WASHINGTON (NEA)—The situation seems to be: While the United States government has full legal authority to keep you from purchasing a cigarette or other narcotics peddled by weed-killers, it has no such authority to keep you from purchasing a cigarette or other narcotics peddled by weed-killers.

What's more, nobody here but you would try to get a law passed which would try to make people stop smoking.

But the legal difference between a cigarette and a cigarette-in-crime is that the latter is a crime. The law gives the U. S. food and drug administration full authority to regulate the sale of tobacco, food, drugs and cosmetics. Cigarettes can't be women as cosmetics, even though some people wear them and women put lipstick on 'em. The use of contaminated food can be prevented, but not cigarettes.

So FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick had the law on his side when he moved in to protect you from the cigarette cancer. He starts by a thing to protect you from cigarette cancer.

This background explains the statement by Dr. Leroy E. Burner, surgeon general of the U. S. public health service, warning that cigarette smoking is the principal cause of cancer in the increased incidence of lung cancer.

He was using his legal authority to disseminate information on a matter pertaining to safeguarding the public health. That's all he can do in this case.

The public health service has no legal authority to stop people from smoking even if it could prove that more people would get lung cancer from tobacco than would get other kinds of cancer from eating contaminated cherries.

Some thought has been given to the idea of passing a law to classify tobacco as a food and bring it under the Food and Drug act. But this gimmick might not stand up.

Tobacco manufacturers sometimes tangle with the law when they introduce brands of cigarettes for which they claim medicine. If claims are made that a certain cigarette will cure or prevent a disease like bronchitis, it is classified as a drug and brought under the Food and Drug act.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG POT SHOTS

BY LEON W. ANDERSON

CONCORD, N. H.—New Hampshire is taking a no New Republican presidential primary contest as its first on March 10.

Once again the Granite state is picking up a welcome million dollars in free advertising, because its primary on March 10 will be the first in the country to appear certain that the names of Vice President Nixon and Governor Rockefeller will be on the ballot as opponents.

As usual, this primary is claiming more national attention than local interest. Already top political analysts and reporters from distant places are scouring the state, peering and peering for news of the election, what the outcome will be. Newspapers throughout the nation are devoting much more space to the developments in New Hampshire, which traditionally takes its politics with a vengeance.

CAMPAIGN COMMITTEES WORKING FULLY—Strong campaign committees are working hard to get the consent of the New Hampshire candidates to the ballot to capture the 14 available delegate seats to the Republican national convention. The state has a primary election law, which under New Hampshire election laws, does not require approval of a candidate.

It is the decision favorite. Loyalized consensus of in-state observers is that the vice president will run away with the election.

There is one more vote over Governor Rockefeller, among Republican officeholders in particular. Formation of opposing campaign committees bears this out.

WHAT GIVES SPICE TO CONTEST—The Rockefeller forces are fostering the underdog role of the vice president. The consent of the New Hampshire capital out of the fact that the state's top party leaders are virtually unanimous for Nixon.

They are also pointing to the fact that all concerned agreed. It can only make gains, if it goes anywhere, and this potential is what gives spice to the contest.

An interesting feature of the booming battle is that the Nixon supporters appear determined to back the consent of the New Hampshire backing. This apparently is being done for national consumption, in particular, for psychological reasons.

This aspect of the Nixon drive is being fostered by the state's top party leaders, Governor Gov. Herbert O. Blood and National Committee Chairman Richard W. Cooper. Nixon has been in the state since 1952 campaign when New Hampshire came up with a surprise and went for Ike over the Rockefeller campaign.

There is a possibility that the professional politicians are so anxious to get onto the Nixon bandwagon, that they will accept any candidate on the ballot than the 14 available seats. This could split the Nixon vote, if it occurs.

MARCH BILZARD COULD UPSET DOPE—It is also alleged that a March bilzard could upset the Nixon vote. The state's top party leaders are based mostly in the 222 towns. If rural roads should come storm-bound on primary day, many of the liberal voters will have more strength in the 13 cities than in the 209 rural towns.

Eight years ago the Eisenhower forces outplayed the Dixie side by about $50,000 to $30,000, for the state's top party leaders. There is a time every indication that the billings will run roughly equal to the 1952 campaign.

RECIPE FOR BOUSE

Dear Sir:

I have been watching for the recipe for sous or head cheese. I have made sous many times so I can tell you how to make it. I will write me and tell me how else I like my sous.

I take one hog head and four pounds of clean fat. I thoroughly scrape all dirt away from each all hair and put the toes of the fat in a beef fat strainer and wash with burning lumps of tallow.

Cut the ears off the head and scrape clean. Put in newspaper and light for a good black and shine all the hair on the ears and neck. Clean, I use butcher knife to scrape. Slice all hair off the neck and ears.

When clean, put in clear water with several spoons of baking soda and cook overnight. Next morning, scrape away hair and dirt and put in cold water. I cook until boiling hard.

When tender, set off tallow and cook. Leave in water until cool. Make out of water and pick. Pick and set away to get cold and serve with pepper sauce or horseradish.

My family always liked sous or head cheese very much. If you like this sous recipe, I hope I'll see you again.

YOUTHS THINK OLD-FASHIONED Christmas Form of Penalty

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (UPI)—An elderly grandfather dreams this time of the joys of the old-fashioned Christmas.

But when he describes the Yuletide seasons of long ago to his modern city-born grandsons, the boys groan and groan and groan and groan.

"Why didn't you just turn on the thermostat?"

"There wasn't any thermostat in those days because there wasn't any furnace. It was a little hole in the kitchen and parlor and bedroom and you got the heat from the fireplace."

"Oh, mister, usually you get a new sweater."

"Yes, that was a kind of a present."

"You didn't even get a bicycle like that and a rock and some games?"

"I bet you went out riding on your new sled right now."

"Nope, in those days everybody had his chores to do. I had to go out and stop the pigs and take care of the chickens and chop wood and wash the dishes and—oh, it might be better before I got to you and your sled."

"Didn't you get caught in the snow?"

"No, it wasn't caught in the law in those days," says grandpa.

"And we didn't buy our ornaments from a store. We decorated the tree ourselves. We'd get needles and thread and make long strings of cranberries and popcorn and tinsel and trim around the tree. And we'd cut out a pasteboard star and cover it with a piece of tin foil and put it at the top of the tree."

We didn't have electric lights on the tree either. We'd get candles.

"Didn't anybody turn you in to the fire department?" asks the modern lad.

"No, the nearest fire town was 10 miles away in Iowa, chuckles grandpa. "We kept a bucket of water handy in case the candles set the tree on fire."

"I can still remember how grandpa used to tell us about those Christmas mornings," continues grandpa.

READ TIMES-NEWS WANT AD

HUNGARY, 1959

Although it was talked of, no one seriously imagined that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would order removal of Russian troops from repressed Hungary. Now he has reneged on that promise. The official Soviet line is that the "international situation." The real reason, of course, is that the Russians are afraid of what the freedom-loving Hungarians might do if the iron boot were taken off their necks.

Actually, Soviet fears probably are exaggerated. Even without the threat of Russian soldiers, the Hungarians today hardly have the incentive for another try.

They took back upon the bloodshed of 1956, they remember that their appeals to the free world for help could not be answered, and they recall how quickly Soviet troops crossed their borders to quell the uprising.

Having tried once, they are under much closer surveillance than before. Not only the Russians but the Hungarian Communist leaders are constantly busy ferreting out potential trouble-makers. They know that the Reds would be caught by surprise. If it is this way in Hungary, which dared to rebel, we can guess how unlikely it is that rebellion and liberation will come to any other East European satellite.

They studied well the lesson of Hungary. Moreover, except for Poland, none of the others showed any real sign of attempting to throw off the Kremlin's yoke. They are held in the grip of fear.

Many Hungarians, and others, are bitter against the West for failing to aid the 1956 uprising. We must hope, however, that a good share of the satellite peoples realize the risk of World War III that clearly involved in any move to help Hungary against the armed might of the Soviet Union.

We, and they, must face the sad, harsh fact that liberation is not a matter of when, but of whether it will ever come at all.

Yet though we acknowledge this, we can never surrender to Russian authority in Eastern Europe. We can never yield the principle that these people should be free if they want to be. Liberation must remain a goal, however remote its achievement.

VOX POPULI

There is a notion, not new but strongly held in some quarters today, that popularity—whether enjoyed by a man, a policy, a book, a piece of music, a kind of furniture or what you please—is an automatic cause for doubt and suspicion.

If somehow or something is "merely popular," so the idea runs, then there must be some grave flaw somewhere. We must, they say, be very wary of anything that is popular, and likely we will find other characteristics which catch the eye of the many, yet lack substance and quality.

How foolish this is can be easily seen. Some of our most notable figures have been enormously popular. Let Sir Winston Churchill stand for all of them.

Beethoven's Fifth Symphony has through many decades been regarded as a great and enduring composition by the great and the good. It has been diminished by the fact that millions have heard it and enjoyed it—and still do.

Fine books are serialized in mass magazines and find their way to best-seller lists. Who dares to say that this popularization diminishes them?

To argue that popularity proves absence of quality is to yield all sense of discrimination.

Admittedly there are many things which find wide audience whose hallmarks are cheapness, tastelessness, emptiness. Admittedly there are men of little character and quality who still learn the key to the popular mind and heart.

But popularity does not stamp a man or a thing or a policy as a low common denominator, to be shunned by thinking persons. What is popular may in fact be the very, very best.

It's something to think about the next time you hear of a new government plan, or pick up a book, or hear a bit of music, or start running into a crowd of men who say they want to lead your country.

President Eisenhower has warned both big steel and labor that the showdown is on. The long strike before the end of the 80-day cooling off period, he will take action.

It was interesting to note that the avoided mention of the word "showdown" by Mr. Eisenhower's spokesman. He could, of course, take over the steel mills and operate them under the government's contention that the steel industry is a public utility. He wouldn't settle the issues which caused the strike and which have continued in to a period that is the longest in the history of the industry.

The President does not have the authority to make the union accept the company offers. Nor can he have the authority to make the company accept the union's offer. It does not constitute.

What Mr. Eisenhower might have said, and probably what he really meant, is that in case the steel strike is not settled by the end of the cooling off period runs out, he will hand the matter to congress at the same time asking for legislation governing nationwide industries.

Mr. Eisenhower has been using the phrase "a day and a night for the nation." We don't think there is a majority of the country who believe in "a day and a night" for the nation. We think there are many who would like to see the steel strike settled by the end of the cooling off period runs out, he will hand the matter to congress at the same time asking for legislation governing nationwide industries.

LATER THAN WE THINK

When the original 160-mile section of the Pennsylvania turnpike opened some two decades ago, it was a beacon pointing the way.

Gradually it was extended, and its success, both in traffic safety and toll earnings, led to the boom that strung a turnpike network from New York to Chicago and laced together many other areas.

At first this well-engineered road slicing through the Alleghenies had no speed limit at all. That it was put at 70, initially at 65. But all the time it was thought of as the road of the future, available to modern motorists in the here and now.

Inevitably, therefore, we must expect a week-end or two of Pennsylvania's state police cruising the pike. The road sustained its worst traffic jams in history. Cars crawled bumper to bumper in support of the state police. In two places the road was closed and stalled for a distance of 10 miles.

With Pennsylvania growing all the time, what have you got for tomorrow?

Mr. Eisenhower has been using the phrase "a day and a night for the nation." We don't think there is a majority of the country who believe in "a day and a night" for the nation. President Eisenhower has warned both big steel and labor that the showdown is on. The long strike before the end of the 80-day cooling off period, he will take action.

It was interesting to note that the avoided mention of the word "showdown" by Mr. Eisenhower's spokesman. He could, of course, take over the steel mills and operate them under the government's contention that the steel industry is a public utility. He wouldn't settle the issues which caused the strike and which have continued in to a period that is the longest in the history of the industry.

Steel Making Record Likely

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—Steel mills have scheduled operations to produce this week the largest tonnage of steel on record, the American Iron and Steel Institute said yesterday.

They are expected to pour out 2,071,000 tons of steel. This will surpass the record of 2,037,000 tons produced in the week started April 13 this year. Operations are scheduled at 94.3 per cent of capacity.

Last week mills operated at 93.8 per cent of capacity and turned out 2,050,000 tons. A month ago production amounted to 1,991,000 tons and a year ago to 1,885,000 tons.

Steel production was bounced back dramatically since striking workers were called back to work Nov. 7 for an 80-day period under injunction provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

Boggs, running for reelection in the sparsely populated district, received 11 votes. Kelly Snyder, the only other man who was eligible to run but didn't, received 12 write-in votes to defeat Boggs.

Soil, Water Problems to Be Discussed

The West's tough, everyday agricultural water problems will come in for close study when farm and ranch leaders at the National office of soil conservation district directors gather in Portland, Ore., for a three-day, fact-finding conference.

A. Wilson, Lemoore, Calif., area vice president, district, is expected to attract district, state and area officers from Oregon, Nevada, Idaho, Washington, California, Hawaii and Alaska.

He explained that vital soil and water problems and issues are being discussed—and present-day conservationists make the most of them.

He said that especially important areas are: "Soil erosion, water conservation, water pollution, and water quality."

Wilson said that "your fact-finding discussions will be a part of the complex work of soil conservation district leaders and cooperators all over the country."

Speaking speakers will be Oregon governor, Mark O. Hatfield; William Richards, Oregon National Conservation Officer; Elliott Cox, National vice president, NASCD; Ernest J. Bessner, assistant secretary, U. S. Department of Agriculture; and Mrs. Henry Bethea, president of the Women's auxiliary, National Soil Conservation Council.

Wilson said that the key to the soil conservation district is the National Soil Conservation Council, which is the national soil conservation association, and its officers, with Richards president, is scheduled Wednesday.

Conservation leaders will join in group discussions Thursday morning and they will seek solution to problems under five major topics: soil erosion, water conservation, water pollution, administration and operation of soil conservation districts, and water pollution.

Henry Takes Earl Blaik to Task for Blasting Students

By HENRY McLEMORE

Earl Blaik, who jumped from the frying pan into the fire by becoming a columnist after his resignation as coach of Army football, is more than all right about the students and old grads who long coaches in effigy.

He writes that the mock teachers are a bunch of morons who have never enjoyed the blues in their lives, a wretched, a con-convulsion, or even a split spleen, in a football contest.

Travels, in anger, if I may use a description in vague terms, is a muscleless slither. Coach Blaik has little sympathy for such students, and seems to feel that they would be finer, stronger characters if they snarled more of fulfillment and less of after shave lotion, and wore the even tighter pants of football than Ivy league slacks.

Why such fragile, vapid souls should criticize football is more than former coach Blaik can understand. They know nothing about football, and less about the coaching of it. It is his belief that it would seem that football is from those who play it or teach it.

I disagree, with every flabby, untrained muscle in my head and body. Winning coaches are never hunted in effigy. Only the losing ones earn that distinction. And why shouldn't a coach who turns out winners be the target of criticism?

What are they hired for? To inspire young men? If that is true, then why do non-athletes of their predict defeat for their charges every week?

To build character? Perhaps, but with the recruiting a coach has to do to keep his "team" together, the name he has little time to mold his charges. He certainly doesn't have time to do it once the game has started, what with them in plays so fast that his quarterback—the smartest man on the field—can call a stupid one.

Coaches are very well-paid men in many instances they draw more in their pay envelopes than the presidents of the colleges at which they coach and rarely more than the salary earned by the professor.

It stands to reason that coaches are highly paid to turn out winning teams. Certainly it doesn't make sense to pay a fat salary to a coach to have losing seasons after losing seasons. There are tens of thousands of men, myself included, who can start coaching losing football teams tomorrow.

Coaches seem to forget that a great number of the men who join in the criticism of coaching are men who pay good money to see football games. If they didn't exist, football wouldn't exist, because you don't pay for students, travel, equipment, recruiting and all the fringe expenses of the game, without spending a lot of money. And if football didn't exist, where would the coaches be?

I know as well as former Coach Blaik does that a coach is seldom better than his material. But you don't matter to a coach's job. If he can't get it, then he doesn't have a prayer to be a successful coach and should switch into some less risky business.

He never suggest writing a newspaper column, however. Recruiting ideas is even tougher than recruiting 212-pound linemen.

Juniors Help Wolves Start Winning Year

CASTLEFORD, Dec. 8.—With two wins already under their belts, the Castleford Wolves and new coach Jay Waite do not have too far to go to equal Castleford's 7-10 record of last season. However, coach Waite, who came to Castleford after two years at Prineville, Ore., and four years at Hagerman before that, is planning much of his success on juniors. He has only two returning lettermen but they are handling the rebounding chores in addition to valuable solids in scoring. The returning lettermen are Keith Hansen, 6 feet, 3 inches, and Randall Brewer, 6 feet, 2 inches. In their first two outings, Hansen has been strong on the boards and averaged five points, for below his 104 Southside conference average last season. Brewer, who had the dubious distinction of a scoring threat, pumping through 28 points in his first two games. But the pleasant surprise for coach Waite has been the ease with which junior Paul Buffington, a 6-footer, has adapted to varsity play. Buffington leads the club with 20 points.

Other juniors who have made the varsity are Jack West, Darwin Allred and Ben Bick, all 5 feet, 7 inches; Willie Conrad, 5 feet, 9 inches; Willie Davis and Joe Edson, 5 feet, 11 inches; Paul Sillar, 5 feet, and Gary Swanson, 5 feet, 11 inches.

With all those underclassmen, coach Waite will have to round his boys into action early. The Southside conference will have its season record set representatives into the district tournament.

"With our conference using season play as a basis for entry in the tournament, we have a lot of work to do fast," coach Waite says. "The squad has shown a lot of enthusiasm and cooperation and seems to want very badly to be in the district tournament. So we will be working toward that goal." The remainder of the Castleford schedule includes Dec. 15—Castleford at Richfield; Dec. 18, Castleford at Caldwell; Dec. 19, Castleford at Hansen; Jan. 15, Raft River at Castleford; Jan. 16, Castleford at Morseburg; and Jan. 19, Castleford at Kimberly.

Hoople Dampens Holiday Spirits With Treacherous Bowl Schedule

Holly wreaths are beginning to appear, street decorations adorn most of the cities and children are behaving at their best. Truly, these are the basic signs of the approaching holidays. Egad! I feel somewhat dismayed that I must add burdensome many-year-end problems facing about 100 of you in Magic Valley. For it is now predicting time again and this year's slate is treacherous to say the least. However, I find consolation in pointing out that prizes are doubled for those war-scared football veterans who proved their mettle over the grid season. Prizes for the bowl winners will be $20 for first; $10 for second, and $5 for third place.

Russians Say Gymnast Has 'Star Disease'

MOSCOW, Dec. 8.—A Soviet athletic hero has come under fire for his own behavior. Accused of having succumbed to a "star disease," gymnast Dmitry Leonkin has left the spotlight of an attack in Komsomolsk of the Communist Youth League. It took up where Leonkin's name on the Ukraine gymnast was left off, in a letter demanding that Leonkin be stripped of his title as master of sport and fired from the team. He is accused not only of being apologetic but of disgracing himself in the story as having "let the slip" in what they are alleged to have done is depicted in the papers only with asterisks. Available record books here don't show it but the paper says Leonkin won gold and silver medals for Soviet Union in free-style gymnastics in Helsinki in 1958 and at the European Championships in 1957. The records show he tied for third in the rings event. Leonkin is not only accused of a number of misdemeanors for the prosecutor in one case is accused of finding excuse for Leonkin's actions "because he was drunk at the time."

Ex-Penn Man Is Hired by Grid Team

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Fired from his head coaching job at Pennsylvania a week ago, Steve Sebo Monday was hired as general manager of the New York Titans of the new American Football League.

The 45-year-old Michigan State graduate got a three-year contract and a big boost in pay from a college classmate, sports broadcaster Harry Wismer who is president of the Titans and one of the founders of the AFL.

A source close to both said the salary was in the neighborhood of $20,000 a year, probably twice what Sebo collected from Penn State. Sebo was released by Penn last week after he led the Quakers to the Ivy league championship and their best season in 12 years. The team finished with a 7-1-1 record in his six years at Penn. Sebo's teams had an 18-5-1 record. "I'm glad to get into the administrative end of the game," said Sebo at a press conference in Wismer's Park avenue apartment. "It's a change and a challenge." Sebo and Wismer said they would start serious work immediately on lining up a head coach. "We've got five or six men in mind and we hope to make the decision before long," said Wismer. He declined to disclose the possibilities. Sebo said he would be in charge of player personnel and the scouting system. "I'm going to see a couple of bowl games and take a look at some of the players."

Major Leagues Table Proposals For Expansion

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 8 (AP)—The American league Monday failed to reach a definite decision on expansion, and invited the projected continental league to continue its organizing activities to qualify for major league status.

A National league spokesman said there was no sentiment in that circuit for expansion. Both leagues are meeting here. American league president Joe Cronin said his league is discussing the possibility of expanding from eight to nine teams for 1961, but decided it would not be feasible without similar action by the National League. "The only feasible way to expand at this time," Cronin said, "would be to possibly go to nine teams. We received word that the National League was not interested in expansion. In order to go to nine teams, you have to have inter-league play and since that was impossible, we decided to postpone action."

Baseball commissioner Ford Frick had requested both leagues meet at a definite time on expansion.

Frick said he was satisfied Monday's announcements by the two leagues was a green light for Continental.

Cronin said "we cannot just take the position that we're never going to expand. We believe that expansion is inevitable and we're saying so ahead."

Cronin said the report of the American league's three-man fact-finding committee, appointed last October to study expansion, was considered in executive session.

The committee reported the problems involved were complicated and could not possibly be resolved at this time.

The National league's action reaffirmed its resolution as a May meeting by voting to accept the American league's application for major league status by an acceptable number of eight clubs which meets specified major league standards.

The standards previously announced included matching the major league player pension plan, ball parks with capacities of at least 25,000, cities with a population no smaller than the smallest in the present league; a 154-game schedule, matching the maximum player salary of $70,000, uniform contract satisfactory to both sides, and full financial rights and filing complete data on stock ownership.

Leaders Told For World Bowling Meet

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Dick Weber of St. Louis and Pauline Bickel of Omaha led in the semifinals in the world invitational bowling tournament Monday night after two-thirds of the field had finished their 36 games.

With 18 men and 15 women still on the lanes, Weber, a 29-year-old professional bowler, was 43 pins in front of Andy Rogoznica of Chicago, the leader after 30 games.

Weber totaled 753 for his 36 games in setting a new record. Rogoznica also broke the old record with 7250.

In third place was Billy Cincinnati of Detroit, who rolled the day's best series of 1371 and posted a total of 1787, also a new record.

The old record of 778 for 36 games was set by Ed Lubanski of Detroit in 1936.

The men are fighting for 15 spots in the finals along with Lubanski.

In the women's division, Mrs. Bickel, a finalist last year and former endurance champion, went further ahead with a total of 4500 for 24 games, giving her a 49-pin lead over second place Marie Mettich of Detroit who had 4284.

The place was Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia with 4203 with 16 women still to bowl.

The women are fighting for 15 places in the finals with defending champion Charlotte Grubilo of Stetson, Pa.

ISC Boxing Coach Dubs Title Match As 'Lousy Fight'

POCATELLO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Spider Webb partisans held a post-mortem Monday on Webb's Friday night loss to NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer. They were pretty unhappy about the outcome. Fullmer, of West Jordan, Utah, won a unanimous decision over the former Idaho State college boxer in the 16-round championship bout in Logan, Utah.

"It was a lousy fight," said Milton Dunby, Utah's state boxing coach and one of Webb's strongest boosters.

"When our judge gave 150 points to Fullmer, it was ridiculous. When I commented on it the next day, I was good for nothing. I had to complain about, saying he had given two rounds to Webb."

The fight was scored on the 10-point-subject system, and one judge gave Webb a 132-point trailer.

But Full had some harsh words for his former booster, too. "I was disappointed with Webb," he told the Bernal Quickback club, which has been made into a mechanical man. He has quick reactions and they have taken their toll."

"The Unes Webb has been effective when he's been when he's hurt. He's never better, what he's hurt."

"I was disappointed against Fullmer when he didn't follow his opening."

As for Fullmer, Holt said "He does so many things so wrong and gets away with it."

Holt's summary: "I was disappointed against Fullmer when he didn't follow his opening."

"Most other fighters thought Fullmer the winner, said Holt. "He has a much closer match into the judges' cards. They criticized, too, the use of Unes as officials when others equally—perhaps better—qualified were available."

"Definitely," said Holt. "I think the Utah Boxing Commission members got away to a poor start. People are going to be leary about going to Utah to fight under the setup."

"They're going to have trouble getting ranking middleweights to come in."

Wendell Ready to Battle for Little Six Crown Despite Loss of Leading Scorers

WENDELL, Dec. 8 (AP)—Despite dominating the fourth district class AA basketball picture for the past three years, the Wendell Trojans seem due for a let down. But Coach Dick Anderson and his 1959-60 charges already have shown they are not ready to be pushed back into the also-rans at youth basketball.

The Trojans lost three men with 10-point or better scoring averages from last year's team but opened the season by bowing to powerful Aberdeen Tigers 49-41 after leading for nearly three and one-half quarters and then knocked off Gooding 50-42 last Saturday night.

Coach Anderson has a surprising 10-foot, 5-inch Jim Scheel to build his team around plus a floor general and defensive expert in speedy Carl Dille. Bill the best reason for Wendell's expectation to stay in contention for the Little Six conference crown is found in the maturing into varsity caliber of Ralph Williams, 6-foot, 11 inches, and Paul Miles, 5-foot, 10 inches, who came up from last year's Trojans squad to nail down a first string forward post.

Coach Anderson has been shifting the heavy Ed Quillford and Bill Oodoper, both hovering near the 10-foot mark, of the other forward post.

Other lettermen who are back are Fred Dixon, 6 feet, 4 inches, and David Rodriguez, 5 feet, 10 inches. Despite prospects for a good season, the Trojans have one thing in the regional tournament, Coach Anderson reports Scheel's loss seems to have improved greatly over last year but adds "we're keeping our fingers crossed."

GERE ARE RESIDENTS
The National Football League's department of fish and game said Monday banding studies show that practically all of the geese in southwestern Idaho are year-round residents. But those in the southeastern areas leave the state each fall and migrate through Utah to winter in Arizona and California.

Buhl Exhibit Of Art Slated On Saturday

Buhl, Dec. 8.—An art exhibit featuring the paintings of Olaf Moller, noted Idaho artist from Heyburn, will be held on Saturday at the P. H. Buhl school auditorium.

The exhibit, which is open to the public, will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 p.m. in the evening.

Another will hold an informal question and answer period at 8 p.m. Mrs. Dorris Wells will furnish background music for the exhibit. Refreshments will be served at the closing of the exhibit which is being sponsored by the West End Art guild assisted by the Buhl PTA.

Pictures by local artists are being displayed at the office of the Twin Falls First National bank, Farmers National bank, Buhl Public Library, Health Insurance agency, Dr. E. W. McBratney and Dr. Vern Anderson.

The pictures will be changed monthly to give members of the West End Art guild an opportunity to display their art work.

Evangelist

THE REV. WILLIAM GRIFFIN will conduct an evangelistic campaign at 8 p.m. daily Dec. 9 to 29 at the Kimberly Church of the Nazarene.

Spirit Rises

DETROIT, Dec. 8.—W. A. Harriman told a businessmen's group — predominantly Republican — "it wouldn't do any of you any harm to pull that Democratic lever in 1940 and see what happens to you."

The former New York Democratic governor, once a Republican, banttered on politics yesterday with an audience which he formally addressed on the subject of the Soviet Union's economic threat to America.

"When I look over this wonderful sea of Republican faces, a kind of missionary spirit rises in me," Harriman said.

Harriman indulged in his quips before an audience of 750 at a luncheon meeting of the Economic Club of Detroit.

'Ike' Is Called Friendly Man; GOP Opposed

MUTCHINSON, Kans., Dec. 8.—Ben Lyndon B. Johnson, the senate majority leader, called President Eisenhower last night a warm and friendly man. Johnson questioned whether there is another in the Republican party who can give good will abroad.

The Texas senator, a possible candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, asked in a speech at a Democratic rally, "Is there another in that party who is so understood by other men that he does not have to debate in the streets?"

Farm Policies Hit Johnson, on his first major speaking tour outside Texas since congress adjourned, devoted most of his speech to an attack on GOP farm policies.

He charged the Republican party has abandoned the Middle West, its birthplace, and that the GOP administration is dedicated "to clearing the farmer off the land."

Discussing President Eisenhower's trip abroad, Johnson said "the peoples of the world—we all hope will understand this warm and friendly man."

GOP Not Understood "But neither the peoples of the world—nor the people of America—find themselves able to understand the party which drafted him to its service. The President is at the end of his political term. He is not the issue for 1940."

"The peoples of this land must look beyond and behind the President at the party he brought into power. Is there another in that party who can go into the world and evoke good will without provoking a quarrel?"

Air Force Plans To Retire Planes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The air force will retire up to 900 aircraft under administration pressure to save money for missiles and other atomic-space age equipment. The manned airplanes, mostly combat types, will be laid up over the next 12 months. This will curtail the expected closing of a dozen or more operating bases.

These economy moves come on top of dramatic cutbacks and cancellations in costly but promising programs for the development of advanced warplanes such as the B70 long-range interceptor and the B70 long-range supersonic heavy bomber.

Drivers Fined

SHOSHONE, Dec. 8.—Three drivers have been fined by Shoshone Justice of the Peace W. L. Austin for violations of the motor vehicle code. They are V. D. Benson, Carey #10 and #2 for having no clearance lights on a truck; Ira L. Wells, Stanley, #10 and #2 for no clearance lights on a trailer house; and Kenneth M. Gellings, Jerome, #10 and #2, for scattering gravel from his truck.

"RADIO MIRROR" PLANNED WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UPI)—The United States plans to launch a huge "radio mirror" satellite next spring that may pave the way eventually for instantaneous worldwide television.

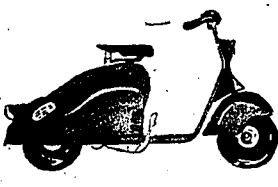

Jerome Resident Ranks First for Opera Auditions

JEROME, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Treva Bellini Halverson, Jerome, won first place in district auditions of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York over the week-end at the College of Idaho. She will go to Seattle for the Pacific Northwest regional auditions in January. Mrs. Halverson is the student of Lucilio Lippincott, Boise. Other winners were Mrs. Sharon Hubler, Caldwell, second, and Coene Larson, Ucon, third. The district includes Idaho,

Wyoming and Nevada. Dr. John Lester, head of the opera department and professor of singing at Montana state university, Missions, was the judge. Auditions were held in the Student Union building under sponsorship of Prof. R. D. Skyrum.

TRAINS AT PENNSACOLA PILER, Aug. 8.—Undergraduate flight training at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., in World War II. Cadet Harvey J. Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lavera O. Stone, University and Idaho State colleges.
