimum of success.

Writing in the current annals of the American Academy, Stans pointed out that depression-era programs launched in the 1930's are still vital.

He cited rural electrification administration (REA) loans as an example. Stans said three out of four new REA customers are not farm operators.

The budget chief also said Congress has refused the administration's service credits on railroad re-

Teacher From Holland Talks To Area PTA

RUPERT, Nov. 21—Wim Tamms, exchange teacher from The Netherlands who is teaching in the Bliss school, spoke at the Washington school PTA Thursday night.

Assisted by Mrs. Tamms, the teacher presented a program of Dutch phases of life there. With the aid of a large map he pointed out the different parts of the area, explaining how the huge dikes are built to reclaim land for agricultural purposes. He said that with more than 800 people per square mile, every acre that can be put into production is of great importance.

Other numbers on the program included selections from the eighth grade chorus directed by Mrs. Howard Bruns, music instructor, and vocal solo by Sharon Culley, high school student, accompanied by Mrs. Thelma Widmer.

In the business meeting, by-laws of the newly organized group were im-

Boise Leader Notes Use of Tobacco Law

BURLEY, Nov. 21—The law most commonly broken in Idaho is that of selling tobacco to boys under 21 and girls under 18, states Robert Hoag, guest teacher and instructor of the Burley high school from the Idaho Narcotic Alcohol Education foundation, Inc., Boise.

Two years ago this foundation employed a full-time teacher to visit the schools of Idaho. This is a non-political, non-pressure organization, Hoag said. There is no charge to the schools or the students for this service.

Hoag said the reason for this concern in the use and possession of tobacco by students is that 88 per cent of all lung cancer patients have a history of smoking. Thirty-seven thousand Americans will die this year of lung cancer, which is the fastest growing cancer in the U.S., he stated.

There also will be 37,600 persons killed on the nation's highways this year and there are safety programs to cut down traffic fatalities, but little information is given on how tobacco affects the human body, Hoag said.

Hoag stated that the six major causes of death in the United States are heart disease, cancer, stroke, pneumonia, influenza and tuberculosis. He said that 85 per cent of lung cancer is fatal, he added.

"Several chemicals known to be cancer-causing are in tobacco products," Hoag said. "The reason we are so concerned with this problem is that 85 per cent of lung cancer is fatal," he added.

Hoag quoted from Section 18 of the Idaho code which says in part: "Use of tobacco by minors, sales to or abetting minors, and every minor person who shall buy, accept, or have in his possession any cigarette, cigar or tobacco in any form shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Upon conviction thereof the shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100 and every person who shall give, sell, or furnish tobacco directly or indirectly in any form shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon the first of-

Taxpayers Urged To Support Issue

DECILO, Nov. 21—Joseph Gilette, of the Cassia county school board, urged all taxpayers to support the one million dollar school bond election Tuesday when as spoke at a PTA meeting here this week.

Melvin Darrington reported on obscene literature and Mrs. Lovell Purser was named chairman of a committee to secure playground equipment. Members include Clyde Wadsworth, Lawrence McGill and Kaye Curtis.

The national PTA president's message was read by Mrs. Austin Walker and Mrs. Lawrence Thompson gave the prayer.

Those shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50.00.

Record Mail Is Predicted At Christmas

Postmaster W. W. Franer, Twin Falls, predicted today that this year's Christmas mail will set an all-time record.

"We've found from past experience," Franer said, "that the biggest factor in successfully handling the Christmas mail rush is the full cooperation of the mailing public."

He then offered some helpful suggestions by stating, "It's time to start checking your gift and card lists very carefully, making sure that each address includes full name, street and number, city, zone and state. Use up-to-date heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons and strong cord to insure secure packing. Put stamps for your Christmas cards now, before the rush and avoid last-minute Christmas mailing headaches."

Use first class four-cent postage on Christmas cards. This enables the sender to include handwritten messages on the cards. Cards sent by first class mail are subject to forwarding or return service if necessary. Cards that are mailed at the one-cent rate, may include only the signature and will not be forwarded or returned. It is extremely important to return the postoffice and those on the mailing lists to include return name and address.

The postoffice provides free labels which read, "All for local delivery" and "All for out-of-town delivery." No Christmas cards can be sent in two classes before mailing, thus speeding handling and delivery.

The postmaster emphasized the importance of planning Christmas mailings so cards and gifts for distant relatives may be mailed by air.

Special effort should be made to get all out-of-town packages and cards to the postoffice by Dec. 10. Those for nearby points will arrive before Christmas eve if they are mailed by air.

Franer directed his appeal to "the lady of the house" for cooperation in mailing cards. She should also usually select the Christmas cards, buy most of the gifts and see that the Christmas mailing lists are up-to-date."

Special Services Slated at Burley

BURLEY, Nov. 21.—Joint menial services will be held in the Presbyterian church at 10 a.m. Thursday, reports the pastor, the Rev. E. H. Heltich. The service is under the direction of the Burley Ministerial association.

St. James Episcopal vicar, will deliver the message, "You are made for this world."

The combined choirs of the Presbyterian, Methodist, and Christian churches will sing "Triumph Thanksgiving" by Bachman, accompanied by the choir.

An offering will be taken to be used for benevolent purposes as a memorial emergency fund for stranded seafarers.

Other ministers participating in the service are the Rev. E. H. Heltich and the Rev. A. O. Steen.

T. F. Girl Wins Title of Queen

UNIVERSITY OF UTAH, Salt Lake City, Nov. 21.—Marilyn Kay Utas, daughter of Bill and Vera Utas, 610 Alturas drive, Twin Falls, has been named Queen at the University of Utah.

She was chosen queen as part of the annual homecoming week festivities at the university.

A freshman majoring in dance, Miss Utas is also a member of Delta Gamma social sorority at the Salt Lake City school.

She was crowned queen by spring from Twin Falls high school, where she was active in the pep club, Thebanian, cheerleader, drill team and ski and golf clubs.

Warning Issued On Lincoln Dogs

RICHFIELD, Nov. 21.—Seven dogs have been killed in Richfield and dog owners are warned against allowing them on school grounds or chasing cattle or sheep, by Lester Stubbs, acting marshal.

Called by Bill and Mrs. F. L. Manville, reports to have been chased off and not found to date. Stubbs said he disposed of two dogs this week after the animals were running in packs in town and adjoining areas.

Some of the dogs in the packs have licenses, he states. This action was taken by the Richfield school authorities after two children were bitten on the neck while playing with dogs on the school grounds.

ENTERTAINMENT IN NAVY: PROCEDE, Nov. 21.—Brice Herman Jacobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jacobson, and Robert Ivan Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell, have enlisted in the navy and are now receiving regular training at San Diego, Calif. Both are former Twin Falls high school students.

Savings Bond Volunteers Presented Awards

Area Men Receive Awards for Savings Bond Program Work

Guy H. Shearer, chairman of district three, Idaho savings bond committee, and Vern E. Hulbert, chairman of the Twin Falls bond committee, received high U.S. treasury department awards for volunteer efforts on the U.S. savings bonds program Friday, Oct. 3. Both are state directors.

Shearer has been a volunteer with the program since 1941. Hulbert has been county chairman for two years. Bothine stated in the last six years only 32 such awards have been presented in Idaho. This program is conducted primarily of volunteers.

The award presented to Shearer and Hulbert is an illuminated copy of President Eisenhower's inaugural prayer, framed in wood taken from the platform on which he stood when sworn in as president. The prayer was composed by President Eisenhower the morning of his inauguration on Jan. 20, 1953.

When making the presentation, Bothine said, "Together with thousands of other volunteers throughout the country, you are strengthening our financial security both at home and abroad."

As a treasury award, the prayer was engraved and framed through donations. It is reserved for presentation to individuals for exceptional public service in the promotion and sale of U.S. savings bonds.

Gooding Area Schools Pose Consolidation

WENDLE, Nov. 21.—School trustees from Hagerman, Wendell, Bliss and Orchard Valley met Thursday evening at the Bliss high school to discuss consolidating Bliss, Hagerman and Wendell high schools.

The plan presented by the three superintendents was the possibility of the creation of a high school at Tuttle to serve all the school districts.

Supr. Wayne Page, Wendell, reported on the assessed evaluation of the proposed new district. Supr. Orville Redding, Bliss, covered a similar consolidation now operating in Marsh Valley, and Chairman Price, superintendent at Hagerman, reviewed the present operating school.

Various phases of consolidation will be investigated by the superintendents and a report of their study will be returned next week.

GRANDSON HONORED

MURTAUGH, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Gertrude Dreyer, Murtaugh second grade teacher, received word this week that her grandson, Ray Dreyer, recently received a letter of commendation from the National Merit Scholarship corporation as one of six Eastern high school seniors who won honorable mention in the nationwide scholarship test taken last spring.

$7,000 Netted in T.F. Scout Drive

The Boy Scout fund drive in Twin Falls has netted more than $7,000 and all reports are not in, William Scarth, council executive reported Saturday.

We are in the clean-up stage now and are very anxious to have workers turn-in their money and reports as soon as possible as we will know where the drive stands," Scarth said.

About $24,000 of the $41,000 budget has been collected in the Snake River Council which administers all Scout troops in Magic Valley. Reports have not been received from most of the northside communities and the drive is still going on in many rural areas.

"When these reports are in, we should be getting close to our budget," Scarth predicted.

Death Claims Local Woman

Mrs. Nancy Sharp, 62, died at 6:35 a.m. Saturday at Magic Valley Memorial hospital after a long illness.

Miss Tippin and Wigington Wed In Church Rites

Large baskets of pink and white chrysanthemums and pink tapers in brass chandeliers formed the setting for the marriage of Elaine Tippin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tippin, and Robert J. Wigington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willford Wigington, both.

The double ring rite was conducted by the Rev. W. A. MacArthur at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 15, at the Methodist church. Jay Anderson, accompanied by Tom Holter, organist, sang "Beneath" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Wearing a full-length gown of white Chantilly lace, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The gown featured a sculptured bodice with a sabbina neckline edged in seed pearls and sequins and traditional long sleeves. The full skirt was fashioned with a court train.

Her blazon net fingertip veil was held in place by a seed pearl crown. She carried a cascade of Fujii chrysanthemums. Her jewelry consisted of a single tear drop pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom, and pearl earrings.

Ice blue tulle, brocade gown were worn by the bridesmaids. The gowns were accented with blue velvet cummerbunds and matching hats. They carried cascades of pink and white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Bill Carter was maid of honor, and Mrs. Stan Deweller and Mrs. Clyde McClain, jr. were bridesmaids.

John Duncan, flower girl, also frocked in ice blue tulle. A small bouquet of the bride was given by Craig Upman, nephew of the bridegroom. Larry Ward and Gary Ward, twin nephews of the bridegroom, were ring bearers and carried matching lace and satin heart-shaped billows. The tapers were lighted by Willford Ward and Ronnie Thompson.

Robert Field attended the bridegroom as best man, and Robert Combs and Clyde McClain, jr. were ushers.

Miss Smith and Leon Hyde Wed In Rupter Rites

RUPERT, Nov. 21—Carol Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith, and Leon Hyde, son of Mrs. Doris Hyde, were united in marriage in a ceremony Sunday evening, Nov. 14, in the Rupter society room of the Rupter First ward LDS church.

Bishop Earl Cerimony performed the double ring ceremony before each embraced with buccellery green as with bouquets of white chrysanthemums and white ribbon. Small white wedding bells hung from the top of the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was attired in a floor-length lace over laffeta gown fashioned with circular skirt and a long-sleeved, fitted bodice. The cuffs and the sabbina neckline were outlined with iridescent sequins. Her fingertip veil was accented with white streamers. Her bouquet was of baby pink cosmos with white carnations in a cascade with white streamers.

Verlyn Smith, sister of the bride, and Elnora Whitaker were bridesmaids. They wore iridescent-colored gowns and corsages of white chrysanthemums. The bridegroom's mother wore a black suit while the mother of the bride chose a black afternoon dress. Their flowers were pink carnations and pink roses.

Lynn Darley served as best man and Dean Smith honored. A reception honoring the young couple was held in the recreation hall immediately after the wedding. The three-tiered wedding cake, trimmed with pink roses and topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the cake-covered table. Lighted artificial roses circled the cake.

Caring for the gifts were Mrs. Guy Peterson, Mrs. L. E. Peterson, and Marilyn Monour and Elaine Robinson. Etta Smith and Linda Parker served as gift bearers. The bride's father, Mr. E. Smith, and her mother, Mrs. Doris Hyde, sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Wynona Buckley, Kaylene Nelson, Marlene Ramsey and Katherine Barnes. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Loren Anderson, Preston, and Mrs. Mathias Smith, Logan, grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Nelson, Fairview, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith and family, Tremonton, Utah; Mr. and Mrs. Vern Anderson, Burley; and Mr. and Mrs. John Logan, Springville, Utah.

The couple will be at home in Logan where he is attending Utah State college.

The University of Washington Huskies virtually clinched the West's 1938 Rose Bowl assignment today by whipping the Washington State Cougars 20-0 before a Pacific Northwest record football crowd of 66,000. Coupled with Oregon State's defeat of Oregon, the Huskies triumph left the Rose Bowl selection vote by Western Athletic directors a mere formality. At the same time Wisconsin's Schelders saw one first-quarter drive fizzle in a fumble on the 20-yard line, but the Huskies completely acquitted their old cross-state rival. Only twice did the Cougars threaten, one drive ending with a missed field goal and the other in an intercepted pass.

The Huskies scored on the first play of the game with a 35-yard field goal by George Albrecht. The Cougars' only play was a 20-yard pass to Fleming, which was intercepted by Albrecht.

Washington's vaunted pass defense lived up to its average with three interceptions and held the Cougars to just five completions in 11 tosses.

Kurt Cleger made seven tackles for Washington, including two sacks at tackle, Chuck Allen, turned in five, as did guard Bill Kinnunen.

Senator Humphrey to Be Next U.S. President, Writer Claims

Editor, Times-News:—If we are to judge the future by the past, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota, will be the next President of the U. S. Senator Humphrey supports the reciprocal trade agreement act as hard as Senator Malone fought to defeat it. Malone's record was perfect for reelection.

The southern Democrats have promised not to walk out if Senator Humphrey's name is put up at the next convention. A southern senator put it this way: "we won't walk out, we will get up and run out." This won't bother Senator Humphrey when Walter Reuther, David Beck, Harry Pittenger, Sen. Frank

Veterans Groups Thank Everyone For Cooperation

Editor, Times-News:—At the final meeting of our Veterans day observance committee (comprising all veterans organizations in this area), the membership voted unanimously that the organizations listed below be accorded public acknowledgment and thanks for their part in making our Veterans day celebration a big success.

To our businessmen for their 100 per cent closing; the emergency from various religious organizations who brought the day forth into its true spiritual light; the many parading units for a great show; our law enforcement agencies for excellent control of the spectators and parading units; for Ver Cox, KEEF radio, White Top club, the Wells brothers, and the Clements for their reviewing stand ceremony possible, and in particular for making it possible for all units to address the Veterans day address of Sen. Frank Church. For the sacred 11 a.m. tribute to the ever faithful Dr. O. A. Fuller for playing jazz and the Bob Kaiman for his inspiring meditation.

For the splendid hospitality to our special guests, the California navy drill team — go our thanks and appreciation to the Turf club, Rogerson coffee shop, Scott's cafe, El Rich, Starlight, Heile Braughn's, Monterey, Cape Cod, Branding Iron, Magic Valley, Covey's and E-Dah-How. The navy drill team expressed nothing but praise for the fine time and these good people gave them. It was the best they have received anywhere to date.

This 100 per cent community cooperation can only extract from us the highest praise.

For the fine crowd, our thanks for the superior publicity to KEEF, KEEF, KEEF, and the Tribune and Times-News and units that took part in the parade.

Thanks and appreciation to E. J. McCULLOUGH, Chairman, Veterans Day Observance.

Beer Sales Are Suspended Here

Twin Falls Police Chief Howard Gillette Friday suspended the sale of beer at three Twin Falls retail beer establishments for two weeks for selling beer to minors.

"If the operator does not take heed and respond, the second violation will result in a permanent suspension and revocation of his retail beer license," Gillette said in announcing the disciplinary action.

The chief declined to name the establishments, noting it has been the policy of the Twin Falls police department to suspend beer licenses on the first offense. He said the minors involved have been prosecuted—those 18 and over through regular charges and those 17 and under through the juvenile division.

The chief also disclosed that several grocery stores are under investigation for sale of beer to minors, with a possibility that they may lose their beer licenses.

Mrs. Phillips Is Honored at Rites

RUPERT, Nov. 21.—Funeral services for Mrs. Melissa Phillips were held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the First Christian church with Walter Stram, minister, officiating.

Flowers were arranged by Mrs. Mary Davis, Mrs. Rose Freymiller, Mrs. Edie Burton, Mrs. Shirley Davis, Mrs. Norma Newcomb, Mrs. Beale McLaws, Mrs. Mina May, Mrs. Esther Merritt, Mrs. Esther Montgomery, Mrs. Pat Powell, and Mrs. Pat Smith.

Mrs. Lloyd Knodel played the prelude and postlude and accompanied Mrs. Wayne Newcomb who sang two numbers.

Palbearers were Arlo Montcomery, Herbert Smith, George Burton, Earl Freymiller, Keith Powell and Jess Slaughter.

Concluding rites were in the Riverside cemetery, Heyburn.

Country Store Is Theme For Scouts

RUPERT, Nov. 21.—Five Cub Scout dens held their monthly pack meeting Wednesday evening at the Methodist church building. The theme for the evening was "Country Store" with booths and concessions.

Carl Jenke, Cub master for the Monticola district, conducted the meeting.

As a highlight of the program, Clifford Miller, commander of the Rupert Veterans of Foreign Wars, post 2874, presented five certificates with flags for the group.

Receiving the flags were Mrs. Lee Wallace, Mrs. Edie Burton, Mrs. John Simpson, Mrs. George Grant and Mrs. Don Hess.

Tourist Event Set in Spring By Area Unit

WENDELL, Nov. 21.—A tourist school is scheduled for early spring, sponsored by the Northside Communities, Inc. It was reported as a meeting of the group Thursday night at the Stop cafe.

Ray Clark, Jerome, will be in charge of arrangements. Dr. E. B. Robinson, Arco, reported his community wants to participate in the event.

Dr. M. E. Scheel, Wendell, was appointed representative to fill the unexpired term of Larry Row Wendell, who resigned. Jack Lavin, Jerome, ranger representing the Hailey Chamber of Commerce, answered questions on Stanley basin and the Sawtooth valley.

Other guest speakers were Mrs. Isabelle C. Miller, Twin Falls, who operates the Clark-Miller guest ranch, and Maurice Nevins, owner of Smiley Creek lodge in the Sawtooth valley.

Harley Crippen, Gooding, reported the Gooding Chamber of Commerce approved the proposal to rotate the July 4 celebrations in one of the communities of Wendell, Jerome, Gooding and Shoshone.

Two representatives from each community will work together to plan the 1954 celebration to be held in either Jerome or Shoshone, according to Hugh Nelson, Jerome, vice president, who presided in the absence of J. H. Freeman, Wendell, president.

Twenty-three persons attended. They represented Jigley, Jerome, Fairfield, Gooding, Wendell, Stanley and the Sawtooth valley.

Refreshments were served by the Gooding chamber with William Pyle, chamber secretary, in charge. The next meeting will be held Dec. 18.

Wendell Sets 4 Vote Plans

WENDELL, Nov. 21.—Four elections have been set for Dec. 7 in the Wendell area. They include two highway districts, Wendell cemetery board and rural fire district.

Wendell highway district No. 6 will elect one commissioner from sub-district No. 3 to succeed Lloyd Anderson. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the West Point highway district No. 4 will elect one commissioner for a term of four years from sub-district No. 3 to succeed commissioner Mark Strickland. The polls will be open from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. at West Point Orange hall.

Wendell cemetery maintenance district will elect one commissioner for a four-year term to succeed Mrs. H. J. Barton. Polls will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the city hall.

Wendell rural fire department will elect fire commissioners for sub-district No. 1 and No. 2 for terms of four years to succeed A. J. Eystala and Elmer Johnson. Polls will be open at the city hall from noon to 7 p.m.

Fined for Check

BURLEY, Nov. 21.—Lawrence Weeks, 31, Burley, was fined $85 for writing a second check when he appeared before Probate Judge Vern Carter Wednesday.

He is on probation to the court for six months. He is to pay for the check written and if there should be a second offense he will be turned over to district court, Carter stated.

The complaint was signed by Alta Sporting Goods, Burley.

Two representatives from each community will work together to plan the 1954 celebration to be held in either Jerome or Shoshone, according to Hugh Nelson, Jerome, vice president, who presided in the absence of J. H. Freeman, Wendell, president.

Twenty-three persons attended. They represented Jigley, Jerome, Fairfield, Gooding, Wendell, Stanley and the Sawtooth valley.

Refreshments were served by the Gooding chamber with William Pyle, chamber secretary, in charge. The next meeting will be held Dec. 18.

SERVES SENTENCE
BURLEY, Nov. 21.—Hubert Heaton, Mammoth, Ore., was sentenced to serve 10 days in jail by Burley Police Judge Henry Tucker when he was unable to pay a $25 fine for intoxication. He was arrested by a Burley police officer.

Girl Returns Home After Bout With Brain Surgery

Linda Wambolt, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wambolt, Jerome, is expected to arrive home today from Salt Lake City where she had the second of two major brain operations. Her mother says the serious operations keep Linda busy growing hair. (Staff engraving)

JEROME, Nov. 21—Linda, 11, comes home Sunday to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wambolt, Jerome, after more major surgery in the past few months than most persons would face in a lifetime.

Since September, 1958, she has had two brain operations at the LDS Hospital in Salt Lake City. Both operations were undertaken in an attempt to remove malignant tissue. The last operation was Nov. 10 and doctors told Mr. and Mrs. Wambolt the operations were delaying actions.

Before her first operation on Sept. 13, 1958, Linda had been sick for several months. Mrs. Wambolt says her symptoms were often like flu. But later her eyesight was affected and doctors diagnosed the brain tumor. They operated and a week later discovered the tumor was malignant.

But Linda didn't know this. She soon regained outwardly good health and returned to school. She felt good and her scholastic record was normal.

Linda's health was good until three weeks ago. Then her vision bothered her again. She returned to the hospital for observation. She underwent surgery again and scar tissue was removed. Mrs. Wambolt says the last operation was undertaken as a last resort. The doctors say the malignancy has spread into inoperable areas. There is a limit to how much surgery can be done.

Mrs. Wambolt says aside from the normal torment that goes with such things, it is extremely difficult to raise a youngster with such an illness.

"The problem of disciplining such a child torments parents. 'But you have to do it for her own good,' Mrs. Wambolt says. 'It's hard to deny her things. Whether you can afford them or not, you would like to get them for her. But she really isn't spoiled.'

Right now Mrs. Wambolt says Linda's spirits are good. Friends of the family are going to pick her up at the hospital and fly her home.

Boy Preparing to Put Turkey in His Place—on Platter

The boy's name is Greg Hull and it appears the turkey's name is mud because that isn't a manure set in Greg's hands. And the look on Greg's face is not exactly one of sympathy as he illustrates one of the first steps necessary to put the turkey in his proper place—on a platter entering a family dinner table on Thanksgiving day. Greg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hull, who also own the turkey. (Color photo by John Eaton—staff engraving)

Barrel, Innertubes Used In Making Bucking Horse

JEROME, Nov. 21—All you need to import your children to the ageless in your own backyard is a $3-million oil drum, an old tank, four old innertubes and two coils of chain.

These are the components that go into a bucking barrel—the device used by rodeo cowboys in the fall season. Inexpensive rodeo contestants and youngsters with a fondness of energy.

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roseberry, Jerome, are two magic trick boys who are getting an early start in the rodeo game through the use of a bucking barrel.

Roseberry built the barrel for his boys a little more than a year ago. He patterned it after a barrel his brother—the late Don Roseberry, a professional rodeo cowboy—had built, when they were just boys. They lived on a ranch near Richfield. Don Roseberry, who was killed in an automobile accident several years ago, was a well-known Idaho rodeo cowboy.

Roseberry says his brother built the barrel for winter practice for riding bucking horses. Roseberry, who has spent a few years as a rodeo contestant himself, says the barrel gives a realistic ride.

The rig is simple. A saddle is slung to a barrel and the barrel is suspended by four chains or cables between posts or trees.

One or two men get on either end of the barrel, grab the chains, and shake them for all they are worth. The result is a rough, tricky and realistic horse—for barrel-back-ride. Roseberry says the barrel develops timing and coordination. He says the barrel, operated by vigorous operators gives a ride worse than a horse and can be operated so that it is virtually impossible to ride.

When he built the bucking barrel for the boys, he used innertubes between the barrel and the supporting cables. They serve as shock absorbers.

"The barrel is a popular toy with the Roseberry children and their friends, Roseberry says whenever company arrives the bucking barrel is the most popular attraction for visiting children. They head directly for the barrel and start the games.

Caves, Mountains Near Ely Are Proposed for New National Park

ELY, Nev., Nov. 21—(Special)—The proposed national park, which would be the 21st in the nation—has been under study by national authorities since 1936 and will be the subject of a congressional hearing at Ely Dec. 5, 7 and 8. It would represent in the park system a type of country not now included, and those who have studied it proclaim enthusiastically that it would be a real eye-opener for those who have considered the Great Basin an uninteresting desert.

Lehman caves (accessible by hard-surfaced highway and open the year around) would be neither the least nor the greatest attraction of the park, which would have the same status as Yellowstone and Grand Teton. The caves are outstanding for intricate decoration and world famous for the most extensive display of the rare "halite" formation known anywhere.

But national park service investigators consider the amazing variety of vegetation—technically, the ecology—the primary reason for park status. And they consider the forests of bristle-cone pines, oldest living things on Earth, recently found to be more ancient even than the giant sequoias, the most remarkable part of the vegetation.

There are more than half a dozen timberline forests of bristle-cones in the rugged mountain areas above Lehman caves, with trees ranging from shaggy youngsters like Christmas trees to gnarled oaks more than 30 feet in trunk circumference. The wood of the ancient ones is bare of bark, polished by wind-blown snow and ice crystals glowing yellow in the sun or red when it rains. Yet the trees still cling to life through narrow strips of bark in leeward folds of the gnarled trunks.

It is almost impossible to tell their exact ages, for in some cases the weathering has been so extensive that the original hearts of the trees have been ground away. These fantastic gobkins are great subjects for photography, and few people have returned from one of the bristle-cone forests with any camera film left.

The bristle-cones are, however, only the "stars" of the ecological show. Getting down to fundamental

They figure of a man on top of this huge limestone arch gives an idea of the formation in Lehman canyon, part of the proposed Great Basin national park. (Fahr photo—staff engraving)

Bucking Barrel Provides Tough Ride for Boy

Steve Roseberry, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roseberry, Jerome, gets a tough ride aboard the bucking barrel in the family's front yard. Carl Roseberry plays the part of the bucking horse and gives his son a real rodeo-like ride. Roseberry built the bucking barrel over a year ago for his two sons, Steve and Blake. Rodeo cowboys use the barrels to get the feet of a bucking horse or bull. Roseberry put the innertubes on the support lines to absorb shock for the young riders. (Staff photo—engraving)

Burley Couple Knows About Teamwork

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Garrard, Burley, have worked together to develop their business. Garrard's hobby is the public address systems he takes his throughout the West for the past 12 years. He has helped with all outdoor shows in the West with such stars as Big Crosby, Rex Allen and even ridden Roy Rogers' horse, Trigger. Mrs. Garrard, who works beside her husband in the radio business, has her own hobby of arranging. (Times photo by Irving)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

"Teamwork has played an important part in my life," says Alton Garrard. This teamwork was responsible for the first radio to be heard in BURLEY, Garrard recalls. "It was during the winter of 1923-24 that Jud Vitor, graded Jones has others and myself worked, studied and finally finished this receiver type radio set. We worked string in kerosene. I'd sit around square fruit jars, then fill the string, thus cutting off the tops of the bottles so we could use them in making our batteries."

"We made plates out of lens like car glasses material for batteries. We used a solution of acid for the charge, and by experiment finally obtained the right voltage. We covered them with old tire inner tubes so they wouldn't splatter," he added.

"We got the design for our three-tube radio from a magazine, and I shall never forget that night in an upstairs room of one of the men's homes when we heard our radio for the first time," he recalls.

"We were all so excited and the reception wasn't very loud. In fact we had to put it to our ears to hear it, but I don't remember the first music we heard," direct from Florida, for it was "The end of a Yuletide."

Garrard says Vitor is working for the government as an electrician in California. He lives in Twin Falls.

Garrard was born at MAMHOE, six miles south of the town of Burley. It took several years to clear the acre to grow with the old Johnson asphalt grader.

His first experience in school was accompanying his brothers' to a private school without an "A" school. The pupils sat on barrels and boxes and there was straw on the floor to help keep their feet warm.

Garrard attended the grade school at PEZZA and when he was 10 he had a job in the home and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Crady Garrard, were his teachers.

He was graduated from Burley high school in 1923.

"A lot of changes have occurred in Burley since I was a child. I remember winning a little red wagon at a Fourth of July celebration in 1920. My brothers and I were in the present home located at 1842 Burton," he stated.

"We kept that little wagon in the family for years. I sent that wagon in to the garage and I've been on the go ever since," he adds.

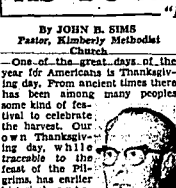

After he was graduated from high school he wanted to attend the University of Colorado, but his father had no money to send him to college. He worked for the late Fred Vitor, a merchant who sold radios. "He was a fine man and told me he would give me a set at wholesale, and I'd sell it," he told.

Garrard says "My father gave me $50, so with this teamwork I got my first radio business."

"It was able to sell that first radio, a battery set, and then I sold many others and began servicing the ones I sold. I was making more from service than sales. I am very grateful for the help that Vitor and my father gave me," he says.

Garrard married Bobbie Barbee in 1924. Because of an automobile accident she was hospitalized in Lak Lake City in 1931. He was in the home for the fall of 1932 when they moved back home. Her father, Charles Pa...

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

note make his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and cause his sun to set on the just and the unjust? Mercy and blessing spring from God's nature, not from man's deserving.

"Thanksgiving celebrates what God does for man which man can do for himself. It is God's harvest which evokes gratitude in man. This realization of a harvest as something given, which man cannot create, results in humility and gratitude which are exercised only in thanksgiving. For however skilled man may be in his task, however faithful to duty, however diligent in labor, however knowledgeable in nature's laws, he cannot of himself produce a harvest. It takes the whole of God and his universe to produce a harvest of grace or a grain of wheat.

Every thanksgiving festival, ancient or modern, is really a testimony of man's dependence on God's grace. It is not the celebration of what man has done. It is not self-praise based upon pride. It does not spring from the belief that God blesses us because we deserve it. Thanksgiving springs from the belief that God blesses us beyond our deserving, despite our undeserving. Does He

It May Be Normal Fear of Blood Pressure Has Little Basis in Fact

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service

These days, almost everyone you meet seems to have blood pressure on the brain. "Those with high blood pressure are the public worship of 'disease' or a 'weak heart.' Those with high blood pressure live in fear of a stroke, a coronary attack or loss of vision.

Actually, these fears have little basis in fact.

Most persons with pressure readings that are below the statistical average have levels that are their particular normal. A hall of fame baseball player of a generation ago never had a level of 100 throughout his long and fiery career. Other hypotensive persons with low pressure are merely suffering from fatigue or overwork and their levels rise to the normal range as soon as they're rested.

Why does hypertension indicate the presence of some serious underlying condition? Even less than a try to raise blood pressure without first making an attack on the basic condition that's responsible.

But its hypertension (high pressure) — notice the difference in spelling — that people worry most about is their habit of taking responsible positions and over-seeing women who are nearing the menopause or who have already passed through this stage in their life.

Now, if you've gotten a high pressure reading, especially from a strange doctor like an insurance salesman or a physician in an induction center, here's what you might do to find out if your health and life are endangered by this finding:

Check with your family doctor. Make sure the reading is not a false reading due to a natural reflex with the barrel and one that may be the most common is simply to see who can stay on the longest. Both Steve and Blake have earned all the prizes used in unseating 'dunder' riders.

So far no one has been hurt, (or stoned) by the bucking barrel. Roseberry says once he was giving Steve a particularly hard ride and right in the middle of a strenuous 'buck' Roseberry gave the barrel a twist. Steve soared in the air and then landed startled, but unharmed, in his father's arms.

The barrel is having its effect on the boys' plans for the future. Blake says he plans to be a rodeo cowboy, riding horses, but adding riding horses—and barrels—is fun.

Chemical in Cranberry Troubles Has Been Used in Valley for Five Years

Amidst the chemical associated with cranberries these days, has been used for about five years in Magic Valley, Idaho.

This patented chemical has been sold largely under the trade name of "Wet" in the cranberry business. Farmers who have gotten in trouble with this chemical is the one used increasingly in relation to the pure food and drug act.

Speeded

The act provides that no chemical can be placed in a food without a specific tolerance for it. For antimicrobial, inspectors had set a zero tolerance for this because they didn't know how much was safe and how much was unsafe. It was used until further.

Cranberry producers in Oregon and the chemical according to this report, to spray weeds that are "dead" in the cranberry fields while the cranberry was dormant. Producers waited till the weeds had died. The plant was not dormant any more. The spray was killed up and transplanted into the cranberry fields. The tolerance is for antimicrobials to be used on food.

Rule Violation

In Magic Valley, the spray has been used to kill weeds in alfalfa, timothy and wild ground cherry and Russian knapweed. It is supposed to be an effective against root plants. It has been ineffective against morning glory because it kills the top but not the tap root for the chemical to be absorbed in the root system.

The present controversy broke out, no valley farmer had been given any information on the availability, qualities near cranberry fields and growing grasses. Do not kill the weeds in your cranberry fields. Be very careful with it as they are with spraying.

When quick tests are approved with the chemical, it is possible that it is destroyed so that it is safe to eat the straw. When farmers want to burn

Grangers to Assist With Bloodmobile

HANSEN, Nov. 21—Members of the Hansen Grange will furnish a bloodmobile for the Grange Red Cross blood drawing to be held in Kimberly from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Members will help serve the luncheon. The group planned at a recent meeting to have a truck on the Grange building next week.

Hugh Sanderson, master, announced that the Grange will include Mrs. Vance Nayor, courtesy and publicity; Kenneth Taylor, chairman; Mrs. Earl Barnes, sales and finance; and Maurice Capps, Levin Kevan and Mrs. L. Barnes, legislative and resolutions.

John Schab, Mrs. Capps and Peter Muller, membership; Lester Nayor, Earl Barnes and Mrs. Clarence Hofffield; fair; Vance Nayor and Levin Kevan; and Mrs. Mrs. Earl Barnes, polo and Red Cross blood drawing; Mrs. John Schab and Mrs. Earl Barnes, captains; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hofffield and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Taylor, executive committee; Mrs. Hofffield, home economics.

Roll call was answered with what was the Grange building. Mrs. Kenneth Nayor, Mrs. Peter Muller, Earl Barnes, Mrs. Vance Nayor, and Mrs. Earl Barnes, and Patty Hisslam gave readings.

It was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barnes will be giving a luncheon at the next meeting on the state Grange held at Sanderson in the city and will show pictures of some of their trips.

Lee Hisslam and his daughter, Patty, were hosts.

Brutal German Film on War Is Drawing Record Crowds

BEHLIN, Nov. 21 (UP)—A brutal German film about war is drawing record crowds in West Berlin and West Germany.

Most critics agree that the picture, which makes war look like an insane nonsense, is one of the greatest ever made in Germany.

Called "Die Brucke" (The Bridge), it was turned out on a coasting by Bernard Wicki, a Swiss actor, and is being shown mainly in West Germany.

The film tells what happened to seven German schoolboys—aged 10—

Trio Provides Outstanding Examples of Grass Use in Top T. F. County Program

After moving his cattle to the corral where he will cut calves already sold, Ralph Schmitt, Ferguson rancher, will move whiteface cows in background back on his field of crested wheatgrass. Schmitt, a member of the Twin Falls soil conservation district board of supervisors, said if he hadn't had the program and seeded several thousand acres to grass he would have had to sell part of his cattle operation. (Staff photo-Engraving)

Where these black Angus grass this lush grass near Hot creek, these 300 acres were considered useless only about five years ago because of an alkali condition in the soil. Henry Nob, Regester rancher, planted it to tall wheatgrass, an alkali-tolerant grass, after consulting the soil conservation service. (Soil conservation service photo-staff engraving)

Grass Program in County Rated Tops in West as Answer to Lack of Rains

Most people in Twin Falls county to have forgotten what a shocker it was seven years ago to hear that grass could be drilled in the desert and grown without irrigation.

They take for granted now a large seeding program of about 10,000 additional acres each year and are unaware the county had one of the most successful drought stricken areas of the West.

Told Grass Couldn't Grow

Clarence Hedrick, technician for the Twin Falls soil conservation district, an area of 815,000 acres south of the highline canal to the Nevada border, recalls that in the fall of 1952, when he was first assigned to the district, he was asked to seed grass on several acres near the town of Hot Creek. The grass was to be sown and grow in the desert.

Most people told him he was wasting his time trying to do anything about it.

But now, Hedrick doesn't have to show anyone that grass can be drilled and grown for good cattle forage on the desert. And grass is now growing out of rock crevices on a bureau of land management land seeded by Tom Callen near Regester.

Where the 1952 grass survey of the district turned up only 150 acres of introduced dryland grasses, the 1959 survey showed approximately 120,000 acres have been successfully seeded, much of it on private desert lands.

Development is Greatest

Instead of halting there are 200,000 acres of irrigated land on the side of U. S. highway No. 93 down to Nevada border.

This year's development is greater than any other district in the county, and its implications through this recent letter from Walter R. Pransky:

"I think the progress in range seeding and other range conservation practices in the Twin Falls conservation district rank as the most outstanding achievement in the West."

Pransky is chief range conservation specialist, soil conservation service, USDA, for all western states. He is well-known to many livestock operators.

"This achievement dates back to 1941 when Salmon tract farmers and ranchers organized a soil conservation district voluntarily by petition, a hearing and then voters. As a result, technicians arrived in the fall of 1953 after the district had been established by the technical assistance with the USDA for technical assistance. Hedrick and others conducted a grass survey and

Ellis Fuller, one of the four finalists for the 1959 Idaho Grassman of the year, shows some of the mixed Angus cattle on the first split field of introduced grasses in the Twin Falls soil conservation service. When this field proved successful, other members proceeded

Cattle Trained From Nevada Range to Home Farm Sites in Twin Falls County

More than 1,000 head of cattle were trailed out of Nevada grazing round most of a week ago to home farms in Twin Falls county.

At least 500 had been trailed the week previous, in addition to cattle being trucked back.

All the cattle belong to members of the Salmon River Cattlemen's association, an organization consisting of 45 members with no member permitted to hold more than 500 shares.

The grazing area which the cattle were trailed is a vast 10,000 acres of seeded land in Nevada, the larger number of acres being the bureau of land management. The Nevada region, which takes in mountains, valleys, and streams was owned once by the fabulous Utah Cattle and Horse Company, one of the old outfits that held one of the largest areas and numbers of sheep and cattle in the United States.

In 1947, the association and Salmon River cattlemen collectively purchased the rangeland and 6,000 acre-feet of decreed water rights at Little Salmon and Snake. The canal company kept the water rights and the cattle association had the grazing rights.

About 4,000 head of cattle grazed the Nevada lands this summer. The cattle belong to members of John Nob also used the summer.

During October, about 1,400 head of cattle were trailed from the range in a large roundup that required nearly all members of the association.

The roundup on the remaining 3,200 whiteface cows and calves began.

Acres of introduced grasses on all his lands. His carrying capacity was about 250 cows, almost half of which he has today.

"If I hadn't done any seeding anywhere I'd have had to sell out all my cattle during these dry years. These seedings are the only things that have held the cattle together in the low grazing country."

His program began back in the late 1950s when he was approached by Hedrick and Donald Douglas, the range specialist who is the plant material center, Aberdeen.

Since then he has seeded about 3,000 acres into crested wheatgrass, alfalfa and other grasses. Although he has irrigated land on which he raised certified potatoes this year, he has taken 100 acres out of production and put it into Siberian, Crested and Whitman wheats.

His seedlings are good well as the oak plant some irrigated pastures to help sustain his cattle. He has had from 100 to 150 acres of alfalfa, later Orchardgrass and Crested, and in good condition may range from 40,000 to 60,000 pounds of seed.

Schmitt has been an unusual cooperator in the program, a fact appreciated by Hedrick. Fred Price, area range specialist who has been busy in preparing plans for range management, and Walter Hankins, technician.

Schmitt plans to increase his Whitman plantings because this grass stays green later in the summer than other wheats in the low country. He will extend his ten-acre rotations.

In summer the grass program has increased the value of these acres from $4 an acre up to $15, by making a profitable product of surplus live livestock operators.

It has helped livestock operators to survive the native grasses rest and competition by letting him produce beef.

It has helped the rancher in desert areas with a firm supply of feed, even in the driest of years. And has reduced the risk of dependency on cheap grain, a poor grain at best.

It has permitted cattle to graze earlier in the spring and later in the fall by using different grasses for different elevations. A few of these are Crested, Whitman and Siberian wheats on the lower elevations and subsequent intermediate wheats on the higher.

Some Ranchers Save

It has saved some ranchers who had grazing allotments cut on BLM and forest service lands. In turn, the government agencies have found some ranchers more willing to let the native grasses rest and rejuvenate themselves under programs of brush eradication.

Also, a minor grass seed industry has grown in Magic Valley, totaling between $100,000 and $200,000 annually. On the large part of the Salmon tract, the grass seed program has replaced some of the old cattle row crops that the water shortage doesn't plough hard on the whole farm.

End Seen in Rise For Farm Assets

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UPI)—Farm asset prices are expected to level off, according to economic forecasters predicting the long rise in farm assets might come to a halt in 1959 or 1961.

A new credit and finance report showed farm assets and equities rose in 1958. But the increase was only about two and one-half per cent, the smallest rise since 1955. The report said the steady rise in farm land values was expected to slacken or stop in the next year or so.

The report also said declines in cattle prices could reduce the value of the national cattle inventory.

It forecast that the November price also will be down from 1958. The declines are the result of low prices for both broiler chickens and eggs this year.

Nation's Chicken Production Down

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UPI)—Chicken production by commercial hatcheries in October was 11 per cent below the same month last year, the agriculture department reports.

It forecast that the November price also will be down from 1958. The declines are the result of low prices for both broiler chickens and eggs this year.

Some Varieties of Hard Red Winter Wheat Fail

Some varieties of hard red winter wheat were under attack last week at a meeting of district three of the Idaho Wheatgrowers Association, according to David Cunkel, district president, and Bruce Kunkel, representative to the state association.

Nothing bad could be said about the varieties of hard red wheat raised throughout Magic Valley. Lemhi and Federation, the soft white wheats used for cake flour are meeting all the milling standards, both in protein and cohesion.

The varieties of hard red wheat that aren't meeting standards, said Kunkel, are Washach and Cache. Turkey red is also being called "fair" for the millers' demands.

These hard winter wheats, which have been around dry farms for many years, were reported to the wheatgrowers association to be lacking in cohesive qualities when they are being processed for flour. Their protein content is high enough for the millers' standards.

Washach and Cache were grown widely in Fairfield, Albion and Tuff river areas. Their popularity had come down somewhat with the increased use of Turkey red and probably they will disappear as more seed is made available from the present limited supplies of Columbia and Lithana.

These new hard winter wheats are reported to be higher protein with higher protein content. They also are supposed to contain the other factors needed by millers of hard red winter wheat.

Lemhi and Federation, the soft white spring wheats that irrigated farmers plant for the highest yields in Idaho, came in for particular praise. The use of these two spring wheats as standards for irrigated lands was compared to the use of more than 10 varieties grown in Oregon. Neither Oregon millers nor farmers have decided what they have as to yields, protein content and other standards by which a wheat is valued.

Farm Expenses Hit New Mark

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UPI)—Farm operating expenses will hit record high of about 26 billion dollars this year and are likely to be higher in 1960, an agriculture department report predicts.

The expected increase, combined with a further drop in farm prices, would tighten the cost-price squeeze on U. S. farmers.

In a breakdown of expenses, the department said taxes and interest paid by farmers in 1960 would be at least as high as this year, and about 10 percent higher. The same would be true for depreciation charges and for most industrial goods purchased by farmers, it said.

Lengthy Surplus For Feed, Stock Being Predicted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UPI)—An agriculture department expert says the nation probably will have surplus production of feed and livestock for as far ahead as anyone can foresee.

George Scoville, head of the department's cost, income and efficiency research branch, said this surplus production of feed and livestock would increase the consumption unless there was a long severe drought.

Scoville's predictions were prepared for the department's annual farm outlook conference.

Meat Production Up to 10 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UPI)—Meat production under federal inspection last week came to 470 million pounds, 10 per cent above the total for the same week last year, the agriculture department notes.

This was the largest single week's total in nearly three years. The biggest increase came in hog slaughter. It was 15 per cent above the same week a year ago. Cattle slaughter was up six per cent.

Spectacular Cave and Outstanding Scenery Included in Proposed National Park Area Near Ely, Nevada

"The Angel's Wing" is one of many formations in Lehman caves, the national monument included in the proposed Great Basin national park near Ely, Nev. The caves are accessible now by hand-surfaced highway and are open the year around. The caves are outstanding for intricate decoration and famous for the rare "paleo" formation. (Fehr photo—staff engraving)

A "castle wall" more than a thousand feet high bends in a semi-circle around high Treasure lake among Engelmann spruce trees in the proposed Great Basin national park near Ely, Nev. Although snow lasts all year at this lake, the hot Great Basin desert is located only a few miles away. Hearings on the proposal for the new national park have been scheduled at Ely in early December. Congress may take action on the proposal during its next session. (Photo by Irwin Fehr—staff engraving)

Caves Near Ely, Surrounding Regions Are Proposed for New National Park

Wildlife also is present in amazing variety in the proposed park—pronghorn antelope on the valley edges, mule deer, foxes, bobcats, mountain lion, Canadian mountain sheep, elk and hundreds of kinds of smaller creatures.

Geologically, the Snake range which is crowned by Wheeler peak (13,063 feet above sea level), illustrates the distinctive earth-crust structure of basin-and-range topography, characteristic of a wide area of the West but found in only one other place in the world, the valley of Africa. One of the most memorable features of the proposed park would be the vast panorama of mountain ranges alternating with valleys for hundreds of miles into the blue distance— from parking overlooks high on a scenic drive expected now to be named "Sky Island road." One entrance to this road would be from U. S. highway 93 in Spring valley about 40 miles southwest of Ely.

Still another amazing geologic feature is a small but active geyser (chasm) just northeast of Wheeler peak and only eight miles from Lehman caves at the edge of the vast desert. The blue ice and deep crevasses of that glacier, which overtook the hot, dry flats of arid Nevada, are always a surprise to the hiker although he has been told of them in advance.

Groups Endorse Plan

The proposed park has camp and picnic grounds along fine mountain streams—and sites for many more to be developed.

There are half a dozen jewel-like lakes near timberline, occupying basins hollowed out by glaciers of times gone by and there are canyons with limestone cliffs and pinnacles rising in thousand-foot steps from the forested floor to peaks above timberline. In one of the canyons is a stone arch large enough to span a six-story building, a natural wonder which can be seen now from a dirt-road good enough for a car.

Among Oldest Life on Earth

Some of the oldest living things on earth. They are among a wide variety of vegetation found in the area comprising the proposed Great Basin national park near Ely on U. S. highway 93. (Photo by Irwin Fehr—staff engraving)

Park Has Camp

Extent of support for the new national park is shown by endorsements of numerous nationwide organizations, including the National parks association with headquarters at Washington, D. C. and by the fact that the Nevada Foundation for a National Park has as co-chairmen the only two living former governors of Nevada, one Democrat, the other Republican. Bills to establish this 31st national park (S-2664 in the senate and H.R. 1115 in the house) may come to a vote in the next session of congress.

Meanwhile, ever-increasing numbers of tourists will enjoy the caves, the arch, the canyons and other parts of the proposed park which are already accessible.

Baptists Will Hear Speaker

Dr. Oliver W. Hasselblad, a Baptist missionary in Assam, India for 20 years, and brother of the Rev. Ernest Hasselblad, pastor of the Twin Falls Baptist church, will be guest speaker at 11 a.m. Sunday at the church.

Dr. Hasselblad took over supervision of the general hospital in Jorhat, Assam, in 1928, as a 25-year-old physician. When he left Assam in 1927, it was a 225-bed hospital, and there were an enlarged court settlement, two outlying medical units in the Nagas hills and a tuberculosis sanitarium.

He supervised the leprosy hospital in Manipal for three years and is now president of the American Leprosy mission, an international agency working in cooperation with 45 Protestant missionary boards. 300 missionary doctors, nurses, social workers and technicians, serving 70,000 patients in 32 countries of five continents.

Dr. Hasselblad is on a speaking tour in the Western states and will spend several days with the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Hasselblad and family. His only speaking engagement in Magic Valley will be Sunday at the First Baptist church.

Cooks Should Remember That Venison Cannot Be Treated as Domestic Meat

By JIM HURMBIRD
 Every hunter knows that venison is not a domestic meat. It is a wild game animal and should be treated as such. Many hunters are unaware that venison is not a domestic meat and should be treated as such. Many hunters are unaware that venison is not a domestic meat and should be treated as such. of elk, and something like one roasts, steaks and chops from older animals, should be tenderized with moose and antelope venison. Game animals forage for their food, hence the muscles develop a marbled texture. This is why venison is so tender. The fat and connective tissues that are used for modern meat cooking apply just the same to venison.

Game animals forage for their food, hence the muscles develop a marbled texture. This is why venison is so tender. The fat and connective tissues that are used for modern meat cooking apply just the same to venison. Venison, like other game meats, has a distinctive flavor and, unless it has not received proper field care, this definitely may be objectionable. Seasoning is very important. It can help make a disagreeable taste, being good or bad, a desirable flavor and add variety to the menu.

Preparation of Game Meat Is Important to Taste

Thousands of tons of venison and other game meats hang in Idaho lockers each fall, tangible benefits of nimrodian exertions in the back country for moose and elk, bighorn sheep and goat, and deer and antelope. Venison was the best loved meat on the American frontier—and still is in many households. It is lean and somewhat dry, but these characteristics can be corrected by adding generous amounts of fat and by proper cooking. (Fish and game department photo—staff engraving)

Basic rules are to bleed, draw, clean and cool immediately. Spread body cavity with a salt and hazy carcass filler by antlers or hind legs with or without hide (controversial) points until cooler, being careful not to heat animal. Hang or age in cooler or in ice for 24 to 48 hours. Venison was the best loved meat of the American frontier—and still is in many households. It is lean and somewhat dry, but these characteristics can be corrected by adding generous amounts of fat and by proper cooking.

When preparing rump, round or standing rib roasts, trim away as much skin, fat and silver as possible, then marinate. One mixture is one-half part vinegar to cover, adding a tablespoon of salt for each quart. Meat should be covered completely. Insert a sharp knife into each square inch of surface to allow liquid to penetrate, rubbing bay leaves and whole cloves. Remove and fine meat after 24 hours in mixture. Dry roast and refrigerate without freezing until needed. The next day, lad in pieces of cold, firm beef suet and bacon that

Workers Preparing to Bring First of Christmas Decorations to Twin Falls

The Twin Falls park and recreation department is getting ready to start a project that is one of the town's most colorful Christmas decorations throughout the business district and at entrances to the city. For several years the department has worked in cooperation with the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce to add to the local Christmas cheer. The chamber buys the decorations and the department puts them up, maintains them and takes them down. The department started preparations for putting the decorations up last Wednesday night with a crew of 10 men. Another work party is set for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. About 10 persons from the department will work Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday. All the decorations will be up by Friday. Volunteer workers assisting with the decorations were Verne Harrison, J. C. Penney company; Morris Roth, Becky Shoe store; John Roper, Roper's; Forest Olsen, Western Auto; Ray Grandall, has made the job much easier in the past years. The permanent poles and ladder truck combine to cut the work in half. Crater says three clocks regulate the time the lights are turned on from 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. Electricity costs about $100 for the lights during the season. In the past three years the Chamber of Commerce has spent more than $2,000 for Christmas decorations. Last year it spent $3,000 for the poles. This year the Chamber of Commerce has spent $150 for lights, garlands and other decorations. After the last year and several months of storage, the white garlands were somewhat soiled. Workers tried many ways to clean the plastic garlands with little success. Finally they simply took them to the Parlan Laundry and Dry Cleaners and put them in a washing machine. It worked.

INVITE THIS "smoothie" to Your Thanksgiving Feast

ONE INGREDIENT makes the wonderful difference between rather ordinary pumpkin pie and one that's super smooth and satisfying. The one ingredient is evaporated milk. The salty-smooth, uniform, modern milk for modern cooks. Try it! See how holiday treats or everyday dishes are smoothed and improved with evaporated milk.

PUMPKIN CUSTARD PIE

2/3 cup firmly packed 2 eggs	1 pound ten or pump-
1/2 teaspoon salt	kin (2 cups less 2
1 teaspoon cinnamon	tablespoons)
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg	1 tall can evaporated
1/8 teaspoon cloves	milk (1-2/3 cups)
dash of ginger	1 dash unbleached
2 tablespoons flour	pastry shell

Mix sugar, salt, spices and flour in a medium size mixing bowl. Beat in the eggs, one at a time, until well blended. Add pumpkin and mix well. Stir in the evaporated milk until thoroughly mixed. Lad filling stand while preparing pastry shell. Turn pumpkin mixture into unbleached pastry shell. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) until filling is set, about 40 to 45 minutes. Remove from oven, place on cooling rack and let pie cool away from drafts. Makes 1 9-inch pie (6 to 8 servings).

CHEESE PUMPKINS

2/3 pound aged Cheddar cheese, shredded
 6 to 8 parsley stems (1-inch long)

Divide shredded cheese into 6 or 8 portions. Press about 6 grooves into each ball with the dull edge of a paring knife to resemble pumpkins. Slice a parsley stem in top of each. Chill until ready to serve.

These treat lips are sent to you by the Idaho Dairyman's Association with the reminder that foods containing evaporated milk and other dairy products help your family to live better at less cost!

City Manager Notes Areas Considered for Annexation

Joseph H. Latimore, Twin Falls city manager, indicates areas on a city map that the city commission after the city commission after the 1960 census over the 1950 census. The areas considered for annexation are Rancho Vista subdivision, Highland subdivision, an area north of Nonie

Vista subdivision, Quilled Heights, Cornellson and Robbins subdivisions, an area west of Highway 20, an area south of Highland avenue, an area north of Falls avenue to the pole line road and east of Highway 20. These areas are considered as a result of a survey made by the engineering department. (Staff photo-enshrining)

Proposed Annexations to Boost Local Population Cover Wide Ramifications

About 100 citizens met at the Twin Falls city hall Nov. 2 with the city commission after the commission announced it was considering plans to annex portions surrounding the city as the population would exceed 25,000 for the 1960 census.

Many citizens protested the proposed annexations, arguing that their benefits from such action would be overshadowed by taxes levied by the city.

Others feel annexations would benefit the city. City Manager Joseph H. Latimore points out certain facts that have been developed in the study. The study was carried out and it was discovered that in the subdivisions considered for annexation, there were 325 houses with a potential population of 1,300. The study shows the proposed annexations are all that are feasible now.

Latimore explains that the Commission has conducted a study, using the records of the Idaho Power company, Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company, postoffice, Times-News circulation department and building permit records. It estimated the present population is about 23,000. Annexation of the properties could possibly put the Twin Falls census over the 25,000 mark.

Census Begins April 1

Latimore says any annexations will have to be accomplished before midnight March 31, 1959. The census begins April 1. The population figure on April 1 in Twin Falls will remain in records books until the next census in 1970 regardless of the growth in intervening years.

Latimore points out that if the population could be pushed over the 25,000 mark, would mean many things to the city, local businessmen, local economics, and the average citizen.

To the city government it would mean increased revenue for city operation. One of the biggest income affected would be money returned to each city in the state from liquor and gasoline taxes. This money is appropriated to each city and the appropriation is based on population. The 1958 appropriation amounted to $5 per capita.

Tax Would Help

The second way the city would benefit financially would be from funds from a possible state sales tax. Currently there isn't such a tax, but the legislature turned it down by a narrow margin during the last session. In the event it is passed soon it would be to the city's advantage to have a larger population figure.

Latimore says the amount received by the city would depend on the law, but the figure probably would be between $10 and $20 per capita.

The third way in which the city would increase funds for the city would be by increasing assessed

Varied Books Reported for T. F. Library

A number of books of varied interest have been added to the collection of the Twin Falls Public Library, says Arthur L. DeVolter, librarian.

Headed the list is "Major Religions of the World" by Marcus Bach, who gives a compact outline of the world's leading religions. "The Desert People," Percy Mowat writes of the North Canadian Barren and the Inuit-like people while Abraham and Richard Mace in "Power Unlimited," show the dramatic story of the development of power from the windmill to nuclear energy. For the hobbyist, "Basic Photography," by Marvin Webster, is a must. Means of controlling monetary outlay is the theme of the book "How to Avoid Financial Troubles," by Kenneth C. Masteller, while an American Annual of Christmas literature and art is presented in "Christmas, 1959" edited by Randolph E. Haugen and houses the spotlight in "McCall's Book of Modern Homes," one long fiction title is "McCabe," by Edmund Naughton, a western.

Gifts to the library include "A Report of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights," donated by Sterling Larson; "Trails of Early Idaho," A. C. Anderson and "Six Decades Behind the Scenes," by a Mrs. E. J. Hays; "Golden Jubilee Booklet of the Immanuel Lutheran Congregation of Twin Falls, Idaho," donated by the church in memory of its 50th anniversary; "Digest of Primary and General Election Laws, 1957" by James H. Young, secretary of estate and donated by Earl Hartenstein; "Idaho History, 1859-1959" edited and donated by Earl Hartenstein; "Industries of Japan, 1959," by the Mailchimp, donated by Mrs. John E. Hays; "Pioneering Stories" by C. T. Strananhan; "Korean Report," by the Korean research and information office; "Spoken Education Today and Tomorrow," written by Elizabeth Moss and donated by the Soviet-American Union and three replacement copies of mysteries donated by Paul Thomas.

Deer by Ear

CRANFORD, Nov. 21—A 26-year-old blind man killed an eight-pound, 173-pound buck deer Friday while hunting in southwest Virginia's Smyth county.

Charles M. Ruper, Jr., Marlinton, was hunting with his father on Brushy mountain when he heard the deer coming toward him.

"My dad said, 'There he comes and I just shot him,'" said Ruper.

Ruper, a blind since infancy, is in a party of four. He is a graduate of the Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind at Staunton.

2 Cars Derailed

BURLEY, Nov. 21—Two freight cars were derailed here Friday when a train backing on the main line and a train backing on a spur line collided.

A Union Pacific railroad spokesman said there was about $700 damage to the cars, that no one was injured and there was no delay in trains.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT Edwin R. Gill Counts Many Years of Civic Service in Kimberly Distr

KIMBERLY, Nov. 21—Few persons can count as many years of community, church, school and Boy Scout work as Edwin R. Gill, Kimberly. Gill, who has been a resident of Kimberly since 1909 when he was 5 years old, has been active in civic affairs for many years.

The Gill family moved to Kimberly from Nebraska shortly after the tract opened. Gill's father, William Gill, was an early-day blacksmith and one of the first blacksmiths in Kimberly. Later he opened a garage in Kimberly and Gill and his father have been in business together since 1923, the same year that he was graduated from Kimberly high school.

For the past 21 years Gill has been chief of the Kimberly volunteer fire department. In these years he has been responsible for maintenance of the department's two engines and for seeing a full roster of firemen. There are 10 on the roster.

The members of the department are rigorous. They cover not only Kimberly, but they also cover the rural areas from an average east of Hansen to the west boundary of Twin Falls where the Fire department takes over. The area is the canyon rim to the foothills.

This keeps the men rather busy. So far this year they have had 60 calls. Gill says this is an average year and adds that about 95 per cent of the calls are to rural areas, corn and hay fires are the most common.

Gill says the volunteer firemen are busy on their feet. From the time they get the alarm it is about three to four minutes before all assemble at the station in downtown Kimberly. Gill attributes this to light sleepers and a loud siren. One of the worst fires they have had in his term of service was the Heiderman Machine Shop fire about two years ago. The shop was destroyed. Gill says in the 21 years he has been chief no one has been hurt. He doesn't attribute this to any particular cause, just that members have been lucky.

Gill is also a charter member of the fire force, which was begun in the middle 1930s. Although they are getting more calls than they used to, Gill says he believes residents of the area are more fire conscious.

In addition to work with the fire department, Gill has been active on the board of education for Kimberly school district No. 415 since 1944.

He has worked working for the children and people of the district. He adds the reward is that no one has made it possible for a better education system.

Gill has been a member of the board during the years when the school board insitigated the commercial and speech department. "It has made it possible for students to step right out of high school and get good secretarial jobs."

He also points with pride to the speech department, which has enabled students to express them-

aches better before a group and to rank high in various regional speech festivals.

In addition to the specific departments that Gill believes have improved the school, he thinks the entire scholastic program of the school has been improved. The current project of the board is "just good education."

Gill also finds time for Boy Scout work. He is a member of the Kimberly Methodist church and has served as Scoutmaster and institutional representative for Scout troop No. 42 since 1923. He was a Scoutmaster more than 20 years. He finally gave up the job as Scoutmaster so other persons could get some experience in the post.

In addition to Boy Scout work with the church, Gill is on the official board of the Methodist church, serves as church treasurer and is on the building committee. The church is currently working on an educational annex, which is expected to be completed in the near future.

His hobby is visiting with his children.

Gill and his wife have daughters and three granddaughters. The daughters are George Hollett, Montano, and Mrs. Harold Craig, Hanford.

Yearbook Ratio Given 50% Idaho State Collections

IDAHO STATE COLLEGE, Caldwell, Nov. 21—Five Idaho high schools received first ratings in the annual yearbook judging sponsored by the Idaho State high school Area association.

The schools include Minidoka high school and Burley with 50% students; Eden, in the 30% class, and Healy and Wendoc in 30% section.

Dwight Lee Minidoka, vice president of the association, is replacing Mrs. Helen Dietz, who had any time for them, Gill says.
